VOLUME XXXVIII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS 76252 JULY 5, 1974

It's gratifying to be told that the Texas DPS chief estimates the loss of only 42 lives in the traffic of the 102- Held Saturday for hour July 4 weekend. This is a huge drop from the 80 traffic deaths during the July 4, Mrs. Joe Martinez Muenster Chamber of Commerce in a special meeting Tuesday morning 1972, weekend, which also covered 102 hours. Last year's record was 13 deaths but the holiday period was only 30 hours. Of course it's sad that even forty odd will die, but the implied statement is very good news. Many lives will be spared. And the big reason behind the improvement is the reduction of speed limits.

This, we can definitely say, is a welcome compensation of the energy crisis. But it's also satisfying to know that now we can go farther on a gallon of gasoline or a set of tires, and the car itself will give more miles and less trouble. When we get ourselves adjusted to taking a little more time on the road, and incidentally, to driving under less strain, we become aware that at least a few blessings have come out of the energy crisis.

On a related subject, the head of the Texas Safety Association reminds us that one result of the energy crisis is less satisfying. Gasoline shortage and price has led to a big increase in the number of small cars whose occupants tend to sustain more severe injuries in case of a crash. So, even though the total number of deaths has declined, drivers of compacts should remember that they're not quite as safe as other drivers.

When thinking of spuds, it's customary to think of Idaho and Maine. But how many Texans are aware that their own state also produces a sizeable crop? According to the state ag department the yield this year is estimated at 92.5 million pounds, or about 10 per cent more than last year. The state has 7,400 acres in potatoes, 10 per cent more than in '73, and the yield of educationally disadvantaged Charles Cowans and children Mill had lost. But both won, 12,500 pounds per acre is the children. same as last year but about 14 per cent above the 72 crop.

The crop, hit by drought, was 63 million bushels compared with 98.6 million in 1973. Acres planted this year were 5.6 million whereas there were 4.6 million last year, but acreage harvested was 3. million this year and free swimming lessons, spon- Instructor and they are as-3.4 million last year. Yield on sored by the Cooke County sisted by persons who comthat acreage was 21 bushels Red Cross Chapter, will get per acre this year and 29 last under way Monday, July 8, course. Six had that course year.

Frank Ikard, this area's one time congressman and now president of the American vised by Mrs. Polly Lewis of Petroleum Institute, warns the the county Red Cross chapter country against the Consumer Energy Act which is proposed Flusche. It will be available as a way of protecting the interests of consumers. He calls kindergarten and also to it an unprecedented raid on adults. the pocketbooks of American taxpayers, a measure establishing a petroleum corporation to be run by the government and financed by taxpay ers, a step toward nationalizing the petroleum industry.

The first problem, of course is how anyone can expect government to solve the problem when it was guilty of a list of boners which caused the trouble in the first place. Arbitrary bureaucrats and legislators, throwing their weight around in behalf of their misguided ideals on consumerism and environmentalism, set the prices of oil and gas so low that oil men quit exploring and developing. They delayed the construction of the Alaskan pipeline and nuclear plants. They prevented offshore drilling and refinery construction. They put the gas guzzling gadgets on cars to stop pollution. They blocked industrial efforts to promote the use of coal and shale. They got us into energy trouble long before the Arabs put on their embargo. Under the circumstances, doesn't it seem silly now to depend on government for solutions to the problem?

Next point to remember is that the government's record of running business has been nothing but pathetic. Look at the national debt, almost a half trillion dollars, in judging its fiscal ability. Look at '64 the post office which has raised the price of postals 800 | '66 per cent but has not improved | '67 service. Look at the rocketing '68 costs of Social Security and Medicare. It's not that our country is the only one at fault in this regard. All countries foul up when they go into business. (Continued on Page 10)

It's required that children have the permission of parents, and everyone, child and adult, have a doctor's certification of physical fitness. Application forms, which are available in local doctors' offices and at the Enterprise, are to be presented by the students when they register. A child will need signatures of both parent and doctor. An adult needs the doctor's signature only. A special reminder to adults: they will be expected to report in swim suits for the registration.

At the registration students will be divided into two groups, one of which will be instructed the next five days, July 9 through 13. The other group will receive instruction Monday through Friday of the following week.

Each group then is further divided into three one hour classes beginning at 9, 10 and 11 o'clock and each class into beginners, intermediates and advanced swimmers. The end result is that very few students, and sometimes only one are assigned to a teacher.

There are ten with the Red David Bright.

Scouts Complete Week of Camping

Muenster Boy Scouts spent last week on their annual summer outing at Camp Sid Richardson adjoining Lake Bridgeport. Their principal activity was in completing merit badge and skill awards work for the record. Remaining time was spent mostly in water sports. In addition they slept under the stars and took turns at cooking.

Boys attending were Damian and Benji Luke, Floyd and David Felderhoff, Paul and Lloyd Reiter, Larry and Billy Phillips, Steve Hennigan, Joe Bartush, John Hartman, Jack Endres, Sam Bright, Mark Felderhoff, Bernie Fette, Robert Weinzapfel, Gary Henscheid and Bob Hamric.

Rush Repairs on approved by directors of the Muenster Chamber of Commerce in a special most. Get Council's OK

A hurry up project to have better streets leading to the Church Saturday at 10 a.m. a place to live rather than the city park for the July Fourth picnic Thursday, was one of the principal topics of the of the Muenster City Council meeting Monday night.

The members voted to have grader work done on Maple Street in front of the park and also on Cross Street leadthen soak them with a solution for holding down dust.

As regards permanent paving for the two streets, the council has a problem. There's a question whether financing should be done as on other street projects or whether the approaches should be regarded like the street inside the park and paid for entirely by the

A report on other street improvement was received from Jimmy Foster, Wichita Falls contractor, who will resurface two blocks on Maple and one block on Pecan along with a number of repair jobs. He's due to bring in equipment next week and start working the following week.

Another report states that the pedestrian bridge in the city park should be finished soon. It's a pre-fab job to be installed about mid July.

The community's moisture situation continues to be sad. According to Steve Moster's official records the total for last month was only 1.58, and that followed only .23 for the month before. That adds to just 1.81 for the two months, and the drought is intensified by the fact that temperatures lately have been reaching the high nineties.

Over the six months period the record is equally bad. April was the only month of near normal rainfall, with a total of 4.96 inches. The other five months combined had a measure of 4.99, and the total through June was 9.95 inches - just slightly more than half of the ten year average for that period, which is 18.17. Though not the dryest for the first six months, the present figure is close to the record for 27 years beginning in 1946. The dryest on record through June is 7.43 inches in 1971, then 9.15 in 1972 and 9.63 in 1956. Next comes the present total of 9.95 inches.

The drought contrasts sharply with last year which had Pavement Marks 24.01 inches through June. of the past decade was 27.55 Across County recorded here was 32.85 inches in 1957.

Mulch Residues Halt Erosion and Conserve Moisture

Proper management of crop residues is very important in any cropping system to help

You may ask what is crop residue management? Residue management is usually the returning of plant residues to the soil following a crop. Wheat straw returned follow-Co-op would still be third and ing a crop of wheat is one good example. This residue should be left on or near the soil surface until seedbed is two good pieces of equipment to use to obtain a good seed-

> Well managed residues also improve the soil fertility and tilth or structure of the soil. It takes about 3000 pounds per acre of air dry residue just to maintain the soil productivity and fertility on most soils locally. To get improvement it takes more residue > per acre. When a crop is completely removed, such as cutting an annual crop for hay, you may have to plant another crop just to get enough residue for the needs of the soil. When large amounts of residues are returned each year the soil will become more fertile and productive. As this happens it gives the owner or operator a chance to make a larger crop and increase his profit.

> Naturally if the high residue producing crop that is being returned to the soil has been fertilized, the quality of your residue will be better and more soil improvement from a nutrient level can be expected. Residues from fertilized crops may break down faster and become a part of the soil faster. Keeping the residues on top is making the best use of them and doing the best conservation job.

Couple Back From Caribbean Cruise

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hoenig returned Sunday from a Announcement was made Caribbean cruise, spending seven wonderful days aboard the Boheme and sight-seeing can Republic to Haiti.

They left from D-FW Airport on June 20 for Miami, at the Lake of the Hills Es- Fla., and spent two days there sight-seeing before boarding their "home on the sea." They Spring Branch and Blanco, sailed from Miami to Puerto Texas. Stop at the office for Platu on the north coast of the Dominican Republic, arrived there Monday morning and took busses for city tours, sight-seeing including a rum factory. The drivers told them the busses are air conditioned when the windows are open. It was hot.

Next was St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands and more sight-Serving will start at 11:30 seeing tours, beautiful scenery, winding roads up large Further information may be mountains, shopping centers, etc., and time on their own before they taxied back to the boat. Cars travel on the left side of the road. One day Mass was said aboard by a missionary who knew of Abbot Alfred Hoenig through his mission work.

After that it was San Juan, capital of Puerto Rico, with sight-seeing on cobble-stone streets, historic relics, castles, ancient buildings and more. From there they sailed to Cap Haetien, Haiti, where they saw real poverty along with historic places and ancient churches. They saw families living in 10x12 foot huts, with dirt floor, no beds, no stove. One woman even offered her baby for sale, begging for

Then it was back to the boat and headed for Miami landing there June 29. Mrs. Hoenig's niece Clara Fleitman met them at port and they spent Saturday afternoon and overnight with her in her apartment. Sunday morning she saw them off at the airport for flight back to D-FW Airport. Their son Rupert of Carrollton met them there and they visited him and his family briefly, likewise visited daughter Rita and her daughter Jeannine before heading for home. Seven days aboard the Boheme were fabulous with out-of-this-world food — four meals a day, the last at 11:30 p.m. and dancing until 2:30 a.m. One evening all ladies aboard wore formals. There were 450 boat passengers and 200 boat personnel. And never a dull moment with games, movies, live entertainment, dance and singing contests. Mr. Hoenig was a member of a barbershop quartet for an unrehearsed program. The Hoenigs believe that if you haven't traveled by boat you haven't traveled.

"Why do my electric bills keep going up?"

If you're like most Texas Power & Light customers, your electric bills are higher now than they were, say, a year ago.

Basically, two things determine your cost for electric service: the amount you use and the price of each unit - called a "kilowatt-hour" - of that amount.

From 1963 to 1973, the average annual use by TP&L residential customers increased from 4,446 kilowatt-hours to 10,282 kilowatt-hours. You'll probably find one or more reasons for your greater usage in the answers to several questions.

Is your family group larger than it was ten years ago? Have you added a room to your home or moved into a larger home? Have you acquired one or more new major appliances, such as a food freezer, range, washer, dryer or air-conditioner?

Speaking of air-conditioning, this is the time of year when many central systems, window units, attic fans, etc. are operated day and night. Air-conditioning alone can account for a sizeable increase in your

As already mentioned, increased usage has been the main reason for increased cost. This tends to disguise the fact that the average per-unit price of TP&L residential electricity was about 2¼ cents in 1963 and only about 2¼ cents in 1973.

We'd like to tell you that the price will continue We'd like to tell you that the price will continue to go down, but, unfortunately, this will not be the case. In early 1972, and again in March of this year, the rising costs of producing and supplying electric power made it necessary for TP&L to obtain increases in the price of electricity. Additional increases are certain to be needed in the years ahead. It's the only way we can continue to provide the dependable electric service you want and expect.

side north of Muenster. Mr. Becker presented his daughter for marriage. She wore a formal gown of white organza, the tucked empire bodice featuring a high neckline and full bishop sleeves overlaid with Venise lace. The A-line skirt flowed softly to the back ending in a chapel train. A wide lace-trimmed flounce bordered the hemline of the skirt and circled the train. She wore a full length mantilla of bridal illusion attached to a contour headpiece with the fingerip layer edged in lace. Her flowers were a cascade of stephanotis and baby's breath.

Wedding Attendants

Cheryl Bayer was maid of Florence Hess sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. Gina Yosten, niece of the groom, was flower girl.

The maid of honor wore a flower-printed skirt of nylon with a ruffle at hemline and a solid yellow bodice with sleeves. Yellow ribbon marked the waistline and fell to floor length streamers.

Bridesmaids and flower girl wore gowns identical to the nonor maid's with the exception a blue waistline ribbon and streamers. They carried nosegays of blue carnations, yellow roses, daisies and baby's breath.

Ben Fleitman Jr. was best man with Paul Caplinger and Melvin Schilling groomsmen. Tim and Melvin Hess and Paul Becker, brothers of the couple, were ushers. Mark Yosten, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Mass servers were Brian Hess, Dale Schilling, Clarence Hess, brother of the groom, Bert Miller and Kent Fuhr-

During the preceding week Mrs. Hickerson had taught the same program to two classes of girls. In all there were five classes with a total enrollment

The young ladies were instructed in the basics of sewing and learned proper cutting and stitching techniques. In addition, they received instruction on fabric selection

The girls spent the week making blue denim shoulder purses which they decorated with a personal design, using scrap materials and lots of imagination.

The course, which is sponsored by Cooke County Electric Cooperative, was concluded with a program given by the students for their parents and friends. Each of the girls took part in the program and demonstrated various skills in sewing.
