CONVENTION TAKES STAND ON PROBLEMS

Communism and Child Labor Among Weighty Issues at Pilot Point

Members of the Muenster delegation attending the North Texas District meeting of the Catholic State League at Pilot Point April 20 and 21, returned with reports of important decisions on some of the most prominent problems facing the church and nation.

Communism was attacked as a menace to Christianity and civilization and a resolution was passed by the convention to encourage a study of the principles of Communism with a view to understanding its evils and checking its further spread.

The convention went on record also as being opposed to the new anti-lynch law, now before our national Congress, to penalize a county in which a lynching occurs. It was pointed out that while lynching is lawless mob action and should be stamped out, the proposed method is unjust in that it holds the entire citizenship of a county liable for the conduct of a few instigators.

Likewise objection was voiced to the newly introduced proposal for mercy deaths. The basis for objection is the Fifth Commandment of God, which reads, "Thou shalt not kill."

Regarding the proposal to submit to the States for ratification a new child labor amendment, the convention expressed its disapproval of the evils the measure seeks to remove, but stated that because of varied conditions the problem should be left to the individual States, that farm children be omitted from the provisions, and that the age limit be lowered to 14 years.

Among prominent persons present at the convention were Gus Strauss of Hallettsville, president of the Catholic State League of Texas, who delivered a forceful address on the evils of Communism and the urgent need of concerted action by all Christians to check its spread.

Parochial Lads Defeat Myra Team 16 to 7 in Season's First Game

The baseball warriors from the parochial school under the guidance of Father Francis Zimmerer annexed their first scalp of the season when they defeated Myra's nine in a one-sided game, 16 to 7, last Monday afternoon.

It was the local crew's first trip away from Muenster and their first victory. In two previous games they had bowed to Coach Burger's Sumacs.

Monday's game renews an old rivalry between Myra and the Parochial School. For several years the two clubs have been holding a series of nip-and-tuck contests that have aroused enthusiasm on both sides.

Myra is expected to return the game soon and plans are now in progress to match the parochial youngsters against some other neighboring club.

Score by innings:
Muenster ..... 2 2 0 1 1 8—16
Myra ..... 1 1 2 0 0 1 2 —7

MAY 8 SET AS LAST DAY FOR SIGN-UP ON SOIL CONSERVATION

According to a report recently sent out by County Agent C. H. Clark, May 8 has been set as the closing date for filing work sheets under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation program in Cooke County.

His message urges all producers to contact their committeemen or go to the county agent's office on or before May 8 and sign a work sheet, which carries no obligation but merely puts the signer on record as being eligible for payment in case he decides to comply with the program.

Large Crowd Attends Second Presentation Of 'Antics of Andrew'

Considering the packed house that had already witnessed the play in its first appearance on Easter Sunday, Father Francis was elated over the large attendance that gathered for the second presentation of "The Antics of Andrew" by the Muenster Players in the Parish Hall Sunday. About 200 persons were in the audience.

Many pronounced the second performance as better than the first because of the fact that players were more prone to add a few antics of their own, but others who prefer a faithful following of the text were less impressed than before.

In keeping with the usual practice here, all proceeds of the drama were submitted to Father Francis to be placed in one of the parish funds.

NEW MANAGEMENT TO ASSUME CHARGE OF HOTEL ON MAY 1

Beginning Saturday, May 1, the City Hotel, now being conducted by Mrs. Joseph Schmitz, will be managed by Mrs. Casper Haverkamp.

With her husband, two sons, and one daughter, the new proprietress arrived Tuesday with a truck load of furniture from their home in St. Joseph, Tenn. The furniture brought by them is to be added to that which Mrs. Haverkamp purchased from Mrs. Schmitz during her visit here about two weeks ago.

Immediately upon their arrival here the Haverkamp family began installing their furniture and making the sort of minor changes that would not interfere with Mrs. Schmitz's routine business. Other time they spent resting from their long truck drive and visiting with relatives and acquaintances. The new family is related to the Haverkamps, Pagels, and Bernauers here, and both Mr. and Mrs. Haverkamp have been here on previous visits.

While Mr. Haverkamp and his two sons are looking forward to securing work in some of Muenster's varied industries, Mrs. Haverkamp plans to manage the hotel with the assistance of her two daughters, one of whom will arrive after her graduation from high school at St. Joseph during May.

No definite statement has been made regarding immediate plans of the Schmitz family but it is rumored that they will return to their former home at Southmayd where Mrs. Schmitz will assume the less arduous task of managing a small cafe.

Gulf Company to Erect New Filling Station Here

ROAD CREW FINISH CONCRETE WORK; TO BEGIN FILLING-IN

All preliminary concrete work has been completed on the new highway and preparations are now in progress to begin fill in work at the low places between Muenster and the Montague County line Jack McKinney foreman of the R. W. McKinney Co. stated Wednesday. Concrete work included the construction of five blocks of sidewalk within the city limits the extension of some bridges and the construction of some new culverts.

At the present time about 15 men are engaged in clearing off the surface of a gravel pit and fill in work is expected to begin within a few days. Next in order will be blasting down a few hills and then the hauling of road base materials.

The Muenster-Saint Jo road was closed to traffic last Friday afternoon and, according to present estimates, the short span of dirt between Muenster and the pavement will be barricaded in about three weeks.

A new 10-ton roller to be used in laying the road bed arrived here early this week.

82 Years of Faithful Service Credited to Clock in Fisch Home

Here's something we've found out only lately, but you've probably known it all along.

In the J. P. Fisch home is an ancient clock that has been on duty faithfully for almost 82 years. In fact it came into the Fisch home when J. P. was an infant of 6 months and whether or not it had given a great deal of service before that time is not known.

But the interesting fact is that it still runs and still keeps perfect time. Probably the reason for its long service and its accuracy is that it has always been kept clean. It is provided with a large glass case that covers it completely and is absolutely dust proof. If any dust reaches the clock it must do so each tenth day when the glass hood is removed to permit winding.

The clock is beautifully decorated and shows many marks of a real craftsman.

And, believe it or not, it is still covered with the original glass hood in spite of its move from the old country and several other moves here in America. The secret of preserving the hood was to stuff a pillow inside and several more pillows around it before crating for a move.

Catholic Daughters Have Benefit Social Tuesday

Mrs. John Fleitman was hostess at a C. D. of A. benefit social in her home Tuesday night. About 30 persons attended and all, except a small group of men who preferred sheep-head, took part in a progressive 42 game. Scoring honors went to Mrs. J. B. Wilde and Oscar Walter.

Refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served by the hostess.

Muenster Choir Invited to Sing at Field Mass Opening K. of C. Convention in Mineral Wells

Last Drop of Syrup Falls at 8:12 Tuesday; Paul Yosten Is Winner

At 8:12 o'clock Tuesday evening, exactly 101 hours and 12 minutes after the pail was punctured last Friday afternoon, the last drop of AB syrup fell and the Farmers' Store syrup contest was declared officially closed.

Checking over the list of guesses, Paul Yosten was found to be the lucky winner of a case containing six gallons of the syrup. His estimate was 100 hours and three minutes. The next six winners all of whom received a one-gallon pail of AB syrup, and their guesses are as follows: A. C. Stelzer, 100 hours; Mrs. August Walterscheid, 99 hours; Henry Henschel, Jr., 103 hours; Alfred Bayer, 103 hours; Frank Klement, 98 hours, 20 minutes, and Wm. Hellman, 104 hours.

Modern $5,000 Structure to Adjoin Al Walterscheid's Machine Shop; Work to Be Started Soon.

Some time next week work will begin on the new $5,000 Gulf service station on Highway 5 immediately east of Al Walterscheid's machine shop.

A final agreement between Frank Treubach, owner of the property, and officials of the Gulf Refining Co. was reached Monday, and it was stated at that time that construction would be begun in about ten days.

The service station, according to present plans and specifications will be complete in every respect, and far superior to any service station now in Muenster. It will feature greasing and washing racks of latest design, ample floor space, attractive surroundings, modern rest rooms, and a complete supply of Gulf products.

According to an agreement reached by Mr. Treubach and the Gulf company, he will own the building but has excused himself from the details connected with its erection. That task is being left to the Gulf Refining Co., who will engage a contractor and submit all specifications.

The name of the contractor for the new building was not made known. However, it is known that Charles Bialkowski of Wichita Falls, who built the H-5 Garage and the K. of C. Hall here two years ago, was in Muenster Tuesday trying to land the job.

Construction of the new $5,000 building is hailed as a very welcome working program for Muenster lads as well as a very welcome order to one or another of the Muenster lumber yards.

And after the structure is complete it will provide steady employment for at least two persons, who, it has been stated, will probably be chosen from the array of young men here in Muenster.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD APRIL 23 FOR THEO. WIESMANN

With all living members of his family in attendance, Theodore Wiesman, Muenster's number one pioneer, was laid to rest Friday morning, April 23, at the Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Francis Zimmerer after a Requiem High Mass at which he was celebrant. Pallbearers were Mr. Wiesman's five sons: Karl, August, Frank, Tony, and Theodore; and his grandson, Norbert Henschel. Brooks Powell of Gainesville was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mr. Wiesman died suddenly at his home the preceding Wednesday morning from a heart attack that first struck him the preceding Monday, at which time his doctor and his parish priest were summoned to his bedside. From that time until his death Mr. Wiesman suffered no pain and was normal in every respect except at the times when the heart attacks struck.

Three of his children, Karl, August and Mrs. A. H. Lueb, drove from

TO CORONATION

WASHINGTON, D. C. . . . General John J. Pershing has been designated by President Roosevelt as a U. S. Representative at the coronation of King George VI.

FRAULEIN LILLIAN FETTE ENTERTAINS GERMAN OFFICIALS

Friends and relatives here have recently received word that Lillian Fette constituted half of the good will delegation meeting four representatives of a German aerial club when they arrived on the German liner Bremen at New York almost two weeks ago.

Along with one of the executives of her company, the American Airlines, Lillian greeted the visitors and entertained them in the metropolis. Her little introductory act consisted of a welcome speech in German and the presentation of a huge bouquet of chrysanthemums to the party.

After all the formality and profuse speeches of appreciation from her guests she and her escort were warmly accepted as members of the German party.

Fraulein Fette was selected from the scores of American Airline stewardesses because of her slight acquaintance with the German language. Her duties as hostess were considerably simplified, however, when she discovered that one lady spoke English about as well as she spoke German. From that time on Lillian made a practice of listening in German and speaking in English.

Though supposedly a guide, Miss Fette was no less impressed by New York than her guests. It was her first visit to that city and to one of the world's great trans-Atlantic vessels.

Community Circus Gives Free Tickets to Pupils

Complimentary tickets for the Gainesville Community Circus have been given to all elementary pupils of the Muenster school, Mr. Elton Burger, principal of the school, stated this week.

When passing out the free duets Mr. Burger found himself confronted by several of the more advanced students who were determined to garner a few of the passes, but managed to make the proper distribution in spite of disguises, pleading, and what not.

The opening performance of the circus was held Wednesday and the closing performance will be given tonight (Friday).

Demonstration Club of Linn Meets Tuesday in Home of John Coursey

"Hot breads were an important item in the diet of the South previous to the Civil War and still are. From the South come such hot breads as beaten biscuit, spoon bread and corn bread," Miss Nettie Shultz, county home demonstration agent, told the members of the Linn club Tuesday afternoon when they met in the home of Mrs. John Coursey.

Miss Schultz explained how the method of combining and mixing the ingredients and the method of baking are important factors in the making of better hot breads. During the demonstration she gave recipes and made muffins, gingerbread and biscuits.

"Primitive Bread Making," was read by Mrs. F. N. Fielder.

Mrs. Selby Fielder presided at the meeting. Mrs. Jack Biffle gave a report of the county council meeting. The club also voted to participate in the one-act play tournament to be held at the J. M. Lindsay school in Gainesville, May 15.

After the business meeting Mrs. Linton Coursey, who was before her marriage Miss Ann Glenn, was honored with a bridal shower.

Refreshments were served to 15 members and four visitors.

The club will meet with Mrs. Dude Rosson, Tuesday, May 11.

Wrong Man Goes for the Dough; Two Others Are Absent on Bank Night

It must be quite a strain to go after a $500 bank night award and then come back empty handed.

Last week M. J. Endres toddled up to the stage when the Majestic management announced the lucky name as M. H. Endres but found that it was W. H. and not M. J.

The reason for his spending the following morning in bed was given as a stomach disorder, but those who were aware of his experience were more inclined to explain it as the shock of disappointment.

The next problem is how did W. H. survive the shock? When news of the drawing reached him he must have had quite a disappointment himself.

A later addition to this yarn is the news that Mrs. Nick Miller's name was also called as a winner of the half-grand purse but she also was numbered among the unlucky absentees.

Ollie and Jake Hory went to Wichita Falls last Saturday to get the one-lung motorcycle. Ollie has been riding around town this week.

Six Candidates Enter Ranks of Knighthood in Gainesville Degree

Preparing for the major degree initiation to be held in Sherman Sunday, knights of the Gainesville council sponsored a joint first degree initiation for candidates of Gainesville and Muenster in their council chamber Tuesday night.

Six of the 11 candidates who entered the ranks of knighthood were from Muenster and about 25 knights who witnessed the degree work were also from the local council.

Since the first degree exemplification Tuesday it has been revealed that a few more candidates who were late in signing up will be included in another first degree initiation to be held before the major initiation Sunday at Sherman.

las June 12. The stage will be mounted on rails, and will roll from underneath the ramp. Huge doors, camouflaged as rocks, will hide the stage when not in use.

Thirty feet of the big rolling stage may be rolled out for portraying scenes on the center location. It is in reality a stage within a stage, and boasts all the drops and trappings found in a well set theater. This new use of center stage is a development of the production staff of "Cavalcade of the Americas" who use it for the first time for this type of show.

The use of the center stage, through this method, contributes much to the out-door production, according to A. L. Vollman, producer-director of the show. "It is just one of the many technical improvements that will make "Cavalcade" the foremost show of its kind ever produced," he stated.

The main stage, the largest in the world, will be completed by May 1, in time for rehearsals to begin.

Hello Everybody!

"Two Tickets to Terror"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter

IT WAS just a couple of tickets that started the whole thing. Those tickets played the major role in the yarn we're going to hear today. And along with them went ten minutes of Grade A terror and, on top of that, a surprise that will knock you for a row of box offices.

It's Louise Addelson of New York City who is telling the story, but the adventure happened to her aunt.

It was the tickets that started it all, but it was a letter that dragged Auntie into the affair. Auntie had a daughter, Helen, who had recently married. She was living in a furnished apartment in Montreal, and one day she wrote that her husband was away on business, and she was lonesome, and wouldn't Auntie like to come and pay her a visit?

Auntie went. She got there in October—and a few days afterward, on the 23d of the month, the tickets showed up.

Tickets for Helen and Her Mother.

It happened this way. The apartment directly over Helen's was occupied by a young couple, the Chesters, with whom she and her husband had recently struck up an acquaintance. On the afternoon of the twenty-third, Mrs. Chester came downstairs to call. She said her husband had purchased some theater tickets, and now a telegram had called him away to the sick bed of his mother in another town. They couldn't go to the show, so they wanted to give the tickets to Helen and her mother. Mrs. Chester insisted that they take them, and wouldn't hear of letting them pay for them.

Auntie didn't really want to go to the theater. Some time before she had lost her husband, and shortly after that her son had died. She hadn't been to a show or any other place of amusement since, and didn't really have any desire to go. She only agreed to go this time for her daughter's sake, and she was immensely relieved when, while they were dressing that evening, her son-in-law returned unexpectedly from his business trip and took her place.

The young couple went out. Auntie is an old-fashioned mother, and no sooner were they out of the house than she set the ironing board up in the kitchen and began ironing the underwear and linen that had been washed that day. She was still busily at work when she heard a strange, buzzing sound at the front door.

She Still Had the Hot Iron

With the iron still in her hand, she walked to the front of the apartment. There was a large hole in the door, and someone, even then, was boring another. For an instant she was puzzled. Then, as she realized what was happening she almost collapsed with fright. Someone was trying to break into the house!

For whole minutes she stood, rooted to the spot, incapable of moving even so much as a muscle. She watched while a tiny saw blade was inserted through one of the holes—watched it while a larger opening was cut in the door. It was only when the opening was completed and a hand reached through and began groping to release the catch on the inside that she could move at all. Then, suddenly she became aware of the heat of the iron in her hand.

Almost instinctively she lifted the iron. Without seeming to form any plan in her mind, she acted. Tiptoeing across the hall to the door she pressed the iron down hard on the reaching, fumbling hand!

There was a yell outside that was loud enough to be heard half a block away. The hall was filled with the odor of burned flesh. The hand was jerked out of the opening and she could hear the footsteps of its owner scurrying away.

She heaved a sigh of relief, but still she was badly frightened. What if the man came back? She wouldn't stay alone in that apartment for another minute.

So She Took Refuge With the Chesters.

The only people she knew in the house were the Chesters upstairs. Mr. Chester would be out of town traveling to the bedside of his ailing mother. She didn't know whether Mrs. Chester had gone with him or not. If she hadn't—if she was home—maybe she would come down and stay with Auntie until her daughter and son-in-law returned.

She ran out the rear entrance, scampered up the stairs and knocked on the Chesters' back door. Then, without waiting for an answer, she tried the door. The knob turned. The door swung open. And Auntie burst in on a tableau that gave her the second shock of the evening and the big surprise of her whole life.

Seated in a chair in the kitchen was the supposedly absent Mr. Chester. And standing over him was Mrs. Chester, applying salve to a bad burn on his outstretched right hand!

The Scheme Was Exposed.

Mr. Chester scrambled to his feet. Mrs. Chester ran to the door and banged it in Auntie's face. For a moment she was too dazed to think. Then the whole explanation came to her. The Chesters had planned to get her and Helen out of the house so they would be free to rob Helen of her wedding gifts and a few valuable jewels she owned. The theater tickets were just a trick to get them out for the evening and leave the apartment empty. And only the unexpected return of Helen's husband had interfered with the scheme.

As soon as she could get her wits together, Auntie called the police, but Auntie never saw the Chesters again. They, too, lived in a furnished apartment. And by the time the police arrived they had packed up their few personal belongings and fled.

Trinity Canal to Remove Physical Barrier To Lone Star State's Industrial Progress

FORT WORTH.—Removal of the greatest physical barrier to the profitable industrialization of Texas, namely the remoteness of the rich mid-state region from tidewater, is seen by the All-South Development Council in the imminent realization of the dream of a canalized, commerce-bearing Trinity River.

This engineering feat bringing Fort Worth and Dallas to the seacoast, figuratively speaking, hailed as a boon to the movement for the encouragement of industry, which is gathering momentum throughout the state, may be soon a reality, the Council's report says.

Revision in the plans has reduced the number of locks to 21, cutting the estimated cost from $102,000,000 to $60,000,000. Furthermore, powerful arguments supporting the economic justification for the project have been prepared and documented, and the Council states that proponents of the canalization plan look for a successful outcome of the hearings which will soon be held in Washington.

The physical problem of Trinity canalization is extremely simple, according to Gen. Herbert Deakne, formerly chairman of the U. S. Army Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, who is here in charge of preparing a report on the engineering plans for the project.

From the recently completed Eagle Mountain and Bridgeport lakes, just above Fort Worth, will come the bulk of the water used to move modern, Diesel-engined towboats through the 21 locks along the straightened, 400-mile course from Fort Worth to Galveston bay. Experts estimate that these lakes, the new Mountain Creek lake near Dallas, and other slack-water pools in the area, will provide easily twice as much water, at any time, as the canal will require.

This will not be a disconnected, isolated project, the Council points out, but a valuable link in an integrated inland waterway system that serves 60 per cent of the nation's population. This is true because it will connect with the Intra-coastal canal at Galveston and thence with the Mississippi, thus tying up to the great canals and rivers that serve the prosperous midwest.

Strong support which is rallying behind the move to establish this long-sought connection between Texas' rich interior and tidewater is indicative, observers feel, of the determination being manifest in all parts of the state, to obtain for Texas the benefits of new industry—increased payrolls, diversified production and a consequent sharing of the tax burden which is now borne by a comparatively few industries. Many forward-looking groups which are pressing for a sound state policy of taxation to reassure industries already located in the state and bring to Texas prospective investors of new capital, are also mobilizing to put engineering skill at work on this waterway which they regard as a pivotal point in the broad program of building for the future of the Lone Star state.

AND NOW — OUR OPINION

The Enterprise was more than pleased to publish in its previous edition a comment from the Benedictine Sisters of the Muenster Parochial School. We are happy to extend to others the privilege of using our medium to present worth while ideas.

To us the letter was especially interesting because it introduced a misunderstanding that may be more widely scattered than in the faculty of the Parochial School. If such is the case our cause can be benefitted by removing the misunderstanding. Had the letter not appeared we might not have become aware of a very prominent objection.

The first bone of contention is that "pupils of Muenster are not getting what they need and will not be able to compete with the products of other schools." The author went on to explain the splendid work done by those pupils when they enter other schools. And it is precisely at this point that the misunderstanding appears.

We did not and we do not now wish to belittle the work of the Benedictine Sisters. The writer himself is happy to recall his experience of coasting through three more years of high school after receiving his foundation at the parochial school.

In addition to their other splendid work the Sisters are giving a moral background in religion, a subject infinitely more important than the other three R's.

But it has been admitted that Muenster pupils must continue their work in other schools. This is the condition we wish to overcome. It should not be necessary for children to leave Muenster to complete their high school work. And even though it is very noble for parents to make great sacrifices so that their children can continue their studies, the fact remains that many parents cannot and other parents will not make that great a sacrifice. What, then, becomes of the child's opportunity?

And now, going back to our original contention, we still insist that products of our schools cannot compete with those of other schools. Every year parents are admitting the truth of that statement when they send their children to other schools. Those children are through in our schools but they still do not have what they need, regardless of how good their foundation work was.

"Since Muenster is so progressive, it should not be necessary for our schooled youth to leave town. Let them invest their education here." At what? Is their program to be in the nature of a boom, or is it to be a steady march of progress? If it is the latter we must have an educational system before we can expect them to make a start. Too many people nowadays are concerned with their children's education and do not care to settle down in a town that does not offer a complete course. Until Muenster improves her school system she has very nearly reached her limit of development.

Mention was made of the necessity of building a new church and the desirability of a Catholic high school. The expense of building the church is already an enormous burden on members of the parish. Would they be willing then to spend more money on a school? We think not. Would the parents of Muenster be satisfied to wait until the church is paid for to get a high school? We think not. Would they be willing to assume the total expense of erecting and maintaining when that expense could be distributed over the income from the State and a tax on everyone rather than on Catholics only? We think not. Would it be fair to provide a high school for Catholics only when the community has so many Protestants? We think not.

"I believe that a man should be proud of the city in which he lives and that he should so live that his city will be proud that he lives in it."—Abraham Lincoln.

BENEFACTORS OF HUMANITY

The first Chinese who discovered that thread could be spun and cloth woven from the fibers of an insect's cocoon had the quality of curiosity and imagination which lies behind all research. It took modern scientific knowledge to enable men to discover that silk, like all other vegetable fibers, is a form of cellulose, which is found in all growing things. Imagination plus science enabled men to reduce cotton waste and wood chips to cellulose and then mechanically to produce a fiber by almost the same process the silkworm uses. One of the most interesting recent scientific discoveries is an improved method of making rayon, by which the tendency to retain wrinkles is removed from that popular and inexpensive improvement on natural silk.

Cellulose is the basis of paper, of explosives, of the lacquers which are replacing varnish in so many uses, of a thousand products and compounds in daily use. Now a new method of reducing wood, cornstalks and almost anything else to pure cellulose in less time and at vastly less cost has been discovered.

That is something which holds promise of future profit for farmers, whose waste products may gain a new commercial value. And it is another step toward production of things everybody wants in quantities large enough to supply everybody's needs and at prices everybody can pay. And that is, or ought to be, the main objective of a well-ordered social system.—Exchange.

A NATIONAL LABOR POLICY

The interest which Congress has begun to display in the latest development of the organized labor situation, the "sit-down" strike, is a good omen, for it suggests that a national labor policy in which the interests of employers and the general public will be given equal weight with those of the workers may be in process of development. Heretofore most labor legislation has been, as the old saying goes, rather "jughandled."

No one seriously wants to deprive labor of its right to organize, to negotiate collectively for better working conditions, shorter hours and higher wages. But the feeling that the recognition of those rights ought to go hand in hand with acceptance by organized labor of responsibility to the public for the actions of its members, and to employers for living up to its contract agreements, has been increasing for a long time, and has been accentuated by the conditions arising from the automobile strikes.

It is intimated in some quarters that Mr. Lewis' organization, the Committee for Industrial Organization, has got out of control, and that its leaders are not able to prevent the recurrence of "sit-down" strikes. If that is so, it furnishes another reason for making the organization responsible. One chief reason why business men have been opposed to unionism in the past is the uncertainty whether the union will live up to its agreements, and the difficulty or impossibility of calling it to account if it fails to do so.

The chief concern of Congress is, or should be, the welfare of all the people. When a condition exists which threatens that welfare, either by slowing down the productive activities of industry or by increasing the price of products to the consumer, it is a situation which is above and outside of the field of party politics. How far the authority of Congress extends in the regulation of labor is still a disputed question; but it is time that a national labor policy, going as far as the Federal Government can Constitutionally go, were defined and put on paper.—Exchange.

Health Officer, and urged that the public be on the alert to detect this disease.

"Cancer is not a hopeless, incurable disease. It is not contagious or in itself hereditary. There are thousands of men and women in this country who have been successfully treated for cancer. The great hope of cancer patients lies in their having treatment during the first stages of the disease. Cancer announces itself by symptoms that are frequently painless and apparently trivial, thus giving the disease an unseemly advantage. Early diagnosis is the one powerful antagonist.

"The danger signals can be classified as follows: Any lump in the breast or other part of the body; any persistent sore, particularly on the face or mouth; any unusual discharge or bleeding from any part of the body, such as vomiting of blood, passage of blood from the bowels, or unusual bleeding of any bodily passage, especially after middle age. These symptoms may be from some other cause but should be diagnosed by a physician.

"Two main rules should be followed in cancer treatment. First, have an annual physical examination by a reputable physician. In this way incipient cancerous conditions can be discovered and by proper treatment the disease can be conquered. The second rule is to mistrust high promising statements of 'amazing new discoveries'."

John Pfeiffer and Ben Schwegman of San Antonio praised the excellent work being done by the League's members of the Northern District and gave a detailed account of the advantages of the League's life insurance policies.

The convention opened Tuesday afternoon, April 20, with the registration of delegates and appointment of committees. On the following day activities opened with a Solemn High Mass and closed with Benediction and the "Te Deum."

For the younger visitors the convention was brought to a successful close by a dance Wednesday night.

The merry making, which begins Thursday morning, May 6, and extends to an unspecified hour of the night, will be held on the St. Mary's parish grounds.

Headlining the carnival's features is a big vaudeville scheduled to begin at 7:30 and performed by talent from the parish. Other attractions include a country store, fishpond, hamburger stand, candy booth, K. of C. booth, and Young Ladies' booth. A generous supply of ice cream and soda water will be available on the grounds.

The Muenster Sumacs bit the dust Tuesday afternoon in their first encounter with the Gainesville Junior College baseball team. The score of the seven-inning match was 5 to 1.

Both teams gave a splendid exhibition of early season sloppy playing. In the first inning the Gainesville lads permitted Muenster to score on an error; but not to be outdone, the Sumacs returned the compliment in due time and in the final inning bunched their boners to give Gainesville a neat advantage which was well used by a streak of flashy playing.

State Examinations Are Taken by Students of Muenster High School

In order to overcome the handicap of a non-affiliated school, Mr. Burger, principal of the Muenster High School, instituted this week a system of college entrance examinations.

Questions for the exams are submitted by the State Department of Education, and students passing them are rewarded with official credentials from that same department, entitling them to entrance in universities of the State on equal terms with graduates of affiliated high schools.

The system as inaugurated here provides that each student at the close of his year's work take the State exam in each of his subjects. If and when he enters college he will be excused from examinations on subjects he has passed in the State exam.

This year students will take examinations on all the work they have covered to date. Seniors will have 16 subjects, juniors 12, sophomores 8, and freshmen 4. In years to come each student's examination will be over the work he has done during the current school year.

The examinations are being held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Muenster Committeemen And Dads Join Scouts During Sunday Outing

Dads and committeemen were guests of the Boy Scouts at their regular monthly hike last Sunday to the church property one and one-half miles northwest of Muenster.

About 11 o'clock the youngsters and oldsters hit the trail, which had been marked Indian fashion by Scoutmaster Nick Miller and Louis Nieball, and followed its roundabout course about three miles before reaching their destination.

Upon arriving their task was the selection of a campsite, building a fire and gathering flat rocks to be used for cooking their steaks, eggs, and bacon. The system used is to heat the rock on an open fire, then rake it to one side and place the food on the rock. Spuds were also included on the camp menu.

For pastime the group played a series of scout games such as follow the leader and others of a similar nature.

Those attending were Nick Miller, Herbert Meurer, Roy Endres, Paul Nieball, Al Walter, Joe Luke, Herbert Camp, Ray Wilde, Louis Nieball, Norman Luke, Alfred Bayer, Roland Patrick, Edward Endres, and James Endres.

Conflict of Activities Causes Scouters to Postpone Until Fall

The impracticability of conducting the course now is shown in the response it received from Muenster people. During last year's series every meeting was attended by from six to ten local scouters. In the two meetings this year Nick Miller and Paul Nieball were the only ones to attend.

New Mechanic Starts Work At Wilde Service Station

Replacing A. D. Garner who recently moved to a new job at Sanger, H. S. Wilde has engaged Z. W. Kitchens of Gainesville to take charge of the repair department of his H-5 Motor Service Garage. For a few days he is being assisted by Mr. McKenzie of Pilot Point, who came to Muenster several days ago to help Mr. Wilde until a suitable mechanic could be located.

Muenster High School Nine Renews Rivalry With Eight-Ball Club

Last year's rivalry between Toney Burger's sandlotters and the crowd of eight-balls from Gainesville was renewed Friday in a snappy game that the local lads copped 8 to 5.

It was the first meeting of the year of the two teams that met several times last season. Toney's squad is made up chiefly of the old Pepper-Shaker lineup and the negro nine likewise is practically unchanged.

Games with the negroes became popular last year when, on their first visit, they provided a lot of entertainment with their typically negro antics. They are back at their old tricks again this year, and fans here are looking forward to the pleasure of seeing them in action again.

To Toney and the boys these games are not only "lotsa fun" but mighty good practice as well.

Because of his illness Friday morning M. J. Endres was unable to take his usual place in the choir for Theodore Wiesmann's funeral. It was his first time to miss singing at a funeral Mass in 20 years.

CONVENTION TAKES STAND ON PROBLEMS

Communism and Child Labor Among Weighty Issues at Pilot Point

Members of the Muenster delegation attending the North Texas District meeting of the Catholic State League at Pilot Point April 20 and 21, returned with reports of important decisions on some of the most prominent problems facing the church and nation.

Communism was attacked as a menace to Christianity and civilization and a resolution was passed by the convention to encourage a study of the principles of Communism with a view to understanding its evils and checking its further spread.

The convention went on record also as being opposed to the new anti-lynch law, now before our national Congress, to penalize a nation in which a lynching occurs. It was pointed out that while lynching is lawless mob action and should be stamped out, the proposed method is unjust in that it holds the entire citizenship of a county liable for the conduct of a few instigators.

Likewise objection was voiced to the newly introduced proposal for mercy deaths. The basis for objection is the Fifth Commandment of God, which reads, "Thou shalt not kill."

Regarding the proposal to submit to the States for ratification a new child labor amendment, the convention expressed its disapproval of the evils the measure seeks to remove, but stated that because of varied conditions the problem should be left to the individual States, that farm children be omitted from the provisions, and that the age limit be lowered to 14 years.

Among prominent persons present at the convention were Gus Strauss of Hallettsville, president of the Catholic State League of Texas, who delivered a forceful address on the evils of Communism and the urgent need of concerted action by all Christians to check its spread.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph O'Donnell presided.

Parochial Lads Defeat Myra Team 16 to 7 in Season's First Game

The baseball warriors from the parochial school under the guidance of Father Francis Zimmerer annexed their first scalp of the season when they defeated Myra's nine in a one-sided game, 16 to 7, last Monday afternoon.

It was the local crew's first trip away from Muenster and their first victory. In two previous games they had bowed to Coach Burger's Sumacs.

Monday's game renews an old rivalry between Myra and the Parochial School. For several years the two clubs have been holding a series of nip-and-tuck contests that have aroused enthusiasm on both sides.

Myra is expected to return the game soon and plans are now in progress to match the parochial youngsters against some other neighboring club.

Score by innings:
Muenster ..... 2 2 0 1 1 8 —16
Myra ..... 1 1 2 0 0 1 2 —7

PUEBLO, Colo. . . . State Highway Patrolmen wear dust masks while working in southeastern Colorado. They sometimes frighten tourists who mistake masked police for gangsters.

MAY 8 SET AS LAST DAY FOR SIGN-UP ON SOIL CONSERVATION

According to a report recently sent out by County Agent C. H. Clark, May 8 has been set as the closing date for filing work sheets under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation program in Cooke County.

His message urges all producers to contact their committeemen or go to the county agent's office on or before May 8 and sign a work sheet, which carries no obligation but merely puts the signer on record as being eligible for payment in case he decides to comply with the program.

Large Crowd Attends Second Presentation Of 'Antics of Andrew'

Considering the packed house that had already witnessed the play in its first appearance on Easter Sunday, Father Francis was elated over the large attendance that gathered for the second presentation of "The Antics of Andrew" by the Muenster Players in the Parish Hall Sunday. About 200 persons were in the audience.

Many pronounced the second performance as better than the first because of the fact that players were more prone to add a few antics of their own, but others who prefer a faithful following of the text were less impressed than before.

In keeping with the usual practice here, all proceeds of the drama were submitted to Father Frown to be placed in one of the parish funds.

NEW MANAGEMENT TO ASSUME CHARGE OF HOTEL ON MAY 1

Beginning Saturday, May 1, the City Hotel, now being conducted by Mrs. Joseph Schmitz, will be managed by Mrs. Casper Haverkamp.

With her husband, two sons, and one daughter, the new proprietress arrived Tuesday with a truck load of furniture from their home in St. Joseph, Tenn. The furniture brought by them is to be added to that which Mrs. Haverkamp purchased from Mrs. Schmitz during her visit here about two weeks ago.

Immediately upon their arrival here the Haverkamp family began installing their furniture and making the sort of minor changes that would not interfere with Mrs. Schmitz's routine business. Other time they spent resting from their long truck drive and visiting with relatives and acquaintances. The new family is related to the Haverkamps, Pagels, and Bernauers here, and both Mr. and Mrs. Haverkamp have been here on previous visits.

While Mr. Haverkamp and his two sons are looking forward to securing work in some of Muenster's varied industries, Mrs. Haverkamp plans to manage the hotel with the assistance of her two daughters, one of whom will arrive after her graduation from high school at St. Joseph during May.

No definite statement has been made regarding immediate plans of the Schmitz family but it is rumored that they will return to their former home at Southmayd where Mrs. Schmitz will assume the less arduous task of managing a small cafe.

ROAD CREW FINISH CONCRETE WORK; TO BEGIN FILLING-IN

All preliminary concrete work has been completed on the new highway and preparations are now in progress to begin fill in work at the low places between Muenster and the Montague County line Jack McKinney foreman of the R. W. McKinney Co. stated Wednesday. Concrete work included the construction of five blocks of sidewalk within the city limits the extension of some bridges and the construction of some new culverts.

At the present time about 15 men are engaged in clearing off the surface of a gravel pit and fill in work is expected to begin within a few days. Next in order will be blasting down a few hills and then the hauling of road base materials.

The Muenster-Saint Jo road was closed to traffic last Friday afternoon and, according to present estimates, the short span of dirt between Muenster and the pavement will be barricaded in about three weeks.

A new 10-ton roller to be used in laying the road bed arrived here early this week.

82 Years of Faithful Service Credited to Clock in Fisch Home

Here's something we've found out only lately, but you've probably known it all along.

In the J. P. Fisch home is an ancient clock that has been on duty faithfully for almost 82 years. In fact it came into the Fisch home when J. P. was an infant of 6 months and whether or not it had given a great deal of service before that time is not known.

But the interesting fact is that it still runs and still keeps perfect time. Probably the reason for its long service and its accuracy is that it has always been kept clean. It is provided with a large glass case that covers it completely and is absolutely dust proof. If any dust reaches the clock it must do so each tenth day when the glass hood is removed to permit winding.

The clock is beautifully decorated and shows many marks of a real craftsman.

And, believe it or not, it is still covered with the original glass hood in spite of its move from the old country and several other moves here in America. The secret of preserving the hood was to stuff a pillow inside and several more pillows around it before crating for a move.

Catholic Daughters Have Benefit Social Tuesday

Mrs. John Fleitman was hostess at a C. D. of A. benefit social in her home Tuesday night. About 30 persons attended and all, except a small group of men who preferred sheep-head, took part in a progressive 42 game. Scoring honors went to Mrs. J. B. Wilde and Oscar Walter.

Refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served by the hostess.

Last Drop of Syrup Falls at 8:12 Tuesday; Paul Yosten Is Winner

At 8:12 o'clock Tuesday evening, exactly 101 hours and 12 minutes after the pail was punctured last Friday afternoon, the last drop of AB syrup fell and the Farmers' Store syrup contest was declared officially closed.

Checking over the list of guesses, Paul Yosten was found to be the lucky winner of a case containing six gallons of the syrup. His estimate was 100 hours and three minutes. The next six winners all of whom received a one-gallon pail of AB syrup, and their guesses are as follows: A. C. Steizer, 100 hours; Mrs. August Walterscheid, 99 hours; Henry Henschel, Jr., 103 hours; Alfred Bayer, 103 hours; Frank Klement, 98 hours, 20 minutes, and Wm. Hellman, 104 hours.

Modern $5,000 Structure to Adjoin Al Walterscheid's Machine Shop; Work to Be Started Soon.

Some time next week work will begin on the new $5,000 Gulf service station on Highway 5 immediately east of Al Walterscheid's machine shop.

A final agreement between Frank Treubach, owner of the property, and officials of the Gulf Refining Co. was reached Monday, and it was stated at that time that construction would be begun in about ten days.

The service station, according to present plans and specifications will be complete in every respect, and far superior to any service station now in Muenster. It will feature greasing and washing racks of latest design, ample floor space, attractive surroundings, modern rest rooms, and a complete supply of Gulf products.

According to an agreement reached by Mr. Treubach and the Gulf company, he will own the building but has excused himself from the details connected with its erection. That task is being left to the Gulf Refining Co., who will engage a contractor and submit all specifications.

The name of the contractor for the new building was not made known. However, it is known that Charles Bialkowski of Wichita Falls, who built the H-5 Garage and the K. of C. Hall here two years ago, was in Muenster Tuesday trying to land the job.

Construction of the new $5,000 building is hailed as a very welcome working program for Muenster lads as well as a very welcome order to one or another of the Muenster lumber yards.

And after the structure is complete it will provide steady employment for at least two persons, who, it has been stated, will probably be chosen from the array of young men here in Muenster.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD APRIL 23 FOR THEO. WIESMANN

With all living members of his family in attendance, Theodore Wiesman, Muenster's number one pioneer, was laid to rest Friday morning, April 23, at the Sacred Heart Cemetery.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Francis Zimmerer after a Requiem High Mass at which he was celebrant. Pallbearers were Mr. Wiesman's five sons: Karl, August, Frank, Tony, and Theodore; and his grandson, Norbert Henschel. Brooks Powell of Gainesville was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mr. Wiesman died suddenly at his home the preceding Wednesday morning from a heart attack that first struck him the preceding Monday, at which time his doctor and his parish priest were summoned to his bedside. From that time until his death Mr. Wiesman suffered no pain and was normal in every respect except at the times when the heart attacks struck.

FRAULEIN LILLIAN FETTE ENTERTAINS GERMAN OFFICIALS

Friends and relatives here have recently received word that Lillian Fette constituted half of the good will delegation meeting four representatives of a German aerial club when they arrived on the German liner Bremen at New York almost two weeks ago.

Along with one of the executives of her company, the American Airlines, Lillian greeted the visitors and entertained them in the metropolis. Her little introductory act consisted of a welcome speech in German and the presentation of a huge bouquet of chrysanthemums to the party.

After all the formality and profuse speeches of appreciation from her guests she and her escort were warmly accepted as members of the German party.

Fraulein Fette was selected from the scores of American Airline stewardesses because of her slight acquaintance with the German language. Her duties as hostess were considerably simplified, however, when she discovered that one lady spoke English about as well as she spoke German. From that time on Lillian made a practice of listening in German and speaking in English.

Though supposedly a guide, Miss Fette was no less impressed by New York than her guests. It was her first visit to that city and to one of the world's great trans-Atlantic vessels.

Community Circus Gives Free Tickets to Pupils

Complimentary tickets for the Gainesville Community Circus have been given to all elementary pupils of the Muenster school, Mr. Elton Burger, principal of the school, stated this week.

When passing out the free ducats Mr. Burger found himself confronted by several of the more advanced students who were determined to garner a few of the passes, but managed to make the proper distribution in spite of disguises, pleading, and what not.

The opening performance of the circus was held Wednesday and the closing performance will be given tonight (Friday).

SHERMAN HAS K-C INITIATION NEXT SUNDAY

New members accepted into the council are Henry Picks, Earl Fisher, Paul Fisher, Harry Fisher, Gilbert Endres and Paul Endres.

Demonstration Club of Linn Meets Tuesday in Home of John Coursey

"Hot breads were an important item in the diet of the South previous to the Civil War and still are. From the South come such hot breads as beaten biscuit, spoon bread and corn bread," Miss Nettie Shultz, county home demonstration agent, told the members of the Linn club Tuesday afternoon when they met in the home of Mrs. John Coursey.

Miss Shultz explained how the method of combining and mixing the ingredients and the method of baking are important factors in the making of better hot breads. During the demonstration she gave recipes and made muffins, gingerbread and biscuits.

"Primitive Bread Making," was read by Mrs. F. N. Fielder.

Mrs. Selby Fielder presided at the meeting. Mrs. Jack Biffle gave a report of the county council meeting. The club also voted to participate in the one-act play tournament to be held at the J. M. Lindsay school in Gainesville, May 15.

After the business meeting Mrs. Linton Coursey, who was before her marriage Miss Ann Glenn, was honored with a bridal shower.

Refreshments were served to 15 members and four visitors.

The club will meet with Mrs. Dude Rosson, Tuesday, May 11.

Wrong Man Goes for the Dough; Two Others Are Absent on Bank Night

It must be quite a strain to go after a $500 bank night award and then come back empty handed.

Last week M. J. Endres toddled up to the stage when the Majestic management announced the lucky name as M. H. Endres but found that it was W. H. and not M. J.

The reason for his spending the following morning in bed was given as a stomach disorder, but those who were aware of his experience were more inclined to explain it as the shock of disappointment.

The next problem is how did W. H. survive the shock? When news of the drawing reached him he must have had quite a disappointment himself.

A later addition to this yarn is the news that Mrs. Nick Miller's name was also called as a winner of the half-gund purse but she also was numbered among the unlucky absentees.

Ollie and Jake Horn went to Wichita Falls last Saturday to get the one-lung motorcycle Ollie has been riding around town this week.

Six Candidates Enter Ranks of Knighthood in Gainesville Degree

Preparing for the major degree initiation to be held in Sherman Sunday, knights of the Gainesville council sponsored a joint first degree initiation for candidates of Gainesville and Muenster in their council chamber Tuesday night.

Six of the 11 candidates who entered the ranks of knighthood were from Muenster and about 25 knights who witnessed the degree work were also from the local council.

Since the first degree exemplification Tuesday it has been revealed that a few more candidates who were late in signing up will be included in another first degree initiation to be held before the major initiation Sunday at Sherman.

Jake Horn Entertains Friends at Dance and House Warming Party

With scores of their friends from Muenster and Lindsay present, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Horn, Jr., entertained Thursday night of last week with a combination wedding dance and house-warming party, for which general invitations had been extended to all the people of Muenster and Lindsay.

Fortunately the night was a pleasant one for the affair was only a little different from an old time platform dance. While all the floors and most of the framework of the house is complete it still has only holes for doors and windows. The spring breeze that sifted through the openings was invigorating except to those who were too scantily dressed.

The total crowd visiting the party at various times of the evening is estimated at 100. Ollie Horn, Ed Walterscheid and a few volunteer musicians, were on hand to provide rhythm for them.

During the convention of the North Texas District of the Catholic State League held at Pilot Point last week, clergy of the Sherman Deanery met with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph O'Donahoe for a regular meeting. Both Father Frowin and Father Francis were in attendance.

las June 12. The stage will be mounted on rails, and will roll from underneath the ramp. Huge doors, camouflaged as rocks, will hide the stage when not in use.

Thirty feet of the big rolling stage may be rolled out for portraying scenes on the center location. It is in reality a stage within a stage, and boasts all the drops and trappings found in a well set theater. This new use of center stage is a development of the production staff of "Cavalcade of the Americas" who use it for the first time for this type of show.

The use of the center stage, through this method, contributes much to the out-door production, according to A. L. Vollman, producer-director of the show. "It is just one of the many technical improvements that will make "Cavalcade" the foremost show of its kind ever produced," he stated.

The main stage, the largest in the world, will be completed by May 1, in time for rehearsals to begin.

Hello Everybody!

"Two Tickets to Terror"

By FLOYD GIBBONS
Famous Headline Hunter

IT WAS just a couple of tickets that started the whole thing. Those tickets played the major role in the yarn we're going to hear today. And along with them went ten minutes of Grade A terror and, on top of that, a surprise that will knock you for a row of box offices.

It's Louise Addelson of New York City who is telling the story, but the adventure happened to her aunt.

It was the tickets that started it all, but it was a letter that dragged Auntie into the affair. Auntie had a daughter, Helen, who had recently married. She was living in a furnished apartment in Montreal, and one day she wrote that her husband was away on business, and she was lonesome, and wouldn't Auntie like to come and pay her a visit?

Auntie went. She got there in October—and a few days afterward, on the 23d of the month, the tickets showed up.

Tickets for Helen and Her Mother.

It happened this way. The apartment directly over Helen's was occupied by a young couple, the Chesters, with whom she and her husband had recently struck up an acquaintance. On the afternoon of the twenty-third, Mrs. Chester came downstairs to call. She said her husband had purchased some theater tickets, and now a telegram had called him away to the sick bed of his mother in another town. They couldn't go to the show, so they wanted to give the tickets to Helen and her mother. Mrs. Chester insisted that they take them, and wouldn't hear of letting them pay for them.

Auntie didn't really want to go to the theater. Some time before she had lost her husband, and shortly after that her son had died. She hadn't been to a show or any other place of amusement since, and didn't really have any desire to go. She only agreed to go this time for her daughter's sake, and she was immensely relieved when, while they were dressing that evening, her son-in-law returned unexpectedly from his business trip and took her place.

The young couple went out. Auntie is an old-fashioned mother, and no sooner were they out of the house than she set the ironing board up in the kitchen and began ironing the underwear and linen that had been washed that day. She was still busy at work when she heard a strange, buzzing sound at the front door.

She Still Had the Hot Iron

With the iron still in her hand, she walked to the front of the apartment. There was a large hole in the door, and someone, even then, was boring another. For an instant she was puzzled. Then, as she realized what was happening she almost collapsed with fright. Someone was trying to break into the house!

For whole minutes she stood, rooted to the spot, incapable of moving even so much as a muscle. She watched while a tiny saw blade was inserted through one of the holes—watched it while a larger opening was cut in the door. It was only when the opening was completed and a hand reached through and began groping to release the catch on the inside that she could move at all. Then, suddenly she became aware of the heat of the iron in her hand.

Almost instinctively she lifted the iron. Without seeming to form any plan in her mind, she acted. Tiptoeing across the hall to the door she pressed the iron down hard on the reaching, fumbling hand!

There was a yell outside that was loud enough to be heard half a block away. The hall was filled with the odor of burned flesh. The hand was jerked out of the opening and she could hear the footsteps of its owner scurrying away.

She heaved a sigh of relief, but still she was badly frightened. What if the man came back? She wouldn't stay alone in that apartment for another minute.

So She Took Refuge With the Chesters.

The only people she knew in the house were the Chesters upstairs. Mr. Chester would be out of town traveling to the bedside of his ailing mother. She didn't know whether Mrs. Chester had gone with him or not. If she hadn't—if she was home—maybe she would come down and stay with Auntie until her daughter and son-in-law returned.

She ran out the rear entrance, scampered up the stairs and knocked on the Chesters' back door. Then, without waiting for an answer, she tried the door. The knob turned. The door swung open. And Auntie burst in on a tableau that gave her the second shock of the evening and the big surprise of her whole life.

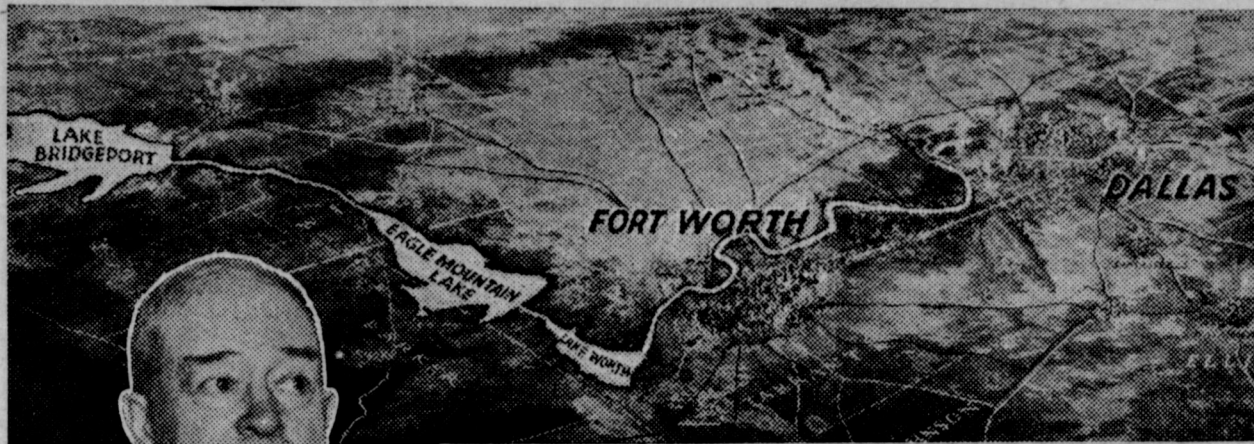

Seated in a chair in the kitchen was the supposedly absent Mr. Chester. And standing over him was Mrs. Chester, applying salve to a bad burn on his outstretched right hand!

The Scheme Was Exposed.

Mr. Chester scrambled to his feet. Mrs. Chester ran to the door and banged it in Auntie's face. For a moment she was too dazed to think. Then the whole explanation came to her. The Chesters had planned to get her and Helen out of the house so they would be free to rob Helen of her wedding gifts and a few valuable jewels she owned. The theater tickets were just a trick to get them out for the evening and leave the apartment empty. And only the unexpected return of Helen's husband had interfered with the scheme.

As soon as she could get her wits together, Auntie called the police, but Auntie never saw the Chesters again. They, too, lived in a furnished apartment. And by the time the police arrived they had packed up their few personal belongings and fled.

Trinity Canal to Remove Physical Barrier To Lone Star State's Industrial Progress

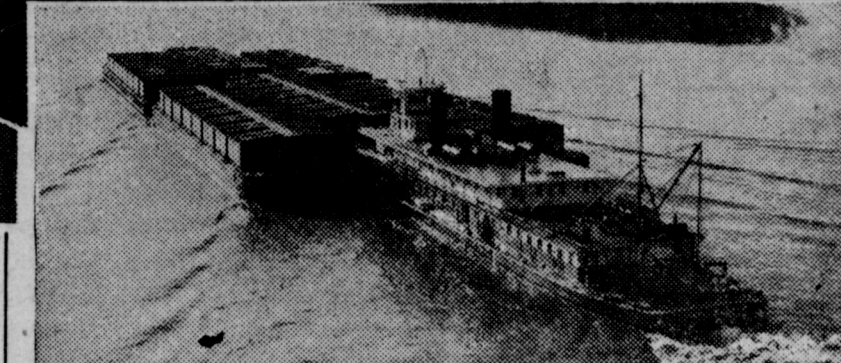

FORT WORTH.—Removal of the greatest physical barrier to the profitable industrialization of Texas, namely the remoteness of the rich mid-state region from tide-water, is seen by the All-South Development Council in the imminent realization of the dream of a canalized, commerce-bearing Trinity River.

This engineering feat bringing Fort Worth and Dallas to the seacoast, figuratively speaking, hailed as a boon to the movement for the encouragement of industry, which is gathering momentum throughout the state, may be soon a reality, the Council's report says.

Revision in the plans has reduced the number of locks to 21, cutting the estimated cost from $102,000,000 to $60,000,000. Furthermore, powerful arguments supporting the economic justification for the project have been prepared and documented, and the Council states that proponents of the canalization plan look for a successful outcome of the hearings which will soon be held in Washington.

The physical problem of Trinity canalization is extremely simple, according to Gen. Herbert Deakyne, formerly chairman of the U. S. Army Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, who is here in charge of preparing a report on the engineering plans for the project.

From the recently completed Eagle Mountain and Bridgeport lakes, just above Fort Worth, will come the bulk of the water used to move modern, Diesel-engined towboats through the 21 locks along Realization of the long-sought Trinity River canalization plan for a commercial waterway to the gulf, tapping Texas' rich interior, is imminent, according to the All-South Development Council. With the estimated cost of the 400-mile project pared from $102,000,000 to $60,000,000 under revised plans, and many forward-looking groups adding support to this project to the movement, being evidenced throughout the state, for the establishment of a sound policy of taxation to encourage industry in Texas, proponents of the long-sought waterway look for a successful outcome of hearings soon to be held in Washington. This aerial compositograph (background) shows the "headwaters" of the proposed canal the newly-impounded lakes in the Fort Worth-Dallas area. Inset at left is Gen. Herbert Deakyne, retired U. S. army engineer in charge of perfecting engineering plans. At right, a modern, Diesel-engined tugboat such as will ply the waterway, with a load of 1,000-ton barges.

the straightened, 400-mile course from Fort Worth to Galveston bay. Experts estimate that these lakes, the new Mountain Creek lake near Dallas, and other slack-water pools in the area, will provide easily twice as much water, at any time, as the canal will require.

This will not be a disconnected, isolated project, the Council points out, but a valuable link in an integrated inland waterway system that serves 60 per cent of the nation's population. This is true because it will connect with the Intra-coastal canal at Galveston and thence with the Mississippi, thus tying up to the great canals and rivers that serve the prosperous midwest.

Strong support which is rallying behind the move to establish this long-sought connection between Texas' rich interior and tidewater is indicative, observers feel, of the determination being manifest in all parts of the state, to obtain for Texas the benefits of new industry—increased payrolls, diversified production and a consequent sharing of the tax burden which is now borne by a comparatively few industries. Many forward-looking groups which are pressing for a sound state policy of taxation to reassure industries already located in the state and bring to Texas prospective investors of new capital, are also mobilizing to put engineering skill at work on this waterway which they regard as a pivotal point in the broad program of building for the future of the Lone Star state.

AND NOW — OUR OPINION

The Enterprise was more than pleased to publish in its previous edition a comment from the Benedictine Sisters of the Muenster Parochial School. We are happy to extend to others the privilege of using our medium to present worth while ideas.

To us the letter was especially interesting because it introduced a misunderstanding that may be more widely scattered than in the faculty of the Parochial School. If such is the case our cause can be benefitted by removing the misunderstanding. Had the letter not appeared we might not have become aware of a very prominent objection.

The first bone of contention is that "pupils of Muenster are not getting what they need and will not be able to compete with the products of other schools." The author went on to explain the splendid work done by those pupils when they enter other schools. And it is precisely at this point that the misunderstanding appears.

We did not and we do not now wish to belittle the work of the Benedictine Sisters. The writer himself is happy to recall his experience of coasting through three more years of high school after receiving his foundation at the parochial school.

In addition to their other splendid work the Sisters are giving a moral background in religion, a subject infinitely more important than the other three R's.

But it has been admitted that Muenster pupils must continue their work in other schools. This is the condition we wish to overcome. It should not be necessary for children to leave Muenster to complete their high school work. And even though it is very noble for parents to make great sacrifices so that their children can continue their studies, the fact remains that many parents cannot and other parents will not make that great a sacrifice. What, then, becomes of the child's opportunity?

And now, going back to our original contention, we still insist that products of our schools cannot compete with those of other schools. Every year parents are admitting the truth of that statement when they send their children to other schools. Those children are through in our schools but they still do not have what they need, regardless of how good their foundation work was.

"Since Muenster is so progressive, it should not be necessary for our schooled youth to leave town. Let them invest their education here." At what? Is their program to be in the nature of a boom, or is it to be a steady march of progress? If it is the latter we must have an educational system before we can expect them to make a start. Too many people nowadays are concerned with their children's education and do not care to settle down in a town that does not offer a complete course. Until Muenster improves her school system she has very nearly reached her limit of development.

Mention was made of the necessity of building a new church and the desirability of a Catholic high school. The expense of building the church is already an enormous burden on members of the parish. Would they be willing then to spend more money on a school? We think not. Would the parents of Muenster be satisfied to wait until the church is paid for to get a high school? We think not. Would they be willing to assume the total expense of erecting and maintaining when that expense could be distributed over the income from the State and a tax on everyone rather than on Catholics only? We think not. Would it be fair to provide a high school for Catholics only when the community has so many Protestants? We think not.

"I believe that a man should be proud of the city in which he lives and that he should so live that his city will be proud that he lives in it."—Abraham Lincoln.

BENEFACTORS OF HUMANITY

The first Chinese who discovered that thread could be spun and cloth woven from the fibers of an insect's cocoon had the quality of curiosity and imagination which lies behind all research. It took modern scientific knowledge to enable men to discover that silk, like all other vegetable fibers, is a form of cellulose, which is found in all growing things. Imagination plus science enabled men to reduce cotton waste and wood chips to cellulose and then mechanically to produce a fiber by almost the same process the silkworm uses. One of the most interesting recent scientific discoveries is an improved method of making rayon, by which the tendency to retain wrinkles is removed from that popular and inexpensive improvement on natural silk.

Cellulose is the basis of paper, of explosives, of the lacquers which are replacing varnish in so many uses, of a thousand products and compounds in daily use. Now a new method of reducing wood, cornstalks and almost anything else to pure cellulose in less time and at vastly less cost has been discovered.

That is something which holds promise of future profit for farmers, whose waste products may gain a new commercial value. And it is another step toward production of things everybody wants in quantities large enough to supply everybody's needs and at prices everybody can pay. And that is, or ought to be, the main objective of a well-ordered social system.—Exchange.

A NATIONAL LABOR POLICY

The interest which Congress has begun to display in the latest development of the organized labor situation, the "sit-down" strike, is a good omen, for it suggests that a national labor policy in which the interests of employers and the general public will be given equal weight with those of the workers may be in process of development. Heretofore most labor legislation has been, as the old saying goes, rather "jughandled."

No one seriously wants to deprive labor of its right to organize, to negotiate collectively for better working conditions, shorter hours and higher wages. But the feeling that the recognition of those rights ought to go hand in hand with acceptance by organized labor of responsibility to the public for the actions of its members, and to employers for living up to its contract agreements, has been increasing for a long time, and has been accentuated by the conditions arising from the automobile strikes.

It is intimated in some quarters that Mr. Lewis' organization, the Committee for Industrial Organization, has got out of control, and that its leaders are not able to prevent the recurrence of "sit-down" strikes. If that is so, it furnishes another reason for making the organization responsible. One chief reason why business men have been opposed to unionism in the past is the uncertainty whether the union will live up to its agreements, and the difficulty or impossibility of calling it to account if it fails to do so.

The chief concern of Congress is, or should be, the welfare of all the people. When a condition exists which threatens that welfare, either by slowing down the productive activities of industry or by increasing the price of products to the consumer, it is a situation which is above and outside of the field of party politics. How far the authority of Congress extends in the regulation of labor is still a disputed question; but it is time that a national labor policy, going as far as the Federal Government can Constitutionally go, were defined and put on paper.—Exchange.

GARDENIA DANCER

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. . . . Gail Armour, famous danseuse, rehearses for her Gardenia Dance at Florida Cypress Gardens, where thousands of the fragrant waxy blossoms are now in full bloom.

Health Officer, and urged that the public be on the alert to detect this disease.

"Cancer is not a hopeless, incurable disease. It is not contagious or in itself hereditary. There are thousands of men and women in this country who have been successfully treated for cancer. The great hope of cancer patients lies in their having treatment during the first stages of the disease. Cancer announces itself by symptoms that are frequently painless and apparently trivial, thus giving the disease an unseemly advantage. Early diagnosis is the one powerful antagonist.

"The danger signals can be classified as follows: Any lump in the breast or other part of the body; any persistent sore, particularly on the face or mouth; any unusual discharge or bleeding from any part of the body, such as vomiting of blood, passage of blood from the bowels, or unusual bleeding of any bodily passage, especially after middle age. These symptoms may be from some other cause but should be diagnosed by a physician.

"Two main rules should be followed in cancer treatment. First, have an annual physical examination by a reputable physician. In this way incipient cancerous conditions can be discovered and by proper treatment the disease can be conquered. The second rule is to mistrust high promising statements of 'amazing new discoveries'."

LINDSAY PARISH OBSERVES FORTY HOURS DEVOTION

Lindsay, April 28.—The Forty Hours' Adoration for the parish of St. Peter at Lindsay began Friday morning at 8 o'clock with a Solemn High Mass preceding the Exposition.

The Rev. Father Mosler celebrated the Mass with the Caecilia Choir, under the direction of Father John, singing J. H. Theisen's mass in honor of St. John the Baptist.

Following the Mass the Blessed Sacrament, escorted by acolytes, crossbearer and 20 flower girls in white dresses and veils, each carrying a lighted candle, was borne in procession through the aisles of the church, while the choir chanted the Pange Lingua.

After the procession the Sacred Species were exposed on the high altar, where, surrounded by lighted candles and cut flowers, relays of worshippers kept constant vigil throughout the day, paying tribute to their Eucharistic King.

At 7:30 p.m. "Compline" and Sacramental Benediction brought the first day to a successful close.

The program for the second day was similar to that of the first day, however, on Sunday the services began with a Mass of exposition and communion at 6 o'clock. Rogation High Mass and sermon at 8 o'clock followed by a Solemn High Mass at 10 o'clock.

The celebration was brought to an impressive closing Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the entire congregation and scores of visitors from neighboring parishes attended the services which began with the Caecilia Choir singing the arrangement of Singenberger's Vespers in honor of the Holy Eucharist, followed by procession in the open.

Upon re-entering the church Benediction was held by the Rev. P. Mosler, assisted by Rev. Father Frowin and Rev. John P. Brady. After the "Laudate," the parish band offered the grand march, "Marcheaux Flambeaux," by Scotson Clark, as a recessional and as a final selection played Harold Bennet's march, "Precision."

The hostess served the dinner plate lunch style to 24 guests.

Various games featured the afternoon entertainment.

The honoree was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts.

CONVENTION

ahoe of Sherman, chairman of the Catholic exhibit committee of the Greater Texas and Pan American Exposition explained to those present some of the more interesting highlights of the coming spectacle at Dallas.

John Pfeiffer and Ben Schwegman of San Antonio praised the excellent work being done by the League's members of the Northern District and gave a detailed account of the advantages of the League's life insurance policies.

The convention opened Tuesday afternoon, April 20, with the registration of delegates and appointment of committees. On the following day activities opened with a Solemn High Mass and closed with Benediction and the "Te Deum."

For the younger visitors the convention was brought to a successful close by a dance Wednesday night.

Mr. Wiesmann is remembered as one of the early settlers who cast his lot in the open prairies here during the late eighties, and contributed his full share in bringing Muenster to its present stage of development.

Annual Spring Carnival Of Gainesville Parish Set for Next Thursday

Members of St. Mary's Parish at Gainesville are making extensive plans to make this year's annual spring carnival the grandest of its history.

The merry making, which begins Thursday morning, May 6, and extends to an unspecified hour of the night, will be held on the St. Mary's parish grounds.

Headlining the carnival's features is a big vaudeville scheduled to begin at 7:30 and performed by talent from the parish. Other attractions include a country store, fish-pond, hamburger stand, candy booth, K. of C. booth, and Young Ladies' booth. A generous supply of ice cream and soda water will be available on the grounds.

In view of the fact that the carnival falls on Ascension Day, a church holy day, the Gainesville parish anticipates the pleasure of entertaining a large number of Muenster and Lindsay visitors.

Sumacs Take 5-1 Licking From Junior College Nine

The Muenster Sumacs bit the dust Tuesday afternoon in their first encounter with the Gainesville Junior College baseball team. The score of the seven-inning match was 5 to 1.

Both teams gave a splendid exhibition of early season sloppy playing. In the first inning the Gainesville lads permitted Muenster to score on an error; but not to be outdone, the Sumacs returned the compliment in due time and in the final inning bunched their boners to give Gainesville a neat advantage which was well used by a streak of flashy playing.

State Examinations Are Taken by Students of Muenster High School

In order to overcome the handicap of a non-affiliated school, Mr. Burger, principal of the Muenster High School, instituted this week a system of college entrance examinations.

Questions for the exams are submitted by the State Department of Education, and students passing them are rewarded with official credentials from that same department, entitling them to entrance in universities of the State on equal terms with graduates of affiliated high schools.

The system as inaugurated here provides that each student at the close of his year's work take the State exam in each of his subjects. If and when he enters college he will be excused from examinations on subjects he has passed in the State exam.

This year students will take examinations on all the work they have covered to date. Seniors will have 16 subjects, juniors 12, sophomores 8, and freshmen 4. In years to come each student's examination will be over the work he has done during the current school year.

The examinations are being held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Muenster Committeemen And Dads Join Scouts During Sunday Outing

Dads and committeemen were guests of the Boy Scouts at their regular monthly hike last Sunday to the church property one and one-half miles northwest of Muenster.

About 11 o'clock the youngsters and oldsters hit the trail, which had been marked Indian fashion by Scoutmaster Nick Miller and Louis Nieball, and followed its roundabout course about three miles before reaching their destination.

Upon arriving their task was the selection of a campsite, building a fire and gathering flat rocks to be used for cooking their steaks, eggs, and bacon. The system used is to heat the rock on an open fire, then rake it to one side and place the food on the rock. Spuds were also included on the camp menu.

For pastime the group played a series of scout games such as follow the leader and others of a similar nature.

Conflict of Activities Causes Scouters to Postpone Until Fall

At the second meeting of Cooke County Scouters held Monday night in the city hall in Gainesville under the direction of Scout executives of Chickasaw Council, it was decided to postpone future meetings of the present course until sometime next fall.

The decision was reached after considering the numerous conflicts which would tend to diminish attendance if the course were continued at this time. Mentioned as most prominent conflicts were the extensive softball schedule drawn up by Gainesville teams and the coming State convention of the Knights of Columbus as well as the increased activity that usually accompanies the harvest season.

The inpracticability of conducting the course now is shown in the response it received from Muenster people. During last year's series every meeting was attended by from six to ten local scouters. In the two meetings this year Nick Miller and Paul Nieball were the only ones to attend.

New Mechanic Starts Work At Wilde Service Station

Replacing A. D. Garner who recently moved to a new job at Sanger, H. S. Wilde has engaged Z. W. Kitchens of Gainesville to take charge of the repair department of his H-5 Motor Service Garage. Mr. Kitchens stated his intention of moving to Muenster as soon as suitable living quarters are located. For a few days he is being assisted by Mr. McKenzie of Pilot Point, who came to Muenster several days ago to help Mr. Wilde until a suitable mechanic could be located.

Muenster High School Nine Renews Rivalry With Eight-Ball Club

Last year's rivalry between Toney Burger's sandlotters and the crowd of eight-balls from Gainesville was renewed Friday in a snappy game that the local lads copped 8 to 5.

It was the first meeting of the year of the two teams that met several times last season. Toney's squad is made up chiefly of the old Pepper-Shaker lineup and the negro nine likewise is practically unchanged.

Games with the negroes became popular last year when, on their first visit, they provided a lot of entertainment with their typically negro antics. They are back at their old tricks again this year, and fans here are looking forward to the pleasure of seeing them in action again.

To Toney and the boys these games are not only "lotsa fun" but mighty good practice as well.

Because of his illness Friday morning M. J. Endres was unable to take his usual place in the choir for Theodore Wiesmann's funeral. It was his first time to miss singing at a funeral Mass in 20 years.
