City Council hears gripes and the possibility of new industry

Complaints and controversy were plentiful at the city council meeting Monday night, plentiful enough to prompt councilman Al Hess to accuse more than one party of intentionally harassing the council. The gripes even tended to overshadow the surprise and excitement over the possibility of a new large industry locating in Muenster.

The first report was peaceful, coming from Robert McDaniel representing the Library Board. McDaniel told of the increasing costs at the library and the reasons why they are asking the city to consider raising the yearly library allotment from $4,000.00 to $5,000.00. The request will be considered at the next budget workshop.

Next, John Cunningham's request to build a 1½ story barn-shaped building at 1029 North Cedar Street. The near-by neighbors objected to the proposed structure and the city zoning board recommends denial of the permit. During discussion, questions directed toward the council turned into a heated exchange between Cunningham and neighbor Kenneth Selby and prompted Al Hess to charge harassment of the council. The council asked Cunningham to re-propose to the zoning board with a more detailed sketch and greater attempt to compromise with those who object. He presented a petition to the council with signatures of more distant neighbors who did not object.

Alvin Fuhrman next addressed the council seeking direction on how to handle upcoming work in the utility easement in block 52.

Impending highway drainage work requires North Texas Communications Company to bore deep under Highway 82 to install cable. The bore pit will be on Rohmer's Restaurant property in the easement which has been covered with concrete. NTCC engineer Ken McDougle explained that they may not be able to avoid the concrete. He questioned whether they should have to replace concrete in an easement area. Mayor Henscheid said those are the terms of the agreement and compared the situation to any area which would have a sidewalk on it. He added that the matter is really not to do with the city. It should be handled between the neighbors. McDougle countered that most sidewalks are not seven feet wide and they definitely did not want to have any misunderstandings with the city at this time.

At this point councilman Al Hess asked why NTCC didn't take up the matter with Emil Rohmer and that this was another example of people seeking to harass the council. Hess said he had talked to Rohmer who indicated it could be worked out. Hess and McDougle exchanged comments on harassment and representation. McDougle said he had no intention to harass or offend. He asked finally if they could at least have guidance as to where the easement was. The city will assist in that matter.

Next, Chamber of Commerce president, Charles Bayer, presented a surprise to the council. He said a locator firm had been in touch with the Chamber indicating they were very interested in Muenster for a new milk processing plant. No names have been revealed but several necessary criteria were, including: size 15-18 acres, 200,000 gallons of water needed per day/5 days per week, 100 employees. Bayer said they definitely needed input from the city and asked their opinion. Mayor Henscheid said they were definitely interested in the possibility. Joe Fenton said no problem in supplying the water but a water pre-treatment plant should probably be required similar to AMPI. The City and Chamber of Commerce will continue to examine the possibility and furnish information.

Janet Barnhill spoke next concerning the proposed paving project on south Hickory. Mayor Henscheid said the item would be examined at the June 7 public hearing but he would let her make the points anyway. She presented a petition signed by several neighbors requesting that Hickory remain unpaved because: the extremely rough condition slowed down traffic, incorrect water flow caused by a city mistake in curbing would be identified, current paving in their area was poorly installed and poorly maintained and finally because they had not requested the paving. Henscheid said he could not respond now but would at the public hearing. Art Bayer then spoke saying his property would not be enhanced by the project and he couldn't stand any more of the city's enhancement. The issue may well hinge on the property appraiser's report on how much the value of property in question will be raised by street paving.

Councilman Al Hess then started a discussion on some poorly maintained and unsightly lots in the city. The council agreed to try to personally contact the owners and convince them to clean up.

Letters were received from property owners in the Southtown area of Muenster requesting that Southtown Drive and Cross Street be opened and improved. Joe Fenton said that progress in that area would start soon if the weather cooperated.

Other business included:
-Street repair will start this week.

-Four volunteer firemen will be sent to fire training school this summer instead of the regular three.

-Fenton asked if he could compare costs and benefits of contracting trash pickup to allow current manpower to work on streets and sewers. The Council said go ahead and compare bids.

-Monthly bills totalling $11,607.06 were approved for payment.

-Sixteen persons attended the meeting.

-The meeting was broadcast live on Cable Channel 2 and will be again for the public hearing and subsequent meeting in the near future.

Cattle thief arrested at Muenster Sale Barn

Mark Lynn Fincher of 1827 Polley, Richmond, Tx. was arrested on Thursday, May 31 at 4:50 p.m. in the office of the Muenster Sale Barn and charged with theft over $750. He allegedly stole 17 head of cattle from three ranchers in Stephens County, Oklahoma and a 14 foot stock trailer from Houston, Tx. A value of $16,950 was placed on the stolen goods.

Fincher, 35, who is employed as a physician by Medical Network in Humble, Tx. was arrested by the Cooke County Sheriff's Department and processed at the Cooke County jail. He waived extradition and was moved to Stephens County in Oklahoma.

Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers Association received reports on the stolen cattle and alerted sale barns in Oklahoma and Texas to be on the look-out for stolen cattle matching their brand and description.

Bill and Mike Hamer, owners of the Muenster Sale Barn, contacted authorities when they became suspicious of Fincher and the cattle he brought to be sold at Thursday's sale. Things just didn't look right, said Mike Hamer.

The cattle were Angus crosses and Limousins. Hamer noted that they looked too good to be sold at a commercial sale and that they had large, full udders and were bawling for their calves. Fincher was evasive when questioned about the cattle and gave answers that didn't sound right. "The man wasn't a cattleman," remarked Mike Hamer.

The cattle and trailer have been identified and returned to their owners, said Cooke County Sheriff John Aston.

Sister Carmelita is honored for fifty years

SR. CARMELITA MYERS, OSB

A lifetime spent teaching "more than textbooks" marks Sister Carmelita Myers' 50 years as a nun, a member of the Olivetan Benedictines of Holy Angels Convent in Jonesboro, Arkansas.

"More than textbooks?" Definitely! "Textbooks - that's only one of her multi-faceted activities in her career as an educator. Former students who are now grandparents delight in relating when they were in Sister Carmelita's ballet classes; and in the musicals she choreographed and presented each year while on the staff of the grade school; and when together they ventured into high school activities.

"Memories come flooding in on me," she said, "when I attend parish gatherings, community functions, and especially weddings and receptions in Sacred Heart Community Center. Former students from many years, their parents and grandparents reminisce with me. What a great pleasure! What a treasure that their memories are as happy as mine!"

Celebrations of the Golden Jubilee of Sister Carmelita will be combined with the same event for Sister Alberta Krebs at Holy Angels Convent at Jonesboro, Ark. on July 11, 1990.

Pre-jubilee celebrations that have already taken place are as follows: On Sunday, May 27, dinner was hosted by the Joe Felderhoff family, the Alvin Hartman family, Mrs. A. J. Felderhoff and the Sylvan Walterseid family at The Center Restaurant. Sister Carmelita was presented a potted plant of daisy mums and a money gift.

On Sunday afternoon, May 27, from 3 to 5 p.m., the Social Activities Commission of Sacred Heart Parish hosted a reception in the Sacred Heart Community Cafeteria. Coffee, punch, cookies and a beautifully decorated cake made by Cathie Fuhrmann were served. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth over gold. Hostesses were Ethel Hesse, Regina Pels, Lynda Yosten, Lucille Hess, Patsy Dangelmayr and Charlotte Dangelmayr. Friends visited and reminisced past experiences and presented Sister Carmelita with a money gift to be used for her trip when she visits her father.

On Friday, June 1, Sister Carmelita was honored at a dinner held by the Sacred Heart faculty at The Center Restaurant. A Samsonite garment travel bag was a special gift. Also recognized at this time were the teachers who will not be returning to Sacred Heart: Mrs. Joyce Richardson, Christy Hesse and Coach John Sims. Gifts were presented to each.

Sister Carmelita left Friday, June 8, for Jonesboro. She will be back for a week towards the end of July after the convent celebration at Holy Angels.

When interviewed last week, she told many incidents of a very full lifetime. "I was born Betty Jane Creasy Myers, daughter of James B. Creasy of Sumner, Washington and the late Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Myers Sr. I entered Holy Angels Convent on Jan. 2, 1939 after attending Holy Angels Academy as a student."

On Aug. 14, 1939, she received the habit of an Olivetan Benedictine

Recycling drive planned by Humane Society

The newly organized Cooke County Humane Society is holding a recycling drive at the Gainesville Wal-Mart parking lot this Saturday from 1-4 p.m. The dual purpose event will help the environment and protect local animals at the same time.

Rick Wright, the local Humane Society chairman, said recyclable items include newspaper, glass bottles, aluminum cans, and scrap iron.

To make the drive easier, people are asked to prepare the items as follows:

- *Aluminum - besides soft drink cans (crushed if possible) the category includes pots and pans, siding, storm doors and windows, and foil.
- *Newspaper - stacked, cross-tied and bundled for easy handling.
- *Office paper - white office

THE COOKE COUNTY Humane Society will pick-up salvaged newspapers at The Muenster Enterprise Saturday, June 9, from 1:45 to 3:00 p.m. only! To contribute to this cause bring your old bundled newspapers at this time only!

paper, green line computer paper and envelopes without plastic windows.

*Glass - all plastic and metal rings and lids must be removed, bottles should be rinsed and not broken, labels do not need to be removed.

*Light steel - jar lids and rings and "tin cans" should be rinsed and flattened with labels removed.

*Other metals - all scrap metal such as pipe.
Wright said the society is only one month old and is getting a strong start. "It is for Cooke County, not just Gainesville. We want to involve anyone in the outlining communities. In our organization, there's room for everyone."

The society is meeting weekly at the Joe Walter Workshop at 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday and will get together biweekly in July.

"We're not fanatics, if its not practical or feasible we won't get involved," said Wright. "We're here to help the stray, abandoned and homeless and to educate the people."

The Society will conduct a free tick and flea dipping clinic on June 23 at the Gainesville Animal Shelter for any dogs or cats in Cooke County from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. All that is needed is the animal and a towel.

Letters to the Editor

Friends & Fellow Golfers:

It is very difficult to put into words just how Kim and I feel at this time; frustrated, disappointed, maybe even hurt. It is very depressing to see months of preparation, many dollars in cost and most of all a realizable dream not come to pass.

Turtle Hill Golf Course has been put off to "a time in the future." The primary reasoning is proper financing. I could go into great detail; but basically, the financial community is not prepared to support an "off the wall" project.

Kim and I have decided to pull back and regroup. Time may provide a solution or alternative plan. We shall see.

We have learned many things from this project; not the least of which is the spirit of cooperation and friendliness of so many good people of Muenster. Our heartfelt thanks to you all for your support. We may be bent but not broken.

Letter to the Editor:

I feel I must address the statement from the lady from Weatherford who said that we do not have a full-time representative in Mr. Ric Williamson. My letter has nothing to do with partisan politics; I do think there is an obligation to fairness.

To the question of attendance, Mr. Williamson's office reflects an attendance record in the House of Representatives of 99.9% and recorded votes on 1953 issues (83.1%). These totals are matters of public record. As to the missed votes, Mr. Williamson has served on the House/Senate Conference Committee, the Legislative Budget Board, the Task Force on Campaign Finance Reform, and the Ways and Means Committee. He is vice-chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, which must pass all spending bills in the House of Representatives. This level of influence required enormous time in committees and off the House floor. I am amazed, frankly, that he has an 83% voting record in light of his responsibilities.

Mr. Williamson's efforts on behalf of Cooke County and Cooke County College are also matters of record. He sponsored and worked tirelessly to pass legislation that returned $170,000 of vetoed state money to CCC, money that was legally obligated to be paid by the college. Without this effort, the money would have been paid by either Cooke County taxpayers or our students, or both. On all other matters regarding the community colleges, he has been a tireless worker.

His efforts in the House are well known statewide as well as locally. The Texas Youth Commission recognized him as the outstanding legislator of 1989, and the Greater Dallas Crime Commission listed him as one of the top ten "legislative crime fighters." Both the Dallas Morning News and Texas Monthly named him to their "top ten legislators" list for the 71st Legislature.

On a personal note, because of the extremely difficult economic times in Texas, I have had to work in Austin regularly to try and help maintain state funding for CCC. I have discovered that my best time to work with Mr. Williamson is late evening, when his schedule finally permits. As a result, our sessions are often "midnight" sessions. This is hardly the schedule of an absentee legislator.

Again, I am not writing from a partisan political position. Whether a representative is Republican or Democrat, I feel he must be judged on the basis of his service to his constituency. Mr. Williamson has responded consistently and effectively to our calls for help, and this simply doesn't square with the picture painted in the recent letter.

Thank you,
/s/ Bud Joyner

To the Citizens of Muenster

Two weeks ago I was a surgical patient at Muenster Memorial Hospital.

When I first found out I needed surgery, people would ask, "Where will you have it done?" I had never thought of any place except Muenster Memorial Hospital! My surgery could be performed here and my doctor of 25 years was here, so why go elsewhere?

Under the skilled hands of Dr. Kralicko, assisted by Dr. Antonetti and the wonderful staff we have here at Muenster, I was in familiar surroundings with the doctors and nurses I knew. My surgery was performed here at home every day. I am thankful we have our hospital and hope we will have it if I ever need it again.

Please consider "our Hospital" first and, if your medical attention can be received here, as much can, utilize our facilities, be thankful we have them, because if we didn't, there may be a time when a few minutes or miles could mean life or death.

Support our doctors and our Hospital!

Thank you,
A Very Pleased Patient,
Betty Rose Walterscheid

Meeting has been set for Jones Farm

The fate of an early 1900's farm that many people would like to see become living history in this area could be hanging in the balance, unless local people continue their push for its development, said local historians.

A meeting of the "Friends of the Jones Farm," has been set for 9 a.m. Saturday at the Sanger Community Center, located at the corner of Austin and Freeze streets. The purpose is to gauge interest and to receive further input as to how the Jones Farm, located within the Johnson Branch Park on Ray Roberts Lake in northern Denton County, could be developed into a Living History Farm Museum, said Margaret Hays, a member of the friends organization and the Cooke County Heritage Society.

Miss Hays, and Mike Cochran of Denton, vice president of the organization, met recently with officials from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife concerning preservation of the Jones Farm as a historic site. The Corps estimated it could spend $100,000 on the site, with the money to be used for doing research about the farm, and not developing it for public access.

TDPW has estimated the cost of development at well over $1 million, but officials there are unclear as to the extent of their involvement, said Miss Hays.

THE CURB on North Main Street won this week's Groad Hole Award. The broken, disappearing and unattended cement curb pieces clutter the edges of a sinking, unrepaired traffic land.

Our share in Christ's resurrection

Contributed by First Baptist Church of Muenster

Napoleon said, "Battles are won, not by men, but by a man." He was right in more ways than one. Victories are won, not by Christians, but by Christ. And it is our privilege and joy to share in His victory. Like the small boy who jumped up and down shouting "We've won, we've won!" at a football game - though he was not a member of the team or of the school represented by the team - we too can rejoice in a victory with which we associate ourselves. We can live in joy and triumph. We can shout, "We've won!" over the victory that was accomplished by our Lord Jesus Christ on Calvary nearly 2,000 years ago.

Display your flag proudly on June 14!

This national day to honor the Stars and Stripes was first proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1941.

The first real flag day was June 14, 1777 when John Adams introduced a resolution to the Continental Congress. Betsy Ross made the first flag in the early summer of 1777 at the request of George Washington.

The American flag is a symbol of a growing, changing and dynamic nation. It is the flag of the people of the United States, a flag of a glorious past and a great future.

It is respectful to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset, but can be displayed at night if lighted to produce a patriotic effect. The Flag should not be displayed when the weather is bad, and should never touch anything beneath it such as ground, floor or water. If the Flag gets dirty, clean it; torn, repair it. When beyond repair it should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning.

The Federal Flag code imposes no penalties for the misuse of the National Flag. Penalties are imposed by the individual states, each with its own flag laws. The future of Old Glory hangs in the future ruling of the courts.

Franklin K. Lane in The Makers of the Flag makes the flag say to us: "I am whatever you make me, nothing more. I am your belief in yourself, your dream of what people may become. Sometimes I am strong with pride...sometimes I droop...sometimes I am loud, garish, and full of that ego that blast judgment. But always, I am all that you hope to be and have the courage to try for."

Daryl Ferber receives rude surprise upon return home

Daryl Ferber returned from a pleasant vacation visiting her mother in Florida and attending a granddaughter's wedding in Minneapolis, but was greeted by a rude surprise to find that thieves had stolen her farm windmill.

She related Monday: "If someone recently bought, or will buy a used windmill with the brand name 'ECLIPSE' painted on the flag, it may be mine. It is quite probable that re-sale was the motive for the theft. This theft seems to have been a very professional job, because the whole area was left so clean."

She continued: "I can't really determine a value. Others now tell me windmills are worth anywhere from $1,000 up for used machines. New windmills cost $5,000. Mine was my treasured antique. Yes! You bet I'm mad! That windmill was of use to me, and I need it more than the thief does!"

The theft has been reported to Cooke County Sheriff's Department. Daryl Ferber feels that people need to be more aware that there are all kinds of thieves, and many of them are good at it. She says that people need to be alert and suspicious, and generally ready to take down license plate numbers, to protect themselves and their neighbors. Sadly, trust and complacency are going out of style.

SISTER

and the name Sister Mary Carmelita with Our Lady of Mt. Carmel as her patron. She made her first vows on Aug. 15, 1940 and her life commitment on Aug. 15, 1955. After a period of preparation, she began her teaching career at St. Andrew's Cathedral School third and fourth grades and at Holy Souls seventh and eighth grades in Little Rock.

Her next teaching assignment came in August 1947 to Sacred Heart School in Muenster, where she taught eighth grade until 1955.

And Sunday she reached back into memories to recall: "My first impressions of Muenster were rather foreboding... After traveling for 12 hours by train, bus and car, we arrived in Muenster that hot, very dark August night at 2 a.m."

The first grade class of 1940 grew into Sister Carmelita's eighth grade class of 1948. "I think the picture is priceless," said Sister Carmelita.

"Sister Alberta Krebs, who was teaching here at the time, introduced me to my 'new school,' as well as my first 'daylight view' of Muenster. From a second floor east window, I saw not trees but miles of scorched wheat and oat fields... and a cemetery. The only house I could see was the Bruno Fleitman's farm home. The temperature was a scorcher of over 105 degrees, but the landscape looked like the deserted plains of Siberia.

"My classroom, with its oiled floors, old-timey desks (now worth more than $100 each) and paintless walls left me feeling very homesick for my old school, and the green trees of Arkansas. However, later as I was readying my classroom, Willard and Georgia Ann Hartman came by (to check out that new 8th grade teacher, I'm sure). Then I heard two of the friendliest and happiest "Hello, Sister," I had ever heard in my life. I felt at home then and there. I know I gave all my new students many a laugh by mispronouncing 'those German names.' This was to be an eventful year.

"We needed funds for stage lights, so we put on a play and a ballet which I choreographed. It was Muenster's first ballet corps, I'm sure. At least it was the beginning of a series of musicals and dances that the untapped talent lent itself to readily."

The year 1955 to 1956 found Sister Carmelita transferred to Pochontas, Arkansas, where she got her first taste of teaching high school. When Sister Teresa Fetsch became ill, she was sent back to Muenster in October 1956 as a replacement... back with the 8th grade. Sister Carmelita remained in Muenster until 1963, taking one year out to finish her degree at St. Scholastica in Duluth, Minnesota. At Sacred Heart, she taught high school English, Religion and Home Economics, as well as some classes in the 8th grade until Sister Celine Truebenbach's untimely death in 1961, the third day after the school year began.

"We were without a principal," Sister Carmelita related. "So, Father Alcuin Kubis appointed me as principal with the unique qualifications, he said, as the one 'who had been here the longest.'"

"In 1963, I was transferred to Lake Arthur, Louisiana for three years. In 1966, I was appointed directress of the convent's Sister Formation program. I returned to Muenster in 1972, and to date I have completed 33 years here.

"Highlights during my stay in Muenster are these. In 1972, I was able to take a trip to Germany, Switzerland and Italy, with a visit in Rome to see Pope Paul VI. It was also while I was in Muenster that I experienced the most memorable day of my life when, in February 1963, I received a letter from my natural father whom I had presumed had died... Today, at the age of 97, he is looking forward to my visit with him this fall along with the two half-sisters and nieces who live in the Northwest.

"As I reflect on these years in Sacred Heart Parish, I see them as a special gift God has given me to share my life of service as well as to share with the Muenster people their joys, sorrows and accomplishments. Their many treasured memories have entwined themselves into the fabric of my life. The rich spiritual heritage I have experienced here has been Sacred Heart Parish's gift to me. The people have enriched my life more than I have theirs in my service years here. This is truly God's 'hundred-fold.'"

Graduation brings hopes and dreams of 46 students closer

Ceremony unites couple June 2 at Sacred Heart

Shawna Marie Grewing and Darrell Wayne Herr were married in Sacred Heart Church in a Nuptial Mass on Saturday, June 2, 1990, with Father Sebastian Beshoner OSB officiating. The couple pledged their vows in a double ring ceremony before lighting their Unity candle.

The bride is the daughter of Linda and Anthony Grewing of Muenster and Sharon Howe of Waurika, Oklahoma. The groom is the son of Tom and Virgilla Herr of Muenster.

Presented at the altar by her father, the bride was wearing an elegant ivory satin and Alencon lace wedding gown with long detachable lace sleeves. Self-fabric flat satin bows, pearl encrusted, graced the satin surrounding the portrait neckline. Cutouts and pearl embroidery accented the chapel train.

She wore an ivory bridal hat with attached blusher and tulle veil, and carried a bridal bouquet of dusty rose colored silk roses.

"Something old" were garters made from fabric from her mother-in-law's dress. "Something borrowed" was a string of pearls.

ATTENDANTS

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Michelle Davis of Duncan, Oklahoma. Bridesmaids were the bride's sisters, Julie Walterscheid of Lewisville and Tammy Brown of Leo; the groom's sister, Sherry Haverkamp of Gainesville; and a friend, Lisa Haverkamp of Muenster. They wore identical gowns of dusty rose, with ballerina length skirts and off-shoulder style bodices.

Kelsey Haverkamp, groom's niece, was flower girl; and Matthew Grewing, bride's brother, was ring bearer.

Brian Herr of Muenster was his brother's best man. Hal Mollenkopf of Denton, a friend, Tony Grewing of Muenster, bride's brother, Monte Haverkamp of Gainesville, groom's brother-in-law and Darren Cheaney of Muenster, a friend, were groomsmen.

Ushers were Wade Walterscheid of Lindsay, a friend, Greg Walterscheid of Lewisville, bride's brother-in-law, Cory Klement of Muenster, a friend, and Neil Hesse of Muenster, a friend.

Acolytes were Jonathan Grewing, master server, and Brad Schilling, Waylon Hess and Joel Schilling.

Altar decorations included dusty rose flower arrangements and a pair of candelabra with lighted votive candles.

Wedding music presented before Mass included three songs pre-recorded by the bride, with accompaniment by Wendell Black: "You Needed Me," "The Rose" and "Daddy's Hands."

Liturgical music during Mass was sung by Emily Klement, with organ accompaniment by Ruth Felderhoff. Selections included "Hail Mary," "Wherever You Go," "All I Ask of You" and "The Wedding Song."

Liturgical Readings chosen by the couple were given by Donna Biffle, bride's aunt.

RECEPTION

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center. Sylvia Helling and Tammy Hess secured guest signatures in the bride's book, registering more than 475 guests.

The three-tiered white wedding cake held the treasured top ornament used on the groom's parents' keepsake layer.

The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and Aladdin Beauty College, and received her Cosmetologist's license. The groom is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and attended TSTI in Waco. He is an UPS driver employed by UPS of Denton.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in their home. A couple's shower was given by Sherry and Monte Haverkamp. A bridal shower was given by the bride's sisters and Donna Biffle in the Biffle home.

Sacred Heart juniors learn by ministry

The Sacred Heart High School Junior Class went to Fort Worth on Tuesday, May 22 to serve food and work in a food bank for Loaves and Fishes Ministries. They arrived in time at both the soup kitchen and food bank to participate in the daily events of the ministries.

Jason Endres, Shawn Dangelmayr, Arnie Hess and Jon

Schilling stayed at the food bank to load and unload trucks and vans. Much of the food is donated by local churches who have a weekly ministry for the poor. Some of the food is donated by food chains and companies who have overstocked merchandise or packaging or labeling deficiencies. Jenny Yosten, Dawn Knabe, Robin Greathouse, J.J. Dowd,

Virginia (Ginny) and Ed Schneider observed the fortieth anniversary of their wedding on Sunday, May 27, 1990, beginning with a Mass of Thanksgiving in Sacred Heart Church at 10:30 a.m. celebrated by Father Victor Gillespie, who recalled in his greeting and good wishes that he and Ed were classmates at Subiaco Academy many years earlier.

Attending the couple were the bride's sister, Dorothy Endres of Muenster, and the groom's brother, Wilfred Schneider of Fort Smith, Arkansas.

For the anniversary Mass, Wanda Cloud and Tim Schneider gave the First and Second Readings. Sacred music was presented by Jim Endres, a godchild, and Christi Klement, Diane Grewing, Denise Bayer and Melissa Bayer.

A family dinner for 70 relatives followed in the Knights of Columbus Hall. The afternoon was spent visiting, reminiscing, and taking pictures. Toasts were offered.

In the evening 175 guests attended a reception, also in the KC Hall. A buffet of pick up foods was served. The tiered anniversary cake was made by Cathie and Francis Fuhrmann. Guests danced to music by Andy Serna and John Clark. Grandchildren presided at the guest book.

Alvin Hartmans enjoy tour of Los Dos Laredos

Alvin and Joan Hartman, representing the Muenster Enterprise, were guests of the Laredo Chamber of Commerce on their annual weekend tour for travel writers to Los Dos Laredos. The Hartmans were among a group of about 50 media representatives from newspapers, television, magazines and radio.

A charter bus picked up guests from Austin and San Antonio and took them to Laredo, Texas where they were treated to dinner under the stars at the La Posada Hotel.

Activities on Saturday began with brunch at the Laredo Country Club sponsored by the Laredo Morning Times. The group was given a brief history of Laredo with some advice for visiting the Mexican side of the border by Jim Moore, Chamber president, and Miguel Conchas, travel and tourism director.

The group enjoyed a bus tour of Laredo before they crossed the international bridge into Nuevo Laredo, Mexico. While in Nuevo Laredo the agenda included a buffet luncheon at the Winery Restaurant, a tour of the downtown markets with stops at the Turf Club and Cadillac Bar, and cocktails at Victoria 3020.

Saturday evening was spent visiting restaurants and nightspots as the tour guests enjoyed sampling food, drinks, and music during their progressive dinner. Places visited included Los Ajos, La Palapa Restaurant, Las Tablitas Restaurant, and Firrenzi's.

"I had a great time," commented Alvin Hartman. "It was a very educational trip." He was amazed at the amount of industry and saw a side of Mexico that he didn't know existed. The hosts and sponsor were very gracious and accommodating according to the Hartmans.

To give you an idea what taxes can do to your estate, this used to be a full-page ad.

Did you know that estates valued at over $600,000 can be taxed at a rate anywhere between 37% and 60%? Needless to say, that's an awfully big chunk.

At New York Life, we can help cover that tax burden with a full range of insurance products - each designed to meet individual customer needs.

We have one estate planning product, for example, that we developed with retirement-age individuals (or those approaching retirement) in mind.

We have another for younger clients who may require flexibility should their estates grow in the future.

We even have an option for couples which can cover an uninsurable surviving spouse.

The point is, if you're concerned about protecting the value of an estate, New York Life can provide a policy that can help the beneficiaries cover estate taxes.

To learn all the options, contact your local New York Life agent today. It'll make everyone happy.

You, because you'll have the right insurance plan. And us, because we can go back to running full-page ads.

white florets and ivy in an English-styled arrangement.

Honor attendants were Sharon Dunklin of Dallas and Laura DiLorenzo of Irving. Phil Plymale of Irving was best man and Mike Windemeyer of Lake Dallas was groomsmen.

Meghan and Joshua Hess celebrate in South Carolina

A sixth birthday for Meghan Hess and a fourth birthday for Joshua Hess were celebrated South Carolina-style when their parents, Tom and Paula Hess, were hosts.

Fifteen children were entertained with games and bubbles to blow. Two cakes were special joys. Made by their mother, one was in the shape of a butterfly and the other a chocolate bear.

The greatest gift of all was having "Grandma Lou" to help celebrate. Also there to help celebrate was their new baby brother, Zachary, born on March 29.

Mrs. Lucille Hess, "Grandma Lou," has returned after several weeks in Columbia, South Carolina, visiting her son and family.

Trout, crappie limits changed by commission

AUSTIN - The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission has adopted changes in regulations that will affect both fresh and saltwater anglers beginning Sept. 1.

The commission, meeting in a public hearing in Austin recently, set a statewide 10-inch minimum length limit and 25 per day bag limit on crappie in all public waters of the state except Lakes Toledo Bend and Caddo pending adoption of the same regulations on the Louisiana side of the lakes. Officials said the length limit, which has been in effect on a number of Texas lakes, eventually will increase the number and poundage of crappie anglers can harvest while allowing more fish to spawn before being removed from the population.

The crappie limits will become effective Sept. 1, 1990. Commission action increasing the minimum length limit for saltwater spotted seatrout (speckled trout) from 14 to 15 inches is expected to take effect sometime in June, as soon as legal posting requirements are met. No change was made in the daily bag limit of 10 spotted seatrout, and possession limit of 20.

Also adopted was a 14-inch minimum length limit for gafftopsail catfish, for both sport and commercial fishermen, and a nine-inch sport and commercial minimum length limit for pompano. The bag limit for snook was set at three per day with a possession limit of six, and only snook between 20 and 28 inches in length may be retained.

Several changes were made in bag and length limits of freshwater fish, including a bag limit of three largemouth bass per day and an 18-inch minimum length limit for Ray Roberts and other reservations, and a reduction in the bag limit of black basses at Lake Texoma from 10 per day to five. The commission also set a daily bag limit of five flathead catfish, with a 24-inch minimum length limit, for Texoma.

Ray Roberts area had hunting variety

DENTON - Land around the new Ray Roberts Reservoir provided a variety of hunting opportunity under the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Type II public hunting program last fall and winter.

Biologist Jim Dillard said the 33,000-acre area in Denton, Cooke and Grayson counties was visited by approximately 1,646 hunters. The department leased the land around the reservoir from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Holders of $35 Type II hunting permits were allowed to hunt the property, along with any of the 475,000 acres under lease across the state, at any time during legal open seasons.

Dillard said 795 waterfowl hunters harvest 5,932 ducks, 611 quail hunters took 2,724 quail and 623 dove hunters took 3,630 mourning doves during the open seasons.

Additional acreage has been signed and some 39,500 acres of land will be available during the 1990-91 seasons for Type II hunters.

The Type II permits will go on sale at department offices across the state in August.

June 9 - 16 will be Texas Goat Awareness Week

by Elaine Schad
June is National Dairy Month, and Governor Bill Clements has proclaimed June 9 through 16 as Texas Goat Awareness Week.

The week will be used by Texas dairy goat owners to educate the public and help bring additional recognition to another segment of the dairy industry, said Lynn Scott of Era, a dairy goat owner in Cooke County.

Goat milk is often called, "naturally homogenized," because the fat particles in goat milk are 2 to 6 times smaller than those in cow milk, said Scott. Goat milk has a sweet, rich flavor, and is thought to have a more easily digestible fat and protein content than cow's milk. Goat meat is similar to deer meat, milder than lamb in flavor, but somewhat different than beef.

Goat milk, cheese and meat consumption is on the rise, said Scott. In Texas, there are currently four grade A goat dairies and two goat cheese producers. Goat meat is often eaten as barbecues, called cabrito. Because it is low in fat, goat meat is usually cooked in moist heat with sauces or gravies, and can be used in a variety of dishes as a lowfat substitute for beef and lamb, Scott said.

Many people become interested in goats because of their manageability and their cost, said Tamara Taylor of Sanger. "They're small, they're attractive, they're affordable, and anyone can handle them," she said. It's very typical for 3- and 4-year-old children to be leading goats in the ring during competition at any of the estimated 10 major goat shows held in Texas annually. "They're small enough that you can put them in a car, and you don't need a trailer," she said.

There are more than 440 million goats worldwide that produce an estimated 4.8 million tons of milk that is usually consumed locally or made into cheese. Some of the best research on goat milk in this country was done in the 1940's by a graduate of Texas Woman's University. Trials were conducted at an orphanage outside of Texas, with children drinking goat milk and cow milk. At the conclusion of the study, many of the children who had allergies or chronic health problems seemed to fare better with the goat milk, said Taylor.

In the North Texas area, which includes Cooke County, there are some 40 members in the Dairy Goat Producers Association branch, but there probably are some five to six non-members for every member who locally raises goats, Taylor said.

At the national level, Project Heifer International is seeking to send goats, because of their uncanny ability to survive under the most adverse of conditions, on a mass scale to third-world countries to aid in the survival of entire populations of people in desperate nutritional situations, Taylor said.

Despite all the signs that the industry is growing, producers continue to agonize at a market that is unable to keep up with the demand, said Taylor. Just recently, major exporters to foreign countries have called the Taylors requesting 45,000 kilos of goat meat, and wanting some 3,000 metric tons of goat milk per month for export, an impossibility considering that the goat industry is still basically a back-yard small-scale operation, said Taylor. There is a tremendous need for networking to create a marketing plan for the goat industry, she said.

For more information about raising goats, the dairy goat association, or the goat industry, call Taylor at 458-3837.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Pond management facts outlined

Managing a pond for recreational fishing and maximum enjoyment often means understanding some facts and separating them from certain "ideas."

One of the most common "ideas" is "poachers have caught all the big fish out of my pond." Though this may happen, almost all of the blame for catching only bass less than 12 inches in length must be on the pond manager.

A pond can be overfished, but usually small bass are an indication that the pond owner is overprotecting the fish. Limited fishing allows the bass to become overabundant and slow-growing. Such ponds yield few really large bass because most die before reaching "trophy" size.

Often a pond owner can improve the population of stunted bass by allowing smaller sizes to be harvested. Then the remaining bass will have more food available and will grow faster and larger. This might lead to a "lunker" bass.

Another "idea" that many people have is that channel catfish will not spawn in a pond. On the contrary, they will often spawn, but the eggs and small fish will be eaten by bluegill and bass before they are large enough to get away from these predators.

To maintain a catfish population in a pond where other fish are present, plan to restock periodically as the larger catfish are caught. Channel catfish stocked into such a pond should be at least 8 inches long to escape being eaten by bass.

Weeds or aquatic vegetation also cause some misconceptions among pond owners. These are not automatically bad. Such plants are the basis for much of the oxygen supplied to the pond which is necessary for fish growth. In addition, the insects that live in or on the plants provide food for fish. Most aquatic plants also help stabilize the shoreline to prevent erosion and are attractive to waterfowl.

Of course, too much vegetation will interfere with swimming and fishing. Vegetation should be controlled when it covers more than 15 percent of the pond surface.

More information on controlling aquatic weeds or other phases on pond management is available from the County Extension Office.

Farm Pond Management Seminar
Farm ponds add versatility to the enjoyment of any place. Their many uses including recreation, food production, erosion management, and water storage makes them one of the most important permanent improvements anyone can add.

They are not without problems, however. Proper management techniques are needed to keep them productive. Some of the more frequent problems associated with pond management include weeds and algae, oxygen depletion, fish stocking and unwanted fish species.

Joe Lock, Extension Fisheries Specialist from Overton, will present a Farm Pond Management Seminar on Wednesday, June 20, at North Lake. This seminar is open to all interested pond owners and managers. Fish surveys will be taken, aquatic plants identified and control measures discussed, and stocking rates and species explained. The seminar will begin at 5:30 on Wednesday, June 20.

Additional directions to North Lake can be obtained from any of the club members or by calling the County Extension Office 668-5412.

DHAI Meeting
Cooke County DHIA members are encouraged to attend the Dairy Herd Improvement Association Meeting on Tuesday, June 12, at 12 noon at the Cooke County Fairgrounds Meeting Room. Mike Tomaszewski, Director of State DHIA, along with David Cheronnier, Interim Manager of the Texas DHIA Lab will be at the meeting. Both men will discuss ongoing management of the State Lab along with any new state and national DHIA programs. County DHIA members are urged to attend to find out more about operation of the Lab and Texas DHIA.
