

Tigerettes take easy victory

SH will advance to regional

The Sacred Heart Tigerettes easily handled the Carrollton Christian Academy Saints Tuesday night, taking bi-district honors in a 73-24 win in Fort Worth.

"I was pleased with our defense and passing," commented Coach Jon LeBrasseur. "We just didn't hang on to some great passes by Deann (Bayer) or convert the bunny shot." Coach Jon stated that Mandy Barnhill got off to a good start and Erica Schilling continued her great play off the bench.

Erica Schilling was Sacred Heart's leading scorer with 14 points, Mandy Barnhill added 12. April Truebenbach put in 9 while Jennie Endres, Julie Felderhoff and Tiffany Fisher each hit 7. Kelly Dangelmayr had 6, Deann Bayer 5, Stephanie Grewing 4 and Donnetta Hess 2.

Barnhill, Fisher, Truebenbach and Grewing led the Tigerettes in rebounds with Bayer and Felderhoff grabbing the most steals. Sacred Heart hit 22 of 32 free shots.

Public school financing up for vote

by Steve Cooper

Last week the Texas House of Representatives passed their version of the "Robin Hood" amendment that will eventually go to the Texas voters for approval in May. Some aspects of the amendment will be worked out in conference committee but the "gist" of the amendment will involve recapture and redistribution of school district property taxes from the rich districts to the poor. This amendment calls for a maximum redistribution of approximately 2.75 percent which is much better than an earlier proposal of about 4 percent. The higher the percentage usually translates to more taxes on the local level. No specifics, at this time, are available as to the particular impact this will have on individual districts, as the enabling legislation has not been decided upon. The enabling legislation will not require a 2/3 vote as did the amendment; it will require a simple majority. Many of our legislators appear to be very relieved that this amendment finally passed. The problem facing legislators now, is trying to "sell" this to the public so the vote May 1 goes favorably. Should the final version of this bill place additional tax burden on the local property tax payer then I don't believe it will pass May 1. This, of course, will immediately cause schools to shut down as per the dictates of existing court orders. Many "school finance experts" indicate that higher local taxes are inevitable. The next few months should give us a good idea of the affect the finance bill will have on local taxpayers.

We are hearing that there will be very little new money for education the next two years. Legislators originally promised (last year) that there would be over $1 billion for education. They now are saying that will be about $300 million. As I've said, many times, more money is not going to solve all our problems but TEA is projecting 140,000 new students in Texas over the next two years. The $300 million will not come close to meeting the needs of these new students. Guess where the money will come from to meet these needs. You're right. From the local property owner. Our Governor has made the pledge "No new taxes." We should ask - no new taxes for WHOM?

If we're not careful we will have it "put to us again," on the local level because they will threaten the public with forced consolidation and (now they call it) "a massive income tax" if this amendment doesn't pass in May. The question is do we stand by and allow another local tax increase, then another and another or do we demand our legislators do what everybody knows we will have to do, sooner or later, and that is restructure our archaic tax system. It has been openly acknowledged that the current solution is only another band aid approach. As the next few weeks come and go look for legislative hype to increase as they begin to make their sale. Mr. Bullock made a statement a few weeks ago in a newspaper article. He indicated that they had heard very little from the public since the legislature had reconvened in January. Silence, on our part, always results in "a worst case scenario." I will try to keep you informed as this thing progresses.

Landfill worries and support voiced at Gainesville meeting

by Elaine Schad

The battle over whether Cooke County should have a locally-owned landfill or figure out another way to take care of its trash is expected to continue right up to the Feb. 27 special election when Gainesville residents will settle the issue.

Little new information surfaced during a public forum held last week sponsored by the Gainesville Area League of Women Voters. What continued to surface, however, were some seemingly deep divisions over whether local governments are best able to handle the garbage problem for the county or whether a private hauler would do the best job.

More than 80 people attended the forum, where a diverse panel gave two-minute statements supporting their positions. Panelists then answered audience questions that were submitted in written form. Panelists included Gainesville Mayor Charles Woolfolk, Cooke County Commissioner Kenneth Alexander, Valley View Mayor Owen Roane, Texoma Council of Governments Executive Director Frances Pelley, Texas Waste Management President Nick Dowd and Bill Angelo, director of community services for the City of Denton.

"Once the landfill is in operation, we feel it will be self-sustaining," said Alexander, a member of a countywide task force formed three years ago to study the landfill issue. "If we have to transport garbage out of Cooke County, that will increase the cost," he said. "I think we need a locally owned, locally operated public landfill."

A big item that many residents may not be considering, according to Alexander, is what will happen when a county resident needs to dispose of a large amount of garbage. "I'm really concerned about the floods, tornadoes and other natural disasters," Alexander said, recalling the 1981 flood in which several millions of dollars in damage occurred and when tons of debris went into local landfills. With no local landfill, there will be few options in transporting huge amounts of shingles, building materials, tree limbs and other specialty types of garbage, Alexander said. "And what are you going to do if you tear down a building in your back yard?" he asked.

Dowd pushed his case even harder, favoring the county to go private with its garbage services. TWM presently provides curbside garbage service to Lindsay, Muenster and to some commercial establishments in the county. Dowd said his company is ready to offer the cities and county a long-term contract with guaranteed rates and a large bond to back up those contracts in exchange for providing garbage service to the county.

"Our company has a vested interest in this area," said Dowd. "We have a landfill 30 miles away," referring to a TWM landfill in Sherman. TWM, a nationwide company, has 37 municipal contracts and two landfills in the North Texas area alone, employing about 150 people. "If you're in the landfill business, you better have deep, deep pockets, and you better have your engineering and expertise before you go in," he said.

Dowd contends that it's too expensive to operate a landfill with a population fewer than 100,000 residents. He used the example of Plainview, located 40 miles north of Lubbock, which built a landfill for 23,000 residents. He said tipping fee is now up to $41.50 per cubic yard. "I think it's somewhat mind-boggling to ask people to tote a note for millions of dollars," he said. "It's going to cost you four times what it costs you today. You have not looked at the numbers."

Angelo was just as aggressive in stating that it's the public sector that will be most concerned about the environment while trying to keep tipping fees down. Angelo briefly alluded to the City of Denton's fight to keep Texas Waste Management from operating a residential garbage service within that North Texas city. The two were involved in litigation over the issue before the courts said Denton did have the right to control residential trash service in its own city.

"Anybody who can walk and chew gum on a clear day can beat out private enterprise," Angelo said. More and more cities are opting to take over their own garbage services, he said. "It's plain and simple economics," Angelo said.

Angelo contends that the cost of doing business is cheaper for the public sector, which is accountable to taxpayers. He said the private sector is accountable to making a profit, shareholders and the bottom line. "The delivery of solid waste is plain and simple a utility," Angelo said.

A second reason that public governments are becoming involved with solid waste is environmental, Angelo said. "There are volumes of materials on environmental violations of the private sector," he said.

Red Steagall performs in home-town benefit

A family-style evening of fun and entertainment in Forestburg on Feb. 12 was highlighted by a performance by Red Steagall, an entertainer and native of Forestburg, now world-famous for his cowboy poetry, songs and guitar playing. Steagall is the official Cowboy Poet of Texas. The Steagall show began at 8 p.m. and featured Red's new songs and some of his old songs and original poetry from his book "Ride For The Brand." He related much of his poetry informally with story and song, to the delight of his audience.

Held in the Forestburg school auditorium, the warm-up entertainment began at 7 p.m. with local cowboy poet Billy Biffle; Evelyn Arruda, foreign exchange student-poet from Brazil; singer Renee Raisnider of Grand Prairie; and Tom and Mary Ann Knowles of Dallas, known professionally as "Rare Folk," with songs and guitars.

Dinner of stew, chili, cornbread and choice of desserts raised more than $1,100 to benefit the Volunteer Fire Dept. and EMS and an ambulance purchase fund. The Steagall show raised more than $2,500 to benefit the Perryman Cemetery Association. Sponsors were very pleased with a great attendance.

Lindsay school board election May 1

by Elaine Schad
The Lindsay school board has set a May 1 election date to fill three positions on the board.

School trustees, during the board's regular February meeting, called the election. The places now held by Andy Bezner, Jim Neidhardt and Susan Metzler are due to expire. The terms will be for three years.

The board selected Evelyn Fuhrmann as election judge and Marilyn Cox and Gilbert Hermes as early voting judges. A May 29 runoff date was set if needed.

In other action, trustees tabled bids for the purchase of bleachers for the new football and track field. The board received two bids, one See LINDSAY, pg 2

Gainesville voters will decide landfill issues

by Elaine Schad

The voters in the City of Gainesville will direct the county's future on the landfill issue in the Feb. 27 election. Residents will be asked to issue $1.375 million in certificates of obligation to purchase land and permit a solid waste disposal site (landfill). If a majority of the voters disapprove issuing bonds for the landfill project, the city will not issue the bonds, according to a city council resolution passed prior to calling the election.

The City of Gainesville has served as agent for several county entities, which includes the cities of Muenster, Valley View as well as Cooke County, in pursuing the construction of a countywide landfill for three years. There will be no landfills remaining in Cooke County when Gainesville closes its landfill this summer. All landfills are being closed due to very stringent environmental regulations for landfills that are taking affect, called Subtitle D regulations.

The bond election will only involve residents of the City of Gainesville since there is a question whether the county has the authority to call a bond election for the purpose of constructing a landfill, officials said. Muenster city officials have been strong in their support for a countywide landfill operated locally.

The Gainesville city council in October voted to purchase 1,257 acres of land near County Road 134 in northeastern Cooke County for a proposed landfill. That purchase was put on hold after Gainesville resident Stanley Smith, who owns land near the proposed site, filed suit, saying the council proceeded illegally in authorizing the sale of the certificates of obligation for the landfill project.

Notes of interest brought out during the public forum on the landfill included:

--Imported Waste: Gainesville Mayor Charles Woolfolk restated the task force's intent that no waste from outside of Cooke County would be accepted at a countywide landfill. Commissioner Alexander affirmed Woolfolk's statement, but see LANDFILL BOND, pg 2

Landfill debate will show tonight

The League of Women Voters of Gainesville gave a forum on the question of a publicly owned landfill in Cooke County on Feb. 11, 1993. Pros and Cons were debated for development and operation of landfill so that the citizens of Gainesville will have a better understanding when they vote on Feb. 27 on the issue of bonds for the proposed publicly owned landfill. The debate was videotaped and shown on Gainesville local TV. Most Cooke County citizens had the opportunity to see the debate.

Alvin Fuhrman agreed to show this debate for benefit of the people of Muenster who are also participants on the landfill issue. This videotape will be shown on Muenster Cable Channel 2 on Friday, Feb. 19 at 7 p.m.

Muenster city councilwoman Marianne Grant represents Muenster in the Cooke County Landfill Task Force.

Celebrate Mardi Gradi Feb. 21 at Community Center

It's time to take a break from the winter blahs and enjoy yourself at Mardi Gras. The sponsor, Sacred Heart Home School Society, plans to have a variety of games for entertainment, sandwiches for lunch, plenty of gooey, chewy snacks, something for everyone.

Mardi Gras hours have been extended this year to enable those attending the 10:30 a.m. Mass and any others who are interested to have lunch at Mardi Gras. Hours are from 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Sacred Heart Community Center.

All proceeds from this annual See MARDI GRAS, pg 9

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:
 Last Tuesday evening I was watching the news and became outraged over a story about the controversy going on in Colorado concerning the gays. The news was reporting that a gay rights group was going to boycott Celestial Teas, located in Boulder, Colorado, because the tea company refused to give $100,000.00 to help their group try and overturn the amendment that was passed concerning gays. That is out and out extortion and that group should be prosecuted! The gay group has the right to say they are going to boycott the tea company -- that's the American way, but they have no right to demand money or else. Everyone should be outraged! Even gays not involved in those groups should be because they have given them another bad mark. We have to stand up to these so called minority groups and say you will not beat us down. I have gone out and bought two boxes of Celestial Teas in support of their decision not to let this group intimidate them and I hope every one else will also. Even if you don't drink or never have drunk herbal teas now is the time to try it or buy some and give it to Visto or some other group that distributes food to the needy. Then write the company and let them know you support them for standing up. Next it could be your company -- think about it.

To the Editor:
 Much has been written about the controversial expansion proposal of DFW Airport. At this time, a battle is looming in Austin over a change in the Municipal Airport Act which would affect the way ever city in the State of Texas does business.

The heart of the matter is the home-rule authority of Texas cities: the ability to self-govern. DFW makes it sound innocent enough - just insert one little word into the Act - the word "Zoning." Airport officials want to be able to zone DFW Airport as they wish without regard to the home-rule authority of the three cities in which DFW is located, ignoring the ordinances and rules that every other resident and business must abide by, and make up their own rules. (I'll bet there's a lot of folks in Huntsville who would like to change some laws, too.)

DFW Airport lies within the three cities of Irving, Euless and Grapevine. DFW Airport Board members are not elected. They are appointed by the city councils of Dallas and Fort Worth, the cities which own DFW Airport, and which are 20 miles away from the airport itself.

On April 2, 1992, DFW lost a lawsuit they brought against Irving, Euless and Grapevine alleging the Municipal Airport Act gives them the authority to zone and develop DFW in any and every way they choose with regard to no one.

The Judge ruled against DFW, and issued a Summary Judgment that the three cities do have the authority to enact zoning ordinances governing DFW, just as a city can zone any other property within its city limits.

DFW appealed that ruling to the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, and the hearing occurred on January 28, 1993. Appellate Judge Whitman strongly questioned DFW's attorneys about their desired interpretation of the Act, asking if they feel they can buy the entire historic downtown of Grapevine, tear down our 100-year old restored buildings, and pave it for a parking lot? DFW's attorney said yes.

Judge Whitman then said, "What is this Godzilla we have unleashed?" This quote is from the courtroom transcript.

If the Municipal Airport Act is amended as DFW wants, it would be possible for the appointed Airport Board to put any airport related function they choose on any parcel of land they buy - anywhere in the state.

That means this appointed board could locate fuel storage tanks next to a school or in the middle of a residential area and a city could do nothing to stop them. How about a landfill in the middle of your town on property owned by DFW Airport? Your city would be powerless to prevent it.

This sounds farfetched, but it would be possible - legally.

My city worked in harmony with DFW Airport officials for over 20 years and had an honest, neighborly working relationship. We protected DFW's boundaries from noise-sensitive development for 2 decades, and developed our city where they assured us airplanes would never fly overhead. Those reasonable, far-sighted people of integrity are no longer operating DFW Airport, and individuals who replaced them have no regard for their neighbors nor for the long-standing commitments we all honored. They seem to understand greed very well, though.

My city supports reasonable expansion of DFW Airport and any business. But we vehemently oppose a runaway, seemingly aimed at the steeple of our First Baptist Church, which would launch planes over our homes we located where they told us to build them in the first place.

Your own city would face a very real threat if any bill is passed in the Legislature which erodes a city's ability to self-govern. Once that begins, other special-interest groups would surely follow saying, "We just want to insert one little word..."

I urge all residents and elected officials to contact your State Senator and State Representative in Austin immediately and urge them to oppose any legislation which would weaken the home-rule authority of Texas cities.

Yours truly,
 Sharron Spencer
 City Councilwoman
 Grapevine, Texas

To the Editor,
 In the Feb. 4, 1993 Dallas Morning News there is an article by John Culbertson of the Texas House of Representatives entitled "Taxpayers must gain control of public schools" that certainly makes sense.

He states that the Senate has already approved an amendment that will preserve the status quo and legalize the illegal "Robin Hood" county education districts. He mentions an alternate proposal that has strong support in the House HJR10, but states we must speak up now in order to get it on the May 1 ballot. Briefly stated House Joint Resolution 10 will work as it will give us the choice to end the lawsuit and get school finance debate out of the hands of lawyers and into the hands of voters and local officials. Too, it will exempt all school districts from unfunded state education mandates as it now makes in Florida.

We have only to look at California who after 22 years is no closer to ending their lawsuit - indirect school finance crisis than Texas is after four years of it.

We have had enough of this endless cycle of taxpayer blackmail at the courthouse.

Please help by calling in your support of HJR10.

 Thanks so much for reinstating the "YEARS AGO" section in the Enterprise. I love it...resurrects great memories!

And thanks also for introducing the new short informational news item column. I'm looking forward to it. Lots of news items are tremendously interesting but not necessarily worth lengthy or wordy embellishments.

And thanks to Ed Cler and his "My Side of the Fence" or "My View From the Farm." Whatever the title, it's interesting and refreshing.

My compliments to the publisher, editor, and staff of the Muenster Enterprise. You're putting out a good local news newspaper and rendering a great service to the community.

said that future elected officials do have the option of changing that decision.

--Tipping Fees: Alexander said tipping fees will be based on the cost of operation at the landfill. Rates for all county residents will be set by weight.

--Roads: If the landfill is built at the proposed site in northeastern Cooke County, the roads from Interstate 35 to the site must be upgraded and widened. The county would pay for the project, which Alexander estimated to cost about $35,000.

--Cost: It would cost $1.3 million to purchase the land and permit a landfill in Cooke County, and an additional $2.5 million to begin operation, Woolfolk said. No property tax increases are anticipated as the landfill will be funded and operated through user fees, he said.

--Recycling: TCOG Director Pelley said recycling is still being encouraged, but there's a particular problem in North Texas because there are inadequate markets for the recycled materials. The State of Texas has a goal of recycling 40 percent of all solid waste by 1994, a goal that now seems unachievable in many areas of the state, she said. Woolfolk said recycling would still be encouraged with a local landfill.

--Incineration: Pelley said incineration of solid waste will not be cost effective for at least another 10 years. She said it currently costs 10 times the cost of landfilling and has strict air control criteria. Incineration as an option is still under study, she said.

--Dumping on private property: It is illegal in Texas to dispose of trash on private property, officials said. In the future, greater enforcement could come from taking photographs by air of potential illegal dumping sites, officials said. The county is considering the establishment of some transfer stations to assist county residents in disposing of their trash, officials said.

The Outcome of Reform

BY GEORGE ROCHE, PRESIDENT, HILLSDALE COLLEGE

During the campaign, Bill Clinton made much of his efforts as governor to reform Arkansas public education by pursuing an "outcomes-based" approach. What is "outcomes-based" education? Well, basically, it's trying to do things that work.

Makes sense. But words can be fraught with meanings beyond the obvious. And at the start of a new administration, when we're trying to gain some insight into what the Clinton presidency will be like, we might want to look closer at the words used to define Bill Clinton's objectives for the schools of Arkansas.

In 1991, Arkansas passed a school reform measure that prescribed statewide testing, tightened teacher competency requirements, mandated restructuring of school district organization, and—naturally—created numerous task forces to draw guidelines for those reforms. (These days, we love task forces almost as much as we love jargon.) But in a paper that explained the goals behind the legislation, the state Department of Education noted some of the "outcomes" desired.

Most are pretty straightforward. For instance, the section on mathematics gives as a goal that after a kindergarten-through-twelfth-grade education, Arkansas' graduates should be able to "compute with whole numbers, decimals, and fractions."

On the other hand, the science section expects students to be able to demonstrate "how citizens can bring about social, technological, and environmental change in a responsible and democratic manner." That is a somewhat less clear objective—and one that has a lot less to do with science than with politics.

Similarly, while the history and social studies section expects Arkansas students to "recognize and appreciate the racial, ethnic, and religious pluralism of United States society and the contributions made by diverse cultural groups to the development of our nation"—a praiseworthy objective, no doubt—the state paper gives as an indicator of the reform program's success that graduates will have been prepared to "function effectively in a multicultural environment."

Now, there is multiculturalism and there is multiculturalism. At its simplest, multiculturalism is merely understanding that Americans spring from a variety of ethnic and religious backgrounds and respecting the many forms in which that diversity finds expression in our national life.

But there is another vision of multiculturalism: italicized multiculturalism, multiculturalism with a vengeance. That's the kind of blind multiculturalism that emphasizes difference and separation—the kind that dwells on injustice, attributes all social problems to racism, feeds on bitterness and resentment, makes unity and progress all the more difficult. It is the kind of multiculturalism that, for example, spawned the protests against Christopher Columbus to which we were treated during last year's 500th anniversary of America's discovery.

Is Arkansas' education reform plan a model of what's to come on the national level? The Clinton campaign gave every indication that it is. So the President elect must clarify what he means by education reform jargon like "outcomes," "multicultural environment" and "social, technological, and environmental change."

President Clinton will find strong support among the American people for reforming the nation's schools. But that support will fall off quickly if it begins to look like the outcome of reform is a more divided society.

Comptroller Rep. to offer local tax help

"One of the main functions of state government is to assist taxpayers any way we can," State Comptroller John Sharp said recently. "That is why the State Comptroller's office will conduct a free taxpayer seminar in Gainesville on Wednesday, Feb. 24."

Jack Newsom, from the Comptroller's Sherman Field Office will be on hand to meet and discuss tax questions at the Chamber of Commerce, 101 S. Culbertson, at 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Newsom will be available to deliver quick and accurate information to all tax questions, assist with filing returns, collect on delinquent taxes, and provide other valuable information," Sharp said. Those taxpayers who are unable to meet with Newsom can call the Comptroller's toll-free tax hotline for additional assistance at 1-800-252-5555.

For more information about the upcoming visit, call the nearest Comptroller field office. In the Sherman area, the number is 903/893-0692.

In several unrelated matters, the board tabled consideration of Principal Jim Anderson's contract, approved an interlocal agreement with the Cooke County Special Education Cooperative for services and heard a report from the Drug Education Advisory Committee. Officials will do further investigation into the purchase of a scoreboard for the football and track field. The board heard a report on the roof project, which will begin as soon as the weather is better. The district will replace roofing on the elementary school, high school and cafeteria.

Tax Talk

by: Duane Knabe, CPA

Duane Knabe will discuss a different topic each week. Any questions should be directed to him at 759-4010.

This week's topic is the right to minimize taxes. There are many situations in which a taxpayer has a choice of completing a taxable transaction by more than one method. However, one method may produce a lower tax liability than the others. The courts recognize that a taxpayer can exercise every prerogative that the law grants for minimizing taxes. As Judge Learned Hand said, "over and over again courts have said that there is nothing sinister in so arranging one's affairs as to keep taxes as low as possible. Everybody does so, rich or poor; and all do right, for nobody owes any public duty to pay more tax than the law demands, taxes are enforced exactions, not voluntary contributions."

Although evading taxes through deceit, subterfuge, or concealment is illegal, shaping events to reduce taxes is not only legal, but the goal of every taxpayer. Frequently, what distinguishes tax avoidance from tax evasion is a finding of fraud.

At-Risk Student needs discussed at Feb. 3 meeting

Muenster Elementary Site Based Management Committee met Feb. 3 in the administration building to discuss the needs of At-Risk Students. State and federal guidelines consider students at risk if they:

- *score two or more years below grade level in reading or mathematics
  - *fail two courses in one or more semesters and is not expected to graduate within four years of entering the ninth grade
  - *fail one or more of the reading, mathematics or writing sections of the most recent TAAS test
  - *receive free or reduced price lunches
  - *have a history of abuse or familial problems
- There are 91 students in the Pk-6 group that meet At-Risk criteria. Muenster Elementary teachers do an excellent job of helping the students who need help with subject matter. The students in the At-Risk group that are most difficult to reach are the ones who appear to lack motivation and self-confidence.

More often than not, the students in this group do not have low ability or poor skills. Instead, these students feel left out of the successful school community, they do not have a feeling of inclusion, and often do not feel that it will be possible for them to ever be a part of any successful group. Their role and identity is often tied to failure, and a feeling of uselessness.

Committee members discussed possible strategies for ensuring that At-Risk students are a part of the successful school community. The discussion was tabled until the next meeting, which will be held on March 17, 6:30, in the administration building.

Committee members present included Theresa Walterscheid, Henry Felderhoff, Gerri Eckart, Becky Scott, Leigh Hale, Rhonda Silmon, Gwen Truebenbach, Deb Klement, Rosemary Dankesreiter, Robert Hermes, Doris Grewing and Norma Britain.

Graydog Down Under

Howdy Folks,

Well, it's official now. We've been split up into our teams and have been given our far-reaching destination. I am truly on NET Australia. My team is going the southern ox-bow route through Victoria, South Australia and Western Australia, all the way from Brisbane on the east coast in the state of Queensland to Perth on the west coast in the state of Western Australia (WA). The other team will do New Zealand and go into the Northern Territory of Australia. I'm hyped up for it. This is going to be awesome. It already is for that matter!

I better tell you the names of my teammates, as they will be referred to in future letters, I'm sure. Besides, then you all can pray for us by name. Still, don't forget to pray for the other NET team as well, please. We all need it, and we all appreciate it. My team leader is Michael Mallard and the guys are then myself, Marco, Sean (Killalen), Kevin and Colin. The girl team leader is an American, Kerri Krangler, and then there is Mary (Plant), Stephanie, Stefana, Melinda and Maura. We all decided last night that we are the rowdy team, as in crazy and ready to Rock some souls (trying not to get rocked ourselves).

Last Sunday, the whole team went up to the Bunya Mountains, which are about an hour and three-quarter's drive from Camp Toowoomba. We crossed an immense rolling plains with ranches all over the place and mountains looming in the far distance. It was hot and dry, a bit like Texas in July and August. But it also was a terrific grassland, perfect for livestock, and livestock there were indeed! This was cattle country. I didn't see but only one flock of sheep. And then we hit the mountains and started up. As we gained altitude, the air started getting lots cooler and fresher. We left the grasslands and literally ended up in a rain forest in the mountains. It was fabulous. All the trees were so cool to check out. One prominent type of tree (I don't know what it's called) looks like just a bunch of smaller trunks growing out of the ground, winding together and melding into one huge trunk before branching out with leaves. The diameter at the bottom has to be a good 30 feet and this tree type grows way up to 70 feet, I'd guess. And then there is the dreaded Gimpy-Gimpy tree. If the leaves touch human skin, the skin will immediately start burning and stinging, and big welts bulge out in minutes. One of the girls accidentally bumped into one and so I know this to be true. Luckily, I had brought along my little hockey pouch of Melaleuca gel, and that helped take the bite out of Gimpy-Gimpy.

Nothing like fighting Australia fauna with Australia fauna extract! Aside from all kinds of neat looking rain forest plants, we saw some awesome waterfalls along limpid streams. And there were wallabies all over the place! It is easy to see that they can be a pest. They were just almost as common as cottontails are around Muenster. But each wallaby eats a bit more than just one cottontail. It was a thrill to watch them though, pest or no pest. The country is so much fun!

Last, but not least, were the rosellas. These are some extremely beautiful birds about the size of a large dove or small pigeon. They are sleek scarlet birds with shiny black wings and head. Some are bright lime green instead of scarlet. We fed some of them (where they are used to being fed by humans) and they would fly up to a person, land on his/her head or shoulder and beg for food. I was taking a picture and watching them on Stefana and I got landed on by a big red. It just fluttered right up to my shoulder and asked for some seeds. We obliged it. All in all, it was a most excellent Sunday romp in Bunya Mountains National Park.

Other news is that we have many aches, pains, bruises, etc. from our fun on the soccer, rugby and volleyball fields and court. It's all part of training and, besides, it builds dependency and trust in one another (after the injury!). We do have fun at NET training. God bless you all. Until next time, take care - have a great week.

Keeping an eye on Texas

Texas last in spending per resident

Of all 50 states, Texas is last in overall per capita spending by the state government. The state spent $1,558 per person in 1991—the national average was $2,204 per person. Alaska was first at $7,883 per resident.

Per capita spending by state

- $3,000 or more
- $2,500 to $3,000
- $2,000 to $2,500
- $1,500 to $2,000

A.G. Edwards named among nation's top 100 places of employment

A recently-published book named A.G. Edwards & Sons, Inc., a local employer, as one of the best companies to work for in America. The firm was the only retail brokerage firm in the nation named in the book and one of only four other banking and finance companies cited as models for other employers.

Business journalists Robert Levering and Milton Moskowitz, authors of "The 100 Best Companies to Work for in America," interviewed thousands of employees throughout the country to devise the roster of firms where people are happy to work because they are treated with respect.

Betty Peveto, branch manager of the Gainesville office of A.G.

Edwards, said, "The positive work environment at our company is a key to our success in serving our clients well. Employees who feel good about their work provide better service to our clients. Superior customer service and doing what is best for our clients is our primary objective."

The book noted that the firm, which is very profitable, does not emphasize profits. Benjamin F. Edwards III, chairman and CEO of the firm, said in the book that he believes "material reward and happiness are similar in that you don't find either when you seek them. They come as by-products of doing something well, of caring for other people, and we ... care for our customers."

Federal withholding tax changes may cause surprise

by Duane Knabe, CPA

When many people file their 1992 Income Tax Return, they may be surprised at getting a smaller refund or owing more tax than usual. This may be the case for employees who made no changes to their Form W-4 (Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate). Because of changes which were enacted by then President George Bush, withholding rates decreased in order to make employees take home pay more. What this means is that although tax rates stayed basically the same as 1991 rates, less tax was required to be withheld during the year, making many employees' credit for Federal Income Tax Withheld less than in 1991 if their pay was the same or increased slightly.

This was a change that probably went unnoticed by most employees at the time it was enacted, but will likely be greatly noticed when filing one's 1992 Income Tax Return. Some employers notified employees and had them make appropriate changes to their Form W-4, but most employees were not made aware of the changes nor were the changes greatly publicized at the time.

EARL AND VELMA FISHER

Earl and Velma Fisher celebrate golden anniversary

Earl James Fisher and Velma Frances (Evers) Fisher celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary Sunday, Feb. 14, 1993, beginning with a traditional Latin Mass in Sacred Heart Church, celebrated by Father Victor Gillespie OSB at 10:30 a.m.

Earl Fisher was the son of Joseph Fisher, Sr. and Emma Pulte Fisher, Muenster pioneers. Velma Evers Fisher was the daughter of Eddie J. Evers and Anna Rose Singer Evers of Umbarger, Texas. They were married in St. Mary's Catholic Church of Umbarger in Feb. 17, 1943.

Surrounded by their children, spouses, grandchildren, relatives and hundreds of friends, the anniversary couple received a special blessing from Father Victor.

Participants in the anniversary liturgy were the Fishers' daughters, Mary Cannon and Joan Demshock giving the selected Readings, with Petitions read by their son Robert Fisher. Offertory Gifts were presented by grandchildren Amy Fisher, Mark Demshock and U.S. Marine Corporal Mike Kincy. Eucharistic Ministers were Roger and Janie Taylor, Paul and Dorothy Fisher, James and Theresa Walterscheid and Lorena Taylor.

The Sacred Heart Men's Choir sang the Latin Mass of St. Benedict. Additional music included the entrance and recessional songs "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty" and "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name" respectively. Clyde Fisher sang "How Great Thou Art" and the choir sang "Veni Jesu, Amor Mi".

A noon meal for the family and relatives in the Community Center, was catered by Francis and Cathie Fuhrmann and assistants. A reception and open house from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. was attended by hundreds of friends. Afternoon entertainment was provided by accordionists Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Goodwin of Dallas. Refreshments were served throughout.

A program following the noon meal was presented by the Fishers' son, Gary Fisher, including a family history prepared by their daughters, Judy Newell of Carrollton and Mary Cannon of Arlington, and son Glenn Fisher of Fort Worth. The oral history told about both Earl and Velma's childhood and growing up years, relating also their meeting at a Knights of Columbus dance in Amarillo, when he was a member of a KC Initiation Degree Team in 1940. The history also noted Earl's accomplishments and service to the community, and a work record with Muenster State Bank for the 56 years, serving in positions from janitor in January 1937, through all advancements of bookkeeper, teller, cashier, executive vice president, and finally president, a position held since May 1980, and a director since the early fifties.

In 1933 he served as a page in the House of Representatives in Austin and from March 1942 to December 1945 he served in the U.S. Navy. He has been involved as an operator of an insurance agency. In younger years he was a volunteer fireman for 31 years; he is a lifetime member of the VFW; was mayor of Muenster for seven years; and an original member of the Muenster Memorial Hospital Board of Directors; and a member of the Knights of Columbus since 1937.

Velma was recognized for her undaunting support for Earl and the family and the care of their 10 children, and continuing to this day by assisting grandchildren. Velma grew up on a farm outside of Umbarger in the Panhandle of Texas, and worked as a telephone operator for Southwestern Bell in Amarillo, and for Henry J. Kaiser Co. in Oakland, California. In Muenster, her love of gardening and plant culture has been displayed in her home landscaping, numerous house plants and exotics she brought back from travels; and experiments with rare plants. She successfully raised several outstanding apple trees from seeds; she directed several flower shows and was a member of the Muenster Civic League and Garden Club since moving to this community.

The Fishers' 10 children are Joan of Timmonium, Maryland; Doris of Kennewick, Washington; Robert of Delton, Michigan; Gary of Muenster, Alan of Dalton, Georgia; Janice of Gainesville; Mary of Arlington; Judy of Carrollton; Donna who died Jan. 20, 1980; Glenn of Fort Worth. There are 14 grandchildren.

A slide show followed the oral history. It was made from photos converted into slides, and included the couple's childhood through the wedding and a group family photo. It was set to music of the era. Slides also included shots taken on the USS Bennington while Earl was in the Navy, including shots taken over Tokyo, Japan on flights as rear-gunner for bomber pilot E.J. (Buddy) Wagner (of Denison, who was in attendance at the dinner and reception).

The program was concluded with a toast by Glenn Fisher; remarks by Earl who thanked his wife and family and friends for their support throughout his career and life.

Decoration in the Community Center was presented in a garden theme in tribute to Velma's love of gardening and plants. In the lobby, guests were treated to a three foot waterfall which flowed into a pool at its base. The waterfall was surrounded by numerous plants and native rocks. Guests passed through a corridor of flowers and plants as they entered the Great Hall and approached the registration table. The theme "in the garden" was continued inside, with lattice panels forming a loose circle, each panel being decorated with greenery, flowers and native rocks. Street posts at the ends of each panel held names of the children or other milestones. On the south wall was an outdoor seating arrangement with a five-globe streetlight, love seat and two chairs forming a staging area for photographing family groups. On the north wall was a display of memorabilia and photos from the past, ranging from Earl's basketball suit worn when he was on the winningest team Muenster High School ever produced, to a piece of propeller from a plane that crashed on the carrier's deck and landed on the chair at Earl's desk. Velma's original wedding gown and Earl's Navy uniform, worn on their wedding day, were on display. Relatives traveling great distances to attend included Joan and Nick Demshock and son Mark of Timmonium, Maryland; Robert and Monica Fisher and Amy, Laura, Andrew, Richard and Haley of Delton, Michigan; Jeannie Fisher of Kirkland, Washington; Alan Fisher of Dalton, Georgia; Corporal

Mike Kincy of Camp Pendleton, San Diego, CA.

Others were Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Wagner of Denison; Norman Luke of Houston; Bo Bo and Virginia Jaska of West; Bruce Taylor and family of Dallas; Ruth and Max Rumelhart of Buda, Texas; Jim and Mary Schwartz of Fort Worth; Clara and Emma Fisher of Fort Worth; Joe and Jeanette Galloway of Wichita Falls; Quintin (Chic) Lehnertz of Spokane, Washington; Margaret Schmitt of Yakima, Washington; Melvin Fenoglio of Montague, Texas; and hundreds from Cooke County towns and areas.

Tech students on the honor roll

More than 2,700 Texas Tech University students qualified for the academic honors lists at the end of the 1992 Fall semester.

Students making the lists included, on the President's List with a perfect 4.0 grade point average is Rex Henry Huchton, a freshman majoring in Political Science. He is the son of Mrs. A.J. Huchton.

On the Dean's List is Keith Dale Klement, with a grade point average of 3.9 in a possible 4. He is a senior majoring in Range Management and is the son of Dale and Charlotte Klement. Also on the Dean's List is Eric Francis Dankesreiter, with a grade point average of 3.9 in a possible 4. He is a senior majoring in Political Science and is the son of Tom and Rosemary Dankesreiter. All are graduates of Muenster High School.

Spring mini-courses to begin at CCC

Cooke County College Continuing Education Division announces the Spring 1993 schedule of mini courses, with several classes slated to begin the week of March 1 at the Gainesville CCC campus. Registration is now in progress.

This semester, new courses include: Organic Pest Control;

Harvard Graphics (a computer course for presentations; Advanced Microsoft Works; Cross-Stitch; Drawing; Bricklaying Projects - The Basics; Patina Painting; Promoting Your Own Music; Spawning Season on Lake Ray Roberts; Parenting; Superwrite/Speedwriting; Revamping Lamps; Understanding and Caring for the Alzheimer's Patient; and a group of noon "Brown Bag" seminars for small business owners.

Back by popular demand, CCC Administrator, instructor and experienced farmer Dr. Steve Thompson, will once again offer one of his entertaining farm equipment maintenance courses. This time, students will learn about diesel engines, fuel systems repair and maintenance in a "hands-on" educational lab working on a diesel tractor in need of repair, explained Mast.

Programs offered free to the community are: Fish and Vegetation Management, for those with stock ponds or small lakes; Spawning Season on Lake Ray Roberts, with local fishing guide Charlie Stead and fishing advisor Donald Freeman; Texas Boating Basics, to help you stay safe while enjoying area lakes; Parenting; and the "Brown Bag" seminars for small business owners.

Registration for all spring non-credit courses is now in progress in the office of Continuing Education in the Mary Josephine Cox Memorial Building on the CCC Gainesville campus during college business hours. All registration is on a first-come, first-serve basis to ensure fairness. Places cannot be reserved until fees are paid. For more information on these and other mini courses, call 817-668-7731, ext. 272.

Pack 664 explored the Fort Worth Museum of Science and History

On December 20 several members of Pack 664 traveled to the Fort Worth Museum of Science and History to explore the Wolves and Humans exhibit. The boys learned how wolves and humans have helped and hindered each other through the ages.

The boys were able to follow the development of a pack from birth through adulthood. They learned how wolves talk to each other and other wolves; how they mark their territorial boundaries; and how they play. They were able to participate in the call of the wolves and distinguish what different calls meant.

Boys attending the exhibit were Dewayne Montgomery, Cloy Baldwin, Adam Costello, Adam Bayer, Nathan Hess, Nick Musick, Christopher Grewing, and Eric Knabe. Adults attending with the boys were Pam Dittfurth, Michaela Shero, Ernie Martin and Shirley Knabe, along with Yvonne Martin, Royce Knabe and Crystal Knabe.

What constitutes a 6-minute performance plus four minutes for stage set-up and take-down? Four-H Share-The-Fun is what! On Saturday night, Feb. 6, over 200 4-H members, parents, and friends attended this year's 4-H Share-The-Fun contest in the Gainesville High School auditorium. Ten different acts from county 4-H clubs competed this year. The Valley View Young Farmers sponsored this project and helped to make it possible.

In the Junior Division 4-H members performing "A Wolf's Story" from the Mountain Springs 4-H club received blue ribbons and first place honors. The act "Cooke County Cotton Boll" received second place honors and blue ribbons in the Junior Division. Participants were from Mountain Springs 4-H Club.

First place in the Senior Division went to a group from Woodbine 4-H club. Their red ribbon act entitled "Raincheck" included Greg Brooks and Rebecca Miller. Beth Brooks and John Brooks coached this group. Placing second in the Senior Division and receiving red ribbons was a group from the Mountain Springs 4-H Club. The act was called "Mootown and Motown" and the participants were Kim McKown, Jamie Alexander, Jenna Yanez, and Cori Barthold. The coach of this group was Marilyn McKown.

First place winners will represent Cooke County at the District 4-H Share-The-Fun competition on May 1.

Serving as emcees at the Saturday night event were Charlene Lutkenhaus, council delegate, and Clifford Lutkenhaus, council 1st vice chairman. Helping with technical arrangements were Michael Becker, council 3rd vice chairman, and Sara Flusche, council reporter. Judging was done by Cooke County Judge Ray Russell and Mark Presley, a Gainesville Middle School teacher.

Besides the top two Share-The-Fun winners in the Junior Division, five other groups also participated. Receiving blue ribbons were Lindsay Jr. 4-H members coached by Jill Trammell and Diane Hermes with an act entitled "I Didn't Know That." Members included Hannah Trammell, Abby Trammell, Sarah Trammell, Sadie Trammell, Carrie Hundt, Andrea Fuhrmann, Erica Fuhrmann, Diana Schad and Leah Hermes.

Receiving red ribbons was another act from the Lindsay Jr. 4-H Club. Their act was entitled "Take a Letter" and coaches were Becky Taylor and Brenda Fuhrmann. The members participating included Abbie Bezner, Amanda Hellinger, Lisa Mosman, Stephanie Stoffels, Amber Taylor and Jamie Zwinggi.

A group from Woodbine 4-H received red ribbons with their act "The Most Unforgettable 4-H Dinner Ever." Also from the Red River 4-H club Joanne Bouldin coached a red ribbon act entitled "Now and Way Back Then."

Receiving white ribbons was another group from the Lindsay Jr. 4-H club with the act "Giants." Coaching this act was Becky Taylor and Brenda Fuhrmann. Members were DeeAnn Fuhrmann, Dominic Fuhrmann, Stacey Garner, Kenna Krebs, Rachel Lively, Robin Neu, Ashlie Privett, and Meghan Taylor.

After all of the Junior and Senior acts were through with the competition portion of the contest, there was one more act to perform, an act entered in the "For Fun" category concluded the evening. The Muenster 4-H club performed "The Grapevine." Team members were Kristen Creed, Lauren Dangelmayr, Janet Fetsch, Megan Hennigan, Kristie Lutkenhaus, Pamela Lutkenhaus, Yvonne Martin, Terri Wimmer, Jonathan Yosten, Kristen Yosten and Nicholas Yosten. Coaches were Susan Fetsch and Peggy Lutkenhaus. They received red ribbons.

JAM presents retreat at Sheppard

A large group of JAM (Jesus Alive in Muenster) members traveled to Sheppard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls on Saturday, Jan. 30. The destination was Chapel #2 for their 2nd annual retreat hosted by the Sacred Heart JAM group.

A program of talks, drama, music and sharing was met with enthusiasm and fun. The topics were "Finding Our Identity Through God," "Change In Heart" and "Guided by the Holy Spirit." An array of beautiful and delicious food was served to the group during the day by the Sheppard Air Force Base adult team.

The response from the group in Wichita Falls has been highly complimentary and positive. The adult leaders from SAFB report that their kids had a great time and are still talking about the day as a wonderful experience.

The JAM group will start meeting again after Antioch weekend. The next scheduled retreat JAM will be giving will be on March 28 for the Denton Immaculate Conception Junior High Group.

Educational experiences enjoyed by Muenster ISD kindergartners

It has been an exciting first two months of 1993 for Muenster ISD kindergartners as they continue to learn interesting things from parents, grandparents and other relatives during their REACH programs.

Connie Grewing and Flo Walterscheid brought numerous hand-made items to show the class on Jan. 15. Beautiful crocheted infant blankets, head scarves, children's vests, and pot holders were shown as a craft that has been carried on for generations in their family.

The children were shown how crocheting is done and each was given the opportunity to try their hand at it. Also each child was given a crocheted necklace as a souvenir. Glenn and Connie Grewing are the parents of kindergartner Carrie Grewing. Mrs. Walterscheid is her grandmother.

On Friday, Jan. 22 the class visited Muenster Public Library. Kindergartner JoAnna Felderhoff's grandmother, Betty Felderhoff met them there. She is a volunteer at the library.

Librarian Bobbie Jane Slater read a story to the class. Mrs. Felderhoff showed them how all book cards are filed and where books are located in the library. Those children who already had a library card were allowed to check out books. The other children took library cards home to be filled out and returned by their parents. The class was excited and eager to select books so that they could begin to put their newly learned skill of reading into practice.

Room mother Susie Fleitman, teachers Nelda Cooper and Rosemary Dankesreiter, and JoAnna's mother Barbie Felderhoff, accompanied the group with Dan Luke as bus driver. David and Barbie Felderhoff are JoAnna's parents.

Diane Grewing treated the class to a sing-a-long fest on Friday, Jan. 29. A variety of home-made musical instruments were distributed to the children. Each instrument's use was explained and then the instruments were used to accompany Diane as she played numerous favorite songs. The children greatly enjoyed the sing and play along session. Jim and Diane Grewing are parents of kindergartner Shannon Grewing.

Mitch Rains, father of kindergartner Tiffany Rains, brought a video to school on Feb. 5. It showed how milk is used to make various products at the local AMPI plant. Mr. Rains told the class about all of the procedures that the milk goes through, from the dairy to the cheese production. Samples of Muenster cheese were distributed to the children.

The kindergartners had a fun time when William Hacker's mother brought several family pets to class on Feb. 12. Mrs. Hacker talked to the class about proper pet care. Everyone enjoyed seeing and petting a short-hair rabbit and a Chihuahua puppy. Pets kept just for viewing were a pet rat and a ferret cat. It was the first time that many of the children had seen a yellow furred ferret. Pat and Kathy Hacker are William's parents.

The class is anticipating the visit of Kim Hennigan on Friday, Feb. 19. Mrs. Hennigan plans to show how to care for teeth and to discuss good dental health since February is Dental Health Month.

Lollipop joins Noah in celebrating his 5th birthday

Noah Barnhill celebrated his fifth birthday with three separate celebrations. On his actual birthday, Jan. 29 cupcakes were brought to Noah's preschool to help celebrate with his classmates. In the afternoon he was honored again with a party. Cupcakes and Kool Aid were served to his friends.

On Saturday, Jan. 30 Noah had a party with family and friends in the home of his parents, Gary and Barbie Barnhill. Lollipop the Clown was a special guest. The children enjoyed songs with Lollipop and she made balloons for all of them. Lollipop also painted their faces and handed out party favors.

Photos were made while Noah opened presents. A Hot Wheels cake was served along with Kool Aid.

Each child received a helium filled balloon with attached note. They enjoyed releasing them into the sky. Goodie bags were also presented to them.

CLASS OF 1951-52

SH Class of '51 - '52 holds reunion on December 27

The Sacred Heart Class of 1951-52 held a reunion on Dec. 27 that was graced by the attendance of two very special people: a classmate, Sister Roberta Hesse of Zaire, Africa, and Sister Carmelita Myers, an eighth grade teacher who began her teaching career the year when they were her first students.

Fifteen former students and their spouses gathered on Dec. 27, 1992 at Sacred Heart Church to attend the 10:30 a.m. Mass, followed by dinner at the Center Restaurant. Visiting and reminiscing among the former students, and sharing Sister Roberta's recollections of a life as a missionary in Africa and Sister Carmelita's memories of her first year in Muenster.

Benedictine College students among Pro-Life attendees in Washington

In support of the National pro-life movement, 13 Benedictine College of Atchison Kansas students participated in the annual "March for Life" on Friday, Jan. 22 in Washington, D.C.

The March was initiated by grass-roots pro-life leaders and is organized by the March for Life Education and Defense Fund. It is held annually on Jan. 22 to commemorate the Supreme Court's 1973 Roe vs. Wade decision that legalized abortion in this country.

Among the 13 Benedictine College students who participated was Steve Nasche of Muenster, a sophomore.

The students attended a National Prayer Vigil at the Basilica of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception. The next day the 13 Benedictine students were among thousands of pro-lifers in a rally in front of the White House. They also visited the "Cemetery of the Innocents" where 900 crosses and Stars of David represent one-fourth of the 4,400 unborn children aborted every day. They marched to the Supreme Court Building; then joined other Kansas delegates in the Capitol to visit with one of their senators, a congressman and a representative from Senator Dole's office and continued to attend rallies and vigils. In Washington they also visited the White House, Arlington National Cemetery and the Smithsonian Institute.

Tiffany enjoys Sesame Street birthday party

Sesame Street theme decorations greeted Tiffany Teafatiller and her guests when she celebrated her first birthday on Jan. 25. The party was hosted by her grandparents, Hank and Louise Walterscheid. Guests enjoyed a meal of hot dogs with all of the trimmings, birthday cake and ice cream. Tiffany opened gifts and photos were taken of the occasion.

Special guests were Tiffany's mother, Donna Teafatiller and her sister Alison. Other guests included aunts uncles and cousins Nick and Robynn Walterscheid and Dee Dee and Alisha; Barbie Barnhill and Noah and Noel; Nancy Sicking and Jonathan and Jared; and a friend Dawn Knabe.

Granbury Opera house presents "Saintly Hypocrites and Sinners" on Feb. 26 through Mar. 28

From around 1910 through World War II, hundreds of traveling troupes playing in tents roamed the country offering a unique brand of entertainment and theater for rural America.

Although the tent shows no longer troupe the plains, you can return to the innocence of those days as the Granbury Opera House presents "Saintly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners." The show explores small town church politics in an amusing and heart-warming way.

"Saintly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners" opens on Feb. 26 and plays through March 28. Performances are Fridays at 8 p.m., Saturdays at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m., and Sundays at 2 p.m. Ticket prices range from $8 to $14. Senior Citizen and youth and group discounts are available.

For reservations, call the box office at 817-573-9191 or metro 817-572-0881 (closed Mondays).

Lisa Bezner receives promotion at First State Bank of Gainesville

Lisa Bezner has received a special promotion as officer responsible for credit administration at First State Bank of Gainesville. A native of Lindsay, she is the daughter of Weldon and Rose Bezner and the granddaughter of Augusta Walterscheid. She was the 1976 valedictorian of Lindsay High School, an honors graduate of Cooke County College and LeTourneau University, having recently completed her Bachelor of Science degree in Business Management.

Lisa has served the First State Bank of Gainesville in various capacities for 16 years and is currently the bank officer responsible for credit administration. Her friends and relatives congratulate her on the promotion.

Mark Hennigan is Texas Tech University Graduate

Mark Anthony Hennigan graduated from Texas Tech University in Lubbock in the December commencement exercises. He received a Bachelor of Science Dual Degree in Entomology and Food Technology. Ceremonies were held on Saturday,

MARK HENNIGAN

Dec. 19 at 1 p.m.

A 1987 graduate of Muenster High School, he is the son of Donald and Sandra Hennigan and grandson of Caroline Hennigan and Louise Wolf, all of Muenster. He is employed by Dairyman Cooperative Creamery Association in Tulare, California.

Attending the December graduation ceremonies in the Coliseum were his parents and his brother, James.

Meeting Notice

The Muenster Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will meet Feb. 25 at 7:30 p.m. in the Administration Office of the hospital. ## Local schools name January Kiwanis students of the month

Students of the Month for January being honored by the Muenster Kiwanis organization and selected by the faculty of their local school, are Amber Vogel, Jonna Schneider, Kelly Bayer and Melinda Walterscheid.

Amber is the daughter of Larry and Kathy Vogel, and a senior at Muenster ISD. She is active in various extracurricular activities. Amber has been a member of the regional champion Lady Hornet track team, served as official scorekeeper for the Hornet basketball teams for the past three years, and is a regular on the MHS Honor Roll. She is currently enrolled in seven course hours at Cooke County College. Amber was nominated for her strong work ethic and positive attitude. She is a fine example to younger students at MHS.

Muenster Elementary School's Student of the Month is Jonna Schneider, a fifth grade student in Marjorie Alsup's class. She is courteous to adults and classmates, on the playground and in the classroom. She always wears a smile and sets a good example for others by observing class rules, following instructions, and participating in class discussions. Jonna's favorite subjects are social studies and English because she likes to learn about how our country and state were started and she wants to be a good speaker. In her free time Jonna enjoys swimming and riding horses with her family. Her parents are John Schneider and Joy Schneider.

Kelly Bayer, son of Claude and Mary Bayer, was chosen as Sacred Heart High's Student of the Month. He is outstanding as a student, an athlete and a good citizen. Kelly serves his church, school, community, and his fellow students in a wide variety of activities. Putting up Christmas lights, working with the student council, helping fellow students with homework are all activities that Kelly pursues. He was selected for his citizenship and example.

Melinda Walterscheid, daughter of Glenn and Jean Walterscheid, is a first grade student at Sacred Heart. She is always willing to help and cooperate in any way, by being courteous, and by putting others before herself. She was selected as the Sacred Heart Elementary Student of the Month.

DID YOU KNOW?

Melissa Biffle of Muenster FFA has entered her steer in the Houston Livestock Show. Competition begins Saturday, Feb. 20. The junior show is expected to exceed 11,000 entries from 862 Texas 4H Clubs and FFA Chapters.

Girl Scout Cookie Sales will be conducted in Muenster on Saturday, Feb. 20. Sales booths will be set up at Fischer's Meat Market, Hofbauer's Food and Locker and The Center Restaurant.

The Dr Pepper truck that has been parked on 2nd Street near the ballpark for the past weeks is being used by Fischer's Meat Market as storage. "We purchased a truck load of Dr. Pepper for a better price," said Johnny Fisher, "and don't have the storage space in the store." Fisher also said that if the truck bothers anyone, call him at the store and they'll move it.

The State Board of Education passed 9-3 to allow girls to try out for the varsity high school football team. They ruled it "fair and safe".

Several flocks of geese were seen and heard winging their way north last Saturday.

The Stanford House Senior Citizens Center will sponsor an Arts and Crafts Show and Sale on April 16 and 17. This show will be held at the Stanford House and will be open for vendors age 55 and up. The charge for selling will be 10% of sales per table. For information and registration contact Charles Evans at the Stanford House. The sale will be open to the public.

There is a registration form available at The Muenster Enterprise. Please ask for it.

One wonders if they are anticipating an early spring or flying somewhere warmer than North Texas. One Metroplex weatherman remarked that Alaska had a high of 48 degrees compared to the Metroplex's high of 42 degrees.

Reservations now accepted for Sell-O-Rama

by Evelyn Yeatts, Cooke County Extension Agent, H.E.
Dates have been set for the annual Arts and Crafts Sell-O-Rama. The Sell-O-Rama, which is sponsored by the Cooke County Extension Homemakers Council, will be held on Friday and Saturday Nov. 12 and 13. It will be held in the Gainesville Civic Center.

The annual Sell-O-Rama is designed to provide an outlet for the many people in the area who enjoy doing one or more of the many different types of crafts, needlework or other hand-crafted items. It will also provide an opportunity for people who don't have the time or talent to make quality craft items to purchase them.

Reservations are currently being made for people who want to have a display table of sale items. To obtain a reservation form, call the County Extension Office at 817-568-5412.

Reservations must be made on the proper form and mailed to Mrs. Sharon Simmons, 1303 Belmont, Gainesville, TX 76240.

Individuals, as well as organizations, are invited to have a craft's display.

MHS Site Base Committee meets

Muenster High School Site Based Management (SBM) Committee will have the first of several spring meetings on Feb. 25 at 7 p.m. in the Administration Building. This committee, composed of teachers, administrators, parents, and community members, will be discussing several key issues affecting the 1993-94 school year. Members of the committee are Nancy Perryman, Grady Roller, Martha Koesler, Jan Cain, Andy Cherry, Gary Fisher, Sandra Hennigan, Jerry Metzler, and Steve Cooper.

This campus SBM group meets approximately six times during the year, with meetings scheduled primarily during the spring semester and early fall. Thus, the committee can consider important planning issues and make recommendations for the MISD board members to consider for the following school year. The group is only now beginning to meet because many campus issues are dependent upon the entire district's direction. Statewide concerns over financing and other areas will affect the campus committee; as a result, campus meetings have been delayed as long as possible.

At this first meeting, the committee, the committee will consider several proposals. A group of MHS teachers have formally requested a change in the campus organization of MISD with the sixth grade being moved from the elementary to the junior high. Also, MHS principal Jerry Metzler will ask for feedback concerning tutorials and solicit new methods for providing assistance to students needing academic help. The committee will also be asked to consider curriculum offerings for 1993-94, including two years classes in Algebra I and Physical Science and increased computer aided instruction in regular and vocational classes.

Community members are encouraged to contact SBM members, or to attend the meetings. After the regular agenda items are considered, members will be encouraged to bring up other concerns and comments. The recommendations of the committee will be forwarded to the MISD superintendent and school board for consideration.

Jan Cain attends major Mary Kay conference

Jan Cain joined more than 4,000 Mary Kay independent Sales Directors for a business conference Jan. 21-23 in New Orleans, La. where the purpose was for motivation, education and achievement recognition of sales force members.

Specialized classes at the Leadership Conference focused on financial growth; on business expansion, and on how to direct energies to building and leading a dynamic sales unit. There was a special workshop for future National Sales Directors. The conference also included a preview of the spring 1993 glamour collection and the latest product information.

Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc. is the largest direct seller of premium skin care products with a sales force of more than 225,000 independent beauty consultants in 18 countries worldwide.

Evelyn Yeatts speaks at the Extension Homemakers meeting

Members of the Muenster Extension Homemakers Club were hosted by Mrs. Florence Williams for the regular February meeting. A special feature of the meeting was the program presented by County Extension Agent Evelyn Yeatts on "Creative Sewing." She showed hand-made clothing that included shag jackets, tapestry jackets, button-decorated jackets, vests, broomstick skirts, and lovely cascade smocking.

Dorothy Hesse presided for the business meeting. Dorothy Fisher read the Inspirational. Liz Koesler conducted roll call and read minutes.

Members made plans to attend the District meeting in Bowie on March 16 with a luncheon at noon. To be exhibited there, will be items such as oil paintings, ceramics, knitting, crocheting, smocking, fabric painting, etc. Members who have such items to exhibit are urged to submit them to Dorothy Hesse before Feb. 28. Members are also asked to submit a favorite recipe to her, to be included in a state cookbook. All clubs in the district will enter recipes.

A new member, Mrs. Louise Trubenbach, was welcomed into the club. Members voted a cash donation to St. Richard's Villa recreational fund. A white elephant sale, as a fund raiser, followed the program.

The hostess served banana split cake, valentine candy and coffee to 19 members. Dorothy Fisher will host the March meeting in her home.

Pound Ponder 50-36... Lady Hornets take District Championship

The Lady Hornets and Lady Lions of Ponder met Saturday night for their third match of the season to determine a district champion. This time around Muenster's girls were intense and determined what was theirs and weren't going to let it slip away. Team defense was a big key in shutting down Ponder. "I felt defensively we played a great game," said Coach Strother. "We took care of the ball."

Muenster's offense was evenly distributed making it difficult for the Lions to stop the Lady Hornets, whose passing game hurt Ponder's defense with 14 assists. Dalana Walterscheid led the team with 14 points, 9 rebounds, and 6 steals. Amy Otto added 13 points. Danell Reiter had a fine game shooting 5 for 6 from the field for 12 points. Theresa Kubis put in 9 and Candise Abney 2. "The bench played really well - Dianne Pagel, Joy Tisdale, Kay Grewing," Coach Strother credits them as a big key to the victory and the district championship.

"The girls felt they were the best and we wanted to play 32 minutes," continued Strother. "It was the best all around game we played in quite a while. The Muenster fans were great and the girls were excited about playing in front of a packed house."

Hornettes to face Alvord in Bi-District

District champions, the Lady Hornets of Muenster, will face the Lady Bulldogs of Alvord this Friday night in Bi-district play. Action can be seen in the Era High School gym beginning at 7 p.m.

Alvord was runner-up in their district after being defeated by Windthorst. Muenster has beaten the Lady Bulldogs twice this season and are expecting good defense from them. Both times Muenster shot well against Alvord.

"We're ready to play," commented Coach Brian Strother. "We have a veteran team and I'm expecting the best from them." Strother said their goal is to play 32 minutes -- then on to Austin. But right now they are taking one game at a time.

Muenster fans are encouraged to attend the game and show their support by wearing lots of RED.

Hornettes warm up with win over Indians

Danell Reiter led Muenster Lady Hornets in scoring with 15 points in the practice game against Lipan in Perrin Tuesday night. The Indians, champions of their district has two good shooters that kept the game close. Muenster's free throw shooting in the second half, 11 of 12, and 16 of 20 for the game, gave the Lady Hornets the win. "This was a good game to get us prepared for the playoffs," commented Coach Brian Strother.

Theresa Kubis and Amy Otto hit in 11 points each to assist in Muenster's victory. Candise Abney chipped in 9 "for her highest offense output in a while." Dianne Pagel put in 4 points and Dalana Walterscheid only 2, but she pulled down 10 rebounds. The win gives the Lady Hornets a 29-1 season record.

Tigers hit the high note against Harmony

The Sacred Heart Tigers hosted Harmony Christian for the final district and final season game last Friday night. The Tigers were looking to avenge an earlier district loss to the team, 70-90. "We knew that the game was going to be a high speed, run-and-gun game," stated Coach John Nasche, "but the boys exploded the fourth period and rattled up a school record 45 points to pound Harmony 103-72!" Breaking the century mark and the score of 103 also set a school record. "We were really motivated to win this game because the Tigers were shut out of any selections for the all-district team," continued Nasche. "It's a complete farce to negate any of our players from the 1st or 2nd team."

According to Nasche, Happy Hill and Masonic Home, both two games behind Sacred Heart, each got 2 players on the team. "I never mentioned the fact that we received only four honorable mentions and the boys understandably were motivated to get after Harmony, who was only one game from tying for 2nd place."

The score bounced around the first quarters with the Tigers trailing by 3 at half time. Sacred Heart took a 2-point lead, 58-56, going into the final period before blowing away their opponents in the 4th.

With 18 seconds remaining in the game, with a 99-72 score, Neil Berres sank two free throws for the over 100 score. Jason Hofbauer added another 2 before time ran out. "The crowd was really behind us. It was so loud I couldn't even communicate with my players," said Nasche.

Jason Hess was the lead scorer with 38 points. Aaron Berres put in 20 with Jason Hofbauer adding 14 and Neil Berres 10 for the Tigers. Kelly Bayer had 9, Joseph Bedowitz 7, Chris Pagel 3, Mike Gehrig and John Klement scored 2 each.

John Newkirk led Harmony with 45 points.

The Tigers finished their district 4-8, in fifth place.

Sacred Heart was led on the boards this season by Jason Hess with 215 points in 16 games. Kelly Bayer contributed 148 points in 21 games. Hess is also credited to 28 three-pointers.

Bayer was the leading rebounder with over 220 boards. Joseph Bedowitz pulled down 200.

The Senior Tigers, Joseph Bedowitz and Werner Becker will be missed, but Coach John Nasche looks forward to next year's returning team. With extra work, Nasche sees the Tigers developing into a very successful team and not having a repeat of this season.

Lunch and snacks will be served all day. The menu includes hot sandwiches, sausage on a bun, chips, nachos, frito pie, home-made pies, brownies, candy, rice krispy treats, popcorn, popcorn balls, gum, soft drinks, coffee and more.

Raffle tickets to be drawn at the Mardi Gras are now available from any Sacred Heart student. The tickets will also be on sale at the Mardi Gras.

Parents of SH students are asked to supply a cake for the cake walk and a home-made pie and/or individual goodies (brownie, cookies, popcorn balls, etc.) for sale at the refreshment booth.

Also needed are new and good used books and "gently" used toys for the Book and Toy Booth. For early delivery or pick-up of items call Michelle Knauf, 759-4377, or JoAnn Sicking, 768-2216. Items can also be taken to the Book and Toy Booth on Sunday, Feb. 21 at the Mardi Gras.

SH Tigerettes to compete for Regional championship Friday

The Sacred Heart Tigerettes will tangle with the Alamo Mustangs of Amarillo Friday in the TAPPS Regional Championship round. The game is to be played in the Sid Richardson Gymnasium at Texas Wesleyan University in Fort Worth, starting at 2:00 p.m.

"The girls are very excited about the game," said Coach Jon LeBrasseur. "A win gets them back to Waco." Coach Jon believes Alamo will hand the Tigerettes a great challenge. They are quick with a point guard that is the best

Sacred Heart has faced all year. "It's a great challenge and I feel the girls are ready to elevate their game to the challenge." Sacred Heart holds a 22-7 season record while Alamo is 22-5.

SH Tigerettes overpower Harmony Christian girls

The Tigerettes are having a good run going into the playoffs with a 7-game winning streak, handing Harmony Christian an 85-15 beating Friday night.

"The girls are improving each game and if we get a few breaks, we can get back to the final four," commented Coach Jon LeBrasseur. "I am very pleased with where we are and I believe we can make a run for Waco."

Eleven of the 12 Tigerettes suited out scored, with four getting in the double digits. Erica Schilling led the team with 16 points; Jennie Endres added 15 as April Truebenbach and Kelly Dangelmayr each scored 12. Julie Felderhoff put in 8, Tiffany Fisher

6, Angie Hofbauer 5, Deann Bayer 4, Mandy Barnhill 3 with Stephanie Grewing and Christy Yosten adding 2 apiece. Donetta Hess failed to score, but played very well on defense, including 3 steals.

Schilling and Felderhoff each took 5 steals with Grewing, Dangelmayr and Fisher leading the Tigerettes in rebounds. Sacred Heart hit 9 of their 10 free throws.

"It was parents' night and all the girls put on a good show," concluded Coach Jon.

The Tigerettes hold a season record of 21-7 and 10-0 in district play going into bi-district.

Lady Tigers getting ready!

April Truebenbach put in 18 points in the Tigerettes 60-42 practice win over Lake Country last Thursday. "April gave us a big lift in the post. We will need great post play to keep our season alive," said Coach Jon LeBrasseur. "The girls came out ready to play, it was our best half of the year."

Sacred Heart pulled out to an early 23-6 lead before slowing the pace just a bit.

Deann Bayer put in 9 points for the Tigerettes with Tiffany Fisher and Mandy Barnhill each getting 8. "Tiffany is improving each day and had a great game," continued Coach Jon. "Erica (Schilling) and Mandy again gave us great defensive. Julie (Felderhoff) and Deann are starting to push the ball up the floor for some easy scores." Schilling had 7 points, Felderhoff 5, with Stephanie Grewing adding 3, Donetta Hess 2 and Angie Hofbauer 1.

The Tigerettes were 23 of 29 at the charity stripe. Truebenbach and Jennie Endres were the leading rebounders in the game.

Nasche leads "Family" to win over The Media

Sacred Heart's Coach John Nasche pumped in 23 points to lead the Sacred Heart Family to a 69-66 victory over the Media Team in Thursday's fund-raiser game.

After a close first quarter, the Media took a 31-27 lead at the half time break, then extended their lead to 10 points to start the final quarter. "The Family" came back full force in the 4th to outscore their visitors 25-13 for the win.

Adding to Nasche's 23 points were Joe Hoedebeck and John Bartush with 10 points each. Neil Hesse put in 8, Mark Fuhrmann 6, Gary Endres 5, Susan Flusche 4 and Dan Walterscheid 3. Other members of the Sacred Heart team were Sandra Reeves, Mary Bayer and Rita O'Brien. The home team hit only 12 of 27 attempted free throws.

The Media's scoring was led by Jay Vernon with 13 points. Kevin Darwin added 11, Darin Allred 10, Lee Heine and Russell Anderson 9 each, Jerry Prickett 8, Pat Hunt 4 and Mitchell Shauf 2. Mike Pender and Bobby Hawkins rounded out the team. The Media hit 12 of 19 from the free throw line.

Super airport offers hope to North Texas economics

by Elaine Schad

Mega planes transporting freight or as many as 1,000 passengers per load are in the visions of some North Texas residents who are working to bring a superhub airport to the North Texas area.

Cooke County Commissioners this week delayed a decision on joining the North Texas Regional Development Council, saying they wanted to wait to see which other counties would be joining in the effort. NTRDC representatives support an effort to locate a 30,000-acre superhub airport in the North Central Texas area within about 10 years.

C.W. Muehlberger of Wichita Falls, co-chair of the council, told commissioners North Texas is a perfect location for such an airport, particularly because of weather and demographics. Two sites, one north of Krum in Denton County and a second site in Montague County, are suggested locations for the airport.

The council is asking for financial and other support from city and county governments in Cooke, Denton, Montague, Clay, Wise and Wichita counties in Texas, as well as Jefferson and Stephens counties in Oklahoma to push for a North Texas site, Muehlberger said. "I don't know of any project that could be bigger for our future than this," he said.

Officials estimated Cooke County's share would be about $3,000 to $5,000 annually to support efforts to garner the airport at a North Texas site. A super hub would provide both domestic and international transport. The location of such a transportation center in North Central Texas would provide a major growth spurt to the area, Muehlberger said. Cooke County, located near both proposed sites, would reap the benefits of side industries and increased traffic in the area, he said.

A decision could be made on the location of about six superhub airports by 1997, said Joseph W. Burris, executive director of the North Texas Regional Development Council. Burris estimated it would take five years to build the airport, at an initial cost of $225 million. About 90 percent of that cost would be paid for with federal dollars, he said. Other sites being considered are in California, Minnesota, Illinois, Georgia and New York.

County commissioners dealt with a variety of items during their meeting this week. Commissioners opened bids from two Dallas companies on proposals to provide rural addressing for 911 in Cooke County. The court tabled the proposals, saying they needed more time to study the complex bidding needed for this particular project. Commissioners hope to come back with a recommendation at their Feb. 22 meeting.

Commissioners awarded a one-year contract to the Gainesville National Bank as the depository for county funds. Commissioners proposed an agreement with the State Department of Highways to repair one bridge in each of the four county precincts through the Off-State System Federal Aid Bridge Replacement and Rehabilitation Program. The government will pay 80 percent and the county 20 percent of the cost. Commissioners tabled consideration of a preliminary plat for the Fleitman subdivision in precinct 4 and approved monthly bills and reports.

Landscaping seminar set for March 6

by Evelyn Yeatts, Cooke County Extension Agent - H.E.

Landscaping can make a world of difference in the way your home looks. The plants and structures that surround your home reflect your taste, your pleasures, your activities, your personality -- and your planning.

A special "Landscaping Seminar" is scheduled for Saturday, March 6, in the Chamber of Commerce Meeting Room in Gainesville. The seminar begins at 9 a.m. and will conclude at 12:30 p.m. with Dr. Steve George, District Horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, giving the program. Participants who are interested in setting up an individual appointment with Dr. George may schedule these on Saturday afternoon between 1:30 and 5:00 p.m. The 20 to 30 minute sessions will be on a first request basis until filled. The Seminar will include:

 *Landscape principles for existing and new landscapes
 *Soil preparation
 *Planting and maintaining *Recommendation for trees, shrubs, and ground cover for this area
 *Emphasis on low maintenance

Seminar cost is $20 per couple or $15 per individual. This includes a book, hand-out materials, conferences, coffee, etc. Pre-registration is requested by Feb. 24 so that program materials can be obtained. Mail your name, address, phone number, and check (made out to the Home Economics Committee) to Mrs. Evelyn Yeatts, County Extension Agent -H.E., Courthouse B-12, Gainesville, TX 76240-4786, or stop by the Extension Office in the Courthouse basement to register. Participants will need to call or stop by to set up individual appointments.

The Landscape Seminar, sponsored by the Home Economics Committee of the County Extension Office, can provide help for those homeowners with existing landscapes, as well as new home owners. For questions or more information, contact Evelyn Yeatts at 668-5412.

Women's Leadership Forum set for March 9, 10

A special "Leadership Forum for Women in the 90's" is scheduled for March 9 and 10 at the Texas 4H Center on Lake Brownwood.

The goal of the Family Community Leadership - Leadership Forum is to develop and empower effective family and community leaders through a comprehensive training program that provides a variety of leadership experiences.

Participants will have the opportunity to participate in a variety of leadership activities. The Leadership Forum is open to new volunteers or experienced volunteers with the desire to increase their leadership potential.

Jointly sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Texas Extension Homemakers Association, more information about the Forum Workshop can be obtained by calling Evelyn Yeatts, County Extension Agent -H.E., at 668-5412 or picking up a brochure at the Extension Office. Registration deadline is Feb. 23.

Lindsay City Council studies Police Dept. reinstatement

by Elaine Schad

Lindsay city officials are continuing to study a proposal to reinstate the city's police department after about a dozen concerned citizens came before the council during its regular February meeting with questions about how the city will be protected.

Cooke County Sheriff Joe Nichols and County Commissioner Virgil Hess spoke with the group and answered questions about the county's role in law enforcement. The county is providing routine patrols in the city as part of its countywide commitment. The group also talked about the effectiveness of Neighborhood Watch programs and the possibility of establishing the program in the Lindsay area.

Some of the citizens were concerned about recent acts of vandalism and break-ins in the city, said Lindsay Mayor Robert Walterscheid. Walterscheid said the meeting helped clarify the roles of the city and the county in law enforcement. Council members are expected to present their ideas on how to increase protection in the city at the council's March meeting, Walterscheid said.

CCC Board meets, hires administrator

by Elaine Schad

Lee "Rusty" Waller will take over March 1 as the first full-time administrator of the Cooke County College Denton campus, officials said.

CCC trustees, during its regular February meeting this week, hired Waller as associate dean of the Denton campus, which opened last fall in the Moore Business Forms building in Denton. A full-time administrator is needed in Denton because of dramatic enrollment growth, said Rodger (cq) Boyce, CCC spokesman. CCC enrollment on the Denton campus is 632 for the Spring semester, about a 56-percent increase from the 407 enrollment for Spring 1992, officials said.

In a related matter, trustees heard a report that Cooke County College continues to show dramatic increases in enrollment according to certified figures released this week for the Spring semester.

Final certified enrollment for Spring 1993 shows 4,078 students on all campuses, including Denton, Lewisville, Gainesville, Justin and Bowie. That compares to a 3,484 final enrollment total for the Spring 1992, said Registrar Eddie Hadlock. The spring enrollment is 10 students higher than the fall enrollment, something that is quite unusual since the fall is generally the time of highest enrollment, said Rodger Boyce, CCC spokesman.

College enrollment has continued to climb during the past several years, due mainly to the college opening a new extension campus site in Denton and the creation of new programs, officials said. CCC enrollment was 2,700 on all campuses for the Spring semester 1991, Hadlock said.

1.12 million head exported through TDA

by Lorie Woodward

More than 1.12 million head of livestock worth $203 million were shipped through the Texas Department of Agriculture's export pens during 1992, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry reported.

"Our exports did not surpass the record-breaking number of 1.3 million head shipped out of Texas in 1991, but the 1992 exports were still almost double the 1990 numbers," Perry said. In 1990, 621,713 head valued at $90 million were exported.

Even though 1992 livestock exports decreased, the value of animals shipped was $1 million more than the $202 million value in 1991, Perry said.

Breeding stock and show animals helped increase the value of 1992 exports, Perry said.

"Of the $9 million worth of horses shipped, we recorded more than $6 million worth of thoroughbreds, show horses and race horses exported out of the Houston airport," he said. "This indicates that international buyers are clearly recognizing the quality found in Texas breeds."

The largest drop in exports occurred in hog shipments, with about 200,000 fewer head shipped in 1992 than 1991. The decrease was caused by Mexico restricting the number of hogs allowed into the country by requiring all slaughter hogs be shipped to federally inspected slaughter facilities, which are limited in that country, Perry said.

The number of goats also dropped by more than 20,000 compared to 1991 exports. However, the value of goats rose by about $700,000 in 1992 compared to the previous year due to increased demand in Mexico for dairy goats, which sell for an average of $300 per head, Perry said.

My Views from the Farm

by Ed Cler

As the quality of many television programs goes down to almost zero, P.B.S. programs seem to become more and more interesting, especially those dealing with nature and animals both wild and domesticated. National Geographic's "Cats" was one that I enjoyed thoroughly.

It noted especially how one lioness would care for and nurse another's cubs along with her own. The same seems to apply to domestic cats.

We once had occasion to see this in action years ago when our youngest daughter, Christa Jo, was about 16 or 17.

We had, for many years, owned rat terrier dogs, usually females, so puppies were sometimes in order. One very special dog the family fell in love with was a female named Snoopy, who, when born, was the runt of the litter. She grew up to be a very pretty little mutt with a black head and a snow white body. In time, she too, after finding herself a nice nest in an unused part of the calf shed, gave birth to five beautiful little puppies. Christa Jo was the first to find them and after making sure all five were nursing and well, she left Snoopy to rest and care for her puppies.

Early next morning Chris went to see the little family, but was heartbroken to find that somehow Snoopy had gotten her head under one of the doors and over the foundation, and had choked to death trying to free herself. Poor Chris, sobbing her heart out, brought the puppies to the house, worried about how she was going to feed the little orphans. After calming her down I told her to go see our local veterinarian and see if he could help.

Soon she returned with some tiny little bottles and nipples and was busy feeding one pup when she noticed our old mother cat that had had a litter of kittens the day before was distended with milk and apparently was not suckling her kittens. "Wonder what she would do if I gave her one of these puppies," Chris said. I told her to try and we would soon know.

Well, that cat accepted the one, and soon all five were nursing and the cat couldn't have been more content. She fed and cared for those pups for five weeks, and they were the cleanest, shiniest pups that ever lived; however as soon as the little fellows were able to drink out of a saucer, we supplemented the cat's milk with all the cows' milk they could drink.

After the story of the cat feeding the puppies got out we had quite a number of visitors who wanted to see this strange setup, and we soon had homes for four of the pups. One we kept, and she grew up to be another Snoopy.

Judge's aquifer ruling shows need for overhaul of endangered species law

A federal judge's Feb. 1 decision that the Endangered Species Act puts protection of Texas bugs before Texas babies makes it crystal clear that Congress must take steps immediately to bring the federal law under control, says John W. Jones, TSCRA president from Brady.

U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton has ruled that pumping from the Edwards Aquifer should be limited to protect endangered species and that state legislators must come up with a plan or face federal regulation. The ruling stems from a November trial in his Midland court in a lawsuit filed by the Sierra Club against the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

At issue is whether unrestricted pumping from the aquifer leads to declining levels of the aquifer-fed Comal Springs in New Braunfels and San Marcos Springs in San Marcos. The lawsuit argued successfully that if the springs were to dry up, then some endangered plants and animals that live in the springs would be threatened.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Wheat pasture consideration
This past week we checked out various wheat plots in the county to see if plants had begun jointing. In most instances where wheat had not been grazed, the first joint was above the ground. This is important in considering whether to remove cattle in order to make a grain crop.

Tests have shown that once plants begin elongation and jointing, yield is greatly reduced through grazing. The first growing node that comes through the ground has the developing head attached. Should cattle remove this node through grazing, no head will develop on that particular tiller. Grazing has another effect in that grazing will postpone jointing in the spring. Those fields that have been heavily grazed can be a week or so later in beginning to joint. This is due to the stress on the plant from heavy grazing.

In most instances the rains at the beginning of the week have caused producers to remove cattle from grain if they are planning to harvest a grain crop. Other factors to consider on small grain this time of year include topdressing and weed control. Topdressing should be done as soon as possible. This will allow for increased grain yields. The later you apply topdress fertilizer, the less effect this management practice has on yield increase. Producers should read and follow labels on various herbicides this late in the growing season. Rains and muddy fields will put the best laid plans on hold this time of the year.

Private applicator training and licensing

TDA issues three basic types of pesticide licenses: 1) commercial for applicators engaged in business to apply pesticides on the land of another; 2) noncommercial for applicators employed by government agencies and persons applying pesticides on their employer's property but not qualifying as a private applicator; and 3) private applicator license for persons producing (growing) an agricultural commodity.

Prior to January 1, 1990, all private applicators were issued only a certificate, but actual licensing is now required of persons who want to become private applicators.

License fees are $150 for an annual commercial license (plus proof of financial responsibility), $100 for an annual noncommercial license, and $50 for a five-year private applicator license. Persons holding a private applicator certificate issued prior to Jan. 10, 1989, are exempt by law from licensing to continue purchasing and using restricted-use and state-limited-use pesticides for producing an agricultural commodity. Private applicators issued a certificate after Jan. 10, 1989, have been given five years in which to license by training, testing, and paying the license fee.

The Texas Pesticide Law requires attending a TAEX private applicator training program as a condition for obtaining a private applicator license.

In order to meet the requirement for training, two training sessions will be held for those wishing to receive a Private Applicator License. The first of these will be held on Thursday, Feb. 25 from 8 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the Cooke County Fairgrounds. Another session will be held on Thursday, Feb. 25 from 5 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Cooke County Fairgrounds. A third and final session will be held from 8 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. on Monday, March 8 at the County Extension Office. Mark Evans, with the Texas Department of Agriculture, will be presenting the test at 5 p.m. at Cooke County College on Monday, March 8. If you plan to attend a training or testing, you must pre-register by contacting the County Extension Office at 668-5412 by Tuesday, Feb. 23.

Reminder!

Four-H members planning to enter the 4-H Livestock Show that will be held on Saturday, Feb. 27 need to bring entry forms, completed project record forms and entry fees to the County Extension Office by Friday, Feb. 19. All forms are available from local 4-H club leaders or the county extension office in the Courthouse basement. Call 668-5412 if you have a question.

Muenster 4-H and FFA show set for Sunday, February 28

Sunday, February 28 is the date selected for this year's annual Muenster FFA and 4-H Livestock Show. Showing begins at 2 p.m. in the Cooke County Show Barn on the County Fair Grounds.

This should be a fun-filled day for the entire family. The younger family members who aren't eligible to participate in the show are invited to enter the pet show. They may bring their dog, cat, lamb, pig, or even pet fish.

Children entering this event are encouraged to bring their animal or pet to the east entrance of the show barn by 1 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 28. There will be no competition or entry fee for this event, but all who enter will receive a ribbon.

For more information, contact Glenn Debnam, 759-4294.

Levi's® Saddleman Boot Jeans: How to Fool Mother Nature

Levi's took the comfort and durability of man-made 100% polyester knit and sewed it up to look for all the world like the original denim boot jeans. These jeans have Levi's famous over-the-boot fit, slim in the legs, slightly flared below. They've got Levi's familiar contrast stitching. Even a watch pocket. But, maybe best of all, they've got what it takes to keep looking good for a good long time.

VV Feed Mill to undergo expansion

by Elaine Schad

A proposed expansion of Martindale Feed Mill in Valley View is expected to bring 30 more jobs to Cooke County. Valley View town aldermen, during the regular February meeting, approved a resolution of intent to grant a partial tax abatement to the company, a division of Alan Ritchey, Inc. The resolution is presently one of support for the project since Valley View does not have a city ad valorem tax. The city will conduct three public hearings in relation to the project.

Russell Duncan, an attorney representing the company, outlined the estimated $2 million project to include the construction of a new grain elevator and expanded office space. Most of the work is expected to be completed in time for the grain harvest this summer. About 30 new employees are expected to be added once the expansion is completed.

Topdress wheat now.

Your last chance for optimum yield

If you didn't get all of your nitrogen down before planting, a topdress application now will go directly into increased yield and quality. So, topdress your wheat now, before the spring busy season hits. Get off to a fast start to a top yield.

We have the fertilizers you need. We can also arrange custom application if you wish. Come see us soon. We're ready when you are.
