OUR BOYS WITH THE COLORS

Artillery men have another occasion to feel cocky about their importance in the war. An official report discloses that the big guns and projectiles have priority over every other kind of production, including ships and planes.

To us it is as much as an admission that bombers, effective as they are for some jobs, still do not match up with artillery when it comes to front line lambasting. Remember what happened at Cassino? After the air force had delivered the most devastating blows of its career we still had to call upon the old reliable artillery.

There was the story also of repeated efforts to destroy a bridge by bombing. Finally the task was referred to the crew of an 8 inch howitzer, and completed with only a few dozen rounds. At a distance of 10 miles the big gun was more accurate than our highly rated bomb sight.

Well, perhaps the guns were no more accurate. Chances are that they missed the mark much farther on the first shot than the planes did. The difference is that they were able to make positive corrections whereas planes could only make another run and hope for better luck.

That's the real advantage of artillery. By successive corrections in range and deflection the fire can be eventually adjusted for a direct hit. After which there's nothing to do but blaze away until the mission is accomplished. Except for minor variations caused by wind, powder charges, temperature and several other factors, all projectiles should hit the same spot.

This doesn't mean, of course, that artillery has to depend entirely on the seek and find system. Given time to survey for exact range and deflection angle and to study weather conditions, the boys can land the first one smack on the button. The only trouble is they usually don't have time for all that, so they have to do the surveying with guns.

While on the subject of trying to snatch a little of the air corps glory for the artillery — which has been sadly neglected through most of the war — there are a few more fundamental facts worthy of note. Every bombing run of a plane is not only a completely new and independent aim but a new venture into varying disturbances and hazards caused by AA fire. The big guns have no such handicaps on accuracy. Besides planes cannot match the guns for sustained fire. There aren't enough of them nor of bombs to keep up the long uninterrupted flow. Neither do they pack the same degree of surprise. A sudden raid permits time to dive for cover, but a sudden concentration can catch troops flat footed.

In general, guns are more effective as far as they will reach, except on some few jobs for which planes are specially adapted. Such as torpedo attacks on ships or blasting particularly tough fortifications that projectiles cannot penetrate.

An interesting sidelight on the priorities decree is the provision that all the materials are to go especially into heavy artillery. Apparently we're in a contest to out-range the enemy. He has us bested in that respect now, according to some reports, and our leaders are finding it somewhat embarrassing, at times decidedly uncomfortable.

Thanks to the Navy, the situation is already partly under control. Destroyers, cruisers and battle warrens floating a short distance off shore are doing artillery work until the army's gun positions can be set up. Navy officers go ashore with the first troops and direct the fire just as artillery forward observers do. Quite a number of the boys have been here in Sill to learn some of the fine points of forward observation.

And now they've adopted a new system to help the Navy guns reach farther ashore — a step toward the long range duels. As the ships' heavies open up, pilots in fast pursuit planes buzz over enemy territory to direct fire on the targets farther back.

Naturally a lot of bombing is done while all that is in progress, but the significant fact to remember is that our strategists are revealing an increasing respect for the big guns.

Who knows, maybe before this war is over it may become customary to ballyhoo ace gunners the way we do ace pilots.

In spite of all they say about the unshakable faith young Nazis have in their fuhrer, the fact is that many a prisoner of war is entertaining serious doubts today. I got the general idea this week from one of the fellows who herds them around to odd jobs (Continued on Page 4)

HATCHERY ENDS 1944 SEASON WEDNESDAY

Ending another successful season the Muenster Hatchery closed Wednesday, concluding business for 1944. With the last chick sold, Felix Becker, manager, saw no reason for staying open any longer.

Mr. Becker expressed his appreciation for splendid cooperation and for the profitable business during the season, and extended his thanks to each and every customer.

In making this statement, Mr. Becker announced that this season ends his career as manager of the local hatchery. For the past eight years he served in that capacity.

"I've been well satisfied with everything, and I regret that it is necessary to hand in my resignation as manager," Becker said. "However, in the future, my farm and milk cows will need my undivided attention. With two sons in the service, and not being as young as I once was, I find it impossible to manage two businesses. So I'll stick to the farm," he added.

Extending his personal thanks to his many customers and friends, and members of the Hatchery, Mr. Becker said that serving as manager had been most enjoyable. He formed many lasting friendships and enjoyed many pleasant business deals, and he's grateful.

EARL LEHNERTZ' PAL ON LEAVE FROM NEW GUINEA VISITS HERE

S. Sgt. Paul Carter, buddy of S. Sgt. Earl Lehnertz, and "partners" in New Guinea in tending a 114-acre victory garden for Uncle Sam, is back in the states on furlough to visit his parents at Alvarado, Texas, and was in Muenster Monday to spend the evening with Earl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lehnertz, and give them a first-hand report on the activities of their son, whom he reported leaving in New Guinea well, happy and busy.

Sgt. Carter was accompanied to this city by Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Stone and daughter, Miss Ruth, of Denton, and their guest, Mrs. George Fotof of Shreveport, La. The group were supper guests at the Lehnerts home and spent several hours visiting them.

Sgt. Carter only hinted about things, never once revealing anything of a military nature, but the hints brought out that Earl may soon be home on furlough himself. "I can't tell you anything about where we are stationed," he said, "but we've had quite a few encounters with the Japs. The Fuzzy-Wuzzy natives in our sector are well armed, but when they see a Jap coming they run and hide in the jungles," he added.

Oil Field Notes

Voth Lease Changes Hands

The Voth lease south of town changed hands Saturday when Monte Stahforth, Wichita Falls, sold it to C.J. Bonner of Wichita Falls.

Elmer Martin, pumper for Bonner's other lease, will also pump the new lease, relieving Matt Stelzer, who has been employed there.

Benson and Benson No. 4 Henry Fleitman was completed and put on the pump this week. It is said to be the best well in the field. No. 5 began drilling Wednesday. On the same lease Robertson and Drake set casing on their No. 2 and started No. 3 drilling.

Benson and Benson drilled two shallow wells on the John Fette ranch last week and cemented. Showing is good.

Hess Brothers, drilling for Texas Co. on No. 1 Joe Walterscheld north of Myra are below 1800 feet. Several bands have been passed but none had saturation.

Bridwell Oil Co. has signed contract to drill a well on J.O. Wiesman 411 acres, block 2, O.F. Leverett survey, abstract 607, east of Muenster.

Phillips Petroleum Co. No. 2 Danglmayr (Dangle) on the south 200 acres in E. Langford survey south of the city, is reported to have drilled 120 feet of saturated lime and well is showing for a producer of two thousand barrels of oil a day.

Ray Bourland, et al. on E.W. Trew, south 200 acres in Jackson Davis survey, drilled to Ellenberger and abandoned well as duster.

Transferred To Colorado

Pfc. Herman Stoffels was last week transferred to Camp Carson, Colo., following completion of maneuvers in California. Previously he was on duty at Camp Adstr. Oregon.

Sergeant Joe Bezner, Member Of 36th, Home On Furlough

Lindsay Youth Home From Italy Says Yank Morale At Cassino High

"The morale of our fighting men in Cassino is high," said Joe Bezner, Jr., this week. He is home on furlough visiting his mother, Mrs. Joe Bezner and family, at Lindsay after spending the past year overseas with the 36th division. He arrived Friday and has until May 6 when he will report to Camp Beauregard, La., for re-assignment.

"But don't think that the morale of the German soldiers has taken a beating," Sgt. Bezner added. "They still think they are going to win this war."

As a chief surgical technician, attached to a medical unit at a clearing station, Sgt. Bezner has had plenty of opportunity to hear both Yank and Heinie tell his version of the out-come of this conflict. Bezner stated that wounded German prisoners receive the same treatment as the American boys when they are brought to the hospital. He also talked with scores of Italian soldiers, most of whom are anxious for the war to be over so that they can have a form of government like America has. That is their unanimous wish.

Bezner said he had never seen weather conditions anywhere so severe as in Italy. Constant rains turn the lowlands into morasses and make the mountains, mud and ice covered, almost impossible to climb. But despite these natural obstacles and handicaps the armament and ammunition of the army service forces ordnance department are giving our boys the greatest possible advantage in firepower.

"Of course, being with the medical division, I'm not too familiar with what takes place on the front, all I know about that is what my patients tell me, but that's plenty," the sergeant said.

"A wounded Yank no matter how serious his condition, never whines or complains. If he's conscious, he'll tell a joke, or make some wise crack.

"Our hospital unit there was an expense of army tents. We've never had a real building for a hospital. Yes, we went through a few shelling, but I can't get ahead of the Texans," the sergeant smilingly declared.

They always had plenty of food, he mentioned, and he returned home looking fit. The trip took exactly four weeks.

"We read a lot about movie stars visiting the battle fronts, but we never saw any of them, with the exception of Humphrey Bogart, who accompanied by his wife, made the rounds at the hospital visiting every patient." Bezner has a gold seal dollar bill autographed by Bogart and his wife. "The Red Cross visited us regularly distributing coffee and doughnuts, and on occasional passes we visited in Naples and other nearby cities."

"Of course, Cassino is flat," he said. "But elsewhere where the war has passed over, like in Naples, and in Africa, which I visited enroute home, you could never tell anything had happened. Everything is re-built."

Sgt. Bezner, voluntarily doesn't talk much, and evaded a number of questions entirely when interviewed. "Of course, there are lots of things, but you know how it is," he added.

"Personally, tho, if my new assignment calls for more overseas duty, I hope I will be sent back to Italy," he concluded.

At Camp Wolters

F. A. Kathman, who entered the army on the 11 of this month is at Camp Wolters, his wife advised this week. Also at the same camp are Joe Walter and H. L. Tuggle of Gainesville, former Muenster men. At 10:30 all members and candidates are expected to be at the parish hall so that the conferring of the first degree can take place. Recess for dinner will follow, and at 1:30 the second degree, followed immediately by the third degree, will be directed.

The degree ceremonies will be conferred by the Honorable John McCarty, I.L.D. of New Haven, Conn. Also in attendance will be State Deputy Gus J. Straus of Austin, State Secretary George A. Nicoud of Dallas, State Chaplain Rev. Paul Charcut of Pilot Point, and State Treasurer Herbert Meurer, Muenster.

SHORTENING GOES OFF RATION LIST

Since Sunday shortening and rationed salad and cooking oils are point free. This announcement came from Price Administrator Chester Bowles last Saturday night.

The point value of these fats has been four red points per pound. Land previously had been reduced to zero points because of plentiful supplies.

Butter and margarine are not affected by the new action, however.

Bowles said there is enough shortening and salad and cooking oils on hand to meet all civilian demands and therefore "there is no need to require point currency as a means of controlling movement of these commodities. The items have been rationed since March 29, 1943."

NEW SHOE STAMP IS VALID ON MAY 1ST

Beginning May 1, Airplane stamp 2 in War Ration Book Three may be used for buying one pair of rationed shoes, OPA has announced. The new stamp and Airplane stamp 1 will be good indefinitely. Stamp 18 in Book One will expire on April 30.

For You:

Has it ever occurred to you that you have at your disposal a wealth of treasure which men and women have left for you? And yet, day after day, you pass by these gifts as if they were nothing. It can only be because you fail to realize what lies beneath the sometimes dreary looking exterior covering.

However, stopping to look, you find gems of classic, works of art, historical, scientific, etc.

Again, it may be fiction or biography, painting for you the life of one who once walked this life. Of the latter one cannot help mentioning such unforgettable titles as — "The Family That Overlooked Christ", "The Man Who Got Even With God", "The Morning Rising", "White Noon", "Sorrow Built a Bridge".

Are you familiar with the above titles? If not make use of the few remaining weeks and read!

And, of course, do not overlook the magazine rack. It contains some very good reading material and news of the home and war fronts. We had better start reading them, fellow classmates, because our English teacher is expecting some good magazine reports.

Sport Sizzles
"It's a great life if you don't weaken," panted the muscle-minded girls after their first session with the soft ball. They felt wonderful till after the third inning.

Glady's limp, Dolly's determined efforts to bend over, and Sis's inability to walk upstairs. There must be something more than a ball behind it all.

First of all we had to run around the block two times, but what could that possibly have to do with Emily's lame leg? Undoubtedly it took more than chasing a few balls to slow Mildred down.

No, it couldn't have been softball, it must have been something they ate.

Tuesday marked the opening of a new era in soft ball for the boys. From now on a different captain will be elected for each game.

Three cheers for our new captain, Bill. He led a victorious game against the public school Wednesday afternoon. The score was 6-30. Fine work Bill. Thanks for the new equipment, Father.

Last Monday we held our regular 4-H Club meeting. Mrs. Kelly, our Home Demonstration agent was present. She told us how necessary it is to protect our mattresses, pillows and bed springs from dirt and dust.

Mary Evelyn Seyler, president, presided during the meeting.

If you wish to know who I am, I will merely inform you that I am a member of the Junior Class — and from henceforth I hope you will hear from me rather frequently.

For weeks it was rain, rain, rain, — last week it was wind, but that did not keep us from our sports — and oh! are we enjoying our softball and tennis — just wait boys, we are looking forward to that softball game with you before the end of the season.

Could it be spring weather causing Geneva to be so quiet in school — Mildred wearing so much pink lately — it couldn't be this season's fashion color or is it "his" favorite color.

Talking about colors and dresses — everyone seems to envy Imelda — it's an evening gown, it seems — did we hear it was made of a parachute — could that be Vogue's latest fashion plate.

What's this we have been hearing about Gladys planning to live on a 10,000 acre ranch with Negro slaves and a built in barbecue pit and dance floors galore?

About Geneva's stiff neck. (By the way, Geneva, what happened Sunday night.)

What about the story behind Helen Ruth's diamond ring?

MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB

of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

If I could get as many important people to vote for me as vote for Sudan Grass, I think I could be President. This grass was brought to America from North Central Africa and, as might be expected, it resists both heat and drought. It makes fine grazing when other pastures are dry and unproductive. If seeded in May the crop will be ready for grazing in about six weeks.

While you're about it, I also suggest that you ask Minnesota for Extension Folder 106. This reports another fact-finding study, this time, on the methods of cooling milk. They found that when it was cooled in air at 10°F. below zero, it took an hour for the temperature of the milk to drop from 90° to 77°. When milk was cooled in circulating water at 47° above zero, the temperature of the milk dropped from 90° to 54° in an hour's time. The moral of that is that milk just can't be cooled properly in the air.

Along about next August, do you suppose it would be proper to say that the milk shortage had been hit by a green Sudan?

To get back to the subject of cooling milk, I recommend that you invest a postage stamp for a free copy of Farmers' Bulletin No. 976, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. The ideas contained in this booklet will help you to size up your cooling tank and see if it is set up to do the right kind of job. There's no sense in losing money on sour or off-flavored milk when a little rearranging may fix things up.

The milk you save from souring means a little extra milk for the Nation. And a little extra milk from thousands of dairy farmers can play a mighty important part in our country's battle.

Home, James... In the green Sudan.

In Circular B-69, the Extension Service of Texas says that Sudan Grass is the best temporary pasture for summer and early fall. It does not do well on soils that are low in fertility. For best results, it should be planted in rows, the bulletin says, using 30 pounds of seed to the acre. To eliminate danger of prussic acid poisoning, it is suggested you do not permit grazing until Sudan is 18 inches high or better—nor after frost. The bulletin adds that if you do not have enough cows to prevent the grass heading, it can be mowed and placed in a trench silo. To get Circular B-69, write the Extension Service, Texas A&M College, College Station, Texas.

Indiana is another ardent supporter of Sudan Grass. Their experience shows that an acre of Sudan will carry from one to three head of cattle, depending upon the fertility of the soil. As hay, Sudan will ordinarily yield from 2½ to 3 tons per acre, and it may run as high as 4 tons. Indiana also tells you how to get a mixed crop of soybeans and Sudan Grass for roughage. The soybean seed should be drilled with the ordinary grain drill set for from four to six pecks on the oats scale and thoroughly cleaned Sudan Grass seed may be applied through the grass seed attachment or broadcast separately at 10 to 16 pounds per acre and covered with a harrow. Send for Leaflet No. 188, Department of Agricultural Extension, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.* This is a valuable leaflet for you to have if you decide to grow Sudan.

Climb in, folks, there's lots of room in this Sudan.

Have you ever tried to figure out the difference in cost between the food value cattle obtain from good pasture and the food value they get from harvested crops? Well, Minnesota has and it's mighty interesting. Averaging up four different kinds of pasture and four different harvested

COMPARATIVE PRICE TRENDS DURING TWO WORLD WARS

LIVING COSTS HAVE GONE UP

Your electric service is still low in cost... still at its pre-war price! And this is certainly helpful these days, at a time when other items in the cost of living are skyrocketing! It is an interesting and comforting fact that, during the past 30 years... during two world wars and the years between... the cost of electricity has always been low, with a price trend downward, while the costs of clothing, household furnishings, food and rent have fluctuated widely and mainly upward.

Since the War THE COST OF ELECTRIC SERVICE HAS STAYED DOWN!

Who's Who in the Senior Class Introducing Leonard (Pork) Bengfort! If ever in the near future you would want to find out when to plant corn or in what season soy beans grow best or how much per pound a calf would bring, just go to Leonard Bengfort; he can give you first-hand information. He's a typical farmer and proud to be one. Leonard weighs around one hundred and seventy pounds and can lick anybody his size and over (to hear him tell it). He's one of these out-of-door types and enjoys hunting immensely. We know he likes hunting, especially during the skunk season, and he doesn't here at Sill. Frequently they express concern over the abundance of our materials and the damage caused by our persistent bombing in Germany.

Opinions like that are all expressed on the QT, however. The very men who utter them are vociferous in their confidence any time their comrades are within hearing distance.

Draw your own conclusions, which will probably be the same as the guard expressed. The poor devils are still quaking with fear of the Gestapo, even in the supposed security of American prison camps. They know from bitter experience what self seeking and fanatic tattle tales could do to them if the Nazi party should retain any of its power. They know also that they might not even return to their native land. It's interesting to wonder just what kind of hopes run through the minds of the doubtful ones. Do they actually want the victory Hitler promised, with the violence and oppression it implies? Or do they want freedom, such as they see over here? Freedom of speech, freedom from fear.

have to tell us either. Leonard likes to play baseball, too. The fielders look kind of discouraged when they see Leonard up for batting, because they know that they'll have to run at least to the cemetery after his balls.

Leonard is a good student, thorough in all he does. He has one of these so-called "mathematical minds". If ever you see Leonard surrounded by pupils of the Algebra Class, you know he's the only one who can get a certain problem and is trying patiently to show the others how he got it.

Yes, we'll miss Leonard for more reasons than one, but we know we shall all have to leave our Alma Mater at some time or another. Anyway we will remember him always as one of our best schoolmates and friends. Here we would like to mention that Leonard did a wonderful job this year in his position as treasurer of our Sodality.

Sodality Elects Alice Sandman May Queen

At a recent meeting of the High School Sodality voting for a May Queen was held. Alice Sandman, senior, received a large majority of votes. In her capacity as Chairman of Our Lady's committee, Alice has done all in her power to promote greater love and devotion to our Blessed Lady. The Sodality congratulates you on your great honor, Alice.
