VOLUME XXXI

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS 76252 SEPTEMBER 29, 1967

NUMBER 45

Relative to race riots of the recent past, have you heard anything about punishment of participants? In Detroit the only action, apparently, was a charge against two policemen. Immunity for rioters seems to apply also at Plainfield, N. J., another scene of violent rioting. A white policeman was stomped to death there. During the riot a taxicab operator was stopped while driving two fares into the riot area. He had a .22 caliber revolver in his possession.

This man had a police record — not the usual kind, but a record that merited respect and honor. He had a citation for coming to the rescue of a policeman who had been threatened by a mob.

In court a couple of weeks ago he was fined $200 on the pistol charge because he had no permit to carry the weapon — even though it was registered.

The judge said "people must be discouraged from thinking they can arm themselves during periods of unrest."

How does that strike you? The man was known to be on the side of the law. And under the circumstances he might need the weapon for protection of his person or property. Also, he only had the gun, he did not use it. But rioters know not to use guns have not been fined — or at least the public has not been told.

During the 1964 presidential campaign a political commercial on TV warned that Goldwater, if elected, would wreck the Social Security system. Lots of folks took it seriously, blissfully unaware that they actually had no real social security even then, and that a vote for Goldwater was their best chance to salvage a workable method out of the bankrupt system.

Lately people are wondering more and more about the soundness — and the honesty — of Social Security. A very revealing article on that subject appears in the October issue of Reader's Digest. It deserves the attention of the entire country, especially the Congress.

From its very beginning Social Security has been a hoax. People were told it is an insurance plan, a method by which government collects during your earning years and credits it to your old age benefit accounts or to your survivors.

Perhaps that was the original intent. At least we can assume it was, by giving the benefit of a doubt. But it was not managed that way. Instead of being deposited to the credit of beneficiaries, the money has gone into the federal treasury and dissipated in various spending schemes. Credits of workers who paid are recorded, of course, but there's no money in the fund. Instead there are about $23 billion of IOU's. Knowing that the nation is about $350 billion in debt, a person can easily estimate the real value of those IOU's.

A better name for the system would be Socialistic Insecurity. It is plain socialism and the element of security just is not there. Furthermore it is not insurance, as the administrators still pretend, but a simple tax to take more money from the taxpayer. Use of the word insurance has been a convenient deception because people complained less when told that the money was being put away in their accounts.

But little by little they are wising up. Public howls are beginning and they will get louder as more people realize that their money is used in a hand-to-mouth operation and nothing is left there for them.

Even as an insurance plan — if Social Security were what it pretends to be — it would be a bad deal. Under the present law a person of 30, paying the maximum social security assessment of $514.89 a year, which does not include the $66 assessment for medicare, can qualify for the maximum payment of $159.80 a month when he reaches 65. A similar amount applied to insurance would buy a $27,000 policy which would grow to about $30,500 in 35 years. A person then could take the lump sum or $190.89 a month for the rest of his life.

But the big difference is in the fact that often nobody can qualify as beneficiary of a person's Social Security account. So the entire amount paid in is taken over by Uncle

63 Enrolled In Pre-School

Sixty three children were enrolled Monday for this year's pre school program at Muenster Public School. Eligible to enroll were those who reached their fifth birthday on or before September 1.

Superintendent L. B. Bruns said that the class has been divided into two groups. The group of 32 will attend from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m., and the group of 31 will attend from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Classes begin next Monday, October 2, with Mrs. Hollis Berry teaching both groups.

Home-School Group Elects New Officers And Plans Activity

Sacred Heart Home-School Society, at its first meeting of the new term Tuesday night, elected officers for a new year and planned coming events.

Members favored Larry Yosten for president. Others elected are Alvin Fuhrman, vice president; Mrs. Lee Roy Yosten, secretary; Mrs. Emil Rohmer, treasurer.

Sister Roberta, high school principal, introduced the faculty to the assemblage and mentioned improvements and additions to the High School Library which is one of the finest high school libraries in North Texas.

She also discussed formation of Great Books study clubs. Plans are to organize these groups soon for children grades three through 12, and for adults.

Norbert Koesler, retiring president, presided and members made plans to sponsor the annual Halloween Carnival on Oct. 31. Roommothers will meet to make final arrangements.

Members also agreed to co-sponsor, with Sacred Heart Alumni Association, Muenster's annual observance of Thanksgiving.

Father Alcuin Kubis, school superintendent, addressed the group briefly. He congratulated Coach Tom Williams on his work with the Tigers and their winning two football games. He also thanked officers who headed the organization last year and welcomed new officers. He also encouraged participation in the Great Books classes.

More than 100 parents, Benedictine Sisters, lay teachers, and the three pastors attended the meeting.

After adjournment there was a social hour, refreshments, and dancing to the rhythm of Norbert Koesler, J. D. Caplinger, Henry Yosten, Buddy Yosten and Joe Bayer, local band.

Hornets Will Play Big, Fast, Tough Pleasant Grove

A big job awaits Muenster High's Hornets on their home field at 8 o'clock Friday night. They will take on Pleasant Grove, rated by Coach Glenn Richardson as the hottest outfit on the schedule so far.

The team also called Dallas Christian, is described by Richardson as big, fast and tough. It is undefeated so far and one of its three victims is Valley View, which is rated as a stout contender for the District 7-B title.

Muenster's record is just the opposite, especially after last week's dismal performance in a loss to Lake Dallas.

Coaches Richardson and Hamric have been working the Hornets overtime since then, trying to overcome both offensive and defensive faults. They are pleased with the results in practice and hope to see a big improvement under pressure.

"They'll need it, says Richardson, just to have a slim chance Friday.

Changes of the week include the return of John Monday to the lineup. A rookie quarterback last year, he has been out so far this season with a shoulder fracture. Another change is moving Don Hartman to the backfield. Still another is a new formation which seems to be clicking better than the old one.

Physically all the Hornets are in good condition. Morale too is fine, in spite of setbacks the past two weeks.

Lake Dallas High Blasts Hornets With 14-0 Upset

Disaster crashed down on the Muenster Hornets at Lake Dallas Friday, and they were rudely dumped by a count of 14-0.

It happened in the second half after a scoreless first half in which the Hornets led in yardage and first downs. Then nothing seemed to work. The Falcons were in complete command, offensively and defensively.

The first quarter was a see saw except one sustained drive when the Hornets advanced to a first down on the Falcon 25 and failed to keep going.

Next quarter featured a stout defensive stand by the Hornets. An attempted kick was fouled up, giving the hosts a set up only 12 yards away. But the next four tries produced only 6 yards and the Hornets were out of trouble. The rest of the period was used mostly in exchanging punts.

Conditions reversed during intermission. Starting the third quarter Lake Dallas put on a good drive which reached the 11 before Don Hartman stopped it by recovering a fumble. However Muenster fumbled two plays later, giving the Falcons another chance from the 8 yard line. Power plays did it from there. Lane made the final yard and O'Dell followed over for extra points.

In the fourth quarter Muenster connected on a few passes that reached to the Falcon 24 and then went the other way. A blitz on a pass play threw Bobby Bruns for a 15 yard loss. On fourth down a kick attempt went sour and the Falcons had possession in mid field.

On short gainers Lake Dallas got to the 32, and Lane tore up the middle for the remaining distance.

Student Teacher Is ETSU Ag Major

Gary Woody, an agricultural education major at East Texas State University and a native of Springtown, has joined the teaching staff at Muenster High School for the remainder of the first semester. He is a student teacher assisting Edgar Dyer as vocational ag teacher.

Student teaching is part of the experience required of those who study for future teaching in agriculture. According to Dr. C. A. Hughes, head of the ag department of ETSU, the Muenster school was selected because of the high rating of its ag department.

Building Notes

Newest on the building program is the factory just starting for Vaieron Corporation at the east edge of town on Highway 82. Ground shaping is finished and concrete piers for the foundation were poured Tuesday. It will have 10,366 square feet of floor space, walls of heydite tile and brick and air conditioning. It will be finished about January 1.

At the public school the new building of eight classrooms is in use and another including athletic dressing rooms and an agriculture classroom is nearly finished. Both have heydite tile walls, steel roof and fluorescent lighting. Classrooms also have acoustical ceiling, asphalt tile floors and air conditioning. The athletics end of the combination building has concrete floors and heat only except in the coach's office and public rest rooms. Present indication is that the building can be occupied in a week or two.

A commercial building for Pat Schmitz in downtown Lindsay is almost finished. It's a 30x80 brick structure in three sections — for a liquor store, a barber shop and a beauty shop, the later already in operation.

Muenster Telephone Corporation is building a 14x16 tool and equipment house beside the site on which it intends soon to erect a 250 foot antenna tower for Cable TV. It is located on Lee Haverkamp's place a half mile northeast of town.

Newest of the homes is a house just started for the Bernard Hesses in the north part of town. It will be brick veneered with 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, double garage, central heating and cooling.

Steve Grewing's new house on Elm and Werner Becker Jr.'s southeast of town are almost finished. Both have central heat and cooling, brick veneer and double garage. Grewing has four bedrooms and Becker three.

Misses Dorothy Hartman and Helen Hess have been in their new duplex home for about three weeks. It's brick veneered, centrally heated and cooled. A double garage separates their almost identical apartments.

A king size remodeling job is still going for the Dan Hamrics in the former Casper Haverkamp home. The second floor, with 3 bedrooms and a bath is being completely refinished in panel wall and ceiling tile. The lower floor is also remodeled into one bedroom, a kitchen, a den and 2 baths. It has central heating and cooling, a fireplace and double carport.

Work continues leisurely on the weekend home for Ricardo DeBlanco of Dallas on his farm near Valley Creek. It has eight big rooms with studio, central heating and cooling and double garage.

A remodel job for the Ed Clers includes paneling for several rooms, a heating system and a new roof.

The Norbert Walterscheid's have installed automatic heating and refinished some of their rooms.

A new roof has been installed on the Sacred Heart gym.

Students Holiday Faculty in Class

Students of Sacred Heart School, all grades one through 12, had a full holiday Monday while their teachers were in class. Faculty members attended the annual Diocesan Teachers Institute in Dallas.

Parochial school teachers from throughout the Dallas-Fort Worth Diocese gathered for the event. High school teachers' meetings were held in St. Elizabeth's School, grade school teachers met at Bishop Dunn High School.

Muenster boys and girls who do not belong to Sacred Heart 4-H Clubs are invited to attend a meeting Monday night, October 2, to organize a Community 4-H Club. Time is 7:30 and place is the Public School library.

Parents are invited to attend with their children. Boys and girls from age nine are eligible to join. Programs will be drawn up for both groups and meeting dates set.

Council Votes to Continue 1-Way Traffic on Sixth

The regulation requiring one way traffic on Sixth Street, from Main to Pecan, presents some problems, but apparently fewer than any other arrangement. So, it will be continued.

That was the decision of the City Council last Wednesday night after reports on an experiment with busses at Sacred Heart School.

They were permitted to load facing west so that children could enter from the curb instead of the street. Councilmen agreed that loading was more convenient for the children concerned but children swarming across the street and loading in waiting cars still created a traffic problem. And it was made worse as cars all had to drive one way while busses were leaving in the opposite direction.

Another inducement was traffic control at Sunday church services. The present system is the best the city has had. Councilmen did not favor that system for Sunday and another for the rest of the week.

After considering alternatives they decided that the best all around system is the present system. That is, east-bound traffic only on Sixth from Main to Pecan, every day at all hours.

NEWS OF THE SICK

Clive Gobble continues to improve at Presbyterian Hospital in Dallas where he had surgery last Thursday. But he may not get home as fast as anticipated. He may have to undergo another operation. X-rays and tests will be completed Friday. The first surgery, to repair an artery in his neck was successful. Additional surgery may be needed to repair leg veins. He's in Room 447.

John Wieler is making normal recovery from major surgery performed at Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls. He was transferred to Muenster Hospital Saturday to continue convalescence.

Doffie Trammel of Sivals Bend was back in classes at Gainesville High Wednesday after a mishap Friday sent him first to Gainesville Hospital and then to a Sherman specialist Saturday with a broken shoulder. A fall from his Honda caused the damage. Doffie is 14, the son of Bill Trammel.

Tigers Will Host Coyotes of Anna Saturday Night

The fur is due to fly on Sacred Heart's field Saturday night at 8 o'clock when the Coyotes of Anna do battle with the Tigers of Muenster.

As Coach Tom Williams sizes up the situation, the teams appear to be about evenly matched in size and ability. Records too are equally good. The Coyotes have three wins to date and the Tigers have two. Both will be scrapping to continue a perfect record.

Williams said that his boys are ready physically and mentally. Ben Fleitman is due to be in action after being out with an arm fracture since the first of the season. That puts the roster back at full strength. Spirit of the Tigers is good too. They have a confident feeling that they can keep going.

Discussion Units On Great Books Being Organized

Great Books Discussions, sponsored by Great Books Foundation, a non profit organization, is now being organized in Muenster for the first time.

Registration forms will be distributed in the schools on Monday, Oct. 2, and groups will be organized on as many levels as possible.

The discussions are usually held every three weeks for one and a half hours. The cost of participating is the cost of the books used: $5.00 for the third and fourth grades, $6.00 for grades five through twelve and $8.00 for adults.

Interested persons are invited to join a group by submitting their names to Mrs. B. J. Swirczynski, 759-4116.

During the past summer twenty three Muenster residents completed the Great Books leaders' training course given by Leslie Paul of Atlanta, Ga., for the foundation. They are Mike Endres, Mmes. B. J. Swirczynski, Paul Endres, Arthur Endres, Leon Fleitman, Ernest Jaska, Martin Kralicke, Arnold Rohmer and Ed Schmitt; also Misses Mary Jane Swirczynski, Debbie Fette, Janice Grewing, Kaye Klement, Margaret Kralicke, Linda Rohmer and Barbara Schmitt.

Qualified in Jonesboro, Ark., were Sister Anna, Sister Richard, Sister Maureen and Sister Roberta.

Sister Henrietta, Sister Rose and Sister Christopher, formerly of Sacred Heart faculty, also took the summer course at Jonesboro and are certified as leaders.

Reading and discussion of great literature has proved highly successful in almost every state of the United States and in Canada. It came to Muenster through Mrs. Reuben D. Martinez of Dallas who acquainted Sister Roberta, principal of Sacred Heart School, with its value.

Some groups have participated in Great Books discussion for as many as thirteen consecutive years. These seasoned readers claim that the benefits children and adults derive from it are many and varied. A child who participates will have the unique privilege of obtaining a classical reading background before going on to his high school education. Any interested participant will grow through the in-depth exposure of great ideas explored in the discussions. He will learn to read more accurately, to communicate ideas clearly and intelligently, and to listen to the opinions of others with respect and understanding.

ANOTHER RED "AGREEMENT"

People of the United States have been told that another "agreement" has been reached between the U.S.A. and the Soviet Union. Supposedly, we are to rejoice at another "bridge" between the two countries.

This proposed treaty is on the nonproliferation of nuclear weapons. However, there still is no agreement on inspection. It will be remembered that the previous treaty, which was supposed to bar all except underground nuclear testing, was adopted without any guaranty of inspection. The absence of such a guaranty had prevented the Eisenhower administration from approving such a treaty, but the Kennedy administration accepted it.

We have the same objection to this treaty that we have had to other agreements with the Soviet Union: The Soviets have never kept a treaty unless the masters of the Kremlin felt it was to the advantage of the Communists to do so.

And the absence of any inspection guaranty certainly should give cause to all Americans to question the value of the treaty.

The Chicago Tribune had these comments on nonproliferation:

"Perspective might suggest that the way for the United States to have attained an effective nonproliferation status would have been to have kept our secrets out of the hands of Soviet spies during World War II and thereafter. As it was Klaus Fuchs, Dr. Alan Nunn

May, Bruno Pontecorvo, the Rosenbergs, Greenglass, and a host of others ferried all of our atomic know-how out of the United States and back to Moscow.

"It was not long before the Russians were exploding both atomic and hydrogen bombs and developing intercontinental missiles to deliver them to our shores, as well as antimissile defenses with which to protect themselves.

"During the war, Maj. George Racey Jordan, an officer at Great Falls military air base, saw diagrams and samples of fissionable material on their way to Russia in American planes given Stalin on lendlease. He thought that Harry Hopkins, President Franklin Roosevelt's advisor, was the chief agent in this one-way cooperation.

"Apologists and those of the let's-trust-the-Communists persuasion were in the habit of contending those days that it was downright selfish of us not to share all of our military secrets with those kindly Bolsheviks and loyal allies in the Kremlin. Now that the silk purse has long since gone winging eastward, we are presented with the sow's ear in the form of a nonproliferation treaty."

TIME TO HOWL

The Panama Canal was opened in 1914, four hundred years after Balboa first sighted the Pacific from the heights of Panama in 1513. It was the Mexican War of 1846 that first impressed upon this country the urgent need for a canal. Railroads did not provide coast-to-coast transit. Cornelius Vanderbilt organized a survey of the feasibility of digging such a canal. In 1872, President Grant reported that an investigating commission he had appointed had unanimously recommended Nicaragua as a site for such a canal. But it was the war with Spain that inspired a public clamor for a canal.

For more than half-a-century the United States-built and United States-owned Panama Canal has been the lifeline of our national defense and backbone of our ocean commerce.

In 1946, Alger Hiss, then head of the Office of Political Affairs of the State Department, submitting to the United Nations a list of this country's "occupied territories," and included in that list the Panama Canal Zone. It was the spark which communist agitators were waiting for. From that day to this, red propagandists have howled against US ownership and control of the Canal.

In 1948, the US abandoned its defense sites protesting the Canal and retreated within the Canal Zone. In 1955, we quadrupled the annual payments to Panama, and gave that government properties with an estimated "fair market value" of $24,300,000. In 1956, Nasser seized the Suez Canal. Immediately, proposals were made in the U S Senate that the Panama Canal be "internationalized." Former President Harry S. Truman seriously proposed that it be placed in the jurisdiction of the United Nations.

In 1958, there were wild disorders in Panama challenging US sovereignty over the Canal Zone. In 1964, there were additional riots.

Now, President Johnson is asking Congress to relinquish existing treaty rights and to recognize Panama's sovereignty over the Canal Zone.

"Building the Panama Canal," wrote the late historian, Earl Harding, in 1959, "required leadership and financing by the United States. President Theodore Roosevelt considered it the greatest achievement of his administration, as important for the United States as was the Louisiana Purchase of 1803. The disruptive proposals now advanced for making over the relationships at Panama — some of them of communist origin — might be classed with a suggestion that the Louisiana Purchase be rescinded."

Americans should do some howling themselves.

THE RIGHT TO KEEP ARMS

It is to be regretted that the President of the United States has chosen to align himself with the anti-gun cranks who are engaged in a campaign to disarm U.S. citizens and leave them at the mercy of the criminal — or the tyrant.

The liberal will protest that the legislation being sought will not disarm the citizen — it will simply make it more difficult for the criminal to obtain a gun. But in an unguarded moment one of the legislation's chief advocates — brother of a murdered President — has admitted that the gun laws being advocated will be merely the entering wedge to complete registration and control — in effect a disarming of the citizen who must have a gun to protect himself and his family against the criminal — and against possible future U. S. Castros, Stalins, Hitlers — or Red Guards.

President Johnson cited the Whitman sniping murders in Austin as support for gun controls, either forgetting or ignoring the fact that until Whitman went on his rampage he was regarded as normal man with a normal record and, under the terms of the proposed legislation, he could not have been denied a gun permit.

And ironically, later in the week, comes news from Florida that Whitman's younger brother, in attempting to break into a home there, had been driven off and foiled in his mad attempt to reach a young baby sitter by a brave 12-year-old boy who fired at the younger Whitman with a .22-calibre rifle. Had it not been for the heroic lad and our free institutions which permitted him to own a gun, it is reasonable to suppose that another murder might have been chalked up against the Whitman family — and this time committed by one who was not armed.

The President can do much more to control U. S. crime than to advocate gun laws.

He can appoint judges who have enough good sense and guts to send criminals to jail or gallows where they belong, instead of the sort of judges now constituting a 6-3 majority on the U. S. Supreme Court. He can fire attorneys general who seem not to know treason when they see it committed by Rap Browns, et al.

Historically, when a nation's government falls, either from subversion or outside invasion, the first step of the conquerors is to confiscate the people's guns. If there exists in the capital city a list of gun owners, then the job is a simple one. Such a possibility is probably remote, and admittedly distasteful to envision, but it is a possibility, nevertheless.

The Constitution of the United States specifically provides that the right of the citizen to keep and bear arms shall not be abridged. This is being brushed aside by the President and the others who advocate this dangerous, unimical legislation. We would like to ask the President this question: Do you advocate, Sir, the disarming of the Secret Service men who accompany you to protect your person?

Brothers Honored At Birthday Fete

Brothers Phil and Randy Wolf celebrated their birthdays at a family party in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wolf Jr. Friday evening. Phil was six that day and Randy was 11 Saturday.

The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wolf of Gainesville and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kubis of Lindsay, were special guests.

Seniors Solicit Old Papers, Will Pick Up Saturday

Seniors of Muenster High School are reminding everyone to gather up old newspapers, magazines and catalogues and have them ready for pickup Saturday, Sept. 30. Students will drive through the city and pick up bundles left at curbs or in alleys.

Others with waste paper are asked to leave bundles in the Emmet Fette yard.

Since the Salvation Army no longer solicits waste paper this is an opportune time for citizens to get rid of all they have accumulated.

Local Nuns Attend Picnic-Meeting at Ranch in Dallas

Nine of Muenster's Benedictine Sisters, accompanied by two from Rhineland, were in Dallas Saturday for a picnic-meeting of the Diocesan Council of Religious Women. The event was held at Fectel's Ranch and was attended by some 150 nuns of the Dallas-Fort Worth Diocese. Muenster's Sister Roberta is president of the organization.

The afternoon together gave nuns of the diocese an opportunity to get acquainted and to hear scheduled plans of coming events for the council.

These events include a workshop on Oct. 28 at Nolan High School in Fort Worth. The workshop will be conducted jointly by Brother Marion Belka of St. Mary's University, San Antonio, and Sister Marian Hosinski of St. Louis University, Mo.

A meeting with a film and discussion is scheduled for December 2 at the University of Dallas. Another workshop will be held Feb. 10-11 in Dallas and plans are being made to observe "World Prayer Day" next April 28.

Themes of the workshops will be "Psychology of Religious Life" and "The Institute of Man."

Local nuns attending the Saturday event were Sisters Roberta, Richard, Florentine, Helen, Andrew, Alberta, Maurine, Georgia and Genevieve. From Rhineland were Sister Cynthia Fisher and Sister Laura. They remained in Muenster overnight and Sunday and went with the local nuns to the annual diocesan meeting of teachers in Dallas Monday.

Two Benedictine nuns from Wichita Falls stopped here en route home and had supper with the Sisters at the convent.

Birthday Brings Two Celebrations

Danny Walterscheid, eight years old Saturday, had two celebrations, each with gifts, games, picture taking, birthday cake, ice cream, and other party refreshments.

Saturday afternoon's party was attended by cousins and young neighbors with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Felderhoff, as special guests.

Sunday afternoon's celebration was attended by grandparents, the Adolph Walterscheids, uncles, aunts and cousins of the Walterscheid clan and Joe Felderhoffs and children.

Danny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan Walterscheid, were hosts in the family home.

Little Monsters Take 28-6 Tussle From Sanger Kids

The Little Monsters of Muenster Public School were too much for the Papooses of Sanger Tuesday night, and they won easily 28-6.

Coach Glenn Richardson's squad had a strong advantage over the Sanger kids in both size and number. They were in command almost all the way.

They started promptly after the opening kickoff. A pass from Jim Endres to Henry Knabe gained 23. A few ground plays made another first down. Then Endres hit Mike Trubenbach with a 13 yard touchdown pass.

Following the next kickoff Sanger got its big play of the game. Brad Cole drifted around right end and dashed 63 yards to tie the score.

Muenster got going again at the start of the second quarter. Knabe ended an 80 yard drive with an 11 yard plunge and Endres added 2 points with a quarterback sneak.

Another Monster drive shortly after that ran out of time on Sanger's 22.

A Monster drive in the third quarter ended with a fumble on the 18, but the next one went all the way. Endres made the last ten on a roll out to the left. Knabe followed over for extra points as the clock read 4:49.

The closing minutes included an interception by Trubenbach and shortly after a fumble recovery by Sanger. Three plays later Claude Klement intercepted and on the next play Knabe circled right end for the final TD.

Next action for the Little Monsters is at Lindsay next Tuesday.

Checkless Society

The American Bankers Association forsee a major pilot checkless community project in three to five years. Instead of buying goods with a check or cash, a consumer would give the clerk a personal identification card. The card would activate an electronic transfer of funds from the customer's bank account to the store's account. Payrolls would be handled similarly. If the test succeeds, it's figured that by 1977 eighty-six percent of the bills an average person now pays by check would be paid by electronic transfers.

ONE IN SIX

4-H ALUMNI

One of every six adults in the U.S. has been a 4-H member, claims the Cooperative Extension Service. At the present time the total 4-H Alumni in 50 states is some 26 million men and women. Their influence in community, state and nation is often noteworthy and merits special attention. One such way is through the 4-H Alumni Recognition program, now in its 15th year.

Men and women from all walks of life are nominated by friends and relatives for alumni honors including awards provided annually by the program sponsor, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation.

Among prominent people who have received the 4-H alumni gold key—the highest award—are educators, businessmen, statesmen, farmers, entertainers, clergymen and an astronaut.

They include Edd H. Bailey, president of Union Pacific Railroad; Mary Merryfield, a syndicated newspaper columnist; Astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr.; Roy Rogers, movie and television star; Mrs. Dexter Otis Arnold, past president of General Federation of Women's Clubs; Robert Simpkins, prominent New Jersey farmer; J. Earl Coke, recently retired vice president, Bank of America, and Dr. George W. Beadle, president, University of Chicago.

This year scores of qualified candidates will be considered for 4-H alumni award, according to 4-H leaders. Each county will select four residents for local recognition and the alumni pin.

During the past three years more than 6,300 persons received the alumni recognition pin.

Four men and women also may be named for 1967 state honors. Each will receive a handsome bronze and walnut plaque appropriately inscribed.

The 4-H alumni key is presented annually to eight national winners at the alumni banquet held during the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

For information on how to submit names for alumni awards, contact the county extension office. The former 4-H'er need not now reside in his home county or state.

Muenster-Saint Jo B Strings to Play

This season's first athletic encounter between Hornets and Panthers will be carried out Thursday night with B stringers as the performers. They will clash on the Panther field at 7:30 in a tussle that looks like a toss-up and could develop into a thriller.

Both teams now have two wins to their credit. The Panther reserves beat Whitesboro rookies twice, by scores of 26-0 and 46-0. Muenster Bees won 28-16 at Nocona and 16-0 at Sanger.

County FB Urges Fire Prevention Week Observance

Observance of National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 8-14, in Cooke County is being urged by both rural and city fire prevention leaders.

Bill Lewie, fire chief of Gainesville, and Charley Kammerdiener, president of the Cooke County Farm Bureau, urge citizens of the county to pay special heed to the observance this year by taking steps to prevent costly fires.

"We urge everyone to develop good fire safety habits which include such things as care with matches and smoking, good housekeeping to get rid of rubbish, proper use of electrical fuses, appliances, and extension cords, and a constant general awareness of the ways fires start and how to avoid them," the fire chief said. He added that fires killed over 2,000 people and the cost was approximately $2 billion in the United States last year.

The local Farm Bureau president said the Fall and Winter months are the most vulnerable times of the year for rural fires. "When fires occur on farm or rural property, damage is three to six times greater than in the average city fire," Mr. Kammerdiener said.

Kammerdiener said that Farm Bureau has two programs designed to help curtail losses. The local organization, in co-operation with the Texas Farm Bureau, sponsors the attendance of county volunteer firemen at the annual Firemen's Training School each July at College Station. The state and local Farm Bureau organizations also pay $75.00 to local fire departments for each call made in rural areas involving fires of Farm Bureau insured property.

In addition to these programs, County Farm Bureau sponsor a graphic 45-minute fire prevention demonstration presented over one hundred times a year before schools, civic clubs and other groups by the Texas Farm Bureau Safety Department. More than 15,000 dry chemical extinguishers have been sold to Farm Bureau members as a continuing program of rural fire protection.

Elm-Red Contest In Grass Judging Will be Saturday

Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District's eighteenth annual grass judging contest will be reeled off Saturday, September 30, in Cooke County Junior College Gym beginning at 8 a.m. This contest was started in 1950 and has proven popular with agricultural students through the years.

Board Chairman, Harold Skaggs of Sherman, stated, "We have completed plans for our 18th grass judging contest to be held in Gainesville on September 30th. We are extending an invitation to all County Agricultural Extension 4-H Clubs and to the twenty-two FFA chapters in our three county district, to send teams to this contest. We would like to have 90 to 100 boys competing for top honors this year.

"This grass judging contest is based on knowledge of plants growing in this area. The contestant must know the common name and identifying characteristics for 50 locally adapted range and pasture plants. It requires considerable study and practice beforehand to score well. The boys who apply themselves well will be able to use the information acquired in this contest all through life. It gives a great deal of satisfaction to be able to list the common name to most any of the adapted plants growing in our district."

Skaggs added, "We have had good interest in this contest every year and we would like to see more FFA and 4-H clubs competing. We plan to serve a noon meal to all team members and their coaches. Awards will be presented winning teams and high scoring individuals."

The contest will have a junior division for first year agriculture students and a senior division for advanced students. A team will be composed of four boys with the team score made up of the three highest individual scores.

"Soil Conservation Service technicians across the Upper Elm-Red Soil and Water Conservation District will assist in conducting this contest," Skaggs stated. "They have been collecting sample plants since last May and will have good samples to judge," he added.

Connie Alexander Heads Humble's Broadcast Team

Connie Alexander, veteran New Mexico sportscaster, has been named lead announcer for Humble Oil & Refining Company's 1967 broadcasting of Southwest Conference football games.

Mr. Alexander, who is treasurer of the Albuquerque Savings and Loan Association, joined Humble's broadcast team in 1955 and for eight seasons covered the University of New Mexico games. In 1963, he became a regular member of Humble's Southwest Conference broadcast crew.

A native of Dallas, Alexander attended the University of New Mexico, where he earned a B.A. degree in speech and journalism. He also lettered in baseball.

He started sportscasting in 1948, handling Albuquerque High School football broadcasts. While serving in the Air Force, wherever based, he spent off-duty hours sportscasting for local radio stations.

For three straight years, from 1960 through 1962, he was named New Mexico sportscaster of the year by the National Sportscasters and Sportwriters Association.

The three storage areas of the home — attic, basement, closets — are the spots where 16.4% of all dwelling fires originate, according to National Fire Protection Association studies.

Old-time One-stop Shopping Again on American Scene

One-stop shopping, at one time unique to the days of the pioneers, is again entering the American scene.

Take a look at the average grocery bill. It will likely show an average of $20 spent for food and another $4.60 for non-food items, says Bernice Thurman, county home demonstration agent.

In the past 10 years, food sales have increased 51 percent, while non-food sales in grocery stores have increased 140 percent.

Much of the grocery money today goes for items to stock the bathroom, cleaning closet, toys for the children, magazines and all of the hundred and one other items found in the modern market.

One such item, cigarettes, is purchased in the grocery store because of convenience and economy of the carton. The supermarket is, in fact, the greatest single outlet for cigarettes. Today, 30 to 40 percent of the nation's sales are in grocery stores, whereas five years ago, supermarkets accounted for only 28 percent.

Small kitchen utensils and gadgets, snack sets, patio furniture—all are frequently labeled as impulse items in the grocery store. Magazine sales have increased as much as 30 percent in one year in the supermarket.

And the trend is for more and more non-food items to be bought through this market. In 1948, 11 percent of the grocery dollar went for non-food items. In 1959 the figure stood at 15 percent; today's figures show 23 percent.

Rural Youth Day At State Fair Will Be a Happening

Mathematically, Rural Youth Day on the opening Saturday, October 7, at the state Fair of Texas in Dallas will be a happening.

The 100,000 Future Homemakers, Future Farmers and 4-H Club members visiting State Fair that day will live up more than 68 years during their stay at the fair.

Statistically, they will ride a third of a million miles in 2,222 school buses and two small station wagons during the round trip between Fair Park and their homes in more than 200 Texas counties.

If they walked three feet apart into Dallas, they would form a line from Fair Park to Corsicana, more than 56 miles. But who wants to walk when buses can make the trip on 42,000 gallons of gasoline.

The vehicles bearing the youngsters will arrive during the four hours between 5 and 9 a.m. A bus will enter the main parking lot every 6.4 seconds. Fortunately the parking lot has six gates, otherwise the two small station wagons might create a traffic jam.

During the day, youngsters will eat the equivalent of almost ten miles of hot dogs. They will be served five miles of the delicacy at a picnic luncheon, compliments of Dallas businessmen.

They will buy the other five miles of hot dogs on the midway. They will eat 240 gallons of mustard and wipe 16 gallons from faces and shirts.

They will drink a total of 9,400 gallons of pop and ice water.

Theoretically, they'll wear out every ride on the midway by 2 p.m.

Don Clark, the State Fair official in charge of housing for Rural Youth Day, estimated that most of the youngsters in distant counties will leave after hometown football games Friday afternoon, ride all night and reach Dallas early Saturday morning.

"Ten years ago, about 5,000 kids would skip the game, make the trip Friday afternoon and spend Friday night in school dormitories and gymnasiums near Dallas. Roads and buses are better today, though, and our housing committee has to find overnight quarters for only 500 or so.

Incidentally, the 2,224 bus and station wagon drivers will eat an average of six aspirin each during the trip — 1,112 dozen, a minor amount of only 7.7 gross.

That will be the mathematical happening on opening day at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas.

Lindsay Squires Wallop Cubs 30-0

The Tiger Cubs of Sacred Heart School found lots of trouble when they went to Lindsay last Thursday for a game with the Squires. They were clearly bested in size, speed and experience. And they lost 30-0.

The Squires were slow in getting started and the first half dragged along mostly as a defensive contest. The only exception was a break away by Bill Duffy for 30 yards.

However, the next half was different as the Squires did about as they pleased. The first drive was ended by Luke McCollum's 3 - yard crash. Shortly after that Edward Fuhrmann intercepted a pass and returned it 22 yards to pay dirt.

A second TD for Duffy came on a 20 yard sprint and the second for McCollum was a hot 45 yard punt return.

A wise ten-year-old asked to write a school paper on care of teeth came up with three basic rules: (1) see your dentist at regular intervals; (2) brush your teeth after every meal; (3) watch out for shovers at the drinking fountain.

An after dinner speaker, just before he started speaking, was handed a one-word note from his wife. The word was KISS. When asked about it later, the wife explained it was a code word. The meaning? "Keep it short, stupid."

A businessman confided to his friend, "I'm almost 65 years old, have assets of a million dollars and have fallen head over heels in love with a vivacious blond of 19. Do you think I'd have a better chance of marrying her if I told her I'm only 50?"

"I think you'd have a better chance to get her," said the pal, "if you told her you were 80."

Sam. The net result is that many a long time taxpayer gets nothing. Nor does any of his survivors. And many other taxpayers collect only a small portion of what they paid in. On the other hand, insurance pays off. The investor or a survivor receives full value of policy plus earned dividends.

The whole thing is a tragic tangled problem. It makes us wonder: can something still be done to save the system from a breakdown and amend it so that people in the future will not be left holding the bag?

The best guess is to change gradually from socialism to real insurance. Whatever the way, it will take wisdom plus statesmanship to untangle the mess.

The big goof was made at the beginning. If government then had required people to buy a minimum of real insurance instead of this socialistic fake insurance all wage earners now would have real social security.
