VOLUME IX

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1945

NUMBER 25

The appeal made by Foreign Commissar Molotov in his attempt to secure a seat for Poland at the San Francisco conference was touching indeed. All the civilized world sympathizes with the Poles for the hardships they had to endure as the ravages of war passed over them twice, and during that horrible time between campaigns when they were subject to the oppression of sadistic Nazi beasts.

Everybody agrees that they more than any other people have earned a right to plan the peace. Certainly they have earned it more than Argentina who, far from lifting a hand for civilization, persisted in its pro-Nazi policy until the eleventh hour and then jumped on the Allied band wagon.

That the Poles were not given representation is most unfortunate, however it does not reflect on the integrity of the conference. On the contrary it would have been a violation of integrity to admit representation from a country which has no recognized government.

In effect Molotov's eloquent appeal for Poland was more of an attempt to secure additional representation for Russia. The faction for which he sought a seat is the one approved by Moscow and naturally could be expected to cast its vote on the Russian side in every ballot.

Besides, acceptance of the delegate would have been equivalent to recognition of the Pro-Soviet Polish government. For the present, at least, other countries are not willing to do that.

It makes little difference what faction is finally recognized in Poland so long as it is the choice of the majority of Polish people and so long as it will guide them to a new era of happiness. But just now it is disappointing to realize that a people who have bled for freedom the way the Poles did should be mere pawns in the game of international power politics. At best this controversy will cause internal strife. Liberated from a common enemy they are turning on one another, perhaps to postpone the reward of their suffering for many more years.

Economy conscious people already have reason to appreciate our new president. Slashing unnecessary naval appropriations and eliminating an unnecessary federal bureau has relieved taxpayers of a considerable burden. A continuation of that policy will do much to revive traditional American initiative.

It has often been said that the power to tax is the power to destroy. If that is true the opposite should also be true. The elimination of taxes has a tendency to build. To diminish the taxpayer's load, permitting him to keep a larger portion of his earnings, is to offer an incentive for greater efforts.

Of the several versions of Hitler's exit, the most acceptable is that he took it on the lam. That applies also to some of his other henchmen who lately are so conspicuous by their absence.

First of all we can disregard as utterly ridiculous the report that he died bravely in defense of his beloved Reich. The cringing coward did not have the nerve to do it. If he did, why aren't his loyal followers coming forth with evidence to support their story? It would be the finest final tribute they could pay him, and they know it.

They don't even present evidence to show that he died of natural causes. While not crediting him with a hero's death that would at least absolve him of the charge of taking the coward's way out.

Suicide is the one death version the world would be willing to accept because it is the one most applicable to his depraved character. But even that can not be accepted until somebody produces the corpus delicti.

The probable explanation is the one predicted months ago, that he and Goebbels and Goering and a few more arch criminals would skip the county. They were not concerned about the people they led to ruin. All they cared for was to save their miserable necks.

If that's what happened we may never have the satisfaction of knowing the brutes paid a just price for their crimes. We'll only know that wherever they are they will spend their remaining days cringing in obscurity. Constantly terrified by dread of the time when they will be recognized and hauled to justice. They'll pay somehow, if they haven't already done it.

SGT. JACK NEEDHAM LIBERATED APRIL 16

Mrs. Ruth Needham learned this week that her son, S. Sgt. Jack Needham, had been liberated from a German prison camp on April 16 by the 104th Division. He had been a prisoner for 14 months.

Sgt. Needham, an aerial photographer, was serving with the army air corps in Italy when captured. Prior to that time he was in Africa and Sicily. He has been overseas for 34 months.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Cier of Valley View spent Sunday here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Wolf. They were accompanied to Muenster by their little niece and nephew, LuRena Wolf and Gene Schoech who had been visiting them for a week. Other dinner guests at the Wolf home were Mr. and Mrs. Andy Schoech and children.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rebentish returned to their home in Dallas Monday after a weekend visit with her sisters, Mmes. J. W. Meurer, L. A. Bernauer and Louisa Wies.

Richards Gets Contract For City Water Well

To J. G. Richards and Son has been given the contract to drill Muenster's new city water well. This decision was reached at the city council's meeting Monday night when several bids were considered and discussed.

The city accepted Richards' proposition for a turn key job of drilling the well for $4,000. The contract calls for depth to the Trinity sand, around 600-650 feet. Other provisions include a 3 per cent Tanco straight hole test at three depths, approximately at 250, 350 and 450 ft., cementing 10 3/4 inch casing on line at upper Trinity at approximately 430 feet; drilling through the 600 ft. Trinity; filling with pea gravel; placing perforated liner at top and bottom of Trinity; and the furnishing of 10 3/4 and 8 3/4 inch casing.

The company started moving its rig this week to location and will probably be running sometime this northeast corner of the E. M. Zipper tract at the north end of Main street in Block 69 recently purchased by the city.

The new well will solve Muenster's water problem for years to come. Well No. 1 will serve as an auxiliary.

The well site chosen has several advantages, it was pointed out. The new 100,000 gallon concrete reservoir will be installed there and since the location is high, in the event the electric current should be cut off for several days, this supply will flow into the city mains and continue to furnish water direct, when pumping into the tower is impossible. Another feature is that it is far enough removed from well No. 1 and the FMA plant's well so as not to interfere with heavy demands on the same sand level from wells that close together.

Sgt. Gene Lehnertz Seriously Wounded At Camp Shelby

Sgt. Gene Lehnertz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lehnertz, was seriously injured last Friday in the course of instructions on mines, booby traps and grenades, the parents were advised in a telegram from Camp Shelby, Miss., where he is stationed.

The first message, early Friday, stated he was "seriously injured, suffering from multiple shrapnel wounds." A second telegram on Saturday read: "Your son is responding well to treatment," and a third on the following day advised "Your son is improving normally."

Since that time there has been no further word and the family is of the opinion that "no news is good news."

The county chapter of Red Cross, who delivered one of the messages, advised against the family's going to visit at Gene's bedside, until further word is reported. Members of the family had planned to go to Camp Shelby for that purpose.

Gene has been in the army since February 1942, and an instructor in explosive weapons for several months.

CITY TAX RATE TO REMAIN AT $1.50, COUNCIL DECIDES

The city tax rate will remain at $1.50 per one hundred dollar assessed valuation for the coming year, the city council decided in regular business meeting Monday evening. Of this amount 55 cents goes into the sewer interest and sinking fund and 95 cents into the general fund.

The council discussed lowering the tax rate this year but found that it was unable to do so on account of the expense connected with drilling a new water well.

Motion was made and carried to continue city business under the present budget system with the exception of drilling a new water well and improving the water works system, which will include the installation of a new booster pump, a 100,000 gallon reservoir, 1200 feet of ten inch cast iron pipe, and erection of additional fire plugs.

Other business at the session was discussion of making repairs to Main street and this work will begin as soon as asphalt mix topping is available.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred V. Parnell are moving next week to Carlton, Texas, where he has been called as pastor of the First Baptist church. While in this community he was pastor of the Liberty Baptist church.

Surrender of Germany Is Chief Topic of Interest This Week

All Set For Bond Day Tuesday

Training Class For Volunteer Workers Here Monday Evening At 8:30

The Seventh War Loan Drive, to be conducted on the "Do It In A Day" plan in Cooke county is all set for next Tuesday, May 15. On Thursday of this week Local Chairman J. M. Weinzapfel and other Muenster citizens attended a training school at Gainesville at which time final instructions were given and supplies handed out to county workers.

A similar training class for those who will help here on Bond Day will be held Monday evening in the city hall at 8:30. It is urged that all volunteer helpers attend this session and receive their instructions. These workers have all received letters from the county chairman and in addition, any one else who can spare the time for a patriotic cause is invited to attend and then assist on Tuesday.

Throughout the county the bond sales will take place at the usual voting box in each community. Muenster's two boxes, the north and the south will be combined and all activity will be at the Public school.

The Mayors of Gainesville and Muenster and the County Judge have issued a proclamation asking that all business establishments in Cooke county be closed for the day in order that all business and professional men and women and all employees may go to the polls and purchase their bonds.

County leaders of the drive caution against over-optimism on the part of citizens which may have resulted from the surrender of Germany and the ceasing of hostilities on the western front. The Battle of Japan has just begun. It must be backed up, not for and fought for by a free people intent on sweeping the Pacific clear of fascist hate forever. The war to crush Japan will be bigger, tougher and longer than most Americans realize. The Allied Military Command has estimated that it will take years, not months, the bond campaign leaders point out. Millions of fighting men, freshly outfitted and equipped, will have to be moved from Europe halfway around the globe, and supplied by hundreds of new ships.

There are other reasons for supporting the 7th War Loan, the chairman point out, reasons that go from the present to the future. By investing in Government securities now the patriotic American is safeguarding his own future and his country's future. He is helping out a lid on the cost of living and maintaining intact the purchasing power of the dollar. At the same time he is insuring himself against catastrophe of a possible post-war deflation, with depression, unemployment and misery.

The war bond committee expects to reach Cooke County's quota of $850,000 worth of E bonds on Thursday.

MAY DAY CEREMONIES WILL BE SUNDAY AT SACRED HEART CHURCH

Muenster Pastors Join President Truman In Proclaiming Sunday As A Day Of Prayer

The unconditional surrender of Germany has been definitely and outstandingly the center of this community's interest this week. Since the first reports of the ending of the greatest war in history, Monday, radios have been tuned in almost constantly for news, and the Enterprise staff on its regular schedule of checking community activity, found that the subject was discussed far more than all others combined.

There was no wild rejoicing nor were there any celebrations in this community, to observe V.E. Day. There was rather a prevailing spirit of quiet thankfulness and prayer that hostilities had ceased and the hope that scores of local men in the European theatre were safe.

Local pastors of both churches have joined President Truman in proclaiming Mother's Day, next Sunday, as a day of prayer for the nation.

The surrender of the rich to the western allies and Russia was made a Gen Eisenhower's headquarters at Reims, France, by Col. Gen. Gustaf-Jodl, chief of staff for the German army. The surrender took place at a little red school house which is the headquarters of Gen. Eisenhower. It brought the war in Europe to a formal end after five years, eight months, and six days of bloodshed and destruction.

Unconditional surrender of Germany was formally ratified and confirmed at a historic ceremony in bomb-torn Berlin Tuesday night a few hours after President Truman and Prime Minister Winston Churchill had proclaimed V.E. Day in proclamations to their peoples.

The formal surrender act was written in English, Russian and German languages, and the English and Russian texts will be regarded as officially authentic.

Germany, which began the war with a ruthless attack on Poland, followed by successive aggressions and brutality in internment camps, surrendered with an apology to the victors for mercy toward the German people and armed forces.

This was brought to a close a great struggle which cost American armed forces 132,000 lives and more than 550,000 other casualties in three years, four months and seven days of fighting the Axis in the European and Mediterranean theatres.

The president proclaimed Tuesday "complete and final" victory in the European theatre of the greatest war in history. He went on a radio hookup at 8 a. m. to read his formal proclamation, which he prefaced with a few brief remarks in which he warned:

"Our victory is but half won. The West is free, but the East is still in bondage to the treacherous tyranny of the Japanese. When the last Japanese division has surrendered unconditionally, then only can our fighting job be done."

It was President Truman's 61st birthday, his first in the White House, and he described it as a "solemn but a glorious hour."

In his proclamation he designated next Sunday, Mother's Day, as a day of prayer and for offering "joyful thanks to God for the victory we have won and to pray that He will support us to the end of our present struggle and guide us into the way of peace."

For in rejoicing over victory, he asked the nation not to forget that "sorrow and heartache" abide in the home of thousands of Americans.

42 CHILDREN MAKE SOLEMN COMMUNION HERE NEXT SUNDAY

On next Sunday, May 13, a class of 42 boys and girls will solemnize the reception of their first Communion during the 9 o'clock Mass. The children have been receiving special instructions for the event for the past several weeks by Pastor Father Thomas. The renewal of the baptismal vows and enrollment of the class in the secular association will take place during the afternoon services beginning at 3 o'clock.

PAROCHIAL GRADE PUPILS PRESENT END OF TERM PROGRAM SUNDAY NIGHT

A delightful program was presented Sunday by grade students of Sacred Heart school as their end of the term presentation. It was held in the parish hall and was attended by a large number of parents and friends.

Fifth and sixth grade girls presented a recitation in verse and the seventh and eighth graders rendered a chorus with Jeanette Meurer playing the piano accompaniment.

"The Sun Bonnet Drill" was enacted by fifth and sixth grade girls while Berenice Henscheid furnished the musical background on the piano, after which Verena Henscheid gave a reading. The eighth grade graduates then sang two songs, one a hymn to the Blessed Virgin, the other a tribute to their mothers. Mary Evelyn Hofbauer played the piano accompaniment. The graduates presented a pretty picture on the stage. They wore their graduation costumes, white suits for the boys and white skirts with blue jackets for the girls.

Your Health

AUSTIN, Texas.—Declaring that malaria bids fair to be one of the country's major health problems under war conditions, D. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued an urgent request for all Texans to cooperate in the destruction of possible mosquito breeding places.

"It is inevitable that malaria will continue to come into this country with the return of our veterans from tropical countries," Dr. Cox said. "Since malaria is spread from person to person by the Anopholes mosquito, it is a matter of grave importance that these mosquitoes be exterminated. The quickest way to do that is to provide them no place to breed and multiply."

Dr. Cox pointed out that while the State Health Department is carrying on an extensive malaria control program which is designed to fill in or drain swamps, ponds, and ditches, nevertheless every citizen is responsible for seeing that his own premises are free from stagnant water.

"Every bottle, can, or other rubbish which may be a possible water container in every backyard should be either destroyed or buried," Dr. Cox said. "Otherwise, spring rains will fill them up, and the deadly Anopholes mosquito will find an excellent breeding ground."

Dr. Cox said that the suppression of the disease is of unusual importance since quinine, the specific treatment for malaria, is extremely scarce for civilian use.

Gold was known to the Indians as early as 1564.

This is the house that War Bonds will build in 1955

It belongs to Mr. and Mrs. George Jones who are working and saving in 1945.

Today, the Joneses are buying all the bonds they can afford. Today, they are adding a modest sum to the family bank account to have ready cash for emergencies. They hardly realize it now but they are not only helping their Country by working and saving—they're building a home of their own, bond by bond.

Mrs. Jones says, "When we started buying bonds, we called them Defense Bonds, then War Bonds. Now we call them Home Bonds. We know about how much our new house will cost and we worked out in black and white a plan of saving which will provide the money at the right time."

The architect's plans are yet to be drawn, but their plan of saving is well under way. And any home owner will tell you that a blueprint is just so much paper without money to make the hammers sing.

Wonder what houses will be like in 1955? Air conditioned, of course. Deep-freeze facilities. Heating by means of pipes in the floor or walls, perhaps. Dish washing and waste disposal units, refrigerators and ovens with glass doors. It may be too early to plan your home, but it is not too early to plan saving for it. Buy all the War Bonds you can afford, put them in your safe deposit vault, and let them work for you. Put something in your bank account regularly so that you will have ready cash for emergencies. And sit back and watch your house being built, bond by bond . . . dollar by dollar.

TP & L TO CONTINUE SALE OF WAR BONDS

Employees of the Texas Power & Light company have, since January, 1942 been devoting much time to sales and issuance of war bonds and stamps. This activity will be continued and intensified during the Seventh War Bond campaign, according to a statement by C. B. Stringer, district manager.

John W. Carpenter, president of the company, has instructed each employe who can be spared from his particular duties to devote two hours each Monday to the sale of war bonds and stamps, and if this is not possible on Monday, then some other day of each week.

By reason of this cooperative effort, the local office of the company was authorized by the government as an agency for the issuance of bonds and stamps, as a result of which local sales of $156,423.50 in bonds and stamps have been made since January, 1942 and over $3,000,000 by the entire company personnel.

"Our company has pledged its fullest support and cooperation to the coming campaign," Mr. Stringer stated, "realizing the importance and urgent need of every citizen doing what he can to hasten the end of the war."

He said the Gainesville office will have plenty of bonds and stamps on hand at all times to care for local demands and that employes will be pleased to accommodate purchasers.

SENIORS ON PARADE

This week we conclude the parade of the seniors by giving you a short characterization of the five remaining seniors. Thus we have a short description of each of the nine seniors of 1945.

EMILY FETTE

Emily Fette, a tall, dark-haired girl, is one of our four senior girls. She is the possessor of a high soprano voice. When school ends, she plans on entering nurses' training. We know she will make a very able nurse and bring joy to her patients with her cheerful disposition.

ARNOLD KNABE

Arnold Knabe is one of our quietest seniors. He possesses a shy, but very likeable, character. It seems that his favorite past-time is fishing, for whenever you hear a fish story, Arnold is usually involved. He is very good in all athletics, especially tennis.

ROBERT BAYER

Robert Bayer is a promising farmer of the senior boys, for he is getting his experience early. Since his brother entered the armed services, he has taken charge of the farm work. He is usually seen before he is heard, but everyone enjoys his company. Robert has great ability for becoming an actor. He made a hit in the high school play.

HELEN RUTH OTTO

Helen Ruth Otto, one of our smallest senior girls, is next on our list of introduction. She has blond hair, blue eyes, and a very likeable personality. Especially notable about her is her musical ability to sing and play the piano. She hopes to find her career as a singer and we know she will succeed in this field.

RUBEN STURUM

Ruben Sturm, whose appearance is professorial, is the manly, dreamy-eyed boy of the senior class. His presence is felt but seldom heard. He enjoys playing tennis more than any other sport. One of his outstanding vices is his tendency to match pennies. It seems that he always has too much change of which he wants to rid himself. One of his favorite past-times is writing book reports.

We all feel relieved this week, because state exams are a thing of the past. The tension has changed to a care-free atmosphere. We have hopes of passing, though because we tried our very best. It seems that this will be the last year that we will have to trouble our brains with state exams. I'm sure that there is not a student that is sorry of this fact.

Monday morning found the high school building in a great commotion. Somehow or other, the erasers just couldn't keep their places at the blackboard. Henry and Arnold must have collected a great deal of excess energy over the weekend. But Henry, we never thought we'd see you hiding behind a.....

The seniors and juniors are all in a dither from thinking of the banquet, which will take place May 10. Each year this is one of the most welcomed events of the higher classes. We hope everything goes over smoothly.

Dolly's wish was finally fulfilled Monday morning when we read "The Piebald Horse" in English class. But, gee whizz, she never imagined she'd bring about the writing of a synopsis of it. Better luck next time, Dolly.

Arthur, can you imagine a certain sophomore boy bringing back his report card the day after he received it.

HOME CANNING OF PINEAPPLE EXPECTED

Fresh pineapple soon will be on the market, and since canned pineapple on grocery shelves requires high tolls in blue ration points, many Texas homemakers, both rural and urban, are expected to can pineapple at home this year.

Sugar Loaf and Smooth Cayenne, varieties imported into Texas from Mexico seem to be the best for canning in the opinion of Mildred Chapman, County Home Demonstration Agent. She suggests selecting ripe fruit, since if pineapple is sun ripened it has more flavor and contains more fruit sugar. Ripe pineapple can be distinguished since it is orange colored, and the spines can readily be pulled out.

Unripe fruit not only is lacking in flavor, but it sometimes is irritating to the lining of the stomach, Miss Chapman explains. Miss Chapman suggests that if fruit has been gathered before it is ripe, it should be wrapped in thick paper and kept for a few days, preferably at the temperature between 65 and 75 degrees F. Soft, over-ripe fruit should be avoided, since it results in waste, and the cost of canning it is higher.

Pineapple canned in plain tin cans has a better flavor and color than when canned in enameled cans or glass jars. Recipes for canning pineapple or pineapple juice are available from Miss Chapman's office. The agent also can supply directions for candied pineapple to be used in fruit cake. Miss Chapman cautions that individuals should stay within the five pounds of sugar allowed for making jellies, jams and preserves, so canning or freezing pineapple seems preferable.

Pineapple to be frozen is prepared as for canning and packed into air-tight moisture proof containers. It should be covered with syrup made by dissolving one half to three-fourths of a cup of sugar to one cup of hot water. The syrup should be added when it has cooled. Then the container should be sealed and quick frozen as quickly as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Yosten and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bill of Fort Worth were here Sunday to visit relatives and accompanied a party to Red River on a fishing trip.

Personnel included Messrs. and Mmes. T. and Matt Miller, George Gehrig, Bob Yosten and their families and the visitors.

EIGHTH GRADE STUDENTS ARE COMPLIMENTED

Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher were hosts in their home Sunday evening, following the school play, complimenting pupils of the 8th grade graduating class of which their daughter, Ruth Lee, is a member.

The 37 guests enjoyed sandwiches, iced punch and cake.

... where a new industrial frontier beckons American Industrialists with Texas Opportunities, long under cultivation, now in the budding!... Texas is on the march!

Texans now have their sleeves rolled up, working at the job of winning the war. That comes first. For the last four years, the industrial development of Texas has been strictly in accord with the war effort... new plants have been built and old plants expanded to meet war needs. During this time, Texans have acquired valuable experience which will help in the big industrial push which lies ahead after final Victory. Texans are ready to make use of the developments in science and industry that the war has brought forth.

Texas offers unlimited opportunities for farm and factory operators... has an abundance of natural resources which lend themselves to industrial uses, plus an ideal climate for agriculture and living conditions which create a paradise for its increasing millions of people.

Thousands of new families have become acquainted with Texas and her boundless advantages during the war years. Many of these families have already located in Texas, while others await the end of the war to make Texas their permanent home.

Thus, in Texas, the hub of the fabulous Southwestern Market, has been laid the foundation for further phenomenal growth. Every factor which enters into truly great and permanent industrial opportunities is present in Texas, awaiting only the release from war to forge here a strategic industrial center at the gateway to South American markets.

ABUNDANT, DEPENDABLE AND LOW-COST ELECTRIC POWER from TP&L transmission lines serves the war effort today, and this Company is ready for the continued industrial expansion that positions will bring. This Company pioneered Transmission Line Electric Power in Texas, beginning in 1912, and today serves a vital 52-county area in the heart of industrial Texas. Now, as for the past 33 years, this Company's industrial-minded managers, as well as its abundant power facilities, are at the disposal of Texans seeking to develop new or to expand existing industrial opportunities.

Washington Notes

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C. May 5—During this week of dramatic and sensational news from all parts of the world the House of Representatives has been hard at work on important matters affecting the future economic and political security of this country.

The House Ways and Means Committee has been in constant session debating the Bretton Woods agreement which has to do with the control of international currency and the financial dealings between nations. The House Banking and Currency Committee has been at work for weeks on the problem of reciprocal trade treaties, which was former Secretary of State Hull's substitute for the log-rolling tariff fights of years gone by, and involves the whole problem of trade and commerce between nations.

The first thing done in the House this week was the passage of a resolution for American adherence to the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization. This organization was born two years ago at the Hot Springs, Virginia, International Food Conference, presided over by a former Texas Congressman, now Food Administrator, Marvin Jones. The over-all purpose of this organization is to be a clearing house for facts, figures, and ideas. All nations bear a proportionate part of the cost. Our part will not run over a million dollars a year.

This week the House has been debating the Summers Resolution to amend the Constitution as to treaty making. Many of us contend the present requirement of a two-thirds vote in the Senate to ratify treaties has been destructive of American participation in international affairs. It kept us out of the League of Nations, it kept us from joining the World Court, it destroyed many useful treaties of arbitration and in effect has allowed the foreign policy of this country to be controlled by one-third of the U. S. Senate.

May 3 was Polish Constitution Day. The House set aside an hour and a half for speech-making in commemoration of the 154th anniversary of the adoption of the Polish constitution. In the United States we have more than three million people of Polish descent. In the Congress there are nine Polish members, from the states of Connecticut, Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan.

It is to be hoped the Polish question does not disrupt the efforts of the united nations to set up a world organization for the prevention of war. The racial minorities of this country should remember they are first Americans.

I was this week chosen chairman of a sub-committee on war prisoners. The purpose of this committee is to see that war prisoners now in this country are promptly returned to their own nations after the war and that none remains here to become permanent residents.

For several years a fight has been going on in Congress to repeal the so-called land grant railroad rates. In the early days the United States government gave certain railroads nearly 130 million acres of public land. Texas gave 33 million acres of State land, and other states contributed an additional 15 million acres. As a result of these contributions, 27 railroads are now required to haul government property at one-half the established rates. The bill the House passed repeals these land grant rates. During this debate I made a speech insisting that while rates were being discussed we should require the removal of discriminatory freight rates from which the Southwest has long suffered.

One German hero who is apparently coming through this war with an untarnished reputation is the old sea dog of World War I, Count von Luckner. His home city is the only large city of the Reich not seriously damaged by the war. Credit for its comparative escape is said to be due the Count, who interceded with the Americans and surrendered the town. Although Count von Luckner sunk dozens of Allied ships in World War I, it is his proud boast that no lives were lost, and that during his famed career he never so much as killed a cat. This is certainly something of a record for a warrior who wears all the decorations his country could confer. It is to be hoped that enough of his kind are left in Hitler's mad domain to plant the seeds of sane living in the despicable ruins of Nazidom.

CARE AND FEEDING OF TURKEY POULTS

It is estimated that thousands of incubator-hatched turkey poults starve to death amid plenty every season because they have not learned to eat and drink.

Unlike baby chicks turkey poults do not take to feeding naturally. This is especially true of birds hatched in an incubator. One reason, says Albert S. Brient, county agent, is that at first they do not like to put their heads between wires or into openings in feeding and water equipment. On that account the grower must get them accustomed to eating and drinking within forty eight hours after being placed in the brooder or they may not learn how. That means starvation.

Among things to do to get the poults started is to use several water containers placed where the birds can reach them easily. Brient believes that four to a brooder will do. Another step is to offer extra mash on tin plates or cardboard, and a third is to sprinkle oatmeal or finely chopped tender green feed on the mash and on the water to attract their attention. Still another is to dip the beak of each poult into water and then into the mash when they are placed in the brooder or battery. They learn to eat more quickly when feed is before them every way they turn. Forced feeding may be used as a last resort, Brient says, but if this is done the grower should take great care not to allow feed to get into the windpipe.

Still other helps are: To supply plenty of light for the young turkeys to eat and dry by, and put a few already trained older poults from disease-free groups in with the youngsters for a few days. It will take a little time and care to teach the young poults the habit of eating, Brient says, but once they start they will feed as readily as chicks from the same type of equipment. Another important thing to remember is to keep water and feed containers clean, and to change the water often.

PFC. FRANK DAMASKY TELLS OF ACTIVITY WITH RAILSPLITTERS

Pfc. Frank Damasky, formerly stationed at Camp Howze, and a frequent visitor in this city, has written an interesting letter to the Joe Swirczynski family, telling about some of his activities since going overseas. He is a member of the 84th Infantry division with the Ninth Army in Germany. Parts of his letter follow:

"At present I am in Germany, am in good health and still kicking as hard as I used to back there in Texas. I am enjoying favorable living conditions at the expense of the Germans. Our advance was so fast and furious that the electrical and plumbing systems in the building I am living in are still intact.

The crossing of the Roer was just like a Fourth of July celebration at home with tracer bullets and rockets and flashes from the artillery guns lighting up the sky. And there was a bright, clear moon out and you could see across the river in the early morning. Our medics went across right after the first wave of infantry men.

"In our rapid advance we took note that the Jerries were not hard up for any necessity of life for they, in general, had plenty of everything. They should, for when they overran the countries of France, Belgium and Holland they stripped them completely and these countries are really in need of all the necessities of life.

"Incidentally, the Railsplitters were given quite a bit of praise and commendation from our commanding general for services during the recent weeks. A part of the citation reads:

"Your Railsplitters can accomplish anything you set out to do. At Gellenkirchen, Beek, Wurm and Lindern you drove through the length of the Siegfried line. In the Ardennes you went on the defensive for a brief period and turned the advance of the German counteroffensive, then pushed the enemy back on his heels under the most impossible fighting conditions. You crossed the Roer River and broke through the German line and in five days time advanced 42 miles to the Rhine River.

"In the advance to the Rhine you covered a greater distance than any other division on the line—through heavier fighting. After reaching a point only 4500 yards from the river, your direction of advance was changed to the north, giving you another 9 miles to go. Without hesitation, you continued to advance.

"Upon reaching your objective, after long, hard grueling days and cold, sleepless nights, you wanted to push on, and asked for authority to cross the river. You accomplished what many thought was impossible and are to be congratulated for a job well done.

"That just about gives you my approximate location as of now. Hope this letter finds everybody in the best of health. Give my best regards to everybody. "This is a captured German typewriter, stationery and all."

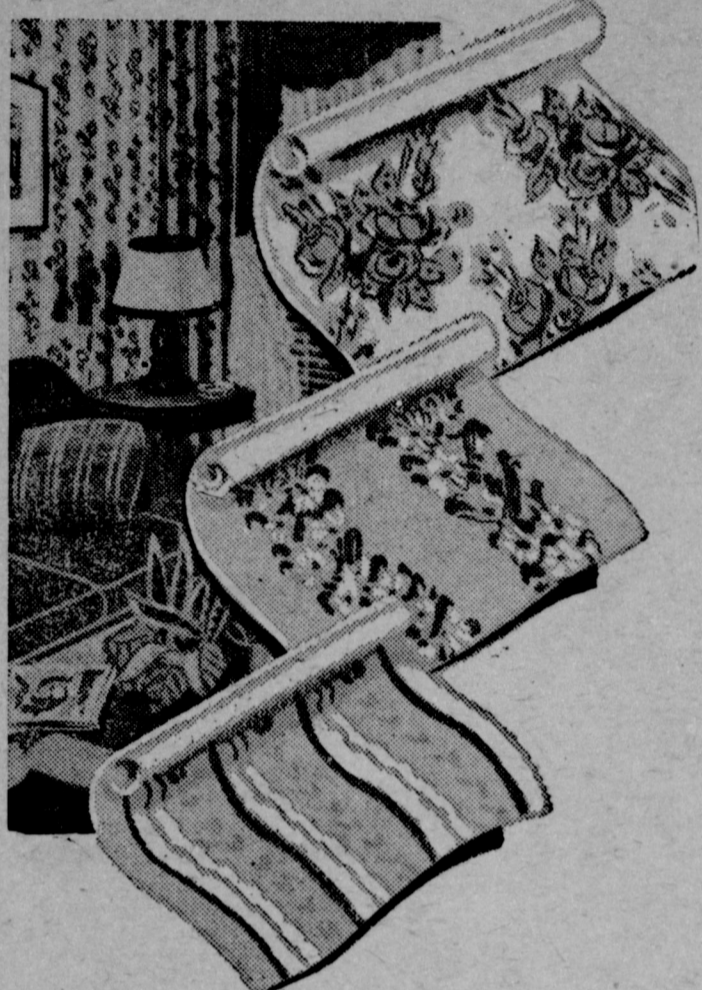

Fleas can be trained to dance, draw chariots and throw objects many times their own weight.

When crickets chirp they are calling their mates. Only male crickets have the chirping organs.

It has been estimated that a bee travels 43,776 miles to gather one pound of honey, consisting of 29,184 drops.

The aquatic Whillig Beetle has only two eyes but they are so directed that the insect can see up and down at the same time.

Miss Hermes, as May Queen, wore a white marquisette frock over taffeta. Her attendants were Misses Lucille Bezner, Mary Fuhrmann, Catherine Bengfort and Sophie Mae Schad. They wore blue floor length frocks and carried arm bouquets of pink carnations. Virginia Zimmerman, Dorothy Geray and Mary Jane Block, as junior attendants, wore white dresses.

All members of the sodality marched in procession, the girls carrying flowers and the boys each a lighted candle, to the shrine of the Blessed Virgin where the flowers and candles were placed. The group sang several hymns, and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament brought the services to a close.

SENIORS AND SUCCESS

Congratulations ring within the ears of every Senior today, as he stands at the threshold of his Alma Mater ready to step into a new world of endeavor.

For the senior whose journey along the road of scholastic endeavors has ended, new roads stand before him which only he can explore. He is equipped with knowledge which will enable him to face problems more efficiently-problems which will confront him daily. For some of the Seniors greater fields of learning are still before them.

Success comes only through determined effort. Although the senior's education will lessen the weariness of his journey, each one will have to struggle to overcome the obstacles which block his path to happiness. His mind and will having been trained, he will have to apply his knowledge in the way which fits his career.

May commencement day, then, be only the starting of each senior's work. May he go on without hesitation and reach his goal with great success.

Seniors, life is a struggle. May you find in it a challenge that will ever prompt you to make any place or position which you hold a duty to fill. Thus far you have filled every task conscientiously and capably. Take advantage of the help your education has given you. Seniors, and make it the instrument of a happy life.

ATTEND REUNION PARTY IN FORT WORTH SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Linn spent Sunday in Dallas at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parker, where their son, Pvt. Robert Linn of North Camp Hood, also spent the day. A reunion party was held by the Parkers honoring their son, Lane, just returned from six months service with the Navy in the South Pacific. He is a radar technician and has six days to spend with his family.

Other guests included Mrs. J. D. Linn of Dallas, Mrs. George Womack and family of Fort Worth, and Pfc. and Mrs. Linus Morgan, on furlough from Hampton, Va.

Pfc. and Mrs. Morgan returned to his station Monday and Mrs. J. D. Linn accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Womack to Fort Worth for a visit after which she will return to her home here.

Yes, the Seventh War Loan is on right now!

There are new planes to be built . . . new tanks . . . new ships. All to bring the war to an earlier close.

Our fighting men will do their job. But we must do ours!

And right now, the most important job we have is to meet our personal quotas in the Seventh War Loan drive!

Those quotas are big. Uncle Sam needs $7,000,000,000 from individuals. For this loan is really 2 in 1—there had been 2 drives in 1944, by this time. So now—we've got to do a two-loan job in one.

But Americans have never failed to meet a War Bond quota yet—and we won't fail now! So find out what your quota is—and meet it!

FIND YOUR QUOTA . . . AND MAKE IT!
