New bridge to be dedicated Sept. 10

by Elaine Schad

Texas and Oklahoma dignitaries are expected to gather in Montague County at the site of a new bridge spanning the Red River during dedication ceremonies set for Sept. 10.

The new bridge will be named the Taovayas Bridge, after the clan of Wichita Indians which inhabited the Red River Valley for centuries, said John Barton, area engineer for the Texas Department of Highways and Transportation. Montague County Commissioners recently approved the name, which has also been approved by Oklahoma officials, he said.

Oklahoma Governor David Walters will be in attendance at the 11 a.m. Sept. 10 bridge dedication along with Texas Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison, Texas Governor Ann Richards and Texas Senator Phil Gramm may also be among those present, but have not yet confirmed their attendance, Barton said. Representatives from the Cherokee Indian Nation will provide a spiritual dedication and dance during ceremonies, and a host of other state and local officials are expected to be present, Barton said.

The dedication ceremony is open to the public.

The bridge is located just south of Courtney, Okla. It spans the Red River about halfway between Interstate 35 at Gainesville in Cooke County and U. S. 81 near Ringgold in Montague County, where the nearest spans are located. The bridge itself and about four miles of feeder roads cost about $6 million.

The new bridge is 2,800 feet long and 40 feet wide and is now open to travelers within a construction zone area. Barton said the bridge won't officially open for about three weeks, by which time proper roadway signs are expected to be in place.

The bridge replaces a Montague County bridge destroyed by fire 39 years ago. The bridge will end decades of isolation and inconvenience along a 50-mile stretch of the river that had separated Texas and Oklahoma and is expected to economically benefit both Cooke and Montague counties, officials said. About 1,000 vehicles are expected to cross the bridge daily, Barton said. "It's a real scenic route and a beautiful roadway," he said. "I think it will be one of the prettier roads in Texas."

Still to be completed are about 12 miles of feeder roads on the Texas side that will access the bridge. The roads, now 70 percent complete, should be finished by the end of October, officials said. All work on the bridge and feeder roads, with the exception of some grass seeding and vegetation, should be completed in time for the dedication, Barton said.

Travelers will be able to access the new bridge from the Nocona area from Farm-to-Market 2953 in Montague County, while an extension of Farm-to-Market Road 373 in Cooke County from the Bulcher community west to FM 677 will give a direct roadway into Muenster in northwestern Cooke County.

The Taovayas Bridge is named after a clan of Indians estimated to number between 3,000 and 5,000 which resided in the vicinity of Spanish Fort, Texas, and Petersburg, Okla., from the 1600s to the early 1800s. A history of the area indicates one of the largest armed battles in Texas occurred in the Spanish Fort-Petersburg area in 1759 between the Taovayas and Spanish soldiers.

Shirley Knabe receives Silver Beaver Award

For only the third time in Muenster history, the prestigious Silver Beaver Award has been presented to a local volunteer Scouter. The late Mr. Nick Miller received the first from Circle Ten Council and Lupe Evans the second from Longhorn Council in 1989.

Shirley Knabe was presented the Silver Beaver Award at Cooke County Roundtable on May 24 by David Roberts, District Executive for Frontier Trails, Longhorn Council. The Silver Beaver is awarded by the National Boy Scout Council acting through its Executive Board. This award is made each year upon the nomination of the local council.

It is made for noteworthy service of exceptional character to boyhood by registered Scouters within the territory under the jurisdiction of the Longhorn Council, Boy Scouts of America, making the Silver Beaver the highest award given a volunteer by a council.

Shirley has been involved in Scouting since 1981, serving as a pack committee member, den leader, Webelos den leader and Cubmaster for Pack 664. She also serves as a troop committee member, Roundtable staff and currently as Assistant District Commissioner for Frontier Trails District. She has served on several day camp staff positions, Pow Wow staff and has been the program director for Cooke County Day Camp for the past seven years. She was presented the District Award of Merit in 1989 and earned her Woodbadge beads in 1992. Shirley has also served on several training staffs for Cooke County.

A member of Sacred Heart Parish, she has also been active as a Religious Education teacher and as an aide. She has also been active with youth in other organizations coaching T-ball, softball, soccer, Girl Scout assistant leader and as a referee and board member for the Cooke County Soccer Association. She has been active with the Red Cross Swim Program in Muenster and, most recently, with the Cooke County VIP Special Olympians.

Within the community, she shares her talent of calligraphy printing with every organization that requests her help. She has proven herself a loyal Scouter, always involving her pack and dens in all District and Council activities. These are some of the reasons Shirley is deserving of the Silver Beaver Award.

SHIRLEY KNABE holds the prestigious Silver Beaver Award given to her for her timeless devotion to the Boy Scouts of America. Shirley is only the third person in Muenster to receive the award.

Swim lessons come to an end, over 500 benefit

by Kay Grewing

When the hot, muggy days of summer face us, many children, as well as adults, go for a refreshing swim in the pool or lake. Thanks to the Red Cross organization, more people will be safer in the waters.

The Red Cross Swim Lessons were once again very popular this summer. In the two weeks of lessons, more than 500 people were taught how to swim, improve their techniques, or learn lifesaving skills.

The local Red Cross organization is the only group of its kind to offer free swim lessons to those who wish to participate. Local people, as well as people from Lindsay, Saint Jo, Rosston, Thackerville and even as far as Austin, came to take advantage of the free lessons given by volunteers. Not only are students taught basic strokes, but are also taught how to react when faced with life-threatening situations that go hand-in-hand with the water.

The lessons would not be available, however, if it were not for the numerous volunteers that give their time to the students during the two weeks of lessons. The Red Cross organization would like to thank all those who helped in any way, especially Jeannene Flusche, Janel Flusche, Frances Bayer, Shirley Knabe, Kathy Hartman, Kim Wiese, Nancy Webster, Rhonda Dieter, Yvonne Martin, Joey Martin, Kinzie Gerstberger, Michael Flusche, Anne Flusche, Misty Knabe, Royce Knabe, Eric Knabe, Russell Fette, Jill Hess, Shirley Hess, Pam Fette, Emily Klement, Angela Endres, Gwen Trubenchach, Jeff Yosten, Toni Trubenchach, Melissa Fisher, Lisa Walterscheid, Jean Walterscheid, Ramona Felderhoff, Nicole Endres, Lean Bayer, Allison Bayer, Jonathan Bayer, Gayle Drachenberg, Laura Drachenberg, Crisly Drachenberg, Carol Harris, Scott Harris, Christopher Harris, Terry Brawner, B.J. Abbot Alfred Hoenig dies

Muenster relatives of Abbot Alfred Hoenig, a native of Muenster, were notified Wednesday of his death while on vacation in Paris, Arkansas. Although incomplete at press time, funeral arrangements include Mass of Christian Burial in Corpus Christi Cathedral on Monday, July 18, at 10 a.m., followed by Vespers at Corpus Christi Abbey in Sandia, Texas and burial in the Mausoleum in Sandia.

The obituary, liturgy and photo will be included in next week's Muenster Enterprise.

Good News!

City of Lindsay battles with cable company ... again

by Elaine Schad

The City of Lindsay expects to head back to court at the end of this month in an effort to sever ties with the city's cable television company because of what Lindsay officials contend is continued poor service.

"We think it's cut and dry," Lindsay Mayor Robert Walterscheid said. "They haven't provided the service and have raised rates without coming through the council which goes against the contract," he said. "We are seeking to rescind the agreement."

The City of Lindsay in January 1992 agreed to settle a lawsuit with the Houston cable company that holds Lindsay's cable-TV franchise. The city, saying service had been poor, wanted to terminate its contract with Weik, Gores & Associates Inc., operating at that time in Lindsay as Lake Kiowa Cable Television, L. P. and/or WGA Cable. The suit alleged that the company had failed to meet contract terms, which included timely maintenance and response to customer complaints, and failure to provide the contracted number of stations. The suit further stated that customers have complained about poor service and reception since April 1982, when the company took over the franchise from Community Cable Co. The company serves about 140 customers in Lindsay.

The settlement reached two years ago included the city and cable company jointly hiring an engineer to determine what changes would be needed to upgrade the system. The company also agreed to pay economically feasible costs to upgrade the system. Lindsay officials have continued to receive complaints from cable customers and have been unable to resolve problems with the company, Walterscheid said.

Lindsay city council members received an update on the cable situation at the council's regular July meeting. In another matter, council members discussed street repairs with engineers from Hawkins and Associates. Bids are expected to be opened July 26 for an overlay to Henry Street and spot repairs to Circle Drive and Willow Street.

The council has called a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. July 26 to receive input on a proposed water rate increase. Residents affected by the proposed rate increase will receive a letter in the mail notifying them of the hearing. Walterscheid said the city's water rates are "at the bottom of the barrel," when compared to similar sized cities, a factor which could affect a decision concerning a federal grant. The city is also in need of additional revenue from water rates due to the proposed repair and renovation of the current water system, Walterscheid said.

In connection with a grant, the council hired Tim Glendenning to

Letters to the Editor

Hello Folks,
I've just finished my last New Zealand retreat. In twelve hours, I'll be in a jet airliner heading out over the Tasman Sea, bound for Brisbane, back to Australia. The team has done lots of stuff in New Zealand since we arrived 2 months and 23 days ago. Statistically speaking, we held 2 rallies, prepared 6 Sunday liturgies with music, drama and testimony (outside of weekend retreats), held 47 retreats, one of which was a weekend retreat and 8 of which were two-day retreats. We averaged over 60 people per event, so ministered to over 3,300 New Zealanders in schools, parishes and youth groups. Spiritually speaking, we've changed lots of lives, given many youngsters a bit of hope in seemingly hopeless situations in their lives, and caused many people to stop and think of their priorities in life, to consider putting Jesus first in reality, not just in word.

New Zealand has been very good for the team as well. The two Kiwis on team have been native and the nine Aussies on team have been foreign, and I'm still a foreigner no matter where I am down here. It was very good to be detached from the main office in Brisbane. A lot of our experiences really helped to unify the team to a greater degree than it was before we took off for Auckland that beautiful Thursday of Easter Week. And so we've each grown closer to one another as well as grown closer to God in our own personal way.

Our New Zealand tour of duty took us to the dioceses of Auckland, Hamilton and Wellington, all in the North Island. For any geography buffs out there, our itinerary was: Takapuna (North Shore, Auckland), Hamilton, Paeroa, Whakatane, Touranga, Howick (Southeast Auckland), Rotorua, Dannevirke (unofficial ministry here), the Hutt Valley, Wellington, Masterton and Porirua.

Perhaps my most interesting host family would have to be the Randersons of Wellington. Richard Randerson is the Archbishop-elect of the Archdiocese of Canberra, ACT, Australia (Anglican Church). Jason and I got to stay there for a week with him and his family. And they were quite a bunch of characters. I could write pages on them, but suffice it to say that they were very nice and quite funny in a most serious manner.

How many of you remember good of Peter Copeland, a NET'er who came through Muenster back in 1988-89 school year? I got to visit a bit with his parents at his home in Wellington. Isn't life funny? Who would've ever thought that I'd be at that New Zealander's house 5 years after he visited the USA on NET? And so it goes...

I'll be forever grateful for being put on the New Zealand team. I have thoroughly enjoyed this country's natural beauty, the people and their terrific hospitality, the openness of the Polynesian culture to NET's retreat style and just the many memories that will always be there of my almost 3 months in New Zealand. Y'all take care and bless you all, too. Next time, I'll write from Australia again.

Dear Editor:

Recent news from the media headlines has been filled with violence and social injustice. Consequently, America has been shoved into the world's spotlight as a dangerous country to visit, yet the U.S. remains to be the "dream" destination of many teenagers across the globe. As Americans, it is our responsibility to show the people of the world that America is one of the most beautiful, wondrous countries on earth. Our citizens are kind, generous and anxious to share our cultural heritage with people of other countries.

American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE) has been placing foreign high school students with caring American families for over 13 years. By spending a school year with an American family, these students return to their countries with a deeper understanding of Texas, the United States and its people. By opening our hearts, homes and lives to another culture, we will be fostering understanding, furthering education, enriching our own lives and working together to strengthen ties with the future young leaders of foreign nations. This is an imperative step in the approaching peaceful relations between countries.

AISE places students in cities and towns, ranches and farms, in urban areas, mountain areas, desert areas, rural areas and every place between no matter how small or large the community is. AISE needs loving families who can volunteer to host an exchange student beginning in August 1994. There has been a tremendous response nationwide, but there are still students that have not been placed.

The United Nations has designated 1994 as "The International Year of the Family." If we could just show other nations that the spirit of volunteerism and love across cultural boundaries still exists in the family of America as was intended when our constitution was drafted, the world would understand that the people of America still care. Become an "International Family." Call AISE at 1-800-SIBLING for more information.

Letter to the Editor:

Reading the article in The Enterprise relative to the dismantling of the old building on First Street, facing The Enterprise building, it is my recollection, and information furnished me, that this building at one time housed a blacksmith shop operated by a Mr. Frank Himmels and, subsequently, the blacksmith shop was operated by Joe and Henry Schmitz.

After the blacksmith shops vacated the building, it was used as a storage for the early-day horsedrawn bears. Also, subsequently a part of the building was used as a storage shed for Dad's cars and truck.

I obtained part of the information from Mr. Joseph Fisher Sr. It is of no particular importance, but I just happened to recall the item when I was gathering information for a composition of my memoirs.

Anyway, unless the information given me by Mr. Fisher is incorrect, the prior owners and/or operators are as herein mentioned.

Yours truly,

Parish Picnic is well attended

Showers on Sunday and prospects of more rain brightened attendance at Homecoming for Sacred Heart Parish on July 10. Sponsors were all smiles over the success of the event.

Dinner chairmen reported serving more than 1150 meals, and guests enjoyed a bountiful feast.

Tom Herr, one of the general co-chairmen, said Monday that a complete report will be made when all bills are in. "It looks great," he added. "We will have solved some computer problems before the next picnic."

The major auction, beginning about 6 p.m., continued until 10:45 p.m. Herr praised all volunteers and assistants, donors and buyers. "Bruno" the Rooster got a lot of attention. Muenster Jaycees bid high for him. Guesses are that they have plans for their next "Roostering Out" ceremony.

Prize winners and donors in the major raffle are as follows: $1,000 savings bond, Jeffrey Coulter, by Alvin and Joanie Hartman; $500 savings bond, J.T. Pagel, by Catholic Life Insurance; $500 savings bond, Ted Henschel, by Muenster State Bank; Magnavox AM/FM stereo, Rudy Hess, by Cooke County Appliance and cash donors; "Madonna and Child" sculpture, Charles F. Bartush, by Gehrig Hardware and cash donors;

Magnavox VCR, Arnold Knabe, by Cooke County Appliance and cash donors; $200 savings bond, Gene Hoedbeck, by First National Bank of Saint Jo; $105 gift certificate, Maurus Hacker, by Gehrig Hardware; $100 in trade, Earl Charles, by Muenster Building Center; $100 meat gift certificate, Rufus Henschel, by Fischer's Meat Market; $60 gift certificate, Kendra Walterscheid, by Tops & Teams; $50 gift certificate, Evelyn Koehler, by Bayer's Kolonialwaren; $50 gift certificate, Dale Schilling, by Farmer's Kitchen; $25 gift certificate, Tom Hartman, by Piggly Wiggly.

Muenster Chamber plans for Aug. 20 dance

The Muenster Chamber of Commerce held its monthly breakfast meeting at The Center Restaurant on Tuesday, July 12.

An important topic of discussion was the upcoming dance being held to benefit the Muenster Memorial Hospital's Obstetrics Department. The theme of the dance is "Boot Scootin' Boogie: Two-Steppin' Our Babies Back Home." The country and western band, "Touch of Texas," is scheduled to provide music for the evening. A "bring your own decoration" contest is just one of the events to take place at the benefit. Each table is asked to bring decorations. Judges will award a prize to the table with the decorations that best match the theme. Tickets for the event are $20 each and include food and refreshments. Doors open at 8:30 p.m. and the dance is scheduled to take place from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

In other news, the Denton Street Rods Association will have their annual convention in Muenster on Nov. 19. The exhibit will feature 100-500 antique cars. Local businesses are asked to show their support by giving Association members discounts and coupons. Businesses that are interested should contact Margie Starke at the Chamber of Commerce by the end of August.

Businesses are reminded that there are still 9-10 street lamps available for adoption. There is a charge for installation, however, there is no charge for the use of the lamps.

Chairmen are needed for the Christkindlmarkt to be held during Thanksgiving weekend. Contact Margie Starke or Peggy Grewing if you would like to help.

Since the recent purchase of Mid-Park by Endres Motors Company, suggestions are welcomed as to where to place the Nativity scene and Christmas tree during the holiday season. Contact the Chamber with your ideas.

Superintendent seeks to "burst the bubble"

By Steve Cooper, MISD Superintendent

In the last article written, I mentioned that I would try to explain how schools that are "on the bubble" are often hurt by this situation in comparison to schools that aren't.

In my terminology, this simply means that we have just enough students to put us in violation of the state-mandated 22:1 teacher/pupil ratio. So, we have to add additional teachers or be in violation of state requirements. This has tremendous impact on our district. For example, let's say that a school district has 28 second grade students - the state says the maximum, with certain exceptions, that you can have in a specified grade is 24. Because we have 28, we have to hire another teacher for, in essence, four youngsters (actually, the class is split and you have two classes of 14 students each). Now, you have two small classes. It costs as much to heat, cool, light, clean, insure and so on for the 4 additional students as it does for a classroom of 22 students. Anytime you have numbers that put you "on the bubble," it costs more per pupil because you have the same expense that other districts do but they have more students and that generates more state revenue.

If you're having to pay a teacher and all the above for 28 students, a neighboring district might be paying the same for 40 students and they're generating the revenue the extra students bring in from the state, it's easy to see which district has the most money and probably the lower tax rate (referring to the last article I wrote). Districts like ours need, more than anything else, additional students. Since we don't have the transfer potential that surrounding districts do, it makes growth for our district very slow.

I also mentioned in my last article that I would address cutting costs and budgets. Cutting costs is consistently a way of life at Muenster ISD. We always look for the best quality and the best price and we try our best to keep as much of your tax money at home as we can. Someone recently told me that the best tax is a local tax because most of it stays at home and benefits the community. Cutting costs encompasses the entire spectrum of school finance. We watch our utilities very closely, even to the point of having policies that control thermostat settings. In the summer, we don't turn on air conditioning in the buildings except in areas that we are doing administrative work.

It has been said that people that spend other people's money could care less because it's not theirs - this is certainly not true of MISD's school board. They are very conscientious and give much thought to each and every expenditure of the taxpayers' money because everyone making those kind of decisions pays taxes, too.

We are continuously looking for ways to cut our costs and reduce our budget each year. Very rarely are we able to cut costs enough to drastically reduce the budget from one year to the next because the cost savers rarely add up to the increases imposed by the state mandates, such as raises.

Because schools operate in the same realm you and I do (and that is one of increasing yearly costs for just about all things, it is difficult to meet all state requirements and drastically reduce a budget from one year to the next.

As mentioned in my last article, MISD is on public record for educating students for approximately $3700 per pupil, one of the better expenditures per pupil in the state. We also rank in the top 2% academically in the state. Bottomline, the taxpayer is getting something for the money invested in education in Muenster.

The last point I would like to address, in this article, is cutting the budget. Many feel this is the answer to higher taxes and, as mentioned earlier, the taxpayer will ultimately make that decision. In my mind, cutting costs and cutting the budget are different. When you start cutting the budget, you are eliminating teachers and programs. If MISD is economically and efficiently educating students now and it ranks in the top 2% of the state academically (top 2% according to last year's accreditation ratings - we anticipate a higher ranking this year which would put our district in the top 1% in the state of Texas), then it is awfully difficult to determine where any programs should be cut, particularly any one program that would have any great impact on taxes.

It is also very apparent that education is of paramount importance to the parents, patrons and to all those that live in this community. We know that demands on education have changed and are changing. Some of those demands are legitimate, some are not. If we address only the legitimate demands of change, which we have done and are doing, in order to prepare our kids for a changing future, then we have little choice but to provide them the best education we can afford.

As I stated above communities, eventually, always make the decision as to what is affordable. Keep in mind, however, it's one thing to provide money for educating kids when you get little return on your investment in the way of results (this is happening in much of America and Texas today). It is another thing entirely to provide money for education and to get the kind of results MISD gets for the taxpayer's investment. MISD welcomes the accountability factor and we think that should be our motivation to continue to be efficient and effective.

Services held for Margie Walterscheid

Mass of Christian Burial was held in Sacred Heart Church on July 11 for Margie Ann (Knabe) Walterscheid, who succumbed at age 31 to an illness of 10 years, on July 8, 1994 at 6:05 p.m.

Father Frowin Schoech, OSB, officiated for the Funeral Mass and delivered the Homily. Father David Bellinghousen, OSB, was concelebrant.

Among those who participated in the funeral liturgy were Mary Lin Knabe and Deb Klement, who gave Readings from the Old Testament and New Testament, respectively. Kristin Grewing read Offertory petitions and Deann Felderhoff, Amy Sicking and Rae Ann Walterscheid presented Offertory gifts at the altar.

Eucharistic Ministers were Connie Grewing, Viola Rohmer, Kim Felderhoff, Regina Pels and Shellie Hoedebeck.

Sacred music was presented by Emily Klement, Bill Bivin, Pam and Dave Fette. They sang, "I Am the Resurrection," "Psalm of the Good Shepherd," "Holy Darkness," "Amazing Grace," "Hail Mary, Gentle Woman," "Edelweiss Blessing" and "Press On."

After Communion Meditation, Renate Knabe read Margie Walterscheid's favorite poem, "Help Us To See and Understand," written by Helen Steiner Rice in Somebody Loves You.

On Sunday afternoon, a Rosary service was held in McCoy Funeral Chapel at 4 p.m. Wake service was held in the chapel at 7 p.m. and Bill Bivin sang Eric Clapton's "No Tears in Heaven."

Burial in Sacred Heart Cemetery was directed by McCoy Funeral Home of Muenster. Graveside prayers were led by Father Frowin Schoech, OSB.

Pallbearers were Helmuth Koelzer, Rick Walterscheid, Gary Walterscheid, Troy Lutkenhaus, Jody Felderhoff and Gus Reiter. Honorary pallbearers were Donna Biffle, Ginger Stoffels and Rhonda Baldwin. Also attending were members of Toby's Little League baseball team and their coaches.

Margie Walterscheid was born on June 23, 1963 in Gainesville to Arnold W. Knabe and Aileen Koelzer Knabe. On Oct. 15, 1983, she married Damian Walterscheid in Sacred Heart Church. He survives, along with one son, Toby Walterscheid; also three sisters, Janet Felderhoff of Muenster, Carol Sicking of Myra and Lorie Grewing of Muenster; and two brothers, Gary and Darrell Knabe of Muenster; and the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Gertrude Koelzer of Muenster.

Preceding her in death were the maternal grandfather, Pete Koelzer, and the paternal grandparents, Albert and Anna Knabe.

Margie was a member of Sacred Heart Church, the Muenster Cancer Support Group and a graduate of Sacred Heart High School. She was a devoted wife, mother and homemaker and a beloved daughter, sister and granddaughter. She was a hostess at The Center Restaurant and a volunteer in CCD and many school activities. Among her hobbies were her flower garden, which she dearly loved, many crafts, and going fishing and outdoor life in general.

Among relatives and friends attending the funeral from out of town were Glen Hermes, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Jones, Debbie Bates and Kevin Hermes, all of Madill; Hilda Prescher of Valley View; Mary Teasley of Dallas; Ruby Wimmer of Oklahoma City; Colleen Fette Garcia; Mike and Janelle Harding of Denton; Walt Stevens of Era; Louis Hacker of Whitesboro; Gary and Dian Zimmerer; Gina Wisdom of Crowell; Conrad Boerner of Pilot Point; Henry and Mary Constancia; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Morrison; Keith Koelzer and Melena of Oklahoma City; Larry and Stephanie Reiter of Dallas; Joyce Reid; Sister Anselma Knabe of Fort Worth.

Ranch Rodeo draws full roster this weekend

Cooke County Young Farmers and Ranchers invite everyone to come and check out the competition at their annual Ranch Rodeo this weekend. Events are similar to work that a cowboy might have to do on a working ranch.

There is a full list of competitors. To compete the team must come from an area ranch. Action will take place in the Saint Jo Rodeo Arena on Saturday at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday at 2 p.m.

Competing Saturday night are Cross N Ranch of Era, Gainesville Livestock and Cripple Creek of

Rosston welcomes all to Sam Bass Day

Rosston is planning an evening of activities for visitors during their annual Sam Bass Day fund-raiser on Saturday, July 16. Organizers ask that everyone note a change in times. Instead of the all-day celebration people are accustomed to it was decided to begin at 4 p.m. and conclude at 1 a.m. Each year Rosston area residents pull together to earn money for the Rosston Volunteer Fire Department. A horseshoe tournament and 4 on 4 volleyball tournament will kick off the event at 4 p.m. Fiddlers will have their instruments tuned and ready for the annual fiddlers' contest at 5 p.m.

From 6 to 8 p.m. a barbecue supper will be served for $5 adults and $2.50 12 and under. The auction and raffle drawing are scheduled for 8 p.m. Followed by a country and western dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. with music by Doug Marin and the Rustlers.

Other entertainment includes music, trolley rides, a children's raffle, souvenirs and more.

More information can be obtained by calling (817)768-2780.

Indictment filed for Germanfest incident

by Elaine Schad
The Cooke County grand jury has returned indictments against three men in connection with the aggravated assaults of law enforcement officers in three separate incidents, one of which occurred at this year's Germanfest in Muenster.

Gregory Aaron Bell, 26, was indicted for aggravated assault of Cooke County Sheriff's Department reserve deputy David Tharp. The indictment charges that Bell assaulted Tharp on April 24 in Muenster while Tharp was attempting to arrest Bell at the Muenster Germanfest, according to Don King, Cooke County assistant district attorney.

Ronald Lee Ellison, 27, was indicted for aggravated assault as a habitual offender in connection with a May 27 incident involving Cooke County Sheriff's Deputy Val Escobedo. Ellison is charged with assaulting Escobedo while the officer was attempting to arrest the defendant, King said.

A third case involved the indictment of John Wesley Harp, 18, in connection with the May 10 aggravated assault of Gainesville Police Officer Belva McClinton.

prepare a grant application for the city for a Community Development Block Grant through the Texoma Council of Governments. The city will be competing with other cities in the three-county area of Grayson, Fannin and Cooke. Council members will be visiting with city residents in coming weeks to gather data which can be used for the grant application, Walterscheid said. The city could be awarded up to $250,000 which would be used to upgrade the water and sewer systems.

In another action, the council raised the mowing rate for residents who request that the city mow their lots from $15 to $25 per hour.

Amy Bonner becomes bride of Darrin Smith

Amy Lynn Bonner of Muenster and Darrin Craig Smith of Gainesville were married in Sacred Heart Church on Saturday, June 25, 1994, with Father Victor Gillespie, OSB, officiating at the Nuptial Mass and recitation of vows in a double-ring ceremony at 5 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Edward T. and Kathy Bonner of Muenster and the groom is the son of Paul and Reita Smith of Gainesville.

Presented at the altar by her father, the bride was wearing an Angelo original wedding gown of white satin featuring a Queen Anne neckline, fitted Basque bodice, tapered sleeves that came to a point over her wrists and a cathedral-length train, heavily encrusted with pearls, crystals, lace appliques with illusion inserts. The open, heart-shaped back was adorned with strands of pearls and crystals. Her veil of illusion fell from a caplet covered with lace, flowers, pearls and crystals.

She carried a bouquet of white roses, accented with mauve and burgundy roses, baby's breath and pearls.

For sentiment and tradition, in a small, hand-crocheted purse made by her late paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Frank Yosten, the bride carried a pink rosary from her late maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Henry Wiesman. Also in the small purse was a favorite picture of the bride as a little girl with her late grandmother, Mrs. Nannie Bonner. For "something borrowed," she wore a pearl ring belonging to her grandmother, Mildred Yosten.

ATTENDANTS
Tracy Henscheid of Muenster, a friend of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Sherie Bonner of Muenster, bride's sister, Cheryl Edowes of Gainesville and LeAnn Mollenkopf of Muenster, friends of the bride.

They wore tea-length hunter green satin and lace gowns featuring sweetheart necklines, short puffed sleeves with satin bows, deep V-back necklines with bow at the center back. Their flowers held mauve and burgundy roses with mauve baby's breath.

Randell Hall of Gainesville, cousin of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Joey Wilson of Lindsay, friend of the groom, Kevin Smith, groom's brother, and Jimmy Paul Smith, groom's cousin, and both of Gainesville.

Ushers were Melvin Yosten of Muenster, groom's uncle, Tommy Bonner, bride's brother of Gainesville, Greg Hanson of Lindsay, a friend, and Jeff Marion of Waco, groom's cousin.

Wedding music was presented by Ruth Felderhoff, organist, and Shawna Herr, soloist, including "Wind Beneath My Wings," "Follow Me," "The Greatest Gift," "The Rose" and "Father, Unite Us."

The Unity candle was made by the bride's mother.

Taking part in the special wedding liturgy were Tara Yosten, Gina Yosten and Sarah Hess, cousins of the bride, with Liturgical Readings; and Andrew Yosten, Staci Yosten and Jason Vogel presented Offertory gifts at the altar.

Church decorations included arrangements of pink flowers on the altar and tall candelabras holding long burgundy candles. Burgundy and mauve bows marked family pews in the center aisle.

RECEPTION
A reception, dinner and dance were held in the Sacred Heart Community Center, hosted by parents of the bride.

Lisa Aycox and Gina Davenport, friends of the bride, presided at the guest book.

The bride's table, covered with white cloths, held hunter green bells and burgundy ribbon and also the couple's engagement picture and childhood pictures; also a floating candle and Precious Moments figurine given to the bride from the maid of honor.

The three-tiered white wedding cake featured staircases leading to two smaller cakes, with tiny figures dressed in the wedding colors. A Precious Moments figurine decorated the top layer, and a lighted fountain was placed under the cake, which was made by Betty Rose Walterscheid. Cake servers were Randi Hall, Jessica Hall, Sarah Hess, Gina Yosten and Staci Yosten.

MRS. DARRIN CRAIG SMITH
...nee Amy Lynn Bonner...

Decorations in the reception area included floating balloons, bells suspended from the ceiling; guest tables covered in white with ribbons in the bride's colors, and centerpieces of candles in globes.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by parents of the groom, was held at The Center Restaurant.

Since returning from a wedding trip to Eureka Springs, Arkansas, the couple resides in Gainesville.

The bride is a 1987 graduate of Sacred Heart High School and is employed at Wal-Mart. The groom is a 1983 graduate of Gainesville High School and is employed by Tetra Pak as a machine operator.

Allison Klement excels at Texas Tech

Allison Klement has recently been notified by Texas Tech University of two scholarship awards for the 1994-95 school year. The J. TCP receives award

Francis Pelley, Executive Director of the Texoma Council of Governments (TCOG), accepted a Distinguished Achievement Award from the National Association of Regional Councils (NARC). In attendance at the recent NARC National Conference, along with Pelley, were board members Cecil Jones, Beth Ann Knox and Billy Kerr, president of the board.

The Distinguished Achievement Award was presented to TCOG in recognition of the Texoma Community Partnership. The Partnership is funded by a grant from the Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP) in Washington, D.C. Awards were presented at the conference to recognize excellence in the programs and services of regional councils; to promote creativity among councils in carrying out regional concepts; and to broadcast the achievements of regional councils.

The Partnership was judged by the following criteria: Significance of the program/project in promoting/exemplifying regional coordination or cooperation;

Innovation in concept or approach; Impact on the region; and Involvement of private and civic sectors. Awards were determined by juries which included one NARC policy official; one council executive director; and three appointments by the NARC Executive Director of representatives from among public interest and academic institutions.

The Partnership submitted a five-page description of the program addressing the criteria set forth above. The narrative was a general overview of the program and focused on specific projects which included the First Texoma Cultural Diversity Conference with Yolanda King and Clifton Davis as keynote speakers; Spanish Lessons; Spanish Translation Software; Brown Bag Medicine Reviews; and the Parenting Newsletter.

Upon returning from the conference, Cecil Jones attended the Full Partnership Breakfast on Friday, June 3, in Sherman and presented Bonnie Estes, the Texoma Community Partnership's program director, with the national award.

VICKI COWLING, Program Planner for Texoma Community Partnership, proudly displays the Distinguished Achievement Award which TCP received last month in recognition of excellence in the Partnership's programs.

Grayson Co. Fair July 28-31

Expert gardeners in Grayson and surrounding counties will have the opportunity to display their expertise in the canned foods division at the county fair or their culinary talents by entering their products in the baked goods division. Categories include cakes, breads, cookies and pies. Foods must have been canned during the 93-94 season. There will be three divisions in the canned foods competition: canned fruits and vegetables; jellies, preserves, marmalades, butters and jams; and relishes and pickles. All entries must be displayed in standard canning jars with ring and lid cover and will be judged on appearance, color, clarity, pack and liquids, but none of the entries will be tasted.

Types of cakes to be judged are layer, loaf, pound and decorated cakes. Breads include yeast, biscuits and cornbread. Drop cookies, icebox cookies, bars and brownies will be judged in the cookies categories. Fruit, berry and nut or vegetable pies will be accepted in the pie category. Pre-registration will be from 2 to 5 p.m. July 19 or 9 to 11 a.m. July 21 on the second floor of the Grayson County Courthouse, 100 W. Houston in Sherman.

The official Grayson County Fair booklet which outlines all rules and regulations for fair events is available at the Grayson County Extension Office, or for more information, call Jerri Kelley at 903-813-4206. The fair is scheduled for July 28-31 at Loy Lake Park.

MMH unites in fundraising efforts for OB department

In an effort to raise money for the Muenster Memorial Hospital's obstetrics and nursery department, MMH employees sponsored a combination bake and garage sale on June 18. All employees and staff rallied to organize the event. They gathered, sorted, priced and prepared items for the garage sale. In addition they brought their best baked goodies for the sale. Homemade barbecue sandwiches, chips and drinks were available for hungry workers and shoppers.

The event was very successful. The MMH staff expressed their gratitude to the local community and to the surrounding communities that supported the fund raiser. All unsold items from the garage sale were donated and delivered to the Joe Walter Sheltered Workshop.

Originally a goal of $5,000.00 was set by the employees of the Muenster Hospital to be donated to the OB Fund from personnel donations. The goal was met and exceeded after personal contributions and fund raising activities. Due to the success of this fund raising drive, the enthusiastic employees have raised their ultimate goal to $10,000.00 to become a Golden Eagle.

So far the MMH employees and staff have accumulated a handsome total of $7,167.77 to be donated to the OB Fund. Proceeds will be used to purchase equipment and remodel the hospital obstetrics department and nursery in order to deliver babies once again at the hospital.

The winners of the Muenster Memorial Hospital raffle held on July 5 are as follows: Complete physical (breast and pelvic exam and pap smear) by Dr. Currier - Jim Endres; Mammogram at MMH - Shari Flusche; Intarsia wood inlay from Herman Carroll - Sandy Felderhoff; 4 green fees and 2 golf carts at Turtle Hill - Margaret Kupper; Designer watch from The Front Room - Mary Adams; Shoes from Factory Bran Shoes - Jeannie Hess; Haircut & blow dry at Mane Attractions - Mary Ann Koelsler; $10 gift certificate from Neil's Phillips 66 - Lillian Walterscheid; 2 Mexican Dinners at La Casa - Wallace Inglish; Barbecue dinner for 2 at The Smokehouse in Lindsay - Rachel Hennigan; Dinner for 2 at The Wooden Spoon - Henry S. Knabe; 2 cases Dr. Pepper from Fleitman Drink Sales - Shawn Hess; Wreath from Betty Miller - Rose Hudspeth; homemade pecan pie from Anna Herr - Mary Ann Koelsler; juicer from Emma Lou Hess - Martha Hess; Lotto/scratch tickets from MMH nurses - LaVerna Nasche; Car detail from Bob Sulprizio - Mary Ann Koelsler; Ceramic salt & pepper shakers from Princess Skaggs - Theresa Walterscheid; Silver jewelry set from The Front Room - Francie Yosten.

Darren Bindel inducted into Phi Eta Sigma

Darren Bindel, an Animal Science major at Tarleton State University, was one of this year's inductees into Phi Eta Sigma.

The Tarleton State University affiliate of Phi Eta Sigma, a national freshman honor society, recently inducted 50 students into its chapter.

Students are invited to join Phi Eta Sigma if they have received a 3.5 cumulative grade point average on a 4.0 scale by the close of their freshman year.

Once they become members of the honor society, students are able to apply for undergraduate and graduate scholarships of $1,000 and $2,000 respectively.

Attending the award ceremony and banquet were Darren's mother, Sug Bindel, and his sister, Debbie Hale, both of Muenster.

Cousins visit in Amarillo

Mrs. Marie Vogel flew to Amarillo to visit her cousin, Angela Furbach, a former longtime resident of Muenster. Mrs. Vogel was accompanied by her two daughters, While Marie and Angela went over old times, the others saw the sights of Amarillo, including the Big Texas Steak House - where, if you can eat a 72-oz. steak in one hour, you get it free - and the American Quarterhorse Museum. The musical play, "Texas," was seen in the Palo Duro Canyon State Park, complete with fireworks after dark. The Sad Monkey Railroad took them along the canyon where no car can go, seeing the sights of Palo Duro Canyon.

On Sunday, the group went to Mass at St. Mary's and out to lunch. The boys really enjoyed the visit with Angela's son, John Furbach and his wife. His house was a museum, displaying his hunting, fishing and traveling treasures.

Helen Patel and Jeanne Parker, and their sons, Aaron Patel and Nick Bass. Marie enjoyed reminiscing over all photographs and handwork done by Angela over the years.

Reading the story of "Bruno the Terrible" in last week's Enterprise took me back to the '50s, when we kept a flock of about 250 laying hens.

We had an arrangement with Clive Goble, the local hatchery man, whereby we kept the proper breed of hens, and he furnished breeding roosters of a different type. This cross produced a hybrid chicken that was much in demand. For this reason, Clive would buy our eggs all through the hatching season, and pay a premium price.

After the hatching season was over, we were told to dispose of the roosters in whatever manner suited us.

Well, one year Clive brought a dozen red roosters. I can't recall the breed name, but they were large and red and soon each had staked his claim to a certain part of the barnyard and his harem of hens. These birds guarded their territory jealously and would instantly attack any intruder.

One of these birds was especially fierce and would sometimes take me on when I was caring for the flock. I sort of got a kick out of his antics and that's usually what he got from me before he could do much harm, but some of the kids didn't fare so well and soon learned to keep their distance.

It happened that the family arrived home one evening a bit late and, to speed up the evening chores, Aileen offered to gather the eggs and feed the hens their usual 5-gallon bucket of oats while I busied myself with the milking.

I had just stepped out of the barn in time to see Aileen pouring the last of the oats and, as she started to walk away, this bad old rooster flew up on her back, pecking and spurring and squawking loudly, then landed in front of her and attacked her legs, tearing her nylons.

Well, this was a fatal mistake. I can still picture that 5-gallon bucket, poised high over her head and then its swift descent in a big arc, just before it struck the bird broadside, sending him rolling.

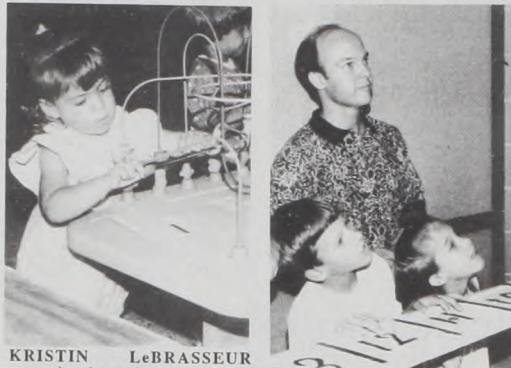

There is little more to tell about this rooster, except he was a tough old boy, too tough to eat, but the soup was delicious.

NCTC Singers experience successful year

"The College Singers of North Central Texas College have concluded perhaps their busiest year," said Dr. Mike Linder, NCTC College Singers director and music department head.

"The NCTC College Singers gave over 40 performances during the '93-94 academic year," said Linder, culminating May 28 as the singers performed the National Anthem at the Texas Rangers baseball game before 46,000 fans. They were highlighted on the big scoreboard as they sang and also renewed acquaintances with Rangers Managing General Partner George W. Bush before the game and were also honored to sing "God Bless America" before the Dallas Mavericks basketball game on April 16.

FIRST LADY OF COUNTRY MUSIC performs at Six Flags Over Texas July 23 and 24. Tickets for both shows are available and can be purchased for $6, in addition to park admission, at any TicketMaster outlet or the Six Flags concert booth. Both shows start at 8 p.m.

It Was News Then

50 YEARS AGO June 9, 1944

John Sturm, 85, native of Lindsay, dies here at home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sturm, Fifth War Loan Drive, largest amount ever asked from Cooke county, is launched with quota at $1,290,000. A community canning project for Muenster, and another for Gainesville, is a possibility. June 20 designated "Muenster Day" for blood plasma donors. Harvesting in Muenster area is in progress - yield is 10% above average, and approximately 30 percent more was planted than last year. Civic League and Garden Club holds annual pilgrimage and flower show, visiting six homes and gardens. Horse show Sunday afternoon, first of its kind ever held in Muenster, has audience of several hundred, who see 50 horses and 25 colts, fancy riding, races and contests. T. Miller wins prize for best-gaited colt; Ben Sicking, Charley Hellman and Barney Voth are also winners. Mrs. T.S. Myrick won first place on the best-gaited saddle pony and Mrs. R.L. McNeley won all-around best-looking pony. Runners-up were the ponies of Alfred Bayer, Ben Sicking, Al Walter, Dorothy Hartman, J.P. Flusche and Al Trubenbach. R.L. McNeley did some fancy riding; Johnny Bayer put his pony through a good bronco-busting act; and Leonard Hartman provided a comedy show with his tame mule.

30 YEARS AGO June 12, 1964

Jaycees sponsor pageant to name Miss Muenster, in preparation for Miss Texas Pageant. Servicemen of five wars - Civil War, Spanish/American War, World War I, World War II and the Korean War - are remembered in the community's annual memorial service. Annual classes begin in Red Cross Water Safety program. Harvest of poor grain crop nears midway point. New arrivals: a son for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hess; a son for Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Bezner. Wedding: Tommie Sue Hamilton marries Pat Hess in Sacred Heart Church.

10 YEARS AGO June 8, 1984

Citizen complaints lead to city council considering ban on alcoholic beverages at city's baseball park, where softball leagues, little league and other recreational groups have frequent games. Waylen Poole, Scoutmaster of Boy Scout Troop #644, is named Outstanding Citizen for 1984. Annual Father's Day Picnic in Sacred Heart Parish on June 17 will feature dinner, menu of fried chicken, sausage, beans, potato salad, vegetable salad, homemade bread, pie, tea, coffee. Booths will offer barbecue sandwiches during the afternoon. Tug-of-war organized by Neil Huchton will be one of highlights. Gary Zimmerer earns Bachelor of Science degree in Agricultural Engineering at Texas Tech. Stephen Walterscheid earns Bachelor of Fine Arts degree at North Texas State University. Denise Fuhrmann is Magna Cum Laude graduate of Texas Woman's University. Wedding: Charlotte Fleitman marries David Martin at Sacred Heart Church. Bob Buckel named managing editor at Muenster Enterprise. Home of Virgil and Judy Hess wins "Yard of the Month" honors from Muenster Garden Club. New arrivals: a son for Gary and Mary Endres; a son for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mark Walterscheid. Residents get opportunity to see Olympic torch as it passes on Hwy. 377 from Oklahoma enroute to Dallas and eventually to Los Angeles for 1984 Olympic Games. Father Cletus Post of Lindsay is honored on 45th anniversary of ordination. Ella Nortman, 75, dies in Lindsay.

50 YEARS AGO June 16, 1944

Brief illness takes life of John A. Yosten, age 70. Muenster receives first 1944 wheat on June 9 from Joe Trubenbach - next load by G.H. Hellman. Special services held here to observe Feast of Corpus Christi with pomp and splendor, at 7:30 p.m., with solemn procession to two outdoor chapels, benediction at each, and a third benediction back in Sacred Heart Church. Indoor decorations of green boughs tied to interior pillars, sacred hymns played by the Muenster Youth Band, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus in full regalia, and an escort carrying the embroidered white and gold silk canopy over the Blessed Sacrament, added to the solemnity. Severe burns send Frank Hennigan to Muenster Clinic for treatment over legs, hands and arms. Accident happened when the tractor he was filling with gas burst into flames.

30 YEARS AGO June 19, 1964

Sacred Heart Parish extends welcome for fourth Homecoming, as hustle and bustle gains momentum. Smorgasbord menu features fried chicken, baked ham, vegetables, salads and homemade pies. A spirit of carnival exists - tents, concession booths, refreshment stands, country store, rides for kids, various games and a dance at night are added attractions. Shower of .60 inch was welcome last Tuesday. First assignment for Father Harry Fisher sends him to St. Mary's Church in Gainesville. Tom J. Pryor, 88, dies in Myra. Mrs. John Walterscheid, 75, dies in Muenster. Rising Red River isolates Charlie Winchester on Oklahoma side. Muenster firemen rescue him, with fishing gear, surplus clothing, etc. Willie Walterscheid, Jerry Wimmer, Alvin Hartman and Jimmy Doughty are Muenster firemen, using Walterscheid's boat. Coming uphill from the river, the pickup could not manage the load, so the passengers got out to walk, but Winchester suffered a heart attack. Later, the firemen carried him uphill when he felt better. "Come hell or high water," the saying goes, "Marysville knows they can depend on the Muenster Volunteer Fire Dept." Twenty-four additional blocks paved in summer paving project. One of poorer harvest seasons ends in Muenster. Charlotte Wolf wins Jaycee-sponsored Miss Muenster Contest. Three more flood prevention reservoirs will be constructed on Clear Creek Watershed. Wedding: Ruth Eileen Ward and Francis Butch Fisher are married in St. Peter the Apostle Church in Houston. New arrivals: a son for Mr. and Mrs. B.J. Embry; a son for Mr. and Mrs. George Mollenkopf Jr.

Amy Otto moves her skills to a new court

by Kay Grewing

The echo of a single bouncing basketball and the sound of shoes running across the wood floor could be heard throughout the gym. Practice had been officially over for almost an hour and she was one of the last ones to remain. The honor student still had tests to study for, but there was one move she had to perfect before she called it a day.

"She was always staying late to improve her game," Coach Brian Strother said of former student Amy Otto. "You could show her some new offensive moves, and she would practice until she could perfect them."

Obviously, those long hours of practice have paid off. Otto, a recent graduate of Muenster Public High School, recently signed to be a member of the Lady Vikings basketball team at Grayson County College.

"The three things that make Amy so good are her talent, her hard work and her burning desire to be the best," said Strother.

It was the combination package above that was a contributing factor to the success of the Muenster Lady Hornettes basketball team. As a junior, Otto helped lead the Hornettes to their first-ever State Runner-up title.

When one reviews her statistics, there is no doubt that she will be an asset to the Lady Vikings. During her senior year alone, she scored 512 points, bringing her four-year average to 10.1 points a game. In fact, in Muenster High School's history of 5-on-5 basketball, Amy is the top scorer.

Unlike many players, Amy can score from any given spot on the court. Her ability to hit 3's led to some 30-point games for Otto. As her coach stated, she was "deadly" with her post-up moves. Opposing teams knew the 3-year starter for her ability to shoot off the dribble, both right- and left-handed, which is one of the most difficult shots to master. With the combined moves above, she is a threat to any team.

But shooting isn't her only talent. Otto rebounded 600 shots during her four years on the court. Her four-year average of assists was 1.6 per game. During her senior year, she had 89 steals, which added up to a four-year total of 250.

"Amy, I feel, played some of her best ball during the last nine games of her junior year," said Strother. "During the playoff games, Amy was at her best, carrying us on her back some games."

It was in those playoff games that she scored over 20 points four times and had a playoff game average of 18 points per game.

Otto continued to use her talents to their peak during her final year as a Lady Hornette. Once again, the co-captain of her team was a driving force behind their trip to the Regional Tournament. Otto was selected as the District MVP during the '93-94 season. She was further honored when she was chosen as a 2nd Team All-State basketball player.

Amy will begin college at Grayson County Aug. 30. She is the daughter of Ed and Darlene Otto.

Game Warden News of the Weird

Texas game wardens have a tough job. They roam the woods and waters of the state protecting our natural resources. They also have to deal with every kind of situation conceivable.

A few of the recent game warden "moments" are listed below. Some are humorous, some are not. Mix them all together and you'll see what game wardens put up with on a daily basis.

On May 28, at Lake Meredith, the hot sun and a day at the lake led to short tempers for water lovers in two boats. (I'll call the boats A and B or you'll get really confused.)

It started when Boat A ran between Boat B and its skier, cutting the tow rope. In retribution, Boat B ran over Boat A's tow rope, pulling the boat backward and sinking it before leaving. As one could imagine, the dialogue is not printable.

Later at the dock, the occupants met again with the wife from Boat A (the sunken boat) punching the male operator of Boat B. Boat B operator then knocked Boat A wife into the lake. Boat A husband didn't like it, went to his wife's rescue and soon he ended up in the lake courtesy of Boat B operator.

Finally, both operators were arrested and charges of reckless/negligent operation of a boat were filed on each.

Game wardens, along with U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service agents, inspected a local taxidermy shop in Fort Worth that was advertising mounted wildlife for sale. More than $40,000 of wildlife items were for sale, including some endangered species. Multiple state and federal charges were filed against the owner.

The Galveston law enforcement office received a complaint from a man who was cited for not putting a life jacket on his 4-month-old baby. The man complained the life "preserver," as they are sometimes called, made the baby cry. (Considering how many hours game wardens spend searching for drowning victims, a baby crying is a beautiful noise.)

Game wardens Tommy Johnson of Riverside and Eddie Hines of Conroe were patrolling Lake Conroe late one night in May when they sighted two men in a boat fishing. The men passed all the checks except they were in possession of five undersized catfish. The men said they were going to release the fish when they got back to the dock. They said they were afraid they would catch the fish again if they released them while they were still fishing.

Albert Flores, San Patricio game warden, recently received a call about an alligator in Taft. It seems a 7-foot-long alligator had crawled into the town's Dairy Mart and the people wanted it out. When Flores arrived, he found the 'gator drenched with mace that had been applied by the local police department. The gator was successfully relocated to a safer environment.

Williamson County game wardens received a call in reference to trespassing on a local ranch. Upon arrival, seven subjects were spray painting the walls of a large cave. The subjects ran but were captured. Charges of trespass, criminal mischief and evading detention were filed on each person.

Cass County game warden received a call about a man in his late 40s falling out of a boat and drowning in a private lake. After the body was recovered, the man's lifejackets were found in the front seat of his pickup.

Golf Gab

by Dot Endres

Five men from the U.S.G.A. arrived Thursday, July 7, to rate Turtle Hill Golf Course. Three of the guys played the course - one a scratch player and the other two bogey players. The remaining two would rate the holes as they were played. Some recommendations were made but, overall, the course rated very well. In two to three weeks, Turtle Hill will have the ratings for handicaps and etc. The guys were highly impressed with the greens and the course, considering it to be only in operation a year. They will be back when the back nine holes are complete for another rating for 18 holes.

As you readers recall, one of our golfers has made an eagle several times that did not count. He has gone one step further by making a hole-in-one on #8 but, yes, it was holed into the wrong flag just like the eagles that didn't count. Tough luck, Don!

Coming tournaments: July 17, Muenster Golf Association Scramble. Remember, Leo will be making the hamburgers for this one. Call early. July 31, 2-Man Scramble - big prize money tournament - limited to the first 28 teams. Tee-off time 9 a.m. This will be a good one.

Winners: Friday Night Scramble - 1st, Jon LeBrasseur, Danny Walterscheid, Steve Stoffels and Danna Wimmer with a 7 under; 2nd, Kenny Felderhoff, Don Endres, Mike Frost, Shirley Grewing; 3rd, Willie Walterscheid, Terry Walterscheid, Pat Dieze and Dot Endres. Ladies Day - Skins Game, Dot Endres, putts Fay Hamric. Tuesday Night Couples Scramble - 1st, Don and Dot Endres; 2nd, Willie Walterscheid and Shirley Grewing.

When the result of a hole has been determined, players should immediately leave the green. Wait until you get to the next tee to write down your score.

That's par for another week from Turtle Hill.

Sunburn Saturday Bike Rally Aug. 6

On Saturday, Aug. 6, the Southwestern Diabetic Foundation, Inc. is sponsoring Sunburn Saturday, a bike rally benefiting Camp Sweeney, a residential summer camp for children with diabetes. Last year, 441 children attended Camp Sweeney.

Registration is from 7 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. with an entry fee of $10 for pre-registration and $12 the day of the race. This fee includes an official Sunburn Saturday Bike Rally T-shirt.

The two courses of 10 miles and 50k consist of a scenic course with a combination of flats, rolling hills and a few hills to challenge. The race starts at 9 a.m.

For more information, contact the Southwestern Diabetic Foundation, P.O. Box 918, Gainesville, TX 76241, 817-665-5902.

First Communicants honored

Christina Weinzapfel

In observance of the First Communion Day of their daughter, Christina Julia Weinzapfel, Ronnie and Tina Weinzapfel hosted a family dinner in their home, serving Christina's favorite meal, a steak dinner with all the trimmings and inviting a number of relatives.

Guests included the godmother, Vicki Mollenkopf, and godfather, Robert Weinzapfel; the grandparents, Henry and Janie Weinzapfel, and George and Leoba Mollenkopf; and a number of aunts, uncles and cousins.

The decorated lamb-shaped cake was made by Christina's paternal grandmother, who used the cake mold that belonged to her great-grandmother, Anda Hellman. The cake mold is over 100 years old, and was used to make Janie's First Communion cake.

Melinda Walterscheid

A family gathering honored Melinda Walterscheid, daughter of Glenn and Jean Walterscheid, following the 10:30 Mass in Sacred Heart Church on Sunday, May 1. Dinner at 1 p.m. was served in their home. The First Communion cake, baked by Betty Rose Walterscheid, held a "Precious Moments" figurine for a keepsake.

Guests were the honoree's brother, Collin; the grandparents, Loyd and Gwen Trubenbach and Ray and Peggy Walterscheid; great-grandparents, Arnold and Dolores Friske and Louise Trubenbach; the godparents, Mel Walterscheid; Ramona and Tim Felderhoff and family; Kim and Lisa Walterscheid and family; Carol and Mark Grewing and family; Lloyd Walterscheid; Toni Trubenbach; and April Trubenbach.

Melinda's mother designed and made her First Communion dress. She wore her mother's veil. A gold cross and chain were gifts from her godfather, freshwater pearls from an aunt; and a silver cross from her mother that she wore at baptism. The candle was her mother's First Communion candle.

Bridgette Klement

A joyous family celebration was held to observe the First Communion Day of Bridgette Klement, daughter of Leon and Christi Klement, on Sunday, May 1. Bridgette shared the celebration with her cousin, Kristian Koesler, daughter of Rudy and Martha Koesler. The families met in the upstairs dining room of The Center Restaurant for dinner after the Mass in Sacred Heart Church.

Her cross-shaped cake was decorated with the inscription, "God Bless You, Bridgette," and a First Communion figurine and rosary. Videos were made and gifts opened. Bridgette's white dress and veil were made by her mother, of taffeta and lace, with fabric roses. Elliot, her brother, was one of the Mass servers.

Guests included Bridgette's sister, Andrea, and her brother, Elliot; the grandparents, Liz Koesler, Ed and Rose Klement; godparents, Robert and Gloria Klement, and son Justin. Also other relatives, Sister Francesca Walterscheid of Fort Worth; Gretchen, Brian and Michael Kostyniak of Arlington; Ronald Klement; Rudy, Martha, Raegan and Kristian Koesler; Karl and Kyle Koesler; Donna Neu; Fred and Elaine Koesler; Mary and Danny Bayer; and Denise and Cory Klement.

Kimberly Hess

The First Communion Day of Kimberly Hess was celebrated with a family gathering hosted by her parents, Gilbert and Shirley Hess, in their home when they served a turkey and dressing and "all the trimmings" dinner to a group of relatives.

Guests included grandparents, Martin and Gloria Becker; godparents, Ben and Carol Fleitman and their children, Matthew and Mark; parents, Gilbert and Shirley and Kimberly's sister Jill and brother Darrin; uncle, aunt and cousins, Paul and Brenda Becker and Joe and Diane.

The special cake, used as a centerpiece, held a First Communion figurine and the lettering, "On This Day Kimberly Received the Bread of Life." The cake was made by Betty Rose Walterscheid.

Kimberly wore her mother's First Communion veil, also worn by her sister, Jill. Both girls had their own crown headpiece.

Immediately after Mass, Kimberly and her parents visited at the home of her grandmother, Agnes Hess, who was unable to attend, because of recent eye surgery.

Diana Felderhoff

Diana Marie Felderhoff, daughter of Tom and Becky Felderhoff, was honored with two celebrations on her First Communion Day. The first was at the home of her maternal grandparents, Charles and Alice Davidson, who hosted dinner at noon.

Guests included her great-grandmother, Louise Siegmund, who gave Diana a Communion handkerchief. Other guests were Bobby Siegmund of Bowie and Joe Siegmund of Greenwood, Arkansas; also Diana's parents, brother Danny and sister Emily, whose gifts were a Bible, Guardian Angel picture and First Communion figurine. Gift from her grandparents was a Prayer Thoughts Diary.

Later in the day, the paternal grandparents, Tom and Barbara Felderhoff, joined the group to cut the First Communion cake that was shaped like a Bible, and decorated with a chalice and roses.

The second celebration was held at the home of her paternal grandparents. They also celebrated the day for two other grandchildren, Chelsea Felderhoff and Darell Henschel, by hosting a hamburger supper honoring the three cousins. Pictures were made. Diana's godparents had given her a Precious Moments Prayer Book and a First Communion veil. She received a rosary and cross necklace from the grandparents.

Others attending and celebrating the day with gifts for the three cousins were Ed and Margie York, Matthew, Chris and Alex; Bill Felderhoff, Keri, Bradley and Jenna; Andy and Susie Bezner, Jessica and Nicholas; Jackie and Michelle Henschel.

Diana, Darell and Chelsea each had their own special First Communion cake.

Kirk Hartman

Kirk Hartman, son of Tim and Janie Hartman, was the honored one at a family dinner celebrating his First Communion Day, following the Sunday morning Mass.

Guests were his grandparents, Andy and Mary Ann Arendt of Lindsay and Leonard and Emily Hartman of Muenster; also his sisters, Kristine and Jessika. His godparents were unable to attend because of distance.

Pictures were made and Kirk opened and displayed gifts from his parents and grandparents. He was one of the four children who carried Offertory gifts to the altar during the First Communion Mass.

Alisha Walterscheid

Alisha Walterscheid, daughter of Nick and Robynn Walterscheid, was the honored one at a noon dinner, hosted by her maternal grandparents, Wendell and Rita Richey, in their home, celebrating Alisha's First Communion Day.

The special cake was made by Rosina Felderhoff, a friend. Picture taking and gift opening were also enjoyed.

Guests included the grandparents, Hank and Louise Walterscheid and Wendell and Rita Richey; Alisha's sister, Dee Dee; and Stephanie, Garry, Mandy, Jaci, Laci and Jacob Felderhoff; Mark, Melanie, Megan and Mitch Hesse; and Brenda, Tiffany and Colby Richey. Also Barbie, Noah and Noel Barnhill; and Marla, Becky, Amy and Polly Fette.

Frank Klement

Frank Klement was honored by his parents, Pat and Ruth Klement, when they entertained in their home on his First Holy Communion Day with a buffet dinner and family gathering following the Mass in Sacred Heart Church.

The afternoon included visiting, picture taking and opening and display of gifts. The table centerpiece was a cake baked and decorated by Collette Biffle in the shape of a lamb.

Guests included Frank's godparents, Bernard Yosten, of Bloomingdale, Ohio, and Christy Bayer and her husband Allen and their son Robert of Lewisville; the grandparents, Tony and Sis Klement, and Mrs. Helen Yosten, all of Muenster. Also Bill and Peg Arend of Arkansas City, Kansas; Mary Ann Sheaff of Denton; Lanie Bartush and children John, Valerie, Andrea, Melanie, Rose, Catherine, Charlotte, Ginger and Robert.

Also Martin Yosten of Sulphur Springs; Charles and Ann Boles and Adam of Sulphur Springs; Helen Nietz; Donny and Renee Knabe; Darren Klement; Jenny Schneider; Crystal Klement; John Klement.

Wes Wimmer

Wes Wimmer, son of Wayne and Tammy Wimmer, was the honored one at a family gathering on his First Holy Communion Day, when his grandparents, Joaline and Virgil Henschel, entertained with a dinner in their home.

Gifts from family members were opened and displayed. Guests included Tammy, Wayne, Whitney, Sam and Calvin Wimmer; the great-grandmother, Elizabeth Mollenkopf; the grandparents Henschel; Angel, Alex, Mattie and Colynda Sicking; Lonnie, Valerie, Chad and Ryan Henschel; Tracy and Bart Henschel.

After dinner, the family went to visit a cousin, Robyn Hermes, and family and friends. A special treat for Wes was being taken to a movie out of town with his family that evening.

John Sturm

John Michael Sturm's parents, Mike and Joni Sturm, honored his First Holy Communion Day with a family gathering for dinner at The Center Restaurant, followed by dessert of cake and ice cream in their home. His special cake was baked and decorated in the shape of a cross by his mother and carried the inscription, "John's First Holy Communion Day," with gold roses.

Guests were his godparents, Gregg and Shirley Wilde, and children Jeff, Matt and Kaitlin; grandparents, Johnnie and Shirley Sturm and Ray and Marcy Wilde; and Tina, Chelsea, Brad and Hailey Womack.

Gifts were opened and displayed, and pictures were made.

Zachary Barnhill

Zachary Arthur Barnhill, son of Monte and Janet Barnhill, was honored on his First Holy Communion Day when his maternal grandparents and godparents, Arthur and Frances Bayer, entertained with a meal in their home during the afternoon. Part of the day was spent when Zachary assisted putting out and picking up the Flags for Loyalty Day.

The table centerpiece was a cake in the shape of a lamb, baked and decorated by his mother.

Guests included his parents, his sisters Mandy and Audrey and his brothers Adam and Ian; an aunt, Julia Rogers and cousins Sara and Haley of Sherman; and the hosts. Gifts were opened and displayed.

Ashley Walterscheid

Ashley Dawn Walterscheid, daughter of Donna and Craig Walterscheid, received her First

June proves stingy with local moisture

With a scant 1.06 inches of rainfall officially recorded for Muenster during the month of June, area residents would appreciate a soaking rain any time soon. According to Mary Moster who keeps the official records for Muenster, this June is the driest for this area since 1972 when only .87 inches of rain fell on Muenster's parched soil and June of 1971 when .99 inches fell. As of noon on July 6 only .38 inches of rain had been produced to refresh vegetation. Since that time a welcome 3.42 inches were recorded in Muenster with reports of some outlying areas receiving even more. Mrs. Moster's records show .39 for July 8; .17 for July 9; 1.42 on July 10; 1.41 on July 11 and 0.03 on July 12. This brings the year's total to 22.54 inches.

Holy Communion on May 1, 1994. Her white dress and veil were gifts from her grandparents, Evelyn and Donnie Walterscheid.

Ashley was honored at her home with a barbecue dinner following the Mass. The table centerpiece was a cake baked and decorated by Betty Rose Walterscheid, also her Baptismal and First Communion candles in the same candleholder used by her late great-grandfather, Herman Dangelmayr, on his Solemn Holy Communion Day. Ashley received many gifts in remembrance of her special day.

Guests included her one-year-old brother Chad; grandparents, Evelyn and Donnie Walterscheid and Betty Ann and Don Flusche; godmother Janet Bezner, Matt and Lydia Bezner; an aunt, Beth Trubenbach and Levi and Lacey; uncles, Steve and Richard Trubenbach; Melissa Bayer; Jessica Pagel. Unable to attend were a friend, Judy Pagel; and Ashley's godfather, Karl Trubenbach.

Kyle Endres

Kyle Endres, son of Bob and Kenya Endres, was honored by his parents on his First Holy Communion Day, with a family gathering following the Sunday Mass in Sacred Heart church. He chose a meal at Antonio's Restaurant. His guests, in addition to his parents and sister Mindy and brothers Mitch and Derek, were his grandparents, Kenneth and Bobbie Hale and Donald and Dorothy Endres; uncles, aunts and cousins, Jim and Shirley Endres and Allison, Brad and Chad; Shaw and Kyla Henschel and Stephanie and Jordan.

The table decoration was a cake made by Betty Rose Walterscheid, decorated with a chalice and wheat and grapes.

There was a special phone call from Kyle's godparents, Dan and Donna Schmitt of Prosser, Washington. Gifts included a Bible from his maternal grandparents and a rosary and pin to wear on his First Communion Day. He wore his big brother's white jacket, made by Dorothy Endres.

Liliana Nasche Lisa Endres Noah Hess

Three First Communicant cousins, Liliana Nasche, daughter of Angelo and LaVerna Nasche; Lisa Endres, daughter of Gary and Mary Endres; and Noah Hess, son of Doyle and Debbie Hess, were honorees who shared a family gathering on their special day.

A spaghetti dinner was served in the Nasche home at noon. A special cake was baked and decorated by Lisa's mother and Noah's aunt, Judy Fette. It was decorated with a cross and the names of Noah, Lisa and Liliana.

Guests included Noah's parents and his brother Aaron and sisters Hannah and Leah; and his grandmother, Kate Wilson; his uncle, aunt and cousin John, Judy and Anna Fette. His godparents, Larry and Pat Wimmer, were unable to attend.

Also Lisa's parents and brothers and sisters Nicole, Shauna, Luke and Natalie.

Liliana's parents and brother Matthew and brother and his wife, Angelo Jr. and Les; also Lisa, Liliana and Noah's grandparents, Gary and Caroline Hess; and friends of the Nasche family, Darace and Diane Hutchens of Fort Worth. Godparents for both Lisa and Liliana are Doyle and Debbie Hess.

Guests visited during the afternoon and the cousins enjoyed playing together on the farm.

FAMILIES, relatives and friends of little First Communicants, mostly second graders, are accustomed to seeing little boys wearing white jackets and dark trousers; little girls wearing white dresses and veils. In contrast, this treasured Photo From The Past made in 1909, shows a cousin of the late Albert Henschel at age 13 with his candlebearer. It was the accepted custom in those years for children to receive their First Solemn Holy Communion only after reaching 12 years of age. Note the formality of the portrait, the boutonniere, the prayer book, rosary and ornate candle on the table. Photo courtesy Florence Ellsworth, relative of the Henschel-Hesse families

Country Tidings

Sam Bass Day in Rosston will be Saturday, July 16. Most activities start at 4 p.m. Sam Bass Day is the annual fundraiser for the Rosston Volunteer Fire Department. There will be a volleyball tournament that may start earlier; also horseshoe pitching, fiddler's contest, dance and a barbecue supper. A raffle will include a half beef from Fischer's, and a pair of boots and other items. Children's raffle will include boys' and girls' bicycles. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy themselves.

The Singing, sponsored by the local churches, will be Sunday, July 31, at the Rosston Baptist Church starting at 6 p.m. Everyone is welcome to come and sing or just listen.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Dill drove to Keller and visited Mrs. Alma Griffin who resides in a nursing home there, then they drove to Decatur to visit Mrs. Eva Jo Jackson who had the misfortune of breaking her arm in a fall.

The Jacksons were hosts in their home on the 4th of July for a homemade ice cream party. Joe and Jackie Phillips and Carroll and Jewell Dill attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Penton attended the Lay Speaking Ministry Fellowship of Lay Speaking at Sherman June 26 at Grace United Methodist Church in Sherman. They were welcoming the new district superintendent, Rev. J. Thomas Graves, and Mrs. Graves. Rev. and Mrs. David Parker Jr. were also in attendance.

The Rosston Baptist Church honored Molly Koelzer and Wesley Sicking with a wedding shower after church Sunday, July 10. After the shower, a delicious dinner was served to all, with about 35 attending. Molly and Wesley will be married July 16 in Muenster at Sacred Heart Church.

The annual Weaver reunion met at Granbury last weekend and had approximately 100 in attendance. The C.H. Christians drove to Springtown and accompanied Jimmy and Sandy Christian to Granbury to attend the reunion. Bill and Dorothy Christian of Stephenville also attended. Fred Christian of Stephenville attended Saturday night.

Mrs. Louise Shults had as her guests Wednesday afternoon her granddaughter, Mrs. Sherree Solomon, and sons Kyle and Colton of El Paso. Sherree and her husband, Todd, had brought some young people from Canutilo Church, where Todd is pastor, to camp at Granbury.

Martin and Virginia Blackmon of Chandler visited Miss Lois Bewley and Clyde Tuesday afternoon, while enroute to visit his brother in Sherman.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hudspeth spent Monday in Wichita Falls. They were attending the bedside of their grandson, Colm O'Brien, who had surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hudspeth had as their guests for a few days last week their grandchildren, Jarrod and Danielle.

TDA warns consumers about sale of unauthorized pesticides

The Texas Department of Agriculture warns Texas consumers that out-of-state pesticide distributors are selling products that are not properly licensed for purchase and use in Texas.

These companies are telemarketing their products and seem to be focusing on farmers, local governments and school districts. Allegedly, the companies are recommending uses of their products that are inconsistent with label direction.

TDA has classified several pesticide products containing certain active ingredients as "state-limited-use pesticides" because they could affect other plant and animal life if not properly used. To use state-limited-use pesticides, an applicator must be licensed by TDA.

TDA reminds consumers to always read and follow the instructions on pesticide labels to ensure safe use of the product.

To report suspected misuse of pesticides or unauthorized sales, call a regional TDA office or toll free 1-800-835-5832 (TELL-TDA).

Family Land Heritage program now applications available

The deadline for submitting applications for the Texas Department of Agriculture's Family Land Heritage Program is August 15. The ceremony in January 1995 will mark the 21st anniversary of the program, which recognizes farms and ranches that have been in continuous production by the same family for at least 100 years.

Applications for the program are available through county judges and historical societies, as well as the department. For a farm or ranch to qualify for the program, it must be a minimum of 10 acres or have sales of at least $250 a year.

More than 2,800 operations have been honored by the department since the program began in 1974.

Additional information or applications may be obtained by writing Family Land Heritage Program, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711; or call (512) 463-7653.

Free catalogue listing available to cattle producers

Cattle producers in Oklahoma, Texas, and adjoining areas are invited to list cattle (available for sale or contract grazing) and/or pasture in an annual catalogue free of charge.

The Ardmore-based Samuel Roberts Noble Foundation, a non-profit organization which has been involved in agricultural consultation and research since 1945, will compile information submitted by producers. The information will be printed in the 1994-95 "Cattle Log," which will be mailed to more than 4,000 agriculture producers, feedlots, commission companies, and auction services later this summer. Individuals listing cattle or pasture in the publication will also receive a copy by mail.

This will be the fourth year of publication for the free catalogue. The catalogues will be divided into four sections:

- 1) Breeding cattle offered for sale.
- 2) Stocker-feeder cattle.
- 3) Pasture available for contract grazing.
- 4) Organizations and individuals placing contract cattle on pasture, summer and winter.

Those interested in listing cattle, available pastures, or receiving the sales list should contact Roberta Palmer at (405) 223-5810, or by writing: The Noble Foundation, Attn: Roberta Palmer, P.O. Box 2180, Ardmore, OK 73402.

Request for forms should be made by no later than July 23. Deadline for submitting final information is July 30.

Sun, fun and safety in rural Texas

AUSTIN-- Farm and rural families have busy lives, but they also have many leisure opportunities. However, accidents sometimes intrude to spoil the fun. Thousands are hurt and hundreds killed in rural recreational mishaps.

During the hot summer months, drowning is the leading cause of recreation-related deaths. According to the national Safety Council, swimming or boating are the usual activities contributing to drowning, though many victims fall into the water unintentionally.

Most people should be able to swim or at least float. Non-swimmers should stay out of deep water and walk with care around docks, pools or ponds. Both swimmers and non-swimmers should be encouraged to wear personal flotation devices while in boats.

And whether it's the local swimming pool or small farm pond, swimming areas should be equipped with a "rescue station." This should include a flotation device, such as a ring buoy or inner tube, a rope and a long pole. Include instructions for mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and where to go for help.

Other water safety rules that should be observed include:

- Don't swim alone or let small children go swimming without adult supervision, even in shallow water.
- Keep swimming places clean and free of debris. Fence your pool or pond.
- If someone in the water is in trouble, act quickly. Throw anything that floats. Do not attempt a hand-to-hand rescue unless you are a strong swimmer trained in rescue techniques.
- Make sure your boat is seaworthy.
- Never overload a boat. In small boats, encourage passengers to stay seated and not move around.

Encourage all boat passengers to wear personal flotation devices and have a throwable personal flotation device available for emergency use.

Medical help usually takes longer to reach the scene of an accident in isolated rural areas, therefore it is a good practice for farmers, their families and their employees to be trained in first-aid and to be prepared if an accident occurs.

Removing residues okay - when ...

Farmers prefer to leave crop residues on the soil surface to guard against erosion, reduce soil moisture loss and provide other benefits.

But, these same crop residues, plant parts remaining on the surface after harvest, are in increased demand as livestock feed, bedding, fuel for grain drying, and even feedstock for ethanol production and the manufacture of lumber and paper products.

Can farmers afford to give up the benefits of crop residues, or biomass, for other uses? What would be the consequences of failing to return these residues to the soil?

A 12-year study at Kansas State University's East-Central Experiment Field at Ottawa has been determining (1) the effects on soil properties and crop yields of returning crop residue at zero, normal and twice-normal levels on soil properties and crop yields in a soybean-wheat-grain sorghum rotation using different fertilization levels, and (2) the amounts of crop residue produced by those crops.

Keith Lanssen, agronomist-in-charge at the Ottawa field, and David Whitney, Extension soils specialist at Manhattan, have guided this study into its 13th year.

Grain yields and residue yields have varied with the crop and year. Soybeans yielded 14 to 53 bushels per acre, and residues yielded .34 to .81 tons per acre. Wheat yielded 29 to 50 bushels with residues of .99 to 1.47 tons per acre. Grain sorghum yielded 54 to 129 bushels with residues of 1.11 to 2.66 tons per acre.

Fertilizer treatments of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium increased grain and residue yields almost every year. Generally, the higher the fertilizer treatment, the higher the grain and residue yields.

The research also shows that farmers needn't fear the results of short-term or intermittent residue removal.

A Sodbuster's Sentiment

Take rest; a field that has rested gives a bountiful crop.

Nearly every man in the city wants a farm until he gets it.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

SCOUT FOR SORGHUM MIDGE EARLY AND LATE

It's midge season again, and sorghum fields in bloom or yet to bloom will need careful scouting to detect infestations from this annual insect menace known to be one of the most damaging pests of Texas sorghum.

The adult midge is a small, frail fly that lives only about a day. But during this time, the female deposits her eggs inside the developing sorghum blooms. The hatching maggots eat the developing sorghum seed, preventing kernel development. The result is a direct yield loss and "blasted" or barren sorghum heads at harvest.

Midge numbers increase steadily during the summer as multiple generations occur. An early, uniform crop that flowers before midge numbers are high is the most effective control measure. Late blooming fields are more susceptible to damaging infestations and must be scouted closely to determine if insecticide treatment is necessary.

Sorghum is only susceptible to midge infestation when yellow blooms are present. Thus, once a field begins to bloom, growers need to inspect sorghum heads to determine if midge are present in sufficient numbers to justify control.

Look for midge from about mid-morning until early afternoon. A close examination of yellow blooms will reveal the tiny, orange flies as they crawl and fly about. Another method to detect midge is to quickly place a clear plastic bag down and over the blooming head. Sharply jar the head a few times to cause the midge to fly to the top of the bag where they are more easily seen.

Keep a record of the number of heads sampled and the number of midge observed and check heads across the field to obtain an accurate sample. If midge numbers average 1 to 2 per head, and at least 20 to 25 percent of the heads are blooming, an insecticide treatment is usually justified to prevent economic loss. Scout the field again in 3 to 5 days to determine if retreatment is necessary.

Details on controlling midge and other sorghum pests is described in the publication "Managing Insect and Mite Pests of Sorghum" available from the County Extension Office.

TDA PREDATOR MANAGEMENT TRAINING SESSION

The Texas Department of Agriculture will conduct a Predator Management Training Program on Saturday, August 6, in the Assembly Room of the Grayson County Courthouse, 100 West Houston Street, in Sherman. The training session will begin at 9 a.m. and will end by 12 noon. The program will include identifying causes of predation, alternative methods of predator control, and M-44 sodium cyanide application. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is assisting TDA in conducting this free training session.

Individuals who want to use M-44 sodium cyanide to control coyotes, feral dogs and foxes preying on livestock should attend the course. To continue using M-44 sodium cyanide, all M-44 applicators certified prior to April 18, 1988, must take this course and be recertified. Proper certification to use M-44 sodium cyanide also requires possession of a private applicator certificate or license, a noncommercial applicator license or a commercial applicator license to purchase restricted-use and state-limited-use pesticides. Information on obtaining these types of licenses will be covered at the training session.

For additional information on the predator management Training Session, contact Murray Walton, Texas Department of Agriculture, (512) 463-0013, or Grayson County Agricultural Extension Agent Mark Arnold at (903) 813-4206.
