Open House highlights Public Schools Week

Muenster ISD hosted an Open House on Tuesday, March 6 in conjunction with their celebration of Public Schools Week. Visitors were encouraged to visit classrooms, speak with teachers, and tour the Arts and Crafts display in the gymnasium. Between 375 and 400 people took the opportunity to visit the school.

There were 359 entries in the Arts and Crafts Show. Best of Show was awarded to 29 of these entries. Every student participating received a ribbon.

Students sent notes of thanks on Monday to businesses and persons who have been supportive of Muenster Public School. On Tuesday, parents and grandparents were invited to have lunch with students in the school cafeteria. Lunch was served to about 72 parents.

Grade school children enjoyed listening to stories on Wednesday when STAR (Someone That Adores Reading) visitors read their favorite stories to students in each classroom.

Dads of second graders were special guests for doughnuts when they were invited to be guests of their children on Thursday morning.

MUENSTER PUBLIC SCHOOL'S Arts and Crafts Show once again was attended by a record crowd as part of the school's Open House Tuesday night. Kim Walterscheid, children Gayle and Justin, (across the table) along with Shirley Knabe and sons Eric and Royce were among the hundreds who enjoyed the students' work in conjunction with Public Schools Week. Janie Hartman photo

Friday was set aside as Teacher Appreciation Day. Parents were on hand to watch the children during lunch while the teachers enjoyed a luncheon.

The theme for Public Schools Week, March 5-9, this year was "Texas Schools: Building Brighter Futures." Members of the school administration felt that this week was the perfect time to take the opportunity to let the community know how well their students have been doing on the various tests that are used to measure student academic achievements and let teachers know areas where more work is needed.

Students from Muenster High taking the SAT college entrance exam this year have done very well.

One scored 1370 and is a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship. Two others scored above 1300. "This is phenomenal to have three students in one class of a rural school score this high," said Vernon Austen, Muenster ISD counselor. "I think it is unique for a rural area school."

Mr. Austen is licensed to administer the SAT test and he uses Muenster High as the test center. He feels that the high school setting helps students to feel more at ease and may help them do better on their test.

Muenster ISD was ranked fifth in the state on the state required TEAMS (Texas Educational See OPEN HOUSE, page 4

Chief Appraiser files response to lawsuit

by Elaine Schad

The attorney for Cooke County Appraisal District Chief Appraiser Pat Pickett has filed a response to a lawsuit filed last month in the 235th District Court, denying that she wrongfully terminated the employment of a former longtime CCAD appraiser.

Norman Dean Sallee is requesting a jury trial, charging that Ms. Pickett, both as an individual and in her capacity as chief appraiser, violated his rights to due process. He is requesting that he be reinstated to his position, and that the court award damages of at least $500,000. No trial date has been set. The suit states that Sallee received a notice of termination on June 2, 1989.

In a response filed with the district court, Ms. Pickett denies all charges. "The defendant generally denies each and every, all and singular, the allegations set forth in the plaintiff's original petition, and demands strict proof thereof by a preponderance of the evidence," the response states. The response requests that, "all plaintiff's claims be denied and that the defendant recover her costs and requests such other and further relief to which she may be justly entitled, both in law and in equity."

Ms. Pickett is being represented by Dallas Attorney Rhonda Byrd. Sallee is being represented by Austin Attorney Eric Samuelson.

Four seek Precinct 4 place

by Elaine Schad

Four men vying for the Cooke County Precinct 4 commissioner seat in the March 13 Democratic Primary are all lifelong residents of the county who feel they can make a difference if elected.

The position was thrown up for grabs following the decision by incumbent Rosalie Bayer of Muenster not to seek a second full term. Wayne Trubenbach, Henry E. Starke and Virgil J. Hess, all of Muenster, and John H. Peyrot of Gainesville want the office in a precinct which lies in northwestern Cooke County, where Muenster is the population center. The winner will face Kenneth Swirczynski of Muenster, running unopposed on the Republican ticket, in the November general election.

All of the candidates for the commissioner job feel a decision almost two years ago to remove a county ambulance from Muenster to cut costs should again be evaluated. Other issues in the campaign involve the development of a regional landfill, holding the lid on taxes and taking care of the administrative end of the commissioner's office.

Hess, 44, feels his experience and management skills as a former oil production supervisor of some 35 employees for a Wichita Falls oil company for more than 20 years qualifies him for the position. Now a self-employed rancher and repairman, Hess said an experienced administrator is a requirement for the commissioner's job.

"There are problems on the roads, but nowadays the problems are more complex," Hess said.

"I've gone out and met the people, who tell me their main concern is handling courthouse business," he said. "That's where you're spending the money."

Hess would like to see better utilization of county equipment, possible using more efficient scheduling and rotating equipment among the precincts to cut down on some equipment purchases.

Hess has no qualms about can see how improvements can be made," said Trubenbach. "I have a good relationship with the commissioner, but I wouldn't be a yes man."

Trubenbach said he wouldn't want taxes to go higher, but is committed to retaining current levels of county services, such as ambulance and sheriff's department operations. He'd like to see more paved roads in heavily populated areas.

is now a farmer. Saying he is a conservative, Starke's highest priority would be holding taxes if elected.

Starke worked at Muenster Milling Company from 1966 to 1968. He also worked in the oil field and worked at National from 1969 to 1987. He and his wife, Margie, are now in farming.

"I'm a man to keep taxes stable," said Starke. "I'm going to have to see where the money is spent." A major duty of the commissioners is administrative, said Starke. "I'd love to spend some time with the men, but administration is first," he said.

Both Starke and Hess feel a major issue in the next year will be construction of a regional landfill in the county. Both feel any such landfill should be placed in an isolated area. Starke also said he will be talking again about an ambulance in the western part of the county. "I really want to see what the cost would be," he said.

Peyrot, 54, is a self-employed painter and auctioneer. He feels his experience in dealing with the public over the years qualifies him for the commissioner's job. Peyrot, who is single, was born and raised in the county where the Peyrot family has roots that go back several generations.

Peyrot is an auctioneering school graduate, and has worked part time at the sale barns in both Muenster and Gainesville. "I feel that a man has got to be level headed and pull together," he said. "The economy is bad, but I think the job can be done, but we must have harmony."

reopening the issue of placing an ambulance in Muenster, pulled from the city two years ago when commissioners decided it would be more cost effective to house all the ambulances in Gainesville. "The people are still pretty sore about it," he said. "I don't know if this will ever be a dead issue." Hess and his wife, Judy have four children.

Trubenbach, 44, believes his eight years as a county employee, working with heavy equipment in precinct 4, qualifies him for the position. He and his wife, Mary Kay, have two children.

"I know all the people, and I

Response time for the county ambulance to Muenster remains at an average of about 20 minutes, Trubenbach said. While not opposed to reopening the issue, he feels the court did what they felt was fair for everyone. "From what I gather, they've done pretty good," he said.

Trubenbach would favor an incentive program to attract businesses to the county. "We need to get some industry in here to provide our people with a livelihood and lift the burden off our taxpayers."

Starke, 49, is a longtime former employee of National Supply and

Muenster to participate in drill for Severe Weather Week

Plans are being formed for Muenster to participate in a tornado drill during Severe Weather Awareness Week. The week of March 11 through 17 has been so designated by Governor Bill Clements.

Joe Fenton, Muenster City Manager, and Herbie Knabe, Fire Chief, are organizing the drill locally. On Wednesday, March 14 at noon the fire siren on the water tower will be blown one long, continuous blast to signal the start of the drill.

Residents are requested to tune in to the local cable station, Channel 2, for further instructions. Written and audio instructions will be given at that time.

Severe weather warnings are not effective if the public does not receive the warning or are not aware of the safety procedures to follow. The purpose of Texas Severe Weather Week is to provide people with knowledge necessary to protect their lives when severe weather threatens.

"It was thought that the basements of Sacred Heart Church, Sacred Heart Grade School and Cooke County Electric were designated storm shelters," said Joe Fenton. "After further investigation it was discovered that this was an erroneous assumption and that Cooke County has no designated storm shelters. People without basements in their homes should go to an inside room with no windows," said Fenton.

During threatening weather volunteers from the Muenster Fire Department watch the sky in pre-designated spots around Muenster and communicate any threatening signs to city hall by radio. Should a tornado threaten Muenster the siren on the tower would be sounded one long continuous blast. On hearing this war-

HEBREWS 12: 14

Get ready to vote!

by Debbie Hess
 The March 13 Primary Election is just around the corner. It's time to find your voter registration cards and head to your polling places. There will be two choices of places where you can vote, but you can only vote at one! Why? So many people do not seem to understand just what a primary is. As you know we are a two party nation - the Republican party and the Democratic party. Oh sure the liberals, but only two have a big enough support group to hold primaries. A primary is held by each party - maybe that is the clue

- the individual parties are holding these elections, not the counties. Each party holds a primary in order to pick their best or most favorite candidate to put on the General Election ballot (the election held by the counties) held in November. In the November election you go to one place and you can then vote for either party.
 The primaries are very important because they allow us the chance to choose the candidate who will run for the position in November. That's much better than having the government put two names down and saying you have to pick either A or B. At least with primaries we know these people were picked because the majority from each party chose them.

 I know sometimes there are candidates from both parties you would vote on, but you cannot. So before you go to the polls on March 13, decide which candidate is more important to you to win and then go vote for that person. Then if the other candidate wins you can vote for him in November.
 Also on March 13 will be the Party Precinct Conventions - these are very important because they elect the delegates for the County Conventions which elect the delegates for the State Convention. You must vote in that party's election in order to attend their convention. For those voting in the Republican Primary, the conventions will begin at 7:15 p.m. Almost all will be held at the same place as the election is held. (There should be a notice posted at the election place.)
 Besides electing delegates, there is also the opportunity to have resolutions passed. If there is an issue you would like to see your party work towards, you can bring the issue, typed or handwritten, on paper to the precinct convention. From there, if passed, it goes on to the County Convention. If passed at the County Convention it will then be taken to the State resolutions committee for passage or not. Please vote in the primary of your choice and if possible, participate in the conventions. So many people think that you can't make a difference but you can if you use the opportunities available and vote! The party platforms are in essence written by the local people because that is where the resolutions start.

Mary Pickle seeks election of Justice of the Peace

Mary Pickle is seeking to return to a job she loves, Justice of the Peace. Ms Pickle served as Precinct 2 Justice of the Peace from November 1984 through January 1987. The position she held was consolidated with another Justice of the Peace position for the 1986 election. She is a candidate for Precinct 1, Place 2 Justice of the Peace.
 "It's a challenging job with a variety of duties," said Pickle, who is tough enough to handle inquests after unattended deaths and has the experience and temperament to handle the judicial duties. She has 60 hours of judicial training, and says keeping up with changes in the law and procedures is something she enjoys.
 People should carefully consider who they elect as Justice of the Peace because the courts handle a variety of important duties. For example, Justice Courts can issue search warrants, a responsibility Pickle describes as "awesome." A judge must balance the needs of law enforcement with people's right to privacy and security in their homes," she explained.

 Criminal suspects are routinely arraigned and have their bonds set, Pickle said. Evictions and small claims suits of up to $2,000 are also handled in Justice Courts.
 Knowledge of laws and procedures is only one of the important qualities needed by a judge. They must also have common sense, objectivity, compassion, perception, and toughness, she said.

Ms. Pickle currently works as a pharmacy tech at Plaza Pharmacy. She is a past president of the Callisburg Parent Teacher Organization and is County Chairman of Cooke County AIDS Awareness Committee.

She has two children, Carmen, 14 and Drew, 9 and is a member of First Christian Church in Gainesville.

 "We've got as much taxes as we need, and the poor boy working for minimum wage is taking about all he can," said Peyrot. "I'm going to take that dollar bill and stretch it like rubber, because it's the tax man's dollar."
 Peyrot feels roads can be kept in shape at current budget levels. He said Muenster should have as good health care as Gainesville and would be willing to again look at the ambulance issue. He added, however, that the county can't afford to lose money on its ambulance service.

Texas is experiencing measles outbreak

by Elaine Schad

Some area counties have as yet been spared of measles outbreaks, but confirmed or suspected cases reported to state health agencies during 1990 have come mainly from North Central and South Texas areas, according to state health officials.

Cooke County has had one suspected or confirmed case of the measles, but that occurred in early January, said Wes Hodgson, epidemiology coordinator for the Texas Department of Health in Austin.

Janice Call, nurse for the Gainesville Independent School District, said that she reported that case. Blood tests, however, were taken after the student's fever had already subsided somewhat, leaving a question as to whether the child actually had measles, she said.

Statewide, 1,433 cases of measles have been reported since January, said Hodgson, compared to an estimated 3,400 for all of 1989. "You can see from those figures that we're going to have a lot more cases this year," he said.

Most of this year's cases, about 800, have been reported in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, with the bulk of the remainder in South Texas, especially the Austin, Laredo and El Paso areas, officials said.

Measle outbreaks have occurred in an estimated 40 counties in the state and on about 15 college or school campuses. Locally, both Austin College in Sherman and Texas Women's University in Denton have reported cases. Since October 1988, there have been 14 deaths attributed to complications from the measles, Hodgson said. Three deaths, all in Dallas County, have occurred so far this year, he said.

Measles seem to be on the increase nationwide, but there are several reasons for the outbreaks in Texas, said Hodgson. There were 17,000 cases of measles reported in Mexico last year. "Since Texas is one of the largest border crossings, you can see why we would have a lot of cases," Hodgson said.

Other factors include outbreaks that occur in inner-city areas where many children have not received immunizations, the mobility of Texans, and the interaction of people, especially in schools and colleges, due to primary vaccine failure or waning immunity, where the vaccination may be wearing off, he said.

"Measles is one of the most communicable diseases known to man," Hodgson said. "The measles vaccine develops an immunity in only 95 percent of those people who receive the vaccination at the proper time," he said. "If you have 3,000 people on a college campus, that 5 percent is a large group."

Hodgson said public health officials are working with the private sector in outbreak control.

Latest reports from area counties on reported measles cases include:

- Dallas County: 778.
- Grayson County: 74, most of which have occurred at Austin College.
- Tarrant County: 33.
- Collin County: 8.
- Cooke County: 1.
- Wise County: 0.
- Montague County: 0.

Tornado Safety Rules

A tornado watch means that tornado development is possible. Keep a watchful eye on the sky for threatening weather, and stay tuned to radio, television, or NOAA Weather Radio for the latest weather information.

A tornado warning means a tornado has been sighted or indicated by weather radar. Persons in the path of the storm should seek shelter immediately, preferably on the lowest floor of a substantial building.

In homes: a basement offers the greatest safety. In homes without a basement, take cover in the center part of house, on the lowest floor, and in a small room such as a closet or bathroom, or under sturdy furniture. Stay away from windows. Do not attempt to open windows.

In schools, hospitals, and shopping centers: move to predesignated shelter areas. Interior hallways on the lowest floor are best. If the building is not of reinforced construction, go to a nearby one that is. Stay out of auditoriums, gyms, and other structures with long, wide free-span roofs.

In your car: do not try to outrun a tornado. If available, leave your car and get into the nearest ditch or depression until the tornado passes. Cover your head with your hands.

In mobile homes: Mobile homes and trailers are particularly vulnerable to overturning during strong winds and should be evacuated when strong winds or tornadoes are possible. Mobile home communities and trailer parks should have a community storm shelter. If there is no shelter nearby, leave the trailer and take cover in a ditch or depression.

Lightning Safety Rules

-When a thunderstorm threatens, move inside a substantial building or vehicle.

-Inside a building, avoid using the telephone or electrical appliances. Lightning can strike near a building and travel through telephone or electrical lines into the building.

-Get out of and away from open water.

-If outside with no time to reach a safe building or vehicle, follow these rules:

Do not stand underneath natural lightning rods such as tall, isolated trees in open areas.

Avoid projecting above the surrounding landscape as you would if you were standing on a hilltop, in an open field, on the beach, or fishing from a small boat.

-If you are isolated in a level, open field and you begin to feel your hair stand on end, indicating that lightning may be about to strike, drop to your knees and bend forward putting your hands on your knees. Make as low and as small a target of yourself as possible, but do not lie flat on the ground.

Flash Flood Safety Rules

-Know where high ground is and how to get there quickly.

-Watch for rising water levels.

-Do not try to drive through flooded areas.

-Abandon your vehicle if water begins rising over the road and head for high ground immediately.

Be cautious at night. It is harder to recognize the danger of flash flooding then.

ning residents should turn on Channel 2 for further instructions; seek shelter, and do not tie up the phone lines to City Hall.

Muenster area residents who cannot get Channel 2 are advised to watch Channel 12. Tom Watson, Cooke County civil defense coordinator, said that he would relay information on weather conditions that threaten the Muenster area to Channel 12 after he was advised that most Muenster people cannot get KGAF radio in their homes.

Muenster Memorial Hospital, Sacred Heart School, and Muenster Public School are planning to participate in this drill or another similar drill during Severe Weather Week.

"If the weather is bad on Wednesday, March 14, there will be no drill," stressed Fenton. "It will be rescheduled to a later date."

Hospital board seeks candidates for election

Muenster Hospital administration has announced that five of the nine positions on the Muenster Hospital Board will expire this year. Positions are presently held by Werner Becker Jr., Andy Klement, Albert Dangelmayr, David Bright and C. William Hermes.

Deadline to file for this position is April 9, which is 25 days before the election. The election will be held on May 5 at the Muenster Public School in conjunction with the city election.

To qualify as a candidate for the hospital board election, a petition signed by 15 eligible voters from the Muenster Hospital District must be turned in by April 9. The forms are available from the hospital administrator.

Albert Dangelmayr, who has served on the board for 25 years has announced that he will not seek another term. Declaring their intent to run again are David Bright, Werner Becker Jr., Andy Klement and C. William Hermes.

If more than four candidates run for the seats, the four receiving the highest number of votes will fill the seats. The administration hopes to see a number of people from the community show their interest in the hospital by running for the positions on the board.

Phil Gramm to discuss anti-drug strategy

U.S. Senator Phil Gramm will be in Gainesville on Wednesday, March 14, 1990 at 4:20 p.m.

Senator Gramm will visit the campus of Gainesville High School to encourage student leaders to use their influence in the effort to fight drug abuse among their peers. During the past three years, Senator Gramm has visited high schools throughout Texas meeting with student scholars, athletes, cheerleaders, student council officers, and various other student leaders. Gramm will discuss their responsibility as leaders in setting examples for their peers to help stamp out drug abuse. "We want young people to not only say no to drugs, but to induce others into saying no," Senator Gramm said.

Senator Gramm served as a Senate representative in the strategic negotiations with administration officials that finalized the priorities and funding level of the nation's recently adopted anti-drug program.

The senator will also be joined by Gainesville ISD Superintendent Mr. Charlie Ueslton, Gainesville High Principal Bill McCarley, Gainesville High Student Body President Chris Lewis, and Senior Class President Brian Hall.

The senator said, "I plan to emphasize the American wasteland created by drugs; wasted talent, wasted minds, wasted lives. Drugs can come back to haunt a person, as in the case of Supreme Court nominee Douglas Ginsburg. Now is the time for the youth of America to say no to drugs."

The location of the meeting is the library of Gainesville High School, 1201 Lindsay, Gainesville.

LINDSAY POLICE CHIEF Joe Reynolds, representing the American Police Hall of Fame, presents the Muenster police officers with an Honor Award. Reynolds said he doesn't give the awards, the enforcers work hard and earn the recognition. Receiving a certificate and pin are L-1, officer Bob Stovall, police chief Helen Thompkins and officer Bill Bivin. The honor was given at Tuesday's city council meeting. Janie Hartman photo Record number of Texans registered to vote!

AUSTIN - Secretary of State George Bayoud announced that voter registration in Texas has reached an all-time high with nearly 8.3 million people registered to vote in the March 13 primary elections.

"I am pleased that we have set a record," said Bayoud, the state's chief elections officer. "These numbers show that we are off to a good start, but we must continue to work hard throughout the year to register even more new voters."

Of the state's currently estimated 12.5 million eligible voters, 8,285,308 or about 66 percent, are registered, Bayoud said. More than 100,000 new voter registration applications have been processed since Jan. 1, 1990, Bayoud said.

In August of even-numbered years, usually about 10 percent of the total number of Texas' registered voters are purged, or removed, from the registration rolls because they have moved and failed to notify their local voter registrar of their new address.

In an effort to register new voters and increase turnout, the secretary of state's office last December kicked off VOTE '90, a statewide, non-partisan campaign. More than 5,000 Texas businesses, civic organizations and community groups are participating in VOTE '90 by distributing voter registration applications and other promotional materials.

The deadline to register for the March 13 primaries is passed, Bayoud said, but he urged those who are not registered to do so in time to vote in the April 10 runoff elections.

"With so many candidates running for so many offices on March 13, runoffs in many of the races are all but assured," Bayoud said.

The deadline to register for the runoffs is March 11. To obtain a voter registration application, call your local voter registrar or the secretary of state's office at 1-800-252-VOTE (8683).

The success of the students was attributed to the community environment, their heritage, and the efforts of teachers, parents, and school administration to stress the positive and achieve all that they possibly can.

"We will not rest on our laurels," stated Charles Coffey school superintendent. "We will continue to make it (the school) better." "That's why we are in the field of education," concluded Mr. Austen.

Hurray! The circus is coming

by Elfreda Fette

The arrival in town of a big time circus has traditionally been almost magical for fans of all ages.

Unfortunately, the interval between such arrivals is becoming longer and the opportunities for watching the big trucks pull into town to unload their cargoes; feeding of animals; setting up the huge tents; and presentation of an afternoon and evening show - such opportunities are becoming scarcer.

My recollections of a major big time multi-ring circus reach back to the last time I saw the spectacle, when I was a seventh grader. And it was magical, indeed. My parents took all of us to Gainesville and we spent a long afternoon gazing and gawking, soaking up enough atmosphere to remain in our memories a lifetime.

Although money was tight, my parents bought the tickets for the evening show - even a couple sacks of peanuts.

We missed the arrivals, but saw some of the unloadings, saw the Big Top go up, heard the pounding of hammers and stakes and the roar of the animals.

Under the tent that night there was music from a real, live, uniformed Circus Band, and later the resplendent (we thought) costumes of performers.

It is now my hope that my grandchildren can have my special memory of a very special experience to remain a lifetime.

Coming to Gainesville for one day, Monday, March 26 for shows at the Cooke County Fairgrounds at 4:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. will be the Carson and Barnes five-ring tent circus, the largest big-top in the world still appearing under local sponsorship, leaving a portion of the income for local uses - civic, service or charitable.

It is sponsored by the Cooke County Fair Association. Tickets are available at Gainesville National Bank, First State Bank, North Texas Bank and Trust, Watts' Bros. Pharmacy, Nell's Mini Donut Shop, all of Gainesville and Fischer's Meat Market of Muenster. Louis Stephenson is publicity chairman.

Prices before showday are adult $6.00, children 2 to 11, $4.00; at the gate prices are adult $7.00, children $5.00.

The world's largest tent circus claims a five-ring show on tour, two stages, hippodrome track, and steel arena; twenty elephants, about 200 wild, exotic and domestic animals; about 95 circus performers; 44 show-owned transports and 35 private vehicles; and a 150 x 396 ft. flameproof, waterproof, polyvinyl tent (more than a city block long).

This circus visits 30 states each year, in a season of 245 days, exhibiting in 240 different cities almost every day.

Isn't there anything we can do about the high cost of medical insurance?

You can do this now ...

- Select a higher deductible.
- Increase the co-insurance ratio.
- Delete coverage for minor accidents.

What I believe should be done ...

- Provide funding for the state risk pool for people who are uninsurable.
- Expand Medicaid to cover all those below the poverty level and allow those just above it to purchase Medicaid.
- Allow self-employed people and unincorporated businesses the same 100% tax deduction for health care premiums now given to incorporated businesses.

Archeology exhibit to be on display in Gainesville

The Cooke County Heritage Society is pleased to announce that a traveling exhibit, ARCHEOLOGY IN TEXAS, will be on display at the Morton Museum of Cooke County from Feb. 20 to March 24.

People have been exploring and settling Texas for at least 12,000 years, yet written records depict less than 500 years of this exciting history.

Texas history and material culture have been revealed through various archeological sites around the state. Dark stains in the soil indicating house patterns and hearths and relics such as stone tools and broken pottery discovered at the sites represent a precious irreplaceable record of the past. The exhibit emphasizes the responsibility of everyone to protect such artifacts and guard their historical importance because they are such an integral part of Texas heritage.

In addition, ARCHEOLOGY IN TEXAS explains how to recognize a historical site and outlines the proper techniques for reporting the information to the Texas Archeological Society.

This exhibit is one of more than eighteen different traveling exhibits available from The Institute of Texan Cultures for display. The Institute is a statewide learning and communications center which conserves and presents the ethnic, cultural, and folk history of Texas. For more information, call the Morton Museum at 668-8900.

Seven called to receive Easter sacraments

On Sunday, Feb. 25, at the 10:30 a.m. Mass, seven individuals preparing for the sacraments of initiation were given a "send off" from Sacred Heart parish to be recognized by Bishop Delaney. Cullen Sims, son of John Sims, and his godparent LaVerna Nasche signed the Book of Elect as he began a Lenten period of preparation for Baptism, Confirmation and the Eucharist at the Easter Vigil. He is now referred to as the "elect" since he is being chosen by God and our parish community as a future member.

Six other candidates were recognized by their sponsors and the parish community as being ready for the sacraments of Confirmation and Eucharist. They were Jack Brittain, Bill Bivin, Geri Williams Bivin, Sandy Tempel, Pauline Dickson, and Eric Weems. Respectively, their sponsors are Vince Felderhoff, Angelo Nasche, Janie Taylor, Kim Eldred, Frances Bayer and Tommy Herr.

The entire group, along with family members and friends, shared a meal of "pick-up foods" after Mass and then traveled to Sacred Heart Church in Wichita Falls for the "Call to the Easter Sacraments." After Scripture readings and a homily, the candidates were presented by parish groups to Bishop Delaney. After questioning their sponsors about their readiness for the sacraments, Bishop Delaney greeted each candidate personally. Following the ceremony, there was a reception honoring the candidates.

Anyone interested in beginning the Rite of Christian Initiation to join the Catholic church should call Barbara Fuhrmann at 759-2511, Ext 37 or 759-4922.

Miller

The baptism of Alison Joan Miller was held at the 5 p.m. Mass on March 3, 1990 at Sacred Heart Church. Father Victor Gillespie, OSB, performed the Mass and baptism. Parents are Alan and Darlene Miller. Baptismal sponsors were Tim and Denise Wolf.

Servers for the Mass were Eric Miller and Gregg Flusche. The music was provided by organist Linda Flusche and Mary Endres. Bryan Miller, John Flusche, Karen Wolf and Ron Dangelmayr carried up the Offertory gifts. Alison's great uncle, Gilbert Kubis, was an usher and her great aunt was a Eucharistic minister. A special song at the Mass was "By Name I Have Called You."

Alison wore a special baptismal dress worn by her great-grandfather, Albert Kubis. The dress is over 79 years old and a special heirloom in the Kubis family.

Present at the baptism were Alison's parents, Alan and Darlene; brothers Eric, Bryan and Clint; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wolf; and great-grandparents, Albert and Catherine Wolf. Also present were her sponsors Tim and Denise Wolf; Karen Wolf and Ron Dangelmayr; Jack and Linda Flusche, Gregg, John and Karen; Sharen Wolf and Justin and Krystal; and Mark Miller who also videod the event.

All were present for a meal following in the Alan Miller home. A special plant was sent to Alison that day from Lyle and Margie Klement and Trisha, Jarrod and Lance. Great-grandparents unable to attend were Mary Wolf and Theo Miller.

Poetry contest offers prizes worth $11,000

The deadline for entering the American Poetry Association's contest is March 31. The contest is open to the public and entry is free.

Prizes worth $11,000 will be awarded to the best 152 poems. The grand prize is $1,000, and the first prize $500.

"Undiscovered poets are the ones we look for," said Robert Nelson, publisher of the association. "We want to give them the recognition they deserve."

Poets may send up to 6 poems, each no more than 20 lines, name and address on each page, to American Poetry Association, Dept. CO-37, 250-A Potrero St., P.O. Box 1803, Santa Cruz, CA 95061. Poems postmarked by March 31 are eligible to win. A new contest opens April 1.

Each poem is also considered for publication in the American Poetry Anthology, a leading collection of contemporary verse.

Every poet receives a copy of the "Poet's Guide to Getting Published," a 4-page booklet of useful information.

In the last 8 years the association has run 36 contests and awarded $180,000 in prizes to 3,300 winning poets.

"Eight Country" host to speak Friday, March 9

by Elaine Schad
Bob Phillips of WFAA Television's "Eight-Country" television show will be a featured speaker Friday, March 9 at the Whaley United Methodist Church, 701 Rosedale in Gainesville, sponsored by the American Association of Retired Persons, Gainesville Chapter of AARP.

The day will begin with a covered dish luncheon at 11:30 a.m. followed by a meeting and program. The public is invited.

Al Mulreen, AARP President, said the organization is open to all Cooke County residents over 50 years of age. "We'd like to get more people involved, especially from the Muenster and Lindsay area, because this is an organization that serves the whole county," he said.

The AARP works to promote the welfare of senior citizens both locally and at the state and national levels. A variety of programs are scheduled. AARP meetings are held the second Friday of each month.

Cooke County Chorale announces concert schedule and membership drive

The Cooke County Chorale has announced its spring concert schedule.

The chorale's first engagement is a St. Patrick's Eve celebration March 16 at 7 p.m. at the VFW Hall in Gainesville. The program will include a collection of traditional Irish tunes.

Sponsored by the Cooke County Arts Council, the celebration will include a buffet, program and dance. Tickets are $10 a person or $20 a couple and can be purchased at Bohl's Furniture, Sander's Jewelers and the Butterfield Stage Playhouse. All proceeds from the evening will support the Cooke County Arts Council.

Steven Henry, a graduate music student at the University of North Texas, is director of the chorale. Gainesville businessman Ned Newman is president of the organization.

Committed to the preservation and improvement of this community chorale, organization members currently are engaged in a membership campaign. This campaign include surrounding counties other than Cooke County. No real musical experience is necessary - just a desire to sing! If one performance is missed, a new member may still join in the next production.

Following the St. Paddy's program, the chorale will work on an Easter cantata, which is tentatively scheduled to be held at Sacred Heart Church in Muenster.

A branch of Cooke County Arts Council, the chorale meets Tuesday evenings from 7-8:30 in the 1300 Building of Cooke County College. For more information, call 668-7017 or 665-2871.

Tigerettes land All-District berths

Six Sacred Heart Tigerettes were selected to the TAPPS District I 1990 All-District team. Debbie Schmitt, Amy Walterscheid and LaBecah Hess were named to the Large turnout for Muenster golf tourney

by Dan Hamric

The Muenster Golf Association had its largest turnout of the year last Sunday morning as 47 golfers turned out for the monthly scramble. Although the weather man predicted much better weather, the wind gusted up to 35 mph and it was cold! The scores weren't too hot either as the winning team of Doyle and Brent Hess, Ed Schneider, and Dyann Vicari carded a seven under 63 to take the first place money. Frankie Hess, Kim Walterscheid, Brian Herr and Fay Hamric came in at 64 for second place, and Jim Endres, Dot Endres, Ricky Swirczynski and Hermie Grewing shot 65 and took home the third place purse. As the weather and course improves, the scores should also.

Two eagles were knocked in with the big wind at their backs. Willie Walterscheid's team got theirs on the par 5 number 8, while Roger Harrison's team used a huge drive on the par 4 fourteenth to card a birdie too.

Willie Wimmer and Jim Endres had a "shoot out" in a pre-tournament putting contest, as each sank a 50 foot putt. Willie Wimmer won the putt-off and collected a golf cap as the prize. Association president Dan Hamric announced that if any area merchants want to donate small prizes, the pre-tournament putting contest may become a monthly affair. Merchants or individuals can give the prizes to Dot Endres or Brian Herr and they will see that they get to the monthly tournament.

Next action will be April 1 at 9:45 a.m. at Nocona Municipal Golf Course. Remember, the first Sunday of each month is the regular tournament day unless there is a pre-scheduled event at the course.

TEXOMA: Water clear, 48 degrees, 2 feet low; black bass are good to 9 1/2 pounds on black and blue pigs and jigs in 3 1/2 feet of water; striper are good to 16 pounds on Sassy Shad, jigs, trolling deep diving Redfins and live bait; crappie are fair in number to 10 fish per string on minnows and jigs; white bass are fair to good along with striper; catfish slow.

MOSS LAKE: Water clear, 54 degrees, 11 feet low; black bass are good in number but most are too small to keep on a wide range of lures; crappie are good to 2 pounds to 12 fish per string on minnows and jigs; white bass are slow; catfish slow.

first team and teammates Amy Bayer, Sharon Fuhrmann and Janie Fisher received honorable mention. "If it was up to me, the entire team would be All-District," said Tigerette mentor Jon LeBrasseur. The Tigerettes streaked through district with a perfect 10-0 mark.

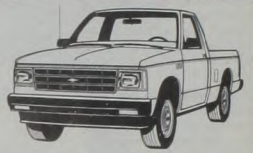

Sacred Heart's LaBecah Hess was named the District MVP, LeBrasseur was selected as Coach of the Year and Jennifer Jackson was selected as Newcomer of the Year. Other first team members include Paige Cooper and Jennifer Butts of Oakridge and Alicia Thomas of Tyler Street.

The Tigerettes ended the 1989-90 basketball season with their 10th consecutive district championship, a 25-8 record, and a third consecutive state championship.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Unseasonably warm weather, coupled with the chinch bug's ability to adapt to a changing climate, means that large numbers of this major pest of corn and sorghum are entering another growing season ready for destruction.

The warm winter is making it easier for adult chinch bugs to build populations on such abundant host plants as wheat. Chinch bugs have already been found by one producer in the Valley View area. In addition, extremely dry conditions in parts of the state have encouraged insect growth.

Past chinch bug control efforts have been difficult. In 1987-88, many fields were destroyed by the insects, which typically suck juices from young plants, causing the lower leaves to turn red and die. Plants that did survive produced poor yields. A program approach has proved to be the best way to deal with chinch bugs. The first step involves the use of soil-incorporated insecticides during planting in areas with a history of chinch bug damage. Check with the County Extension Office or your pesticide dealer for labeled insecticides.

Use of soil insecticides at planting is not the only management needed to control the chinch bug. The applied insecticides do not prevent attack on young plants, and if the population pressure is high enough, or if for some reason soil insecticides are not activated or do not last long enough, damaging populations could still develop. Field scouting during the early stages of plant development is essential for monitoring chinch bug populations.

If chinch bug populations reach or exceed threshold levels, a post-plant application of insecticide may be justified, even if an at-plant application has been made. Such a treatment would be necessary when two or more adult chinch bugs are found on 20 percent of the seedlings less than 6 inches high. On taller plants, apply insecticides when immature and adult chinch bugs are found on 75 percent of the plants.

The application of the insecticide by ground equipment should be done by directing the nozzles at the infested portion of the plants.

A stringent program approach to chinch bug management will not eradicate all chinch bugs, especially if high populations have been the norm. The goal of management is not total elimination of chinch bugs, but instead, suppression of population densities below economic threshold levels.

Conference set for international cattle and beef marketing
COLLEGE STATION - A national conference is planned for May to help those interested in exporting live cattle and processed beef take advantage of new trade opportunities opening in Eastern Europe, Japan, and elsewhere around the globe.
Dr. Ernest E. Davis, economist in livestock marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said the U.S. cattle and beef industries now can look far beyond their borders for potential customers.
"Exporting is a subject that will affect every beef producer in this decade," Davis said.

Elect MARY PICKLE
Justice of the Peace Precinct 1, Place 2
★ Experienced Former Justice of the Peace, Pct. 2
★ Qualified Attended Texas Justice Court Training Center
I believe in our judicial system. As your Justice of the Peace, I will see that the laws are enforced in the fair, reasonable and prudent manner the citizens of Cooke County expect and deserve.
More people come in contact with justice court than any other. So I feel it's important for those making their first and often lasting impression on our judicial system to feel that they have been treated fairly.
It is my belief that if you treat everyone with the respect and dignity they deserve, they will leave court with a greater respect for the system.
Your vote will be appreciated.
Sincerely,
Mary Pickle
