Building construction increases in Muenster area

by Janet Felderhoff

Saws are buzzing and carpenters' hammers ring out their own tune as nails are driven into wood.

All of the building activity evident around the Muenster area recently would lead one to believe that construction is booming once again in Muenster. There are presently four homes being built inside the Muenster city limits and several in the surrounding area.

There has been a recent increase in the purchase of land for the purpose of building single family homes. This seems to be the trend in Muenster as well as the rest of Texas. "Ten years after the plunge of the Texas real estate market, we are seeing an upturn driven by a growing economy," said State Comptroller John Sharp in a recent press release. He also noted that the upturn of the Texas real estate market is explored in one of the recent issues of "Fiscal Notes" which is a monthly publication of the Comptroller's Research Division. "Fiscal Notes" reported that the key factors fueling the upturn are increased consumer confidence, affordable home prices and low mortgage rates.

Both Dickie Pagel of Community Lumber Company and Rufus Henscheid of Muenster Building Center agreed that building and remodeling had picked up during recent months for Muenster and the surrounding area.

"It been better this year than last year because of the lower interest rates," said Pagel. "At Community we're doing 20 to 30 percent more building and remodeling this year. Even though interest rates are lower, lumber prices have increased from last year."

Rufus Henscheid didn't feel that the economy or lower interest rate had as much bearing on the recent increase in building as did the need for housing in this area. "It's not the economy as much as the pent up demand," he said. "There have been very few houses built for several years and that created a bubble demand and I hope that the bubble doesn't bust. I don't see the future being as strong."

A check on the building permits filed at Muenster City Hall show that building inside the city limits is up slightly from recent years. There have been four permits for new homes issued so far in 1993. Since 1987 there were three issued in 1988, 1990 and 1991; two issued in 1987 and 1992 and only one in 1989. Looking back through the records Celine Dittfurth, city secretary, noted that there were 9 permits issued in 1975 and 15 new home permits in 1978.

With these figures in mind we can see that building is getting better but it can't be called a building boom yet. "It is good now compared to what it was, but it's not a boom compared to what it was in the late '70's and early '80's," reflected Henscheid.

The local lumber yards both show that they are doing more building outside the city than inside it.

Dickie Pagel said that Community does a lot of building of homes around lake areas such as Moss, Kiowa and Katy. He said that people seem to be looking for building locations that offer several acres of land. "There aren't many lots in town," he said.

Henscheid said that Muenster Building Center has several homes being constructed in rural areas and in other towns in Cooke and Montague counties. He feels that Muenster's building and zoning restrictions are hindering construction in Muenster. "You've got to spend a considerable amount of money for plating and requirements before you can do anything," he said.

The fact that home loan interest rates are lower now than they have been in years was confirmed by Henry Weinzapfel of Muenster State Bank. "Interest rates are the lowest I've seen in about 25 years," said Weinzapfel. The rate at Muenster State Bank (MSB) is now 8 1/2 percent. That is somewhat higher than other banks, but MSB holds down other related costs and fees and this evens out so that it isn't out of line, Weinzapfel said.

"It's true there is quite a lot of building activity now," Weinzapfel remarked. "With the tight economy several years ago, people were hesitant to go into debt and banks were hesitant to make loans. Now people feel better about the economy, interest rates are lower and jobs seem secure. People put off building for so long and now when things are looking good they are taking the plunge and building the home they always wanted."

According to Mr. Weinzapfel the average price range for homes being built in the Muenster area is $75,000. Home loan maturity can range anywhere from 15 to 30 years with most maturing between 15 and 25 years. Muenster's are typically 15 years. State Comptroller John Sharp indicated in his recent report that the December 1992 average sales price for a Texas home was $94,400 and that remains well below the U. S. average of $130,600.

There are a number of things to take into consideration when determining if it is a good time for an individual or a family to purchase or build a home.

Weinzapfel commented that any officer at the bank would be happy to help interested persons fill out an application free of charge to see if it would work for them.

He also gave the following information for those who are thinking about taking such an important step: For a loan of $60,000 figure payments on the loan to be around $600 a month plus another $150 or more for insurance and tax. That increase monthly payments to around $750 to $800 a month. This must be handled along with the usual monthly bills. Job security and income are important to consider. The borrower must have land or a cash down payment of 20% of the loan. For easy figuring on a $100,000 loan there must be a $20,000 cash down payment or land valued at $10,000 and $10,000 cash.

The majority of homes being built around Muenster seem to be

Annual SH Trust Fund Dinner features local speakers

Sunday, Sept. 12 is the day on which the Sacred Heart School Board has scheduled their annual trust fund dinner and financial report. It will be held in the Sacred Heart Community Center with doors open at 11:30 a.m.

An afternoon of entertainment, including speakers, and a delicious meal are promised. Parents of current Sacred Heart students will talk about what brought them here to Sacred Heart and what they see in the future of Sacred Heart.

The Trust Fund was established in 1976 and has been growing steadily since that time. It is their goal to some day pay teachers' salaries from the interest. Only the interest is ever used; the principal is never spent. A board of directors headed by the pastor cares for the fund.

Tickets can be purchased at Modern Floors or from the Sacred Heart business office located in the west end of the convent. They are a $25 donation each. For more information call Gary Endres, 759-4810. Tickets should be purchased by Sept. 8.

Come enjoy an afternoon of camaraderie with your Sacred Heart family.

Public hearing draws interest, some threaten county tax rollback

by Elaine Schad

The word, "rollback," was mentioned numerous times during a public hearing held this week to receive input on the county's proposal to raise taxes by 26.31 percent.

More than 40 people attended the public hearing, which concerned a proposal to raise the tax rate from the present 38 cents per $100 valuation of property to 48 cents, or an increase of 26.31 percent. That translates to an additional $42 in the annual county tax bill for a person owning an average home valued at $39,198 by the Cooke County Appraisal District, or an increase from $146.23 to $188.15 in the annual county tax bill, according to figures supplied by the CCAD. The 10-cent tax increase is estimated to raise about $770,000 in new money for the county.

County Commissioners are expected to vote on the tax rate and the county's $7.2 million budget for fiscal 1994 during its regular meeting at 10 a.m. on Monday, Sept. 13, in the county courtroom, located on the second floor of the County Courthouse. The meeting is open to the public.

County Commissioners told those at the public hearing that the tax increase was needed because the county could no longer dip into its reserves to prevent substantial tax increases. Virtually every person of the approximately 25 who spoke at the public hearing urged commissioners to reconsider the tax increase, saying it's the wrong time for such a huge increase in a sluggish economy where federal and school tax increases loom overhead, and where job security is fleeting at best. A significant tax increase also sends the wrong message to individuals and businesses who may be considering Cooke County as a future home, others in attendance said.

"People are already feeding hay due to the drought," said Doris Heying, who with her husband Bob are retired in the southern part of the county. Bob Heying said a third of the couple's income has been lost due to floods in the Midwest which covered land they owned and had leased there. "Everything's going down in terms of income. There's only one thing going up, and that's taxes," Mrs. Heying said.

O.D. Garland reminded commissioners of the large number of people in Cooke County who are retired and who are on fixed incomes. William Baldwin said he doesn't think people can afford the increase. "It's time the government tightened its belts like us," he said. Trudi Kirkpatrick said people are reducing their lifestyles, and the county can do the same. Nita Harlow said she didn't have a problem with a 3 percent raise for county employees, but thought elected officials didn't need a raise. Dick Slaven said he felt the county should better communicate to the public about where county money is going.

Judy Smith, also from the southern part of the county, told commissioners she thought the huge proposed tax increase is nothing more than poorly managed affairs if it truly takes that much money in one swipe to make ends meet. "Why did you people hand out bailing buckets when the water was already over your heads?" she asked. "I think we need to throw those bailing buckets back and let you bail yourself out."

Bill Ledbetter, a northern Cooke County resident, cautioned commissioners to be practical before finally deciding to approve such a large tax increase. "As a practical matter, don't you think if you try to go above 8 percent, somebody's going to get a rollback petition and will vote for a rollback?" Ledbetter said. Registered voters are allowed to petition for a rollback vote if a tax increase surpasses 8 percent. Ledbetter, who said he has never supported a rollback in the past, said he may find himself voting in favor of a rollback if it came to a vote. "I think you can sharpen your pencils and cut that down," Ledbetter said of the budget and tax increase. "Twenty-six percent in one year is totally out of line. It's intolerable to me," he said. "It's self-defeating. It's self-destructive, and I think you know that."

County Judge Ray Russell said the county has been under increasing pressure, especially concerning ambulance service. In spite of the pressure, he said the county is also under more government mandates.

Commissioner Kenneth Alexander defended the increase, saying about as many people as were in attendance came earlier in the year requesting the county add another ambulance to its fleet to better cover the county. He said each commissioner precinct is dipping into reserves to help fund the proposed budget even with the tax increase, saying the 26 percent proposed increase doesn't fully fund the budget. "If I spend my whole budget, I'll have $5,000 in reserves left at the end of the year (1994)," Alexander said. "We can go back and cut the budget, but we've got to cut services," he said.

Historically, the four commissioner road and bridge precincts have carried large surpluses, with precincts seldom spending their entire budgeted amount during a fiscal year. The general fund budget, which is separate from road and bridge funds, had about $1 million in reserves over the past several years, but some of those reserves have been used to fund prior year budgets. Those reserves are expected to fall to about $435,000 by the end of fiscal 1994, according to County Auditor Gloria Parrish said.

Parrish said some reserves earmarked for county road and bridge work will be used this year to help offset some budget increases. By the end of the 1993 fiscal year, Precinct 1 will have $240,000 in reserves; Precinct 2 will have $108,000; Precinct 3 will have $301,000; and Precinct 4 will have $218,000 in reserves for total road and bridge reserves of $867,000. If all four commissioners spend their entire proposed 1994 budget, it is estimated that approximately $300,000 will remain in reserves by the end of fiscal 1994, according to figures supplied by Parrish.

Several factors have figured in the $372,000 rise in projected expenditures for fiscal 1994, according to County Auditor Gloria Parrish. Some increased expenditures will include about $90,000 in additional monies for a 3 percent cost-of-living increase for county employees and about $200,000 in additional funds for the purchase and manning of another county ambulance. All other departments combined will show a total increase of about $100,000.

MMH Board hears good doctor recruitment report

by Janet Felderhoff

The most-outstanding segment of the Wednesday, August 25 regular meeting of the Muenster Memorial Hospital Board of Directors was that of physician recruitment. Several new physicians will soon be a part of the staff.

Dr. Thomas Currier should be opening his OB/GYN practice in Muenster in the next two or three months.

An internal medicine specialist, Dr. Pervaiz Rahman of Gainesville, has agreed to come to Muenster one day a week to see patients. He will start sometime in September.

Dr. Michael Metzger, a podiatrist, has agreed to come to the Muenster Hospital to see patients one day a week.

Also Dr. Ted Asinas and his wife Karen visited Muenster on August 21 and 22 to consider the possibility of opening a family practice in Muenster. Margie Starke, project chairman, reported that all had gone well and that Dr. and Mrs. Asinas enjoyed the visit and were very impressed with the warm welcome that they received and with the hospital and community. The doctor should be making his decision soon as to whether he will move his practice to Muenster.

The business meeting was opened with a prayer led by Sam Endres. All members were present.

Administrator Jack Endres reported that total operating revenue for the month of July was $72,684.00; Total expenses were $140,848.00; Resulting loss for the month was $68,164.00.

In a unanimous vote the board agreed to continue to pay the insurance deductible for hospital employees. This applies to deductibles incurred at Muenster and other hospitals.

The next board meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 29 at 7 p.m. in the administrator's office.

Letters to the Editor

Letter to the Editor:

I visited with my Uncle Herb McDaniel last week and he wished to extend greetings to all his friends in Muenster. He really does enjoy visitors, and we reminisced for a full two hours. I really enjoyed it, and he really has the fishing stories of his forays with his nephew, Rufus Turnham, with pictures to prove it. His emphysema has him confined to his room in the Cottonwood Manor Rest Home. It is on the University Dr. turnoff of I-35 to the east to Carroll Street, #224 North.

He is getting very good care, and the place is really very clean. The telephone # is 817-387-1427. They told me that out-of-town visitors are welcomed any hour.

Till the next time,

Dear Editor:

If Bill Clinton was an ordinary man, I'd have little to say publicly about his stands on the issues. Instead, though, he and his wife hold great power and influence over the lives, security and future of this nation.

Indeed, their actions (often disguised in conservative rhetoric) have shown that they favor the destruction of unborn at will, the nuclear family, institutions such as the Boy Scouts of America, and public law upholding traditional standards of morality. I have faith that there are still enough good people in this free land who, once they see through the verbal smokescreen, will stand in this President's way at every turn, until we can get into office a God-fearing man or woman, who respects traditional standards of moral and constitutional law. It is no accident that the halls of government still pays allegiance to the Almighty while they work at feverish pace to destroy the public's observation of same. They rarely pass a law to which they themselves are subject, including financial and healthcare laws.

At this moment, Bill and Hillary Clinton are pushing unlimited abortion via the so-called "Freedom of Choice Amendment." Under this amendment the only difference between a killing or a live birth through the ninth month is the intent of the mother. Even if it does not pass, Hillary has a back-up plan: healthcare reform which includes abortion on demand in her "basic benefits" package. That means, under this scenario, that our own Gainesville Memorial Hospital will become an abortion mill whether the citizens want their property and other taxes spent that way or not. And, if all else fails, they have their erstwhile appointment of the condom/sex-ed/abortion queen herself, Joslyn Elders, as our new Surgeon General.

Except in the rare cases of rape, incest or saving the life of the mother, abortion is the plain and simple murder of the unborn. And, even then there are time considerations.

Our President has chosen the side on which he stands. And it's not the side on which we, the people, stand. He has striven to divide us, class against class, race against race, gender against gender, welfare recipient against working people. We, as rightful precursors to this President, must come back together and fight this invasion of principle at the ballot box and in the public opinion polls.

Only then can we reclaim our freedoms, reduce the theft of our livelihood through rapidly increasing taxes, and send a clear message to all who will hear that America will not be reduced to the moral and impoverished rubble of most of the rest of the world.

Yours sincerely,

MISD faces task of setting 1994 tax rate

by Steve Cooper, MISD Superintendent

MISD's School Board has begun the process of setting the tax rate for next year. The purpose of this article is to explain that process and circumstances that affect tax rates. Tax rates are influenced by many things, some of which the local district can control and some they can't control. The last several finance bills, from Austin, have drastically affected what local districts can control. The state exerts more and more influence on yearly tax rates. (Let me inject something here - many people feel local entities pass the buck when they blame the state for this or that - but the facts are there and, in many instances, the state is directly responsible for high tax rates - I would encourage each taxpayer to check out the facts for themselves - don't take my word for anything.) Each time we have a new finance bill, funding formulas are calculated to require wealthier districts to pay higher taxes. Senate Bill 7 (the latest finance bill) has done just that. The wealthier the district the less state money the district gets; consequently, higher local taxes are necessary to offset the reduced state funding.

This year, there are multiple influences on the tax rate, most of which the district has no control over.

MISD lost approximately $6 million in total taxable value as indicated on this year's certified tax roll. This translates to a 6-cent tax increase, just to make up the lost value. MISD has no control over lost value.

Final figures are now in on next year's state money - MISD will be losing $96,000 (my original projections were around $50,000 but the final figures reflect an actual loss of $96,000). MISD has no control over this figure, either.

Last year, MISD opted to cut 6 cents off the tax rate (the rate was 98 cents - it was cut to 92 cents for '92-'93). It was cut by using reserve that was encumbered for debt service. That is all that money can be used for - that money was generating about 2.9% interest - not enough to make any significant contribution in any area. Consequently, the Board felt our taxpayers could use the 6 cents better than we could, even if it was for only one year. MISD knew that the 6 cents would have to be reinstated this year because the reserve was there for only one year. Debt service requirements have to be satisfied, that's why there is no choice for 1993-'94. MISD did exert control in that area; there could have been no tax cut last year, then there would have been no increase of 6 cents this year. MISD's Board has always had the philosophy of doing all they could to control taxes, that is what precipitated the decision to give a one-year, 6-cent cut, knowing the next year it would have to be reinstated.

If we begin to put together the pieces, the picture is very bleak - 6 cents last year to property value, 6 cents to debt service and a $96,000 loss in state funding is quite a hurdle to overcome.

In my last article, I talked about the '93-'94 budget - I explained our budget projection for this next school year. A $61,000 increase is projected - what I didn't mention is that approximately $50,000 had been cut from last year's budget to hold the line at a 4% increase. Approximately $25,000 was cut from last year's expenditures on computer hardware and software and a like amount was cut from our band program, reducing it to a half-day program this coming year.

As I've tried to chronicle state mandates and their impact on our budget over the past four years, it's relatively easy to see much of our budget is affected by these mandates.

COUNTY TAX

officials said.

The county will be purchasing an additional ambulance and will man it with six employees in order to provide additional emergency coverage of the county. That will cost an estimated $200,000 for the first six months of operation, which should begin by this spring, Alexander said. Also included in that total is about $25,000 for the expansion of the county ambulance building on Chestnut Street to accommodate the additional vehicle and personnel. Commissioners decided to expand the ambulance service following a study which indicated there was a need to provide additional emergency service to accommodate county growth and due to the growing problem of providing patient transfers.

In addition to the county increase in expenditures, there could be some revenue shortfalls, according to Parrish. County revenues have not kept up with projections for fiscal 1993, she said. The ambulance service alone is projecting about an $80,000 revenue shortfall by the end of this fiscal year, due mainly to reductions paid to the county through federal Medicare reimbursements, which have been cut by the federal government, Parrish said. There has also been a decline in many of the county departments that take in fines, Alexander said.

Most districts in the state and the county will be struggling in much the same way. Some not quite as much because they already have high tax rates - our tax rate will still be at least the 2nd lowest in the county and maybe the lowest. However, none will have the exact same set of circumstances that we do because we are the only above-average wealth district in the county. Most county schools get at least twice as much state aid as we do because they are below-average wealth. Our local tax levy is much higher than surrounding districts because they do not have the taxable wealth MISD has. Some of the schools in the county generate a lot of state money from transfer students - this is true of both Era and Lindsay. This translates directly into additional state dollars. This year, MISD has a few more students than normal - a good rule of thumb to keep in mind is this - for every 10 students we get, that is about 4 cents in taxes. Additional students allow districts to generate reserve funds and maintain a comparatively low tax rate. If MISD were to continue to grow, you can readily see the impact on local taxes.

Finally, there are some things that MISD can control locally. It simply boils down to what you, the taxpayers, are willing to pay for. Keep in mind that our school district ranks in the top 2% of the schools in the state. That doesn't happen by accident and it is not maintained by luck - it always takes a certain amount of money to run a school and people are the key ingredient, specifically teachers who do a good job teaching students and all the support staff that contribute to that success. Most of our folks are still paid less than those in other county districts.

We've managed to do the job on a below-average expenditure per pupil, which simply translates - we don't waste money.

MISD is looking at somewhere between a 15 cent and 18 cent increase. 6 cents due to loss in value, a 6-cent increase for debt service - the remainder for loss in state funds; much is beyond our control, some is not.

We have seven very intelligent people sitting on our board, all of whom own land, some of them very involved in running their own business. Whatever that business might be, they do not make taxing decisions lightly, but they are privy to all constraints and influences and feel very deeply their responsibility to the students and constituents they serve. There is a desire to maintain a quality school, to meet the demands of teaching and curriculum for our students and to insure a future for these kids.

I certainly don't have all the answers, but am willing to talk to anyone, anytime about school finance and taxes. We solicit your input and will be having at least one public meeting (to be announced later).

There is light at the end of the tunnel - but only if the State of Texas will allow some consistency and stability to return to our system of finance.

August 28 ceremony unites couple

Julie Lynn Fuhrmann and Dale Alan Martin were married in St. Peter's Catholic Church of Lindsay on Saturday, Aug. 29, 1993, in a Nuptial Mass and double-ring vows officiated by Father Eugene Luke, OSB, at 5 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Aloys and Marge Fuhrmann of Lindsay. She is a 1990 graduate of Lindsay High School and a 1993 graduate of the Nursing School of Cooke County College, and is employed at Denton Regional Medical Center as graduate nurse.

The groom is the son of Earl and Marge Clement of Gainesville and Bill and Linda Martin of Nocona. He is a 1988 graduate of Lindsay High School, a 1992 graduate of Cooke County College and is presently attending the University of North Texas and is employed as a machinist at Valenite.

Before an altar decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, white and ruby carnations, Stargazer lilies and English ivy, with baskets of greenery and votive candles in candelabra and a Unity candle on the altar and white satin bows marking the center aisle, the bride was presented by her father.

For her wedding, she chose a white shantung gown by Carole, styled with an off-shoulder neckline, and Alencon lace covered fitted bodice adorned with iridescent sequins and pearls. Short sleeves were topped with fabric rosettes and edged in lace, pearls and beading. The long, full skirt and cascading cathedral-length train were also edged with lace encrusted with iridescents and pearls. A large bow accented the back waist, and lace motifs were scattered on the train.

A band of rosebuds and pearl roses highlighted with sequins and pearl sprays held her double-tier veil of illusion.

She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses, ruby and mauve rosebuds, English ivy and baby's breath entwined with her mother's crystal rosary.

She wore pearl earrings and necklace and a pearl bracelet, a gift from the groom. For sentiment, she wore her great-grandmother's wedding ring, which was worn by her grandmother, her mother and her sister at their weddings.

ATTENDANTS

They were attired in ruby shantung two-piece dresses designed with off-shoulder necklines, long slim ankle-length skirts, with pearl accessories, and a pearl necklace, gift from the couple. They carried bouquets of white and ruby roses, ivy and baby's breath.

Pamela Martin, groom's niece of Gainesville, was flower girl, wearing a long white dress with fabric rosettes. Adam Schumacher, bride's nephew of Lindsay, was ring bearer.

Curtis Weems, a friend of the groom of Denton, was best man. Billy Martin of Gainesville, groom's brother; Greg Zimmerer of Lindsay, Ted Cason of Woodbine, Ralph Klement of Gainesville and Jeff Myrick of Lindsay, friends of the groom, were groomsmen.

Kevin Fuhrmann and Glenn Fuhrmann of Lindsay, brothers of the bride; Chris Martin of Killeen and David Martin of Denton, brothers of the groom; Patrick Schully of Lindsay and Kelly Colwell of Forestburg served as ushers.

Mass servers were Bryan Hudspeth, a cousin of the bride, of Myra and Jeff Bezner of Lindsay.

Linus Fuhrmann of Lindsay, brother of the bride, gave Readings in the wedding liturgy. Patsy Henry provided traditional organ music for processional and recessional and accompanied herself for sacred songs.

RECEPTION

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the Lindsay Centennial Hall.

The Hermes Sisters catered dinner and guests danced to music by Rio West.

Securing guest signatures in the bride's book were Francine Walterscheid of Muenster, bride's cousin; Julie Sandmann of Lindsay and Angie Alsop of Gainesville, friends.

The four-tiered wedding cake, with a scalloped bottom layer, held a fresh bouquet of roses on the top keepsake layer. Icing roses and entwined hearts further decorated the cake. Reception assistants and cake servers were Kim Otto of Gainesville, stepsister of the groom; Amy Sandmann, friend of the bride; Laci Otto, Jennifer and Christina Otto, Catherine Lusk, Jennifer Bezner and Jackie Bezner.

The bride's table, covered with white lace, was decorated with fresh greenery, tulle swags and white satin bows. Brass candleholders held white tapers. Guest tables held hurricane globes with ruby candles and English ivy. Lattice panels, ficus trees and miniature crystal lights were included in hall decorations.

The evening before the wedding, a rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clement at The Wooden Spoon, honoring the bride and groom, their wedding attendants and family members.

Golden anniversary observed by Klements

Celebrating 50 years of marriage, Tony and Sis Klement observed the anniversary happily surrounded by children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and spouses of their sons and daughters, and a gathering of friends and relatives.

The celebration began with a Mass of Thanksgiving and renewal of marriage vows at noon in Sacred Heart Church, officiated by Father Victor Gillespie, OSB, on Sunday, Aug. 22, 1993. Their original wedding date was Aug. 19, 1943.

Leading the entrance procession were the honor couple's original attendants, his sister Anna Marie (Klement) Bayer and her brother Harold Schmitz. Following the goldenweds were Father Victor and Mass servers, John Klement, son of Pat and Ruth Klement; Coy Fisher, son of Willie and Janet Fisher; Ryan Klement, son of Roy and Carol Klement. Candle lighters were Jonathan Otto, son of Ed and Darlene Otto, and Jeff Walterscheid, son of Giles and Marlene Walterscheid, all grandsons.

A granddaughter, Gaye Lanette Fisher, daughter of Janet and Willie Fisher, was narrator for a procession of treasured memorabilia to be placed on a table near the altar. She related that Melissa, daughter of Janet and Willie Fisher, carried "Grandma and Grandpa's wedding picture from 50 years ago;" Erik, son of Alice and the late Kenny Walterscheid, carried the Unity candle "which represents the togetherness and love Grandma and Grandpa have felt for each other for 50 years;" Kimberly, daughter of Roy and Carol Klement, carried the family Bible and rosary "which symbolizes Grandma and Grandpa's Catholic faith;" James, son of Steve and Dianna Klement, carried a picture of his beloved Uncle Jimmy, the third oldest child, "who has been deeply missed by his family since Feb. 3, 1968;" Kenneth, son of Alice and the late Kenny Walterscheid, carried a picture of his dad, "who has been missed by his family since May 24, 1991;" Keith, son of Marlene and Giles Walterscheid, carried grapes, "which represent Grandpa's wine making;" Adam, son of Joyce and Tom Bayer, carried bread and honey, "which represents Grandma's bread making and Grandpa's love for bees;" Brandon, son of Roy and Carol Klement, carried Grandpa's hammer "which represents his many years of carpentry work;" Mindy, daughter of Diane Walterscheid, carried the 50th anniversary bell "which represents Grandma's bell collection;" and Frank, son of Pat and Ruthie Klement, carried a set of dominoes "which represents Grandpa's many hours of enjoyment with his friends and family."

Participating in the anniversary liturgy were all grandchildren: Jeannene (Walterscheid) Bayer, daughter of Alice and the late Kenny Walterscheid, and Lori Klement, daughter of Steve and Dianna Klement, who gave Readings from the Old and New Testaments; Jason Huchton, son of Peachie and Neil Huchton, who read the Responsorial Psalms; Amy Otto, daughter of Darlene and Ed Otto, DaLana Walterscheid, daughter of Giles and Marlene Walterscheid, and Jennifer Bayer, daughter of Joyce and Tom Bayer, who read Offertory Petitions and Prayers of the Faithful.

Offertory gifts were presented by grandsons Mike and Ron Dangelmayr, sons of Patsy and Paul Dangelmayr, and Connie (Klement) Stoffels, daughter of Robert Klement and Laujuana Klement, and Rhonda (Bayer) Pagel, daughter of Joyce and Tom Bayer.

Ushers were grandsons Chris and Darrell Dangelmayr, sons of Patsy and Paul Dangelmayr, Darren Klement, son of Pat and Ruth Klement, and Bubba Klement, son of Robert Klement and Laujuana Klement.

Arrangements of white gladioli tied with gold bows, tall candles and votive lights decorated the altar. Gold bows marked center aisle pews.

RECEPTION

Children of the honored couple and their spouses hosted a reception and catered meal for 200 relatives. Children of Tony and Sis Klement are Pat Klement, Patsy Dangelmayr (twins); Jim Klement, deceased; Robert Klement; Joyce Bayer; Janet Fisher; Alice Walterscheid; Roy Klement; Steve Klement; Diane Walterscheid; Darlene Otto, Marlene Walterscheid (twins); Peachie Huchton; Kevin Klement; and Gary Don Klement. There are 35 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren.

Renee (Klement) Knabe, daughter of Pat and Ruth Klement, and Cheryl Bayer, daughter of Joyce and Tom Bayer, presided at the guest book at a table covered with gold taffeta overlaid with white crochet made by Alice Walterscheid, holding the original wedding picture, original and current invitations and flowers.

During the family dinner, catered by the Schneiders, a program was presented by Steve Klement and Joyce Bayer, relating highlights of 50 years, growing up together, humorous memories of all the children. Lanette Fisher read a poem of grandchildren's memories of Grandma and Grandpa.

A surprise video showed pictures of the honor couple, from their own infancy through that of their children to the present time, set to a background of music of "Songs of Yesteryear," provided by David Muller.

The three-tiered anniversary cake, made by Imogene Zimmerer, stood in a circle of tulle and flowers, and held fresh pink arrangements between layers, with a gold 50 on the top keepsake layer. The chocolate groom's cake was decorated with white dominoes around the edges and strawberries. It carried the lettering, "Just One More Game," and was made by Leslie Klement. Cake cutters were Imogene Zimmerer and Leslie and Stephanie Klement. Servers were Stephanie Huchton, daughter of Peachie and Neil Huchton; Crystal Klement, daughter of Pat and Ruth Klement; Kimberly Klement, daughter of Roy and Carol Klement; Amy and Jessica Pagel, daughters of Curtis and Rhonda Pagel.

The main table held the Unity candle, fresh pink and white carnations and the original candleholders used 50 years ago. Lattice board behind the table held a heart of pink flowers, gold bows and white tulle.

Guest tables, covered in white, held gold ribbon and glass bowls of pink flowers surrounded by sprinkled potpourri.

A picture table held the family portrait, all individual family portraits and a cross stitch family tree by Janet Fisher.

An apple tree on one wall held wooden red apples for every family member, spouses, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and for the deceased Jim Klement and Kenny Walterscheid. All the apples were taken home as keepsakes.

On one wall, a white lattice arch stood over mannequins wearing a Coast Guard dress uniform and cap, and a replica of a white satin bridal gown, owned by the honor couple. Another display was a white Coast Guard regulation uniform, a Subiaco sweater and corresponding photos.

A setting used repeatedly for family portraits included white pillars, fresh ferns, white lattice and white wicker furniture.

An Open House followed from 3 to 5 p.m. Visiting, reminiscing and a buffet of pick-up foods, a wine fountain and a punch and coffee service added to festivities.

For her anniversary celebration, Sis Klement wore a pink chiffon dress with white and pearl accessories, and a corsage of silk roses, pink carnations and gold leaves.

Guests from out of town came from Dallas, Windthorst, Hereford, Combine, Garland, and Copperas Cove and many from the Cooke County area.

Conversation turned frequently to recollections of the wedding day when Isabel Marie Schmitz, daughter of Theodore Schmitz of Lindsay and the late Pauline Loerwald Schmitz, became the bride of Anthony J. Klement, CM 2C, U.S. Coast Guard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klement of Muenster. The wedding was held in St. Peter's Church of Lindsay on Thursday, Aug. 19, 1943 at 9 a.m., officiated by Father Conrad Herda, OSB. The bride wore a white satin gown overlaid with a net skirt, and a fingertip veil held by a wreath of seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white gladioli.

The maid of honor wore a similar gown of pink taffeta, a shoulder-length veil and a corsage of white carnations.

Breakfast and a noon meal were served to family members in the home of the bride's father. A reception in the community hall, a buffet supper and a dance honored the couple. About 200 guests attended.

The groom was on a 14-day leave from his station in Bucksport, South Carolina. The couple returned to his duty station, driving a 1939 Dodge Coupe.

Cooke County school districts didn't receive their checks this week disbursing surplus property tax funds from the Cooke County Education District because of a statewide restraining order issued on Monday freezing all such funds pending the outcome of a Sept. 13 court hearing.

Cooke County Appraisal District Chief Appraiser Ross Fry said, as CCED successor in interest, he was ready to disburse the $292,000 in property tax funds on Wednesday, Sept. 1, but received information just one day earlier that the funds have been frozen by a judge's order.

The 188 county education districts in Texas are under a judge's order not to spend the surplus funds pending a Sept. 13 hearing on a lawsuit filed by two Bexar County school districts. The districts are suing over the proposed distribution of more than $12.4 million in surplus tax collections in Bexar County. State District Judge Scott McCown extended the ruling to all county education districts, saying that all of the monies should be distributed in the same way statewide.

The Valley View School District was due to receive the largest part of the $292,000 in remaining Cooke County property tax revenues collected over 1991 and 1992. Valley View Superintendent Steve Sneider said the distribution is based on a formula under Senate Bill 7, the new state education funding bill, to help school districts that are losing state funds make up some of the loss with the surplus county property tax funds. Sneider said the delay won't hurt the school district's money situation, unless the ruling eventually went against the current distribution formula.

The Valley View ISD will receive about $98,000, representing 33.7 percent of the $292,369 left over from property taxes collected during 1991 and 1992. The money was left over because the Texas Education Agency allowed only a certain amount to be distributed to each school district under the old funding formula, Fry said. The percentages of distribution of the local funds are determined by the amount of state aid each district will receive for 1993-1994, he said.

The Era ISD will receive just over $60,000, or 20.7 percent. The Gainesville ISD will receive 19.1 percent or about $56,000. The Lindsay ISD will receive 15.75 percent or about $46,000. The Sivealls Bend ISD will get 8.5 percent or about $25,000. The Muenster ISD will receive only 2.3 percent of the money, or about $6,600. The Walnut Bend and Callisburg school districts will receive no money, according to the formula.

Officials are unsure how any future court ruling may affect the distribution of an estimated $500,000 in uncollected local property taxes for 1991 and 1992. That money could be distributed according to a separate formula depending upon information yet to be received by the state.

New cardiac center to serve North Texas

by Elaine Schad

Groundbreaking is expected to be held in about two weeks for the construction of a $244,000 cardiac rehabilitation center that will serve heart patients in North Texas and southern Oklahoma, officials said Thursday.

Gainesville Memorial Hospital District board members this week (Tuesday) awarded a $182,500 bid to Jones and Jeffries Construction of Denton to build the 4,453 square-foot Dr. William F. Powell Cardiac Rehabilitation Center on the east wing of the hospital. An additional $62,000 will be needed to equip the cardiac center, which will provide monitored physical rehabilitation programs designed by physicians along with diet and medication programs on an outpatient basis.

The center is named for a longtime Cooke County physician, the late William F. Powell, and has a target opening date of Jan. 1, 1994. The construction project will involve converting four existing hospital rooms and connecting two existing buildings together to form the facility, said Gayla Blanton, GMH community relations director.

The cardiac center will be paid for with private donations and by Gainesville Memorial Hospital, Blanton said. The hospital's auxiliary has sponsored several fundraising activities, and GMH has applied for a federal grant for the project, she said. Any business or individual interested in making a donation toward the cardiac center may contact Blanton at 665-1751.

Cooke County Chorale season gets underway with rehearsals

The Cooke County Chorale held its first rehearsal of the 1993-94 season Tuesday, Aug. 24, 7 to 9 p.m. in the choir room of the Gainesville High School.

This fall the program will include much of the music the chorale will sing on its 1994 European tour, especially American music, songs of Texas, spirituals, patriotic selections and a few German numbers. In addition, the choir will perform the remaining two suites of the Robert Shaw collection which were sung last fall.

Three to four concerts will be presented locally during the season.

First rehearsals will include discussions of the European tour. The chorale welcomes all area singers to become members and participate in the eight-day tour next year. Concerts will be presented in Munich and Salzburg. Sight-seeing will take the group into southern Germany and Austria.

Regular rehearsals are Tuesday evenings, 7 to 9 p.m. in the Gainesville High School choir room, unless otherwise specified. Interested persons may contact the chorale's director, Dr. Michael Linder, 817-668-7731, ext. 309, Cooke County Chorale.

The chorale is a part of the Cooke County Arts Council and is dedicated to classical and quality music.

The Family of Jimmy Barnhill

I've shut the door on yesterday and thrown the key away -
Tomorrow holds no fears for me,
Since I have found today.

You were a Daddy to us
A friend to many others
A brother and a son too
Oh, Daddy how we all miss you.

You are with Jesus now
And He will take care of you
He loves all of us Daddy
And He will take care of us too.

Someday when we get to heaven
We will all be together again
Then we can walk the heavens together
Holding each other hand in hand.

But you see, you are still here too
We keep you in a very special place
You are in our hearts forever
And you will never really go away.

Hornets hope to prove predictions are wrong

In a six-team district, the Muenster Hornets are predicted to finish the football season in 4th place behind Collinsville, Valley View and Lindsay. Era and Saint Jo round out the district.

In 1990, Muenster was picked 4th, won the district and played 3 playoff games. Last year, the Hornets were again named to finish 4th and again advanced to the playoffs. Maybe history will repeat itself.

"Picks don't mean anything," commented Coach Grady Roller. "Paperwork doesn't win ball games, the players as a team do."

Collinsville, led by Trent Cox, Barry Vannoy and Jamie Montoya, are out to finish what they started last season, to make the playoffs. Muenster ruined the Pirates' chances with an upsetting 12-7 district opening win last September.

Cox passed for 1,930 yards, 690 of those to Vannoy, with Montoya rushing for 900 yards, for a total of 1,400 yards.

Valley View, after a state semi-final finish last year, lost a lot in graduation. Lance Morris returns after making 11 touchdowns and gaining over 700 yards last season. "Valley View is thin on experience but is playoff hungry," stated the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. The Eagles dominated Muenster last season 21-0, but look for a different ending as the Hornets have that winning tradition.

The Lindsay Knights are predicted to give Muenster a good fight for 3rd place. Last year's Kraut Bowl on the "Old Knight Field" ended with the Hornets edging out a 20-14 win. Both teams put forth their best efforts in a typical Muenster-Lindsay battle.

Shane Huchton led the Knights with 750 yards rushing and 508 in the air last year and will again be Lindsay's leader. All-District guards Matt Menzie and Toby Eberhart will help strengthen the line.

The Era Hornets will be led by junior Matt Lyons. Lyons had 13 touchdowns and 1,155 yards his sophomore season. Era's line seems to be a strong point with Kirk Short and Cody Ortowski.

Last year's lopsided 40-6 district win by Muenster's Red Hot Hornets left Era stunned. They did have a few minutes of glory when the game was tied 6-6 in the second quarter, but Kenneth Walterscheid rushed for 333 yards while Muenster's defense held Lyons to 59 yards.

The Saint Jo Panthers almost upset Muenster last season, but the Hornets' last-minute, come-from-behind 22-20 win kept Muenster in line for the playoffs. Saint Jo ended the season winless and again faces a long, tough year in a competitive district.

CODY SICKING (30) takes the ball from quarterback Jason Huchton and follows the blocking of A.J. Knabe (10), Rodney Vogel (70) and Darrell Charles (54). The Hornets scrimmaged Alvord last week to get ready for the season opener at Tom Bean Friday night.

Hornets scrimmage tough Bulldogs

Muenster hosted Alvord for an evening of practice last Thursday, with the varsity falling 5-1 while the junior varsity outscored the Bulldogs.

"Our tackling was the worst," said Coach Grady Roller of his varsity Hornets. "We didn't look as good as the week before and proved we have a long way to go on defense." The scrimmage will help Muenster going into their first game, with Alvord playing as strong as they did last season.

Offensively, the Hornets are moving the ball earlier, they didn't stagger all night. "The offense is improving though they haven't proved it, but we have time to learn."

The junior varsity outscored Alvord 3-0 with one defensive touchdown. "The JV defense looked good, neither Gunter or Alvord could move the ball," commented Coach Roller. "The offense moved the ball consistently." The young kids are playing good. "They are our future - and we hope they get in more playing time this season."

Muenster travels to Tom Bean Friday night for their season opener. The Tom Cats are a passing team with only about 30% of the plays on the ground. Their offense lost a couple of players with graduation but they still can score freely with some excellent receivers. Quarterback Jason McNutt passed for 1,513 yards and 11 touchdowns in '92. Tom Bean's offense and defense is about the same as last year.

"Last year, we couldn't move the ball," said Coach Roller on the Hornets' 40-8 defeat last season. "If we move the ball Friday night, it could be a good game."

A big plus over last year's opener is that everybody's looking healthy.

Jason Huchton has a sore thumb, which is interfering with his throwing, but he is improving daily. Game time is 8 p.m. at Tom Cat Stadium.

Tigers prepare for Era

"We couldn't be more prepared," commented Coach John Nasche about his Tigers. "The boys have a great work ethic. Our early concern was to be mentally prepared, which I believe we are."

Coach Nasche believes the game should be close and exciting, but they must shut down Matt Lyons or have a repeat from last year's 26-2 defeat. Lyons scored 20 points in the first quarter and was the leading rusher for the night with 259 yards.

Offensively, the Hornets are bigger and faster. "But if we can block well and run, we should be able to move on them," continued Nasche. "If they shut down our running game completely, we should be able to pass."

Action begins at 8 p.m. on Tiger Field.

Quarterback Club
The Muenster Quarterback Club will meet every Monday night at 7 p.m. in the new gym.

Lindsay scrimmages show improvement

The Knights of Lindsay had practices recently with Nocona and Chico.

At Nocona, on Aug. 20, the Indians outscored Lindsay 2-1 on varsity and tied 1-1 with the junior varsity. "The boys played well," said Coach Charles Meurer. "The defense had trouble with their run and shoot, but I'm not worried, it was a scrimmage." Meurer commented that the offense moved the ball extremely well with the line and backs blocking and knowing what to do.

In last Friday's practice with Chico, the Knights outscored the Dragons in 3 different matches.

The varsity held Chico to 3 or 4 first downs. "Our passing game is improving as is the blocking," commented Meurer. "We played very aggressively." Lindsay scored one touchdown while holding Chico scoreless.

The junior varsity of mostly freshmen scored one touchdown, moving the ball well against the Dragons while playing good defense.

A final practice of Lindsay's 2nd team, which included several JV members, outscored Chico's 1st team 3-0.

Lindsay will host Windthorst this Friday on the Knights' new field to begin regular season play. The Trojans have 17 lettermen returning and 8 starters both ways. "Windthorst is a good aggressive team," Coach Meurer commented. "They have an outstanding tailback, Jesse Sapp - one of the best we'll be matched up against." Meurer said the Knights will have to gang tackle him because he's too strong and quick for one-on-one defense. Windthorst's offensive line blocks well and gets in fast.

Lindsay has two minor injuries going into their first game. Jeff Hale and Toby Eberhart have both been taking it easy in practice with bruises and will not be 100% Friday night.

Game time is 8 p.m. Friday on Knight Field.

Confusion about dove bag limits and identification

Each fall some hunters get confused about daily bag and possession limits for mourning doves and other species. Hunters also should be aware of which species of dove they are hunting.

Ron George, deputy chief of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's wildlife branch, said a daily bag limit is defined as, "The maximum number of the indicated species permitted to be possessed by one person when lawfully taken in the United States," he said. "A possession limit of migratory game birds usually is twice the daily bag limit. A person cannot legally shoot a daily bag limit of doves in the morning, then go out in the afternoon and shoot more doves."

Texas has three native species of doves which may be legally hunted. Most people easily recognize the mourning dove which occurs statewide, but many people in Central and North Texas have never seen white-winged and white-tipped doves.

Country Tidings by Ruth Smith

Services for Mrs. Millie Settle, 64, of 821 N. Commerce St. in Gainesville were held Friday, Aug. 27, at 2 p.m. in the Geo. J. Carroll & Son Funeral Home. Rev. John Lambert, OSA, of St. Mary's Catholic Church officiated. Interment was in the Rosston Cemetery.

Mrs. Settle passed away Wednesday in the Methodist Hospital in Houston. Millie was born Sept. 12, 1928 in Hallettsville. Her parents were the late Jon R. and Albina Klecker Prasek.

Millie Prasek and H.L. Settle Jr. were married March 14, 1947 in Houston. H.L. Settle Jr. preceded her in death April 6, 1991. Millie spent most of her adult life in Houston. She was employed by Hughes Tool Co. for 30 years.

Millie and H.L. Jr. moved to Cooke County in 1978, where they were engaged in ranching in the Rosston area. They lived in Gainesville.

She is survived by two sons and daughters-in-law, Allen and Rita Settle of Muenster, Weldon and Paula Settle of Humble; two granddaughters; and sisters Annie Kupka, Frances Kupka, Pauline Keorth, all of Hallettsville, and Albina Gray of Houston; brothers, James Prasek of Houston and Louis Prasek of Hallettsville; and several nieces and nephews and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Settle of Gainesville.

Pallbearers were Herbert Richardson, Harold Bowles, Carl Bayer, Herbert Sicking, Larry Koeth, Eddie Haley, Charles Keorth and Eugene Keorth. Honorary pallbearers were Joyce Richardson, JoAnn Sicking, Norma Bayer, Cindy Bowles, Bob Richardson, Nathan Bowles and Tom Richardson.

In the service, the hymn, "Amazing Grace," was offered. Scriptures were read.

Father Lambert spoke of Millie as being a hard worker, loved children and was very kind and merciful and everyone's "mom." The Lord's Prayer was offered, then the hymn "How Great Thou Art" was sung.

The funeral procession traveled down FM 1630 where Millie and H.L. Jr. had traveled many times to the ranch to attend their cattle and other things. They enjoyed coming to and fro. They paused at their gate where there was a pretty spray of flowers, then the procession went on to the Rosston Cemetery where Millie was laid to rest.

Gladys Balthrop and Anna Kirk returned Tuesday from a week's trip to South Dakota. They accompanied their daughter and sister, respectively, Mrs. Sybil Smith of Texarkana, to Ellsworth Air Force Base in South Dakota. She was returning her grandson, Germany Smith, to his home there. His dad, David Ray Smith, is stationed there. They enjoyed sightseeing and enjoyed seeing the beautiful country. They saw a passion play at Spearfish, also Mt. Rushmore and the Black Hills. They went through five states. They returned home Tuesday, Aug. 24. Mrs. Smith left Tuesday at 4:30 to return to her home in Texarkana.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hudspeth went to Wichita Falls Thursday and spent the night with relatives and came home Friday.

Mrs. Martha Jo Dale of Carrollton visited Mrs. Josephine Berry Monday morning. Byron Berry and boys of Denton visited Mrs. Berry recently.

Joe Frank Berry entered Denton Regional Hospital for treatment Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Christian visited the Jimmy Christian family in Springtown Monday. Their new great-grandson, Todd Christian, and his mother were dismissed from Harris Hospital Monday and Tip and Ruth got to see them also.

Well, I am still looking and waiting for much-needed rain. Seems the weather forecasters promise us some. Maybe when September comes we will be blessed with some. I hope so - would like to have 3 or 4 inches to wash the dust away.

Cattlemen should check cow body condition

Wintertime was mostly wet and cold, exactly the type of weather than can steal profits from a cattle operator's cow herd.

Producers should check the body condition of their cows now or they may be risking profitable reproduction objectives for next year, according to Glenn Selk, Oklahoma State University Extension cattle reproduction specialist.

"A cow's body condition when she calves is the most important determinant to how quickly she can rebreed," Selk said. "Cows, especially young animals, that calve in poor body condition will rebreed poorly. Research indicates these cows will rebreed only 50-60 percent of the time, as opposed to recommended herd pregnancy targets of 90 percent or better."

Poor body condition generally is set at level four on OSU's cattle scoring system, said Selk. A cow with a body condition score of four will appear thin. Ribs in the rear half of the rib cage will be visible and the backbone will be showing, although muscle tissue generally will not be depleted through the shoulders and hindquarters.

Thin to moderate cows are considered to have a body condition score of five. The last two or three ribs can be seen, and little evidence of fat is present in the brisket, over the ribs or around the tail head.

A cow with a body condition score of six will show a good smooth appearance overall. The cow will have some fat in the brisket and over the tail head. The back will appear rounded, and fat can be felt over the ribs and pin-bones. Cows in condition six generally will rebreed significantly quicker than those in body condition four or five.

"The only way to increase the rebreeding percentage for cows in very poor body condition is through early weaning management," Selk said. "Calves that are weaned at approximately six weeks of age allow thin cows to return to estrus earlier. This increases the cows' chances of rebreeding on time for next year's calf crop."

Red grapefruit chosen as state fruit in Texas

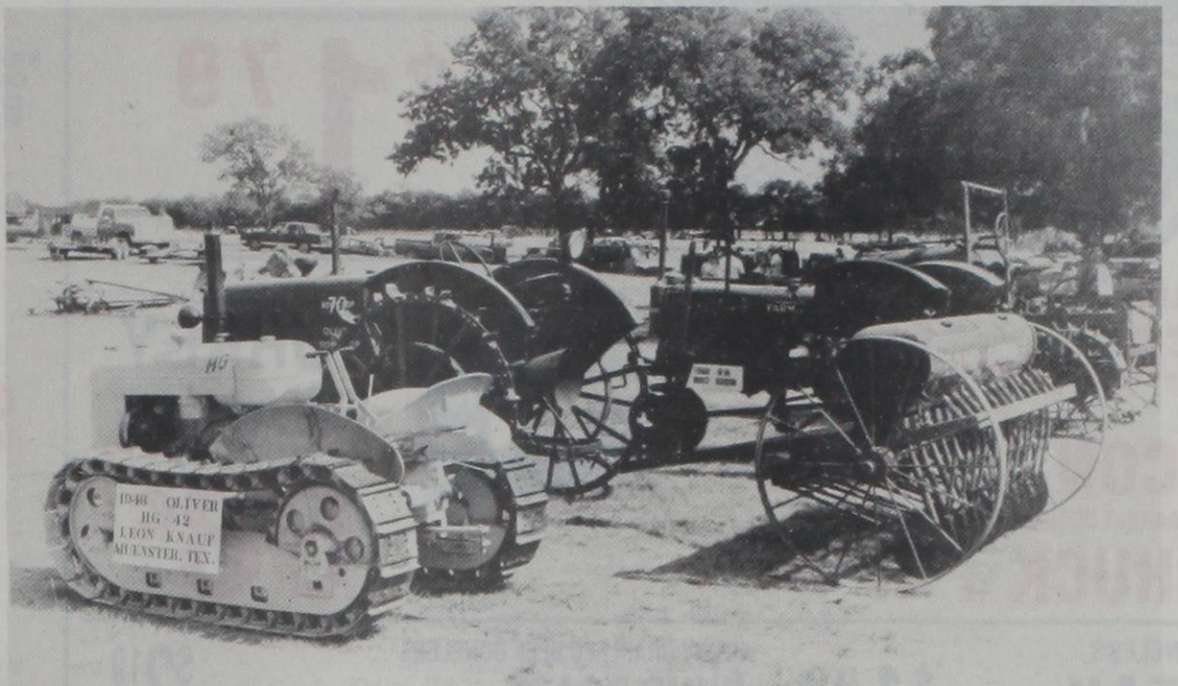

Texans like to brag but usually back up their claims with proof - the Texas red grapefruit is another fine example of that spirit, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said. The Texas red grapefruit, which was developed in the Rio Grande Valley, was named "State Fruit of Texas" in a proclamation signed by Governor Ann Richards Aug. 11.

The famous Barn Door Restaurant, a north San Antonio institution for 40 years, was named Texas Beef Backer of the Year for 1993. The restaurant purchases 7,000 pounds of boxed beef a month. Beef makes up almost 60 percent of the restaurant's total sales of $2.5 million a year.

The dairy industry is a significant contributor to beef inventories. It supplies 20 percent of all feeder cattle and 51 percent of slaughter cows.

China has a market of 150 to 200 million potential customers for U.S. beef products.

Agriculture, as an industry, contributes an estimated 21 million jobs or 17 percent of the national work force. It also accounts for nearly 16 percent of the GNP.
