VOLUME XXIX

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS 76252 APRIL 16, 1965

NUMBER 21

Muenster Wins Literary Events Of District 28-B

By ironic coincidence the Administration's Medicare bill was approved by an overwhelming majority in the House of Representatives just before the Texas 65 plan of health insurance became available for another 15-day period in this state. Coming to our attention simultaneously, these two programs present an inducement for comparison of their merits.

Muenster High School's team was the winner last Thursday in the literary division of District 28-B Interscholastic League meet held in Cooke County Junior College. Total score for the MHS entries was 101 points, Superintendent L. B. Bruns disclosed, and Saint Jo's total was second with 70. Callisburg and Lindsay were also in the meet. Valley View and Era did not enter.

Since the beginning of Medicare's promotion it was opposed by several basic objections. Its benefits are very inadequate by comparison with hundreds of voluntary health insurance plans that are already available. Its costs are higher, it applies in many cases to people who do not need help, the cost of supporting it is imposed on people who already have loads of expense, its administration by the government constitutes a convenient start to all out socialized medicine.

On the other hand, we have a voluntary program of proven merit. No sign could be more conclusive than the one we see before us. Texas 65 is growing. Sales are good because people know that the plan meets a definite need in an adequate way. And sales no doubt would be considerably better if more of the elderly folk were able to buy the protection.

A report on the meet received by Bruns lists the MHS students who qualified to enter the regional meet in Denton on Friday, April 23. Eligibility for regional indicates that they are either first or second place winners, but the report did not identify firsts and seconds.

The following were listed. In extemporaneous speaking: Glenn Fleitman and Linda Owen as a team and Dianne Amoroso as alternate.

Persuasive speaking: Joe Hartman and Margaret Lawson, with Carol Mosman as alternate.

Ready writing: Wayne Klement. Poetry interpretation: Glenn Fleitman, Norma Lutkenhaus, alternate.

Shorthand: Joyce Rumley, Rita Trubenbach, alternate.

Science: Joe Hartman, Robert Fisher, alternate.

That in general presents the current picture of health insurance for the aged in this country. Many, actually millions, already have adequate coverage. They don't need federal help. They are showing that they can and do take care of themselves. So the only problem facing the nation is to help those who need help.

Believe it or not, that is the very plan offered to our legislators as a substitute for Medicare. Doctors of the country proposed a plan, known as Eldercare, to assist needy people in securing medical and surgical insurance from established commercial firms.

To see our representatives make the choice they did is downright frightening. Facts in abundance were before them showing that they were adopting the poorer program. Nevertheless they submitted to Administration pressure and obligingly rubber stamped the socialistic brainstorm concocted by ADA. They were giving way to the terrifying trend of political philosophy that we the people are ignoramus whose destiny must be directed from the cradle to the grave by super intellects of Washington bureaucracy.

Others in the speaking contest were Cynthia Bindel and Dianne Gehrig of Muenster and Peggy Schroeder and Louise Hassell.

Even so, there is reason to wonder whether public concern or political self interest inspires the socialistic shenanigans. Invariably when a great program is brought forth to guarantee a more abundant life for less privileged people it is accompanied by creation of fat new administrative positions and addition of thousands of new employees. The really substantial benefits are enjoyed more by people appointed to help than by those who are supposed to receive the help.

A fair example of what is happening was revealed this week in an official inquiry of administering the war on poverty. Testimony revealed that hundreds of people have fat jobs, with salaries ranging from $10,000 to $30,000 a year, but the work of relieving poverty remains hopelessly bogged down.

Similar conditions have been revealed by inquiries into Urban Renewal. Some people get big salaries and big deals but it's doubtful whether the poor folks actually involved in the projects were helped as much as they were hurt.

A new program to watch now is federal aid to education, which became law with LBJ's signature Sunday. How much of the $1.3 billion will be used for administration and how much will go to the schools?

And what will be the administrative cost of Medicare when it becomes law? A huge program like that should really build up the bureaucracy. Whether we like it or not, a powerful political empire seems to be in the making.

From La Habra, Calif., comes announcement of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bezner, former Cooke Countians. Their little girl weighed five pounds at birth on April 9. The couple's other children are Ricky, Janet and Sharon. The grandparents are Mrs. Joe Bezner Sr. of Lindsay and Al Kuntz of Valley View who is in California visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Bengfort of Lindsay have announced the birth of a son, weight eight pounds four ounces. 55 First Graders Register for Fall At Sacred Heart

In this year's pre-school registration for Sacred Heart beginners, 55 parents were there to sign up their children. They met in the school library at 2 p.m. Sunday with Sister Henrietta and Sister Genevieve.

Ten parents were unable to attend but sent word. This indicates that next year's beginners at Sacred Heart School will number 65. There were 60 beginners this year.

Children did not accompany their parents Sunday. They had their Get-Acquainted Day Monday from 2 to 3:30 in Rooms 1 and 2.

In their introduction to school life the little boys and girls were entertained by first and second graders who read, sang and recited. A joint recess with a play period and an ice cream treat followed.

A souvenir ABC book went home with the future students.

Special Services Observe Holy Week

Special services in Sacred Heart Church Thursday, Friday and Saturday will observe the last three days of holy week, and suspension of the regular scheduled masses for those days marks a departure from routine.

There are no usual early morning masses for those days. On Thursday regulations specify one mass but to accommodate the large parish another mass was held at 11:30 for school children. The principal Holy Thursday service is to be at 7:30.

On Good Friday the only service is at 3 p.m., and the city has cooperated with parish observance by asking all firms to close from 2 to 4.

Holy Saturday service begins at 7:30 p.m. Easter Sunday services follow the usual Sunday schedule.

Elm Red District Judged Best in Texas for 1964

The Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District has been judged best in Texas for the year 1964 in the annual contest sponsored by the Fort Worth Press.

Along with that honor and distinction it has earned an award of $1,000 which will be presented at the 20th Annual Save the Soil and Save Texas Soil and Water Conservation awards program on May 1.

Selection of the winner was made on the basis of actual conservation achievement plus public relations and other activities assisting the conservation program of the area. P. C. Wylie, work unit conservationist of Gainesville, said that non-farmers as well as farmers have a share in the honor.

Also honored is the Clear Creek Watershed, a part of the Upper Elm-Red District, which was judged the best small watershed of Texas for the past year. J. M. Weinzapfel, chairman of the Clear Creek Watershed Authority, said judging is based on the record of conservation practice on the land along with the record of flood control reservoirs on the streams.

There are 183 soil conservation districts in the state and the records of all are considered in selecting winners.

The list of state wide conservation champions, all to be honored at the Fort Worth Press Awards Program includes several categories beside the outstanding district and outstanding small watershed. Others listed are the champ farmer-rancher, champ comeback farmer, champ conservation group, champ home-maker, champ teacher, champ wildlife group, champ newspaper, champ radio station, champ 4-H and FFA Clubs, and champ water conservation district.

DISASTER BY DIRECTIVE

The first American famine is now in the making. Eight million dollars worth of citrus fruits lies rotting on the ground in Florida. The colossal fruit and vegetable crops of California are in danger of withering in fields and orchards. In 24 other orchard and truck-farming states a similar picture is developing. Farmers cannot plant seasonal crops with any certainty of getting workers to harvest them.

The nation whose God-given bounty and whose generosity of spirit have fed the world's hungry will tighten its own belt before the year is out — and for how many years to come, no one can say. The history books may call it the Willard Wirtz Famine, since it was triggered by the Secretary of Labor's decision that skilled and seasoned workers from Mexico, Canada and the British West Indies are no longer to be depended on for harvesting fruit and vegetable crops. Growers, truckers, food canners and processors gave warning early this year of what might happen. But Mr. Wirtz ignored the warning. His effort to enlist needed labor from the four million unemployed was a fiasco. These recruits, largely from the cities and from industry, had no skill, no stamina and no stomach for stooping, for heavy boxes of produce of for 50-foot ladders, and few will last the season. Many, who hailed a trip to California or Florida as a vacation at the growers expense, simply went over the hill when they found the work too onerous.

The approaching cut-back in food production is estimated to be greater than that of any drought, any freeze or any other natural disaster ever recorded in the U. S. Its impact on farm operations is already such that many growers, now unable to plan production, are cutting back acreage, converting land to non-farm uses. Some are even moving across the border to Mexico.

Fruits and vegetables — whether fresh, canned, frozen or otherwise preserved — will be scarce and high-priced. And even now, the ranks of the unemployed that are of such concern to Mr. Wirtz, are being swelled by truckers and workers in the food processing industries.

But even more disturbing than the famine of 1965-66 (which it now appears too late to prevent), what of the future? Are we to continue on short rations at high prices and continue to strain relations with the neighbors — both north and south — and by authority of bureaucratic edict? Or will the Congress finally come to the aid of the plain people its members are elected to hand somely paid to serve?

ROCK OF FACT

What's happened to food prices since the turn of the century? The answer's easy, you'll probably say. They've gone up and up, to sky-high levels.

That is true, if you apply only the inaccurate and misleading slide rule of dollars-and-cents to the food price trend. An infinitely more accurate picture is proved by The American Economic Foundation. In 1900, the work week was about 48 hours, the average pay was about $11, and $5.50 of it went for the family's food. Now the average pay is in the $100 a week neighborhood, and the work week is 40 hours. The cost of food averages about $20. That amounts to about 8 hours work — one third of the work-hour cost that food demanded in 1900. So, measured in this way, the cost of food has been reduced by two thirds.

That is a remarkable achievement. And it does not take into consideration other values. We eat better, tastier, more balanced meals than ever before. And convenience foods, ready or practically ready to eat in the form they come from the market, have made deep cuts into the time the housewife spends in the kitchen.

What is responsible for this? The Foundation divides the credit — the technological progress on our farms; a revolution in transportation; a steady reduction of costs in food processing and packaging; and finally, the extraordinary improvement made in the efficiency and economy of food retailing. The food chains, for example, commonly earn as little as a penny of profit on each dollar of sales.

It is not unreasonable to assume that this percentage comparison of wages and prices would carry through on other chain store merchandising. After six months of using a new borbon-flavored toothpaste, a test group reported that they had 40 per cent more cavities and couldn't care less.

IT'S TIME TO UNSCRAMBLE TIME

The uniform time legislation introduced in both houses of Congress to end clock confusion is long overdue.

On Sunday April 25, America will again live on "scrambled time." More than 100 million Americans will advance their clocks to daylight saving time, while 90 million people will not change.

"This annual time scramble complicates the operations and scheduling of the transportation industry. It confounds the television viewer, bewilders the vacationing traveler and aggravates the businessman," Senator Norris Cotton (R-N.H.) said. "A flood of missed appointments, and late arrivals will plague many Americans," he continued.

Let's see what happens: 15 states start daylight saving time the last Sunday in April and end the last Sunday in October.

16 other states either start or end daylight savings time — or both on different dates.

Of the 31 states, 15 observe it on a statewide basis, while the others have local option.

And across the country isolated areas observe "wildcat" DST without official sanction. Some states do not observe it at all.

This legislation to have time and date uniformly wherever daylight saving time is adopted should be encouraged.

HOW MUCH IS $127 BILLION?

The way we get it, President Johnson will spend $127 Billion cash dollars in the year starting July 1, 1965. Just how much is $127,000,000,000?

To give you some idea of the size of this expenditure:

127,000,000,000 silver dollars weigh about 4,509,304 tons.
$127,000,000,000 in gold at $35.00 per ounce would weigh about 1,378,033 tons.

127,000,000,000 silver dollars stacked one on top of the other would make a pile 200,442 miles high.

A stack of 127,000,000,000 dollar bills would measure 8,619 miles high.

127,000,000,000 one-dollar bills laid end to end would extend about 12,000,000 miles.

To store 127,000,000,000 one-dollar bills would require a building a mile long, nearly 50 feet wide and 20 feet high.

Every man, woman and child in the U.S. owes a part of $127 Billion. Approximately $700 each. Could we all pay up?

A $10,000-a-year man would have to work 1,270,000 years to earn $127,000,000,000.

Since Jan. 1 in the year No. 1 until Jan. 1, 1965, the clock only ticked 36,154,497,600 seconds. The same clock will tick 127,000,000,000 seconds about Jan. 1, 6875.

It takes about 38 seconds to count to 127 as fast as you can. If you want to count to 127,000,000,000 it will take you 1,484 years.

Your normal pulse beat is 70 per minute. It will take you 34,518 years to reach the 127,000,000,000th beat.

The sun is supposed to be

93,000,000 miles from the earth. An object 127,000,000,000 miles away would be about 1,365 times as far from us as the sun.

$127,000,000,000 is quite a chunk of money any way you figure it.

The Russian Trade Committee was reporting to the Kremlin on American business methods. Our economic attache was present.

"Comrades," said the chairman, "our report shows that many facets of American business are excellent — but we have discovered that they don't make very good automobiles."

"Just a minute," replied the American. "We make 7,000,000 autos a year, and they're all good."

"Nyet," replied the Russian, with a sneer. "How come our highway survey showed nearly every third car being pushed by a boat?"

"Top hit tunes for all drivers" reads as follows:

At 45 MPH sing "Highways Are Happy Ways."

At 55 MPH sing "I'm But a Stranger Here, Heaven is My Home."

At 65 MPH sing "Nearer My God to Thee."

At 75 MPH sing "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder I'll Be There."

At 85 MPH sing "Lord, I'm Coming Home."

Boy Scout leader to troop:

"Remember, men, if you're lost in the woods at night, get your bearings from the sky. A glow will indicate the nearest shopping center."

Non-Lethal Gas

How any thinking American can add his voice to the shocked chorus denouncing our use of disabling but non-lethal gas in coping with distressing Viet Cong success in taking over jungle villages, and in taking Vietnamese forces and their American advisors by surprise is hard to understand.

engagements, spare the unhappy people, but with prisoners to grill are finding out the enemy's plans. Only the Viet Cong — and the other Reds — could object to this.

A government bureau is where the taxpayer's shirt is kept.

Where the Viet Cong had captured the village they treated the bewildered populace with compassion — frequently winning allies. To rout the enemy, the Vietnamese had been shooting the villagers, too — frequently burning the houses as well.

In adopting the gas, our side rendered the enemy and the villagers unconscious or made them sick. The enemy was taken prisoner, the villagers recovered to go about their business, their village unharmed. We not only win such

22 SHH Students In Ft. Worth for Speech Tourney

Sacred Heart High School had 22 students participating in the Speech Tournament at Nolan High in Fort Worth Friday and some went on into the semi-finals and finals Saturday.

Placing in preliminary competition were Janie Fleitman in poetry reading who took part in the semi-finals. Likewise Laurie Trubenbach, Ann Landsfeld and Candy Fette in dramatic interpretation. Advancing to the finals were Debbie Fette and Mary Ellen Endres in duet acting.

Sister Roberta and Sister Barbara coached the entries. Sister Richard and Sister Geraldine joined them in attending the tournament. Ten schools and hundreds of students were entered. In the advanced competition the local students encountered it is a notable achievement to reach the finals and semi-finals the nuns said. This is the school's first year to enter.

Some of the group had to stay overnight and others returned the next day to appear in the semi-finals and finals. Four spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Krennek. These were Mrs. Krennek's sister Ann Landsfeld and Linda Rohmer and Donna Stoffels in poetry reading and Laurie Trubenbach. Also staying overnight was Linda Zimmerer who was entered in poetry reading.

Five cars took the students to Fort Worth. Adults attending in addition to the four nuns were James Mosler, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Yosten and Dwayne Schilling.

Bob Smith Joins Colonial Acres As Horse Trainer

Colonial Acres Farm has added a new horseman. He's Bob Smith who has been a horse lover, favoring Appaloosas, since childhood. He came by it naturally — his father was a champion roper and he grew up around horses.

He's a native Texan, born in Stephens County, and a Navy veteran with five major battle stars for duty in the South Pacific. His wife Mabel is also an ardent lover of horses. They married in 1946 and have two children, a 12-year-old son and an eight-year-old daughter.

Bob Smith was coached by a professional horseman from Famous King Ranch at Kingville and has been active in Appaloosa horse shows, showing in 11 states. He has showed champions in the halter class, barrel racing, stake racing, and pleasure class, champion trail horse, champion all around performance horses, and has won an all around showmanship award.

A visitor dropping in at the ranch's horse barn will find Bob giving individual attention to each of the Appaloosa horses. Unlike most people, he likes seeing spots before his eyes.

Mrs. Endres Hosts Get-Together Club

Muenster Get-Together Club members had their April meeting Wednesday with Mrs. R. R. Endres as hostess in her home. Party room decorations carried out an Easter theme with Easter rabbits and eggs and Easter lilies.

A progressive 42 series entertained the group and when scores were counted Mrs. Joe Hoening was the top winner. Mrs. John Kathman, a guest, won the consolation award. Another guest was Miss Elizabeth Herr. Mrs. C. M. Walterscheid drew the door prize.

The hostess served a dessert course and coffee to ten members and the two guests.

"What am I supposed to do with this?" grumbled the motorist as the police clerk handed him a receipt for his traffic fine.

"Keep it," the clerk advised. "When you get four of them, you get a bicycle."

Texas 65 Health Insurance Plan Is Available Now

Governor John Connally has proclaimed April as Texas 65 Month in recognition of the third open enrollment period of the Texas 65 Health Insurance Association scheduled April 15-30.

During the last two weeks of this month, all Texans 65 years of age and past will again be eligible to enroll in the Texas 65 insurance program regardless of age or health condition and without the necessity of completing a lengthy medical questionnaire, according to an announcement by H. Lewis Rietz, president of the Texas 65 Health Insurance Association.

Governor Connally noted in his proclamation that more than $4 million has been paid in claims to over 22,000 senior citizens of the state of Texas since the voluntary health insurance program was started in November of 1963.

"These figures indicate the program is apparently filling the need for which it was created," the Governor stated. The Texas 65 Health Insurance Association was authorized by unanimous vote of the 1963 Texas Legislature. Its mission is to offer low cost, voluntary health insurance to the senior citizens of the state who have previously been unable to purchase health insurance coverage either because of age or physical condition.

Garden Club Has Film and Lecture On Water Pollution

Muenster Civic League and Garden Club members saw an entertaining and educational film on "Water Pollution" at their April meeting Monday. The program was presented by C. O. Glenn of Wichita Falls, officer of the Red River Authority Pollution Division. He also showed a number of slides, gave running commentary and answered questions from members. He was accompanied by his wife.

Miss Bettye Dodds led the month's short study on "Plants That Are Poisonous." She also distributed leaflets describing plants that are poisonous as a whole or in parts when eaten or touched.

Mrs. Henry Weinzapfel, vice president, conducted the business session in the absence of Mrs. Dick Cain, a patient at Muenster Hospital.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. John Mosman with Mrs. Mosman and Mrs. Joe Luke as co-hostesses. They served refreshments as members arrived.

The serving table held the silver coffee service at one end and an Easter arrangement at the other. Mrs. Luke used bright geraniums surrounded by decorated eggs in a nest of green on a silver tray. Hot cross buns, pastel cup cakes, candies wrapped in multi-colored foil, all followed the seasonal theme. Miss Carol Mosman presided at the coffee service.

Mrs. Luke took two floral arrangements to the meeting. One was red geraniums in a low container and the other was fashioned of pansies, ajuga, and violet leaves in a tall footed container.

It was announced that the May meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Ernest Medders. It will feature an informal flower show and will be Guest Day. Each member will make one arrangement to display.

Tigers Lose to Pilot Point, Era

Sacred Heart's luckless Tigers stretched their losing streak to six games during the past week. On the local field Friday they lost 6-2 to Pilot Point, and at Era Tuesday they were clobbered 11-0.

The first game started off fairly even as the visitors got 1 each the first two innings and Sacred Heart got 2 in the second. But from then on it was Pilot Point all the way. Final figures were 5 hits, 6 runs, no errors for the visitors; 2 hits, 2 runs, 2 errors for Sacred Heart. Dale Hofbauer and Maurice Hacker fanned 5 and walked 5. The Pilot Point hurler struck out 5 and walked 2. Hitters for Sacred Heart were Ted Endres a double and Leon Endres a single.

Next game was more of the same, and more so. Era got 11 hits, 11 runs and made 1 error. Tigers got 1 hit, 0 runs and made 6 errors. Hofbauer and Leon Endres fanned 2 and walked 2. Era's pitcher fanned 9 and walked 1. Hofbauer's single was the only Tiger hit.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Eighty-two percent of Texas grasslands are now infested with some kind of woody plant. On fifty percent of grassland this brush is so thick that the better native grasses cannot grow without some form of brush control.

These facts were revealed by the Soil Conservation Service in a recent publication called "Grassland Restoration—The Texas Brush Problem." They also point out that heavy grazing and drought have played a major role in bringing on this present brush problem.

SCS personnel assisting the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District point out that this trend or change is taking place in this area. Locally, approximately 10,000 acres of brush were controlled last year.

Different methods of control were used; however, one method seemed to stand out above all others. This method was to push the unwanted brush into ditches or windrows and follow this with a large off-set disk. This method works the soil to a depth of six to eight inches and destroys a high percentage of underground roots. The soil is left in excellent condition for seeding or sprigging.

County cost-share assistance is available to assist cooperators in controlling their brush. Cooke County pays up to $15 per acre while Montague pays up to $12.50 per acre. It has been observed by SCS personnel that regrowth is greatly reduced when this method is used. Where conservation contractors have been allowed to doze and plow, they have been charging very little for the plowing above the dozing cost.

Some cooperators have established these areas to bermudagrass by scattering the roots and fertilizer just ahead of the dozer and off-set disk. The area is then drug or packed with a roller to firm the seedbed.

For further information on this method of brush control, as well as other good methods, call or come by the local Soil Conservation Office.

Evaluation Plan Offered to Cities Served by TP&L

Texas Power & Light Company is now making available to cities and towns served by the Company a planned program of community evaluation called "Operation Check Up." Announcement of the program was made here by Fred Lynn, district manager for Texas Power & Light Company.

The purpose of this program is to provide interested local organizations or groups with a means of surveying existing community facilities and activities and defining needed improvements.

The first phase of the program involves completion of a simple but extensive questionnaire prepared by TP&L community development specialists in consultation with the Texas Municipal League, the Economics Research Division of Texas A&M University, professional city managers, engineers and planners.

When the questionnaire has been completed, it will be submitted to Texas Power & Light Company for an objective scoring and tabulation. The questionnaire will then be returned to the local participating organization along with a general tabulation of information submitted by other committees throughout the area served by TP&L. The source of each questionnaire will be identified only to the community which supplied the information. All other communities will remain anonymous.

By comparison of local performance levels with those of other communities of similar size and character, local leaders will be able to determine areas where work is needed to place the community in a better position for economic growth.

Announcement of the program emphasized that it is not a competition, but a means of objective community self-appraisal.

It's ironic that Karl Marx, a man so dedicated to the welfare state, lived to the age of 65, found out there was no social security and died.

Building Progress Noted on Projects At Colonial Acres

Construction seems underway in every direction at Colonial Acres Farm.

New horse training pens are among the new projects and a riding and rodeo arena are getting under way. Across the road south from Colonial Manor a new house has a good start. This will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Oliver—he's farm manager—and they'll move to Muenster from Gainesville as soon as it is completed.

Recently finished projects at the ranch are the air conditioned cattle barn, the calf nursery, and the huge all-metal horse barn. Work is almost completed on an elaborate show barn for the Medders' Red and Black Angus cattle.

Mrs. Paul Endres Returns From D. C. 4-H Adult Forum

"Something was going on constantly," says Mrs. Paul Endres of her week in Washington, D.C. "There were many interesting, exciting and educational experiences."

She returned Tuesday evening and has been reviewing some of the highlights with her family and friends.

Mrs. Endres was one of 24 4-H adult leaders from Texas selected to attend a 4-H Forum in the Nation's Capital Monday through Saturday last week. She was one of two adult leaders from the 19-county Extension District 4.

Meetings and workshops and classes took up a part of the time. Other events included a tour of the White House, the Capitol, shrines, President Kennedy's Grave, Curtis-Lee Mansion, changing of guards ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the Wax Museum and the Islamic Mosque.

Mrs. Endres and two others from this area, one from Wichita Falls and one from Denton, were treated to a private tour of the Capitol through courtesy of Congressman Graham Purcell.

The group of leaders and Extension Service personnel sat in on sessions of both the Senate and House of Representatives. They also visited the National Archives, Lincoln Memorial and Washington Monument. But they missed seeing President Johnson. The day they could have seen him he flew to Texas.

The party of thirty left College Station in a chartered bus and spent the first night in Little Rock, Ark. Here Mrs. Endres enjoyed an evening visit with her son Ricky Endres of Subiaco Academy who was in Little Rock attending a two-day High School Press Convention. Enroute, also, the bus stopped in Virginia for sight-seeing including Monticello. Mrs. Endres left the bus on the return trip at Sulphur Springs where her family met her.

Baseball Starts At Muenster High

Baseball at Muenster High School got under way Monday as most members of the track team swapped in their track duds for baseball uniforms.

The team this year, says Coach James Polk, will be practically the same as that which lost 7-1 to Lindsay in district play off last year. The only difference is the absence of Weldon Vogel, who was the team's leading hitter. As before, Roy Reiter will do most of the pitching for the Hornets.

Coach Polk and the boys have almost three weeks of practice time to shape up for their first district game. That will be on April 30, when the Hornets meet Callisburg.

Five teams are in the 28-B district race, and the schedule calls for each team to meet each other team once. The participating schools are Muenster, Saint Jo, Lindsay, Era, and Callisburg. The Eagles of Valley View do not have a team this year.

District games for the Hornets are scheduled as follows. April 30, Callisburg, there May 7, Era, there May 11, Saint Jo, here May 14, Lindsay, there

Ironing will go much faster and the results will look smoother if an ironing board is well-padded. Use two or three thin sheets of cotton padding instead of one, and see how much faster the ironing goes.
