IT GOES UP AND UP
 Here we are in a period of prosperity which has lasted longer than any in recent history. Some 40 months have gone by since we have heard even about a recession, let alone a depression.

More people have more money than ever. And yet Congress is busily engaged in raising the limit of the national debt by about $9 billion as a "temporary" measure to relieve the stringency in the treasury. One would think that a sane fiscal policy would be to pay off the debt in a period of prosperity.

We are going into debt now because there are so-called pockets of poverty and it seems to be politically popular to take away from those who have and give to those who have less.

But there is no real philosophy about debts or spending or saving except the cynical one of what to do to keep the party in power and the devil take the nation if the piper ever has to be paid.

PERMIT TO HAVE CHILDREN?

The days of "1964" may not be far away. At least that's the conclusion which may be reached from some of the proposals for collective action to control the lives of the people which pop up from time to time.

H. Bentley Glass, professor of biology at Johns Hopkins University, told an audience in Los Angeles the other day that the married couple of the future may need a special permit to have children.

"The right to have children can't remain unlimited," he was quoted as saying.

Glass outlined his view of the future something like this: Before anyone could get married, the couple would visit a "genetic clinic" for chemical tests to show if they were likely to have defective children. If they passed a marriage license would be issued, and the couple would have an automatic "right" to have one child. The family would gain a tax exemption for this first child.

A second child would be licensed, but there would be no second tax exemption. A third child, if the state were to permit it, would be penalized because one exemption would be removed.

But if some independent couple were so uncooperative as to have a child without obtaining a license, there would be a severe penalty — perhaps sterilization.

He said the time may come when reproduction is separated entirely from sex, with both sperm and ova kept in laboratories and matched up there by technicians. The professor said he does not advocate this, but that "it is a possible or probable development."

Who Sent For Him?

The very fact that such political intervention into the lives of people would be suggested would have been shocking a few years back.

Now, one can only say that Big Brother is coming nearer, step by step.

HEAVEN ISN'T THAT SIMPLE

You can't legislate equality; you have to deserve it. You can't demand success; you have to earn it. You can't be handed an education or skill; you have to learn by hard work. You can't vote yourself security; you have to produce for it and save for it.

For hundreds of years false "leaders" have preached, "Give me your support and I will care for you. I will take from others and give you a living you don't have to work for." And for those same hundreds of years men have been drugging themselves into that dream — and waking up not in heaven but in purgatory.

NEW DEAL NOSTRUMS BACK AGAIN

Here we go again! Like Franklin D. Roosevelt in the early 30's, President Johnson has decided to end poverty. That unsuccessful crusade began in the depression and was bailed out only when we entered World War II. It taught a lesson the American people should not forget: Prosperity cannot be created by government; it is created by enterprising businesses, large and small, which risk their capital to produce jobs and make goods.

President Johnson has not learned that lesson. What he has observed, we fear, is that FDR's chimerical war on poverty made him so popular in the minds of the voters that he was elected four times. And so the tired old New Deal nostrums, soak the rich, make-work projects, and government giveaways are before us again. The Congress has been asked to appropriate just under a billion dollars.

Honesty compels us to label it the Johnson Election Campaign Fund.

EROSION OF PERSONAL INDEPENDENCE

"If you put $100 away in a sock in 1939 and left it there, that $100 has shrunk to $44.90." Thus reports the Portland, Oregon, Journal, using U. S. Labor Department figures as its authority. And this massive erosion of the dollar's purchasing power has been the cause of grave hardship to great numbers of people — especially the elderly living on fixed incomes who have not shared in increased wages and other income.

Beyond that, the Journal makes this vital point: "... the shrinking dollar also tends to cause an even more serious erosion of personal independence. It is a real discouragement to savings for independence, and as a result of the shrinking dollar and the deficit spending attitude of the government more and more people are looking to Washington for their old age and even for the 'rainy day'. Erosion of personal independence can only result in a nation growing weaker, not stronger."

The cheapened dollar has been a major cause of the extension of the Welfare State, with all the destruction of independence that implies. And, despite the Administration's avowed optimism, continued deficit spending threatens what is left of the dollar's value. There are plenty of danger signals on the horizon.

American have learned you can't get something for nothing. But let a group of Russians come to America and see what valuable information they get for nothing. In November, eleven Russian scientists inspected our nuclear research facilities at the Brookhaven National Laboratory at Upton, New York. The group's leader, A. M. Petrosyants was quoted as saying — "since we discussed with some of your specialists the design of a machine we now have in the early stages of construction we will be able to make some corrections in the design." One wonders why the Russians bother with the expense of having spies when they can get first-hand information like this free of charge.

A cynical-minded gentleman was standing in front of an exhibition of local art talent labeled, "Art Objects."

"Well," he announced to the attendant in charge, "I can't say I blame Art for objecting."

STOP!
 Before Using Any Pesticide — Read The Label!
 That is the slogan of the pesticide safe-use project for 1964. The motivating force behind this project is the National Agricultural Chemicals Association. And a distinguished list of other organizations, such as the National Safety Council and the Department of Agriculture, are cooperating.

Reading the label, of course, is the first step. Then comes storage — pesticides must be kept out of the reach of children, irresponsible or uninformed people. Then they must be applied precisely as directed. Finally, adequate provision must be made for disposal of used containers. It is suggested that the best means of doing this is to bury them at least 18 inches deep in an isolated area away from water supplies.

This is an education project of the highest importance. Over 350,000 tons of pesticides are used each year to control destructive insects. The accidents they cause are totally unnecessary and are the result of sheer carelessness. So, when you use a pesticide, read that label and take the other simple and essential precautions.

TEST SHOWS SEAT BELTS EFFECTIVE

Do seat belts save lives? In one study, users of the safety devices sustained about 35 per cent fewer severe and fatal injuries than did non-users, according to the American Medical Association. Belts have been installed in about 4.5 million U. S. autos out of the 70 million in use. But if all car occupants used them, the AMA says in "a conservative estimate," traffic fatalities would be reduced by 5,000 a year. The organization debunks the old theory that it's safer to be thrown clear of a wreck; actually, it says, a person thrown out of a car is five times more likely to be killed than one who remains in it.

Railroad buffs who like to spend a night in a boxcar will appreciate a new motel in Somerville, Tex. Twenty-five old freight cars are lined up to receive guests. The interiors have all the modern conveniences but exteriors are the same as when the cars traveled. No special hobo rates quoted!

Jane Endres and Roger Taylor Are Married at Mass

She is the former Miss Jane Endres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Endres. Mr. Taylor is the son of Mrs. Charles O. Taylor and the late Lt. Col. Taylor.

The couple said vows in a double ring ceremony at nuptial mass for which the groom's uncle, the Rev. Harry Fisher of Gainesville, officiated at 5 p.m.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of white organza, the fitted bodice enhanced with a yoke of Alencon lace re-embroidered with seed pearls. It had a scoop neckline and long sleeves. The skirt had added fullness as it neared the floor and flowed into a chapel train. An aurora borealis crown held her tiered veil and she carried a white orchid on a bride's prayer book, a gift from the groom.

Miss Virginia Taylor, sister of the groom, was maid of honor wearing a dress of Shocking pink satin with embroidered organza overskirt and matching veiled pillbox. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Sammy Endres, brother of the bride, was best man.

Her father escorted her to the altar and presented her in marriage.

Miss Angeline Hess was maid of honor and the bride's sister, Miss Inga Kieninger was junior bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of sunshine yellow organza topped by brief lace jackets, and carried white carnations. Their veiled halo hats matched their dresses.

Groom's attendants were his brother Earl Cunningham, best man, and Glenn Owen, a cousin, junior attendant. Earl Hess and Leonard Haverkamp ushered.

Anthony Luke was at the organ, the men's choir sang the mass, and Mrs. Norbert

— Kent Bellah Studio

ELECTRICITY Assures MORE Air Conditioning COMFORT!

Colder Coils Remove More Moisture

On sticky, muggy summer days, one ton of electric air conditioning will remove as much as 12 gallons of moisture from the air it conditions. This can be done only with the colder coils of an electric unit.

While lowering humidity, electric air conditioning also keeps your whole house dry...no mold, mildew, rust.

Too, by removing excess humidity, you can keep comfortably cool with less variance between outside and inside temperatures. This saves you money on operating cost, since your air conditioner works less.

Enjoy healthy, dust-free filtered air...a cleaner home...a quieter home. See your electric air conditioning dealer.
