Endres announces staff additions at hospital

Hospital board members learned that two new faces were soon to be a part of the Muenster hospital staff. The board met in regular session on Wednesday, Nov. 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the office of Jack Endres, hospital administrator.

Thomas Long, M.D., a Board Certified general surgeon with a practice in Decatur, will be in Muenster one day a week to perform surgery and do presurgical and post-op evaluations. He will be offering laparoscopic surgery. This procedure will be available in two or three weeks, as soon as MMH's surgical nurses can be trained to assist.

Jack Endres noted that the laparoscopic equipment had been purchased some time ago and that it had never been used. Dr. Long will be doing surgeries in Muenster that the local doctors would normally have to transfer their patients to Gainesville for surgical assistance. A few surgeries that can usually be done laparoscopically are gall bladder surgery, exploratory surgery and non-emergency appendectomy.

The second staff addition is a social worker, William Fernihough. He will be at the Muenster Hospital on the first and third Wednesday mornings of every month. Fernihough is at St. Richard's Villa on the first and third Wednesday afternoons of every month, and works with patients at the Bowie Hospital.

Mr. Fernihough will assist patients in accessing various government programs; assist the nurses with patients' discharge planning; and help the hospital by getting access to various government programs for their low income and indigent patients.

"William Fernihough comes highly recommended by Lynn Heller, who said that he (Fernihough) has paid for himself many times over," said Jack Endres. Heller is the administrator of Bowie Memorial Hospital.

Other news in the area of physician recruitment was also noted by Endres. Dr. Andrew Cole had signed a tentative agreement with the Muenster and Bowie hospitals to spend two days a week at each facility. After working one day at Muenster, Dr. Cole told Endres that he had had a change of plans and had decided to study anesthesiology in Galveston where he had been accepted in a program. Cole is quitting his urology practice altogether.

This was a disappointment to Endres who said, "It's hard to see him go. Things were going well. I think that they would have gone very well if he had stayed. He left on good terms." Mr. Endres speculated that Dr. Cole may have decided to change specialties because of a lot of Medicare cuts that have been enacted that, five years from now, will cut the earnings of urologists to about 50 percent of what they are now making.

Muenster, Bowie and Decatur are joining efforts to find a urologist to be shared by the three hospitals. By pooling their resources, they expect to have a better chance in attracting a specialist.

Dr. Ashok Kumar of Tyler was expected to visit Muenster over the Thanksgiving weekend with his wife and two children, but was unable to make the trip because of car trouble. He rescheduled for the Dec. 12-13 weekend. The physician received his board certification in general surgery in England.

At present, Dr. Kumar is in a family practice residency in Tyler. He will graduate in December 1993. The type of practice that Dr. Kumar would like to establish is a family practice in which he could also do surgery.

During the financial report, Jack Endres revealed that the hospital suffered a loss of $124,495.00 for the month of October. He attributed this mainly to the decrease of patient census in October to previous months which, due to a lag time in billing and collecting the money, led to poor revenues in October. The revenues were down about $30,000 from previous months. As a result, expenses increased by about $23,000. A major contributing factor was the fact that three payrolls instead of the usual two fell in October. This exaggerated the loss. Additionally, contractual adjustments were rather high coming out of Medicare for the month.

Savings to be noted was a $10,000 decrease in physicians' guarantees for the month and clinic salaries also decreased $3,479.00, said Endres. Statistics in October include: patients admitted were down by three patients; patient days were down by 22 patients. This is a comparison of September and October. Lab was down 47 patients; Medicare patients, total procedures and surgeries were down by seven patients.

In comparing this year at the same time last year, total patients are still better than last year, but ground was lost this last month.

Al Felderhoff, MMH Board president, and Chuck Bartush, secretary, signed an amendment to the by-laws which had been approved earlier to change the appointment of physicians to the staff from one year to two years.

Werner Becker inquired about some of the rules of the Cooke County ambulance service that restrict the transfer of a patient from a hospital in Cooke County to one outside the county. Jack Endres said, yes, it was the policy to only transfer in life-threatening situations and then only with a doctor's signature. If a patient were transferred, they would have to use another ambulance service or the Care Flight helicopter.

Board members present for the meeting were Lora Hennigan, Margie Starke, Werner Becker Jr., Al Felderhoff, Chuck Bartush, Don Flusche and Sharon Felderhoff. Not in attendance were Dr. Juarez and David Bright.

Beautiful weather draws good crowd to Christkindlmarkt and parade Saturday

Saturday's weather was chilled to perfection for Muenster's annual Christmas Parade and final day of Christkindlmarkt. A large crowd turned out to watch the parade, visit with Santa or ride in his horse-drawn sleigh, and do some Christmas shopping.

There were 31 participating units in the parade. The number of entries totaled 24, but the Muenster Fire Department had all seven of their trucks in the lineup.

Winning the top prize of $100 Muenster Marks was The Muenster Enterprise's float, "Visions of Sugar Plums," for the Best Theme. All other category winners received $50 worth of Muenster Marks and were as follows: Best Business, Crafty Olde German's "Have Yourself a Crafty Olde Christmas;" Funniest, FMW Insurance and Edelweiss Kinderhaus's "Wacky Wobot;" Largest Group Participation went to Muenster Volunteer Fire Department with seven trucks and the theme, "50 Years of Fire Safety;" Best Civic Organization, Muenster Hospital Auxiliary's "Have a Happy Healthy Christmas - Here for the Future;"

Best Youth Group, Sacred Heart Dance Team's "Rock the Holiday."

Also, Best One Liner, Charm Shop/Hamric's "Santa for President;" Best Religious Theme, Sacred Heart Alumni/Sacred Heart Youth Choir, "We're Not Just a School, We're a Family" featuring the Holy Family; and Most Unique, Structures/TLC Day Care's "Let the Spirit of the Christ Child Lift You Up." The theme for this year's parade was "Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas." The three judges were from out of town.

Mrs. Claus' Storytelling was so well liked that she kept her audience enthralled long past the time she was scheduled for and made the day special for many children. Santa's knee was also a popular spot. Children lined up to whisper Christmas wish lists to him.

Co-chairman Peggy Grewing credited the beautiful weather for much of the weekend's success. She said that all of the local business people seemed to feel that it was a successful venture.

If it isn't an emergency, don't call 911!

Confusion over when it is appropriate to use 911 to contact the Cooke County Sheriff's Department has resulted in the 911 number being used for non-emergency situations. "Use it only to call the fire department, ambulance or sheriff's department in an emergency," stressed Muenster Police Chief Helen Tompkins. "There are two other numbers to call in non-emergency situations such as a cow on the road, to ask a question, or to report a suspicious person."

Chief Tompkins noted that if you don't want your call recorded, you should call 665-7748. All conversations placed to 911 or to the other non-emergency number, 665-3471, are recorded.

Muenster no longer has a toll-free phone number to the County Sheriff's Department. Muenster residents needing to contact their local officers after 5 p.m. or on weekends and holidays need to call the County Sheriff's Office. If it is an emergency, dial 911; if it is not an emergency, call 665-3471 or 665-7748. The sheriff's dispatcher will then forward the message to the Muenster police officer on duty.

All calls placed to 911 can be traced back to the telephone number from which they were placed and soon the exact location from which the call is being placed will be shown on a county map. People who abuse the 911 emergency number can be penalized.

Texas Law provides severe penalties for silent (this includes hang-ups) or abusive calls to 911. For a first conviction, you can receive up to a $1,500 fine and up to six months in jail. A second conviction can be up to a $3,000 fine and up to one year in jail.

Property tax, a wealth transfer vehicle

by Steve Cooper,
MISD Superintendent

It is obviously not possible to address all aspects of the finance issue in these articles because of space limitations. Please understand that you are getting a condensed version - some points I don't address because of the limitations. This doesn't mean that there are not viable arguments, in my opinion, for every issue raised against small schools but only that I don't address them at this time.

A final thought on the inefficiency issue brought up in the last article. If the definition of efficiency is simply one of per pupil expenditures then large districts would definitely have an advantage because they have more students. I don't think you can define efficiency without the word productivity somewhere in the definition. The question is what are you getting for your money? Even if you have low per pupil expenditures; what good is that if your kids aren't learning anything.

One area I was to cover this week is property tax and its use as a vehicle to transfer wealth. The subtlety of this approach is frightening. Its implications run deeper than the old Robin Hood Plan of the CED's. The subtlety lies in an attitude that says gouge the haves and give to the have nots. There is, of course, a responsibility to insure all youngsters equal access to a good education but there is no responsibility to provide educational dollars to those that have proven to be irresponsible. It would behoove some districts to "get their act together" before more money is thrown at a problem that money won't solve. The vehicle that has the greatest potential to transfer this wealth is the property tax. Restructuring the tax system would not entirely stop this transfer but it would make it less burdensome on the property taxpayer. If everyone shared in this responsibility to educate our youth, if a broader tax base were in place, then more people would be involved in paying for this responsibility, thereby relieving some of the burden heaped on the property owners' shoulders. (There is some talk, in Austin, even now, of an income tax with a corresponding reduction in property tax - for this to be palatable, an amendment could be passed that made it mandatory to get voter approval for setting the initial rate and for any rate increase in the future - this would allow the voters to curb the whims of our elected officials). Make no mistake, the legislative make-up in Austin leans more and more toward some kind of redistribution of income/assets. We must speak out now before we lose our ability to effect change and impact our representation in Austin.

A lot is at stake for all of us during the next six or seven months in our capitol. The small school versus the big school dilemma will be broadcast loudly but not so clearly. Some of our leaders in Austin claim the small school cannot offer the broad-based curriculum that larger schools can and that this is disadvantageous to students in small schools. They go on to cite that small school students don't score that much better on the TAAS test and actually score lower on (ACT-SAT) college entrance exams. We have to be careful, here, once again. Are we talking numbers or percentages on the college entrance exam? I believe percentage of students taking the test compared to those that do well on the test may not give larger schools the edge they claim. Another thought that runs through my mind concerns their claim for a broader-based curriculum. While it's true, bigger schools can/do have more curriculum offerings, that really doesn't tell us much. In many instances, students from bigger districts don't do well at all - any wonder with the type of school atmosphere many bigger schools have to contend with. The curriculum may be more extensive but what good does that do if the school atmosphere is riddled with drugs, gangs, violence and an undisciplined atmosphere. Realize of course that there are some very fine large school districts, but I believe those to be the exception rather than the rule.

Finally, it wasn't too long ago (about 1984 vintage), the state-mandated massive "educational reform" (a la Ross Perot) - we did away with excessive pep rallies, no pass-no play was birthed, we established discipline management programs, strict timelines for class credit were initiated, elementary timelines were mandated, and the essential elements for all classes were required - to name a few of the "reforms." But, the underlying impetus for the infamous House Bill 72 was the fact that we had strayed from the basics - too many students didn't have command of the 3 R's - too much nonsense in these broad-based curriculums that weren't teaching anything, so the cry was, YOU GUESSED IT - "BACK TO THE BASICS" - Guess what? The smaller schools can and many do as good a job if not a better one teaching the basics than do the bigger schools. Please keep in mind, MISD, a small school, sends its graduates to major colleges all the time and our students fare as well if not better than graduates from larger districts.

The measure of success is what you do with what you have been given. We can give things to our kids that they will never get in a large school.

Call this number (1-800-580-4885) in Austin - and ask for your representative or senator (Ric Williamson - Steven Carriker) or any elected official - if you want to voice your opposition to any legislation that will raise your property taxes.

Next week, small school funding formula in jeopardy and will consolidation save the taxpayers any money?

CCC adds to staff

by Elaine Schad

Cooke County College will add several full- and part-time staff positions to support a large enrollment increase. CCC trustees, during their regular November meeting, approved additional secretarial and clerical positions for the Department of Financial Aid, the Dean of Instruction, Communication and Fine Arts, and the Department of Nursing. The added positions came after a two-month study of the college's needs due to enrollment growth, said CCC President Ronnie Glasscock.

The college also had added part-time faculty members to teach additional classes due to the growth, but hopes to merge some of those jobs into full-time positions by next fall, Glasscock said. The new positions will be funded mainly through additional fees and tuition generated by the enrollment growth and by replacing part-time and overtime pay that is currently being used to provide for the student overflow.

CCC enrollment for the fall 1992 has grown 20.6 percent from fall Please See CCC, Page 3

Good News!

Once more I will set forth my theme to shine like the moon in its fullness! Listen, my faithful children, open up your petals, like roses planted near running waters; Send up the sweet odor of incense, break forth in blossoms like the lily. Send up the sweet odor of your hymn of praise; bless the Lord for all he has done! Proclaim the greatness of his name, loudly sing his praises, with music on the harp and all stringed instruments; sing out with joy as you proclaim. SIRACH 39: 12-15

Letters to the Editor

Editor's Note: With the approach of Dec. 7, 1992 and the anniversary of Dec. 1, 1941, thoughts of Americans return to that fateful day that changed the lives of millions of people. The Muenster Enterprise has received the following letter from Edward Swirczynski, a Muenster native son and current resident of Fort Worth, which we acknowledge with gratitude.

To the Editor:
This is an account of how I spent two days: Dec. 6 and Dec. 7, 1941...With two men from Rhineland, I had left Muenster to work at Convair Air Craft in San Diego, California. We drove straight through and arrived the second day about 8 p.m. We stayed at a rooming house with meals. I got a job the next day on the Nite Shift, 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. On Dec. 6, our department gave a dance for all employees. This gave me a chance to go to Los Angeles and Hollywood.

So after a short nap, I took a train to L.A., getting there about 8 p.m. After sightseeing for a time, I took a street car to Hollywood, and checked at the Knickerbocker Hotel, but there were no vacancies. I managed to stay at another hotel only a few blocks away. Awakening early Sunday, I went to mass at a Catholic Church nearby. After breakfast I went to the NBC Studio to ask for tickets to the Jack Benny Show. They were out also. Later I managed to get tickets to the Gene Autry Show. This was about 9 a.m. on Dec. 7.

As I sat in the lobby, I noticed three radio operators behind a glass enclosure. They seemed agitated and were really busy checking dials, etc. That seemed unusual to me. Then I saw movie star, Errol Flynn come out to talk to these men, and this happened two or three more times. Later Mr. Flynn came across the lobby. When a lady asked for his autograph, he asked if any of us heard the news. He then told us that the Japs were attacking Pearl Harbor. We heard that from him even before the announcement came on the radio. The only news they were getting at that moment came from Ham Operators. We were stunned. Many times I have thought: "We were the only ones who knew what was happening." Of course, except Washington, D.C. knew, and the Army and Navy knew.

By mid-afternoon people really listened. In the cafe where we had lunch there was great sadness. Workers were crying and trying to serve meals at the same time. Wives and girlfriends had loved ones who were in or near Hawaii.

I went back to the L.A. train station to catch my train back to San Diego and was very surprised to see what was going on inside the large depot. People were running, crying, sobbing. Children were screaming, not wanting to leave fathers, as well as mothers. City police and the FBI were all over the place, checking I.D.s.
Service personnel came first, to get them back to their stations. I got on a train but had to stand because it was so crowded. That was quite a trip. The next day in San Diego sailors were all over the city. Before this I had counted maybe six or so. Ships were already gone from the harbor. Every time I see Errol Flynn in old movies on TV I remember that day and time at the NBC Studio in Hollywood.

This is the very way I spent Dec. 6 and Dec. 7, 1941. On Feb. 3, 1942 I was in the Muenster group who went into service. We left from Gainesville to Mineral Wells. There were about 25 or 30 of us in the group. I remember that R.N. Fette was one of them. (Father Frowin Koerd OSB offered a Mass for them at 4 a.m. that morning in Sacred Heart Church.)

Editor's Note: Do you readers remember the exact details of where you were mid-afternoon on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941?

Letter to the Editor:

If you follow current events in Cooke County, then no doubt you're aware of the controversy concerning disposal of our solid waste:

Cooke County is now at a crossroad: our City Council is our decision-making body, and their current answer to the problem is PUBLIC OWNERSHIP & OPERATION - this, by definition, is SOCIALISM, a concept which has placed and kept Russia, China, Cuba, the Baltic States, and various other countries in their current positions of overcontrol, underproduction and chaos.

Gainesville once had a fling with socialism back in the thirties, when we had our own electrical power supply; today, we rely on the services of the free enterprise system via Texas Utilities. It's an adage: if we don't learn from our mistakes, we're doomed to repeat them. The City Council should place primary reliance on the Free Enterprise System - the system that built this country, the system that progressive countries practice.

No doubt you've heard current gossip that the commercial hauler of solid waste working in Cooke County (Texas Waste Management) is "Mafia controlled," "undependable," and a "fly-by-night operator" - nothing could be further from the truth.

Texas Waste Management is a subsidiary of Waste Management, Inc. and presently serves the following: Muenster, Saint Jo, Pilot Point, Nocona, Bowie, Whitesboro, Alvord, Lindsay, Howe, Gunter, Tioga, Van Alstyne, Lewisville, Flower Mound, The Colony, Aubrey, Justin, Corinth, Hickory Creek and Highland Village, among others.

Now, let's look at the parent company. There is a commercial financial reference book named Value Line, highly-rated and used by stockbrokers and investors, which provides information on approximately 1100 stocks listed on the various exchanges - copies of page 361 may be obtained from your local friendly broker, A.G. Edwards & Co.

WASTE MANAGEMENT, INC. (WMX), is listed on the New York Stock Exchange, where about 4% of its 495,970 shares trade monthly on a worldwide basis. In a highly-competitive field, it is the WORLD'S largest solid waste collection and disposal company providing collective services to 11.5 million residential and 845,000 commercial and industrial customers in North America. It has operations in Europe, the Pacific Rim, and joint ventures in South America and the Middle East. WMX employs about 63,000 people, and has 66,000 stockholders. Revenues will approximate 8.8 billion dollars this year, and the company carries an "A" financial rating.

Companies that deliver a superior service, grow; those that don't, die. Had you invested $10,000 in WMX early in 1981, your stock would have experienced an immediate 3 for 1 stock split, which would have been followed by three 2 for 1 splits - the company's steady growth would have made you rich. Growth of WMX is on a par with Wal-Mart, and we all know that story... Does all this sound like WMX is a "fly-by-night" company? Definitely not. I trust that our City Manager has fully informed our City Council on WMX, and hopefully, upon some of their competition, such as Browning Ferris Industries, Laidlaw Waste Systems and others.

The questions - why does our City Council, made up of business people who daily use free enterprise to solve their problems, foist the failed system of socialism on us to solve our problems, and why do they want to keep garbage and the potential liability within our county borders when there are huge corporations ready, willing and able to take both?

Sincerely, Roger Martin

My very dear friends,

It was the 24th of November, 10:50 a.m. as, like lightning, a thought flashed through my mind. Guess what it was?! Why, of course, it was highest time to send my Christmas message to you. What a disaster it might have become if the thought had failed to flash!

To each one of you who reads this message, I wish that the blessings of the Christchild be with you now and through the New Year.

The time is simply running away from me because as they say: "The older you get, the faster it goes."

I am doing as well as can be expected. There is never a dull moment in my life. I am too busy for that. My correspondence continues keeping me happy, besides the spiritual activities and the physical needs.

An unusual event took place on the 17th and 18th of October when some very dear friends from Switzerland visited me. They had visited their married son in Houston first. Then the two couples visited California for several days and then me. It was a most delightful visit.

I must close because already the 25th of November has replaced the 24th. May God bless all of you a million times and thanks that many times for sending cards, letters and oral greetings all along the course of the year!

Very special thanks for the subscription to the Muenster Enterprise which enables me to hear from you and send my messages to you.

Lots and lots of love and prayers,
Your old friend,

Greetings:

Thirty-two years and still going strong...

Yes, the Windthorst Annual Sausage Meal is starting its 32nd consecutive year of hosting the best and largest German sausage meal in North Texas. For the past twelve years, over 1600 people trek to the little town south of Wichita Falls to partake in sausage, kraut, taters, salads, ice cream and drinks. Most of all, the people find a sense of come home feeling as they are welcomed by our Windthorst hosts.

This crowd would not be possible if it were not for the help that you have provided for us during the past years. Once again I ask your support to get the news of the meal to the people in Texas and Oklahoma. We greatly appreciate your help, and on behalf of the town, I do say "Thank You."

Sunday, December 6, 1992 from 11:30 to 3:00 at the Windthorst Parish Hall will once again be the scene of the meal. For $6 adults and $3 for children under 12 on an all you can eat format, this is definitely the best eating "deal" a person can handle.

Thanks for your help in advertising this event.

Sunset review of the Public Utility Commission

By Alvin Fuhrman

If Texas is going to compete in the information age, telephone companies need to make the investments that will help build a first-class telecommunications network including fiber optic cable.

It appears that the newspaper publishers (especially in the larger cities) have become involved in the sunset process. One of their concerns is telephone companies building fiber optic networks. They are concerned that what telephone companies want is to position themselves as "information services" providers of the future and thus put them out of business. If telephone companies cannot build fiber optic networks, our schools will not receive Interactive Educational Television.

This is to assure you that the telephone industry is not out to put newspapers out of business. We want to be able to do what we do best - provide highways for the information age so that publishers can do what they do best, that is providing their customers with the latest information on what's happening in their world.

The following is the telephone industry position on renewal of the PUC Act:

* Despite some recent allegations, neither the Texas Telephone Association nor Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. are seeking to enter the newspaper publishing business.

* The "sunset" review of the Public Utility Commission this year is offering the state a rare opportunity to examine how well our current system of regulation in Texas is serving our state, and in this process we are seeking to update-not eliminate-regulation.

* Our interest in the sunset process is not at all about competing with newspapers in gathering and reporting news - it is about deregulation. What we are about is making regulation equitable for all telephone companies and their many competitors, and making the regulatory process work faster and less costly for our customers.

* Texans deserve the best that technology can offer. The current regulatory system, as we see it, puts unnecessary roadblocks in the way of true progress. We need a regulatory system that enables the telecommunications industry to invest in new technology at a much faster rate - bringing new services to customers and jobs and economic growth to the state.

* We are anxious to sit down with newspaper publishers in Texas and discuss ways we can work together to give Texans access to the modern services they want and need. We want to be able to do what we do best - serve as the highways for the information age so that publishers and others can do what they do best, that is providing their customers with the latest information on what's happening in their world.

Oil news from Railroad Commission of Texas

October permits to drill
The Commission issued a total of 1,401 drilling permits in October compared to 1,235 in October 1991. The October total included 886 permits to drill new oil and gas tests, 59 to re-enter existing well bores, 53 to deepen existing holes, 186 to plugback existing holes, and 68 for other wells. October amended drilling permits totaled 149.

Total drilling permits issued in 1992 year-to-date is 10,690, a 9% decrease from 11,697 issued during the same period of 1991.

Permits issued in October included 575 oil, 314 gas, 458 oil and gas, 39 injection, four disposal, and 11 other permits.

October oil and gas completions
In October operators reported 216 gas, 422 oil, and 34 service completions, compared to 268 gas, 471 oil, and 53 service completions during the same period of last year.

The total of well completions recorded for 1992 year-to-date is 6,533, a 21% decrease from the 8,252 recorded in 1991 year-to-date.

Operators reported 937 holes plugged and 60 dry holes in October, compared to 932 holes plugged and 291 dry holes reported during the same period last year.

August crude oil production
Texas preliminary August crude oil production averaged 1,618,636 barrels daily, down from the 1,729,945 barrels daily average of August 1991.

The preliminary Texas oil production figure for August is 50,177,686 barrels, down from the 53,646,328 barrels reported in August 1991.

Production by county and number of barrels reported respectively include Cooke, 223,116; Denton, 1,128; Grayson, 188,914; Montague, 157,639; and Wise, 84,788.

The Railroad Commission assessed $76,950 in administrative penalties recently to nine oil and gas operators for violations under Commission well plugging and pollution rules.

To date in 1992, the Railroad Commission has levied $1,209,716 in well plugging and pollution penalties, compared to $658,200 in such penalties assessed during the same period last year.

With the first real cold front of the fall moving across the state, the Texas Railroad Commission suggests that homeowners who fuel furnaces and appliances with propane contact their local dealer for a safety check of their propane tank and regulator.

If the regulator vent ices over, high-pressure gas can be released directly to home appliances, according to safety officials.

Regulators on most home tanks are located under a protective metal dome on the top of the tank, shielding them from weather and insects. On some tanks, however, the circulator regulator is installed outside the dome cover. Owners of these tanks should check to make sure that the regulator vent is pointing downward toward the ground and away from the elements.

Cooke County Chorale will present Christmas concert

Enthusiasm is high among members of the Cooke County Chorale in anticipation of the annual fall Christmas concert they will present on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 6 at 3 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Gainesville.

A foretaste of the beautiful music of Christmas carols was given to an appreciative audience on Saturday, Nov. 28 with a 30-minute program at 3 p.m. following Muenster's annual Christmas parade.

The program coming up Sunday afternoon will include "Gloria" by Antonio Vivaldi and Suites I and III of "The Many Moods of Christmas" arranged by Robert Shaw, the great choral master.

The "Gloria" by Antonio Vivaldi will bring one of the most popular items in the choral repertory. Vivaldi was one of the most celebrated composers and violin virtuosists of his age. He was much admired by J.S. Bach, but his music was all but forgotten after his death. It has only been within the last 50 years that his vocal music and sacred works have received performance notoriety. The first modern performance of "Gloria" was at a Vivaldi festival in Sienna Italy in 1939.

The 55-member Cooke County Chorale consists of singers from Muenster, Nocona, Gainesville, Lake Kiowa and Era. The Chorale is under the direction of Dr. Michael Linder, music instructor at Cooke County College. Mrs. Anita Wilson is rehearsal accompanist. Dr. Martin Kralicke of Muenster is Chorale President. Soloists for "Gloria" are Brenda Marmaduke, Phyllis Thomas, Carol Marmaduke, Susan D. Shasteen and Terry De Garmo.

The Sunday afternoon concert will be accompanied by strings from the University of North Texas and brass and woodwinds from the Cooke County area. Last year the Chorale presented two performances of "Messiah" by Handel and "Coronation Mass" by Mozart.

The Cooke County Chorale is dedicated to presenting great choral masterpieces for community enrichment and has been rehearsing weekly for this holiday program since September. Tickets for the performance are $2 each and may be purchased in advance from any chorale member, or by calling 665-2871 or purchased at the door. Proceeds enable the chorale to bring orchestral personnel to enhance the beauty of each concert.

Rosstyn Trolley Line to be in service directory

Jim Penton, owner and operator of the Rosstyn Trolley Line in Rosston, Texas, is proud to announce that his trolley is included in the 27th annual Steam Passenger Service Directory. The 352-page book is an illustrated directory, listing tourist-railroad, trolley and railway-museum operations in the United States and Canada with regularly scheduled or intermittent passenger service. It also includes model and toy train exhibits and live-steam railroads.

The Rosstyn Trolley Line, featured on page 277, includes a picture of the open-air trolley with Penton and passengers Ernest Muller and Wessie Reynolds. The photo was taken in 1989 by the Dallas Times Herald. The explanation of the ride or operation states: "Eight horsepower gas-driven motor on 500 feet of track. The straight track has two stops. Once it reaches the end of the track, the one-car train is turned around on a turntable to return to the point of origin. Loading stations are on each end." The trolley carries two adults or five children at a time.

Other local interests included the Past Time Museum, the Rosston Store and Sam Bass Days.

Anyone interested in the Rosstyn Trolley can contact Jim at 768-2792.

Tax Talk

by: Duane Knabe, CPA

Duane Knabe will discuss a different topic each week. Any questions should be directed to him at 759-4010.

This week's topic is distributions from retirement plans (distributions at retirement are discussed this week and early distributions will be discussed next week). Taxpayers throughout the U. S. have accumulated considerable wealth in qualified retirement plans. At retirement, the retirement plan should generally be rolled over into an IRA. Proper planning will ensure the maximum benefits to the owner or their beneficiary.

Many taxpayers default into IRA distribution methods that initially appear worthwhile but later prove to be disastrous. IRA distributions generally are subject to required minimum distribution rules. This is where planning is needed to insure an individual's needs are met. A taxpayer must begin to receive distributions from an IRA on or before April 1 following the year in which they reached age 70 1/2.

Couple exchange vows on November 28

Rhonda Jo Trubenbach became the bride of Frank Edward Fangman on Saturday, Nov. 28, 1992 at 5 p.m. in Sacred Heart Catholic Church, with Father Victor Gillespie officiating for the Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Wayne and Mary Kay Trubenbach, and the granddaughter of Carl and Cecilia Schilling and the late Joe Trubenbach and Gertrude Lutmer and the late Ferd Lutmer, all of Muenster.

Parents of the groom are Winston and Rose Mary Fangman of Lindsay. He is the grandson of the late Fred and Mary Fangman of Pilot Point and the late Henry and Rose Hess of Lindsay.

The groom is a 1987 graduate of Muenster High School. He is employed by Farm Bureau Insurance Co. as a secretary.

The bride is a 1987 graduate of Lindsay High School. He is employed by Martindale Feed Mill in Maintenance in Valley View.

Presented at the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride was wearing an elegant white satin gown with ball-gown silhouette, designed by Mori Lee, traditionally styled with lavish detail. Extensive appliques of delicate re-embroidered lace encrusted with sequins and bridal pearls enhanced the Sabrina neckline and leg-o-mutton sleeves.

A graceful cathedral train was attached at the basque waistline. Appliques, sequins and pearls trimmed and completely surrounded the hemline and train.

A crown of pearls, sequins and valley lilies held her fingertip length sheer illusion veil.

She carried a hand bouquet of white and mauve roses and small teal flowers, with greenery, tulle, pearls and ribbon and a crystal rosary entwined. The rosary was a gift from her Grandmother Schilling on her 18th birthday. For sentiment she wore an opal ring that belonged to her late great-grandmother Mary Beyer, and she borrowed a gold diamond ring from her sister-in-law Judy Trubenbach.

ATTENDANTS
The matron of honor was the bride's sister-in-law Judy Trubenbach of Muenster. Bridesmaids were Shari Flusche of Muenster, bride's friend; Melinda Klement of Muenster, a friend; Anita Martin, groom's sister of Gainesville; and Debbie Fangman, groom's sister of Lindsay.

They were identically gowned in iridescent teal taffeta dresses, designed with gathered skirts and asymmetrical waistlines; black velvet bodices with rounded necklines and long sleeves; and accented with a large teal bow.

Their flowers were long stemmed teal and mauve roses, with small white roses.

Tiffany Martin, groom's niece, was flower girl. Her dress was similar to the bridesmaids and made by Elitha Endres. She carried a white basket of mixed flowers. Nathan Martin, groom's nephew, was ring bearer. He carried a white satin, lace-trimmed ring pillow. Both basket and pillow were created by the mother of the bride. Tiffany and Nathan are the children of Chad and Anita Martin of Gainesville.

Rick Sandman of Lindsay, a friend of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were John Fangman of Lindsay, groom's brother; Brian Klement of Muenster, a friend; Ron Trubenbach of Muenster, bride's brother; and Chris Dangelmayr of Muenster, a friend.

Ushers were Tony Voth, Toby Fuhmann and Frank Popp, all of Lindsay and friends of the groom; and Chad Martin of Gainesville, groom's brother-in-law.

Mass servers were Jeff Klement and Cody Sicking, bride's cousins. Sharon Hoenig and Darla Anderle participated in the special wedding liturgy, giving Readings selected by the couple; and Stacie Walterscheid read the petitions at Offertory.

Wedding music was presented by Andrea Klement organist; and Jim Endres instrumentalist; and Christy Hesse, Diane Grewing, Denise Bayer, Melissa Bayer and Doug Yosten, singers. They offered "Mother Dear," "One Hand One Heart," "The Greatest Gift," "Only A Shadow," "Peace, Joy and Happiness," "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," "The Rose," "Turn Around," and "Wind Beneath My Wings."

The sanctuary was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli on the altar, a number of green plants, and tall floor candelabra with white candles.

RECEPTION
A reception, dinner and dance hosted by parents of the couple for about 400 guests followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center. Catering was by the Hermes Sisters of Lindsay; and guests danced to music by Andy Serna and The Captive Hearts. Connie Hermes, a cousin of the bride, and Amy Popp, a friend, secured guest signatures.

The bride's table was covered with white lace, draped on the edges with tulle swags and touched with tiny clusters of teal and mauve roses. A pair of silver candelabra graced the table, with arrangements of teal and mauve flowers and English ivy. A wall ornament of double grapevine hearts decorated with pearls, ribbons, tulle and ivy highlighted the area behind the bride's table.

Guest tables held double wooden hearts decorated with stencils, flanked with fragrant votive candles and flowers.

The tiered wedding cake stood over a lighted fountain. The double-heart groom's cake and wedding cake were baked by Betty Rose Walterscheid. She was assisted in cutting both cakes by the groom's sister, Sharon Hoenig of Whitesboro. Cake servers were Allison Endres, Crystal Hess, MaLynn Poyner, Debbie Raynor, Stephanie Hoenig, Sabrina Hoenig, Jeffrey Hoenig and Kamy Klement.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at 5 p.m. on Nov. 22 in their home in Lindsay.

Following a wedding trip to San Antonio, the couple will make their home in Muenster.

Teachers attending the workshop learned about children's seven smarts and 18 learning senses. Teachers learned how to best help children use those smarts and senses to become better learners in all curriculum areas.

Janie Weinzapfel and Leigh Hale presented ideas and materials from the workshop to Muenster Elementary K-6 teachers during staff meeting.

The Sacred Heart Tigerettes came out with winning on their minds last Tuesday as they defeated the Lady Leopards from Gainesville 41 to 40. "This was a big win for us," said Coach Jon LeBrasseur of the game. "The girls took control and kept their cool. It was a very physical game."

Byers teams fall to Muenster's Big Red

"This was a mis-match from the beginning to the end," commented Coach Strother on the Muenster Lady Hornets' 84-19 victory over Byers. The Muenster team had 35 steals and the pressure on defense hurt Byers.

Thirteen of the 14 girls scored, led by Amy Otto with 17. Others scoring were Theresa Kubis with 14, DaLana Walterscheid 13, Joy Tisdale 10, Carrie Hess 6, Audrey

Muenster	26	22	23	13	84
Byers	3	3	7	6	19

The Hornets took a close game from Byers, coming out ahead 52 to 48. "The boys are looking better, but we need to stick four quarters together. The first half we played well and took a 33-16 lead but the 2nd was a barn burner," commented Coach Strother. Byers lit up the second half and closed Muenster's lead to 4 points. Byers fought back but some timely buckets and 6 for 10 at the free throw line in the second half with good defense in the last few minutes prevailed the Hornets to even their record to 2-2.

Leading the scoring for Muenster was A.J. Knabe. Darren Bindel played a good all-around game and chipped in 9 points. Others scoring were Jay Hennigan with 8, Kody Truebenbach 6, Mike Hacker with 7, Cory Knabe 4, and Eric Van Swearingen with 2.

Muenster teams take two from Petrolia

The Lady Hornets brought their record up to 3-0 after they defeated the Petrolia Pirates 73-24 last Tuesday. Muenster took control right away in the 1st quarter with a lead of 21 points. The Lady Hornets held the Pirates to only 2 points in the 1st quarter with good defense. At the end of the 2nd quarter Muenster led by 32. Fast breaks contributed to many of the Hornets points.

High scorers were DaLana Walterscheid with 16 points, Amy Otto with 13 and Theresa Kubis with 10. Dianne Pagel added 8, followed by Joy Tisdale, Candise Abney and Kay Grewing with 6 each. Danell Reiter and Sabrina Truebenbach rounded up the scoring with 4 points each.

Petrolia	2	7	4	11	24

On Tuesday night the Hornets kept the mood going when they defeated the Pirates 53-36. "The game was a defensive struggle," commented Coach Strother. "Both offenses were cold turkey." The game wasn't decided until the last four minutes when Muenster took over.

Mike Hacker was the leading scorer for Muenster with 17 points and 17 rebounds to match. The Hornets' cold free throw shooting kept Petrolia close. But Muenster had 19 steals that were converted into easy baskets. A.J. Knabe chipped in 14 points, Jay Hennigan added 7 along with Darren Bindel 6, Kody Truebenbach 6, Cory Knabe 2 and Brian Knabe 1. "It was a good feeling to get the first win, but we're not in our basketball rhythm yet," commented the coach.

Hornets pluck the Eagles in Bellevue

The Muenster Hornets took a close win from the Bellevue girls Tuesday night, as they slipped by them 63-51. "This was a good test for our girls. Bellevue is a solid team," stated Coach Brian Strother.

"We started well and never trailed in the game. We were in a little foul trouble and our bench, Dianne Pagel, Joy Tisdale and Kay Grewing, played really well." Amy Otto was noted for her fine play as well as being the leading scorer with 15 points. The team as a whole played good defense and the press resulted in a lot of steals and easy buckets. "Our team passing and half-court press really hurt Bellevue," continued Strother. "Once we had a double figure lead

Bellevue	10	12	14	15	51

The Muenster Hornets played a "hatchet" game Tuesday night against Bellevue and came out on top, 77-66. Out of 77 fouls recorded in the game, eight players fouled out - two from Muenster and six from Bellevue. "I was afraid at half time the game would end 2 on 2," said Coach Strother. "Our guys backed off from fouling and we started to hit our free throws the second half. Each game we are looking a little better."

All eight players on the Muenster team scored with Kody Truebenbach leading the team with 20 points. "Kody is adjusting to going around players instead of through them," commented the coach. Others scoring for Muenster were Mike Hacker with 16, Jay Hennigan with 13, Brian Knabe 8, A.J. Knabe 7, Darren Bindel 7, Cory Knabe 4, Eric VanSwearingen 2.

"The score didn't show it but we are playing better team defense," continued Strother. "In the next couple of weeks we are playing 10 games, so our game should be improving. I am glad we finished the game with five players and we kept our composure throughout all those fouls."

Levi's® Saddleman Boot Jeans: How to Fool Mother Nature

Levi's took the comfort and durability of man-made 100% polyester knit and sewed it up to look for all the world like the original denim boot jeans. These jeans have Levi's famous over-the-boot fit, slim in the legs, slightly flared below. They've got Levi's familiar contrast stitching. Even a watch pocket. But, maybe best of all, they've got what it takes to keep looking good for a good long time.

NOTICE OF AN APPLICATION TO APPROPRIATE PUBLIC WATERS OF THE STATE OF TEXAS

App. No. 5434
Notice is given that RICHARD L. and KIM L. MURPHY
P.O. Box 586
Muenster, Texas 76252, applicant, seeks a permit pursuant to §11.121, Texas Water Code, and Texas Water Commission Rules 31 TAC §§295.1, et seq. to: (1) maintain an existing dam and 8.0 acre-foot on-channel reservoir (Reservoir No. 3) with a surface area of 3.5 acres for in-place recreational and aesthetic purposes, (2) construct and maintain a dam and 3.5 acre-foot on-channel reservoir (Reservoir No. 2) with a surface area of 4 acre for in-place recreational and aesthetic purposes and for irrigation purposes on a proposed golf course, and (3) construct and maintain an off-channel reservoir (Reservoir No. 1) at the well site.

Reservoir No. 1 is off-channel, and Dam and Reservoir Nos. 2 and 3 are on-channel, on an unnamed tributary of South Fish Creek, tributary of Fish Creek, tributary of the Red River, Red River Basin. The applicant is requesting authority to divert 70 acre-feet of water per annum from Reservoir No. 2 to irrigate 70 acres of land out of a 240 acre tract in the Barsheba Lusk Survey, Abstract No. 569, and 5 acres out of the S.W. McKneely Survey, Abstract No. 636. Diversion for irrigation will occur from the perimeter of Reservoir No. 2 at a maximum rate of 1.67 cfs (750 gpm). A point on Dam No. 2 at the creek is N 60° W, 850 feet from the southwest corner of the aforesaid Lusk Survey, also being at Latitude 33.755° N, Longitude 97.38° W.

Proof of ownership of the land is evidenced by Deeds recorded in Volume 677, page 256 and Volume 656, page 631 of the Cooke County Deed Records. The land to be irrigated is approximately 8 miles north of Muenster, Cooke County, Texas.

Applicants will irrigate the golf course using both groundwater and surface water. The groundwater will be pumped into Reservoir Nos. 1 and 2. In addition to runoff, Lake No. 2 will also capture surface water which seeps from Lake No. 3. The applicants will commingle ground and surface water to improve the quality of the groundwater for irrigation. Groundwater will be the primary source of water for the golf course, therefore surface water will be used only as it is available for capture in Lake Nos. 2 and 3.

My Views from the Farm

by Ed Cler

Mr. R.W. Trew told me a number of tales concerning some of the early day problems that arose from time to time, between the German settlers of Muenster, and some of the bully-boys that ranged in the surrounding area.

He told of a happening that, if my memory serves me well, took place on Brushy Elm Creek just west of Muenster. The German settlers were holding a celebration or picnic there, an event that lasted two days. They had a tent set up, and had a variety of foods cooked and cooking and, of course, had their barrel of beer cooled, and with visiting, games, and other contests, were having a pretty good time, when a group of five or six riders rode in, ran their mounts through the crowd, kicking up dust, then dismounted and proceeded to make themselves about as obnoxious as possible. They ate of whatever they chose, helped themselves to the beer, pushed people about using a great deal of profanity.

Several of the settlers attempted to talk them into behaving in a more genial fashion, but were only subjected to more abuse. By this time, a number of the settlers had armed themselves with some of the split firewood, from a supply that was used for cooking. They had agreed not to hit the bullies on the face or head, but if they began fighting, to bring the wood down on their fists and arms, and if that didn't stop them, they could proceed from there.

Well, to make a long story short, the visitors put up quite a fight, but in the end, were all pretty well beaten up and all of them laid out on the ground. Mr. Trew said the next problem was what to do with them. He said the Muensterites loaded the men in a wagon, like cordwood, and he thought they hauled them out to the farm now owned by Charlie Hellman, where there was a building strong enough to hold them until a lawyer could be contacted, and let him take it from there. Eventually, the men were brought into Muenster and placed in the one-cell jail. That's where Mr. Trew said he saw them the following day. He knew some of them and said, while some of them always had big hands, at that time they were swollen about twice their normal size, and some of the men had shiners and lumps here and there.

To put it in Mr. Trew's own words, "They were just about the sorriest lookin' lot I had ever seen!"

Edwards Aquifer controversy comes to a conclusion

The following is a statement by Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry on the Sierra Club vs. Lujan trial that ended Thursday, Nov. 19 in a Midland federal court:

"I am pleased with the proceedings at the trial because they demonstrated what the Texas Department of Agriculture has maintained all along - the state has the ability and will to resolve this issue. We still maintain that the solution to the dispute over the Edwards Aquifer should come from the affected people - the residents and elected representatives of Texas.

"We believe that during the trial the Sierra Club failed to prove that any of the endangered species at issue are in imminent danger. In fact, we believe the trial has shown that the Endangered Species Act is not so broad as to be applicable in this situation.

"With this proceeding behind us, we - the Texas Department of Agriculture and Texas agriculture - can focus our efforts on forging a management solution at the state and local levels."

Texas ranks 4th in ag exports nationwide

For fiscal year 1991, Texas ranked fourth nationwide in agriculture export shares. Exports of Texas agriculture products accounted for $2.5 billion of total U.S. exports.

Texas earned a place among the leading ten states in 17 of 19 commodity groups. Texas was leading state in cotton and linters ($852.8 million) and cottonseed and products ($25.1 million). Texas ranked second in peanuts and products ($27.3 million) and third in live animals and meat (425.4 million), hides and skin ($233.7 million), rice ($117.8 million), and animal fats (68.6 million).

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Results of District Corn Trials

A large increase in corn acreage was seen in 1992 in Cooke County. For the past two years, corn has offered producers an alternative cropping system to their normal small grain/grain sorghum rotation system. Aflatoxin problems are always a consideration when thinking about planting corn. The past two years have been good as far as moisture in the county and the aflatoxin has not been either a production or marketing problem. Corn has been grown on a large amount of acreage in Grayson and Collin counties for the last three to five years. Soil types in Cooke County are very comparable to those in Grayson and Collin. The only limiting factor for Cooke would be the possibility of less rainfall. Corn production requires special consideration as to planting dates, plant populations, fertility and harvest. Additional information concerning corn production is available at the County Extension Office. The following chart is the 1992 Standardized Corn Variety Test for the North Central Region. Company, variety, location and yields are shown.

Health programs for replacement heifers

Economists tell us that cow slaughter data suggests that beef cow herds have continued to expand. So far, 1992's beef cow slaughter has remained well below historical average. And, heifer slaughter rates have declined. With these trends, we are seeing more bred heifer sales. Bred heifers offer an additional marketing tool for livestock producers in Cooke County.

The Extension Service is planning a series of monthly meetings on "Management Practices For Replacement Heifers." The first of these meetings will be held Wednesday, Dec. 9 at 7 p.m. at the Cooke County Fairgrounds. Dr. Buddy Faries, Extension Program Leader for Veterinary Medicine from Texas A&M, will present the first in the program series. Dr. Faries will center his discussion on Health Programs for Replacement Heifers.

Various diseases, immunization plans, heifer development, calving problems, and disease prevention in newborn calves will be highlighted. A successful replacement heifer management plan is certainly not the result of guesswork, but evolves from planning. The programs are free and open to the public.
