VOLUME IX

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, JUNE 1, 1945

NUMBER 28

The present relationship between the Philippine government and our own is an object of pride to every American. Even before our soldiers have finished the job of cleaning out the Japs, in fact before the liberation of the islands was begun, the natives were assured that they would be free men on August 13 of this year. Now comes news that they are not in a special hurry for their independence and suggest postponing the deadline until July 4, 1946.

There are at least two reasons why this incident is destined to adorn the pages of history. It is remarkable for a sovereign nation to give a colony its independence. It is equally remarkable for a colony to postpone acceptance of such a gift.

Another detail worthy of note is the Philippine offer to grant naval bases to the United States. No strings attached. Just an invitation to move in. Cynics might interpret that move as a selfish scheme to secure the protection of our navy. But it is also an expression of confidence. The Philippines know we have no aggressive designs on them.

Philippine confidence, a natural outgrowth of a half century of fair treatment was magnificently shown from the very beginning of the war. Of all the colonials in the Orient they were the only ones who joined forces with the mother country to resist and repel the invader. Their loyalty is a tribute to American rule.

The entire affair is especially significant at this time because it stands out in such sharp contrast with the policies of other nations. It proves that our leaders were not merely mumbling idle words when they spoke of restoring freedoms and a better way of life.

While these agreeable, generous relations are under way between us and our former colonials, other countries are arousing new antagonisms in their ambitions to extend their sphere of national power—not over the former colonials but over former independent peoples left destitute by the ravages of war.

Russia's behavior during the past few months causes a person to wonder what is going on. There is little in her present attitude to acknowledge that she owes this country a debt of eternal gratitude for helping defeat Germany. A few days ago the Red press was unduly caustic about American delay in seizing war criminals. It made no allowance for the well known American system of delaying arrest until their victim has shown the way to other members of the mob. Russia's obstinacy in the Polish incident, her controversies at San Francisco, her domineering attitude in the Balkans, her frequent unfriendly comments all of these things raise the question whether she is striking a hard bargain or only creating animosity to serve as an excuse for declining to help in the Japanese war. The cooperation we're getting is certainly poor payment for our generous help in Russia's hour of need.

Perhaps it isn't a mere coincidence that Yugoslavia under Marshal Tito's leadership insisted on the administration of Trieste. As a Balkan favorite of the Communist regime, Tito has the support of Stalin, a connection which explains his present power and the obscurity of a former Yugoslav patriot.

At the beginning of the war we heard wonderful stories about the heroic feats of Draga Mihailovich. Practically bare handed he and his guerillas were dealing miserably to the German invaders. Then Tito, well supplied with Stalin's equipment and blessing, came upon the scene. For a while there was trouble between factions, then Mihailovich faded out of the news. The hero of a few years ago is a forgotten man today, maybe a hunted man.

The way some high ranking Nazis are scrambling to save their necks lately is worth a laugh. Typical of low minded criminals, they are forsaking their former ideals and trying to absolve themselves by casting blame on others or by denouncing their allegiance to Hitler. It won't work though. One after another the beasts are being put away for trail, except those, like Himmler, who are cheating the hangman.

Well, at least, they are a little more realistic than the stiff-necked Junkers general who came forth with the ludicrous proposal to "shake hands and forget the whole thing".

What a shabby finale for the little tin god who set himself up for worship and promised to launch Germany on a thousand year era of prosperity. Those who used to hell him curse him now (Continued on Page 4)

Texans Still Together

A year ago six Texans from Fort Worth and vicinity, including Cpl. Arnold Henschel of this city, had helped their aviation engineer battalion complete a 7th AAF bomber base on newly won Kwajalein Island in the Marshalls almost 2500 miles from Japan. Now they are putting the finishing touches on a huge Superfortress base in the Marianas, 1000 miles nearer Tokyo. This information, along with a picture of the six boys was mailed to the Enterprise from the AAF Pacific Headquarters Public Relations Office. Cpl. Henschel is the son of William Henschel and has been in the service since October 1942.

Mrs. Ferd Yosten came in during the weekend for a visit with her parents Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Schoech, while her husband, Sgt. Ferd Yosten, is at Chanute field, Ill. For a special six-weeks course, Mrs. Yosten will rejoin her husband at Randolph Field when he returns to that post.

Pvt. Andy Stelzer Saw Action With The Fighting 69th

Pvt. Andy Stelzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Stelzer, as a member of the Fighting 69th Infantry Division, saw plenty of action in Europe before the surrender of Germany. He went overseas on Jan. 1, 1945, after having received his basic training at Camp Hood.

Only a few weeks after landing in England, the 69th Division, commanded by Major General E.F. Reinhardt, was seeing action for the first time in the inner Siegfried defenses. By March 27 it had broken through the crumbling line, crossed the Rhine River and captured the historic fortress of Ehrenbreitstein Citadel of the American Army of Occupation after World War I.

Standing poised on the west bank of the Rhine after its drive into the Rhineland, the 69th sent a combat team which included the company to which Andy was attached, across the river. Threatened by the encircling American forces, the enemy garrison holding the fortress area began to withdraw rapidly, eastward.

Encountering but light opposition from the rear guard elements, the combat team completed a pincer-like movement around the fort and captured 163 prisoners. The fortress fell to the 69th on March 27 and was one of the 42 localities that was cleared by the combat team in a two-day operation.

In a special Army Day ceremony on April 6, the American flag was raised by a special honor guard of the 69th Infantry Division.

The same flag that was lowered when the U.S. Army of Occupation left Germany after World War I, in January 1923, was raised during the ceremony, symbolizing the victorious reentry of American troops into Germany. In the years between World War I and World War II this flag was preserved in the war department. The flag was flown to the scene from Washington for the ceremony and the 69th raised it over Ehrenbreitstein while the National Anthem was played by an army band.

By an odd coincidence, not usual in war, Maj. Gen. Reinhardt, commanding the 69th which raised the flag over the fortress, was the major in the Fourth Division, 8th Infantry, the very same unit that lowered the flag in 1923.

HORSE SHOW COMMENT

After being more than a week old, the Horse Show held here last Sunday still furnishes the topic for much conversation hereabouts. This newspaper has been informed it missed some of the details, such as Mrs. R.L. McNeelley serving as a judge in the cow-girl contest, and that Ben Sicking of Muenster showed and owned the horses his sons took ribbons on. To the editor it is easy to understand that these omissions caused disappointment. It is also easy to understand how such notes might be omitted in writing a story of that length for the paper. It is gratifying, however, to know that readers went through the complete article, which was more than a valley in length. We're sorry that due credit was not given where it belonged and hope that this will clear things up.

SOLDIERS ON FURLOUGH NEEDED IN HARVEST FIELDS

Sgt. Tony Koesler Home On Furlough From Pacific Area

Technical Sergeant Tony Koesler arrived here Thursday for a 30-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alphons Koesler, after spending 18 months in the Southwest Pacific theatre of operations as a member of the Fifth Air Force.

Sgt. Koesler, a crew chief, served as an engineer aboard a C-46 transport and has to his credit 125 combat missions over enemy territory. His outfit furnished front line fighting men with ammunition, food and other supplies. He was stationed in New Guinea, the Philippines and the Indies and made visits to almost every island in the Pacific area.

He wears the air medal with oak leaf cluster for meritorious services, the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon and the Philippine Liberation ribbon with three battle stars.

Sgt. Koesler has been in the service since October 1942 and went overseas in November 1943. Upon completion of his furlough he will report to Santa Ana, Calif., for reassignment to duty in the states, according to army reports, he stated.

THREE HOEDEBECK BROTHERS IN ARMY HOME ON FURLOUGH

Alfred, Eugene and Norbert, three of the four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoedebeck in the service, are now at home on furlough to visit their parents at Denison and have also visited here with their brother, Frank Hoedebeck and their sister, Mrs. Clem Reiter, and family.

Pvt. Norbert Hoedebeck, Infantry, recently returned from overseas. He had 13 weeks of basic training at Camp Wolters, then went overseas with his company landing at Casa Blanca in March 1943. He participated in the invasions of North Africa, Sicily, Salerno, Anzio and Southern France and helped take Rome. He was wounded twice. Once at the Anzio beachhead and once in France. He wears the ETO ribbon with 7 battle stars, the Purple Heart with oak leaf cluster and received three Presidential citations, one each for his company, his battalion and his division.

Upon his recent arrival back in the states he was at Camp Gilmore, N.J., and then at Longview Hospital where he is to report back on completion of his leave.

His three brothers serving Uncle Sam are T-4 Alfred Hoedebeck now at Fort Bragg, N.C. He is married to the former Miss Irene Flusche of Denison and they have one son.

Cletus Hoedebeck, S2C, serves in the Navy and is doing sea duty in the Pacific. He is married to the former Miss Mildred Krebs of Lindsay and Fishomingo, who with their two children reside in Ardmore.

Pvt. Eugene Hoedebeck recently finished basic training with the infantry at Camp Hood and will report to Fort Ord, Calif., for an overseas assignment soon.

Another brother, Frank Hoedebeck, also served in the army. He was inducted in Sept., 1942, and served 9 months before being honorably discharged.

The boys are all natives of Muenster.

The school this year graduated one high school student, Miss Katherine Reeves, and two grammar students, Mary Jo Williams and Harold Reeves.

The program began with an invocation led by Rev. J. Calvin Dennis, pastor of the local Baptist church, after which Harold Reeves, 8th grade salutatorian, gave the welcome address. The toy orchestra, composed of tots of the primary room, presented a group of selections and pupils of Mrs. Thompson's room enacted two one-act skits.

The assemblage sang the National Anthem and benediction was given by E.S. Lawson, member of the school board.

Through courtesy of the local P-T A prizes for students who made the highest averages during the year were presented. These awards went to Rowena Fielder, Miss Luke's room; Bonnie Nelle Hammer, Mrs. Thompson's room; Patricia Ezell, Mrs. Burchfield's room; Joan Roberg, Mr. Hoffman's room.

Horse Fanciers, Cattle Raisers Organize Club

Purpose Is To Promote Interest In Better Breeding Of Livestock And Have Annual Show

The Muenster Livestock Association was organized Tuesday evening and R.L. McNeelley was named president of the club, with Dr. T.S. Myrick, vice-president, and Miss Loretta Hartman, secretary-treasurer.

The purpose of the organization is to promote interest in better breeding of horses and other livestock and to display these animals at annual shows.

A group of representative men and women of the community met in the K of C hall for the purpose of organizing and electing a board of directors to be in charge of future shows. Mr. McNeelley who has successfully conducted two horse shows here, served as chairman for the session.

He explained to the group that organization of horse lovers into a club is necessary to put on a big show, that it costs money to carry on this activity and that ideas for future shows are needed. This can be done only through organization, he stated.

From the floor came the inquiry as to whether the organization would sponsor horse shows only, or would the group's interest also include the showing of fine cattle such as milk cows and beef cattle, and since local interest in artificial breeding of cattle is high, how about a calf show.

This furnished considerable discussion and the group was unanimous in its opinion that these features, along with a horse show have great possibilities, and that such exhibits would be put on as soon as feasible. Thus the name Muenster Livestock Association was chosen in preference to the name Muenster Horse Show Association.

The board of directors, in addition to the officers, as elected at the session includes, J.M. Weinzapfel, J.P. Flusche and Mrs. T.S. Myrick. The group decided that the term of office is one year and that an annual meeting and officer election is to be held once a year following the annual show.

Membership in the organization was discussed and it was stressed that membership is open to anyone and that all are invited to join. The only requisite for membership is the payment of one dollar as annual dues. Membership is not limited to Muenster citizens, it was pointed out, and anyone in the surrounding vicinity is welcomed. The group's chief purpose is the interest in better breeding of livestock and the showing of these animals at annual shows. Membership entitles each person to attend the annual general meeting and cast a vote in the election of the board of directors.

Through a large membership the organization will be in a position to function better and to promote better breeding practices, it was pointed out.

A membership committee, along with several other committees, will be appointed in the near future and business will go forward. A charter and by-laws are being drawn up and membership forms are being printed.

There will be a monthly business meeting for the board of directors. It was decided, the day chosen being the last Friday of each month. The board has numerous details to work out and plans to formulate and announcements of activity will be made as progress continues.

GASOLINE RATIONS TO BE INCREASED

Victory in Europe has made possible increases in gasoline rations for civilian motorists, the OPA states Wednesday when it raised the value of A coupons when it raised the value of A coupons from 4 to 6 gallons, effective on June 22, when coupons A-16 become valid. B card ceilings will be raised to 650 miles per month uniformly over the country on June 11.

The increase in the B ceiling will not mean more gasoline for all B-users, however, says Chester Bowles, OPA Administrator. Both B and C rations are based on individual needs of the car owner, and rations will be issued accordingly. The 50 per cent increase in A rations will apply to all car users.

Mr. and Mrs. F.E. Perry and daughter, Barbara Jane, have returned to their home in Seminole following a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M.H. Grammer.

Washington Notes

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C. May 25 — As this is being written the House is still debating an extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. This is a complicated and highly important piece of legislation. Old timers will recall that the tariff used to be the big issue between the Democratic and Republican parties. The Republicans contended for high tariffs to protect American industries from competition with imported goods. The Democratic party, on the other hand, contended for low tariffs to benefit American consumers and the country as a whole.

Following World War I, instead of decreasing tariffs and promoting world trade, we increased tariffs and then loaned large sums of money to foreign countries. The necessary stopping of these loans, together with exceedingly high tariffs is alleged to have been one of the chief causes of the collapse of 1929. In 1943 the first Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act was passed as a substitute for the old political, log-rolling methods of writing tariff bills.

Under the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act the administration, through the Departments of State Commerce, the Tariff Commission and other government agencies, started out to make trades or contracts with other nations as to duties and quotas on imports and exports. This Act was renewed in 1937 and has been twice renewed since. It has authorized the President to cut duties by as much as 50 per cent. Between 1934 and 1939 our exports to trade agreement countries rose by 63 per cent while our exports to non-trade agreement countries rose by only 32 per cent. We now have trade agreements with 28 countries.

In order of importance our best customers in 1937 were: United Kingdom, Canada, France, Mexico, Belgium, Argentina, the Netherlands, and Cuba. Japan was our only leading customer with whom we did not have a trade agreement. I have always voted for the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Acts, and will vote for the present extension, although I should like to see certain protective amendments adopted. Independent oil men are afraid of oil imported by large major companies who own vast holdings in foreign lands. Cattle men are afraid of competition from Mexico, Canada and Argentina. They say over half the land acreage of America grows grass and is adaptable only to cattle raising. Our cattle population in 1940 was 68,800,000 while our cattle population now is 81,760,000. Argentina has over 31 million head of cattle.

Lieutenant Colonel J.E. Brink-

meyer was a recent guest at a Texas Delegation luncheon. He was rescued from the Jap prison at Cabanatuan. In civilian life he was an officer in the Fort Sam Houston National Bank, and the Japs used him as paymaster in the camp. One day they found Brinkmeyer's name on an American bill which had been issued by the Fort Sam Houston Bank. After comparing his signature with that on the bill, they showed him great deference, thinking he issued American money. For the first time within a year the main item on the luncheon menu unfortunately was rice. We apologized to Col. Brinkmeyer for this unhappy coincidence. He pretended to love that item of food, saying seriously, prisoners liked it best when it was wormy, the worms furnished both flavor and nutrition.

It seems a bit strange to me to call cabinet members by their first names. However, the new Secretary of Agriculture, Representative Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, and the new Attorney General, Tom C. Clark of Dallas, have long been good personal friends of mine and other members of the Texas Delegation in Congress.

Southern and western Members of Congress are delighted that President Truman is going south and west for new cabinet members. The majority of President Roosevelt's cabinet throughout his tenure of office were from the state of New York.

We used to hear stories that Japanese used Chinese for bankers because of the inherent honesty of the Chinese. Recent reports of numerous Chinese officials fraudulently enriching themselves through manipulation of loans of American gold seems to explode this theory of Chinese integrity.

Many of the big Nazis are saving us a lot of trouble through suicides. Himmler's swallowing potassium cyanide brings to light a new German formula. Potassium cyanide does not kill one instantly. When mixed with stomach juices a new and deadly poison is formed. The Germans mixed potassium cyanide with these juices ahead of time. When Himmler swallowed this new concoction it killed him within a few seconds. There was no time for a stomach pump. Too bad.

MOOS OF THE MOMENT
 BY UNCLE BOB

of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

"Make hay while the sun shines" is something we've all been told many times, but it's even more important to make hay before the bloom shines too bright.

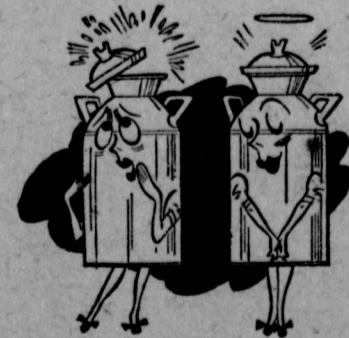

Some farmers make hay just to fill their mow, but the good dairy farmer makes hay to fill his cows with the right kind of feed. The time for cutting is most important. Cut hay early, if you want it to have the most possible feed value.

Alfalfa should be cut at one-tenth to one-quarter bloom stage. Cut clover at half bloom stage, sweet clover when the buds show or earlier and grasses as soon as headed and before they bloom.

Soybeans should be cut when the first pods are filled and before the lower leaves turn yellow. Follow these suggestions and you'll put up really good hay.

Minnesota has a little leaflet which will give you some good ideas on making high quality hay. It is Extension Pamphlet No. 136, Extension Service, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn.*

I've seen bulls which proved to be worth less than their keep, but here's a way to get $10 out of a good bull pen. The Kraftsman wants pictures of good bull pens and is offering cash for good photos. See the May-June issue for details. The Kraftsman is published for patrons of Kraft Dairy Plants. If you don't receive it regularly let me know, and I'll be glad to send you a copy. Address Uncle Bob, 500 Peshtigo Court, Chicago 90, Ill.

Most of us get quite a kick out of the way some of the ladies wear their hats tilted at an angle over one eye (how do they keep the things on?), but if you want to make the manager of a dairy plant shudder, just tip the lids of your milk cans at such an angle.

If you have a milk-house with a utensil rack your empty cans are stored upside down, with lids off, between milkings. When you do not have such an arrangement, keep the lids on tight.

Cans should be kept in a protected place but there are dust particles in the air at all times. If the lids are tilted, some of the dust may get into the can.

Your cans are washed and cleaned thoroughly before they leave the dairy plant. It's up to you to see that dust does not get into the can after it gets back to your farm.

Tests prove that milk cools as rapidly with the lid on tight as it does when the lid is tilted while the can is in the cooler.

And don't forget, always be sure to sterilize the can with a chlorine rinse before milk is strained into it.

Looks like that Jack-of-all-trades—soybeans—has a chance to do a rescue job this year. This time soybeans can help out on flood relief and can replace freezing losses.

Reports indicate that there was some alfalfa damage during the winter. If your field suffered winter kill or has been hit by flood water, soybeans may be the answer.

The crop grows to cutting stage rapidly and will fill that need for a high protein hay. Your county agent will have a list of the soybean varieties which are recommended for your area.

Imagine that he also can provide you with a booklet which will give you some help in planting, growing and harvesting.

*NOTE: There usually is a 5c charge for pamphlets mailed to non-residents of a state; but possibly your own state has a free pamphlet on the same subject. Ask your county agent.

UNITED MAY 20 UNITE SGT. JOE BEZNER AND ANNA MAE HEBERT

A pretty wedding ceremony performed in New Orleans, La., on May 20 united Miss Anna Mae Hebert of that city and S. Sgt. Joe J. Bezner, son of Mrs. Joe Bezner of Lindsay. The rites took place at Immaculate Conception church with the Rev. Arnold Kerlee officiating at the double ring ceremony and at the nuptial mass. Music was provided by the church choir, and "Ave Maria" and "Just For Today" were given as vocal solos by Pfc. Walter Doherty, a close friend of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a frock of white lace and satin. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice of lace, long sleeves and high neck, and very full skirt of satin which fell into a long, graceful train. The bridal veil of illusion was finger tip length and was held in place with a garland of strophonatis. Her flowers were a white orchid and strophonatis and for "something old and borrowed" she carried a white prayerbook belonging to a friend. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Lillian Lesnack and bridesmaids were Misses Vernie Mabile, Ruth Bourgeois, and Shirley Tregre. They wore identical frocks of powder blue lace and marquisette over taffeta and carried arm bouquets of American Beauty roses.

The bridegroom's attendants were Cpl. Victor Forcier as best man and Sgt. Royce Allen, Cpl. Walter Bull and Cpl. Harold McDonald.

Immediately after the services a reception was held at the parish hall for 150 guests. The bride's table carried out the traditional all white wedding theme and was centered with a tiered cake.

Following the reception S. Sgt. and Mrs. Bezner left on a wedding trip. They arrived in Lindsay last Thursday for a visit with his relatives. He is on furlough until June 6, after which they will make their home at Apt. A No. 1 Marilyn Ave., New Orleans, La.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Hebert and is a native of Louisiana. She attended school in New Orleans and has been employed at Celotex Corporation there as a PBX operator.

Sgt. Bezner is a native of Lindsay where he attended school. He enlisted in the National Guard in Oct. 1940, and was a member of the Texas 36th Division when it was activated at Camp Bowie. He went with his company to Camp Blanton, Fla., and Camp Edwards Miss., then overseas with the 36th in April, 1943. Serving with a medical detachment he was with his division at North Africa and on through the battles that made history in Italy. Furloughed in April, 1944, he returned home and since that time has been on duty at the station hospital, New Orleans Port of Embarkation.

Members of his family at the wedding included his mother, his sister, Mrs. Joe Kelly of Los Angeles, Calif., and his brother, Pfc. Al Bezner of Dallas.

INDIVIDUAL FLOCK CULLING SERVICE IS NOW AVAILABLE

Any farmer in Cooke county needing poultry culled should notify the county agent's office, County Agent Albert Bient has announced. He stated that he is now in position to cull individual flocks and said it is very important that culling be done now as farmers will need room for baby chicks.

He also pointed out that there is at present a very good market on old hens and farmers should never feed a bunch of old culled hens. Now is the time to have culling work completed, he said.

LT. BERNAUER WRITES FROM GERMANY

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Bernauer are in receipt of a letter from his sister, Lt. Mary Alice Bernauer a nurse with the 15th Army evacuation hospital group. The letter, written from Germany on May 10 is in part:

"Have a few minutes to spare before going to work. Am on D.S. (detached service) now which means that I am detached from my unit and attached to another for a short time to help out. Have another nurse with me. We are at a D.P. (displaced persons) camp and have 10,000 Russians.

It seemed awfully creepy at first, but we feel OK about it now. Mary and I are the only two nurses here and our job is to supervise the work of Russian nurses and to go through the hospital buildings to pick out contagious diseases for isolation wards and to check on sanitary conditions. It's really a full-time job.

We have nice quarters and the food is good. Have been having 'an after working hours, a party or two, and last night I went for a long plane ride. It was wonderful. Saw a lot of the large cities that were bombed out, and I mean bombed out. Nothing left but powder and a few walls.

How did the people in the States react to VE-Day? Suppose everyone celebrated. Haven't had any mail in about a week but that's the way it goes. I'll have to be patient.

Hone everyone is OK at home. Tell them all hello. I'll be glad to get back.

BISHOP DANGLIMAYR VISITS HERE WEEKEND

The Most Rev. Augustine Dangelmayr, Auxiliary Bishop of Dallas, visited here during the weekend with his parents, Mr. and and blame him for their distress. His melodramatic exit was a fitting passage into oblivion where he can join Wotan and Thor and the other false gods he feasted upon a sullible populace.

His fate foreshadows that of another self-appointed god, Hirohito, the son of heaven, is the next in line. He's a criminal like the ex-paperhanger, and he'll come to a similar end.

It seems as though the Nazi plan of building up a vast German population has a serious flaw after all. War has so depleted the male population that there are now five women to every two men in the adult productive years. Germany is destined to be overrun by widows and spinsters. Unless it introduces polygamy or continues the promiscuity encouraged by Hitler the birth rate will fall sharply during the next several years.

Little did those women realize as they frantically cheered their men to fight for the glory of the fuhrer that they were forfeiting their own right to a normal life, a home and security.

A news item a few days ago revealed that because of government travel regulations a church conference held annually by the Southern Appalachians will not be held this year. The normal attendance at that conference is 300. Another item in the same paper carried a picture of 40,000 racing fans at Jamaica, N.Y.

It's not a healthy sign when religious activity has to play second fiddle to gambling.

Mrs. Joseph Dangelmayr, and with his brother, Albert, who is a patient at Gainesville Sanitarium where he underwent an appendectomy last Wednesday.

His Excellency officiated at the early mass here Sunday morning and then went to Sherman where he conferred the sacrament of Confirmation to a large class. For the service members of the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus formed a guard of honor including J.M. Weinzapfel, Herbert Meurer, J.W. Fisher and J.C. Trachta of this city and F. E. Schmitz of Gainesville. Rev. Father Thomas Muenster pastor, also attended the Sherman rites.
