MISD introduces new teachers, readies for year

by Steve Cooper,
MISD Superintendent

As the 1993-94 school year starts, MISD faces many new challenges. The last four years have created much financial unrest as districts struggle to make "ends meet." MISD is not immune to this struggle. We also face new state standards for accreditation that are much more stringent than in past years. The state is moving to a performance-based accountability system (as they should) and schools will be recognized for their results.

We face challenges to restructure our schools to make them as relevant and practical as possible so each student graduating can compete for jobs that are constantly changing. To help accomplish all this, we have some new faces at MISD. (They will be mentioned in another part of this article.)

MISD has completed its classroom renovation project which gives us four additional classrooms. These will be housed by the 4th and 5th graders this year. The finishing touches will be in place on our new gym by the end of September. The new classrooms and gymnasium will create an adjustment to our normal routines but it's one we all look forward to.

As usual, our staff is dedicated to excellence and will do what is needed to provide all our youngsters with the tools they need for success.

New faculty members this year at MISD are the following, all in the Elementary Department:

Thurman
Tammy Thurman will be teaching kindergarten. She graduated from Texas Woman's University with a Bachelor of Science degree, majoring in Interdisciplinary Studies, with certification in Elementary Education and Specialization in Early Childhood. Tammy was on the Dean's List and University Honor Roll. She completed student teaching at Lee Elementary in Gainesville. Tammy also taught kindergarten the last six weeks of school in Saint Jo Elementary. Tammy and her husband, Clint, make their home in Montague.

Schneider
Kristi Schneider will also be teaching kindergarten. She graduated Cum Laude from the University of North Texas, majoring in Interdisciplinary Studies and minoring in Early Childhood Education. She completed student teaching at Sullivan Keller Early Childhood Center in Denton. Kristi and her husband, Tim, make their home in Muenster.

Bayer
Patsy Bayer will be a teacher's aide. She received Montessori certification from Southwestern Montessori Training Center in Denton. She has attended Early Childhood Workshops in Behavior, Art, Math, Language and Classroom Management. She was an Aide, Intern and a Lead Teacher at the Young Children's Learning Center for five years. Patsy taught CCD Religion Classes for four years. She was a cook for MISD for the past five years.

In addition, there are two more new teachers to include on the High School faculty list:

Seigler
Muenster Junior-Senior High is proud to announce the addition of two new faculty members for the 1993-94 school year. Miss Deanna Seigler will be employed on a half-time basis to be the band instructor. She will direct three bands: 6th grade, junior high and high school. Miss Seigler is 24 years old and calls Burkburnett home. She has been a former assistant band director at Knox City. She likes to paint, do crafts and write music as hobbies.

Tankersley
The other new employee is Randy Tankersley. Mr. Tankersley is 31 years old and is married. His wife is Stephanie and there are three children: Stevie Ann 5, J.D. 2-1/2, and Kaleigh 9 months. Mr. Tankersley has been a teacher-coach for nine years, having served in Dalhart, Rockport and Beeville before coming to Muenster. He will teach junior high science and history as well as coach. His hobbies include all outdoor activities (especially golf) and reading.

We heartily welcome the new additions to the Land of the Hornets!

This is a complete list of junior high and high school faculty members at MISD: Kay Perry, Counselor; Glenn Debnam, Agriculture; Irene Hartman, English/Literature; Danna Hess, Algebra/Geometry; Martha Koesler, English/Theater Arts; Rudy Koesler, Wood Shop; Robert McDaniel, Spanish/History; Davelyn Neidhardt, J.H. H.S.

County will not take landfill lead

by Elaine Schad

The countywide landfill issue continues to remain up in the air after county commissioners this week unanimously rejected a request to become the lead entity in the project.

The Cooke County Regional Landfill Task Force requested that the county take the lead in the landfill effort, which would mean that members of the task force would continue to share the cost according to their portion, but that the county would be responsible for the paperwork and any purchasing or other legal action involved. The county decided against becoming the lead entity because commissioners felt the City of Gainesville would be more capable and experienced in handling the issue, and that the county was already involved in many other services.

The City of Gainesville has served as agent for several county entities, which includes the cities of Muenster, Valley View as well as Cooke County, in pursuing the construction of a countywide landfill for three years. As the lead entity, the Gainesville city council called a bond election last February for the purchase of a landfill site, but voters rejected the proposal.

Cooke County has closed all of its landfills and has been utilizing the City of Gainesville landfill for county waste disposal. The Gainesville landfill is expected to close by April 1994. All landfills are being closed due to very stringent environmental regulations for landfills that are taking effect, called Subtitle D regulations.

Commissioner Kenneth Alexander said the county has budgeted $50,000 for the landfill project for fiscal 1994, but none of that money has been committed to any particular area. The county will continue to work with the task force while also continuing discussion on the possibility of providing some type of transfer stations for county residents to use. County residents can continue to use the Gainesville landfill and the Gainesville transfer station along Interstate 35 until alternate plans are made, he said.

In other business this week, commissioners decided to delay approval of a proposed library service contract with the City of Muenster and also tabled a proposed 1993-1994 fire contract with the City of Muenster. Both items were tabled until after the county's budget hearing Aug. 30, officials said. Commissioners also extended an order banning outside burning in the unincorporated areas of Cooke County until the area receives enough rain to alleviate the high potential for fires. County residents are advised to use extreme caution during these dry days.

County looks to increase tax rate

by Elaine Schad

Cooke County's tax rate is expected to increase by 10 cents to fund the county's proposed $7.2 million budget for fiscal 1994.

Cooke County Commissioners this week voted their intent to raise the county tax rate to 48 cents per $100 valuation of property, an increase of 10 cents from the current rate of 38 cents. The proposed budget is a 5.4 percent increase over the current year's $6.8 million budget. A public hearing is set for 10 a.m. Aug. 30 to receive input on both the proposed budget and tax rate. Commissioners could approve both items during their next regular meeting in September.

"The main reason is that, about five years ago, we had about $1 million in reserve in the general fund," Commissioner Kenneth Alexander said. "We chose to deplete those reserves and haven't been fully funding our budget (with tax increases)," he said.

Several factors have figured in the $372,000 rise in projected expenditures for fiscal 1994, according to County Auditor Gloria Parrish. Some increased expenditures will include about $90,000 in additional monies for a 3 percent cost-of-living increase for county employees and about $200,000 in additional funds for the purchase and manning of another county ambulance. All other departments combined will show a total increase of about $100,000.

The county will be purchasing an additional ambulance and will man it with six employees in order to provide additional emergency coverage of the county. That will cost an estimated $200,000 for the first six months of operation, which should begin by this spring, Alexander said. Also included in that total is about $25,000 for the expansion of the county ambulance building on Chestnut Street to accommodate the additional vehicle and personnel. Commissioners decided to expand the ambulance service following a study which indicated there was a need to provide additional emergency service to accommodate county growth and due to the growing problem of providing patient transfers.

In addition to the county increase in expenditures, there could be some revenue shortfalls, according to Parrish. County revenues have not kept up with projections for fiscal 1993, she said. The ambulance service alone is projecting about an $80,000 revenue shortfall by the end of this fiscal year, due mainly to reductions paid Please See COUNTY, Page 3

Opening to benefit Frank Buck Zoo...

Gainesville Factory Shops set to open Aug. 20

The Prime Group, Inc. Retail Division (Prime), a Baltimore-based developer, announced plans to open its seventh manufacturers outlet center, located in Cooke County, Texas, on Friday, Aug. 20, said William H. Carpenter Jr., executive vice-president of Prime.

The Gainesville Factory Shops will officially open to the public at 10 a.m. on Friday, Aug. 20, with more than 200,000 square feet representing 67 designer stores filled with name brand merchandise offered directly to the public with savings of 25% to 75% off retail prices. A food court will also be offered to shoppers to add to the comfort and convenience of the center.

"We expect the Gainesville Factory Shops to be a significant engine for the region's economy," said Abraham Rosenthal, also executive vice-president of Prime. "And we know that shoppers from miles around will find great values in a comfortable and appealing environment. Our centers prove that outlet shopping doesn't mean cold, empty warehouses anymore."

Gainesville Factory Shops grand opening festivities will begin with a preview gala held in the food court of the center from 8 p.m. until midnight on Thursday, Aug. 19, with proceeds to benefit the Frank Buck Zoo in Gainesville. Guests will be taken on a "shopping safari" to discover the new center, and will encounter marimba music performed by area musicians; a sampling of tropical delights; and a silent auction featuring a miniature horse and merchandise and gift certificates from Gainesville's merchants. Best of all, lucky guests will win door prizes and get first crack at bargain values as the stores - featuring men's, women's, children's fashions, home furnishings and accessories - open their doors to shoppers for the first time. Tickets are $30.00 and are available by calling 817-668-1195.

"It is our mission to become part of the fabric of this community," said Prime's William H. Carpenter Jr. "We are thrilled to support the Frank Buck Zoo and its educational programs to ensure that area families are exposed to wildlife and animal habitats otherwise not accessible to them. As good corporate citizens, we will continue to support important community projects in our area."

Gainesville Factory Shops will officially open to the public at 10 a.m. on Aug. 20 with a ceremony and ribbon-cutting celebration. On stage will be Texas Governor Ann Richards, Gainesville Mayor Jim J. Hatcher, Kemper Investors Life Insurance Company representative Michael Weisel, Cooke County Judge Ray B. Russell and Prime's Executive Vice-Presidents Abraham Rosenthal and William H. Carpenter Jr., to welcome tenants and shoppers to the center and the new jobs to the area with their remarks and a ribbon-cutting punctuated by a colorful confetti display. The Gainesville High School Band will get shoppers in the spirit with fanfare music, and will kick off a weekend of live music and family entertainment including Bobby Boatwright and the Bar H Cowboys; Gainesville's own country dance band Dakota and the Steve Stewart Band; internationally-acclaimed Ray Anderson's Magic Show; and Trixie Roper and the Lone Riders. The kids will get a taste of the "Wild West" with mock gun fights, trick roping demonstrations and real country western music.

Gainesville Mayor Jim J. Hatcher

commented on the grand opening by saying, "Gainesville and Cooke County will have much to be proud of on Aug. 20. When those doors open, shoppers from miles around will see a beautiful center with great name brands. But, most importantly, Gainesville Factory Shops is bringing more than 1,100 jobs to the area. That's great news for everyone."

Good News

And the Lord said to Satan, "Have you noticed my servant Job, and that there is no one on earth like him, faultless and upright, fearing God and avoiding evil? He still holds fast to his innocence although you incited me against him to run him without cause." JOB 2:3

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

I am back home after a very successful operation for my heart condition. It was very comforting to hear of the prayers being said in my behalf. It was really great to have Fr. Victor at the hospital in Muenster when I entered there, and then in Denton I was visited by Fr. Harry Fisher and Rev. Andy Cherry there and in Fort Worth. I truly did appreciate it. I felt very good, too, to hear of how highly everyone in Fort Worth and Denton felt of my attending physician, Dr. Qureshi. We are very fortunate to have him coming to Muenster each Thursday. And it is very convenient to obtain an appointment by dialing a local # 759-4442. A friend from Gainesville called me after arriving home, and when I told him how good I felt, he said I guess the Presbyterian praying did some good.

I visited the Muenster Hospital during their Health Fair and I was amazed at the many most-up-to-date equipment and the availability of the too-expensive-to-own by rental for particular days as needed. They had one facility that I didn't find available in Denton or Fort Worth. This was the special room that handled bathing on a stretcher. I hate those "spit baths" in bed in a hospital. I sure wished everyone in the area has a chance to review our local facilities and make use of them at every opportunity. We definitely need it.

Best regards to all,

you. As a matter of fact, I was quite shocked at the list of contributors. These are some of those companies who aid those in the business of abortion, pro-choice, pro-free-sex with artificial birth control, pro-artificial birth control, etc.: CitiCorp/CitiBank, Pacific Mutual/Pacific Financial, AT&T, American Express, Metropolitan Life Fdn., Prudential Foundation, Goodwill Industries, Manpower Inc., K-Mart, Grand Metropolitan (Burger King, Green Giant Vegetables, Hagen Daaz Ice Cream, Hungry Jack Biscuits and lots, lots more), General Mills (Red Lobster, Gold Medal Flour, Cheerios, Cocoa Puffs, Wheaties and lots, lots more), Pepsi Cola (Kentucky Fried Chicken, Pizza Hut, Taco Bell, Frito Lay Chips and lots, lots more), Dayton Hudson Corp. (Mervyns, Target and more), Ford, Harley-Davidson, Subaru, Esprit, Levi Strauss & Co., Hewlett, Honeywell, Tandy Corp. (Radio Shack, leather goods, etc.), Packard, Nabisco (lots and lots and lots of food stuffs here), Pillsbury (ditto like Nabisco), C.W. Post, R.J. Reynolds (tobacco products), Phillip Morris (tobacco products), Ralston Purina, Alcoa Corp., Scott (Scottowels, Scottissue), Mead Corp. (paper and stationery products), New York Times, McCall's Magazine, Readers Digest, Family Circle, Field & Stream, Outdoor Life (last two and more owned by Times Mirror), Bristol-Myers (Bufferin, Excedrin, Final Net hairspray, Miss Clairol and heaps more), Johnson & Johnson (all kinds of pharmaceutical and personal care stuff), Warner Lambert (Roloids, Listerine, Caladryl, Sinu-Tab and much more), Avon products, Revlon, Helena Rubinstein Fdn., and I have not even given half of the listings.

See why I was in shock? I used AT&T, Ford, General Mills, Pillsbury, Johnson & Johnson, Nabisco and other products all the time. But, now I will have to say no to them until they are taken off the list of contributors to P.P. and such things. That's right, no more Oreo cookies for me.

We all, as consumers, can boycott products, write to the businesses letting them know what's up, etc. It's a legal, non-violent, highly-effective thing we can do. The moral decision, though, I reckon lies in each of our hearts as to our priorities and comforts, etc. If you want to see the list yourself, write to Dianne Dew, c/o The Standard, P.O. Box 14311, West Allis, WI 53214. It costs $2 and three 1st class stamps for postage. This list is current as of April 1993. To keep up on changes in this area of the pro-life fight, you can write to Life Decisions, P.O. Box 419, Amherst, NY 14426. They mail updates out to all those on their mailing lists. The Dianne Dew list does include addresses of all those corporations mentioned and all those involved I did not mention.

This kind of stuff we can all do from our homes. It doesn't require marching, risking jail, etc., but it will help in the fight to save the lives of innocent babies and to give chastity a chance in human life where otherwise it may be discouraged. I'm for it.

Lindsay group travels to Denver for World Youth Day

Ten students from Lindsay and two sponsors will join 1,200 Catholic Youth of the Fort Worth Diocese in a pilgrimage to Denver, Colorado to be present for the visit of Pope John Paul II at World Youth Day, Aug. 11 to Aug. 15, 1993. Adding to the special distinction is the fact that the 1,200 represent one of every seven Catholic youth in the Diocese, more than the highest percentage of any diocese in the United States.

Accompanying the Lindsay students will be co-sponsors Martha Tepera of Lindsay and her son, James Tepera of Texas Tech University of Lubbock, and Beverly Adamson of Sherman and her daughter, Christina.

They left Lindsay at 2 p.m. Tuesday afternoon for Wichita Falls, to join a rally from the Diocese. By chartered buses all the Texans will depart for Colorado. When they arrive in Brighton, Colorado, about 15 miles from Denver, they will experience the "red carpet" treatment. The diocesan group will stay in the CCD Building of St. Augustine Church of Brighton. Lindsay students have reservations to view a display of Vatican Art Treasures. More than a year was devoted by Brighton area residents to prepare to host groups of students. The first night there, the city hosted a pot-luck supper; each morning they provided breakfast and sack lunches to carry along.

The opening ceremony in Mile High Stadium of Denver was held on Wednesday, Aug. 11, and seating was by a lottery system. Students unable to get in then will be given priority seating for the Papal Mass on Sunday, Aug. 15. Between Wednesday and Sunday, many varied activities will include talks, cultural programs, music programs, etc. One of the events will be "a mountain of canned goods," collected by contributions from each participant who brought it from home in his/her backpack, to be given to charity.

Before leaving on the trip, each participant was given a cross from Mexico and a rosary. When the groups disperse, all rosaries will be collected and sent to Russia.

On Saturday, all participants will march into Cherry Park in Denver. Gates will be locked behind them and strict security will be maintained. Spending the night under the stars, the students will be urged to sing, or pray, or sleep, hoping and praying for "no rain," although everyone carried a well-equipped bed roll. On Sunday morning, gates will be opened and the general public admitted.

Lindsay youth and their sponsors will return home Monday. Financial support of more than $2,700 for the trip came from Lindsay and the surrounding area. A number of fundraising events were held, including a hamburger supper and a pancake breakfast. Craig Hertel sponsored a "Shakespeare in the Park" with Lindsay youth participants.

A major fundraiser was a raffle held with a homemade ice cream social.

In pursuit of excellence

Opinion by Dave Fette

I've been feeling more tired lately and I can see the effects when I just settle for less in some of the projects or pursuits I attempt. How about the rest of you? Have you settled for less and then wished you'd tried harder when you had the chance? Maybe it's just the heat and the way things seem to be so dried out.

I should make my point. Muenster abounds with examples of success and excellence. Now is no time to settle for less. I don't want to settle for a declining public library, a less-than-excellent water supply or a frowning, hang-dog attitude. I want a beautiful, thriving business community and future generations (including mine) full of dreams and encouragement. That's what causes people to invest in their homes (like all the wonderful places being built now) and attracts people and new business to the Muenster area.

It's true, I'm not on a fixed income. My income is far from fixed. It depends on progress and activity. Anyone else out there living that way?

The City Council starts work on the next annual budget Monday night. These are open meetings. There have been no reports of laryngitis epidemic from the hospital, so go and have your say.

Lindsay City Council approves TU ordinance

by Elaine Schad

The Lindsay City Council has given final approval on the third reading to an ordinance which will increase the franchise fee paid to the city by TU Electric.

The city is expected to garner an estimated $3,900 in additional revenue from raising the franchise fee from 3 percent to 4 percent. TU Electric has requested the increase from Lindsay and from many cities across the state of Texas in an attempt to standardize the percentage of franchise fee paid. The new ordinance, which was formally adopted at the council's regular August meeting on its third reading, is already in effect in Lindsay. Mayor Robert Walterscheid said.

The council had an abbreviated agenda for its regular August meeting. In other action, the council accepted the resignation of Steve Bell from the city's planning and zoning board.

Gainesville Chamber Rodeo to put emphasis on youth

With flexible entry requirements and new rewards for young participants, the Gainesville Area Chamber of Commerce is expecting lots of youth organizations to show up in the Aug. 19 Rodeo Parade.

"Any child who enters the parade will get a free ticket into the rodeo later that night," said Juddi Boyce, Parade Chairman for the 1993 Chamber of Commerce Rodeo. "We just have to know who they are before the parade entry deadline of 5 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 19."

"The 1992 Rodeo Parade was a real good show," said Boyce, who expects more floats and youth groups to provide spectators with one of the best shows ever.

"I think all kids love to be in a parade," said Boyce, who notes that the rodeo tickets are a special incentive for local youth - be they members of church groups, Camp

Fire, Boy Scouts, 4-H, FHA or others.

Of course, the parade will also feature several top riding clubs, individual riders, floats, a band and two other attractions. Spectators are expected to line both sides of California Street from the starting point a block east of the Chamber of Commerce north to Lindsay Street and back down Main to the staging area south of the Gainesville Holiday Inn.

"Anyone who wants to be in the parade can be in it ... and they can sign up on the day of the parade no later than 5 p.m.," said Boyce. She added that while there is no entry fee, only those who enter in advance will be eligible for prizes.

Prizes will be awarded in three different categories: Riding Clubs, $135 for first and $75 for second; Floats, $135 for first and $75 for second; and Animal-drawn Vehicles, $75 for first.

A familiar symbol in Texas, the bucking Bronco, serves as the motif for the center, and is represented on signage and billboards in the area. Located on Interstate 35, Exit 501, the center is situated 60 miles northwest of Dallas, 70 miles northeast of Fort Worth and 32 miles south of Oklahoma in Gainesville and will house, when all three phases are completed, more than 120 manufacturer-owned and -operated stores, bringing significant discounts to the more than four million people located within 100 miles of the center. The project is the largest Grand Opening Phase I ever completed by Prime, and will bring more than 1,100 new construction and permanent jobs and infuse millions of dollars in tax revenues and contracts into Cooke County. ## Cooke County Firefighters discuss emergency management

The Cooke County Firefighters Association meeting was held June 21 at the Gainesville Civic Center. The following members were present: Joe Wilkerson, Duane Chance, Frank Natonick, Herbert Knabe, Donald Robinson, Bobby McDaniel, Milton Knauf, Lenny Hermes, Jerry Groce and Harold Owen.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Herbert Knabe and the minutes were read and approved. A report of the bank balance at present stands at $1,196.77.

In old business, Herbert Knabe read a letter from Judge Ray Russell concerning withholding Cooke County funds from departments that are not participating in the county meetings, appropriations would be dispersed individually to each department from the Commissioners if the CCFA rules to withhold funds. A motion was made to table the discussion until the next meeting.

In new business, after a discussion, a motion was made to postpone the next regular meeting until Aug. 16, because of the busy summer schedule of the farmers that participate in the CCFA.

Tom Watson was guest speaker on emergency management and functional responsibilities for the departments. Tom informed the departments of his responsibilities in the Civil Service Department concerning natural disasters and his responsibilities on communications. Tom offered the CCFA the rights to use his communication towers, which are repeaters of the UHF frequency, and it would be the responsibility of each department to purchase the UHF radios necessary for communications.

A motion was made by Duane Chance to establish a committee to study the needs of our county and seconded by Joe Wilkerson, motion carried. Joe Wilkerson, Jerry Groce and Duane Chance were nominated.

Next meeting will be Aug. 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Callisburg Fire Department.

Tax Talk

by: Duane Knabe, CPA

Duane Knabe will discuss a different topic each week. Any questions should be directed to him at 759-4010.

This week's topic is contract labor. "Contract labor" is the most widely used misnomer in business today. The issue is whether a worker is an employee or an independent contractor.

In simple terms, an employee is someone an employer exercises control and for whom there is extensive wage reporting and tax responsibility. An independent contractor is self-employed, bears responsibility for his own taxes and expenses, and is not subject to an employer's direction or control. The distinction depends on several factors and is by no means limited to the fact that a party designates itself one or the other.

Muenster Memorial Hospital and the American Cancer Society are excited to announce the beginning of a cancer patient support program called DIALOGUE.

DIALOGUE is an on-going support group organized to help cancer patients deal with the many challenges they face on a day-to-day basis. It gives cancer patients, their families and friends the opportunity to share common experiences, problems, and solutions.

The first DIALOGUE meeting will be held at Muenster Memorial Hospital on August 19th at 7 p.m. If you would like more information or would like to attend DIALOGUE, please contact Mary K. Endres, R.N., O.C.N., at (817) 759-2271 to the county through federal Medicare reimbursements, which have been cut by the federal government, Parrish said. There has also been a decline in many of the county departments that take in fines, Alexander said. Some state legislation has affected some of the decline in revenues, such as a new three-day waiting period for marriage licenses. Cooke County had always benefited from Oklahomans who crossed the Texas border to apply for marriage licenses because they could get them faster in Texas. With the new waiting period in Texas, Oklahoma marriage license traffic has seen a decline, thus a decline in revenues received by the county clerk's office, Alexander said.

The county can no longer use large amounts of reserve funds to offset tax increases, Alexander said. The county's reserve fund for the operating budget will decline from more than $600,000 to about $435,000 by the end of fiscal 1993, not enough to offset the fiscal 1994 budget increases, he said. Since it takes about $325,000 to make a month's payroll for the county, it would be hard to operate with reserves much lower than those already projected, officials said. Raising the tax rate by one penny generates an estimated $80,000, Alexander said.

Parrish said some reserves earmarked for county road and bridge work will be used this year to help offset some budget increases. The county's total road and bridge reserves of about $938,000 are expected to decrease by about $200,000 for fiscal 1994, she said.

County sales tax revenue have stayed fairly stable and are expected to meet projections by the end of fiscal 1993, Parrish said. The county has been able to offset about 9.16 cents on the tax rate through the half-cent sales tax, she said.

The county is hoping to garner some additional sales tax revenues from the opening of the new Gainesville Factory Shops, but none of that is included in the budget for fiscal 1994, Alexander said. The county isn't expecting a huge windfall from the mall, however, as the county must rebate to the mall owners 80 percent of the sales tax returned by the state to the county for economic development purposes according to a grant agreement.

Traditional ceremony unites couple July 31

...nee Vickie Lynn Schmitt...

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas John Fleitman have returned from their wedding trip to the Bahamas, Ocho Rios, Grand Cayman Playa del Carmen and Cozumel, and are at home in Muenster.

They were married in Sacred Heart Church on July 31, 1993 in a Nuptial Mass and traditional double-ring ceremony officiated by Father Victor Gillespie, OSB, at 5:00 p.m.

The bride is the former Vickie Lynn Schmitt, daughter of Harvey and Della Schmitt. She is a 1989 graduate of Sacred Heart High School and a 1990 graduate of Cooke County College School of Cosmetology, and is owner/operator of Vickie's Cut-n-Up. The groom is the son of John Dave and Patsy Fleitman, all of Muenster. He is a 1984 graduate of Muenster High School and a 1987 graduate of TSTI in Waco. He is employed at Valenite.

Given in marriage by her parents, and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was wearing a bridal gown of white re-embroidered Alencon lace and Italian satin, designed by Bridal Originals. The fitted bodice, which featured hand-beaded lace on a Sabrina neckline and strands of pearls across the back, was designed with modified leg-o-mutton sleeves with window panels, overlaid with lace and adorned with bridal pearls on lace. From the elongated waist, the full satin skirt fell to slipper length and flowed to a chapel-length train which was encircled with lace. The train featured the matching window panels with overlays of lace and pearls. To complete her attire, the bride chose a headpiece of lace and silk flowers.

She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and English ivy, entwined with her mother's rosary.

She wore a gold cross, a wedding gift from the groom, and also a gold cross worn by her mother on her own wedding day 30 years ago. A 1970 birth year penny in her shoe was a gift from her father. For sentiment, she carried her mother's rosary, a gift from the bride's father to her mother on her 19th birthday. For "something borrowed," she wore earrings belonging to her sister-in-law, Michelle Schmitt.

ATTENDANTS

Debbie Schmitt of Muenster was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Julia Fleitman of Muenster, groom's sister, and Michelle Schmitt of Tyler, bride's sister-in-law. They wore wine satin dresses with simulated pearl strands cascading down the scoop back neckline. Bows accented the puffed sleeves and back, with an elongated Basque waist and full, tea-length skirt. Each carried a single, longstem white rose tied with wine ribbons.

Jon Fleitman of Muenster, groom's brother, was best man. Groomsman were Sam Fleitman of College Station, groom's brother, and Stephen Schmitt of Tyler, bride's brother.

Ushers were Steve Trubenbach of Muenster, friend of the couple;

Kevin Wolf of Gainesville, bride's cousin; and Greg Zimmerer of Lindsay, groom's cousin.

Mass servers were Jackie Wolf and Jory Wolf, bride's cousins, and Scott Hermes, groom's cousin.

Wedding music was presented by Ruth Felderhoff, organist, and Christy Hesse of Muenster and Amber Anderson, friend of the couple of Whitesboro, vocalists. Selections were "Let Me Be There" and "We've Only Just Begun" before Mass; "Sunrise, Sunset" as the mothers entered; the "Theme from Thornbirds" for the bridesmaids' processional; Clarke's "Trumpet Voluntaire" as the bride entered; "Only God Could Love You More" as the couple lit the Unity candle; "May Your Lives Be Blessed" during Offertory; "Household of Faith and There Is Love" during Communion; "Hail Mary, Gentle Woman" at Mary's altar; and "Trumpet Tune" as the recessional.

The wedding liturgy included Readings and Petitions by Paula Yosten, bride's cousin, and Lisa Hamric, a friend of the couple. Offertory gifts were carried to the altar by Mary Ann Hess and Marcella Zimmerer, groom's aunts, and Doris Penny and Gene Hartman, bride's aunt and uncle.

Eucharistic Ministers were Alvin and Joanie Hartman, bride's aunt and uncle; Georgia Wolf, bride's aunt; Kitty Hermes, groom's cousin; Laurie Rohmer, groom's cousin; Edna Tompkins, bride's aunt; and Nancy Dobbs, groom's cousin. The ceremony and reception were taped by the bride's aunt, Judy Hartman.

Church decorations included arrangements of white gladioli with wine bows, with candelabra on the altar; English ivy with white bows and lighted votive candles on the communion rail, and white bows with greenery marking center aisle pews.

RECEPTION

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center, by parents of the bride and groom for more than 400 guests who were registered by Christy Yosten, bride's cousin, and Amy Walterscheid, a friend of the couple.

Dinner was catered by the Hermes Sisters of Lindsay. The deejay was George Spaeth. Jack and Diane Bonczynski of Baytown led the grand march.

Decorations in the reception area included a large three-tiered center ornament suspended from the ceiling, predominantly white, with a floral arrangement, strands of pearls cascading from the top tier and bridal figurines in the third tier. A wall decoration behind the main table held two hearts inscribed with the couple's names, wine ribbons and bows, all on a sheer white background.

The bride's three-tiered white angel food cake, made by Mickey Spaeth, with a scalloped third tier, tall dividers and Precious Moments musical bride and groom, was decorated with wine flowers, greenery and strands of pearls. The top tier held the throw-away bouquet. The cake was cut with a knife used by the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hartman, on their golden wedding day, and used by grandchildren since.

The groom's cake was made and cut by Charlotte Dangelmayr. The three-tier chocolate cake, with pineapple filling between layers, was decorated in a fireman theme, fire truck with ladders and hoses going up tiers, and a miniature house on top with a smoking chimney (effect of dry ice). The cake was cut with a silver knife given to Doug on his 13th birthday by his grandmother, Mrs. Bruno Fleitman.

Cake servers were Dobe Fleitman, Donna Lester, Kate McCrimmon, groom's cousins; Laura Hall, Andrea Hall, Holly Hartman, Shawna Halbert, Dana Fedor, bride's cousins; assisted by Jannet Fleitman, Kathy Creed, Pat Yosten and Georgia Wolf.

The bride and groom rode from church to the reception on the back of a fire truck driven by Fire Chief Herbie Knabe. The groom is a member of the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department.

Special guests at the wedding were Mrs. Victor (Margaret) Hartman, bride's grandmother; and Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Fleitman and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Hermes Sr., groom's grandparents.

The rehearsal dinner at The Center Restaurant on July 30 featured entertainment by Dan McCrimmon, groom's uncle from Littleton, Colorado.

Couple exchange vows Aug. 7 in Sacred Heart Church

The bride is the daughter of Damien and Carra Lou Moster. She is a 1992 graduate of Sacred Heart High School and has attended Cooke County College. She will attend Nursing School in the fall of 1994.

The groom is the son of Thomas and Rosemary Dankesreiter. He is a graduate of Muenster High School, Cooke County College and a 1993 graduate of Texas Tech University and will attend Texas Tech Law School in the fall.

In a setting created by pyramid andandelabra in the sanctuary, white alla lilies on the altar, especially dorned candelabra holding the Unity candle and the bride and groom's baptismal candles, with English ivy and pink votive candles in the communion rail, the bride was presented at the altar by her father.

She was wearing a white satin Mori Lee bridal gown styled with a avishly beaded sweetheart bodice, tassel waist, V-back and Elizabethan sleeves, with white self-fabric roses on the shoulders. The skirt and full cathedral train were adorned with beads, sequins and lace cutouts. Her veil was a crown of beaded baby's breath with a small ouffant in the back made of tulle. She carried a bouquet of fully-opened white roses and small uschia roses and greenery, with her first Communion rosary entwined.

For tradition and sentiment, she wore a wedding ring belonging to her paternal grandmother, Elizabeth Moster, and a wedding ring belonging to her late maternal grandmother, Florence Pagel. She wore a strand of pearls, gift from the groom and the traditional blue sarter; and she carried a special gift to the bride from the groom's parents, a rosary from St. Peter's Basilica.

Preceding the ceremony, mothers of the couple approached the altar to light the baptismal candles awaiting the Unity candle. Before the final blessing, both sets of parents joined the couple at the altar, placing hands upon their shoulders, as a sign of unity.

RECEPTION

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center, hosted by parents of the couple for 250 guests, with catering by Rohmer's Restaurant. Guests danced to music by David Muller's Disco from Myra.

Karen Hermes of Woodbine and Rhonda Pagel of Muenster secured guest signatures in the bride's book, at a table covered with white lace over pink from the groom's grandmother. The table also held the bride's picture, a ceramic dove and a music box.

The bride's table was covered with white lace, edged with woodrose ribbon, with accents of fresh ivy. Also on the table were a pair of silver candelabra and arrangements of woodrose, pink and navy flowers on wooden sweetheart candleholders. The bride's bouquet and bridesmaids' flowers complemented decorations.

Lattice on the wall behind the table, white pillars covered with tulle, topped with baskets of pink and navy flowers, baby's breath and ivy, were highlighted by a pair of grapevine sweetheart wreaths decorated with woodrose and navy blue ribbons, gypsophila, butterflies and phlox blossoms and tulle. Centering the lattice was a woodrose banner, carrying the couple's names. Miniature lights shone through behind the lattice for a beautiful effect.

Guest tables, covered with white, were centered with navy blue ribbon, with scattered potpourri and pink wooden sweetheart candleholders.

The cheese table was skirted with white lace and held navy blue corner bows, a wine fountain, special cheeses, nuts and crackers. Pink candles in votive cups were added accents.

A picture table held the couple's engagement and wedding pictures; and a special ornament made by the groom's sister, Dana Walterscheid, was a bride and groom bear couple on a decorated wicker love seat. Above was hung a wedding rattan wreath made by the groom's mother. Bridesmaids' and altar flowers were made by Bouquets and Gifts. All decorations for the celebration were made by the groom's mother and his sister, Dana.

The bride's three-tiered wedding cake was made by Betty Rose Walterscheid and decorated with light pink roses, cupids, baby's breath, standing over a lighted fountain. Betty Rose cut the cake. The chocolate groom's cake was decorated with a Texas Tech emblem and was cut by Dana Walterscheid, groom's sister. Cake servers were Loren Hermes, Amy Pagel, Jennifer Hermes and Kristen Dickerson.

Special guests at the wedding were Theresa Hermes of Lindsay, groom's grandmother; and Lawrence Dankesreiter, groom's grandfather. Illness prevented the attendance of Elizabeth Moster, bride's grandmother.

Saint Jo Opry set for Aug. 14

The Saint Jo Opry August Show will be held Saturday, Aug. 14, in the school auditorium beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Two special guests, in addition to the regulars, will appear on the show. Billy Pribble of Fort Worth will be performing some of Hank Williams' classic hits. He has performed on stage in the Ryman Auditorium in Nashville, at the Oklahoma City Opry, the Mesquite Opry and many other shows in the Metroplex.

Also appearing will be Cindi Johnson of Garland, Texas. She performed briefly at last month's Opry and thrilled the crowd. She also is a regular performer in the Dallas area.

The PTO will be serving concessions. A $2.00 admission is charged, with proceeds going to Montague and Cooke County Volunteer Fire Departments and EMS Departments, as well as other community organizations.

About your pictures...

The Muenster Enterprise makes a sincere effort to protect pictures brought in for use in the newspaper, and expects the owners to return later to pick up their pictures. It sometimes happens that the owners forget for a long time. It also sometimes happens that well-meaning or accommodating relatives and friends volunteer to "take along an extra picture," fully intending to get that picture back to its original owner. Sadly, sometimes they mislay, forget or actually lose the item. And sometimes memory fails all of us, resulting in hurt feelings or angry accusations. It will therefore be the future policy here at The Muenster Enterprise to release pictures to immediate family members only. Exceptions may be made in rare instances only if the person claiming the picture will sign for it.

"In this kind of weather, wouldn't a heat pump be the last thing I need?"

A name like "heat pump" might be a little confusing, but here in Texas it makes a lot of sense.

In summer, the heat pump pumps heat out of your house and replaces it with cool air.

In winter, it uses the solar heat trapped in the earth's atmosphere to keep your house warm and comfortable, even on the coldest days.

Which means you save on energy, natural resources and your monthly bill.

Any more questions?
Your heat pump dealer has the answers.

Gainesville hosts Art Show Aug. 13 - 15

The "Where the South Meets the West" Art Show in Gainesville Aug. 13 through 15 at the Gainesville Civic Center will feature a number of guest artists, principally among them is Buck Taylor. He is known to his many fans as "Newly" of "Gunsmoke", a long-running western TV series.

BUCK TAYLOR

In the film industry, he is one of a very few who can ride, shoot, do stunts and then paint a picture about it. Truly, multi-talented, he competed for the Olympics as a gymnast. In spite of all his other talents, Taylor turned his attention to an Art Institute where he won a scholarship. Still pursuing his interest in Western films, his big break came when he played a "bad guy" on the top-rated "Gunsmoke." The producers liked what they saw and asked the man who could ride, rope, shoot and paint in real life to try out for the part as the town blacksmith.

Still active as an actor, Taylor participates in fundraising events such as celebrity rodeos and has found renewed fame as a much-sought-after artist who does water colors and acrylics of cowboys, Indians and horses. He was inducted into the Cowboy Hall of Fame and is currently filming on "Tombstone," a major motion picture, where he portrays Wyatt Earp's Deputy U.S. Marshal.

It Was News Then...

50 YEARS AGO Aug. 6, 1943
Local draft boards will call up pre-Pearl Harbor fathers after Oct. 1 but only to meet monthly quotas. Ice shortage is experienced here as home consumers are rationed to only 25 lbs. per day for ice boxes. The two Gainesville ice plants are running at full capacity and ice is shipped from other cities as demand is doubled since 1942. Coffee rationing appears near an end - attributed to increased shipping space and greater success against U-boats. Mrs. Mathilda Hinzman, 71, dies in Lindsay. Governor Coke R. Stevenson urges Texans to return empty deposit bottles for re-use by civilians so that glass industry can concentrate on use by armed forces. Muenster City Council hears need for conservation of city water during peak demand. Soldiers on maneuvers from Camp Howze were permitted use, then discontinued when their demand exceeded the well's daily output.

Sam Biffle, Myra pioneer, dies at age 90. Dixie Drug Store opens Pharmacy Dept. VFW Flag Service donates $400 to Muenster Hospital and $200 to Jaycees. Rain measures .90 this week. Year's total is far below normal. Gloria Yosten, as Miss Gainesville, is in state finals for Miss Texas title. Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Weinzapfel are on month's tour of Europe - will also visit daughter and family, Juanita and David Bright and children in Germany. James Polk is new coach at MHS. New arrivals: Jimmy Jack Jr. for Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jack Biffle; a son for Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zimmerer; a daughter for Mr. and Mrs. Bill Metzler; a daughter for Mr. and Mrs. David Endres; a son for Mr. and Mrs. David Gilley; a daughter for Mr. and Mrs. William Koerner. 10 YEARS AGO Aug. 5, 1983
Phase 1 of lake project is underway, nearly four years after discussion on a city lake for Muenster began. Separate communications system allowing all units of the city to keep in touch with one another, replacing old CB units, is approved by City Council. Department of Public Safety in Texas and Cooke County begins DWI crackdown to reduce grim statistics. In the past year, between 400 and 450 accidents involving drunk drivers have occurred in Cooke County, according to DPS records. Moisture is zero and thermometer is near 100 degrees. Three local men - Ben Fleitman Jr., John Bartush and Ronnie Hess - are nominated to "Outstanding Young Men of America." Phil Endres home wins August "Yard of the Month." # Farm & Ranch

Family Land Heritage Applications available

The deadline is approaching to submit applications for the Texas Department of Agriculture's Family Land Heritage Program. The ceremony early in 1994 will mark the 20th anniversary of the program, which recognizes farms and ranches that have been in continuous production by the same family for at least 100 years.

The deadline for applications has been extended to Aug. 21, according to Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry. "We don't want any qualified applicants to miss out on the opportunity to be recognized in this program because you missed the deadline, so we encourage people to get their applications in as soon as possible."

In recognition of the anniversary year of the program, all 2,749 previous honorees will be invited to the ceremony in Austin. Other programs highlighting Texas history and agriculture will occur in conjunction with the ceremony.

Applications for the program are available through county judges and historical societies, as well as the department. In order for a farm or ranch to qualify for the program, it must be a minimum of 10 acres and take in receipts of at least $250 a year.

Applications may be obtained by writing to Bill Breese, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, TX 78711, or by calling Breese at 512-463-7517.

New tools/old assessment

A farmer always strives to keep down expenses. One of the biggest expenses he constantly has a look at is the cost of nutrients.

A producer is also under the gun to use nutrients safely.

So, needing to use crop nutrients efficiently to increase profits and carefully to protect the environment, any producer would welcome new technology that quickly and accurately allowed for in-field assessment of nutrient status.

Just such methods may be forthcoming, says Ray Lamond, Extension crop fertility specialist, Kansas State University.

"Because of nitrogen's dynamic nature, it is often the nutrient of most concern in crop production," says Lamond. "Too little can reduce crop yields; too much can be harmful to the pocketbook and the environment. When to apply is an equally important decision."

Growers commonly use soil and plant tissue testing to determine crop nitrogen availability, but analyses may require too much time and expense. Lamond says reliable in-field assessment tools could eliminate the turnaround time associated with current testing practices.

Agronomists are now evaluating in-field soil nitrate analysis kits and equipment and hand-held chlorophyll meters for determining plant nitrogen. It may be possible to use these tools to develop in-field crop nitrogen recommendations, says Lamond.

The market now offers several in-field nitrate kits and portable nitrate ion electrodes.

Researchers are comparing the soil nitrate levels identified by the new tools with levels identified by the traditional wet lab techniques. Results so far indicate the in-field nitrate test results correlate reasonably well with standard lab analyses, reports Lamond.

They are not as precise, however. Lamond says the in-field tests seem to determine soil nitrate fairly rapidly and accurately.

The chlorophyll meter can provide a rapid in-field method for estimating chlorophyll content by measuring the green color of the leaves. This portable hand-held device clamps over a plant leaf to give instant readings. Because nitrogen is a major component of chlorophyll, measuring chlorophyll could provide a way to determine nitrogen status in plants.

Obviously, plant variety, growth stage, lack of other nutrients, and other factors not necessarily related to nitrogen nutrition could affect chlorophyll levels. That could result in errors. However, says Lamond, "excellent correlation usually exists between chlorophyll meter readings and nitrogen status in several crops grown in the U.S."

Though this new equipment allows producers to get immediate information for making fertilizer decisions, more field testing across diverse environments must continue before agriculture can make a full evaluation, contends Lamond.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Late Season Pecan Insect Workshops

Probably one of the most damaging insects to pecans in the late season is the pecan weevil. Infestations are often localized and vary greatly within orchards and within a county. Adult weevils begin to emerge from the soil in August and feed on nuts in the water stage, causing them to drop. After the kernel has entered the dough stage, it is susceptible to egg laying and attack by pecan weevil larvae. These infested nuts remain on the tree while the developing larvae consumes the kernel. Full-grown larvae chew a round hole through the shell and emerge from the nut in late fall or early winter.

Dr. Allen Knutson, Extension Entomologist, has developed a very simple trapping system using large intertubes and old sprinkler tubing. Allen will be at the workshops to discuss the various pests including the weevil, hickory shuckworm and other destructive pecan insects. Producers wishing to build their own weevil trap should plan to bring a used large truck tube or tractor tube. Some sprinkler hose will be available for you to build the weevil trap. This trap has proven much more successful in recent years than the old cone trap method of catching weevils.

Two workshops will be held on Wednesday, Aug. 18. Times and locations are:

2 p.m., Bayer Farm, Hwy. 82 in Muenster across from Kountry Korner.

5:30 p.m., George Schmidkofer Pecan Farm, approximately 1 mile north of Hwy. 82 (at skating rink) on County Road 131.

Drought Symptoms on Plants

The most common symptom of drought injury is dying around margins of leaves with the dead leaf tissue between veins toward the midrib. Areas 1/4 to 1/2 inch wide along veins are the last to become desiccated.

Drought injury can occur naturally or it may be induced by man. Natural drought injury occurs when there is an inadequate supply of soil moisture available to the plant. A deficiency of water affects the marginal leaf tissue more than other parts of the plant which results in a partial or complete collapse of the cells. Prolongation of this state results in the death of feeder roots and, therefore, recovery of the plant to the normal condition is slow.

Man-made drought injury occurs when roots have been damaged mechanically or when there is an excessive accumulation of salt in the soil. Salt accumulation can develop by using irrigation water containing salts or by the use of excessive rates of inorganic fertilizers. High salt concentrations in the soil solution reduces water absorption by root hairs. In time, the osmotic pressure (pull) in the soil becomes greater than that in the cells of the roots and under such conditions the net movement of water is from the roots into the soil. This can occur even though there is abundant moisture in the soil. This phenomenon is frequently referred to as "reverse osmosis."

Root pruning will also cause drought symptoms to occur. Cuts or fills made while installing curbs or other masonry structures may cause root pruning. The construction of driveways, patios and other masonry or asphalt structures near or around trees will interfere with the exchange of gases around the root system and result in root pruning. Excessive amounts of fill soil around a tree or other plants causes this same type of root pruning due to poor aeration. When it becomes necessary to build patios or driveways near shade trees, care should be taken to prevent mechanical root pruning and also provisions should be taken to incorporate a tile system in the structure to permit proper aeration.

Hopefully, the rain will come soon and we can relieve some of the drought symptoms.

Public hearing on EIA Aug. 16

The Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC) will hold a public hearing with North Texas horse owners, enthusiasts and veterinarians at 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 16, in Denton to gain input for animal health regulations regarding Equine Infectious Anemia (EIA). The meeting will be held at the North Texas State Fair Grounds. The grounds are located 1/4 mile north of the intersection of Highway 380 and Carol Blvd.

For more information, call TAHC in Austin at 512-479-6697.

Houston 4-H Calf Scramble

Any 4-H'er who is interested in participating in the 1994 Houston Livestock Show 4-H Calf Scramble, contact Shellie Jupe at the Extension office at 668-5412. Requirements for entering the 4-H Calf Scramble are as follows: Participants must have reached their 18th birthday, but not their 19th birthday, on or before Aug. 1, 1994, and not be enrolled beyond their junior year in high school; and participant's maximum weight should not be less than 100 pounds and they should be in top physical condition.

Those 4-H'ers catching a calf can win either a beef or dairy heifer of their choice. Also, very important - a 4-H'er who has previously won a calf in the scramble contest is eligible to participate in the 1994 Calf Scramble.

Again, if you are interested, contact the Extension Office before Aug. 25, 1993.

State Fair Entries Due

4-H'ers who are interested in entering their animal in the State Fair, come by the office to get an entry card and pay fees. The entries are due Aug. 20 in the County Extension Office.

Perry alerts farmers of So. Carolina hay need

Answering a call from drought-stricken farmers in South Carolina, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry is asking Texas farmers with extra hay to consider selling to those in South Carolina. That state has lost nearly $2 million worth of crops to the drought, and the South Carolina Department of Agriculture has established a hay and feed hotline to connect farmers with hay to sell with those that need it. That number is 1-800-896-3694.

Perry noted that some areas of Texas are not allowed to ship hay out of state because of a fire ant quarantine. He said farmers should call their local Agricultural Extension Office to find out if their county is included in the quarantine. To talk to someone at TDA, contact Katie Dickie, special assistant to the commissioner for producer relations, 512-463-7593.

Texas Ranch Roundup Aug. 20-22

Ag News Briefs...

The food service industry accounts for 35 to 40% of beef consumed in the U.S. 51% of the beef served by restaurants is eaten at lunch, 44% is consumed at dinner.

To report an unsafe consumer product or a product-related injury, consumers can call the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission's toll-free hotline at 1-800-638-2772.

Five positive cases of screwworms in cattle were confirmed this spring in Mexico, continuing the outbreak which began there more than a year ago.

Screwworm eradication program officials were disappointed when the cases were confirmed in April, May and June. After six months with no cases, officials were hoping that the outbreak that began more than a year ago had finally subsided.

The screwworm and its flesh-eating larvae have been the scourge of the livestock industry for generations, accounting for $250 million in annual losses in the United States during the 1950 and 1960s. Texas has not had an active screwworm case since August 1982.

Regionally-based cattle producers who are expecting prices to rise significantly because of greater-than-normal wintertime death losses in the calf crop probably will be disappointed.

The price effect of the death loss should be positive, but the magnitude is not likely to be great.

Excessive death losses in regional cow-calf operations will not cause a significant reduction in the nation's total calf crop. With the total calf crop remaining relatively unchanged, cattle prices are not expected to rocket upwards.
