MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1944

NUMBER 49

According to Admiral Halsey's report of the fracas at Formosa, the Jap fleet came, it saw, and skidded. But the ill-fated men of Noyen had a glorious story to tell as they returned from their mission with colors flying and bands blaring. It was the "turning of the tide" in the Pacific war, "another Pearl Harbor."

After that it must have been terribly humiliating to announce only two days later that American forces had landed in the Philippines. Apparently the tide hadn't changed. Maybe the allied progress in the Pacific hadn't been set back "at least two months." All of which shows there's no percentage in lying. Too frequently the liar makes a fool out of himself.

It would be interesting to know how the thinking people of Japan react to all the good news they get through their official agencies. Such as the fifteenth report that Halsey's fleet had been annihilated, and the amazing phenomenon of Japanese "victories" each of which seems to come near home than the one before. Over here we wouldn't expect a ten year old to accept such yarns without suspecting that something is wrong.

Obviously the Nips have the same home front strategy the Germans used to employ. Regardless of reverses, keep the good news coming to keep up the morale. The only trouble is that they are so crude in their methods. Even in their most exaggerated reports the Germans did not pull boners like that.

For that matter it is doubtful whether any other nation in the world can match Germany in the effectiveness of its propaganda. There has to be a powerful appeal to keep a nation in the fight after it has seen its holdings shrink the way Germany has. People at home can see the trend as plain as day but still they hang on either hoping for the promised miracle or resisting to the end the doom they are told to expect in defeat.

That factor is one too many of us had not considered before. We had the idea that Hitler and company would noisily white flag even before they were pushed back to their own borders. Now we wonder how much punishment they will take.

That we're headed down the home stretch to victory is pretty generally taken for granted nowadays. So much so that the army, especially at this time, is hitting a new high in discharges, most of which are designated "for the convenience of the service." In plain words, the army is weeding out its unqualified and misfit personnel — plus quite a few undesirables.

The boys are doing plenty of bee-line about the last group too. Homebodies, gold bricks and chronic trouble makers are getting a better break than the best soldiers. From the soldier's angle it's a raw deal. The least deserving are the first to return to their homes and civilian opportunities. But from the army's angle it makes good sense. Its most deserving men are its key men. To release them would handicap the organization.

The situation is unfortunate, but only one of the many this war has brought about. It isn't fair either that the flower of the world's youth must die in a fight started by a comparative few in the older age bracket. Nor that battle scarred veterans after all their hardships have less to show than people who enjoyed a comfortable, prosperous civilian life. However, there is one redeeming factor as regards the undesirables getting out of the army. They're going to be just as undesirable as civilians. After the war is over they won't be able to compete long with the men who are good enough for the army to keep.

They say the German army has us bested in its method of dealing with cranks and loafers — placing them in a hard labor battalion under the direction of tough non-coms who don't mind working 'em down to a frazzle. The report is that it discourages goofing off. Doubtless we'd be using the same system if we had the same system of philosophy. Our humanitarian standards won't permit us to take a chance of inflicting rough treatment on men who neither deserve it nor are able to endure it. So we adopt a policy suitable to those who are honestly sick and gold bricks yet the benefit of a doubt. The Nazi policy is to break the spirit of the gold brick and a sick man is just out of luck. By their ideals nothing much is lost if a weakling fails to survive the strain.

Fort Sill looks like an army camp again. The boys are back in woolen uniforms. (Perhaps it's a bit disloyal of me to mention (Continued on Page 4)

Thanksgiving Turkey Season Opens Nov. 5

To Buy And Ship Live Birds; Does Not Include Dressing And Packing

There will be no dressing and packing program at the FMA for the annual Thanksgiving turkey season this year. It has been definitely decided. The only activity this season will be the buying of birds and their shipment, alive, to other dressing and packing plants. This will get underway November 5.

Roy Callahan, representative of Wilson and Co. from Oklahoma City and Plant Manager Rudy Hellman, made a canvass of this and surrounding communities last week, "sized up the whole situation" and came to the conclusion that the customary program is out of the question this year. There are several factors responsible, chiefly the fewer number of birds and the current labor shortage.

While a few persons have given to the cause most generously the chairman points out that most donations thus far are small, and far below the suggested minimum — two days' wages, the amount requested from every wage earner. Unless forthcoming contributions are more liberal Muenster will be short of its goal at the end of the drive.

Most field solicitors are active, but many sections of the country and even some city districts have not been visited. Unsolicited business houses and others not yet called upon are asked to make their donation promptly, either by giving it to their designated collector, or by leaving it at the bank.

In the county the figures are climbing to the half-way mark also, with around $13,000 of the $27,682 quota accounted for.

Camp Howze To Be Used As Infantry Replacement Center

Brig. Gen. Paul C. Paschal arrived last week at Camp Howze to assume command of an advanced infantry replacement training center to be established at that camp.

No definite starting date has been announced but the daily arrival of officer staff members is indicative of an early beginning of the training cycles to be held there. The trainees, comprised of personnel from de-activated units, will undergo a training cycle of unannounced duration but contingent upon overseas demand for replacements.

The AIRTC will occupy the grounds and quarters formerly used by the 84th and 103d infantry divisions. At the start of World War II, General Paschal was the commanding officer of the 31st Infantry Regiment of the 79th Division, now fighting in France. He served in the North African Campaign as a member of the 34th Division, later being assigned as assistant division commander of the 45th Division in the Sicilian Campaign and remained with that unit throughout the fighting for Salerno, Cassino and Rome.

After the Italian campaign, the 45th Division became a unit of the 7th Army under the command of Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, and participated in the invasion of Southern France.

Pfc. Arnold Swirczynski, who has been stationed at Fort Bliss, was last week transferred to Camp Maxey and continues training with an anti-aircraft battalion.

War Chest Fund At Half Way Mark

Chairman Has Hopes Of Finishing Campaign By End Of Next Week

Muenster's War Chest fund moved slowly toward the half-way mark this week. While the drive closes officially on Nov. 11, Chairman J.M. Weinzapfel hopes to finish up the local purse by next weekend.

"Everybody is busy," the chairman said, "and it is difficult to work on the chest, but the need is urgent and I am confident that the people of Muenster will subscribe their quota as they have in the past. If it is at all possible, we'd like to finish the campaign by the end of next week."

Next week The Enterprise will begin listing donors and amounts contributed. While a few persons have given to the cause most generously the chairman points out that most donations thus far are small, and far below the suggested minimum — two days' wages, the amount requested from every wage earner. Unless forthcoming contributions are more liberal Muenster will be short of its goal at the end of the drive.

Most field solicitors are active, but many sections of the country and even some city districts have not been visited. Unsolicited business houses and others not yet called upon are asked to make their donation promptly, either by giving it to their designated collector, or by leaving it at the bank.

In the county the figures are climbing to the half-way mark also, with around $13,000 of the $27,682 quota accounted for.

ADULT SOCIETIES TO HAVE BOX SUPPER ON OCTOBER 30TH

Members of the local adult parish societies, the Saint Anne's and the Saint Joseph's, will have a joint social in the form of a box supper at the parish hall on the evening of October 30, and the entertainment committee has completed plans for an enjoyable evening for all attending.

Admission is to be one box, which will admit either a lady or a couple; without a box the admission charge will be 25 cents per person.

It was explained that members of either society, whose husbands or wives do not belong to the other groups, are invited to bring them to the party. The boxes will be auctioned to the highest bidder and after lunch, music and other entertainment will be provided.

HALLOWEEN PARTY FOR YOUTH GROUPS THIS FRIDAY NITE

Meeting last week in joint session, members of the Young Ladies' Sodality and Holy Name Society completed plans for a Halloween party to be held this Friday evening in the parish hall.

It will be a costume affair and there will be no admission unless the guest is at least masked, it was stated. There will be no admission charge, refreshments will be served and prizes will be awarded to the best dressed, the tackiest dressed and the silliest costumed person in attendance.

For the meeting Miss Mildred Walterscheid, chairman of the social life committee of the group, presided at chairman, and Pastor Father Thomas led the opening prayer and gave a short address. Father Richard, spiritual director, talked to the assemblage, complimenting the societies on their good attendance at regular monthly communion, urging the continuation of this practice, and the carrying out faithfully of several spiritual activities the groups have planned for the future.

Writes From India
S. Sgt. Ferd Yosten, writing from Assam, India, to homefolks has the following to say: Yesterday, Oct. 4, is a day that'll go down in history because we had mail call for the first time in a long time and I got over 100 letters, almost 6 months of newspapers and several packages. I spent until midnight reading letters and floating over pictures 'till I had a bump in my throat. Cousin Larry Yosten came to see me again and we really thrashed things out. Tell everybody I'll write, but that it will take quite sometime to get around. I'm saving all the letters to re-read 'em the days when we won't get mail."

2 Local Youngsters Fracture Legs In Weekend Accidents

Clyde Fisher Breaks Both Legs; Mary F. Bernauer, Right Ankle

Two Muenster children, Clyde Fisher and Mary Faith Bernauer, suffered broken legs in accidents during the weekend. Clyde, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fisher, sustained compound fractures of both legs at the ankle when he fell from a pecan tree Sunday afternoon, and is confined to the Gainesville sanitarium. Mary Faith, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Bernauer, broke her right leg at the ankle Saturday evening when she fell while playing with a group of friends, and is resting as well as can be expected at the home of her parents.

The little girl was taken to Dallas Monday for treatment and examination by a bone specialist and the fractured limb was placed in a cast to the knee. She was moved home Tuesday. Her mother took her to the hospital in company of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Hellman, and they returned when Mr. Bernauer and Mrs. Ben Seyler went for them. First treatment was given at the local clinic, but due to the nature of the fracture, it was deemed advisable to consult a bone specialist.

Clyde, who was gathering pecans with members of his family at the ranch near Myra, Sunday afternoon, fell from an estimated height of 30 feet when the limb he was on gave away. He was immediately taken to Gainesville and his condition was serious for several days. He is obliged to have heavy weights suspended from the broken limbs for a period of about three to four weeks, before the legs can be placed in casts and he can be moved home. His mother is attending his bedside and other members of the family have visited him daily.

Funeral Services Set For Saturday Morning 9 O'clock

Mrs. Theresa Schenk, 58, wife of F.J. Schenk, Muenster druggist, died at her home at 6:40 a.m. Thursday. A heart attack was the cause of her death.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from Sacred Heart church and burial will be in the local cemetery.

Mrs. Schenk was one of the early pioneer citizens of this community. Born in Saint Louis, Mo., on Nov. 1, 1886, she came to Muenster with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Casper Dolle, when she was 3 years old. In 1899, the same year the Muenster colony was established, and had resided here since that time. She attended Sacred Heart school and married Mr. Schenk on May 24, 1905. They had one daughter who died in infancy.

Survivors in addition to the husband are two sisters, Mmes. Dene Koll and Dan Hays of Spokane, Wash., and four brothers, Pete, Fred and Ben Dolle of Chicago, Ill., and Casper Dolle of Michigan.

Mrs. Schenk had been afflicted with heart trouble since 1932 when she suffered the first attack. She recovered, and two years later visited her brothers in Washington and Illinois. Four years ago she had a stroke and since that time was more or less confined to her home, but was always able to be up and around and tended to her household duties.

The evening before her death she was in excellent good humor and did not mention feeling ill. At midnight she became ill but apparently recovered and went back to sleep. Shortly after 6 o'clock another attack came on and she passed away quietly 40 minutes later.

Mrs. Schenk possessed an amiable, good natured disposition, was keenly interested in her friends and was held in esteem by all who knew her.

CHANGES IN POSTAL RATES EFFECTIVE NOVEMBER FIRST

Special delivery rates on first and second class mail will be increased Nov. 1, while other postal rates will be substantially decreased on the same date. Postmaster A. J. Endres has announced.

After Nov. 1 special delivery letters will cost 16c. A new 13-cent special delivery stamp may be used, plus a regular three-cent stamp. Parcel post special delivery rates will increase two cents for packages weighing two pounds or less, with a proportionate increase for packages weighing more. Money order, postal insurance, and COD fees will be reduced to the original charge that was made before the fees were hiked about two years ago.

Instead of a charge of 10 cents for money orders up to $2.50 a charge of 6 cents will be made after Nov. 1. Rates on COD packages will be reduced in the same manner. The 24-cent charge on COD packages valued up to $2.50 will be cut to 15 cents.

The present insurance rates on packages valued up to $5 is 5 cents, but after the first of next month the insurance rate will be only 3 cents on $5 packages, Endres said.

HENRY FETTE HAS EYE OPERATION AT DALLAS WEDNESDAY

Henry Fette underwent an operation for the removal of his left eyeball Wednesday by a Dallas specialist and was permitted to return home in the evening. He is resting well and his condition is said to be satisfactory.

The eye was injured in July, 1943, while Mr. Fette was mending the rounds with a threshing machine. A fork handle struck him in the face injuring the eye. Treatments by specialists followed since that time in an effort to save both the eyesight and the eyeball but such attempts were unsuccessful and to assure against infection in the good eye the operation was deemed necessary.

School Daze

MUENSTER PUBLIC SCHOOL.

This last week has been a very busy one for us because in addition to taking our six-weeks tests, we selected a volley ball team and put in several hours of hard practice in preparation for playing the Sacred Heart Team. Joan Roberg was elected captain of the team.

The tests were difficult and offered some surprises. The Ancient History class was surprised when Mrs. Burchfiel picked their tests from questions they had handed in. Next time they will write easier questions.

Alene Moore missed only 2 words out of 235 on a spelling test.

The Freshmen think science is slightly complicated. Their tests didn't go so well.

Mary Jo Williams and Harold Reeves are wondering if they can even add after looking at their Math papers.

Joan Sanher misspelled so that her paper read "a continent is a large baby of land."

Katherine Reeves was overcome when she made 93 on a geometry test.

Patsy Moore has the reputation of being the most studious pupil of the 4th, 5th, and 6th grades. Miss Luke's room has organized a Safety Club. Rumor is that there is more than one motive for it.

Donnie Pendelton went to San Marcos and to Austin over the weekend. He brought a picture of the capitol to show his room.

Cpl. Thomas J. Hoffman, enroute to Fresno, Calif., has spent several days with us this last week and has been giving us some competition in volley ball. We have been very glad to have him and hope he will come back to see us in the near future.

Some of the high school girls have worked hard cleaning up the Home Ec room. It couldn't be because an attractive soldier was helping, could it?

We surely wish we could paint the Blue Bird (the blue bus) red, so Mr. Hoffman could be seen from a greater distance.

The Sophomore biologists are anxious to go on their field trip. What to do with the INSECTS they meet up with seems to bother them. Don't imitate St. John. You might not recognize the species.

We all pity Junior Hammer, a freshman. He has been given an assignment to take a complete inventory of our well-equipped work shop, as one phase of his second six-week shop work.

Report Cards Given Out
 Rev. Father Thomas visited each classroom last Tuesday to distribute the report cards. Some of us were a little disappointed, but we have made the resolution to try harder this six weeks. So if your name is among the list of the disappointed, "Don't cry over spilled milk", but begin now in striving for your place on the honor roll.

Honor Roll
 Five names appear on the honor roll for the first six weeks of school. In order to get your name on this list, it is necessary to have a ninety or above in all grades and a ninety-five in conduct.
 Those on the honor roll with their averages are:
 Jewel Marie Hoffman 97.5
 Theresa Mae Pels 96.3
 Mildred Wiesman 95.9
 Margie Ann Endres 95.5
 La Rue Felderhoff 95.4

Backing Uncle Sam
 Sacred Heart High School students are again "All Out For Victory!" This was evidenced last Wednesday afternoon when the War Bond drive was formally opened. Within twenty-four hours, a $100 maturity value bond was presented to the pastor, Rev. Father Thomas.
 Let's keep up our spirit and back our boys at the front lines. We are also happy to say that the "little but mighty tots" of the grade school are doing their part also. During the past week each grade presented Rev. Father Thomas with a $25 maturity value bond.

From Johann Seyler
 A collection of stones from Colorado has been added to the Science Department's rock museum. The donor is Johann Seyler who is attending Loretto Heights College, Loretto, Colorado. We wish to thank Johann for her gift.

The Sophomore class motored to Gainesville Monday after school to visit Clyde Fisher, confined to the Gainesville Sanitarium as a result of having broken both legs in a fall from a tree last Sunday afternoon. Tuesday was his birthday and the class presented him with a fruit and candy shower. The teachers accompanied the class.

We are praying for a complete and speedy recovery for you, Clyde and hope you will be back with us in school soon.

The Sophomore class has added another member. Mary Nell Hennigan.

Peepin' Through
 In the future, if you do not want your name in this column, watch your step. This past week as we were looking through our telescopes we saw quite a number of interesting things.

It seems this beautiful autumn weather is enticing to peccan pickin'. Four senior boys were privileged to accompany Rt. Rev. Abbot Paul Nahlen O.S.B. for such an occasion Tuesday afternoon. The echo of the fifth one "Wait for me" was evidently not heard, Henry, where were you?

Some of us do not seem to appreciate study periods. Helen seems to be bored—Dorothy plays hands—Thomas Gremminger, for some reason or other, takes the first desk.

Helen Ruth Otto has earned two typing certificates since school opened—a forty and a fifty word.

Billy Joe and Ruben are really in earnest these days. They stayed in one noon and wrote their book reports.

Bernice had a stiff neck when she returned to school last week after a few days absence due to illness.

Girls, there is a volley ball game scheduled for this week, and that means harder practice.

Call Your Boarder Cows. Don't Feed Them This Winter

Any time is a good time to cull unprofitable cows from the herd. Certainly, at this time when dairymen are confronted with such a scarcity of labor, with feed prices high and with a protein concentrate shortage that appears to be more acute than last fall and winter, every cow that is an unprofitable producer should be culled before winter starts.

Many Cooke County dairymen do not have and will not have sufficient roughage to adequately feed all their herd through the winter months. If they follow the all too common practice, they will not feed all the roughage their cows want and need but will limit the amount fed so as to make it last all winter.

In thus shorting the cows on roughage they will find that the cows have shorted them; at the milk pail. In many instances the dairymen can cull out enough poor producers so that his roughage supply will be sufficient to provide the remaining cows all they need and want and by so doing will get as much milk production and certainly more net returns than he will by spreading the roughage thin and milking the producers.

With an average butterfat production of less than one hundred and fifty pounds per cow per year in Texas, it is apparent that we are milking too high a percentage of "boarder" cows. Are any of these "boarder" cows in your herd? If so, cull them now—don't winter them. You will save feed that the efficient and profitable cows will likely need.

Let's get more milk from fewer and better cows—that kind of increased production is profitable as well as patriotic.

COMMAND POST FOR 158,000 horsepower

CONTROL ROOM AT TRINIDAD

IN THE CONTROL ROOM at the Texas Power & Light Company's great Trinidad Generating Station, alert and experienced workers constantly on the job direct the flow of 158,000 horsepower to serve the needs of home, business and industry throughout a wide area of central, north and east Texas. You never see these workers, but their work is evident in the accurate operation of your electric clock... the cheerful lighting of your home... the labor-saving performance of your electric appliances.

Theirs is a constant vigil to assure you that the power produced at Trinidad will be supplied in exact accordance with every demand... whether it be for the needs of a tremendous war industry or for heating the baby's milk.

This is just one example of the human side of rendering electric service to a busy and important area of Texas. Other workers perform similar tasks at the Company's other power plants. Still others must operate the switching stations and sub-stations... must patrol and maintain the thousands of miles of transmission and distribution lines. They are all working in your behalf... producing and delivering your dependable, low-cost TP&L electric service.

LINDSAY SCHOOL TATLER

Wednesday, the G-H Clubs held their regular meetings. Miss Mildred Chapman, the new county agent, met the girls for the first time. It was rather a "get together" meeting. Various types of material used for curtain making were discussed. Mildred Dieter was chosen as Clothing Demonstrator for the coming year by Mary Louise Bezner as Food Demonstrator.

The boys' club was called to order by County Agent Albert Brient. Mr. Brient encouraged the boys to work hard to prepare for the coming spring stock show. Our officers are: Wm. Hermes, president; Leroy Schmitz, vice-president; Billy Metzler, secretary; and Edgar Bengfort, reporter.

Thursday, the S. C. A. Club sponsored a mission tag day. Penalties rolled in by the "beans." Competition was acute especially between the freshmen and the seniors. The latter were victorious, though the freshmen thought they couldn't be beaten. The prize of the day—a cotton stuffed cat—was won by Evelyn Block. The proceeds will be used for mission purposes especially for securing rearies and pamphlets for the men in service.

We wonder why everyone, especially the high school students, looked so disturbed Monday morning. Was it because of the "night before"? Maybe M.L.B. is worried since she can't cook. Mildred Dieter seems to be "down and out." Is it because her friend's place was changed in school? And just why is Rose Fhurmann so quiet? Is she preoccupied with Mr. Exam? He is here.

Tuesday, October 17, was the feast of St. Margaret Mary. The Sodality took the opportunity to have the entire student body present for the enthronement and solemn consecration to the Sacred Heart in St. Peter's church. The ceremony opened with the placing of the Sacred Heart statue on the prepared elevation. Twelve girls, seniors and juniors, recited the twelve promises made to St. Margaret Mary Alacoque. After each recital the altar boys lit a candle before the statue, significant of faith and love. The hymn "All for The O Heart of Jesus" was sung, followed by the recitation of the Act of Consecration and the Apostles' Creed. The Pastor, Rev. Conrad, O.S.B. was present for the ceremony after which he spoke briefly on devotion to the Sacred Heart.

TP & L EMPLOYEES SELL $2,575,939 IN WAR BONDS

U. S. War Bonds and Stamps totalling $2,575,939.00 have been sold by employees of Texas Power Light Company to citizens in the cities and towns served by the company, since John W. Carpenter, president, inaugurated the TP&L Employee Bond and Stamp Selling Program in January, 1942. In addition to these sales, the employees of the company have purchased War Bonds for themselves totalling $623,000.00.

Shortly after the attack on Pearl Harbor, in 1941, Mr. Carpenter suggested that employees of the company devote at least two hours each Monday morning to selling War Bonds and Stamps to the public. This program undertaken purely as an aid to the war program, will continue as long as the activity is needed, Mr. Carpenter said.

Since July, 1942, all Texas Power & Light Company district offices are authorized issuing agents for Series "E" War Bonds.

CLEM REITER'S HONORED ON WEDDING ANNIVERSARY
Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Clem Reiter in observance of their 23rd wedding anniversary, their daughters, Miss Mary Ann Reiter and Mrs. Adolph Knabe, entertained with a reunion party at the Reiter home Sunday afternoon.

Some sixty guests, who presented a shower of gifts to the honor couple, enjoyed informal diversion, and refreshments served by the hostesses.

Among out-of-town guests were Fred Hoedebeck of Denison, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Reiter and family of Krum, Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Reiter and family, Era, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Luttmer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Klement and family and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Devers, Gainesville, and Andrew Arendt, Lindsay.

After farming here for 4 years they moved to Hereford residing there until 1931, when they returned to Muenster. He is employed by Tyler and Simpson Wholesale company at Gainesville. Mrs. Reiter is the former Miss Frances Hoedebeck, and they have six children, 2 daughters and 4 sons.

PIG FEEDING

Hog raisers can conserve available grain feed supplies by using substitute grains and better feeding methods, says Albert Brient, county agent.

For pigs weighing less than seventy five pounds a mixture of various grains, or grains and mill feeds, is better than any one single grain, he says.

For pigs of weights above, seven to five pounds, coarsely ground or cracked wheat is equal to corn, and good ground barley can replace corn. Ground sorghum grains are approximately equal to corn, and ground heavy oats are equal to corn for dry lot feedings where they do not exceed twenty five per cent of the grain mixture.

Brient says that feeding or supplements containing adequate protein, minerals and vitamins will save grain and require less feed to make one hundred pounds of pork. But wherever pigs are not on pasture a liberal amount of good quality, leafy legume hay should be fed.

Good pasture, the specialist explains, will save fifty per cent of the protein supplement for growing and fattening hogs. Furthermore, the largest use possible should be made of the current abundant supply of wheat.

it, but I can't seem to forget that the army's official class A summer uniform used to be considered work clothes by farm hands and oil field workers back home.

The day after our change nature sent us a little sign indicating that the timing was almost perfect. A huge flock of wild geese was headed south. According to all I've heard, and have observed a few times, that meant the season's norther was not far behind.

After four days of waiting I'm convinced that even geese can't be depended upon nowadays. They're as punk as the average newspaper weather prophets. Meanwhile these wool clothes are awful sweaty and scratchy.
