VOLUME XXIX

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS 76252 AUGUST 6, 1965

NUMBER 37

More on the subject of our proposed hospital district: While the Hospital Authority confidently continued its fund campaign it proceeded with plans to construct and equip the hospital. Principals in the planning were the architect, the Benedictine Sisters who would administrate, the State Health Department, and the federal authority whose approval was needed for the Hill-Burton grant.

After frequent studies and revisions preliminary plans and specifications were approved in October 1961 and work was started on the final draft of plans. Next the final official check of the plans, advertising for construction bids and awarding of the building contract in June 1962 for $539,900. Actual construction was started in August 1962.

During all that time the fund drive continued. Many who had pledged originally continued their regular contributions, and additional contributions came in from unpledged donors. More money was added to the fund by interest earned on savings account investments while accumulated funds awaited use for construction.

It was assumed that the start of construction would bring new life into the campaign, that evidence of physical progress would offer new inducement, especially to those who said they were waiting to see the building started. So the drive was revived in hopes that sufficient money would come in before the building was finished.

The renewed effort helped, but before long it became obvious that it still would be far short of the goal. Additional financing would be needed to finish the building. That's when negotiations were started to raise the remaining requirement by a bond issue. Arrangements for the transaction were completed in July 1963. Total amount of the bond was $300,000, of which $209,500 was applied to construction, $50,000 was reserved as an operating fund, $30,750 was set aside for payment of the first two years of interest and the balance was used to pay expense of the bond issue.

The decision to finance the remainder of their project by a bond issue did not mean that the hospital authority directors had abandoned their original intention of paying all of the community's share by voluntary donations. The idea was to assume a debt so that the job could be finished and to pay off the debt over a period of years by continued contributions.

However community response in the next two years continued to be discouraging. Some kept up their faithful payments to the cause, but in general the same old difficulty prevailed. There were no substantial donations, and other donations became fewer and smaller. Many people, otherwise willing to help, remained reluctant when they got no cooperation from those who were more able to give.

The net result was that the hospital was in financial trouble. It was then that directors considered an effort to establish a hospital district and assess a tax as an equitable and dependable solution of the debt problem.

That method was encouraged by a report that a similar financing plan would likely be adopted by the Gainesville Hospital Authority, which had also assumed a substantial debt in expanding and improving its hospital facilities. The thinking was that the matter of deciding district boundaries could be more easily settled and the tax idea would encounter less opposition if the two areas cooperated in solving similar problems.

With that in mind members of the local board asked for a meeting with the Gainesville board. They suggested that since Muenster has about one third of the county's hospital facilities its district could reasonably include the west one third of the county's area. They considered that proposal especially fair in view of the fact that the area represented much less than a third of the county's population or valuation.

The proposed Muenster district was to include areas of the Muenster school district, the Myra school district, about half of the Era school district and the part of Saint Jo school district which is in Cooke County. Valuation of that area on the county tax rolls is about

City Gets Double Benefit at State Firemen's School

Jerry Wimmer of the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department was at Texas A & M University last week participating in the 36th annual Texas Firemen's Training School.

He was among 1,950 firemen representing 465 cities and 20 states in the United States and several foreign countries. Included were men who work in fire prevention and control for municipalities, industries and armed services.

Texas towns sending firemen to the school receive key rate credit for their insurance rates according to the number of firemen participating. Cities sponsoring one qualified fireman who completes the work successfully receive three percent credit. Those who sponsor a fireman and fire marshal, or officially appointed assistant fire marshal, get four percent credit. And cities with two or more firemen and the fire marshal gain five percent credit.

Henry D. Smith, Chief of the Fireman's Training School, emphasized the greatest benefit gained from the school is the reduction in fire losses through more efficient methods of fire fighting learned during the training.

Instruction includes 12 separate 30 hour courses in fire-fighting, fire marshal training, fire department officer training, instructor training, pump maintenance, pump operation, armed services and specialized fire protection.

Top instructors and technical advisors assist in the school. These include representatives from the liquefied petroleum gas industry, the Texas Department of Public Safety, fire and arson investigators, fire apparatus and equipment specialists, and guest instructors from fire department, industry and the armed services in Texas and other states.

Nuns Come and Go By Private Plane

Sisters Henrietta and Genevieve are back as teachers at Sacred Heart School and Sister Camille is a new member of the staff at Muenster Memorial Hospital. The three of them came Wednesday from the convent at Jonesboro, Ark., accompanied by Sister Amora Felderhoff. They came in a private plane piloted by a Mr. Keith, a friend of the convent.

Their arrival inspired a family party as Sister Mildred, Hubert and Tony Felderhoff and their wives, Mrs. Ben Sicking and Mrs. John Felderhoff met Sister Amora. The group was joined by the local sisters and the pilot for lunch at Rohmer's. Before her departure Sister Amora also visited with Mrs. Joe Felderhoff.

Other passengers on the plane's return trip were Sisters Leonarda, Helen and Clementine, who went to the convent for their annual retreat. Sister Leonarda and Helen will be back here on the 16th.

Kids' Baseball Game Postponed

Players in senior division of Muenster's Little League are reminded that the make-up game on their schedule is postponed until Friday the 13th. It will not be played this week Friday, as previously announced.

The reason, says Virgil Henschel, supervisor, is to give the kids — and the managers and officials — an opportunity to see the All-Star football game on TV.

July Rain, 18 in.

Only .18 inch of rain fell here during the month of July. That's why pastures are drying up, fields are too hard to plow and all local farmers are waiting anxiously for the next rain. It was the second driest July in the past ten years. July '64 holds the record with only .06 inch.

Total rainfall for the year to date is 19.53, which is near normal for this time.

Mass, Reception at Lindsay Observe Herman Zimmerer Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Zimmerer who were married in Lindsay in 1915 celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in Lindsay Sunday. Their 13 children and 15 grandchildren celebrated with them.

The day's festivities included an anniversary Mass in St. Peter's Church at 5 p.m. with Father Alcuin Kubis of Muenster, a nephew, as celebrant. Mr. and Mrs. Jake Kuhn were attendants taking the places of attendants a half century ago when Miss Sophie Zimmerer, a cousin, was bridesmaid and Fred Kuhn, a brother of the bride, was best man. Three granddaughters of the goldenweds, Barbara Zimmerer, Sandra Hellman and Linda Betzen were flower girls.

Mrs. Clarence Zimmerer a daughter-in-law, was vocal soloist. She was accompanied by Don Owen, organist. They presented "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," and "Peace Be Still."

Yellow gladioli and greenery adorned the candle-light altar. Eddie Joe and Donald Schad were acolytes. After the church service a reception was held in the Lindsay Hall for relatives and friends. They were registered by granddaughters, Marian Betzen and Glenna Hellman. Father John Walbe gave the invocation at dinner and Glenn Hellman, a son-in-law, was master of ceremonies for the after dinner program. The family history was told by Billy Zimmerer, youngest son of the goldenweds.

Marion Betzen, a grandchild, presented the spiritual bouquet. The Pappal Blessing was read by Sister Mary Rose, a daughter of the jubilarians. Father Alcuin recalled memorable events in the lives of the couple. Both will be 72 years old this month.

Tables were decorated in gold and white and the honor couple's table held the handsome three-tier anniversary cake topped with two joined wedding bands on a Chi Rho symbolizing the union of Christ and the couple. Gold candles flanked the cake.

Dinner was served by Mrs. Henry Kuhn, Mrs. Al Bayer, and Misses Alta Louise Kuhn, Joan Kuhn and Vickie Kuhn.

Herman Zimmerer, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Zimmerer, is a native of Lindsay, born August 13, 1893, in the home in which the couple still lives today. Mrs. Zimmerer, the former Miss Rose Kuhn, was born in Mexico on August 26, 1893, and was only five years old when she moved to Lindsay with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kuhn. They were married by the late Father Bernard Zell, then Lindsay pastor, on August 30, 1915. The golden anniversary

After that Tim continued as manager of the Gainesville Little League All Stars, who were competing in the state Little League program. His boys beat Denton, North Garland, Farmers Branch and West Garland to take the district title.

Next they beat Jasper in their first regional game. After 18 straight wins Tim's boys met their Waterloo Tuesday, losing 4-2 in an extra inning game with the Little League champs of Fort Worth.

Audit in Progress At Local Hospital

The audit is being conducted by Garnett and James, Accountants and Auditors of Fort Worth, and the men on the job here are Calvin Pate, James Charbonnet and T. E. Newman.

Their audit covers all transactions relating to the hospital since Muenster Hospital Authority was created in 1958. It will show the total amount received by donations, federal grant and bond and will also give an accounting of expenditures for construction and equipment. Finally it will review the hospital's operation since it opened in February 1964.

The report of the audit, to be made in the Fort Worth office, is expected to be finished near the end of next week.

Council Appoints Group to Study Planning, Zoning

The Muenster City Council at its regular meeting Monday night appointed a planning and zoning committee to study the advisability of building regulations in the city and to present their recommendations to the city council.

Those asked to serve are Urban Endres, Herbert Miller, Herbert Meurer, A. T. Tuggle, Pat Hennigan, John Wieler and Mrs. Ray Evans.

Some of the local residents have been concerned a long time over the problems that could arise from local lack of building control. For instance, living conditions in a home would become unpleasant and the value of that home would drop accordingly, if a noisy or dusty or smelly operation were established nearby.

The committee is asked to seek a solution to that problem. The council made no recommendations but only asked that the committee consider the subject thoroughly and then submit its recommendations at a future meeting.

Those recommendations are expected to suggest areas for business and industrial development and other areas for residential development. It is possible also that areas will be designated for different kinds of residential building.

Auxiliary to VFW Plans to Sew and Quilt This Month

Muenster VFW Auxiliary members, at their meeting Monday night, planned some quilting and sewing activity for themselves.

They'll have a quilting bee next Wednesday and Thursday nights at the VFW Hall for members who can quilt. It's custom quilting for a local resident and will benefit the organization's treasury. The sewing project is making gowns to gift to a needy patient at Muenster Hospital.

The meeting opened with the draping of the chapter in memory of Mrs. Arthur Endres. Mrs. Raymond Walterscheid, president, presided.

The honor roll requirement for the month is an Americanism project and the Auxiliary voted to contribute ten dollars to Muenster City Library for a book on Americanism.

A letter from the district president revealed that the local organization again this year won a certificate for fulfilling honor roll requirements the past year and a trophy for fulfilling its membership quota. Both honors were told at the El Paso convention. Mrs. Jessie Morrison of Denison took the trophy and the certificate home with her and Muenster members will pick them up at the district meeting in Lewisville on Aug. 28-29. Muenster was not represented at the state convention.

After adjournment Mrs. Pete Hammer and Mrs. Don Flusche served refreshments to 22 member and Mr. Al Walter drew the attendance prize.

NOTHING IS FREE

Numbers of people, apparently, believe the government gets its money out of thin air or from some mysterious source that has little to do with themselves.

This, basically, was the thought of Congressman Lipscomb of California when he said: "It should come as no surprise to anyone that the money the federal government spends must ultimately come from the people, though, all too often it seems that this fact is overlooked or ignored."

One reason for this is that except for income and property levies, most of the taxes we pay are hidden. Everything we buy, from an article so small as a loaf of bread to one so large as an automobile, carries a multitude of taxes levied at the raw material, manufacturing, processing, transporting, retailing and other levels. And those taxes, like all the other costs that enter into the production of goods and services, must be paid by the consumer.

These are truisms that should be known to every schoolchild. But they tend to become lost in the face of the widespread belief that government "gives" us things. The truth is that government can "give" nothing. It can only take money from the people, now or on some future date, to pay the costs — and, also, it tacks on handsome sums to cover the administrative and bureaucratic overhead.

Nothing material in this world is free — government least of all.

THE MINIMUM WAGE PROBLEM

In one of his recent newspaper columns, David Lawrence wrote of the dangers and problems that are apt to result from arbitrary increase in the federal minimum wage, which is now set at $1.25 an hour.

For one thing, increases lead to demands for wage boosts by more highly-paid workers. In Mr. Lawrence's words, "... as one class of employees is given an increase, the class just above it feels it is entitled to something of the same kind. This is often referred to as 'bumping' the wage scales."

For another thing, upping the minimum may actually do the most damage to those it is designed to help. Of this, Mr. Lawrence says, "It can mean that those persons without skills who are not considered today to be worth more than $1.25 an hour would find it more difficult to get jobs because it might prove necessary for employers to hire better qualified persons at higher wages rather than to take chances with employees who are not really competent to do the work."

In sum, jacking up the minimum could set off a new-price spiral which would hit everyone in the country, and fall hardest on people of small means and lack of skills. And that, incidentally, would prevent the attainment of two avowed administration goals—increased employment, and the maintenance of a stable wage structure.

helped guarantee consumers abundant supplies of oil and gas, and that very abundance, in turn, has helped to keep prices reasonable.

There are other obvious benefits from the present oil conservation policies. In a nation that uses eleven million barrels of oil a day, not one barrel of demand goes unfulfilled. Furthermore, the nation's defense is backed up by reserves of oil and gas liquids which can be produced at the rate of about fourteen million barrels a day if needed. They are stored, Governor Connally emphasized, in nature's own "bombproof container" — the earth.

Nothing is this world is ever perfect including, we are sure, the conservation practices of oil companies. But if the price of gasoline is any criterion of these practices — we agree with Governor Connally that it is — then oilmen are doing a pretty good job.

Compared to most other of our everyday purchases, a gallon of gasoline is really quite a bargain.

BARGAINS BY THE GALLON

Americans would be paying $2.2 billion more per year for gasoline, if motor fuel had risen along with the Consumer Price Index during the past 10 years. That remainder comes from Governor John Connally of Texas, who is this year's chairman of the 33-state Interstate Oil Compact Commission.

In a speech at the Commission's recent mid-year meeting, he pointed out that the average price of gasoline has actually declined in the past decade, while the cost of living has continued to rise. Between 1955 and 1964, the Consumer Price Index rose 16 percent, while the price of gasoline — excluding taxes — dropped 7 percent.

Many complex factors affect the price of gasoline — competition being one of the foremost. But Governor Connally made the valid point that the state-regulated system of oil and gas conservation deserves at least part of the credit for today's reasonable petroleum prices. Conservation practices developed by the petroleum industry and supervised by state regulatory agencies have

$8 million. Valuation of the rest of the county is about $35 million.

Directors of the Gainesville hospital authority said they saw no need of a tax, so they had no reason to go along with the Muenster suggestion. Muenster directors were on their own, and aware that their proposition would have rough going because of it. Nevertheless, they decided that the district was their only solution and asked the state legislature for a law permitting establishment of the district in the originally proposed area. Before that law was passed the Myra and Era portions were eliminated. A development in recent weeks indicates that the request for cooperative effort in forming two hospital districts in the county had a certain merit after all. The Gainesville hospital has admitted to financial trouble and asks for county help in the form of a fund to pay the accounts of indigents. The amount is $36,000 a year, which, if allowed, will require an assessment of almost 10 cents per $100 on all county valuation outside the proposed Muenster hospital district.

Possibility of that special tax assessment presents a special factor for consideration of people in the proposed Muenster Hospital District. If the coming election favors our district we will not have to pay to the special county assessment. We will become responsible for indigents of our own area and our local tax will include care for them. But we cannot be charged for care of indigents outside our area. If, however, our district is not approved we may be required to share the care of county indigents while facing the added problem of keeping our own hospital.
