City, County want to cooperate on paving project

Muenster could be in for a large and much needed street paving project at a relatively low price. Cooke County Precinct Four Commissioner, Virgil Hess, proposed to the City Council Monday that the City of Muenster and Precinct 4 cooperate this summer to put an oil and chip surface on Seventh Street from Mesquite Street to the existing paved surface and also on Mesquite Street from Ninth Street south to the existing pavement. Hess is currently preparing the county roads on the northeast corner of Muenster for paving and he hopes to get city assistance to make the surface complete from FM 373 around to the paved part of Mesquite Street near H & W Meat Co. Hess offered to provide manpower and machinery and haul and work the materials. He asked the city to pay for their share of the oil and rock and needed base material, provide two or three city employees to help and provide all the water for packing the base on the complete project.

Normally the city would have to go through costly and time consuming legal processes to initiate a paving project like this. It would be tough to complete before cool, wet weather sets in. However the council hopes that they can arrange a voluntary agreement with the four affected landowners whose property adjoins the roads to put the project on the fast track and take advantage of the county's offer. All the landowners have indicated a desire to get the roads paved and share some of the cost.

Included in the overall plan is a study of water flow in the low lying areas, waterway clearing and sloping in the Seventh Street area, and replacing the culvert on Seventh Street. That water crossing has deteriorated seriously over the years posing a hazard for traffic to say nothing of the dust, especially during the school year. Hess offered to install the culvert and haul and prepare the fill to prepare for the new surface if the city would pay for the culvert and rock.

The council approved replacement of the Seventh Street culvert immediately and the contact with the landowners. Estimated cost to the city for the paving materials for about one-half mile of surface with two coats of oil and chip is $7,278.50, not including base rock where needed.

The council agreed that Hess offered a very good deal and voted to pursue cooperation.

Another paving project discussed for future action was the last remaining unpaved street off of Main Street. Joe Fenton will start comparing engineering and costs for Second Street from Main to Elm and Elm Street from First to Second. Councilman Aubrey Tugle recommended establishing this as a commercial route for AMPI trucks and considering a concrete surface.

Before the regular City Council meeting a public hearing was held on the proposed designation of a section of property on the west side of Muenster as a reinvestment zone. That designation makes the property eligible for tax abatement. The property is that now being occupied for R.M.I., Inc. There was no negative input and the proposal was approved.

Later, during the regular meeting, final action was taken on the tax abatement plan for R.M.I., Inc. The council approved a plan under which R.M.I. will install equipment on or before December 31, 1992 and agrees to employ 15 on-site employees on or before October 1, 1992 and 21 employees on or before April 1, 1993. In return the City of Muenster will exempt from taxation the value of improvements and equipment added to the existing property (the former Valenite-West location) for five years. After five years the city will exempt from taxation one-half of the value of improvements for five more years. The period of abatement will cease December 31, 2001. (Please see related story on

R.M.I., Inc. in this issue.)

Other items coming before the council included:

- Discussion continues on brush pick-up.
- Discussion was held on updating and codifying all city ordinances.
- Discussion was held on opening a section of Ninth Street for a possible private access to property.
- Discussion was held on possible purchase of a power air blower for joint use by the street department to clean patching areas and by the fire department to fight grass and brush fires. The council will inquire whether the Volunteer Fire Department will share one-half of the $400.00 cost.

- The lease agreement for property addition to the city park was tabled.
- The Cooke County Tax Appraisal District appraisal and collection budget was approved. Comment was made that for the first time in a long time the Muenster City Council approves of the effort and intent of the Cooke County Appraisal District.

- Monthly bills totalling $41,062.51 were approved for payment.
- Discussion was held concerning possible purchase of a used pneumatic wheel packer for the street department.

New industry will boost economy, promote recycling

Representatives of Renewed Materials Industries (RMI) are busy organizing for the opening of the business' Muenster plant. Jim Rosenbaum of Denton, general manager and stockholder, and Richard Mecca of Woodbine, plant manager, have set up an office in the former Valenite building west of Muenster where the plant is being established. "Hopefully we will be running with limited production in 45 to 60 days," commented Rosenbaum.

Two of the major products that will come out of the Muenster factory are 2x8s used for such purposes as floors in horse and stock trailers and parking lot roll stops. "We already have more orders than we can fill in a year," the general manager stated. "Primarily, we make about anything that you would do with wood such as fence posts and 2x8s. Our product has better properties than wood, it will hold a nail better, can be sawed and doesn't rot."

These products are the result of a unique process that uses old tires that have been shredded and other salvaged products. "It is a total salvage process," said Rosenbaum. "We use waste materials." He also stressed that there are no fumes or gases released into the air and that it is all an EPA clean process. Because of the great volume of materials needed and the requirement of ground materials from the tires, they will not be purchasing used tires. "We don't handle a tire as a tire," Rosenbaum said.

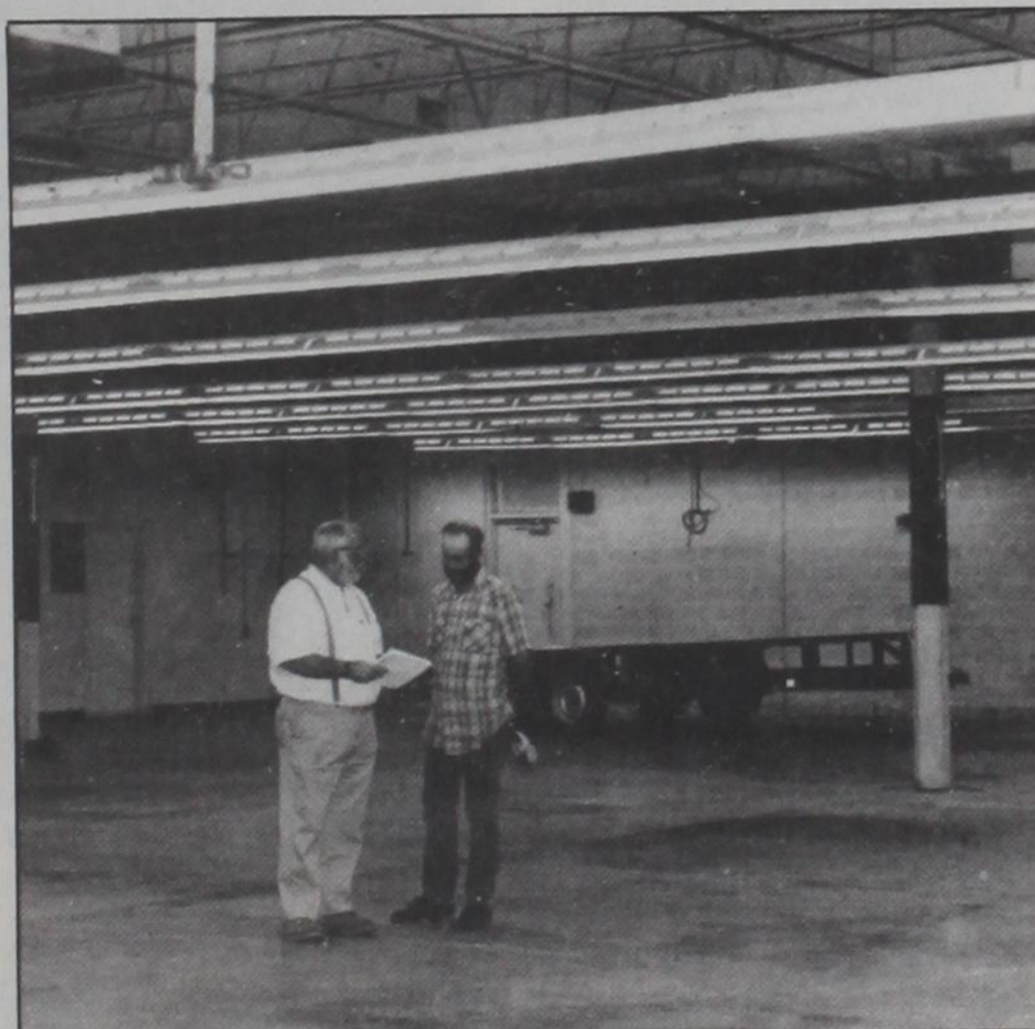

When operating at full capacity RMI would require 30 to 40 employees. Most of them would be machine operators. RMI plans to hire from the local job pool which Rosenbaum sees as excellent. "We are trying to do everything locally that we can," he remarked.

RMI's corporate headquarters is in Austin. Muenster was selected as the place to establish a plant after Don Flusche recommended that Rosenbaum "look the town over" and Rosenbaum was impressed with the town and its people. "Urban Endres and Chas Bayer of the Muenster Industrial Board have been so nice to work with," commented Rosenbaum. "Cooperation with the Industrial Board has been 150 percent."

The tax abatement for RMI was approved at Monday night's City Council meeting. The county has delayed a vote on the matter until the July 8 meeting. "We can't vote until the leading entity (Muenster) votes," said Virgil Hess, commissioner of Precinct 4. He foresees no problem with the approval of the tax abatement after some ad-

Board members listen, change decision....

Substance abuse center gets thumbs down from MMH Board

In response to an invitation by Muenster Memorial Hospital's Board of Directors and Administrator, about 20 concerned citizens from the community attended the regular June 26 meeting of the hospital's Board of Directors. They came to express their views on the substance abuse center that was being considered for the hospital's south wing.

After much discussion from board members and input from the community members who were present, David Bright made a recommendation to not to accept the contract with Delta for a substance abuse center. He stated that he had come to the meeting with the intention of voting for accepting the contract because the hospital needed the income it would bring in. He changed his mind after listening to various opinions. He stated that it was beat before it was on the ground and even if the hospital made some money it wouldn't be worth the feelings of ill will it would cause in the community. "Dollars aren't worth everything, it's not worth the campaign that would prevail," he declared.

Most of the community's feelings seemed to be against a local drug rehab center especially since this one was secure inside but was not a lock down which means that legally no person could be kept there should he decide to leave.

Pat Hennigan expressed displeasure at having the type of people a drug rehab center would bring housed in his neighborhood. "Anyway I think that there is some kind of law that requires a hearing at a city council meeting before something like that can be put in," remarked Hennigan. "I know there is in Oklahoma." Don Flusche spoke out against the center commenting that he'd just seen a news program revealing that incidents of crimes rose in neighborhoods where these centers are located.

A board member, Debbie Hess, related information on the drug center that had previously been associated with the Bridgeport Hospital. "Bridgeport kicked them out because patients wouldn't use the hospital anymore. They lost on the medical aspect, and nearly lost the confidence of the community. A task force was set up to investigate the problem and its recommendations were to 'Get right

Muenster State Bank ranked among best, nationally

Congratulations and acknowledgements have been coming into Muenster State Bank from many areas of the financial industry in Texas and the nation. The trade publication, American Banker has named Muenster State Bank 44th in a survey of the nation's top 100 small community banks. In Texas MSB is rated fourth among the same group.

This determination is made using the information from the banking department. Factors in the rating include the capital to assets ratio, strength of management and equity and service to the community. These factors put MSB among the very top banks in the nation. The bank has a capital to assets ratio exceeding 15 percent. Peer group banks nationally have a ratio of about 10 percent and when taken as a whole, large and small banks over the nation have a capital to assets ratio of only about 6 percent. MSB is grouped with small banks of less than $50 million in assets.

Bank President Earl J. Fisher has received many congratulatory letters including one from the Texas Bankers Association and the Banking and Finance department of Southern Methodist University. MSB has received mention along with other top banks in several of the state's largest newspapers.

MSB Executive Vice President Henry Weinzapfel said they are all very proud of this rating and honor. "It is a credit to the bank of course, but it is also something very special for the entire community who has trusted us and helped to build our strength," he said.

Bauer Financial Reports, Inc., a Coral Gables, Florida research firm, is pleased to announce that Muenster State Bank (rated five-stars for nine consecutive quarters) has been awarded its five-star rating. This prestigious award identifies this institution as one of the safest, most credit-worthy banks in the United States.

Out of 12,342 banks reporting for the period ended December 31, 1990, 3,072 banks, less than one out of four, 24.9 percent, received five-star rating.

Jim Bleything will try again for Cooke County Sheriff's job

Three years ago, in March of 1988, a Gainesville police officer ran for election to the Cooke County Sheriff's position. Jim Bleything won in Muenster, by a two-to-one margin. He lost in the county wide count, by 175 votes.

Bleything is starting to campaign again for the sheriff's job. He hopes to be elected in March of 1992. Bleything says "I want to put the 'serve' back in the police motto 'to serve and protect.'" He said that he wants to make the Sheriff's Department a familiar presence all over the county.

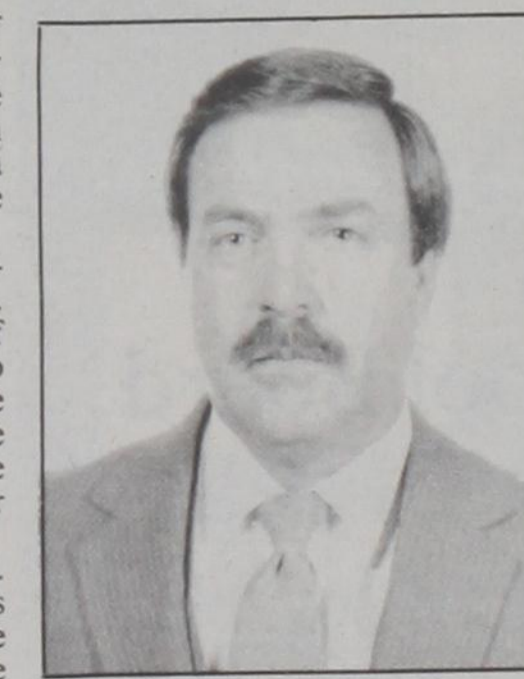

Jim Bleything is 41 years old. He has devoted the past 10 years of his life to law enforcement. He is married to native Gainesville Mitzie Young Bleything and a family man to three stepchildren: Kelly, Jodi and Randy Brannan.

Jim has made Cooke County his home for the past 11 years. He is currently employed as a police officer for the City of Gainesville. He is a former Chief Criminal Investigator for the Cooke County Sheriff's Department. He has twelve years of law enforcement experience including military time.

He holds Basic and Intermediate Certificates in Law Enforcement and will receive his Advanced Certificate this November. He has over 500 hours of police training.

Bleything has a four year plan to chart a course for the department and see that the goals are met. Some of his goals are:

- Complete restructure of the Sheriff's Department to insure

JIM BLEYTHING
maximum efficiency and productivity.
-Establishment of a community relations program second to none.

- More visibility of the Sheriff and his department.
- Stricter drug enforcement on a continual aggressive basis with emphasis on curbing an already out of control problem in the Cooke County area.

Bleything said, "I already see the same pattern of drug enforcement developing with the onset of an election year. I'm sure as the election draws closer, the level of drug enforcement will increase as it did four years ago. I've often wondered why the current administration believes people use drugs during election years only.

"We must keep the same level of drug enforcement efforts every year, not just election years to be successful and that effort must be a genuine effort not merely a cosmetic one."

Good News!

Sing out, O heavens, and rejoice, O earth, break forth into song, you mountains. For the Lord comforts his people and shows mercy to his afflicted. ISAIAH 49: 13

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Operation Desert Storm will probably go down in history as one of our most successful military efforts ever. That was due in large part to the participation of the U.S. Army Reserve.

Beginning in August 1990, thousands of Army Reservists were called upon to perform the missions for which they had been trained. By now the whole country is aware of the tremendous contributions they made to the United States' Operation Desert Storm effort.

Their success was, in turn, made possible by the generous support of the American people. First, and perhaps most important, was the wide-ranging support by the communities of the Army Reservists who were activated. Local communities were particularly supportive of hometown units as they deployed. Without that, the activation would have been much harder to accomplish. But our Army Reservists went with the blessings and good wishes of the American people. We all realize just how important that is.

Without a doubt, one of the most significant factors in informing the public was the news media coverage of reserve activations. Overall, both the print and the electronic media presented a fair picture of the issues and activities surrounding the mobilization. As a result, the public saw how well prepared Army Reservists were and learned how important they were to the total Army effort.

The understanding that our Army Reservists have received from their employers has been most encouraging. No one likes to lose a valuable employee suddenly for an extended and indefinite period of time, especially in times of economic uncertainty, but the response of the great majority of employers has been very positive. Many companies went beyond the requirements of the law and generously extended additional benefits to their Reservists. As a result, Army Reservists were able to deploy without worrying about their job security. Now, as they are returning, we are seeing that support continue as employers are welcoming them back into the work force.

And finally, the families of our reservists deserve special recognition. They bore the emotional, financial and physical burdens of their soldiers' absence. They supported their soldiers and that made a real difference.

Once again, Army Reservists have shown themselves to be dedicated to serving their country. They sacrificed their time, they were separated from their families, and many lost income when they were activated. They needed your support and they got it.

On behalf of our fine Army Reserve soldiers, I am privileged to thank all of you whose support made it all possible.

Dear Citizens of Muenster, Dear Celine Dittfurth!

After such a long time of waiting, an answer from Germany, from Ascheberg near Munster, finally arrives. There it is not too late for you, but the political developments in Germany took quite a lot of energy from us, even here in the Western part of Germany.

Our mayor does not have the time to build up a partnership with your town, so we have decided to take over the initiative. We are the "Junge Union," a political organization of young people in Ascheberg.

As it might be rather difficult for you to imagine how a village in the so-called "Munsterland" looks like, I added some material about our village. (I'm sorry they are only in German). Ascheberg is a village 20 miles from Munster, the biggest city in the area and 70 miles from Cologne. It was founded in 890, so we celebrated the 1100th birthday of Ascheberg last year. 15,000 citizens live in Ascheberg today and our village consists of three smaller villages: Ascheberg (7,000 inhabitants), Herbem (5,000 inhabitants), and, finally, Davensberg (3,000 inhabitants). Many workers from Ascheberg have to travel to Munster, where they work in large industrial firms or in offices of insurances, but you can also find work in some of the smaller manufacturing places in Ascheberg. There is still a small alcohol distillery where the famous "Schnapps" is produced.

Could you please send us some material about your area, the political and cultural situation. Are there still a lot of names of German origin in Muenster? Your name, Mrs. Dittfurth, is typical of German, even a famous German politician is called Dittfurth.

A partnership lives from personal contacts between organizations and families. Do you see a possibility to keep such personal contacts even on such a long distance? It would not be a problem at all to welcome some citizens from Muenster if they wish to visit Germany and, especially Ascheberg. The "Junge Union" is very much interested in this partnership.

Our address here in Ascheberg is: Martin Erkens, Junge Union, Bernwarding 55, 4715 Ascheberg, Germany (W).

To Muenster, a village near New Braunfels, which we know, is a center of German culture in Texas? I hope to receive an answer soon.

Yours,
Martin Erkens

School taxation: What can we do?

by Steve Cooper
MISD Superintendent

The last two articles hopefully shed some light on the tax dilemma we are facing. While it's true the state does impose these requirements there is something that can be done.

I would also like to address, in this article, questions that have come up the past few weeks concerning our school, its status, and its future.

Questions concerning consolidation come up periodically. Is consolidation a possibility? Consolidation has been discussed in state circles for 20 years or more. It will always be an alternative in the minds of many politicians. Numbers that have been discussed the past few years are 600, 700, and 1000. These numbers are suggested by politicians, meaning school districts would have to have this number of students in order to be state funded, if you didn't have this number then you would have to consolidate. I don't anticipate a frontal assault on school consolidation but I do anticipate, in the years to come, more guidelines, mandates, financial juggling, and financial incentives trying to encourage voluntary consolidation. The big lie in consolidation is that it would be more efficient. This might be the case for a few years but in the long term no money at all would be saved. The direction in consolidation would be for a county high school. This sounds good to many politicians because bigger to many of them is always better. For our community it would be disastrous. Any community losing its school to consolidation would not "do away" with that community paying taxes. The only thing that would happen is the tax money generated locally would go out of the community into the community that was serving the students. No community will be exempt from school taxes. You would either pay taxes that would be used locally or you would pay taxes that would leave the community and benefit other places in the county.

Muenster Public School ranks very high academically in the state. Year in and year out we are in the top 10 to 15 percent of the schools statewide. Schools that are doing the job and that have adequate facilities will be harder to consolidate than those schools that don't meet the criteria. We need to maintain our focus and commitment to the youngsters we serve. This will insure a good school system in our community for years to come.

Another question or concern is how state money will be disbursed under the new law? Will Muenster ISD get more or less money from the state? Overall, we will get more money from the state because of our desire to serve all our students on the homefront. The state will pay our school district, according to current figures, approximately $3000 per student in average daily attendance (ADA). The more students justment to county criteria.

Chas Bayer spoke on behalf of the local Industrial Board, "We'd like to welcome them (RMI) to the City of Muenster. We're looking forward to a long and profitable endeavor for both of us for years to come. We feel like it will not only be long term, but a large employer for Muenster. It has been enjoyable working with Jim Rosenbaum and Tom Pinchback."

The process used to produce these products was developed 12 years ago and the items made in small quantities, but with interest in the country's ecology there is now a great demand for such a process, according to Bayer. "The Board is excited; it's a brand new venture," he said.

Bayer also wanted the community to know that the Industrial Board is in the process of looking for a tenant to Valenite's east building.

W.J. Luke attains National Accreditation

W.J. (Wilmer) Luke of Muenster has successfully completed the requirements for nationally-recognized accreditation in taxation and is now authorized to use the service mark, Accredited Tax AdvisorsSM. The Accreditation Council for Accountancy and Taxation (ACAT) awarded accredited status to Wilmer Luke based on outstanding professional qualifications.

The Council's accreditation program provides a method for recognizing the qualifications of individuals engaged in the practice and/or study of taxation and accounting. The cornerstones of the program are formal testing of applicants and the maintenance of accredited status through mandatory continuing education requirements.

Wilmer Luke is one of only 12,000 individuals to earn this recognition from the Accreditation Council for Accountancy and Taxation. According to ACAT statistics, there are over 900,000 accountants in the United States. ACAT is a nonprofit organization affiliated with the National Society of Public Accountants, headquartered in Alexandria, Virginia, and the College for Financial Planning in Denver, Colorado.

If you as taxpayers don't become involved nothing will change.

2. Nothing will change if it is not an organized effort. If it is "hit and miss" the politicians will not hear you and will not respond. It must be concerted and loud and constant. They will respond to a perceived "grass roots" movement. We must express our indignation at the unfair burden the local taxpayer assumes. I will be glad to help in any way I can, if there is enough interest.

3. In the interim it appears we are stuck with our "Robin Hood" plan at least for one year. Regardless, it will be the commitment of MISD to keep as much money at home as possible. When purchasing goods and services, we of course, are bound by state bidding requirements in some instances and by good common business sense in other instances. It is still the desire of our local board to do as much business as possible locally, we will remain committed to that philosophy.

This is the last of three articles designed to explain what is pending in local taxation. It is most frustrating for us that are charged with the administration of the school. The constant erosion of local control makes it more and more difficult to plan ahead. We are hopeful that our politicians will become more informed and responsive to the public schools and the students in those schools that they are supposed to be serving.

I would once again, be happy to discuss at anytime, anywhere, and with anyone the particulars of school finance.

Nuptial Mass unites couple on June 29

MRS. STEPHEN BRETT MARION
...nee Jan Darlene Fleitman...

Jan Darlene Fleitman became the bride of Stephen Brett Marion in a Nuptial Mass with double-ring ceremony in Sacred Heart Church on Saturday, June 29, at 5 p.m., with Father Victor Gillespie, OSB, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of August and Paula Fleitman of Muenster and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fleitman Sr. of Muenster and Mrs. Pearl Richardson of Gainesville. The groom is the son of Larry and Linda Marion of Gainesville and the grandson of Mrs. Ella Mae Marion and Mrs. Jewel Murray of Gainesville.

The couple chose to be married in Sacred Heart Church of Muenster, because the bride's parents were married there 23 years ago on June 29.

Also observing a wedding anniversary within the same week were the groom's parents, who were married 30 years ago.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a formal white taffeta gown designed with Sabrina neckline, long tapered sleeves, fitted bodice with dropped waistline covered with Alencon lace ornately decorated with sequins and pearls. The bodice had a deep V back, crowned with a dainty bow at the waist. The back of the skirt was contoured into a peplum design, completely beaded. The full skirt displayed beaded lace appliques, and flowed into a full-length train. A crystal and pearl beaded crown and waist-length veil complimented her gown.

She carried a bridal bouquet of cascading carnations, sweetheart roses, pink alstroemeria, stephanotis, blue forget-me-nots, with delicate pearl sprays and iridescent lace ribbon and the pearl rosary her mother carried on her own wedding day. For tradition, she wore an ivory cross necklace, a gift from her maternal grandmother for Jan and her three sisters to wear on their First Holy Communion days.

ATTENDANTS

Melinda Fleitman was her sister's maid of honor. Mrs. Dewayne (Lana) Marion of Callisburg, groom's cousin, Nicole Marion of Gainesville, groom's sister, Christina Guerrero of Whitesboro and Cheramie Moster of Muenster, both friends of the bride, were the bridesmaids. They wore tea-length dresses of embossed faille in alternating colors of heavenly blue and soft pink, designed with sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves, and a heart-shaped cutout in the back bodice accented with a candy-box bow.

Each carried a matching pink or blue nosegay with forget-me-nots and mini-carnations.

The bride's sisters, Kristen Fleitman, was flower girl and Kerry Fleitman carried the Unity candle to the altar. Their dresses were made of blue and pink floral print, and each wore a delicate floral spray in her hair. Phillip Fleitman, bride's cousin of Lind-say, was ring bearer.

Dewayne Marion of Callisburg, groom's cousin, was best man. Groomsmen were Randy Fleitman of Muenster, bride's brother, Robby Walrath, Frank Grantham and Paul Schofield, all friends of the groom of Gainesville.

Ushers were Troy Zackery of Dallas, bride's cousin, Wayne Marion of Austin, groom's brother, and Kenneth Fleitman of Lindsay, bride's uncle.

Lucas Hartman and Russell Fette were Mass servers.

Ruth Felderhoff and Christy Hesse presented wedding music, including the wedding processional and recessional, and "You and I," "The Rose," "Wind Beneath My Wings," "Father, Make Us One," "Wherever You Go," "Beginning Today," "Hail Mary, Gentle Woman."

Readings and Responsorial Psalm for the wedding liturgy were given by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Les (Linda) Richardson of Mesquite. The bride's cousin, Troy Zackery of Dallas, read the Prayer of the Faithful.

Flowers in the bride's chosen colors adorned the altar. A pair of tall three-tiered floor candelabrae with white candles were tied with pink and blue satin bows. The Unity candle and two side candles were placed on the front altar.

Ken Roberts and Randy Fleitman recorded the entire wedding by video cameras.

RECEPTION

A reception and dinner were held in the Sacred Heart Community Center, with catering by Francis and Cathie Fuhrmann of The Farmer's Kitchen. Presiding at the bride's book were her aunt, Linda Zackery of Dallas, and the groom's cousin, Michelle Greer of Denton, registering 300 guests.

The bride's cake was a towering romantic design of three tiers separated with crystal and iridescent accessories, and cascades of pale pink and blue handmade icing flowers falling from the contemporary porcelain top keeapsake ornament, adorned with crystal and flowers and pearls.

Reception assistants who helped serve the cakes were Tammy Fleitman, Brandi Gilpin of Muenster and Julie Prescher of Valley View, all cousins of the bride.

Out-of-town guests came from Mesquite, Dallas, Austin, Lindsay, Denton, Whitesboro and Edinburg.

The couple will shortly be on a Caribbean cruise for their wedding trip and will be at home in Gainesville.

The bride is a graduate of Muenster High School and attended Cooke County College. She is employed by Weber as a tank operator. The groom is also employed by Weber as a sandblaster. He attended Gainesville ISD where he graduated in 1987 and also attended Cooke County College.

Documentary hosted by Tom Landry July 14

A documentary about prison inmates whose lives have been changed after becoming Christians will be broadcast over KXAS-TV, Dallas-Fort Worth, at 11:30 a.m. Sunday, July 14.

Titled "Set Free," the hour-long documentary is hosted by former Dallas Cowboys head football coach Tom Landry. It was produced by the Southern Baptist Radio and Television Commission, headquartered in Fort Worth, for the NBC Television Network.

The documentary focuses on the stories of several inmates. One is in San Quentin, near San Francisco, the others in Texas prisons. One is a woman serving a sentence as an accessory to murder. The documentary includes a rare visit with an inmate on Texas' death row, where television cameras are not normally permitted.

Other scenes were shot at the Hospitality House in Huntsville, a unique facility surrounded by eight prison units. Hospitality House was created by Texas Baptists to provide a place to stay as well as counseling for families who come to visit inmates.

Landry has been involved with the Bill Glass Association as a volunteer who has gone into prisons as a guest to share his faith in Christ with inmates.

Muller and Hanson wed

The wedding of Lynn Muller and Dr. Robert Hanson was held in Sacred Heart Church on Saturday, June 22, 1991, with Father Victor Gillespie officiating the Nuptial Mass and double-ring vows at 5 p.m. The couple chose Sacred Heart Church because the bride's parents were married there in 1956.

The bride is the daughter of Don and Norma Muller of Denton, formerly of Muenster. She is also the granddaughter of Mrs. Joe Vogel of Muenster and the late Matt Mullers. She is a 1984 graduate of Texas A&M University and is employed as area manager for Sterling Personnel of Dallas.

The groom is the son of Robert and Joan Hanson of St. Cloud, Minnesota. He is a 1979 graduate of St. John's University and received a Master's degree in 1985 and his Doctorate in 1988 from TWU. Dr. Hanson is a Licensed Psychologist in private practice.

Presented at the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing an elegant white lace sheath beaded all over with iridescent and pearls. Designed with long sleeves, the wedding gown featured a low V-back neckline with a satin bustle. The white satin detachable chapel train was edged with lace.

Personal

Former Muenster resident Vince Luke of Fort Worth was back Sunday making pop calls at homes of cousins. He came to Muenster after socializing with other relatives and friends at the Lindsay picnic.

Her sheer, triple tiered illusion veil with pouf was attached to a band of myriad pearls.

She carried a bridal bouquet of a dozen naturally arranged white roses. For sentiment, she wore her great-great-grandmother's wedding ring and also "borrowed" a ring from her godmother, Lillian Walterscheid.

ATTENDANTS

Cherri Wynne of Lewisville, the bride's best friend, was her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Colleen Leeman of Argyle; Susan McLaughlin of Dallas; Karen Hoenig of Denton; and Claudia Muller of Amarillo.

Their sheath gowns were designed of black and white satin covered with lace. Each carried three callalilies.

The flower girl was Katherine Chance Wynne. Ring bearers were Austin James Wynne and Philip Allen Muller.

J. Andrew Skerik of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, best friend of the groom, was the best man. Groomsman were Clyde Hanks of Dallas; Gordon Leeman of Argyle; David Miller of Fort Collins, Colorado; Jim Rice of Brookings, South Dakota.

Ushers were Ron Muller of Amarillo; Steve Muller of Denton; Matt Muller of Denton; and Joe Hulgus of Dallas.

Wedding music was presented by Dale Peter, organist, and Michael Mack, vocalist, whose selections were assorted classical pieces.

White floral arrangements and a pair of tiered candelabra with lighted white candles graced the altar.

RECEPTION

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center for 225 guests, hosted by parents of the bride.

Tracey Vogel presided at the bride's book. The bride's table was covered with white linen and trimmed with white net bows. The white two-tiered wedding cake was decorated with white flowers. The groom's chocolate cake was decorated with fresh strawberries and chocolate curls. Scott, Darrin and Ryan Hoenig, bride's nephews, served the bride's table.

Decorations in the reception area were highlighted by the gazebo laced with white twinkling lights, white net bows and lights in a lattice background, white tablecloths with black accents and candles.

For their wedding trip, the couple chartered a 36-ft. yacht on Lake Texoma. Upon return, the couple will reside in Dallas.

'Baby Love' line ties women to service

Women in Texas can now dial free 1-800-4-BABY-LOVE to find out about the state's many health programs for them and their children.

The toll-free number connects callers with the latest information about the state's various health programs for women and children, provided through the Texas Department of Health (TDH) and the Texas Department of Human Services.

Bilingual operators answer the line in English and Spanish from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, at the TDH headquarters in Austin. They refer callers to the nearest location where services are available. Some programs are for low-income families and others are available to all.

"The information and referral line opens access to a variety of wonderful programs created to improve the health of Texas," explained Dr. Beverly Koops, TDH Associate Commissioner for Family Health Services. "If these programs are to be effective, people must know what is available and how they can get the services they need close to home," she said.

BABY LOVE operators have information on child health clinic services, pregnancy testing, immunizations, family planning, maternity clinic services, health counseling, parenting classes and programs created to serve children with special needs.

Operators will refer participants to the Special Supplement Food Program for Women, Infants and Children; Chronically Ill and Disabled Children Services; Early Childhood Intervention Program;

Children's Hearing Aid Loan Program; and the Texas Genetic Network.

In addition, information will be provided about Food Stamps, Medicaid and Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

HOSPITAL

of the rehab center." Since that time Bridgeport has brought in new doctors and pushed to the medical aspect and are doing great according to information they gave Debbie Hess.

Herman Carroll, hospital administrator, encouraged members to consider the abuse center because it would be a sure income and $5,000 was the most that there was a chance of losing. "If we receive any complaints they'll be out of here with 60 days notice," Carroll said.

All who spoke assured the hospital board that they were doing a good job and said that they wanted to see the hospital survive and flourish. Most preferred to see doctors brought into Muenster to increase the hospital's revenues.

Chas Bayer, a representative of the local Industrial Board, commented, "Trying to sell Muenster to a company coming without a hospital would be absolutely ridiculous. It would be impossible. We have to have this hospital. If you people on the board think that there is not support from the community, you're wrong. We've just ignored you and elected you and thought that you'd take care of us. Everybody regardless of who they are knows that there is a reserve fund. That's not good enough. We have to keep this hospital viable. The only way we can do that is to find the right doctors. If it costs that money in reserve to stick our neck out and try that, I think that's what the people in Muenster want. If we're gonna go under let's go under in a blaze of glory. Let's not go under in a slow death."

Debbie Hess, head of the doctor recruitment committee, updated information on the progress her committee was making. An OB/GYN has almost certainly committed to coming sometime after the first of next year; an orthopedic surgeon is considering; and several other doctors have been interviewed or are scheduled for interview.

The committee is also seriously considering a satellite program with a Denton hospital. She explained how it would work. Peggy Gobble told of Decatur's success with the satellite program that they have with Denton. "A satellite program is the only thing that is going to keep this hospital going," said Gobble.

In other business: -The proposed budget for 1991-92 was studied and discussed before being approved. -Herman Carroll announced that social security is now being forced for employees.

-It was decided to send several board members to the commissioner's meeting this week on new regulations concerning the county ambulance and transfer patients, a community forum will probably be held in the future to get input on what people want regarding the hospital and doctors.

Fund raisers selected by Auxiliary

Nineteen members of the Muenster Hospital Auxiliary met in the hospital's south wing meeting room on Thursday, June 27 at 7:30 p.m. with Donna Biffle presiding over the meeting. The main goal of the meeting was to select ways of raising funds to support the auxiliary's future projects.

Janie Monday outlined all of the information that she had collected on various possible fund raisers, including probable expenses and possible income. After much group discussion it was decided to do two fund raisers, one for the Fall and the other in the Spring.

A model vital signs monitor, comparable to the one now used by Care Flight Helicopter personnel, was demonstrated by Joan Walterscheid, MMH Director of Nursing. The technology and extensive capabilities performed by the compact unit were impressive. After considerable research, it is the unit tentatively selected by the hospital staff. The auxiliary had agreed in an earlier meeting to purchase a vital signs monitor for use in MMH's emergency room.

Margie Starke reported on the meeting held by the hospital's board of directors on the previous evening and updated information of the progress being made by the board's Doctor Recruitment Committee. An OB/GYN has almost definitely committed to setting up his practice in Muenster and several other doctors including, an orthopedic surgeon and a cardiologist, are very interested.

Jennifer Walter leads Reds to another victory

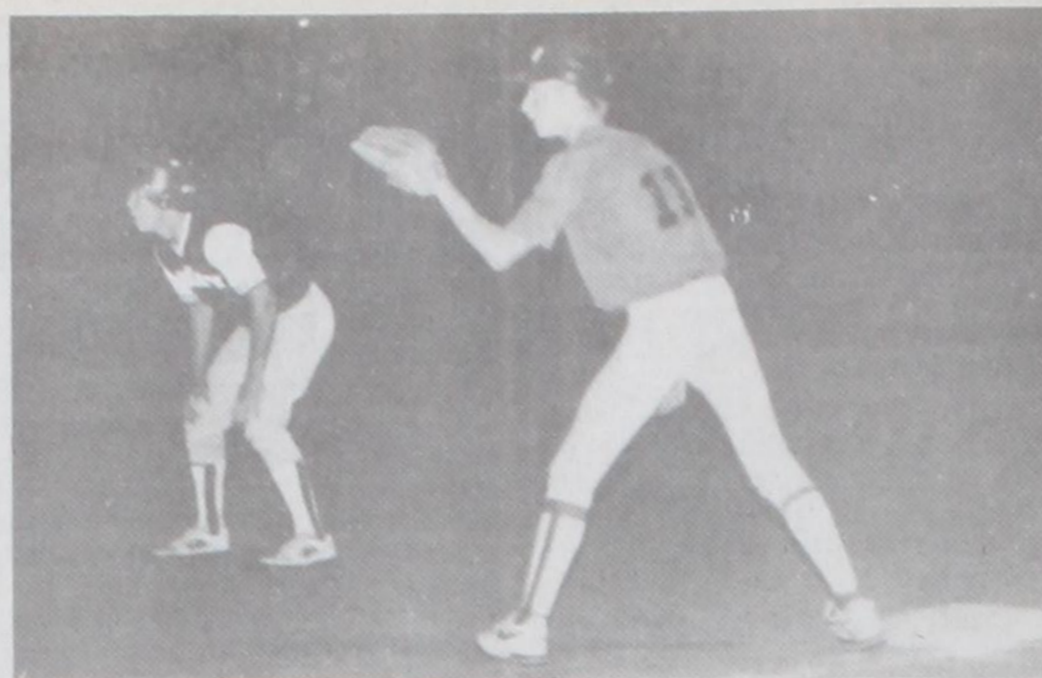

by Mike Pagel
Jennifer Walter displayed a new facet to her basketball game last Monday night. Anyone who has ever seen Jennifer play basketball before knows that she specializes in back court defensive pressure. She is the opposing point guard's nightmare and quite often she records more steals than points in a ball game. Monday night, however, Jennifer became an offensive threat, hitting two 3-pointers in a 35-29 win over the Black team.

The Red team, which has now won three of their last four games, took an early 12-2 lead in the first five minutes of the game. The Black team worked well together offensively but simply couldn't hit their shots. Christy Yosten, April Truebenbach and Crystal Trail of Valley View were standouts for the Black team while Walter, Vickie Bayer and Cheryl Hacker played well for the Red team.

Other scores from Monday night are:

Green 41, Blue 18	5-0
Yellow 32, Teal 21	4-1
Gray 38, Orange 22	3-2
Standings through Week 5
Yellow	5-0
Gray	4-1
Red	3-2
Green	3-2
Black	2-3
Teal	2-3
Orange	1-4
Blue	0-5

Muenster Pony League ends season with loss

by Mike Pagel
The Muenster-based Flusche Enterprise Pony League baseball team closed out their season by losing to the Saint Jo McCoy Funeral Home team by a score of 20-11 here in Muenster last Thursday night. Tom Flusche, with assistance from Terry Walterscheid, coached his team to a 4-5 record of the year.

As was the case throughout most of the season, pitching seemed to be a weakness for the Muenster team. An inconsistent ability to find the strike-zone with pitches, coupled with their opponents' veteran-like experience of hitting at the plate, proved to be a factor in each of their five losses.

Because this is Muenster's first year to organize a Pony League team, many of their players have not played baseball since they were Little League players.

Although that may have been only a couple of years away from the bats, balls and gloves, it made an apparent difference playing against boys from Saint Jo and Nocona who have been playing at some level of baseball every summer since they first began playing T-ball around the kindergarten age. The experience these Muenster boys obtained this summer, though, will undoubtedly be a valuable asset when their team takes the field next year. Brandon Walterscheid, A.J. Knabe and Trent Trubenbach are the only three players from Tom's team who will be too old to compete next season. Other players who are expected to return next summer are Jamie Hellman, John Klement, Jason Hess, Jeff Flusche, Jason Huchton, Justin Camp, Brandon Bayer, Cory Cain, Cody Sicking and Neil Berres.

Any other young men who have just completed their Little League eligibility or are between the ages of 13 and 15 and would like to play Pony League baseball are encouraged to contact Tom Flusche.

Indeed, the future for the Flusche Enterprise Pony League team looks good!

Tee-off at 10 on July 7

Tee-off time is 10 a.m. on Sunday, July 7, at Nocona Municipal Golf Course for the Muenster Golf Association's monthly tournament. Come on out for a day of fun, sun and fellowship!

Hunter Education Course required

A Hunter's Education Course is being planned for the Muenster area, to be given on Aug. 5, 6, 7. Jim Gehrig, a state certified volunteer instructor, has a three-night course of 10 hours planned on hunter safety.

This is a course required by law for hunters in Texas whose birthdate falls between Oct. 2, 1971 and Sept. 31, 1975. It also is a course which fulfills requirements for other states demanding a hunter education course before a person can hunt.

To sign up for the course, call 759-4112. Cost of the course is $5.00 which the state requires to cover cost of books, testing materials, etc. The course will be held at Cooke County Electric Co-op building two miles east of Muenster. The time will be from 6 to 9 p.m. on the 5th and 6th, and 6 to 10 p.m. on the 7th. Class will be limited to 25 people, so call early.

Softball tourney slated for July 12-13

The CCC Men's Softball Team will sponsor a softball tournament on Friday and Saturday, July 12 and 13 at Muenster City Ballpark. Entry fee is $125. All donations will go to the American Heart Association.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second and third place teams; and T-shirts will go to first and second place teams. For more information, call Nick Walterscheid, 759-4308; or Brian Herr, 759-4911.

FISHIN' TIPS FROM THE TRACKER PROS

Fishing Tip #13

When a fisherman loses a fish because the line breaks, it is seldom the fault of the line. Most of the time it is a mistake that the angler makes and not a weak spot in the line.

Very light line can handle a very large fish if there is no underwater structure to interfere and provided the angler has properly set the drag adjustment on the reel.

The drag will allow a fish to strip line off the reel while still providing tension. Baitcasting, spinning and spin cast reels all have drag adjustments. This should be set well below the breaking strength of the line.

The action of the rod plays a major roll in preventing line breakage. A rod with a firm butt section and fairly limber tip works best.

Dairy hearings begin for two-tier program

Texas Farmers Union

Dairy hearings began on June 18 and will conclude with final passage by the House Agriculture Committee on July 7, 1991. The hearings included testimony from the National Farmers Union regarding their concerns about ways to reform Dairy Policy and implement the disaster programs for affected crops.

The concern is that today's wholesale milk prices (approximately $10 per cwt) are so low that farm families are not able to pay their monthly bills, let alone meet longer-term obligations, and that the subcommittee "has little choice but to adopt some sort of tiered price program."

Texas Farmers Union concurs with the NFU position in support of a dairy pricing option introduced by Congressman Tim Johnson (D-SD) that would set a top-tier price support level of $13.60 per cwt. USDA has ruled out support levels that high, citing that additional costs would be incurred by consumers and government-funded assistance programs but TFU President Joe Rankin said that Texas Farmers Union disagrees. He said the dramatic drop in dairy prices during the last year has not resulted in consumer savings. The TFU president also said that cost savings from a two-tier program could be used to offset impacts of the programs on low income consumers.

Texas Farm Bureau

The Board of Directors of the Texas Farm Bureau unanimously approved a resolution Friday calling on Congress to increase dairy producer income. The resolution includes a call for an increase in the support price of milk above the current support level of $10.10 per hundredweight.

It also calls for the formation of an industry advisory board, to "balance the final decision making authority of the secretary of agriculture."

The subcommittee on dairy and livestock, chaired by Congressman Charles Stenholm of Stamford, has recommended a bill increasing the support price to $12.60 per hundredweight.

This is the so-called "two tier" plan which would place a quota on each producer's production, based on production history. The support price would apply to production up to the quota, and a much lower price for any production over that level.

The Farm Bureau resolution specifies that any program adopted by Congress should be national in scope, with no exceptions for specific areas of the country.

The resolution does not mention a specific level of support, citing the need for flexibility.

Conservation tied to the land, not the owner

An official with the USDA Soil Conservation Service says landowners and operators should be aware that conservation compliance plans are tied to the land, not the owner. "That point is important to potential buyers or renters of agricultural land," says Allen Green, assistant conservationist.

"Anyone buying or renting new land should be aware that there may be a conservation plan that needs to be followed," Green says.

Conservation plans are mandatory for farmers of highly erodible cropland if they wish to be eligible for USDA programs.

The law Congress enacted that makes conservation compliance plans necessary (The Food Security Act of 1985) states that farmers of highly erodible land must have had an approved conservation plan by 1990, and must be "actively applying" that plan. And, all conservation measures included in the plan must be fully implemented by Jan. 1, 1995.

Green says that "most conservation plans include a schedule for crop rotations, an agreement about how much crop residue shall remain on the soil surface after planting, whether or not crops shall be planted on the contour, and if terraces and waterways need to be constructed.

"If those items are being applied according to the schedule in the plan, then that plan is being actively applied."

He also says a farmer may revise his conservation plan if he is unable to follow the schedule he agreed to. The farmer also may substitute conservation measures if the substitutions will achieve at least the same level of erosion control. In either case, farmers should contact their local Soil Conservation Service office first to revise their plans.

"The bottom line is that producers are expected to be making progress toward implementing a conservation system in order to participate in USDA programs," Green says.

And, that bottom line also pertains to producers who inherit plans by purchasing or renting more land.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Sorghum Headworms

Sorghum headworms are beginning to show up in grain sorghum fields throughout the county. In past years this larvae has caused some severe yield losses to producers.

The headworm moths are attracted by sorghum in the flowering stage. They lay their eggs on the leaves and heads of the plant and the larvae begin to develop. The larvae mature in 12 to 14 days. Once the larvae reach about an inch in length, they will consume about 80 percent of their total grain intake during their last 4 to 6 days of development. Research has shown that one larvae will damage 6 percent of the kernels in the head, two larvae will damage 10 percent, and three larvae per head will damage about 13 percent of the kernels.

Producers should be scouting their fields now to estimate headworm infestations. The easiest method to use is a 5-gallon bucket. Sample at least 10 heads in five locations across a field. Bend the heads over and shake them in the bucket. Take an average of the worms at the 10 locations in order to determine field infestations.

Producers have several things working for them in eliminating headworm problems. Open headed grain sorghum varieties generally have less problems with headworms. This is due to the protection of tight headed varieties from weather and birds. Also this past week we saw predacious stink bugs feeding on headworms in heads. These are brownish elongated stink bugs that are beneficial. And, headworms tend to be cannibalistic and feed on each other. Producers should check for headworm numbers right up to spraying time. This past weekend we were in fields that were showing one per head and a subsequent checking on the next day showed numbers had diminished to about one-half per head. Take the time to thoroughly check fields daily. The harder the sorghum gets, the less damage you will experience with headworms. Target your insect applications at worms that are one-half inch long or less. These are easier to kill and have caused you little damage.

Use EPDs to make selection decisions

A major part of any good herd improvement program is the awareness of strengths and weaknesses in your herd and developing a genetic program to improve on these points. For most producers, either purebred or commercial, a combination of traits is of primary interest, not just a single trait. Single trait selection without recognizing known genetic antagonisms can lead to major problems in future generations. EPD's can be used to select individuals to meet a variety of production criteria. There is more to using EPD's than just finding the bull who ranks the best for a given trait. In this age of balanced, multiple trait programs, EPD's provide the best tool for selection of potential breeding stock.

In this section, using EPD's to select sires for different production situations will be illustrated. Based on a breeder's goals, EPD's for the seven reported traits in the ASA evaluation system can be used to meet any production criterion. Hopefully, the point will be clear that Simmental bulls exist that fit into any beef production enterprise. All that is required is the time and effort to look them up.

The EPD's and accuracies for five Simmental sires evaluated for the Spring 1990 ASA Simmental Sire Summary are shown in table 1. The following five scenarios will illustrate the use of EPD's to meet specific herd needs of beef cattle producers.

Scenario 1: A commercial cattleman needs a bull to use on heifers that will calve as two-year olds. His main interest is maternal ability may limit his use in the herd but he will be used because his EPD's meet the producer's needs.

This exercise will help develop an appreciation for the flexibility provided by EPD's. The use of EPD's provides a breeder a tool for selection breeding stock that will fit his particular niche in the cattle industry. EPD's should not be the sole basis for selecting breeding cattle. EPD's are useless when the young herd sire that meets all your needs goes lame in the pasture or fails his breeding soundness exam.

Name	CED	BWT	WWT	YWT	MWW	MM	CEM

Harry EPD	-2.6	6.9	77.1	115.6	29.1	-9.4	5.3
Ed EPD	6.6	-4.7	18.0	25.5	-3.7	-12.7	-6.1
Junior EPD	-1.3	-3.2	-8.4	-13.0	12.5	16.7	13.6

calving ease with little regard given to growth or maternal traits.

Scenario 2: A purebred Simmental breeder is interested in growth at a year of age. Labor is not a concern and he has an extensive forage program.

Scenario 3: A commercial cattleman with a black-baldie cowherd needs to introduce Simmental genetics into his herd. He needs a sire with EPD's for calving ease and weaning growth. Due to limited forage (native range), he does not want to increase milking ability in his replacement heifers.

Scenario 4: A cattleman is developing a terminal crossbreeding program to produce calves that he will send into a feedlot shortly after weaning. He is developing a group of Simmental cross females as a maternal line. This line of females will emphasize maternal calving ease and milk. He does not emphasize growth since that will come from the terminal sire breed.

Scenario 5: A seedstock producer wants to market breeding stock that will calve easily but grow rapidly as yearlings. He does have adequate forage available but milk is not a primary need. He is interested in improving the maternal ability of his cowherd.

Now, let's see which bulls fit the five situations the best and discuss why.

In Scenario 1, Tom met the needs of that producer best. The requirement was for calving ease of calves born to two-year old cows. This producer's only needs were a live cow and calf after parturition. Evaluating the five bulls on calving ease, Tom would meet the cattleman's requirements for calving ease.

For Scenario 2 with the purebred breeder emphasizing growth, Harry would be the bull of choice. He had the highest EPD's for weaning and yearling weight compared to the other four bulls. The potential exists for Harry's calving ease and maternal evaluations to improve as more progeny information is collected.

For the commercial man with black baldies (Scenario 3), Ed meets his needs the best. Ed sires calves with growth potential and he ranks high for calving ease. He meets the milking ability criterion with a maternal milk EPD of -12.7.

In Scenario 4, Junior would meet the needs of the breeder who was developing a maternal line of Simmental-cross females. Junior is the highest ranking bull for maternal milk and maternal calving ease. The breeder is using the maternal EPD's to develop a group of cows that will complement the growth traits provided by the terminal sire breed.

Dick is the bull that would fit the requirements of Scenario 5. Dick would sire calves with growth potential. His EPD of +3.2 for first-calf calving ease indicates that he should not be a "hard-calving" bull. The daughters of Dick would have improved maternal ability but milking ability would not be greatly increased. His accuracies for calving ease and

A genetically engineered human protein seems to cut significantly the death rate from septic shock, which is an overwhelming infection of the bloodstream. The drug was given special FDA approval for use in the Persian Gulf War.

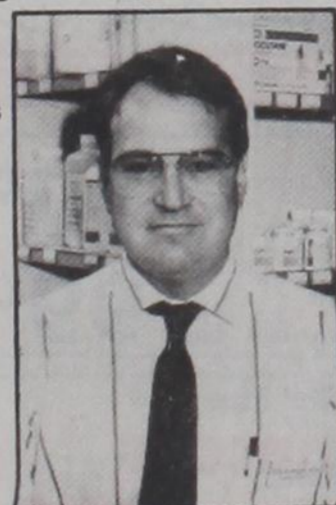

Aspirin and alcohol are a bad combination, even on a full stomach, according to research reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Aspirin seems to inhibit the stomach's ability to break down the alcohol, so more of it goes directly into the bloodstream.

Capsaicin, made from hot peppers, seems to offer relief from arthritis pain, say researchers at Albert Einstein College of Medicine. Topical use of pepper-packed cream cut pain by a third for those with osteoarthritis, by more than half for the rheumatoid arthritis group.
