18th 'Fest draws thousands to Muenster

by Janet Felderhoff

The dust has settled, the crowds have gone home, and Muenster is back to a normal routine once again. The 18th annual Germanfest is now history, and hopefully a happy memory to the estimated 35,600 people who came for a taste of German culture and Texas hospitality.

Temperatures were pleasant and the threatening rain never fell during last weekend's three days of festivities. The only weather complaints that could be lodged were of the strong winds that ushered in Germanfest on Friday and stayed around to aggravate participants in the 12th annual Metric Century Bicycle Rally on Saturday.

Gate receipts were down some this year, perhaps by about 400 people, according to Margie Starke, Muenster Chamber of Commerce secretary. Overall everything went well. The vendors of crafts and booths reported doing well.

"People who stopped by the booth said that they couldn't believe that a small town like Muenster could put on such a big fest," remarked Margie. "They were amazed that so many local people participated by staffing booths and were surprised that there were enough who would also help to put on the bicycle rally and fun run on the same weekend as the Germanfest."

The high wind and overcast skies of Saturday morning may have factored into the lower number of participants in the Bicycle Rally.

There were only 1,374 cyclists registered this year compared to 2,000 last year and 2,666 the year before that.

"A lot of people we talked to after the rally said that the weather was a deterrent," remarked the rally chairman. "It looked really rainy Saturday morning when they left Dallas. The wind also held people back. Riders who finished the course said the headwind was exhausting and that this was the worst ride that they had ever had because of the wind." There were three courses to choose from: 63 miles, 40 miles, and 22 miles.

"We took a licking financially," noted the Bluebonnet rally chairman Patty Bayer. "We didn't make any money this year. We try to have enough on hand to pay the bills. We will be able to pay the bills and fund the projects that we usually plan for. We'll just be more frugal." Patty emphasized that the rally will be in the Bluebonnets plans for next year and that they already have plans to increase the number of participants in coming years.

"The rally went fine," she said. "There were some minor accidents, but quick action on the part of volunteers from the Muenster Fire Department and Cooke County EMS all serious problems were averted." Patty had only praise for everybody involved. There were 400 plus volunteers including three sag wagons from Dallas bicycle shops. "Without the many volunteers the rally couldn't be staged," stressed Patty.

To help defray some of their expense the Bluebonnets are offering the remaining tee shirts for sale at the Chamber of Commerce office for $7 each.

There were not as many runners registered in the 1993 German Fun Run. "I think that people will be here next weekend looking for the German fest," commented Ben Bindel organizer of the Knights of Columbus sponsored run. "The ones who were here seemed to enjoy the new course and I think that we'll keep it the same next year." Bindel also spoke with appreciation regarding the 300 plus volunteers who donate their time and energy to assist with the German Fun Run. "Without them the KCs couldn't have pulled off this fun run," he said.

Winning the 15K race was James Newsome, 29, of Fort Worth. He completed the course in 50:09. Please See 'FEST', Page 13

Nasche competes in Europe

Muenster's John Nasche participated in two international powerlifting meets April 12-13 in Stockholm, Sweden and Helsinki, Finland. As a member of Team USA, Nasche competed against the Finns and the Swedes.

The U.S. powerlifting team was composed of lifters from across the states, including four from Texas. Besides John Nasche, there were John Tyree of Dallas, Tracy Ruiz of Round Rock and Duane Madere of San Antonio. "For the most part, the U.S. team was composed of average to above-average lifters in comparison to what this country has to offer," Nasche continued. "The Swedish and Finnish teams were made up of their best performers."

The first meet took place in Sweden, where the U.S. team lost a close battle 167-161. There were some objections to the scoring techniques, but the differences weren't worked out so the score stood in favor of the Swedes. "The problem was that they didn't differentiate between the individuals who just bench pressed and the ones who lifted in the entire meet," explained Nasche. "If it was scored like we do in the U.S., we would have won 172-159."

In the Sweden meet, Nasche finished first in the 67.5 kg men's division with lifts of 374 pounds in squat, 214.5 pounds in bench press, and a 412.5-pound dead lift for a total lift of 1,001 pounds or 455 kg. That score, using the Swartz Formula, translates into a 335.225, making Nasche the 6th best lifter on the U.S. team and the 13th best overall in the meet of 40 competitors. The Swartz Formula determines a number in accordance with a person's strength on a pound-to-pound basis or the amount of weight you move in proportion to your body weight.

That 1,001-pound total was not Nasche's best performance. During college, his best lifts were 414 pounds in the squat, 252 for the bench and 440-pound dead lift for a 1,060-pound total score. "In college, I had time to train every day of the week. Training is the most difficult thing to accomplish with my busy, tight schedule," Nasche said.

JOHN NASCHE

In Finland, Nasche lifted the same total of 1,001 pounds, but scored differently. In the squat, he picked up 385 pounds, the bench totaled 209 and dead lifted 407 pounds. That would have been a first in the men's 67.5 division, but the meet was scored by age groups, so in the 24-34 year group, Nasche placed 3rd overall, with two U.S. teammates placed ahead of him, once again using the Swartz Formula. The top five were: 1st, Misi Inoke, Spanish Fort, Utah, 445.19; 2nd, Raul Rodriguez, Stamford, California, 400.46; 3rd, John Nasche, Muenster, Texas, 335.25; 4th, Ari Oksanen, Finland, 326.86; 5th, Duane Madere, San Antonio, Texas, 254.30.

Team USA dominated the men's 24-34 age division, but the Finns controlled the 14-23 age group. "The meet was close and competitive," Nasche commented, with the U.S. team coming out on top 120-118.

In the Finland meet, Nasche was the 5th best lifter on the U.S. team and the 15th best overall, using the Swartz Formula.

The meet was highlighted by Raija Koskien, a Finnish woman who set two world records. Weighing only 102.5 pounds, she squatted 352 pounds, benched 137.5 and dead lifted 286 for a world record total of 352.5 kgs or 775.5 pounds. The squat lift was also a new record.

In Nasche's past powerlifting meets, he never finished worse than second place. In six meets, he had four first places and two seconds. "All this was possible because of my best friend, Chris Parker. He taught me everything I know about powerlifting," Nasche continued. "Training for powerlifting varies for each lifter, but it mostly consists of a total body workout including aerobic training."

In preparation for this meet, Nasche trained six days a week in the weight room, ran with the Sacred Heart Tigers, jogged on his own and used a jump rope.

"The trip was quite an experience," said Nasche. He took tours of both countries, met with the Olympic Committee and traded powerlifting strategies with top lifters. Please See NASCHE, Page 13

City elections are May 1...

Miller only mayoral candidate

Saturday's city elections will officially bring a new mayor into office. Ted Henscheid, Muenster mayor for the last six years, has chosen not to run again. William J. Miller is the only person to have filed for the position. Miller is a Muenster native. He now owns and operates Rebel Metal Works, Inc. in Gainesville. He has submitted the following statement for publication:

"I am running for Mayor of Muenster because I am proud of Muenster and want to do my part in taking care of city business.

"The future progress of the town depends upon tax money being spent in the proper places, with fair treatment to all citizens.

"I want to attract new businesses into Muenster and in order to do that, the taxation must be kept low. Our reputation as a quality community favors economic development, and responsible government is necessary for future growth.

"I wish to thank everyone who will remember to vote for me on Saturday. I appreciate the opportunity to run for office, even though I have no opponents in the election."

Marianne Grant is unopposed for re-election to City Council Place 3. She said, "It's been a hard two years but we have accomplished a lot for the city. We have some important jobs still to come. I'm glad to serve this community."

The only contest in the election is between Mike Trubenbach and Harvey Lamkin for City Council Place 5. This position was held for the last two years by Gilbert Kubis who is not running for re-election.

Trubenbach has been a transport operator for Consolidated Freightways for 15 years and, before that, ran his own ranch business. Trubenbach said, "My job is flexible enough to allow the time for the City Council job. I want to see Muenster continue to grow and prosper. I think enough of it to drive 80 miles to work but live here. I think my driving experience on streets and highways could be helpful in managing our streets."

Trubenbach thinks one of the most important issues facing the city is the modern maintenance of utilities to help Muenster grow.

Harvey Lamkin is the second candidate for Place 5. He is a self-employed metal worker and says he has no special qualifications, just common sense and fair play. "I'll try to save money and handle each situation the council faces by a set of guidelines. I would like to see guidelines set up in some areas that are fair and avoid hassles and special treatment. I think the council spends too much time in debate over each issue," Lamkin said. "I'll have to read and study a lot, and I will."

"I've been asked to run several times. I'm not native to Muenster but I've been here a long time. I think I can be impartial, honest and fair. It's time to put a working person on the council," said Lamkin. "I'll do my best and I'll listen to the people."

Lamkin sees citizen involvement as very important to city government. He encourages more people to attend the meetings and has attended many City Council meetings. Please See ELECTION, Page 3

Co-Op delivers report, elects Dave Flusche

A musical performance by the Country Cut Ups from the Saint Jo Opry, election of David Flusche and Larry Corbett as directors and a speech by Texas Electric Cooperatives General Manager Jim Morriss highlighted the annual meeting of Cooke County Electric Cooperative Monday, April 19. A crowd estimated at 450 attended.

General Manager Phil Slater, in his annual report on Co-Op operations, stressed the cooperative's mission and attitude. "The mission is to provide reliable electric power to our customers ... at the lowest price possible," Slater said. "We do many things, but we always keep our eyes on the mission."

"Our attitude is that each one of our customers, each one of our member-consumers, is important," he added.

Slater introduced each Cooperative employee and director to the audience.

Board President Robert Lewis used his report to highlight Cooperative accomplishments in the area of safety. He said that during 1991 and 1992 employees worked more than 150,000 hours with no work-related lost-time injuries. The employees also traveled more than 820,000 miles without a moving vehicle accident during those two years.

Flusche, a Muenster native, was elected as a replacement for Jimmy Jack Biffle, who retired from the board after 18 years of service.

Presenting a retirement plaque, Lewis praised Biffle as a director who could see both sides of an issue and was willing to strongly state his opinions.

Flusche owns Structures, Inc., a firm that fabricates metal buildings and architectural steel products. He has long been active in the community.

Larry Corbett of Dexter, who has completed one three-year term on the board, was elected to another term. Corbett is president of the Callisburg School Board and manager of the Gainesville office of LTV Energy Products.

Morriss told Cooperative members that reductions in state regulation of electric cooperatives will result in consumer cost-savings. Morriss, who heads a statewide service organization for electric cooperatives, said the TEC is encouraging Texas Legislators to change the Public Utility Commission's role in rate making. The recommended changes will allow members of cooperatives to authorize directors to set Cooperative rates.

"In my opinion, there has never been a dime saved by regulation of rural electric cooperatives," said Morriss, who noted that for 40 years, cooperative rates were set by their elected board of directors. "The last thing directors want to do is raise rates," he said.

Under current state laws, cooperatives can reduce or increase rates only after extensive review by the PUC. Cooperatives usually must spend $50,000 to $75,000 on legal fees and consulting work to satisfy regulators and get rate case approval. Those costs, ultimately, must be borne by the cooperatives' member-consumers. "Let's save that money," Morriss said, noting that directors elected by cooperative members provide consumer protection.

Explaining that Cooperatives are owned by the people who pay for the service, Morriss said no investors are enriched when cooperatives raise rates. The only reason for Cooperatives to change rates is to cover expenses while maintaining financial soundness and service reliability.

Morriss also told the assembled members to expect changes in the Rural Electrification Administration that will increase the interest rate Cooperatives pay on borrowed funds. The Clinton Administration has proposed REA cuts. "If we must do our part for deficit reduction, we are postured to do that proudly," said Morriss. However, the cuts won't have much of an impact on overall spending. Last year, interest subsidies to electric cooperatives cost the government $180 million. Since federal expenditures average $450 million per hour, elimination of the subsidy saves about 16 minutes spending per year.

The changes will have no immediate impact on Cooke County Electric Cooperative, which has repaid all but $15,461 of the $2,191,063 it has borrowed from the REA since the Cooperative was founded in 1938.

Good News!

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

This is in response to the "Talking out of both ends of their receivers" ad in The Muenster Enterprise. Obviously, that ad was not directed at the Muenster Telephone Company, nor are these remarks directed at The Enterprise.

Almost on the same page, the newspapers (owned by large cable companies) have two different positions on the Sunset Review of the Public Utility Commission. In one column, newspapers lambaste Southwestern Bell Telephone Company about spending subscribers' money on unneeded fiber optic networks. Then, in the next column, they are lambasted for not reinvesting in new technology. If they cannot reinvest in their own area, naturally they will go some other place that wants them, like Mexico.

Cable companies have successfully blocked legislation that would allow Southwestern Bell to reinvest in fiber optic cables. This will make it much more difficult to connect Cooke County College, Sanger, Bowie and Nocona to the North Texas Educational Video Network. Our children are the losers.

right, sensible thing. They might make their constituents mad and won't get re-elected.

To the Editor:

On Saturday, May 1, you have the opportunity to help solve the problem plaguing Texas public schools by voting "yes" on three proposed state constitutional amendments. As a school trustee and board president, I support all three amendments. My primary concern at this time relates to amendment #1 which would allow for limited recapture of property taxes from the local districts. In order to make a decision regarding one's position on this, it is necessary to understand the current situation as it relates to the ongoing court case.

In summary, the courts have upheld the opinion that the system is inefficient, therefore, unconstitutional. It cites two primary reasons for the inefficiency. One is due to the dependence of local property taxes for education in Texas. Equitable dollars can not be spent on all the children of this state because of various concentrations of property wealth. Furthermore, an equitable taxing structure for the citizens regarding the property tax can not be achieved. Major changes in the system must occur for the system to become constitutional. The current CED system was ruled to be constitutional as it addressed the equity issues, but unconstitutional as it related to a state property tax. The proposed amendment, for all practical purposes, could validate the current CED system and leave options open to the legislature regarding the recapture and redistribution of local property taxes.

If the constitutional amendment is defeated, it will close the door on the possibility of recapture as a solution to our problem, leaving two possible solutions: 1. Replacing the property tax with another form of taxation. 2. Consolidation of school districts in order to achieve equity. The legislature does not have to have a constitutional amendment to solve the problem with these last two options.

Arguments against the proposal always center around people's belief that you should not take money from one entity and give it to another. It should be noted that our whole system of taxation at the state and federal level operates on a principle of redistribution of wealth and resources.

It should also be noted that regardless of whether you vote for or against the May 1 proposition or whether or not it passes, your taxes will probably go up. They will go up because the system is growing at a rate of about 70,000 students per year and to hold our own our expenses are going up.

Letter to the Editor:

We have a chance to add one more conservative voice to our U.S. Senatorial roster. Let's not botch it. I question Krueger's suddenly "conservative" voting record. Conservatives waiving between Joe Barton and Kay Bailey Hutchison risk "trading" incumbent Barton's House seat for the U.S. Senate when they could have the best of two worlds - Barton in the House and Kay Bailey Hutchison in the U.S. Senate.

Issues are important, but don't ignore our U.S. Senate's Constitutionally bestowed power to approve or reject Presidential appointments. President Clinton is seeking a replacement for retiring U.S. Supreme Court Justice Byron White amid rumors of a second potential Supreme Court retiree from this distinguished and crucial Hall of Justices whose decision have gradually crept into almost every segment of our lives. There is little doubt that President (and, we suspect, Hillary) Clinton's choices could open up a rash of new "Warren-era" decisions. President Clinton's appointment power includes federal district judges (remember Wm. Wayne Justice?). Add the power to appoint 91 U.S. Attorneys - newly-appointed U.S. Attorney General Reno has lost no time in ordering wholesale resignations of ALL U.S. attorneys - and approximately 1,200 assistant attorneys.

Kay Bailey Hutchison has promised to fight for enforcement of tough drug and criminal laws; speeding up our snail-paced judicial system; and Congressional reform, including forcing our U.S. Legislators to live under the same laws which they so eagerly legislate for their unrepresented and often forgotten "back home" constituents. You must decide which U.S. Senatorial candidate has the will, the ability, and the experience to represent your interests. To win, he or she must garner a majority of the total number of votes received by all candidates or face a runoff. Vote your choice, but make your vote count.

Letter to the Editor:

On Saturday, May 1, we have an opportunity to send a message to state leaders that we do not approve of inept and deceptive legislation such as Proposition 1. This is nothing but an attempt to shoulder local taxpayers with a burden the state should accept. The scare tactics being used (the schools will shut down - save our schools) is nothing short of irresponsible. It should be noted that our state representative, Ric Williamson, resisted pressure from many sides and has refused to support Proposition 1.

On the other hand, Proposition 2 is an excellent piece of legislation that would require the state to pay, for any new education mandates they dream up in Austin. This would force the legislature to think twice before adding costly mandates, knowing they would have to find a way to pay for it.

To the Editor:

On May 1, Texans go to the polls to vote on three separate propositions to amend the state constitution: *Prop. 1 - Equalizing school finance; *Prop. 2 - Funding future state mandates; *Prop. 3 - Financing school facilities.

Proposition 1: "The constitutional amendment allowing limited redistribution of ad valorem taxes for schools, authorizing the legislature or local districts to set a minimum tax rate in county education districts, and placing a cap on the ad valorem tax levied by county education districts."

"This amendment will not end the Edgewood ISD vs. Kirby lawsuit, and passage of this amendment will allow state aid to decrease, thus forcing local (property taxes) aid to increase over the next two years. VOTE NO.

Proposition 2: "The constitutional amendment exempting a school district from the obligation to comply with unfunded state educational mandates."

"Getting the state to help pay for the programs it requires is essential to ease the pressure on local property taxpayers. Unfunded state mandates have driven up education costs, forced local school districts to raise property taxes, and shifts tax burden from state to local property taxpayers. VOTE YES - and require the state to help pay its fair share.

Proposition 3: "The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of $750 million in state general obligation or revenue bonds to assist school districts in partially financing facilities, authorizing the state to forgive payments of loans made to a school district for partially financing facilities, and repealing the authorization for $750 million in state revenue bonds guaranteed by the permanent school fund."

"Simply stated, this amendment will add to the state's debt burden. VOTE NO.

Voters will also have the opportunity to fill a seat on the U.S. Senate. Congressman Joe Barton has a voting record that has been Pro-Life 100% of the time. Only by electing men and women with Christian and moral ethics will we be able to turn around the abortion laws. Joe Barton has the support of Pro-Life groups and he deserves our vote on May 1!

Lawrence J. Sicking, 75, dies April 24

Lawrence J. Sicking, a resident of Myra and lifelong member of Sacred Heart Church in Muenster, died at age 75 in Providence Hospital of Waco on April 24, 1993 at 3:33 p.m. He spent most of the past two years in the Veterans Hospital in Waco and its convalescent center. His final illness resulted from complications of a heart ailment.

Lawrence Sicking was born on Oct. 25, 1917 to William and Mary (O'Connor) Sicking. He attended Sacred Heart School and was a veteran of World War II, serving four years in the European Theater. He was wounded, was awarded the Purple Heart and numerous honor awards.

He was a member of the Muenster VFW Post, an honorary member of the Knights of Columbus, a retired farmer and member of Sacred Heart Church.

Sicking is survived by one sister, Bernadine Mosman of Gainesville, and one brother, Raymond Sicking of Myra. He was preceded in death by his parents and three brothers, Emmett Sicking, Alfred Sicking and Johnny Sicking.

A Rosary Service was held at McCoy Funeral Home at 4 p.m. on Monday, April 26, and Vigil was held at 8 p.m. with Father Harry Fisher in attendance.

Mass of Christian Burial was offered in Sacred Heart Church Tuesday, April 27, 1993 at 10 a.m. by Father Victor Gillespie, OSB, and Father Camillus Cooney, OSB.

The special funeral liturgy included Sandy Knabe giving the First Reading from the Old Testament; Pat Zimmerer giving the Second Reading from the New Testament; and Elaine Zimmerer reading the Intercessions and Prayers of the Faithful. Kathy and Clifford Sicking presented Offertory gifts at the altar. Assisting as Eucharistic ministers were Jerry and Evelyn Sicking and Paul Fisher. Mass servers were Jeff and Justin Sicking. "I would like to see the sewer examination and reconstruction program continued," Lamkin said. "I don't know why we stopped but I think it is very important to stay ahead of the State Water Commission. I think it's more important to fix sewers than put a new top on a street." Lamkin also said he wanted to emphasize support of local businesses.

No write-in candidates have filed for this election. State law requires that a potential write-in candidate must file at City Hall no less than 30 days before the election or their votes will not be counted.

City Council will appoint alderman for one year

Aubry Tuggle's unexpected death has left a vacancy on the City Council in Muenster. The City has advertised and spread the word for willing and qualified volunteers to make their intentions known. The only qualification is that the person must be a resident of the Muenster city limits for at least six months.

A newcomer to Muenster and two longtime residents have indicated their willingness to serve.

Cody Williams is the job superintendent for road construction on the Texas connecting roads for the new Red River Bridge. Carey Construction Company, Inc. of Austin moved Williams and his family here and they hope to win more jobs in the future in the North Texas area. Thus, Williams thinks he will be staying in Muenster.

A native of Athens, Texas, Cody and his wife Geri have two children, Tara and Toby. They attend Muenster Public School and the family has joined the First Baptist Church. Williams has lived here for seven months. He has an Associate Business degree from Kilgore College and has been vice-president of a highway construction company in Gilmer, Texas before joining Carey.

"I think there would be value in having new blood on the City Council," Williams said. "I have a lot of experience in street and highway construction and maintenance that I think could be valuable to the city. I have paid close attention to the recent street debate and the oil and chip rock method is not the way to go. Office modernization and the city lake are other important areas. My company will allow me the time and I'd like to help Muenster grow and improve. My family and I plan to live here."

Bob Hermes and Rick Stewart are both longtime residents of Muenster who have indicated their willingness to serve on the council for one year.

The City Council will consider this appointment next Monday at the regular meeting, 7:30 p.m., at City Hall.

Tax Talk

By: Duane Knabe, CPA

Duane Knabe will discuss a different topic each week. Any questions should be directed to him at 759-4010.

This week's topic is surviving spouses. A surviving spouse may use the joint return tax rates for two tax years following the year of death of the spouse, but only if the survivor remains unmarried and maintains as his home a household that, for the entire tax year, is the principal place of abode for a son or daughter, adopted child, foster child, or stepchild who is a member of the surviving spouse's household and for whom the taxpayer is entitled to the dependency exemption.

A widow or widower who qualifies as a "surviving spouse" uses the joint return rate schedule or Tax Table and must use Form 1040 or 1040A. This benefit is afforded a survivor only if they were entitled to file a joint return with the deceased spouse during the latter's lifetime.

The project is called Children's Hospital and is part of the Kiwanian International major emphasis program. Cooks Children's Hospital in Fort Worth and Children's Medical Center in Dallas are the two hospitals in our area that are totally dedicated to the care and treatment of children. The full range of childhood diseases are addressed at these hospitals. All funds raised will go for needed equipment and instruments which can provide a lifetime of service to the youngsters under treatment. All donations impact the needs of the hospitals 100% as there are no administrative costs.

During 1992 and 1993 the major emphasis of Kiwanis International has and will be to help our children benefit from medical care, dental care, eye care, mental health care and other areas that will enhance the overall health of children.

4-H Emerald Riders host play day April 17th

by Janette Hess, Club Leader

The 4-H Emerald Riders Horse Club hosted a Playday on Saturday, April 17, and it was Cooke County versus Denton County. Scheduled to be held at Bowles Arena in Era, the playday was moved to the Cooke County College Equine Facilities due to the stormy weather in the area.

The different classes were: Pole Bending, Flag Race, Straight-Away Barrels, Cloverleaf Barrels and a class just for fun, called Pairs Toilet Paper. The different age categories in each class, except Toilet Paper (which was for all ages at the same time) were: 0-13, 14-19 and Adults.

In the Pairs Toilet Paper, two horseback riders became partners, and each "pair" was given the same length of toilet paper. The object was to see how well the riders could control their horses and, by keeping together, not break their length of toilet paper. Last "pair" of riders to still have an unbroken length of toilet paper are the winners. This is tougher than it sounds! Especially when a trot or a lope is called for! At the end, we had two "pairs" who just couldn't lose! On and on they went, so we had to make the challenge a bit tougher! A barrel was set up in the arena, and each "pair" took turns following the announcer's instructions, such as: trot or lope past the barrel, with one horse on either side, holding the length of toilet paper above the barrel. Another challenge was to have each "pair" stop suddenly and then have to back their horses together. Bit by bit, the judge shortened each "pair's" length of toilet paper, to make it harder! One "pair" was from Cooke County and the other was from Denton County, so we had a real contest! But, finally, Cooke County was the winner! The winning "pair" consisted of Nathan Bowles and Cote Sutton. The two girls from Denton County that gave them such a hard run for their money were Karin Hammons and Kiley Kwast. Coming in with third place were two Cooke County girls, Sarah Hess and her cousin, Sherie Bonner.

Grandparents attend First Communion

Michael Kostyniak, son of Gretchen and Larry Kostyniak of Arlington and grandson of Norbert and Liz Koesler of Muenster, was a member of a class of 21 children receiving their First Holy Communion on Sunday, April 18, during the 11 a.m. Mass in St. Mary Goretti Church.

A very touching ceremony preceded Offertory, when each Communicant brought a new toy to the altar to be given to less-fortunate children.

After Mass a reception, champagne toast and dinner were hosted in the family home. A decorated, blue and white cake graced the table. Movies were made and later Michael opened his gifts.

Celebrating with him were his parents, his brother Brian; his maternal grandparents, Norbert and Liz Koesler of Muenster, and his paternal grandparents, Ed and Zoe Kostyniak of Denison. Also godparents Rudy Koesler and Mary Alice Bayer; Christi, Andrea, Elliot and Bridgette Klement; Martha, Raegan and Kristian Koesler; Fred, Elaine, Evan and Andrew Koesler; Danny Bayer; Sister Francesca and Sister Margaret Rose of Our Lady of Victory Convent in Fort Worth. Unable to attend, but sending greetings was an uncle, Karl Koesler.

Later in the afternoon, the children enjoyed swimming in the family pool.

The Tigerettes' track team from Sacred Heart brought home 12 state medals, including 4 gold from the TAPPS State Track and Field Meet last weekend in Waco. "I was very pleased with the effort," said Coach Jon LeBrasseur. "We were projected to finish 3rd but, in an effort to win the championship, fell a little short." Happy Hill took 1st place with 142-1/2 points, with the Tigerettes racking up 134.

Coach Jon noted some outstanding performances from distance runner Erica Schilling, who finished 1st in both the 1600m and 3200m runs. Also, the 800m relay team of Jacqueline Trammell, Stephanie Grewing, Sarina Fuhrmann and Kelly Dangelmayr got the gold. Dangelmayr also won the 200m, coming from behind after trailing by 5 yards.

The three seniors - Deann Bayer, Julie Felderhoff and April Truelsenbach - also had a great day, all finishing as state medalists. Coach Jon has high expectations for next season, as 13 state qualifiers will return.

The Sacred Heart tennis teams traveled to Woodhaven Country Club in Arlington last week Monday for district competition. Schools participating included Sacred Heart, Masonic Home, Meadowbrook Christian, Pantego, Christian, Southwest Christian and Trinity Christian.

In girls' single action, Jennifer Fuhrmann lost her opener 8-2 to Keith of Masonic Home. She advanced to the consolation round to play one alternate spot with Price of Meadowbrook, winning that set. She was defeated in her third match 8-2 by Gifford of Trinity, ending her competition.

Deann Bayer opened with an 8-0 win over Higer of Masonic Home, then lost to Sathid of Pantego, putting her third in competition for third place. Facing Keith of Masonic Home, Bayer lost 8-2.

In girls' doubles, Julie Felderhoff and Mandy Barnhill won their opening match 8-5 over Brock and Magnuson of Trinity. Their second round saw Sartin and Bickle of Masonic Home beat them 8-1, before they were victorious 8-6 over Selleck and Davis of Meadowbrook for a third place finish.

Stephanie Grewing and Tiffany Fisher lost their first match 8-4 to Selleck and Davis, then the second match 8-5 to Brock and Magnuson, eliminating them from competition.

In boys' singles, Scott Poole was defeated in his first two rounds by Kelly of Southwest 8-0 and Trahan of Masonic Home.

Brandon Bayer opened with the same fate, as he lost to Rall of Southwest 8-0, but he rebounded by defeating Jemente of Meadowbrook in the consolation round 8-7, 7-4. Bayer then lost to Trahan 8-3 to end his playing time.

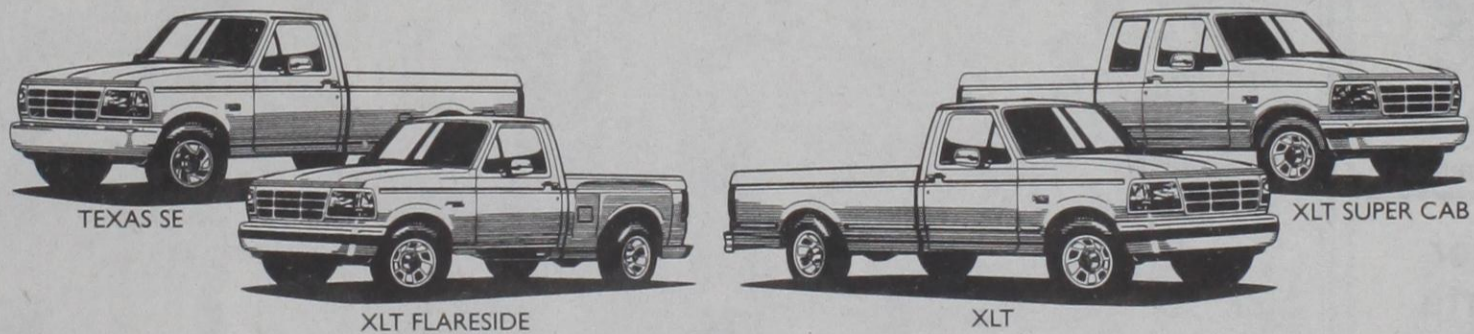

In the boys' doubles, Jason Hess and John Klement lost their opener to Kubicki and Kinrery of Trinity 8-5. The team of Kelly Bayer and Mike Gehrig also lost their opener 8-1 to Bickle and Davis of Masonic Home. The two Tiger teams then played each other for a fourth-place spot. Hess and Klement won the close set 8-6 and qualified for state.

"This district meet was very competitive," said Coach John Nasche. "There were a lot of very good tennis players at this meet." Deann Bayer, Julie Felderhoff and Mandy Barnhill join Hess and Klement in advancing to the TAPPS State Tennis Meet in Waco.

Era ISD hear concerned parents on inappropriate conduct by an employee

by Elaine Schad

Era school trustees heard from a large group of parents concerned by recent allegations of inappropriate conduct by a certified employee during the board's regular April meeting.

The board meeting was moved from the administration building to the new library to accommodate the estimated 35 to 40 parents that attended. Era Superintendent Randel Beaver emphasized that the board understood and sympathized with the emotions of anger and hurt being expressed over the alleged actions of the employee. Parents and students were encouraged to cooperate with school officials by writing and signing any complaints they had.

Era School Board President Harold Brown said it was the intent of the board to accept all written complaints, to investigate completely and to act within the confines of public school law. The board was only able to share that the employee had been suspended with pay pending the investigative process and that the school was being careful to follow due process procedures, Brown said.

The board heard suggestions that procedures for resolving parents' and students' comments, suggestions, complaints and allegations be developed and consider outside counseling for students during this time of litigation and work on developing better relations between administrators, parents, students and teachers. Beaver reminded the group that Era was a school that prided itself on offering a strong academic program within a disciplined climate, and all should pull together to overcome this problem with the expectation that better operating procedures will occur if everyone learns from their mistakes.

In other action, the board: --Accepted a recommendation from the administration that the district not participate in girls' volleyball for 1993-1994. The action will be reviewed again next spring.

--Approved April 29 for an early release day and teacher inservice on Saxon Math and on May 14 for Site Based Management Inservice in cooperation with the Forestburg ISD via fiber optics.

--Tabled career ladder assignments for 1992-1993.

--Accepted 75 student transfers, most of whom are already attending school at Era.

--Accepted a bid from Bridges-Hemphill of $45,444 for the purchase of a 60-passenger school bus.

--Agreed to purchase $13,160 in computer equipment from Gainesville Office Supply. The board voted to purchase computer plotters and digitizers from Teaching Systems, Inc., for $1,712. That brought the total expenditure for computer equipment to $14,872.

--Voted to continue coverage with the Texas Association of School Boards for an annual premium of $20,909 for property, casualty and liability insurance.

--Reported enrollment at 370 students.

coaches and lifters. "Both countries were really beautiful and the people quite friendly." Nasche describes the countries as being much like the United States with big department stores, tall buildings, crowded streets and fast food restaurants, including Pizza Hut and McDonald's. "One big difference was that everything over there was very expensive." For example, a gallon of gas cost approximately $4.70 and a 12-oz. can of Coke was $1.75. A meal of two medium pan pizzas, a Coke and three glasses of water cost $36.00.

"I learned a lot, met a lot of new friends and had a really good time," Nasche continued. "One thing I learned was that we are pampered a lot here in the USA. People in those Scandinavian countries get by with a lot less. They didn't have luxury cars, with most people riding bikes. And they don't eat as much as we do," John continued. "The meals we had were nutritious, but not much variety and with a different taste." Another difference Nasche noted was that there coffee and beer were about 50% stronger brewed.

Nasche wishes to thank all who helped make the trip a success. "If it weren't for the goodwill of many people in this community, this trip wouldn't have been possible. The trip was fun, exciting, educational and a big success. A 1st- and 3rd-place finish for a part-time powerlifter from Muenster, Texas is an accomplishment and an honor!"

Congratulations and thank you, John Nasche, for representing the USA and your hometown.

Lindsay ISD purchases computers, approves calendar

by Elaine Schad

The Lindsay school district will be purchasing about 30 additional computers for their middle and high school labs.

School trustees, during the board's regular April meeting, approved the purchase. The new computers should be in place by the beginning of classes this fall, Superintendent Gilbert Hermes said.

The board approved a tentative school calendar for 1993-1994. Classes will begin Aug. 16.

In other business, the board:

--Set the district's all-awards banquet for 7 p.m. May 21 in the school cafeteria.

--Set May 3 as the date of a special board meeting to canvass returns from the May 1 school board election.

--Approved the purchase of a 53-passenger school bus from Bridges and Hemphill for $33,000.

--Approved the district's membership in the Region XI Education Service Center for 1993-1994 and appointed Hermes as the district's representative.

--Heard a report from the City of Lindsay on the status of drainage along the new parish hall.

--Heard a report on the district's participation in University Interscholastic League competition.

--Heard a report from teacher Troy Edes on the district's computer programs.

Cattlemen: American tradition

"Cattlemen: Stewards of an American Tradition" is the theme of an industry image campaign undertaken by the National Cattlemen's Association on behalf of the Beef Promotion and Research Board.

Research conducted by NCA on attitudes toward cattlemen shows that the public holds an overwhelmingly favorable image of cattlemen because of their traditional values of honesty, independence, self-reliance, being close to the earth and working hard. Consumers have strong positive feelings about cattlemen's commitment to caring for the land and producing safe beef.

These positive aspects are the basis for the "Cattlemen: Stewards of an American Tradition" theme, designed to strengthen support of and understanding of what cattlemen do best — producing beef for consumers.

The theme will be used in a variety of ways including use in information about cattlemen's production practices, producing safe beef and caring for the land and natural resources. However, when dealing with these topics, the theme will always be accompanied by scientific information about key issues.

This industry image campaign is part of the NCA's Industry Information project funded by the Beef Promotion and Research Board.

NCA is the national spokesperson for the beef cattle industry. It represents 230,000 professional cattlemen, including members of 76 affiliated state cattle and national breed organizations.

County Agent's Report

Annual Wheat and Small Grain Tour
The Annual Cooke county Wheat and Small Grain Tour will be held on Wednesday, May 5. Tour schedule follows:

8 a.m. - State Breeding Trial and Small Grain Nursery, Highway 51, Era.

9:30 a.m. - Wheat Varieties, Schumacher Farm, FM 1630 at Hood Road.

10:30 a.m. - Herbicide Plots, Hellman Farm, FM 1630 near FM 373.

11:30 a.m. - Wheat Varieties, J.H. Bayer & Sons, Ash Street, Muenster.

Noon - Lunch. A hamburger lunch will be provided by various seed and industry representatives. Also at the noon meal, Dr. Ken Stokes, Extension Economist, will be on hand to give an outlook on the small grain markets for the 1993 harvest year.

2 p.m. - Wheat Varieties, Rudy Zimmerer Farm, Lindsay.

Program speakers include Russell Sutton, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station; Jim Blalock, Extension Agronomist; Allen Knutson, Extension Entomologist; along with industry representatives.

Producers can view various wheat, oat, barley, rye and triticale plantings along with foliar fungicide, seed fungicide, and seed insecticide treatments.

One item of interest this year to producers will be the susceptibility of various varieties to the barley yellow dwarf virus and leaf rust. All producers are invited to attend the tour.

Barley Yellow Dwarf Virus
Throughout the county wheat fields are looking uneven as far as height of the plants and maturity. Last week, Dr. David Marshall, Researcher and Small Grain Breeder with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, was in the county evaluating the State Breeding Trial located at Era. David pointed out the problem with many of the varieties this year is caused by Barley Yellow Dwarf Virus.

Barley Yellow Dwarf Virus (BYDV) occurs on most cereals and numerous grasses but not on broadleaf plants. Barley yellow dwarf damage to wheat varies with variety, time of infection and environmental conditions. Infected crops typically produce 5 to 20 percent less grains. The BYDV may seriously affect winter survival.

Barley yellow dwarf is diagnosed by the yellow, stunted plants, singly or in small groups, among normal plants. BYDV is transmitted by several species of aphids, and recovery and transmission of the virus by aphids may be required for a positive diagnosis.

Development of symptoms depends on the time of infection. Leaf discoloration in shades of yellow, red or purple from tip to base and from margin to midrib is typical. Seedling infections, if not lethal, slow plant growth and cause prominent or brilliant yellowing of older leaves. Yellow red flag leaves on otherwise normal plants indicate post-seedling infections. Diseased plants have stiff leaves and underdeveloped root systems.

Barley yellow dwarf symptoms may include a response of wheat varieties to aphid feeding apart from any influence of the virus.

BYDV is not transmissible through seed, soil sap or insects other than aphids. Aphids acquire BYDV by feeding on infected plants for periods as short as 30 minutes but more typically for 12 to 30 hours. Virus-containing aphids remain infectious through successive molts, but the virus is not passed through eggs.

Controlling aphids in the field with insecticides reduces the incidence of barley yellow dwarf and increases yields, especially when autumn infections are reduced. However, since an aphid can inoculate each plant it visits, BYDV may be spread by insects that escape treatment or that migrate from untreated areas.

Early autumn plantings are most subject to infection and should be avoided.

CCAD sets new agriculture use values

by Elaine Schad
Cooke County farmers and others involved in agriculture may notice that the appraised values of their agricultural acreage will be going up when they receive their 1993 appraisal notices from the Cooke County Appraisal District around the middle of May.

CCAD Chief Appraiser Ross Fry said the agriculture use values will increase about 8.3 percent, which means anywhere from $2 to $5 on the appraisal per acre depending upon the class of land the acreage falls under. Agriculture values on improved land will increase about $2 per acre, while values on native pasture and minimum use land will increase about $4 to $5 per acre. Based on 1992 tax rates, taxes would increase on land for agricultural use by anywhere between 5 cents to 8 cents per acre, Fry said.

The appraised values placed on agricultural land are based on figures provided by the Texas Legislature, Fry said. Called the capitalization rate, county appraisal districts must appraise agriculture property based on a rate determined by using a formula based on the interest rate charged by the Federal Land Bank plus 2.5 percent. That capitalization rate dropped from 12 percent in 1992 to 11 percent in 1993 due to the lower interest rates, so that pushed the ag values higher, Fry said.

In other news relating to the CCAD, appraisers are expected to complete 1993 appraisal field work around May 1. Appraisal statements could go out to county taxpayers by the middle part of May. Also going out in early May will be some 5,800 delinquent tax notices for 1992 taxes. Fry said that number is a little lower than last year.

Summer cattle grazing margins to tighten

Producers who plan to graze cattle this year should take extra care to evaluate the profit and risk management prospects.

Good pasture and range prospects may push prices into the upper $90's at times this spring. This could dampen profit prospects for summer grazing programs, according to Derrell Peel, Oklahoma State University Extension livestock marketing specialist.

Data from the Western Livestock Marketing Information Project show total costs are near $640 a head for 550-pound feeder steers. Total cost projections are based on a purchase price of $95 per hundredweight, pasture costs of $60 and other miscellaneous costs of $55.

"Given 225 pounds of gain per head over a five-month summer grazing season, those costs push next fall's projected breakeven near $82 per hundredweight," Peel said.

Over the past five years, October prices for 700 to 800-pound feeder have averaged about 90 percent of the April purchase price for 550-pound steers.

"This average buy-sell margin suggests an $85.50 sale price for 775-pound feeder steers coming off grass this fall," Peel said. "This figure is about $1 higher than the 1992 sale price for October."

However, Peel said that current odds favor somewhat lower 1993 fall sale prices despite the average buy-sell margin. The reason is that major factors such as cattle feeding profits, feed costs, feeder cattle supplies and fed cattle prices are likely to be less supportive this year.

"Projected fall sale prices in the lower $80's push grazing margins near breakeven levels," Peel said. "That's a real contrast to last year's fall returns of $40 to $50 per head." Cattle producers might be able to enhance such narrow margins by reducing purchase prices, raising sale prices and pushing for higher weight gains.

"It's important to remember that caution is the watch word," said Peel. "To say that the recent history of the market has been abnormal would be an understatement.

From My Side of the Fence

by Ed Cler

Do you remember the old horse-drawn hearse that was so familiar to those of us who were growing up in the '20s and early '30s and before? That question was asked of me quite a number of times by folks who do, so drawing on my own memories, and on the account written of it by Herb Meurer in his book, "Memoirs and History of Muenster," which I am indebted to him for, I will attempt to give an answer.

In the times before motorized hearses became popular, and when there were no funeral homes in small towns, and a family suffered the loss of a loved one, the body was usually prepared and kept in the home until the day of the funeral.

Friends and neighbors got together and dug the grave, with hand tools, considering this to be a duty toward their fellow man.

John Meurer, who sold most of the caskets, would furnish the hearse which was kept in a shed just across the street from where the Enterprise building now stands. It was a fairly ornate rig, solid black and shiny, with glass windows in the sides, and in the door at the rear, and was impressively draped throughout. There were two fancy light fixtures, one mounted on either side near the driver's seat, which was up front almost to the top of the hearse. The wheels were rimmed with solid rubber tires that made little or no noise as the vehicle was pulled along.

The job of pulling the conveyance was usually taken over by another neighbor who would use only his best and fanciest team and harness, and you can bet he would have the horses well groomed and the harness in shipshape. He, himself, would be dressed in his Sunday best.

As was the custom, in those times, many people would gather at the home of the deceased on the morning of the funeral, and would follow the hearse to the church. It was quite a sight to see the long procession coming down the road, the hearse in the lead, with a long line of model T's and other early make cars, buggies and surreys following. I once heard the old hearse was traded in at one of the car dealers in Muenster, and that some resident has the lamp fixtures. It would be interesting to know what finally became of it. P.S. Don't forget to vote Saturday, May 1. We need Joe Barton - he needs us.
