by Elaine Schad
Tuesday is primary election day across the state of Texas, as voters will select candidates in primaries from the local level all the way up to the governor's office in order to set the ballot for November's general election.

A large number of local races are being contested in the Cooke County Democratic Primary. Evelyn Walterscheid, assistant county clerk, is running unopposed in her bid for the County Clerk's seat. County Clerk Frank Scoggins has decided not to seek re-election. Mrs. Walterscheid's name was inadvertently omitted from an election story in last week's edition of The Enterprise.

County Commissioners still considering ambulance service

by Elaine Schad
Cooke County Commissioners this week deferred action and discussion on taking proposals for private ambulance service in Cooke County until after the March 8 election.

Cooke County Judge Ray Russell abruptly recommended that the court take no action on the agenda item, which would have discussed the feasibility of requesting proposals for private ambulance service. Russell said recent letters to the editor and other sources had insinuated that the agenda item may have surfaced due to political motives, so he felt it would be best to defer any discussion of the item until after Tuesday's primary election. Russell, Precinct 2 Commissioner Kenneth Alexander and Precinct 4 Commissioner Virgil Hess are seeking re-election to the commissioners court.

The ambulance issue has been a hot item of discussion for years, mainly because it is one of the most expensive line items in the county budget. Proposals have been made over the years to turn the ambulance service over to a private company, but Cooke County remains as one of the few counties in the state of Texas to retain a county-run ambulance service. The county had budgeted $164,000 to place an additional ambulance and personnel in service by April as well as renovate the ambulance station at a cost of $25,000. That was all put on hold, however, following last month's successful rollback election.

Commissioners have also decided that the ambulance service will not accept out-of-county transfer requests from local hospitals, regardless of whether they are emergency requests. Cooke County representatives joined officials from Denton, Fannin, Grayson and Wise counties in December met with the East Texas Medical Service to gather information about private ambulance services.

In an unrelated matter, commissioners delayed action on a request from Cooke County Sheriff Joe Nichols that the county grant a sheriff's department request for an additional employee and equipment. Russell said Nichols is seeking possible federal funding sources for the request.

Bob Summers from Government Records, Inc., addressed the court requesting that his company expand their project of preserving county records. The company has been contracted with the county at a cost of $2,500 to preserve the records of the County Clerk's Office according to regulations set down by the Texas State Library, which requires that all records be in accordance with those regulations no later than January 1995. Summers said his company does an inventory and assesses all records, does all record scheduling, submits all pertinent data to the state and then makes recommendations to the county for efficient records management. Summers said his company would do all county offices, such as the district clerk, justice of the peace, commissioners court, for $1,000 per office. Commissioner Virgil Hess estimated it would cost about $12,000 to do the remaining county offices.

County Clerk Frank Scoggins said there was money collected through fees in his office that is designated for record preservation, but he thought that money could only be used for the county clerk's office. County Auditor Gloria Parrish estimated the fund has accumulated $55,000 over the last three years. Judge Russell then deferred the item, saying the court had to make sure the money could be used for the other departments before making a final decision. Commissioners are asking for recommendations from elected officials on how to solve the parking problem on the west side of the courthouse. Renovation is underway to convert three parking spaces into two handicapped spaces. With the renovation, parking spaces for some elected officials have been eliminated.

Cooke County Tax Assessor-Collector Joyce Zwinggi addressed the court about past problems with some people parking all day in the one handicapped space that had been provided. She also asked if there was consideration being made to a proposal to make all the parking spaces on the west side of the courthouse public parking. Commissioner Kenneth Alexander said the county would probably have to seek an interlocal agreement with the city of Gainesville to enforce any 20-minute public parking. Judge Russell said he was unsure whether a time limit could be placed on handicapped parking.

In other business, commissioners: --Sold a surplus 1982 F-700 dump truck from Precinct 2 to the high bidder Mike Beasley of Lewisville.

--Approved a resolution designating March as American Red Cross Month in Cooke County.

CCC Trustees say name change must be "in best interest of college"

"This board would not even consider approving a proposal to change the college's name unless we were convinced, without any qualification, that to do so would be in the best interest of the college and would serve a positive, fully justifiable purpose."

So said Urban Endres, chairman of the Cooke County College Board of Trustees, following a regular monthly board meeting last week at which the matter was discussed at length. He said the issue will likely be put to a formal vote at the trustees' next meeting on March 28. This next regular meeting is scheduled a week later than normal to allow for a week of preparation following the return from spring break, set for the week of March 14-18.

Earlier in the Monday night meeting, college trustees heard formal reports on the work of a special 31-member Citizens Advisory Committee formed several weeks ago to provide input and recommendations for strengthening the college and securing its future in the region.

Charles Draper, committee chairman, said he made it very clear to all committee members from the Republican Party to hold Precinct Conventions March 8

Following the Tuesday, March 8 Republican Party Primary Election, each Republican Precinct will hold their respective Party Precinct Conventions.

The purpose of these conventions is to:

- * Elect officers of the convention
- * Elect delegates to attend the county convention
- * Consider resolutions to build the Party Platform.

Anyone who voted in the Republican Party Primary may attend these conventions. You must attend the one being held where you voted. For example, if you voted in the Republican Party Primary in Precinct 17, you would attend the convention held there after the polls close. Please try to type or neatly handwrite your resolutions before the convention.

The Republican Party Cooke County Convention will be held March 26 at the Chamber of Commerce in Gainesville, beginning at 10 a.m. The purpose of the County Convention is:

- * Elect officers of the convention
- * Elect delegates to attend the State Convention
- * Consider resolutions to build the Party Platform.

The Republican State Convention will be held June 10-11 at the Tarrant County Convention Center in Fort Worth.

Muenster's Precincts 17 and 18 will hold their conventions at 7:15 p.m. at the polling places. The rest of the County's Republican Party Conventions will be held at the voting places at 7:30 n.m.

outset that the committee's work "was not about a name change" and that this issue was to be addressed only as it might relate peripherally to other, broader issues.

Working independently, however, all three subcommittees - on instructional programs, on legislative affairs and on marketing - strongly urged in their final reports that the CCC trustees seriously consider changing the college's name to more accurately reflect the kind of regionally-important institution it has become in recent years.

Furthermore, reported Charles Woolfolk, chairman of the citizen subcommittee on legislative affairs, unless the college takes a proactive approach to "asserting its presence and securing its place" throughout its service area - and particularly along the I-35 corridor south through Denton County - statutory regulations of workforce training programs has the potential to seriously undermine CCC's future there.

He pointed specifically to the so-called "local workforce development planning areas" set up under Senate Bill 642, a recently-passed law which creates a new state agency with broad authority over the delivery of workforce training by colleges and other providers in a given geographic region. CCC has been placed in a planning area with Grayson and Fannin counties, with neither of the two other counties (Montague and Denton) in CCC's traditional service area included.

"This obviously means Denton and Montague counties are in some other workforce development area," Woolfolk said, "and it certainly places this college in a different and confusing situation. It isn't clear right now how much this might put our programs in these counties at risk, but we feel the potential for losing ground is definitely there unless the college clearly and vigorously demonstrates its commitment to continue serving these counties."

One factor that could hasten such change, he added, is that Senate Bill 642 also creates a much more competitive environment in which community colleges like CCC will have to operate, and he said the going will be tough for schools that don't boost their appeal and inspire loyalty among potential students in the particular geographic region they claim to serve.

"The key, as we see it," Woolfolk said, "is to do everything possible to promote the feeling among potential students - as well as business and industry clients - throughout the college's traditional service area, and particularly along the I-35 corridor, that this truly is 'their' community college. Adopting a new name that incorporates a broader geographical reference than just Cooke County would certainly be an important step in that direction."

Both the college trustees and administration agreed that many citizens probably just aren't aware that roughly half of the college's 4,000-plus students are attending classes at extension sites in Denton County.

"These students support a lot of jobs at our campus here in Cooke County," Dr. Ronnie Glasscock, CCC president, said. "They bring a very significant amount of state and federal dollars into the county and they support high-cost instructional programs, such as nursing, that the college probably couldn't offer without them. Close to 90 percent of the hundreds of 'slots' needed by our nursing students to do their clinical training are at hospitals and clinics and nursing homes in Denton County."

Woolfolk added that local citizens probably also need to be reminded that students attending classes at out-of-county extension sites pay higher tuition and fees to offset operational costs there and that no local tax dollars go outside the county to support these extension programs - for the simple reason that such use of local tax revenues is prohibited by state law.

Implicit in all the recommendations was a strong and unanimous urging by subcommittee members that a new name should contain a very direct and accurate reference to the specific geographic region served by the college. "North Central Texas College" emerged as one of the front-runners after trustees reviewed and discussed a list of possibilities compiled by the administration and faculty following extensive research, including informal polls of both students and citizens.

Endres stressed that even though the name North Central Texas college is receiving strong consideration, other variations are still under consideration, and no final choice has been made.

Other names given consideration ranged from "Red River College" to "Cross Timbers College" to "Gateway College." The trustees agreed that many of these names "have a nice ring to them" but decided most were too esoteric or geographically vague to have much real value in regard to identifying the college with a specific and widely-recognized region of the state that also coincides with the college's traditional service area.

Glasscock also reported to the trustees that in a number of classes in which he and other administrators have talked to students about the Good News!

Jesus then called them together and said, "You know how those who exercise authority among the Gentiles lord it over them; their great ones make their importance felt. It cannot be like that with you. Anyone among you who aspires to greatness must serve the rest, and whoever wants to rank first among you must serve the needs of all."

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

The League of Women Voters have recently had a forum of county contested races, which was very enlightening. They have also included, as a supplement, a Voter's Guide for those races that are statewide, which again, was very enlightening. But, in all of this, they have failed to address the contested races that affect us directly that are VERY IMPORTANT - the U.S. Representative Race, District 4, the U.S. Representative Race, District 13, the State Senator, District 30, and the State Representative District 61. These are all races that are contested in the Republican Primary, and affect our pocketbook, schools and values that we hold important.

The U.S. Representative 13 race has Wayne Collins, Flavious Smith, William M. (Mac) Thornberry, all vying to take on in the fall Bill Sarpalius, who, if our good people of Cooke County will recall, cast the deciding vote on the Bill Clinton budget. Mr. Sarpalius has no opponent in the primary. The other Congressional race, District 4, has David L. Bridges and Tim McCord, the winner will be running against Congressman Ralph Hall in the November election. Both of these young men think it is time for a change and will run hard for that spot.

And what about Steve Carrier, State Senator, District 30? Tom Haywood and Doyle High are running for that spot, and last time Haywood almost beat Carrier - he did take Cooke County - and it is a hot race right now. People are tired of the liberal viewpoints in our legislature. Carrier has no primary opposition.

And then we have another contested Republican race with State Representative District 61, David Kubosh and Ric Williamson. The Democrats don't have a contested race.

Surely, the State Board of Education, District 14 is important. With all the concerns about our schools, books and what values are being taught today, the Republicans offer a choice of Leland Dysart and Richard Watson. The Democrats' race is uncontested.

It is time to wake up and realize that Cooke County and the Republican Party are offering Conservative alternatives, and as Conservative as this County votes in the General Elections, it is time to vote Conservative and make choices in the Republican Primary - we are offering you those choices. We are running excellent candidates for the local races - ones that you can feel good about voting for in the Primary.

Get out and vote March 8 - vote in the Republican Primary!

Letter to the Editor:

I sincerely hope the good citizens of our community who vote in the Democratic Primary next Tuesday, March 7, are not persuaded to vote for René Hass, because of her trashy negative campaign material and accusations against Supreme Court Justice Raul Gonzalez. Raul Gonzalez has been endorsed by many fine Texas organizations, including the Farm Bureau and the Civil Justice League.

René Hass is a hand-picked candidate of the Texas Trial Lawyers Association. The Trial Lawyers Assn. is a greedy group of lawyers who are a major reason why your health and auto insurance premiums are increasing every year. They make their money filing multi-million dollar lawsuits against doctors, businesses and insurance companies. You end up paying for their lavish lifestyle through higher insurance premiums. Raul Gonzalez has taken a more reasonable and balanced position on liability lawsuits and is now the target of the Trial Lawyers Assn.

A vote for Raul Gonzalez is just good common sense.

Dear Editor:

With the election just a few days away, I want to express my support for Doyle High for State Senator in the Republican Primary.

Doyle is from my hometown of Haskell and is a respected businessman and pharmacist. He and his wife Roberta own the Drug Store in Haskell. I have known Doyle for 20 years and know him to be a hard working, honest Texan.

A land owner, Doyle is strong in his belief of property rights. He'll vote against taxes and work to cut fat from the budget. Doyle is a supporter of tort reform and is strong on fighting crime. And, he is a strong supporter of term limits for public officials.

But more importantly, Doyle has the vision and vitality to be a hard working State Senator.

If you know Doyle, you know he is the kind of man you will be proud to have in the State Senate representing the 30th Senatorial District.

I hope you will cast your vote for Doyle High on Tuesday, March 8.

Best personal regards,
Rick Perry

To the Editor:

In early 1989, the Commissioners Court of Cooke County decided to "farm-out" the Emergency Medical Service to private enterprise as a way to increase their coffers without raising taxes. Well, as it turned out, it would have cost more to provide EMS by contracting with a private company. Surprise! Surprise! Why would anyone believe it could cost less to hire a company to provide a service that you can provide yourself? Again, we are faced with an attempt for privatization of our ambulance service by certain members of the Commissioners Court who just happen to be running for re-election after receiving a stunning defeat at attempting to substantially increase the County budget, without complete disclosure.

With the rollback election being successful, members of the Court are currently declaring to do away with an excellent service provided to the citizens and replace it with a "for-profit company" that will undoubtedly cost the County more, which will cost the taxpayers more. The fact is, the Commissioners Court could not justify the 26% tax increase they had voted by saying an additional three-quarters of a million dollars plus was necessary this year to add an ambulance when they could only show a $167,000 cost to add that ambulance.

I urge all citizens to carefully watch what transpires over the next few weeks and months and carefully scrutinize the figures that are reported. Another less-than-factual contrivance may well be on the horizon.

Sincerely,
Merle Shinpoch

Memories of 1941-44...

50 Years Ago in WWII

Muenster residents, not unlike other Americans in 1941-44 experienced the same fears, loneliness and crushing losses, overshadowed by the blessings of pride and patriotism.

Pride, patriotism and prayer came as healing graces to support and guide families and their young men. In respectful memory, and in observance of the 50th anniversary 1944-1994, we are requesting stories and memories from relatives to be printed as special features in The Muenster Enterprise. Several relatives have called to say their stories are not quite complete but will be forthcoming. We appeal for more responses in succeeding weeks, from parents, or brothers, or sisters, or friends, to honor the young men who served. Response from readers, young and old, has been gratifying.

"Civic Outlook"

by Mayor Bill Miller

It was a long six-months' wait and, finally, we have word from Austin about the water well grant. We came in 10th place and will not receive funding this year, but have the option to reapply next year. A big setback for us happened when two of the 12 board members were missing when we presented our application in Pottsboro. It was fate, I guess, because those two were from Cooke County and we needed the extra 20 points they could have given us to put us in first place.

Now that we have gone through the grant process and know where we can improve our points to make a higher score next year, we would be wise to try again. I have been advised that next year we could apply for the water well and elevated storage tank together in one grant because the total package would bring our water system into compliance with state rules and regulations.

Next year, Texoma staff expects to receive enough money to fund grants for eight to ten cities. Whereas, this year only four cities received grants. The number one priority of the federal government in providing grants to cities for community revitalization was to help bring cities and towns into compliance with the state rules and regulations. During the early 1960s, the government established standard rules for municipal water and sewer systems. Due to the high cost of implementing these improvements, most cities could not afford to make the changes. The government then established grants to help bring cities into compliance.

In 1971, the City of Muenster received a letter from the Texas Water Commission, stating that we were not in compliance with the state water system regulations. Time passes, and throughout the past 23 years, we have gotten by during summer peak water usage times by depending on water rationing.

Hopefully, with the City Council's cooperation, we will reapply for the total package and finally bring the water system into compliance.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
It is my firm belief that President Clinton's Socialized Medical Program will completely destroy the lifestyle of the small towns throughout America. How? By destroying the small businessman who is now barely hanging on.

For those of you who are not aware of the small businessman's problems, let me list some of them for you! He pays 100% of his own social security tax, 50% of each of his employees' social security tax, 100% of his income tax (from his profits ... when there are profits), inventory tax, rent, school tax, county tax - or city tax if he owns his building ... he pays all of these taxes! Add to that insurance, utilities, employees' salaries and miscellaneous overhead! President Clinton says his socialized medical program will cost "about $980.00 per year, per employee." The businessman's own government, under Clinton's plan, will call on him to take from his "profit" 80% of the socialized health care plan cost, per employee, per year! This may very well be "the straw that breaks the camel's back!"

Throughout the United States, small businessmen will be dropping like flies. When there is no more small businessmen in the small towns, there will be no reason to go and shop there. If you live in a small town or city, it will change your lifestyle like you can't imagine. President Clinton and his wife Hillary do not realize this. Do you know why?

President Clinton and his wife do not know what it is like to be a small business person. All they have ever been is college students, lawyers and politicians. None of these experiences have taught them what it is like to meet a company or business payroll each week. In fact, I sincerely doubt if either or both could run a popcorn machine on the street corner and show a profit!

How do I know what I am talking about? I'm 73 years of age. I have owned seven different businesses, starting each up from scratch and made a success out of each business, that's how! President Clinton's socialized health care plan won't cut it, folks, period!

How many of you good folks know what Nazi stands for in English? National Socialist Party. That's right, Uncle Adolph Hitler and his socialist party of Germany. Get you a good bite of it, folks, because this is what President Clinton is selling you under a different name!

Please, I call on all of you doctors ... don't just sit there and let it happen! "Joe Six-Pack" doesn't now, but you should know! You have the A.M.A., use it! I have nothing to fight with! I'll be calling in you again, folks, and you, too, doctor. If I am going down, I'll go down fighting!

I am glad I am 73 years of age. I may not be here when the greatest nation on earth falls to socialism, thank the good Lord. Just think, folks, Russia and Germany are coming out from under government control and we are going into it. What a joke! Capitalism and free enterprise are what made this the greatest nation on earth and now we're turning our backs on it! I do not say, "God Bless America!" now I say, "God Help America!"

Before closing, I have a question for you. Here in Sherman, we have the large Wilson N. Jones Hospital. I told you that in the morning at 6:00 a.m., Bill Clinton would be in complete and total control of all operations at Wilson N. Jones, including operations and the "whole all of wax," would you still go to that hospital? No? Why not? Because you want the hospital professionals to run it, and not a government bureaucrat! So do I!

Sincerely,

To the Editor:
As you and your readers know, over three months or more, I have been writing you about the falls and shortcomings of Bill Clinton's socialized medical "joke."
Now the news is out ... and a very respectable publication, The Leaders Digest, that tells it all, about socialized medicine in next month's March issue; title, "Your Risk Under Clinton's Health Plan."
When the public finds out about an article, the issues will go fast, dear friends, make that extra effort to get a copy or borrow one from your neighbor. It is your life and your health that is really at stake.

I have to brag a little, you will see a little of what H.K. Lyde believes in a lot of pages!

To the Editor:
Illegitimacy is the single most important social issue of our time. It is the driving force that causes drugs, crime, poverty, illiteracy, homelessness and hopelessness. The black population came apart at the seams in the 1960s when they reached 25% illegitimacy - today the white population illegitimacy is at 22%. According to a recent article by Paul Harvey, AFDC financed 1.2 million illegitimate births in the USA this past year. Children having children out of wedlock and being paid to do it. The only way to attack this cycle is to cut off the funds that sustain it. That is a must!

If you read "Questions raised about 19 children found in a filthy apartment in Chicago," you begin to see AFDC in its true light. Yes, you see what I mean by children programmed for failure - our future generation. Yes, even our future as a nation. How much illegitimacy can we stand and survive?

Society's message to a single woman should be: to have a baby that you cannot care for is irresponsible and the government will no longer finance it.

To the Editor:
It was March 2, 1836, when Texas' Founding Fathers gathered at Washington-on-the-Brazos for the signing of the Texas Declaration of Independence, marking a pivotal moment in history for anyone who has ever yearned to live free from the minions of tyranny and oppression.

On Wednesday, March 2, Texans will celebrate the 158th anniversary of this bold and courageous action made by brave patriots who served the Republic of Texas with distinction when the call to arms was sounded at places of honor like San Jacinto and the Alamo.

The Battle of San Jacinto was among the most significant battles in American history because it not only set Texas free, but set into motion a tide of irreversible events that brought the great Southwest into the Union.

Ultimately, 11 states, from Texas to California, joined the Union and fulfilled the dream of manifest destiny. In summing up that battle, which occurred on April 21, 1836, Texan Thomas Rusk, then Secretary of War for the Republic of Texas, wrote, "The unerring aim and irresistible energy of the Texas Army could not be withstood."

I hope your readers will take a moment to remember the gallant men and women who served the Republic of Texas with distinction; remember them for the freedom we enjoy today; remember them for making Texas the greatest of these United States of America.

Respectfully, issue, both here and at extension sites, a majority have indicated that they would much more readily feel a sense of pride in a college name reflecting the larger, more progressive and regionally-important school it actually is.

CCC-Denton Center Associate Dean Rusty Waller reported that many Denton students believe a new name would probably have a very positive effect on recruiting there, for the main campus as well as extension sites, because potential students could more easily relate to it as "their" community college.

According to Linda Mast, CCC dean of continuing education, the same principal applies in regard to the steadily-widening range of private business and industrial firms throughout the service area such as Boeing Electronics, Peterbilt, Texas Instruments and others seeking quality state-of-the-art workforce education and customized employee training from schools like CCC.

"We are obviously not the only providers in the region who could deliver this training," she said, "so image becomes very important. A new name would definitely help demonstrate that we are serious about serving the education and training needs of our entire service area's business and industrial community."

Glasscock strongly expressed his view that, despite all the talk of growth and "broadening of scope" and "regional commitment," one of CCC's most positive attributes has been its ability - despite an extraordinary 149 percent increase in enrollment since 1985 - to maintain a friendly, "small school" atmosphere, low student-teacher ratios and a high level of individualized instruction made possible by small classes.

"These things we have absolutely no intention of changing," he said, "but it's an indisputable fact that we are no longer the small, rural junior college we once were. We're playing in a much larger arena now,

Sen. Hutchison visits in Grayson County

U.S. Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison made a visit to Grayson County on Friday, Feb. 18. Senator Hutchison, accompanied by her husband Ray Hutchison, participated in the Dallas Cowboy Parade in the morning and was making a short campaign tour through North Texas. On hand to greet her at Grayson County Airport were Grayson County Republican Chairman Ron Clark and Cooke County Republican candidate for County Judge, Paul F. Hesse.

Senator Hutchison made a short speech in the airport terminal building to a group of supporters and the local media. Highlights of her speech covered the following topics:

- The Senator stated that she was happy to have the ethics trial over, that it was a trial that no one would want to have. But, she was glad that she stood up to it - so in the future it would be less likely that a candidate or office holder would be subject to something like this.

- She is helping sponsor legislation to have women working in the home be eligible for the $2,000 IRA (women working outside the home are currently eligible for the $2,000 IRA) instead of the current $250 IRA contribution and tax deduction.

- Senators Hutchison, Dole and others are working on the Balanced Budget Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

- The Senator cut her own staff by 20 percent and is trying to get others to cut their staffs by at least 7 percent.

- She is working with others to cut overall government bureaucracy.

- Senator Hutchison wants no more Somali's and does not want to cut the defense budget anymore, she said that we need a strong defense at all times.

Muenster slips in February sales tax rebate figures

The State Comptroller's office mailed $220 million in monthly sales tax rebates to 1,075 Texas cities and 111 counties, a 3.6 percent increase over payments of $212 million in February of last year.

"Local sales tax rebates for January and February are running more than 10 percent ahead of the first two months of 1993," Sharp reported. "Employment in the state is continuing its upward trend with a 1.9 percent increase over February 1993. Austin was second only to the Dallas metro area in most jobs."

Texas cities received $200 million, 4.2 percent above the $192 million delivered last February. Counties received a total of $20 million for their February rebates, down 1.8 percent from the February 1993 rebates of 20.3 million. This month's payments include taxes collected on December sales and reported by businesses filing monthly returns in January, quarterly returns for sales made in October, November and December, and yearly filings for 1993.

Cooke County cities all showed an increase in sales tax rebates received this February over February 1993 with the exception of Muenster. The check sent to Muenster this month was for $15,437.81, down 15.36 from the $18,241.01 received a year ago. To date in 1994 Muenster has received $23,308.93 in payments. This figure is 10.05 percent less than the $25,914.72 total payments to date for this time in 1993.

Gainesville's check for $228,319.93 was an increase of 22.22 percent from February '93. Total 1994 payments to date for the city, $369,255.05 show an increase of 30.72 percent from a year ago.

For Lindsay the February '94 check of $5,501.28 was an increase of 8.18 percent. This year's total payments to date is $9,146.63 a change of 5.43 percent.

Oak Ridge received an increase of 36.60 percent with its check for $3,969.22. Total 1994 payments to date, $7,214.79, is an increase of 21.65 percent from the 1993 total in February.

Valley View noted an increase of 15.71 percent with its February rebate check of $4,840.34. To date Valley View received $7,515.35 in 1994 rebate payments. This is up 30.26 percent from this time last year.

The total money sent to Cooke County cities this month, $258,068.58, is 18.80 percent more than was sent last February.

Cooke County received a check for $126,610.95, an increase of 15.14 percent over last February's $109,953.73. Total payments to date for Cooke County in 1994, $209,712.05, up 24.82 percent from that of a year ago.

Young Conservatives of Texas endorse Williamson

The Young Conservatives of Texas have endorsed the re-election of District 61 State Representative Ric Williamson (R) of Weatherford in the March 8 primary. The announcement was made during a recent press conference in Austin.

Representative Williamson, who is serving his fifth term in the Texas House of Representatives, was recognized as one of 35 House members to earn a position on the Young Conservatives of Texas Honor Roll. In making the announcement, State Chairman David Guenther noted the extensive work involved in producing the ratings. Members of the Honor Roll scored at least 92 out of a possible 100 on the YCT Index. This year, 25 votes were reviewed and scored as well as an overall rating for the entire season.

Upon receiving word of the endorsement, Representative Williamson stated, "I am very pleased and honored with the endorsement. The Young Conservatives of Texas has published ratings of the Texas Legislature continuously since 1975, longer than any other organization in the state. Their ratings are considered one of the most accurate and objective indicators of a legislator's philosophy. I am proud to be endorsed by this group."

Williamson has served on the House/Senate Budget Committee, the Health and Human Services Conference Committee and the Ways and Means Committee, among others.

Williamson and his wife, Mary Ann, have three daughters and live in rural Parker County, north of Weatherford.

Tax Cuts: Back in Vogue

By Edwin Feulner

If President Clinton's record 1993 tax increase of $262 billion wasn't bad enough, the Congressional Budget Office recently announced that his health-care plan will slap a $400 billion five-year tax on the U.S. economy.

This comes just as state governments across the country are rushing to lower their tax rates. The states say they have a very simple reason for doing this: to boost their economies and create jobs.

Obviously the states aren't swallowing Clinton's economic wisdom, which says the more money government confiscates from the American people for important "investments" (since when did pork-barrel spending become an investment?), the faster the economy will grow.

You'd think the debate over which approach spurs more economic growth — cutting taxes or raising them — would have been settled long ago. After all, isn't it obvious that every dollar the government takes out of our pockets is one less dollar we can spend on the things we want and need ourselves?

But since Washington still doesn't get it, perhaps it should look at a new study by Business Week, showing that during the last eight years states with low taxes have experienced dramatic job gains, while high-tax states have lagged behind.

The numbers are impressive. In the 10 states with the highest tax burdens, the number of jobs in the private sector has risen by just 13 percent since 1985. By contrast, the 10 states with the lowest tax burdens have seen private-sector employment rise by 22 percent during that same period. That means if two states, one high-tax and one low-tax, each had 1 million jobs in 1985, the high-tax state would have added 130,000 jobs while the low-tax state would have added 220,000 jobs, a 90,000-job edge.

That explains why state governments are jumping on the tax-cut bandwagon. Newly elected New Jersey Gov. Christine Todd Whitman, a Republican, campaigned on the promise of a 30 percent reduction in state income-tax rates. To prove her pledge wasn't empty campaign rhetoric (remember Clinton's middle-class tax cut?), Whitman called for a 5 percent cut on her first day in office. If the state legislature approves the proposed cuts, watch New Jersey add jobs by the thousands.

New Jersey's neighbor to the north, New York, has not only one of the most liberal administrations of any state, but the highest tax burden in the country. Yet even Democratic Gov. Mario Cuomo, politically to the left of Clinton, has conceded that only tax cuts can give his state an economic lift.

In Georgia, Democratic Gov. Zell Miller wants to cut income taxes by $100 million. In Massachusetts, Republican Gov. William Weld wants to cut income taxes by $270 million. In Washington state, Democratic Gov. Mike Lowry has pledged to cut taxes on high-tech industries to spur job growth.

Cutting taxes is such a surefire way to spark economic growth and create jobs that even the Clinton administration is pushing it — for Japan! Treasury Secretary Lloyd Bentsen — who last year said Clinton's tax hike would expand the U.S. economy — has been urging Japanese Prime Minister Morihiro Hosokawa to slash taxes to lift Japan out of recession.

Fortunately, Hosokawa recently succeeded in cutting Japan's income taxes by more than $50 billion after a bruising battle with socialists in the Japanese government.

Unfortunately, the socialists in our own government are tougher.

Robin Hacker seeks Precinct 4 JP position

Robin Hacker of Valley View is running for the position of Precinct 4 Justice of the Peace on the Republican ticket. She noted that she announced her candidacy based upon a desire to return honor and professionalism to the office.

Hacker has three sons and is married to Valley View native Frank Hacker who is a faculty member at Cooke County College and teaches Building Trades at Texas Youth Commission in Gainesville.

"I believe there are issues to be dealt with in a professional manner that are being neglected," said Hacker. "Given my background in nursing home administration, adult literacy in Cooke County, and my teaching experience with Valley View and Sanger ISD more than qualifies me to professionally perform the duties of this office."

In conclusion Robin Hacker said, "I will appreciate the privilege of serving the taxpayers in the honorable manner which the office merits."

Doyle High receives newspaper endorsements

Doyle High announced this week how pleased he was to have received several newspaper endorsements as well as the support from a broad range of other groups in his bid for the Republican nomination for State Senate Dist. 30. The district is larger than 10 individual states and about the same size as South Carolina. High expressed pleasure that the groups from all across the district agreed that he was a fiscal conservative and would be able to stand up to the liberals in Austin.

The Abilene Reporter-News, the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, the Iowa Park Leader and my hometown Haskell Free Press have all endorsed my candidacy and several other newspapers have indicated that they plan to endorse me this week," said High. "I'm also very excited to have received the endorsement of pro-business groups such as the National Federation of Independent Business, Texas Society of Public Engineers, Texas Pharmacy Association, Texas Restaurant Association, Texas Chiropractic Association, Texas Automobile Dealers Association and several others," said High.

"Other groups such as the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers and Texas Cattle Feeders have also endorsed our campaign," said High.

The Haskell candidate has been endorsed by Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry, Texas Republican Party Chair Fred Meyer, State Republican Party Executive Committee members Joe Wolfe of Sherman and Ramona Kennedy of Denton and various other Republicans across the sprawling district. High expressed excitement about the endorsements of the Republican officials since it is so unusual for them to get involved in a contested primary. "These party leaders have all told me they think I am the best qualified candidate and the only candidate that can defeat liberal incumbent Steve Carraker in the fall," said High.

Bush calls for abolition of mandatory supervision

Republican gubernatorial candidate George W. Bush recently called for the abolition of the release of criminals from state prisons through so-called "mandatory supervision." He made the announcement following a visit to the Headquarters of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice in Huntsville.

Unlike parole, under mandatory supervision, inmates are released from prison by a statutory formula and not by a decision of the Board of Pardons and Paroles. Inmates legally eligible for mandatory supervision are released when their calendar time served and their accrued good conduct time together equal their maximum sentence.

"When the Parole Board decides someone is a threat to society, that prisoner should serve all their time unless and until the Parole Board determines there's a reasonable chance the criminal may be safely released," Bush said. "The present mandatory supervision law gives some violent criminals a 'get out of jail free' card that they should be denied. Good time shouldn't be allowed to excuse a violent, dangerous past."

Henry B. Keene, current member and former chairman of the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles, supported Bush' position, saying, "As a conservative parole decision-maker, concerned with the safety of the general public, I believe the existing law authorizing the mandatory release of inmates from prison should be abolished in its entirety. It is not a partisan issue but rather what is best for the citizens of Texas."

Catholic Life will pay interest on escrows

At the end of 1994 Catholic Life Insurance will begin paying interest on its active home mortgage escrow accounts. This could possibly make it the only Texas lender offering the incentive.

Even though the offer took effect in January, its value won't be realized until the end of the year when the interest rate applicable to such accounts is declared, said J. Michael Belz president of the financial services firm based in San Antonio. Interest earned could be applied to the principal and consequently reduce monthly payments or the length of the mortgage.

Trust companies or banks hold money or securities in escrow accounts until terms of a contract are met. A typical mortgage is 30 years with the escrow money applied to real estate taxes (city, school district, etc. or for property insurance due).

Catholic Life officials couldn't say what the interest rate would be except that it would be conservative, dictated by market forces and similar to interest paid on passbook accounts at banks. The interest will be paid on Dec. 31.

The 93 year-old Catholic Life Company has about 850 eligible accounts totaling about $37 million. New mortgage borrowers would also be eligible for the deal.

Although escrow accounts through financial institutions aren't required by law, most institutions won't lend without them.

Not everyone would have access to the interest. To apply for such loans, Catholic Life's customers must hold a life insurance, individual retirement account, or annuity policy with Catholic Life.

Era ISD hears recommendations

by Elaine Schad

The Era school board heard a list of recommendations from the district's site-based management committee during the board's regular February meeting.

The committee has recommended that the district hire another campus administrator to assist Era Principal Sharon Durham, who is the only building-level administrator for the K-12 campus of 375 students. Era Superintendent Randel Beaver said the board will consider the request at its March meeting. Era trustees last year approved the position and hired Duncan Hudson to perform assistant principal duties as well as athletic director duties. That position was not filled following Hudson's resignation later last year.

The site-based committee passed on the recommendation from students that grades be weighted according to subject area. Trustees rejected the proposal, saying Era was not really large enough to offer enough courses that would justify such a grading system.

The board did agree to dropping six-weeks testing beginning next fall and to allow exemptions for junior and senior students from spring examinations following certain criteria beginning with the 1994-1995 school year. The six-weeks test has already been dropped at the elementary with no real difference shown in student performance, Beaver said. Many teachers felt the testing system is redundant and takes away from time that could be devoted to new learning, he said.

Among other recommendations, the committee requested that teachers have more input regarding renewal of student transfer requests. The committee will also be studying the possible restructuring of scheduling and courses in the district, Beaver said.

Harold Brown and Lanny Lewter will not seek re-election to their positions on the Era school board, officials said this week.

Brown's Place 6 position and Lewter's Place 7 position on the school board will be open for the May 7 election. Those interested in filing may contact the administration office.

The board reviewed the election calendar during the meeting. Early voting will be held from April 18 through May 3.

In other business, trustees:

--Extended by one-year the two-year contract of Era Principal Sharon Durham. During the meeting, a group of seven parents presented a petition to board members in opposition to Durham's rehiring. The board decided to remain in open session to discuss the matter and then renewed Durham's contract on a unanimous 7-0 vote.

--Approved the addition of a junior high special education teaching position for the 1994-1995 school year.

--Reported that Era freshman Erin Alphin has advanced to state after winning a gold medal in University Interscholastic League piano competition.

--Reported that athletic gate receipts are about $1,000 ahead of last year.

--Authorized bids for property, casualty and liability insurance.

Frances Sicking recognized for 15 years of service at Muenster Garden Center

On Feb. 28 Frances Sicking marked 15 years as an employee of Muenster Garden Center. Owners Roger and Janie Taylor gave her a silver water pitcher as a token of their appreciation. Frances willingly shares her garden expertise with customers, helping them select what best suits their gardening needs. "Frances works 45 hours a week at the Garden Center and still finds time to can 1500 quarts of vegetables every year," marveled Roger Taylor.

Lindsay student wins County Spelling Bee

Many hours of studying have paid off for 13-year-old Connie Wang of Gainesville, winner of this year's county spelling bee held recently at Cooke County College. Wang was named champion for the correct spelling of "chenille," and will go on to compete against other students from 38 North and East Texas counties in the Dallas Morning News regional Spelling Bee, set for March 26.

Wang is an 8th grader at Lindsay ISD. She was in competition with 13 other students from surrounding towns. She is the daughter of George and Agnes Wang of Gainesville.

"These students are like Olympic athletes, because they have worked hard and steadily," said Stephen Bonin, CCC English instructor. "They have had to study hard and the pressure they are under is tremendous."

Leah Rigler will serve as alternate to the Regional Spelling Bee in Dallas should Wang be unable to compete, Bonin said. Rigler is a 13-year-old 7th grader at Sacred Heart School, and is the daughter of Michael A. and Michael Rigler of Gainesville.

Some 100,000 5th through 8th graders from North and East Texas participated at the classroom level in the 1993 Dallas Morning News Spelling Bee. Winner of the regional bee will advance, all expenses paid, to the National Spelling Bee, to be held during "Spelling Bee Week," in Washington, D.C.

Pronouncer for the event was Roy Baggett, CCC English faculty. Judges for the contest were Jane Myrick, representing the CCC Math, Science and Technology divisions, and Vonda McFarlin, representing Student Services.

Wang will be added to the list of past winners, including: Joel Nickerson, 1993; Tisha Wang of Lindsay ISD, 1992 and 1990; Loretta Reiter of Sacred Heart School, 1991; and Debbie Prescher of St. Mary's School, 1989.

LEAH RIGLER

The competition was sponsored locally by Cooke County College. Other participants were: Donna Sellers, Callisburg High School; Aimee Reidy, Edison Elementary; Zeb Hardy, Era ISD; Andrea Jones, Franklin Elementary; Jason Cox, Gainesville Middle School; Bill Kirchenbauer, Lee Elementary; Eric Garrison, McMurray Elementary; Douglas Knabe, Muenster Junior High; Anthony Hoberer, Sivells Bend ISD; David Wiese, St. Mary's; Joel Nickerson, Valley View Middle School; and Jessica Southerland, Walnut Bend.

Valley View ISD discusses master plan for campus

by Elaine Schad

Valley View trustees heard a presentation on a future masterplan for the Valley View campus and facilities during its regular board meeting this week.

Monty Zajick (pronounced zay-check) of SHW Architects in Dallas discussed development of a masterplan for future facilities and renovations. Valley View Superintendent Steve Schneider said the board plans to interview several other architectural firms before deciding whether to proceed with the masterplan.

Trustees called a May 7 election to fill to positions on the school board. The three-year term of Grant Krahl is expiring and another three-year term is open. The board left the position open after Trustee Cecil Neu resigned. Those wishing to file for a position on the board may contact the district administration office. Early voting will be held from April 18 through May 3 at the administration office. Regular voting will be held at Valley View High School and at the New Hope Baptist Church in Burns City on

by Elaine Schad

The town of Valley View will build a new wastewater treatment plant to comply with more stringent permit requirements set down for the town by the Texas Water Commission.

Town aldermen, during their regular February meeting, awarded a $396,375 contract to Cole and Smithen Construction Company in Denison to build the new sewer plant in the southeastern part of the city limits in the Cooke County community of about 640 people. The project is being funded with a $159,000 grant from the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs and with a loan funded through the State Water Pollution Control Revolving Fund. Construction could begin within about two months as soon as paperwork is completed, Valley View City Secretary Jane Alexander said.

Town aldermen in December approved a contract with Morris Engineering and the Greater Texoma Utility Authority to provide engineering services for the project. See VV CITY, Page 14

Nuptials unite couple in Sacred Heart Church

Darlene Ann Hess became the bride of Jordon Jean Bayer on Saturday, Feb. 26, 1994. Father Victor Gillespie, OSB, was celebrant of the Nuptial Mass in Sacred Heart Church and officiated for their vows in a double-ring ceremony at 5 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Earl and Mary Ann Hess of Muenster. She is a 1993 graduate of Muenster High School and is employed at Factory Brand Shoes in Gainesville. The groom is the son of Paul and Donna Bayer of Muenster. He is a 1993 graduate of Sacred Heart High School and is employed at Bayer Dairy.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was wearing a formal white satin wedding gown designed with V-neckline, fitted bodice, Basque waistline and long tapered satin sleeves. The full skirt was accented with a large bow at the back waist, and was edged on the hemline with lace; and the semi-cathedral-length train featured a matching bow halfway down. The entire gown, bodice, sleeves and train were detailed with matching lace and sequins.

She carried a bridal bouquet of white and pink silk flowers made by her mother. The entwined rosary was a gift from the bride's godmother, Patsy Fleitman.

ATTENDANTS
The bride's twin sister, Marlene Ann Hess of Lubbock, was her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Alethea Ann Brawner of Muenster, bride's sister; and Bernadette Walterscheid of Muenster, groom's aunt.

They were identically attired in gowns of pink satin, designed with sweetheart necklines, shirred sleeves, Basque waists and full, tea-length skirts, and back scoop necklines draped with simulated pearl strands and a bow accent.

They carried long-stemmed pink and white roses.

Flower girls were Sunni Bayer, groom's sister, and Jessi Walterscheid, groom's cousin. They wore pink satin gowns with rounded necklines, puffed sleeves, Basque waists and gathered tea-length skirts accented with a bow at the back waistline. Each carried a basket with silk pink and white roses and ribbons. Arlie Bayer, groom's brother, was candle bearer.

The ring bearer was Jeff Walterscheid, groom's cousin. The ring pillow was made by Joyce Hermes, bride's aunt.

Jeremy Bayer, groom's brother of Muenster, was his best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Brawner of Denton, bride's brother, and Karl Barnhill of Muenster, a friend of the groom.

Ushers were Barry Hess, a friend of the groom, Bubba Green, groom's cousin, Bobby Hermes, bride's cousin, all of Muenster, and Jon Fleitman, bride's cousin of College Station.

Altar servers were Scott and Kevin Hermes, bride's cousins, and Lucas Bayer and Josh Walterscheid, groom's cousins, all of Muenster.

Wedding music was presented by Pam Fette and Sharon Waller, vocalists, and Ruth Felderhoff on the piano. For singing of "The Rose," Becky Fleitman on the flute and Misty Knabe on the trumpet accompanied them. Other selections were "The Theme from Thorn Birds;" "Chariots of Fire;" Pachelbel's "Canon in D;" Clarke's "Trumpet Tune;" "One Hand, One Heart;" "On Eagles' Wings;" "People Need the Lord;" "Surely the Presence;" "Hail Mary, Gentle Woman" and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

Church decorations included tall tapers in candelabras on the altar, and white bows on center aisle pews.

RECEPTION

A reception, dinner and dance followed in Sacred Heart Community Center.

Presiding at the guest book were Melissa Miller and Lesli Perkins, both friends of the bride.

Dinner was catered by the Hermes Sisters of Lindsay. Guests danced to music by The Entertainer, George Spaeth.

The white bride's cake, decorated with pink flowers, was made by Betty Rose Walterscheid, and the chocolate groom's cake was made by Tommie Sue Hess, bride's aunt.

A rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, was held the evening before the wedding in the home of Barbara and Clinton Bayer.

Scouts attend lake retreat

by Scribe Russell Fette

Last weekend, Feb. 25-27, the Boy Scout Troop 664 attended a Catholic Scout Retreat at Camp Grayson on Lake Texoma. The boys arrived at twilight Friday night and, by the time they reached their campsite, it was dark so they pitched their tents in the dark. Later that night, the boys attended a welcome and cracker barrel.

The Scouts slept through a cold, windy night and awoke to the same weather. All the Scouts wore full uniform but not a speck of a khaki shirt was seen because everyone wore a coat or coveralls. After a flag ceremony and a breakfast served by cooks at the mess hall, Scouts were divided into groups and spent the rest of the day in six activities: rocks, semaphore, measurement, pictographs, games and saints. Most employed Scouting skills and all taught some basic religious truth or lessons.

Before dinner, the flag that had flown for the retreat and many other camps was lowered and burned after a delicious supper. Shortly after the dinner, there was a Mass given by the local Reverend Bell. In the middle of the Mass, the Scouts filed out and each one placed a piece of granite, which they had received in "Rocks," into a cement fleur de lis by the entrance of the outdoor chapel.

The Scouts left Sunday morning at 10 a.m. and arrived in Muenster at about 11:30 a.m. Many boys have remarked to me that they enjoyed the retreat and the Scouts plan to do it again next year.

Also, at last Monday's, Feb. 28, Scout meeting, there were troop elections. Here are the new major positions: Senior Patrol Leader, Royce Knabe; Assistant Senior Patrol Leader, Duncan Campbell; Scribe, Russell Fette; Chaplain's Aide, Aaron Klement; Historian, Jim Stoffels; Librarian, Casey Walterscheid; Quartermaster, Eric Knabe; Eagle Patrol Leader, Michael Flusche; Rattlesnake Patrol Leader, Casey Walterscheid; Bear Patrol Leader, Eric Fisher; Bobwhite Patrol Leader, Aaron Hess.

Vows exchanged in Feb. 5 ceremony

MR. and MRS. JOHN ANDERLE
... neeDebbie Schmitt ...

Debbie Schmitt and John Anderle were married in Sacred Heart Church on Feb. 5, 1994 in a Nuptial Mass with double-ring ceremony at 5 p.m., officiated by Father Victor Gillespie, OSB.

The bride is the daughter of Harvey and Della Schmitt. The groom is the son of Johnny and Annette Anderle, all of Muenster.

Given in marriage by her parents, and escorted by both, the bride was wearing a white satin silhouette wedding gown designed with sweetheart neckline and long tapered Elizabethan sleeves of white satin and English net, richly re-embroidered with pearly and sequined lace. The traditional gown was heavily trimmed with pearl encrusted lace and iridescent sequins. From the elongated bodice, the lace-encircled skirt fell to slipper length and flowed into a chapel train. Her sheer veil drifted from a delicate halo of illusion.

She carried a bridal bouquet of off-white flowers and greenery, with her mother's rosary entwined. For sentiment, she borrowed earrings from her sister-in-law, Michelle Schmitt; had a penny in her shoe, a gift from her father; wore a new bracelet, gift from the groom; and wore a traditional blue garter.

ATTENDANTS

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Vickie Fleitman of Muenster. Bridesmaids were Christy Yosten of Muenster, bride's cousin; Michelle Schmitt of Tyler, bride's sister-in-law; Kim Anderle and Denise Anderle of Muenster, groom's sisters.

They wore peacock-colored enchanting lace-covered smooth satin dresses in a graceful silhouette, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, Basque waist, shirred sleeves, keyhole back with bow accent, and graduated hemline. Each carried a single off-white open rose bud tied with white ribbon.

Flower girl was Melissa Fuhrmann, groom's cousin, and ring bearer was Jacob Fuhrmann, groom's cousin.

Kevin Anderle of Muenster was his brother's best man. Corey Anderle of Muenster, groom's brother; Stephen Schmitt of Tyler, bride's brother; Kenneth Fuhrmann of Denton, groom's uncle; and Karl Barnhill of Muenster, friend of the couple, were groomsmen.

Pat Fuhrmann of Lindsay, groom's uncle; Douglas Fleitman of Muenster, bride's brother-in-law; Tim Bartel and Terry Bartel of Muenster, and Jeff Hellman of Muenster, all friends of the couple; were ushers.

Christopher and Clint Fuhrmann of Muenster, cousins of the groom, were Mass servers.

Wedding music was presented by Ruth Felderhoff, organist, and Christy Hesse and Nicole Bauer, groom's cousin, vocalists. Before Mass, they sang "The Rose," "Wedding Song" and "Sunrise, Sunset." For the entrance of bridesmaids, the organist played Pachelbel's "Canon in D"; for the bridal march, she played Clarke's "Trumpet Tune," the song for lighting of the Unity candle was "One Hand, One Heart;" at Offertory, "May Your Lives Be Blessed;" at Communion, "Household of Faith." When the couple knelt at the Blessed Virgin's altar, Nicole Bauer sang "Hail Mary, Gentle Woman." The organ solo for the recessional was Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary."

Readers for the wedding liturgy were Angela Endres and Stephanie Heady. Godparents of the couple, Marcus and Cathy Fuhrmann and Tom Schmitt and Pat Yosten, presented Offertory gifts at the altar. Eucharistic Ministers were Amy Bayer, Georgia Wolf, Edna Tompkins, Alvin Hartman, Florence and Lester Anderle and Pam Hoberer.

Arrangements of white gladioli and lighted candles enhanced the altar space. Center aisle pews were marked with white bows.

Special guests at the wedding were grandparents of the couple, Margaret Hartman, Ethel Anderle and Marcus and Cathy Fuhrmann.

RECEPTION

A reception, dinner and dance followed at the Sacred Heart Community Center, hosted by parents of the couple, for 350 guests.

Dyan Fisher and Darla Anderle were in charge of the bride's book. The Hermes Sisters of Lindsay catered the meal and DJs Craig and Brian Anderle, groom's cousins, provided music for dancing.

The bride's table was centered with the Unity candle and English ivy, and candelabras with tapers were placed at the ends of the table.

The three-tiered white wedding cake was decorated with blue flowers, and held a musical Precious Moments ornament on the keepsake layer. The groom's horseshoe-shaped chocolate cake was decorated with chocolate-dipped strawberries.

Paula Yosten, bride's cousin, cut the cakes. Cake servers were Holly Hartman, Dana Fedor, Olivia Ramos, Shawna Halbert, Amy Hoberer, Marci Bauer, Andrea Fuhrmann and De Ann Fuhrmann. Reception assistants were Darla Anderle, Dyan Fisher and Paula Yosten.

A special wall decoration for the bride's table was a wide sheer white curtain with peacock-colored hearts and ribbons carrying the names of the bride and groom.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in their home on Feb. 4, immediately after rehearsal.

The bride is a 1990 graduate of Sacred Heart High School and attended Cooke County College and the University of North Texas. She is employed as a secretary by Steven Biffle. The groom is a 1986 graduate of Muenster High School and attended Cooke County College. He is employed by Tony's Seed and Feed.

The couple resides in Muenster.

Homemaker Club meets in Klement home

Muenster Homemakers Club met Feb. 16 at 2 p.m. at the home of Irene Klement, with 20 members answering roll call, naming their favorite plant.

Dorothy Hesse, president, opened the meeting with the creed prayer and pledge of allegiance to the Flag. The hostess gave two readings, "The Miracle of Spring" and "Timely Advice." Members received a questionnaire on "Strength, Weakness and Opportunity of the Club." The completed forms were given to Evelyn Yeatts, county agent.

A May tour for all county clubs was discussed, and many favored a trip to Granbury. Mrs. Hesse announced several upcoming dates, in particular the State convention in Lubbock in September. Lucille Lutkenhaus was nominated as Muenster's representative. Members then held their yearly fundraiser for the club - a white elephant sale, with Bertha Pick as auctioneer.

The hostess, Mrs. Klement, served cherry coconut pie, nuts, mints and coffee.

County Clubs: meeting the needs of families

by Evelyn Yeatts, County Extension Agent-H.E.

The Cooke County Family & Community Education clubs met Wednesday, Jan. 26, in the meeting room of Cooke County Electric. Evelyn Yeatts, County Extension Agent, gave the program. She told the history of Home Demonstration clubs forming in Cooke County until the present Family & Community Education clubs.

Six clubs are now active in the county. They are Callisburg, Downard-Fairplains, Liberty Belles, Muenster, Ross Point and Sivelis Bend. Each club president gave the history of their club. Evelyn Yeatts presented carnations to the following women who were charter members of each club or who had been members for the longest time.

Callisburg - Gretchen Stiles, Mary Wambaugh
Downard-Fairplains - Florine Lance, Elva Watson
Liberty Belles - Sharon Simmons, Ruth Pruett
Muenster - Bertha Pick, Dorothy Fisher, Rose Rohmer, Irene Klement
Ross Point - Josephine Berry, Gladys Balthrop
Sivelis Bend - Tommy Harrell, Billie Ward, Barbara Byas.

Wilma Richardson, Family & Community Education Chairman, gave a report on the training meeting in Dallas, Jan. 25. Lunch was served to 52 officers and members, prepared by the council members. The first Home Demonstration club was organized in October 1922 in the Reed-Bolton Community. Other clubs in the county followed in quick succession and Home Demonstration clubs grew by leaps and bounds until there were 536 full-fledged members in that first year.

Soon after, local clubs were formed over the county, the first council was formed in 1923. The council then and today continues to be a means of planning programs and activities for all clubs.

From the beginning, the programs of clubs has been to meet the needs of families. Cooking, sewing and home canning skills were the original needs which clubs met. Over the years, programming, activities and service projects have differed to meet the needs of changing times. In 1979, clubs changed their names to Extension Homemaker clubs and then, in late 1993, changed to Family & Community Education clubs. Programs today include such topics as New Food Labeling, Cultural Understanding, Helping Children Learn to Love Books, Antiques, Creative Sewing and Healthy Life Styles.

Clubs have had numerous service projects over the years. Back in mid-century, the Women's Division of the Cooke County Fair was run by club women. Some of the current service projects include contribution to Visto, Home Hospice, Littlest Angel, 4-H Scholarships and the Fair Association. Thirteen years ago, Extension Homemakers started an Arts & Craft Sell-O-Rama to provide an outlet for local artisans to sell their crafts. This has grown each year to capacity crowds.

Since 1922, and the club's original beginning, 10 Extension Agents have served as advisors to the clubs with Mrs. Bernice Thurman serving 1951 to 1974 and Evelyn Yeatts since 1974. Two of the earlier clubs organized still remain active. They are Ross Point, organized in 1927, and Downard-Fairplains, organized in 1929.

Groups of 4-H'ers had been working together for weeks in preparation for their 6-minute acts. Each act was judged on talent, creativity, showmanship, costumes and props, audience appeal and appropriateness of material chosen.

Eleven acts from seven different 4-H clubs were presented. First place entries in the Junior Division and Senior Division won the right to represent Cooke County at the District Contest on April 30.

Winning 1st place and a blue ribbon in the Junior Division was "School House on the Prairie" from Mountain Springs. Participants were Alisha Meyer, Nicole Meyer, McKenzi Meyer, Jason Brinkley, Cody Martindale, Robin Leverette and Cary Collett. They were coached by Shirlee Martindale.

The act, "One Very Bad Day," received second place honors and blue ribbons in the Junior Division. This act from the Red River Club included Margaret Morgan, Stephanie Shasteen, Vicky Robles, Laurie Glass and Kourtney Anglin. They were coached by Joanne Bouldin.

First place in the Senior Division went to another group from the Red River club. Their blue ribbon act, entitled "Dilly of a Pickle," included Diana Bouldin, Lori Dumberger and Amanda Hitt. Joanna Bouldin coached this group.

Placing second in the Senior Division and receiving red ribbons was a group from the Young Riders Club. The act was called "Tin Angel Brag" and the participants were Jessica Brown and Rebecca Miller. The coach was Kathleen Brown.

Two groups of 4-H'ers entered a "Just For Fun" category. They were the Lindsay Senior and Emerald Riders Clubs.

Serving as emcees at Share-the-Fun were 4-H Council Chairman Charlene Lutkenhaus and 1st Vice Chairman Rebecca Miller. Also assisting with technical arrangements were council officers Sara Flusche and Greg Brooks. Judges for the event were Ann Waggoman, Annetta Earle and Stephen Bonin.

Simple precautions can protect kids from burns

Each year in Texas, thousands of children sustain fire, scorching or scalding injuries. Many severely burned children die from their injuries.

In 1992, burn injuries were the fourth leading cause of death for Texas children ages 1-19. Hundreds of burned children were admitted to hospitals.

To reduce the incidence of burn injuries and deaths and to raise public awareness, the U.S. Congress has chosen the week of Feb. 6-12, to start the ninth annual National Burn Awareness Campaign.

The theme for this year's campaign is: "The worst kind of burn is the one you could have prevented."

Dr. David R. Smith, Texas Commissioner of Health, said, "Many deaths and injuries from burns could be prevented with simple changes in the way we do things. Even something as simple as keeping children away when you're pouring hot liquids could prevent a painful scalding injury."

The Texas Department of Health (TDH) EMS for children (EMSC) program suggests other ways to prevent burn injuries. These include:

- * Turning pot handles out of children's reach while cooking.
- * Using short cords on appliances and preventing cords from dangling from work surfaces.

* Making certain that microwaved food and liquids are not too hot, especially on the inside.

* Placing young children in cribs or playpens, well away from cooking areas.

* Adjusting water heater temperatures to 120°F or lower. Temperatures higher than 140°F can cause serious injury.

* Running cold water first, then adding hot water to a safe temperature, when filling a bathtub.

* Covering unused electrical sockets with tight-fitting plastic safety plugs to prevent children from poking items into the sockets.

* Keeping children away from plugged-in electrical cords. Biting or chewing a live electrical cord can cause serious burns.

The EMSC program works to promote public awareness of ways to reduce all types of childhood injuries: motor vehicle crashes, burns, poisonings, falls and drownings.

According to paramedic and nurse Rhonda Blackmore, director of EMSC, "We'd much rather help by preventing the injury than to have the children and their families go through the pain and rehabilitation of an injury."

For more information about preventing burns and other injuries, contact your local EMS or the EMS for Children program at 512-458-6740.

Lady Hornets buzzed by Bears in playoffs

Muenster's Lady Hornets returned to the Regional Tournament last weekend with high hopes of a repeat chance at the State Championship. But the dreams ended early when the Sulphur Bluff Lady Bears surprised Muenster in the quarter round of the tournament Friday night at Kilgore Junior College. "A few mistakes and a few lucky bounces for Sulphur Bluff put them ahead and gave them a 55-54 win," commented Coach Brian Strother. "This was a sad moment because we felt we were the better team. They were just hot at the right time."

Sulphur Bluff scored first, but 3 three-point baskets by Theresa Kubis kept the Lady Hornets in the lead. Muenster kept the lead with a basket each by Kubis, Amy Otto and Candise Abney. Kubis, on a steal, missed a lay-up; Hollie Fuhrmann rebounded off the floor and a shot by Abney at the buzzer was no good for a Muenster 15-14 1st quarter lead.

The Lady Hornets came out hot the 2nd quarter with Abney hitting an early basket, followed by a 3-pointer and 2 two's by Amy Otto, for a 24-14 Muenster lead.

Sulphur Bluff tried to play catch-up and, with 5 seconds on the clock, closed the score to 28-23 at halftime.

The 3rd quarter started in Muenster's favor with Otto and Carrie Hess hitting baskets, Danell Reiter getting two 3s, and Abney hitting free throws. But the Lady Bears' Misty Borden added on to Sulphur Bluff's score to keep the game tight.

With 2 minutes remaining in the quarter, the Lady Hornets started taking time off the clock. The Bears' defense spread out and Abney moved in for 2 and a 42-34 lead. Muenster again passed the ball, killing 30 seconds when Kubis cut into the basket for a 44-35 score as the remaining 3 seconds ticked away.

The Lady Bears quickly made 8 unanswered points and Muenster called a time out, 2 minutes into the final stanza with only a 44-43 lead.

With 4:23 on the clock, Sulphur Bluff took their first lead 47-46, then to 49 points. Abney hit a first free throw with Otto rebounding and hitting the basket to tie the game 49-49 with 3-1/2 minutes to go.

The Lady Bears again took the lead until, at 2:44, Carrie Hess rebounded and hit the basket for a 52-52 score. Sulphur Bluff ran some time off the clock, working on the final shot, but took an opening for a 54-52 lead with 35 seconds on the clock. A missed Muenster 3-pointer gave the Bears a rebound and a free throw at 20 seconds. The first fell for a 55-52 score, but Abney rebounded the second, with Muenster quickly moving down court. Three missed shots under the basket was followed by a buzzer shot by Hess, but 1 point short, 55-54, for the win.

Amy Otto was Muenster's leading scorer with 15 points. Theresa Kubis and Candise Abney each added 13. Danell Reiter hit 7 and Carrie Hess 6 to round out the Lady Hornet scorers. Misty Borden led the Lady Bears with 22 points.

The four Muenster seniors Reiter, Kubis, Otto and Abney, had a great career, 113 wins and 20 losses. "They led us all year and are great examples for the rest of Muenster to follow," continued Strother. "I feel fortunate to be able to coach these athletes. They had a great run of 15 in a row to the regionals, hitting the clutch shots and dominating their opponents in district and the playoffs. Thanks for a great year, girls," concluded the coach.

DARRELL CHARLES makes his move under the basket in the Muenster Bi-District match with Slidell.

Hornets control Slidell, but fall in Bi-District battle

The Muenster Hornets went into the playoffs as the underdogs, especially against the top-rated Slidell Greyhounds. But the boys continued to increase their ball playing skills and gave Slidell a battle to the end, falling 39-37 in Bi-District last Thursday night.

"The game plan was to be patient and spread the floor. We executed the plan," said Coach Brian Strother. "Our goal was to slow the game down and keep it low scoring. Our defense had to shut down a high octane offense and the boys felt confident."

The plan worked as Muenster controlled the game, but came up short on the scoreboard.

A 3-pointer by Cory Knabe with 20 seconds in the 1st quarter tied the game 9-9. The Greyhounds put in 6 points before Muenster got in the next 4. With an 18-13 lead, Slidell just hung on to the ball the last 2 minutes, then missed the last second shot at halftime, leaving a very frustrated Slidell team to wonder what happened to their scoring abilities.

Cory Knabe hit a 3-pointer early to make it a 2-point game 18-16. Slidell added a free throw and the Hornets slowed down the action. A.J. Knabe was fouled when the Greyhounds tried to force Muenster to pick up the tempo. Knabe hit both throws for a 19-18 game.

Slidell came right back and took a 4-point lead. Two free shots by Jason Huchton made it 22-20, a Slidell free basket gave them a 3-point lead before A.J. Knabe put one in from the paint with 3:48 and a 23-22 score. Baskets continued to fall, and with 45 seconds remaining in the 3rd period, Huchton hit a 3-pointer to tie the game 27-27.

Slidell worked for the last shot and hit a 3 the last second for a 30-27 lead going into the final period.

Muenster opened the 4th quarter, playing slow and patient. Darrell Charles went up the baseline for 2 points to shorten the margin to 1 point. Slidell then played slow, got fouled and made 1. A 3-pointer from Jay Hennigan gave the Hornets their first lead 32-31.

Both teams went to the charity stripe, hitting baskets with just under 3 minutes. Hennigan's 2 again gave the Hornets the lead 34-33. Slidell came back with a basket, then Hennigan hit 2 more from the free line and Muenster led again 36-35 with 2-1/2 minutes remaining in the game.

Again, Slidell got their shot and the lead and Muenster felt like they had to foul to get the ball. It worked, the missed shot was rebounded by Muenster, with A.J. Knabe getting fouled and hitting 1 to tie the game 37-37 with 1:20 on the clock.

Muenster fouled again and Slidell got the first and the Hornets rebounded with 1:05 on the clock, but missed their shot. With 40 seconds on the clock, the Hornets got called for an intentional foul. Slidell made 1 for a 39-37 lead and got to inbound the ball. The Hornets immediately fouled. The Greyhound shooter hit the basket, but a lane violation gave the ball to Muenster.

With 38-1/2 seconds to go, the Hornets set up the shot, but the Muenster shot is blocked with 5 seconds left in the game.

Again, Muenster fouled the ball carrier with 1.9 seconds on the clock. Slidell missed both free throws and the Hornets called time out with 6/10th of a second to go. The last attempted shot by Cory Knabe failed and Slidell advanced in the playoffs.

"I am very proud of these guys because of their play the last three weeks," continued Strother, who said the four seniors, Knabe, Knabe, Hennigan and Vogel, showed leadership and pulled the team together for the final run. "Thanks for the great times and memories," concluded Coach Strother.

A.J. Knabe and Jason Huchton led Muenster in scoring with 10 points each. Jay Hennigan added 8, Darrell Charles 6 and Cory Knabe 3.

TAPPS All-District Team announced

The Sacred Heart Tigerettes dominated the 1994 TAPPS District 5 All-District Basketball Team.

Erica Schilling led the team of 12 girls. "Erica gave her best every day," said Coach Jon LeBrasseur, of the senior who was also named a TAPPS All-Star. Schilling will be honored during the weekend of March 12 at a banquet in Irving and display her skills at the University of Dallas in the TAPPS All-Star Game. Erica was also Co-Player of the Year.

Juniors Tiffany Fisher and Stephanie Grewing, freshman Dobe Fleitman and senior Deanna Hess also made the team.

Three seniors, Kelly Dangelmayr, Jennie Endres and Donetta Hess received honorable mention.

"With so many girls honored by the coaches, it shows the balance of the team. All the girls are a reflection of the members that were named All-District," commented Coach Jon. "If there was an All-Heart Team, all would be honored. The girls are very deserving of the honors bestowed upon them."

The Sacred Heart Tigers listed four players on the TAPPS All-District basketball team. Junior Jason Hess made the top 3, with seniors Kelly Bayer, Aaron Berres and Mike Gehrig also making the 12-man team.

Sophomore John Klement earned the Newcomer of the Year Award with junior Jason Hofbauer and Neil Berres getting honorable mention.

Top district honors went to Grant Garrett of Southwest Christian and Adam Cox of Happy Hill.

Cooke County Youth League

On Saturday, Feb. 26, the AI and Sis Felderhoff team of Muenster defeated the Marietta Indians 24-19. Kayla Felderhoff was the game's high scorer with 15 points. Anne Flusche added 6, Jenny Hess 2 and Kelly Felderhoff 1.

25 Tigers soar into track season

The Sacred Heart Tigers are confident and optimistic as they head into the '94 track season. "We are coming off of one of our finest track seasons, in which we were state runner-up," Coach John Nasche commented. Sacred Heart lost only one at graduation, so virtually the entire team returns. The Tigers have 25 boys on the roster and Coach Nasche has several more possibilities and hopes to increase participation.

VANESSA FELDERHOFF

Vanessa Felderhoff participated in the Tenth Winter Dressage Show at Fox View Combined Training Center in Abita Springs, Louisiana on Sunday, Jan. 16. She rode "Smoky Joe" in Training Level Test I - Junior/Young Rider and Training Level Test II - Junior/Young Rider Divisions, achieving a first place and a third place ribbon and the first place trophy in the division.

Vanessa Felderhoff is a member of the Equitation Team at the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Grand Coteau, Louisiana and a member of the Dallas Dressage Club. She is the daughter of Gus and Loretta Felderhoff of Muenster.

Tigers take to track

The Sacred Heart Tigers began their track season Saturday, competing in a tough Bridgeport meet. The short-handed team competed against several 3- and 4A schools and placed 13 out of 18 teams with 17 points. "That was quite an accomplishment due to the size of the competition and the limited number of participants," said Coach John Nasche.

The distance runners earned the points with Aaron Berres placing 3rd in both the 800 and 1600m races. Berres finished the 800m at 2:06.87 and the 1600m with a time of 4:54.34.

John Bartush took 4th place in the 3200m race, finishing at 11:04.57, with John Klement scoring 6th in the 1600m with a time of 5:02.31. Others placing was Jody Fleitman, 7th, 3200 at 11:05.08; John Bartush, 7th, 1600m at 5:02.71; and the 1600m relay team of Scott Frost, Glen Dangelmayr, Douglas Novak and Neil Berres, 8th-place finish at 3:49.27.

"Confident and optimistic, the Tigers set their goals on beating all 1-A public schools in the area and winning this year's state championship," concluded Coach Nasche.

Lake Worth won the meet with 73 points, followed by Eastland and Van Alstyne.

The Tigers will compete in the Red River Relays at Saint Jo on Saturday, March 5.

Crop insurance deadline soon, meeting March 9

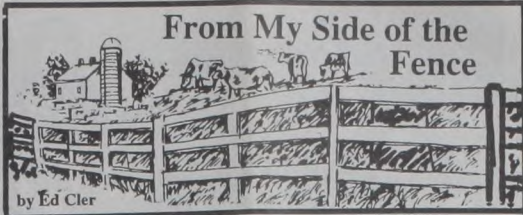

Federal Crop Insurance sign-up period is rapidly coming to an end for soybeans and corn. Producers in the county have an opportunity to use Federal Crop Insurance if they have been producing corn in the past several years. Soybean disaster payments also have a relation to producers purchasing Federal Crop Insurance.

A special meeting will be held on Wed., Mar. 9, at 1 p.m. at the Cooke County Electric Co-Op Building located on Highway 82 just east of Muenster. This meeting will be presented by actuarial personnel from the Federal Crop Insurance Agency at Oklahoma City. These representatives will discuss sign-up dates, producers' obligations to Federal Crop Insurance, quality adjustments on aflatoxin, and other items concerning producer participation in Federal Crop Insurance.

If you drew a Federal Disaster payment on soybeans, you must purchase F.C.I.C. Insurance for Soybeans by March 31.

Representative Tim Gilbert, with the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, and Extension personnel will also be at the meeting. If you have any questions, contact the County Extension Office 817-668-5412.

Last week's tale about a man who worked under my direction, during WWII, reminds me of an incident involving the man I worked under, Mr. Harold Sieber.

Siebert, as we called him, came to Texas from Cincinnati, Ohio, and had not yet picked up on too much Texas lore and history.

He was very proud of the fact that the comparatively small plant we worked in had a reputation for efficiency and product quality.

We had earned the Army E for Excellence pennant and, a few months later, were awarded the Navy E pennant for efficient production of component parts for Naval planes. The plant was free to fly these pennants so long as quality and efficiency standards were met.

The big flag pole, in front of the plant, flew Old Glory at its top and, on either side of a crossbar mounted a few feet below, the much-prized Army E and Navy E pennants waved in the breeze.

On San Jacinto Day, Sieb happened to be in the front office and, glancing out the window, he noticed the Lone Star Flag flying just under the crossbar.

His first thought was that the plant had earned another award, and he turned to a man at a desk and asked what the new pennant was for.

Later, Sieb related all this to me with a very sheepish look on his face. "I should have known. A flag, in Texas, with a lone star?" he said. "That guy just looked at me and said, 'That's the Texas flag, you --- Yankee son of a ----.'"

Sign up now for ASCS programs

Signup for the wheat and feed grain programs will be from March 1 through April 29. The ASCS office will do signup by appointment again this year. You should contact the office as soon as possible to schedule your appointment. Be sure to mark your appointment on your calendar. If, for some reason you have to change your appointment, notify the office early enough so that rescheduling will be possible. If you flat miss your appointment, you will be ineligible to participate, unless it is for reasons beyond your control.

All required signatures, by all persons on the farm, on all documents needed to participate, must be in the ASCS office the 2nd

Friday after the end of signup. Failure to do this will result in an invalid contract. You will be allowed until the final certification date for each participating crop in the county to withdraw from the program. This is May 2 for wheat, oats and barley and July 15 for grain sorghum, corn or cotton.

For producers planning on signing up in the farm program, the ASCS will be able to take your acreage reports on the crops you have planted at the time you sign up. You will have until July 15 to report spring seeded crops such as grain sorghum, corn, soybeans, etc. Producers not planning on signing up in the farm program need to make an appointment as soon as possible, but prior to May 2 for small grains. After May 2, late-filed charges apply. You will have until July 15 to report spring seeded crops such as grain sorghum, corn, soybeans, etc. Failure to report your acreage or zero acreage (if you have a base) will result in the acreage and yields being considered zero.

Program recycled pesticide containers

A state campaign to encourage farmers to recycle their empty pesticide containers resulted in more than 340,000 pounds of materials collected last year.

The Empty Pesticide Container Recycling Program, sponsored by three state agencies, gathered in 47,000 plastic containers and more than 11,000 metal ones.

SCT Environmental, Inc. of Houston was contracted to collect and grind the plastic containers on location. Metal containers, ranging in size from 5-gallon cans to 55-gallon drums, were crushed on site and taken to a local or regional metal recycler. Farmers turned in containers voluntarily without pay.

Before the recycling program, the containers were a headache for everyone involved.

Even before the new regulations, farmers had few disposal alternatives.

"Often, they burned them," said Dr. Clifford Hoelscher, an entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

But not only does burning containers waste recyclable plastic and create air pollution, the residue also could be toxic, posing a threat to the local water table.

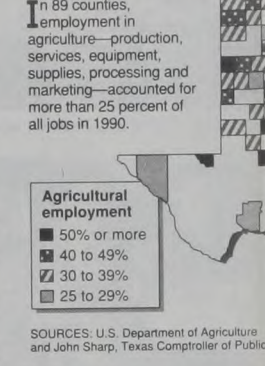

Such burnings on the farm can present problems when a farmer tries to sell the land. Today, it's not uncommon for potential land buyers to run an environmental check.

A patch of ground bare of grass, typically left by burning pesticide containers or their ashes, can prompt the buyer to request soil tests. If the tests show high levels of toxic residues, the farmer may have to remove the contaminated soil and replace it, a process that can cost thousands of dollars.

"What we were getting by with in the past won't work in the 1990s," Hoelscher said.

Extension, TDA and TNRC have already scheduled 38 collection dates throughout Texas for the spring and summer of 1994, including May 18 in Denton. The fall collection sites have yet to be scheduled. Contact the local Extension Service county agent's office for more information.

Conservation tillage reduces soil erosion

The soybeans planted into wheat residue in Cooke County are a good example of conservation tillage. Conservation tillage typically refers to any tillage and planting system that is designed to reduce soil erosion caused by water or wind. To reduce soil erosion by water, a minimum of 30 percent of the soil surface is kept covered by residue after planting. Where wind erosion is a problem, at least 1000 pounds per acre of flat small grain residue equivalent is maintained on the soil surface during the most critical erosion period. Conservation tillage is an important tool in helping ensure the future productivity and profitability of cropland. This practice combats soil erosion and provides economic advantages to producers.

Haas' personal financial ties compromise integrity

The personal fortune of Supreme Court candidate Rene Haas represents a massive conflict-of-interest with court case matters, and would require an endless procession of recusals by her if elected.

Documents on file with the Texas Ethics Commission disclose a hefty personal portfolio of active trading in blue chip stocks, prime mutual funds and interest-bearing local government bonds. The corporations and public finance authorities she invests in are directly subject to Texas legal regulation, and are routinely parties in state Supreme Court proceedings.

Ms. Haas' lack of qualifications for office, her misleading attack campaign on Justice Raul Gonzalez, her high-dollar contributors with pending Supreme Court cases and her conflict-laden financial interests highlight the hypocrisy of her candidacy and underscore one of the ironies of the 1994 Place 1 race.

Conflict of interest, irony and hypocrisy

The role of the state Supreme Court in financial regulation was assured with the Texaco-Pennzoil dispute of the 1980s, an 11.5 billion decision. This was the largest single case in North American jurisprudence, and triggered the public mandate for Texas judicial reform.

In 1980, one of the Texaco-Pennzoil Supreme Court justices, C.L. Ray, based his opposition candidacy on the Exxon stockholdings of Justice Will Garwood. One of Ray's confidantes and most generous contributors at that time was trial lawyer David Perry.

At a press conference on Dec. 16, 1993, to announce her Supreme Court candidacy, David Perry's wife, Rene Haas, assured reporters she would not accept contributions from "insurance companies or polluters." In her current television ads, Ms. Haas accuses Justice Gonzalez of trading a court vote favoring Exxon in return for a $500 personal contribution from an Exxon staff attorney.

According to Ethics records, in 1993, Ms. Haas netted a substantial profit from trading in Exxon stock. According to her own financial statement, she sold between 1,000 and 4,999 shares of Exxon stock, which are currently selling on the New York Stock Exchange for $65.50 a share.

Ms. Haas' portfolio in 1993 - the period covered by the Ethics statement - includes large holdings and profits from trading in insurance, petrochemical, utility, medical, manufacturing and transportation stocks.

All of these organizations are subject to Texas state regulatory decisions, such as enforcement actions, taxation appeals and contractual disputes which end up on the state Supreme Court docket.

Included in the Haas portfolio are 10,000 or more shares of Pacific Gas & Electric; between 1,000 and 4,999 shares each of Southwestern Bell, MCI, Humana, Phillips Petroleum, Chevron, DuPont, Procter & Gamble, Johnson & Johnson, Telefonos Mexico, Texas Instruments and General Motors; and between 500 and 999 shares of Merck and Union Pacific.

Ms. Haas also has accused Justice Gonzalez of "holding a gavel in one hand while reaching for a check with the other" in press releases and TV ads, citing a recent vote favoring Houston Lighting & Power after receiving a personal $500 contribution from an HL&P staff attorney. Ms. Haas fails to mention a court opinion authored by Justice Gonzalez in 1987 which cost the company over $100 million following the closure of a nuclear power plant.

Had she gone to law school and taken a class in ethics, Ms. Haas would have learned that the selection of judges is about protecting the public interest, not drawing interest from the public trust. Perhaps this explains why only 17% of her colleagues in State Bar of Texas district 11 (based in her home Nueces County) voted for her over Justice Gonzalez.

Texas doesn't need a Supreme Court judge holding a gavel in one hand while phoning Wall Street stockbrokers with the other.

Tax Talk

by Duane Knabe, CPA

This week's topic is "tax brackets". The term "tax bracket" refers to the highest range of a taxpayer's income that is subject to tax. Taxable income that falls within certain "brackets" or ranges is taxed at a specified percentage as set forth in the tax law. The IRS Tax Rate Schedules, which accompany a taxpayer's tax return, show these tax brackets and the percentage of tax applicable to each bracket. This percentage can then be used to compute what the taxpayer's various tax planning decisions will save or cost in tax dollars.

Example: For 1992, Mr. & Mrs. X file a joint tax return. Their taxable income for the year is $36,000. By referring to tax rate schedule Y-1 they would find that they are in the 28% tax bracket which covers couples with $34,000 - $82,150 of taxable income. 3-41

Consider an IRA contribution for 1993 tax deduction

Even though 1993 is over, many people are still looking for ways to save tax dollars as the April 15 tax deadline approaches. The good news is you still may have time to save on your 1993 taxes by contributing to an individual retirement account (IRA).

"Many people don't realize they have until April 15 to make their IRA contributions and, in many cases, their contributions are fully deductible on '93 taxes," said Betty Peveto, branch manager of the A. G. Edwards Gainesville office.

Your ability to deduct your IRA contribution depends on your income level and whether you are an active participant in an employer-sponsored retirement plan such as a 401(k) plan.

If you and your spouse are not covered by such a plan, you can deduct the maximum contribution allowed -- $2,000 or $2,500 for married couples if only one spouse works -- regardless of your income. If either you or your spouse is covered by an employer-sponsored plan, your contributions are still fully deductible if your adjusted gross income is $40,000 or less for married couples, $25,000 or less for individuals.

However, your IRA contribution is not deductible if either you or your spouse is covered by an employer-sponsored retirement plan and your combined income is above $50,000 ($35,000 for individuals).

"Even if you can't deduct your contribution, you should consider an IRA," Peveto suggested. "With or without a tax deduction, the earnings from your investment compound year after year without being reduced by current taxes."

For example, assume you earn 7.5% on a $2,000 investment and you are in the 36% tax bracket. This $2,000 will generate $150 income each year. Outside your IRA, you would pay 36% of the $150 earnings in taxes, keeping only $96. However, inside your IRA, all $150 earned can grow tax deferred until you withdraw it.

Congressman Ralph M. Hall
4th District, Texas

"All For Hall From Rockwall"

Paid for by Hall for Congress Committee, J. Blakely Hall, Treas., P.O. Box 711, Rockwall, TX 75087. A copy of our report is filed and available for purchase from the Fed. Election Comm., Wash., D.C.

Congressman Ralph M. Hall voted:

- FOR ... Sensible and Realistic Health Care Legislation
My Goals for Health Care Reform are:
Do not disturb present workable and existing insurance programs when the insured are satisfied with the cost and quality of his or her policy.
The choice of the physician shall be made by the patient.
Coverage will include pre-existing conditions, long term care, and portability from job to job.
Reform will not lessen the care for Senior Citizens and Veterans.
Finally - we should preserve the free enterprise atmosphere that continues to attract devoted and dedicated men and women to the study and practice of medicine.
- FOR ... Preventing Unfair Tax Breaks and Pay Raises for Members of Congress.
"I voted NO on the initial passage of the bill which contained the 'Tax Break for Members of Congress' and then co-sponsored a bill to revoke it. It was unfair, untimely and unconscionable to seek such an advantage. I have never voted for a salary hike for Members of Congress. I know what the job paid when I ran for it."
- FOR ... Supporting the Men and Women in Agriculture
"I support Full Party for those who provide our food and fiber. The Federal Government should either 'get in or get out' of agriculture."
- FOR ... Cutting Out Junkies.
"I have taken one trip in 14 years at taxpayers expense and that was to produce a video on the SSC - which was shared with many science departments in my district. Trips at taxpayers expense should be worth that expense and worth my time."
- FOR ... Keeping the Faith With Our Senior Citizens.
"I have consistently voted AGAINST cutting the Cost of Living Allowance of the Social Security recipients, veterans, or federal retirees. If the COLAs are to be cut back, they should be cut back for everyone including Members of Congress."
- FOR ... Fiscal Responsibility
"I co-sponsored and voted for the Balanced Budget Amendment and for the Line Item Veto. Both are necessary to reduce the deficit."
- FOR ... Sensible and Safe Scaledown of Defense Spending
"I am proud of the defense buildup during the 1980's because the Desert War revealed our technical superiority when our first Patriot Missile intercepted and destroyed the Russian-made Scud. We must now pursue frugality and weed out greed and overcharging. We must, however, remember Thomas Jefferson's warning: 'Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom.'"
- FOR ... Keeping in Touch with the Thinking of the 4th District.
"During my fourteen years in Congress - I have returned to my home district every weekend - with the exception of nine weekends when we were in voting sessions."

The records of the Clerk of the House reflect that I have cast a vote on 99+% of the recorded votes for the year 1993 - well in excess of the average for House Members.

LET'S KEEP Congressman Ralph M. Hall

— a TEXAN voting a TEXAS vote !!!

The town in November of 1992 voted to build a new wastewater treatment plant to comply with more stringent treatment requirements recommended by the Texas Water Commission. The town in June 1992 received a temporary two-year extension to its wastewater treatment permit, but TWC officials told the town it must upgrade its wastewater treatment system to provide for a more stringent 10-15 permit. The town presently has a 30-90 treatment permit.

In other city business, filing has opened for positions up for election to the Valley View Town Council. Candidates will run at-large for two-year terms in the election to be held May 7. Aldermen whose terms are expiring include Eugene Miller, John Kubicek and Jimmy Meyer. Anyone interested in filing may contact Town Hall.

In a related matter, town aldermen during their regular February meeting, appointed Billy Joe Dyer to serve as election judge for the May 7 election.
