VOLUME VIII

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1944

NUMBER 50

Anyone who goes in for antiquities and ancient documents could have a wonderful time looking over some of the papers excavated from a basement junk heap here a few days ago. Dozens of them deal with the early history of this post. Quite a few others, for reasons that defy explanation, concern army activities on other posts as much as fifty years before Fort Sill was established.

An especially interesting one was issued by the war department in the early days of the post. Carried by every means of transportation then known to the U. S. mails, it was duly signed by every responsible person along the route including steamboat captain, train conductor and pony expressmen, the signatures being a motley collection of illegible scrawls and X marks. And the text of the document: "Henceforth it will be considered a court martial offense for soldiers to shoot Indians or buffalo from the windows of their barracks." By inference one would suspect that indoor sports in our early military installations were quite exciting.

Another document, a record of Second Regiment activities for the year 1822, is a work of art. An exhibit of penmanship such as is seldom seen nowadays. Every letter and every figure is precisely formed, lines are perfectly straight and evenly spaced in spite of unruled pages, and the overall appearance is one of flawless uniformity and neatness. It's every bit as good as anything shown in the handwriting specimen booklets used in schools.

The perfection seems more amazing when a person considers the rough finish of the paper and the very fine pen point used—most likely a quill. Today it would be hard to find one person out of a hundred who could complete his own name under such handicaps without poking through the paper a half dozen times.

Doubtless that kind of writing is the work of professional scribes. There is little reason to think such skill was a common attainment of the time.

Many of us in recent years have had occasion to note that penmanship has been slipping. People depend so much on typewriters they can hardly write a readable sentence when they have to. Some can't even write their names properly. That's why it has become customary on business and official letters to transcribe an identification under each signature thus putting the shots almost on the level with illiterates. One signs with an unrecognizable scrawl, the other with an illegible scribble which can be read. The principal difference is that the illiterate is usually exposed by the words "his mark."

One of the greatest hoaxes ever perpetrated on the American public is the so-called dissolution of the Communist party. As events are unfolding it becomes more and more apparent that there was no dissolution after all. The same old schemers are back at the same old game of seeking personal power through intrigue, and advancing the same old communist theories. The only difference is that, convinced they could not get to first base under their own repulsive colors, they are using an established party with a respectable name to promote their plans.

What makes the situation worse is the fact that the old established party seems to approve of the new partnership. Top men in the two groups are too intimate. And the old line Reds are altogether to smug when reminded of the established party's seeming repudiation of their support.

When the signs are as plain as that it doesn't take a genius to figure out what's what. Leaders of the CIO Political Action Committee, all former Reds and fellow travelers, know that their best bet is to string along with the Democrats.

Let's make no mistake about the designs of these schemers. For them to change their political philosophy overnight is about as likely as a snake to change its nature. They are still trying to bore from within and eventually replace our American system with their totalitarian monstrosity. At best they are seeking enough influence to have more of their radical theories adopted.

Writing in the current Readers Digest, the president of the Watch Workers Union urges Labor to clean out its abuses so that the unions will have an opportunity to carry out the good work they were originally intended to do.

The same advice could apply to the Democratic party. The reddish tint it is acquiring is a serious infection which, if permitted to go unchecked, will develop into a stinking pollution repulsive to every real American. A recommendation.

War Fund Total Is Still Short; Progress Slow

The War Chest drive which local solicitors hoped would close this Saturday will go into its fourth week Monday morning still facing a serious shortage, unless something is done to swell the fund this weekend.

Campaign officials point out that due to man power shortage many known givers have not been contacted and although the returns of the campaign have been consistent they have been slow, and to an extent, low.

"We know from our own files that many people who have always given to the War Fund, have not been contacted this year," Chairman Weinzapfel said. "However, it would be appreciated if those persons would drop by the Bank and leave their contribution. For the convenience of those who do not have the time to stop at the Bank, it is suggested that their checks be mailed in, either to the Bank, or to the solicitor assigned to the district in which they live.

The time is fast running out and the local purse is still far from the goal.

Muenster contributions to date, totaling around $600, are as follows:

- $25.00 J.M. Weinzapfel, R.R. Endres, Doctor T.S. Myrick.
 - $15.00 G. H. Hellman, FMA Cheese Plant.

CPL. BILL EBERHART WRITES ABOUT THE HOLLAND INVASION

Cpl. Bill Eberhart, member of the Paratroops has written an interesting letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Eberhart, it follows:

Somewhere in Holland October 1, 1944

Dear Mother and Dad,

I guess it's about time I drop you a few lines to let you know I am still OK. I have letters from both of you since I am here, the one from Dad coming last night.

This was quite a jump here in Holland. We made a daylight jump in the big middle of things and I didn't think it was so bad although I was sweating it out before we got into the planes to fly over there. The pilots told us they didn't think we would run into much heavy ack-ack on the way over and that relieved the strain a lot. It turned out that they were almost right.

Forty-five minutes before we jumped one of the planes in front of us was hit and the men bailed out. I'll never forget the feeling I had when I saw those burning equipment bundles come floating down. A split second later I saw the men who were lucky enough to get out. That's when I figured we were in for a rough ride the rest of the trip. We stood up and hooked up, just in case. We didn't draw much more ack-ack but by the time the red light came on as a signal to get ready to jump, I was more than ready to go. In less time than it takes to tell about it we got the green light and the jumpmaster bailed out followed by the rest of us. The thing I had sweated out most was just about over with and I began to feel better but was a little worried about what we would run upon hitting the ground. I landed in a farmer's cabbage patch and rolled up half an acre of the cabbage. The first thing I had to do was get out of my chute harness and quick. A good sharp knife did the trick and I got up and looked for an equipment bundle. I got to it without much trouble and opened it to take out what I could carry and left the rest for someone else. I would have given most anything for a good camera so I could have taken pictures of the boys jumping out. The sky was literally colored with camouflage and red, green, yellow and blue chutes. It's a wonderful sight to see and the people there must have thought it was something. All these men dropping out of the sky and in less than five minutes the place was alive with soldiers. The people didn't know exactly what was taking place. Most of them stayed in their homes and looked at us from behind curtains. Once in a while a brave one would stick

Funeral Rites Held Saturday For Mrs. Schenk

Pioneer Of Community Succumbs To Heart Attack Early Thursday

Funeral services were held Saturday morning at 9:30 at Sacred Heart church for Mrs. F.J. Schenk 58, who died suddenly of a heart attack the preceding Thursday morning. Pastor Father Thomas was celebrant at the high mass of requiem, delivered a beautiful short address and officiated at the burial rites in Sacred Heart cemetery.

Palbearers were J.M. Weinzapfel, Herbert Meurer, F.A. Kaiser, Ted Gremmlinger, H.H. Kathman and A.J. Endres.

Mrs. Nick Miller was in charge of funeral arrangements and the body lay in state at the home of Mrs. J.W. Meurer where the Tertiary was recited Friday evening.

The deceased was one of the early pioneer citizens of this community. She had resided here since she was three years old. Born in Saint Louis, Mo., a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Casper Dolle, on November 1, 1886, she came to the then new colony of Muenster in 1889. She was reared here, attended Sacred Heart school and married Mr. Schenk on May 24, 1905. Since that time they made their home on Main street in living quarters back of the City Drug store, of which Mr. Schenk is proprietor since 1905. They had one daughter who died in infancy.

Survivors in addition to the husband are two sisters, Mmes. Dene Koll and Dan Hays of Spokane, Wash., and four brothers, Pete, Fred and Ben Dolle of Chicago, Ill., and Casper Dolle of Michigan.

While Mrs. Schenk was afflicted with a heart ailment since 1932, her death came as a shock to her family and her many friends. She was always up and about the house and even the night before her death did not mention feeling ill. She had an attack shortly after midnight and another at 6 a.m. after which she passed away quietly 40 minutes later.

Among out of town relatives at the funeral were Mrs. Katie Martini, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Simons and daughter, Miss Theresa Martini, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Martini, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Martini and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martini all of Wichita Falls; Mrs. Lizzie Burgenfield, Mrs. Katie Lutz and son, Edward, and Paul Schenk all of Scotland.

CHANGE IN SERVICE FOR NEXT SUNDAY

A change in the time for the third mass here next Sunday was announced last Sunday by the pastors.

The first two masses will be said at 7 and 9, both being low masses. The usual 11 o'clock service will begin at 10:30 and will be a solemn high mass with Pastor Father Thomas officiating in the presence of His Excellency Bishop Augustine Dangelmayr, who will confer the sacrament of confirmation on a class of 70 candidates after the mass.

Rev. Richard EVELD Named Chaplain Of Refugio Hospital

—Rev. Richard EVELD, O.S.B., assistant pastor here for the past four years, has been appointed chaplain of Hurd Hospital in Refugio, Texas.

Rev. John Walbe Is Assistant Pastor Of Muenster Parish

Father John Walbe, O.S.B., of Subiaco Abbey, Ark., is here to take up duties as assistant pastor of Sacred Heart parish, replacing Father Richard EVELD who has been appointed chaplain of Hurd Hospital at Refugio, Texas.

"I see I am stepping into quite a job, but I hope to make the kind of a record my predecessors have made. They accomplished a great deal, and I hope to do as well, provided I can keep up the pace," he said.

Father John is 28 years old, a native of Morrisons Bluff, Ark., and the son of Mrs. Katie Walbe, and the late John Walbe, of Charleston, Ark. He was ordained to the priesthood last May in Little Rock, Ark. Also ordained at the same time was his younger brother, Father Alois, who is on the staff at Subiaco.

Father John's first visit to Muenster was made three weeks ago when he came here from Fort Worth to assist Father Thomas with Sunday services while Father Richard was helping out at Gainesville. The following Sunday he assisted here again and delivered the first sermon of his priesthood during the 11 o'clock mass.

Mrs. Carl Luke and daughter, Miss Evelyn, of Dawn, Texas, visited relatives here last Thursday evening. They were enroute to Austin where Miss Evelyn entered Texas University. On their way they also stopped at Fort Worth for a visit with their daughter and sister, Miss Mildred, who is a student at O.L.V. college.

Transfer Became Effective Nov. 1

Farewell Gathering And Gifts Are Tribute To His Fine Record As Assistant Pastor Here

All of Muenster and a large number of friends in other parts of the county were saddened last Sunday by the announcement that Father Richard EVELD, O.S.B., was transferred away from Muenster, the change becoming effective November 1st.

Father Richard has been named chaplain for the new hospital recently completed at Refugio, Texas, and will be replaced here by Father John Walbe, O.S.B., as the new assistant pastor.

During his four years as assistant pastor here, first to Father Frowin, and then to Father Thomas, Father Richard distinguished himself not only as a priest, but also as a companion and a boosting citizen. He was accepted as an intimate friend and as a most active worker for parish and community welfare.

Father Richard came to Muenster on August 20, 1940, after having spent 5 years on the teaching staff of Subiaco and Corpus Christi colleges. Prior to that time he was for 12 years pastor at Scranton, Ark., following his ordination on May 28, 1922.

Almost immediately after his arrival Father Richard became spiritual director of the Holy Name Society and the Young Ladies Society. He guided both organizations through four years of worthwhile activity, and was instrumental in organizing study and discussion club groups throughout the parish while he was here.

Organized Youth Band

Father Richard is a talented musician and in January 1941 organized the Muenster Youth Band composed of young men and women of the parish, the first of its kind ever to be arranged here. The band has drawn much favorable comment, not only locally but also from the county and more distant places where it appeared in concerts.

He was director of the local dramatic society, presenting a number of plays each year for the benefit of the new church fund. He was director of the local altar boys' society, and an intensive worker at parish picnics and entertainments and taught religion at the parochial school during the school term.

During the summer months of 1942, following Pastor Father Frowin's illness until the time of Father Thomas' arrival in Muenster, Sept. 11th, Father Richard served as pastor of Sacred Heart parish.

Evidence of his popularity is seen in a number of farewell parties which honored him prior to his departure Wednesday. As farewell gifts he received a wrist watch from the Band members and two pieces of luggage from the youth societies.

At his suggestion, he did not deliver a farewell address to the congregation. "It is hard to leave associations and duties that have been dear to me, even though my transfer comes as an advancement. I simply don't want to say goodbye, because good-byes are always sad," he stated.

SHORT LETTER FROM REV. FATHER FROWIN

A short letter this week from Father Frowin, former pastor, advises that in spite of the best of care given him he shows no improvement—gradually going down. Lately he has been on the bed most of the time, sitting up only for meals, and occasionally at brief intervals.

He expressed his continued interest in and his love for the Muenster parishioners and asked that his best regards be extended to all. He concluded with "Since I can do nothing else, I pray for my friends, do the same for me, please."

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fleitman are the parents of a daughter, Anna Marie, born October 26 at Gainesville sanitarium. The baby was baptised the following day by Father Brady assisted by Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Fleitman as sponsors.

"Did you say you knew the way?"

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH. - I receive letters every day from women who are bewildered to know just how to be sure of selecting "good quality" when choosing upholstered furniture — or much depends on "what's inside" that cannot be seen. As a guide to my readers I would suggest four simple rules.

One. Look long and carefully for the style and design that really fit in with the other things in your room, giving attention to size and scale best suited for members of your family, who will most frequently use the chair or sofa you are buying.

Two. Choose the fabric just as thoughtfully as you would for a suit or coat, considering color, pattern, and material, considering, too, problems of wear and keeping clean. And look carefully to those details of tailoring and visible workmanship. They are "tip offs" of inside quality.

Three. Just as in anything else, don't expect something for nothing. Beware of bargain prices. Rely on a store with a reputation for selling nice things.

Four. Above all else, look for the label or trade mark of a reliable maker. Among all furniture, upholstered pieces are among the most difficult for even an expert to tell good quality from poor. So much depends on the inside, unseen construction. And yet it is almost entirely on "what's inside" that your comfort, your wearability, satisfaction, and value depend. It is best to place your confidence in an expert, just as you must do when buying a diamond. Such experts are makers who back their reputation by trade marking their product.

FARM NEWS

from FOOD FOR FREEDOM
YOUR COUNTY AGENT FOR TEXAS EXTENSION SERVICE

Upper Elm-Red Conservation Group Active

Ben Sicking and Frank Hacker of the Southwest Muenster conservation group recently completed construction work of two stock ponds on their farms, and this week terraces are being constructed on the Al Vogel farm.

Preliminary work is being done this week toward the making of plans on the farms of Henry Pels, F.J. Yosten, W.H. Endres and Danglemyer brothers in the county line conservation group located west of Muenster. Plans are being formed for terrace construction in other parts of the district. Labor and machinery continue scarce at present but plenty of farm tractors and plows will be available for such work after the late feed crops are harvested and grain is planted.

It is pointed out that now is the time to make arrangements for sweet clover seed to be planted early next spring to be used as a soil building crop or hay and pasture.

For Variety's Sake

Serving beans or peas in white sauce is an excellent way to make a few look like more. For variety's sake, sometime add finely-grated cheese and use one-fourth teaspoon of dry mustard to bring out the cheese flavor.

City Visitor: "Why are you running that roller over your field?"
Farmer: "I'm going to raise mashed potatoes this year."

INFORMATION ON GRAIN STORAGE IS AVAILABLE

Loss of grain sorghums and of their food value during storage on the farm can be avoided, and farmers can get the "know-how" from county agricultural agent, Albert Briant.

Damage of threshed or combined grain sorghums in storage usually is due either to high moisture content resulting in heat or mold damage or to insects which infest the grain in storage. Albert Briant, County Agent, points out that tight bins provide the best kind of storage when the moisture content is 12 per cent or less. Ventilated bins often are used for conditioning grain which contains slightly more moisture than that. These, however are not recommended for storing grain longer than a few months, unless they can be tightly closed for fumigation after the grain is dry.

Only in dry, sunny climates should combined grain be dried in piles on dry ground.

When grain sorghum for feed is too damp to store in bins, or the moisture content is above 21 per cent, it can be made into silage successfully, according to findings of the Beeville substation of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Care must be taken to exclude air pockets at the corners or on top when the silo is filled.

Farmers are advised that damage is likely to occur to stored grain next spring if the kernels contain more than 12 per cent moisture when stored. Experiment Station studies in Kansas have shown standing combine grain should be permitted to stand at least two weeks after a hard killing frost before being combined. Shocked grain sorghums should be well cured and dry before threshing.

REPORTS FROM RUSSIA ASSERT THAT THE TIME NEEDED FOR ADAPTATION OF EYES OF NIGHT FLIERS TO DIM LIGHT HAS BEEN REDUCED TO FIVE OR SIX MINUTES BY NEW METHODS. ORDINARILY IT TAKES ABOUT HALF AN HOUR TO CONDITION AN AVIATOR'S EYES FOR NIGHT FLYING.

AUTO DRIVERS IN MIDDLE AGE CANNOT SEE AS WELL UNDER NIGHT LIGHTING AS CAN YOUNGER DRIVERS, SAYS THE BETTER VISION INSTITUTE. BECAUSE THE PUPILS OF THE EYES GROW SMALLER WITH ADVANCING AGE, LESS LIGHT IS ADMITTED.

To Dry Those Tears

Peel onions under running cold water and you won't shed a tear, say home economists, who also find that rubbing a little salt on the hands will absorb any remaining odor.

Start A Soup Pot

Grandmother "had something" in that big pot she kept simmering on the back of the stove. It was a thrifty way to use otherwise wasted leftovers. But the constant simmering was a bit tough on vitamins. So to improve on her idea a little, keep a big jar in the refrigerator. Pour into it the extra liquid from all canned or fresh cooked vegetables, bits of plain or buttered vegetables. Save marrow bones and meat scraps and simmer with a bay leaf for two or three hours. Then add contents of the "cold storage soup pot", as it's called, and boil for ten minutes. The result — a wonderful soup.

Shapely Shades

Remove cellophane from a lamp shade as soon as it's up to use. Otherwise the heat from the bulb and varying weather conditions will cause the cellophane to shrink bending the frame and wrinkling the silk. To keep shades clean, use "slip covers" which are made for the purpose.

MOOS OF THE MOMENT

BY UNCLE BOB

of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

One of the reasons why I read so many state extension bulletins is because I always find a way to do a job with less effort. If there's any way of making more money with less work, I want to know about it. And I usually find a lot of good suggestions and reminders in the bulletins.

Take the matter of cleaning cows. The extension folks point out that it is well nigh impossible to produce good milk if the cows are dirty at milking time. And then they come up with a labor-saving idea that appeals to me.

They suggest turning barber every so often and giving the cows a "hair-cut" around the flanks and udder. That means a little extra work once in a while, but look at all the hard work it saves. For you know from experience what a lot of elbow grease it takes to brush dirt out of long hair.

Naturally, clipping and brushing should be done far enough ahead of milking time to permit the dust and hair to settle. If you like the suggestion and need a couple of good bulletins on it, write Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., for a copy of Leaflet 186, and the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., for Extension Circular 233.

fat. Averages for cows which freshened at other seasons were: Spring, 7,732 lbs. of milk, 313 lbs. of fat; summer 7,618 lbs. of milk, 306 lbs. of fat; winter 7,990 lbs. of milk, 325 lbs. of fat.

A cow which calves in the fall usually will produce well during the winter. While the tendency is for these cows to drop in production in the spring, at that time spring pastures increase milk flow.

Fall calves seem to get off to a better start in life. They are easier to raise and usually less subject to disease. So if you want to give your calves a good start and take advantage of best production possibilities, it would be a good idea now to locate the best available bull in your neighborhood, with a view to breeding in January or February.

The Extension Service at the University of Minnesota published a leaflet recently on "Faster Milking," which explains in pictures and brief discussions, how and why you should get into this all-important method. I suggest you write for a copy of Extension Folder 119.

There isn't much point in putting out hard-earned cash for a fine piece of machinery if you don't get the full benefit from it. Milking machines are great labor savers and are the most sanitary way to produce milk, but you can make trouble for yourself by neglecting them.

A milking machine will pay dividends on your investment if you give it thorough cleaning. If you don't, it may result in some of your milk being rejected. Milk which is allowed to cling to parts of the machine provides a breeding place for bacteria, and you know what that means.

Idaho University offers a good booklet on the proper cleaning of milking machines. It is War Circular No. 1, which you can get from the Extension Service, at Moscow, Idaho. Another source of information on the same subject is the book which came with the machine.

To get rid of the milk which clings to surfaces in the machine after each milking, thorough rinsing, brushing and sterilizing is needed for all the parts. Teat cups require special care, these booklets point out. Once you set up a regular habit of following through on the advice Idaho gives you in its booklet, I know you'll find the job has become easier.

*NOTE: There usually is a 5c charge for pamphlets mailed to non-residents of a state, but possibly your own state has a free pamphlet on the same subject. Ask your county agent.

Francis Dieter, MM3C, member of the Seabees, arrived Monday night to spend a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Val Dieter. He has another overseas assignment coming up following his visit here. He returned to the states during the past August after serving in the S.W. Pacific for 9 months. Since that time he was stationed at Norfolk, Va.

A recent letter from Lambert Bezner, SK1C, with the Seabees, advises his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Bezner, that he is leaving Hawaii for activity "a bit further on". The Bezners' other son, Cpl. Clarence Metzler, CM1C, who spent 23 months in the Southwest Pacific with the Seabees, arrived here last week for a 30 day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Metzler, after which he will report to Camp Parks, Calif., for re-assignment. He was on duty in Tulagi, the Solomons and Guadalcanal, and wears the Asiatic-Pacific campaign bar with two stars denoting two major battle engagements. He has been in the service since Aug. 1942. TWO AMENDMENTS ARE ON BALLOT FOR VOTE IN NOV. 7 ELECTION

Chillicothe, Texas, Nov. 1. — The Presidential election has overshadowed the two amendments to the State Constitution which will be on the ballot Nov. 7, said State Senator George Moffett today.

"These amendments deserve careful consideration. One would permit Commissioners Courts to re-allocate but not increase county property tax rates — after the people at a county wide election approve such re-allocation. For instance if the Court desired to increase the County general fund tax rate, at the same time a decrease must be made in the jury fund rate, or the county public building fund rate or some other rate. Under the terms of the proposed amendment this re-allocation would continue for only six years, unless further approved by another vote of the people.

The second constitutional amendment would authorize cities, that so desire, to set up retirement systems for their employees, if the people approve same at a city wide election."

Senator Moffett, who has been chairman of the committee on constitutional amendments in both branches of the Legislature, helped write one of the above amendments, and endorses both of them.

PLANE TALK

BY Rowland Burnston

There can be no doubt that the major portion of people now connected directly or indirectly with the aviation industry and the Air Forces will retain an exceedingly active interest in aviation.

Predictions concerning private flying, the types of post war planes, when post war planes will be available, the cost of such planes, and how many people will own their own plane, vary greatly. However, one fact seems to be definitely established, and that is that private flying will increase in popularity and be readily accepted.

One needs to only look at the history of business after the automobile was put on the market. New business immediately grew such as gas stations, garages, parking lots, motels, etc. When planes again become available to private fliers there will necessarily have to be the accompanying facilities. It is easy to imagine that one of the new developments will be overnight accommodations, similar to those now offered to motorists at a motel.

Places offering overnight accommodations will be best located near landing facilities, or possibly may afford a landing strip and recreation center of their own. In addition to sleeping quarters, restaurants, etc., it would be a part of the plan to have personnel and equipment available so that the plane could be serviced and the pilot and his passengers could continue their air trip after they were refreshed.

his head out of the door, or walk to the road and pass out apples. One guy gave us a whole basket of them.

We expected Jerry to open up on us with everything he had, but for some reason he didn't. He had turned out to be a perfect day-light jump. I had a good meal of fried chicken, milk and potatoes. This part of it wasn't on schedule nor was it any army ration. One of the families invited us in for supper and after we had passed out a few American cigarettes to the men, the gum and candy to the women and children, we were just like one big family. They went out of their way to be nice to us. Since then I've had several nice meals like that, and a few glasses of Dutch beer, which isn't at all bad.

The thing that seems funny is the wooden shoes people wear. It beats anything I ever saw. And the old Dutch windmills are just like a picture. This is really a nice country. People are clean and have nice homes. All this happened the first day or two in a place that later on was to turn into a hornets nest. The Germans didn't seem to like the idea of us being there, and tried every trick in the book to eliminate us later on.

I've seen some pretty rough fighting with this outfit but this was the hottest yet. I didn't think it was possible for a bunch of men to cross a river in a row boat with those on the other side shooting, and live to tell about it. I guess old Lady Luck was with me on this one, or else someone at home must have been praying for me. There's a lot more I would like to tell you but it must wait for a later date. This is about all I have time for tonight. Take it easy and don't forget to write. Tell all the folks hello. Lots of luck and keep the home fires burning.

Your loving son,
Bill

ded cure is somewhat similar to that for typhus — thorough delousing to get rid of the Reds and a good cleanup to get rid of the mess they have caused.

Whether the Democratic party is actually fostering radical movement or merely accepting its help as an election expedient is an open question, but in either case the course is a dangerous one. Red contamination is spreading, approaching the incurable stage.

At the present stage the party can serve our cause by kicking communism out of its ranks. If that fails the public will have to kick the party out of its ranks.

And if that fails we can begin looking forward to the same conditions that led up to Europe's present troubles.
