Muenster firemen tangle with metal in rescue workshop

by Janet Felderhoff

Saturday was time for hands-on training as 22 members of the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department and one police officer literally tore into their assignments. The men were participants in an eight hour class on the use of rescue equipment. Certified instructor Kevin Rush of the Lewisville Fire Department conducted the class. Three cars were used for practice as the firemen learned to use a cutter, JAWS, and a hydraulic ram to open vehicles. They removed doors, the top of the car, and used several other procedures that might be used to help remove an accident victim.

Cooke County purchased the rescue equipment to be used on the Muenster VFD truck. The local volunteer fire department is now online and are now on standby.

They will be called any time that a Cooke County ambulance is transferring a patient out of county and an accident occurs requiring an ambulance and rescue truck. Muenster VFD's area includes all of northwestern and part of western Cooke County. Cooke County EMS has a truck equipped with rescue equipment and will continue to use EMS personnel when possible.

Muenster Fire Chief Herbie Knabe indicated that when responding to such a call, the MVFD will take out the rescue equipment truck and a fire truck with two or three firemen. The fire truck will accompany the rescue truck for the protection of both firemen and victims in the event the accident vehicle catches fire.

Knabe stressed the MVFD's gratitude to the people of Muenster for all of the support given during last summer's barbecue, auction and golf tournament fund raising events. That money was used to buy and outfit the rescue truck.

In praise of the local volunteers Knabe said, "The guys had a positive attitude. They were energetic and eager to learn to use the tools. They're a good bunch of guys!" He added that it doesn't happen often that 22 out of 25 members would show up for something. A number of people conducting classes have commented on the local department's outstanding participation.

Firemen attending Saturday's class included Herbie Knabe, Smoke Koelzer, Ben Bindel, Clinton Endres, Brent Hess, Steve Henseid, Bret Walterscheid, Bob Endres, Doug Fleitman, Mark Hesse, John Yosten, Henry Knabe, Jim Gehrig, Milton Knauf, Karl Barnhill, Joe Pagel, Alan Baldwin, Duane Walterscheid, Bob Walterscheid, Ronnie Felderhoff, Bert Walterscheid, Ryan Bayer, and Bob Stovall of the Muenster Police Department.

The class which was held on the parking lot of the Community Center was the first in a series of several phases of training.

Commissioners question proposed CCAD salaries

by Janet Felderhoff

Robert Lewis, chief appraiser of the Cooke County Appraisal District (CCAD), defended the CCAD's proposed budget to Cooke County Commissioners Court at the August 14 regular meeting. Increases in the CCAD's budget were due mainly to two items -- new computer software and increased salaries.

"It's basically a time bomb waiting to go off," said Lewis of the present computer software system in use by the CCAD. It was bought at a bargain price before Lewis came to Cooke County. The program was a "test pilot" and numerous problems have been discovered since.

"Everyone (other counties) is bailing out," continued Lewis. "Weighing all of the factors, continuing with the current system is not a reliable solution."

"I'm not happy at all with a couple of your salary increases," Commissioner Richard Brown told Lewis. "Most of them I can kind of live with -- anything in the three to four percent range. The county is currently considering a four percent pay raise, but county employees did not get a pay raise last year. Some of your employees got some pretty nice raises last year." Brown pointed out that some would be receiving raises in excess of 10 percent, some up to 18 percent and that he couldn't agree with that.

Lewis countered that it would be a one time deal to bring salaries in line with those of other districts. He cited the fact that the county has a five year investment in employees since several thousand dollars are spent in training. The average employment time with the CCAD is seven years.

Also he worried that without rewarding the present employees without raises, there would be nobody at CCAD able to follow the complicated tracking required because of the inefficient computer software.

At the time of the meeting the CCAD board had not approved the budget which Lewis had submitted to Commissioners Court. Brown said he didn't feel that Commissioners Court could approve the budget under such circumstances. Lewis said that some entities had already given their approval.

Judge Hesse told Lewis that he felt that the CCAD's main priority should be to get the software fixed. I don't see the justification for this large increase in salaries," noted Hesse. Commissioner Virgil Hess added that the only problem he had with the CCAD's budget was the salaries.

Since the CCAD Board had not approved the budget, Commissioners Court tabled the matter asking Lewis to readjust the salaries.

Bill Bristow of the Grayson County Juvenile Detention Center gave a presentation to Commissioner Court on a possible post adjudication center. The state of Texas has allocated $37.5 million dollars for the building of such facilities and are asking how many places intend to apply for the funds.

"We're proposing a boot camp," Bristow said. "There are other places that are proposing to just build long-term or prison type beds. The reason for the boot camp is that we have a different type child here in Cooke/Fannin/Grayson County than in Dallas County, Denton County or Collin County. We have a child that needs discipline, academics and a good after-care program. Academics is in my mind what will save these children."

He pointed to the people in the prison system today saying that most of them (prisoners) have no higher than a fifth grade education. He wants to force it into the juveniles lives until they get beyond the point of wanting to drop out or beyond the idea of being expelled.

The estimated cost of the boot camp facility (40 beds boot camp, 10 beds secure) would be $70,000 for Cooke County. That is based on a 60-20-20 formula with Grayson County paying the larger percentage.

This is a result of the 74th Texas Legislation following Governor George Bush's zero tolerance campaign, noted Judge Hesse on the reason that the state was making funds available for building such juvenile facilities.

The first step in acquiring government money available to build a facility is to have the region established, sponsoring agencies with a letter of intent. The letter of intent in no way obligates the county to accept the building grant should it be awarded to the tri-county area. All members of commissioners court were in favor of sending a letter of intent.

Justice of the Peace, Precinct 1, Place 2 Dorothy Lewis was given an additional $5,000 above funds in her department's budget to purchase a computer system. Their present system isn't working properly. "What she has doesn't serve her office and is about to go down," said Judge Hesse.

Judge Lewis has been using her personal computer in the office to help get the work done. The new system will cost about $9,000.

Election judges and alternates were appointed to fill vacancies since the original appointments several weeks ago. Doris Legge of Gainesville and John Beck were appointed as presiding judge for Precinct 3 and 7 respectively. Alternate judges were appointed as follows: Precinct 7 Hatie Pawless; Precinct 8 Polly Riefler of Gainesville; Precinct 17 Eddie Fleitman of Muenster; and Precinct 37 Barbara Cox of Gainesville.

In other business Commissioners Court:

*Approved bonds for jailer Billy Cox of the Sheriff's office and a notary bond for Judy David of the County Attorney's office.

*Approved engineering proposal for courthouse air conditioning system improvements. This is the second phase of upgrading the courthouse's air conditioning. It will cost $11,760.00.

*Approved moving the adult probation office to 215 S. Dixon for better utilization of office space and keeping the juvenile probation office at 215 S. Commerce. Also approved contracting with AT&T for the probation office's phone system. Installation cost will be $5,690.00.

*Approved minutes of last meeting after including how members voted on two issues that weren't unanimous.

*Approved monthly bills and reports.

County sets tax rate; considers county attorney candidates

by Janet Felderhoff

Cooke County Commissioners Court set the tax rate for 1996 during a special meeting called for Tuesday, August 22. The final figure agreed on by Judge Paul Hesse and Commissioners Virgil Hess, Jerry Lewis, Richard Brown, and Murrell Harris was a property tax rate of $.445 per $100 valuation.

The effective tax rate has been published as of Tuesday, August 23. Judge Hesse noted that the effective tax rate is $.433400. It's made up from the general fund $.4309 and from the Farm to Market (FM) Fund $.0025. The effective tax rate is the amount needed to bring in the same amount of revenue as the previous year.

Originally a property tax rate of $.4464 was considered. It would have been a three percent increase over last year. Commissioner Brown said, "I would like us to not increase the tax revenue by more than two percent over last year." He proposed using money from the reserve funds to make up the difference.

Keeping in mind that the court house was in need of repairs and not wanting to get in a bind, the compromise figure of $.445 was reached. All voted in favor of that figure.

Noting that it was with reluctance, the resignation Cooke County Attorney D. August Boto was accepted by Commissioners Court.

Three local attorneys applied for the position of county attorney. Commissioners Court interviewed the applicants in Executive Session. Those applying were Boto's assistant Tanya Davis, Ed Zielinski, and Thomas Larry Claxton. After the interviews, all but Richard Brown voted in favor of waiting until the regular meeting of August 28 to make an official decision.

Figures remain up for county rebates

"Local sales tax payments this month are virtually unchanged from one year ago," State Comptroller John Sharp said. The total of $202.4 million sent to Texas cities and counties was a 2.2 percent increase over August 1994.

Cities in Cooke County received a total of $232,434.96 in August rebates. All except Valley View and Oak Ridge, showed an increase over last August.

Muenster's check for $21,081.76 showed an increase of 6.53 percent from a year ago. Total payments to date for Muenster, $93,990.74, was up 6.17 percent from the total payments to date in August of 1994. Lindsay received $5,627.38, an increase of 3.05 percent from August 1994. Total payments to

While retail sales remained flat compared to a year earlier, Sharp reported that total Texas employment rose by 269,600 jobs to stand at 7.9 million, a 3.5 percent increase since August 1994.

Letters to the Editor

My very dear friends,
It is very easy to promise something, but to keep the promise is a different story. I promised to write a long letter to you. I will see how successfully I can keep my promise.

Congratulations, my dear friends in the first place to your marvelous success in celebrating the Centennial Jubilee August 6, 1995. All the Sisters who attended were bubbling over with enthusiasm to tell me about the event before I had time to ask.

I was delighted that I could be with you for a short time per video tape with several other Sisters who could not attend. I was very happy to hear how enthusiastic your response was when I waved the Sacred Heart cap. You may remember what an enthusiastic football fan I became in the course of time.

On August the 12th a very large envelope arrived from Sacred Heart School. You can imagine how curious I was to find out what it contained.

The surprise was overwhelming - a School Calendar! There it was, giving the goings on at Sacred Heart School from the 21st of August, 1995 through the 30th day of May 1996. What a marvelous achievement! What a treasure. Thanks a million times for it!

Besides the School Calendar the envelope contained the Newsletter of Mr. Jack Murdock, always a treasured document, and an invitation to the Sacred Heart Bingo Thursday night each week in Gainesville. Please do attend if you possibly can!!

The Newsletter had some outstandingly Good News. Coach John Nasche was chosen Coach of the Year. Jason Hess was chosen Male Athlete of the Year by the Texas Association of Private and Parochial Schools. Sarina Fuhrmann was awarded a $3,000.00 Scholarship to the University of Dallas based on a competitive examination.

To each of the above I extend my heartfelt congratulations. I also read carefully the paragraph on the Sacred Heart School Board. May God's help and blessing be upon each member of that very important part of Sacred Heart School.

This is my ongoing contribution to Sacred Heart School. Each day during Holy Mass, I ask God to bless millions of times Mr. Jack Murdock, Principal, the faculty, parents, students, alumni, the school board and all friends and benefactors of Sacred Heart School.

Finally, thanks a million times for the numerous things you sent home with the Sisters e.g.: the magnificent plaque commemorating the event, the two large, precious photos framed and under glass, numerous beautiful cards of gratitude and food and drinks. I hereby gratefully acknowledge the ones I received personally (cards or letters).

Lots and lots of Love, Prayers and Thanks,
Your old friend,

Editor,
In response to Mr. Broyles' article in last week's Muenster Enterprise, we must be in need of a RATBUSTER. Yes, the phantom rats strike again. According to Mr. Broyles' whitewashing of the matter, we must have imagined the whole idea of rats in our backyard. Funny isn't it, how do phantom rats appear on video tapes or in pictures?

Perhaps the next time a dead rat shows up, we should whisk it up to City Hall on a magic carpet. Maybe the City could purchase some make-believe poison for us. Something is definitely eating our real poison up. Oh, I guess, it's the make-believe rats.

Whether or not we had one, ten or a thousand rats isn't the issue. ONE rat in OUR YARD is ONE TOO MANY!!

Everyone is welcome to bring themselves, their children or grandchildren or pets to our backyard. Take a stroll through the imaginary rat droppings, eat some tomatoes that the phantom rats have urinated upon. Better yet, step upon a dead phantom rat lying upon our patio.

Until you, the citizens of Muenster, have endured a problem such as ours, there is no cause for criticism or jokes. Maybe, if you took a closer look, some of you probably have a similar problem.

We have been entirely too patient, neighborly and fair on this matter. As of now, we won't settle for anything except ZERO RATS!!

Rural Reflections

by Janet Felderhoff

Along with medical care, my daughter gets bits of wisdom on life from her specialist. He seems to feel that too many of our country's youth are wasting their lives and potential.

The first bit of his latest wisdom was fine -- study hard and do your best to get top grades. What parent would argue with that?

Turning to me he advised, "Know who your children's friends are." Living in Muenster that's pretty simple. I try to keep tabs on my kids and where they are and what's going on.

The words that followed bothered me at the time, but the more I've thought about them the more I've decided, How dare he? He said not to let my child have friends who wanted only to be waitresses or teachers or the like, but to have her associate only with those whose goals were high. What posts in life were, in his opinion, high goals and which others weren't worthy, I'm not sure. I was too astounded to ask.

God gave each individual different talents. If only the choice career positions were filled then how would the world function. Who would cook, clean, wait tables, repair, build, teach, grow food? What good is a designer without people to create the product? Or college professors if a child hasn't been through elementary and high school?

Who decides what is a worthy occupation and what is not?

Personally I think more of a person who does their best (be it waiting tables, doctoring, or whatever) who is good and honest, cares for others, and makes the world a better place by being a part of it. Just because someone is in a high position, is well-paid, famous, or highly educated doesn't mean that they are necessarily a person of whom one would be proud.

In ways our schools are guilty of looking down on students who don't pursue an education higher than a high school diploma. I've heard of principals who "supplied" information on graduates making it appear that all of their graduating seniors planned to attend college. The quality of a high school is based on how many graduating seniors go on to college. Not on how responsible and reliable that graduate is or what they contribute to society, just weather they continue their education.

How many people can you think of who have college degrees that go unused?

Sorry doc, I think I'll pass on the free advice this time. My children are free to choose their friends because they like one another, have things in common, have fun together, support and understand each other.

Friends are too precious to throw away. No honor or achievement in the world can equal the gift of true friendship.

I'm trying to be fair. Perhaps the man wasn't really being disdainful. Maybe he just didn't know how to express himself.

Fulfilling a dream

by Robert Fulghum

I'm going to be a fireman! Not someday when I grow up, as I hoped when I was 6 years old, but this year. The rural community near Moab, Utah, in which I live during the winter, is 30 minutes away from the nearest fire station. Our fire protection is minimal, and our fire-insurance rates are maximal.

What to do? Buy our own pumper truck and form our own fire brigade? Great! I really don't care who is battalion chief. And I don't really want to fight any fires. I just want to wear the outfit and ride on the back of the truck up and down the road with the siren screaming.

A professional fireman considered our plans, attitudes and the physical condition of the motley lot of heroic do-gooders we could muster -- and concluded we were about to increase our problem rather than solve it. Maybe so. But it's clear that our enthusiasm is a product of a lifelong esteem for firefighters and respect for a great American tradition.

Since Jamestown burned down in the winter of 1607-08, citizen's groups have banded to fight fire. Washington, Jefferson, Adams and Paul Revere were members of volunteer fire brigades. Benjamin Franklin formed the Union Fire Company in Philadelphia in 1736 and organized the first mutual fire insurance association the same year. Now there are more than 1 million fire fighters in the United States, 75% of them volunteers.

Vocational researchers say that the profession and avocation with the highest satisfaction rate among its membership is firefighting.

One of the first things we do when we want to teach children citizenship values is to take them to visit the local fire station. When an elementary school teacher recently invited me to come along again, I went with enthusiasm -- and was no less impressed than I had been 50 years ago. And when I attended a firefighters' convention last summer, I realized it was a religious gathering -- a reunion of the Church of the Burning Building.

The firefighters' motto is

"Service." Their values are courage, caring, community, knowledge and physical fitness.

Many are cross-trained to be emergency medical technicians.

They are organized like soldiers, but their war is not against people. The enemies are fire, destruction, disaster and human suffering. As in combat, they eat together, sleep together, train together and brave danger together. As in combat, they must be able to rely on one another when things go wrong. And, as in combat, they must be able to cope with injury and death -- to themselves and others.

When they speak of a "baptism by fire," they're not using a metaphor. Off duty, they play together and socialize together. They hold contests and competitions, combining work skills and fun. They have their awards and commendations -- even bands and drill teams. They hone their skills into unconscious habits until their job requirements and their way of life are one.

Firefighters become part of a larger family and take care of their own -- their wives, husbands and children -- in times of injury, death and disaster. Far more than most of us, what they do gives their lives meaning and purpose. The structure and activities of their world parallel the structures and activities of a formalized religion. And we count on them to keep their faith alive.

I don't know if the Church of the Burning Building saves souls, but it saves lives, inspires the young and dignifies the ideals of human community.

It's no wonder our culture observes the educational ritual of the visit to the firehouse. It's no wonder that when we ask children what they want to be when they grow up, we often get the answer: "A firefighter!" And when I grow up -- something I am expecting any time now -- I, too, will finally become a firefighter, not really because I want to ride on the back of the truck but because I want to be as useful and as respected as they are. From My Side of the Fence

by Ed Cler

Looking at the picture of the U.S.S. Missouri, in the Enterprise of 8-18-95, brings back pleasant memories of our visit aboard, and of the many friendly faces we saw there, both civilian and service people.

While I would like to take credit for taking a rather good picture of the ship, I am not guilty. Son Jim took most of the pictures, including the ones of the battleship.

He also took pictures of the United States aircraft carrier, The Kitty Hawk, which we were also privileged to board.

I had never been aboard a carrier before. Some years ago Aileen, Gary and family, and myself, went to Bremerton, just across the sound west of Seattle, to see one of our bigger carriers that was moored there, but we were not allowed within a mile of the ship.

The Kitty Hawk was brought into the new Navy port at Everett, Wa., to help celebrate the opening of the new facility, which will be the homeport to the super-carrier,

The U.S.S. Abraham Lincoln. When you think of an aircraft carrier, you must think big. The Kitty Hawk is not one of the larger carriers, yet it is over 1000 feet in length and some 200 feet wide. Most of its complement of planes were removed leaving only a few representative craft for the public to see.

Service men mingled with the crowd and besides being friendly, were very helpful, answering our many questions.

We were told that a plane, revved up and hooked up to the booster, went from 0 to 180 mph in 2 seconds. One could be launched every 2 minutes.

Almost everything that is not used to launch a plane, or to bring it to a halt upon landing, is built on the sides of the ship, leaving the deck clear for the planes. The deck is some 60 feet above water.

Our party enjoyed our tour of the ship immensely. It was one of many wonders that we were privileged to enjoy on our tour of a number of states.

Local county agent attends conference

Tammie Lively, Cooke County, Assistant County Extension Agent - Family and Consumer Sciences, attended the annual conference of the Texas Association of Extension 4-H Agents (TAE4-HA) in Corpus Christi, Texas.

Lively was among 150 youth professionals from across the state that attended the conference Aug. 9-11, 1995. This annual conference was Lively's first time to attend.

The purpose of TAE4-HA is to enhance professional skills and competence in education and to strengthen the youth development profession, its image, standards and support.

Conference participants attended seminars, workshops and research presentations covering topics such as youth, volunteer and personal development, program management, survival skills, communications, and Agents as people.

Lively said she found sessions on Survival Skills to be very interesting. She found that sometimes people have very important information that you need, but they are not willing to share it. She was involved in a workshop where everyone had limited resources and they needed to construct a flag from the materials they had in their packet. They were allowed to bargain with the other groups to get what they needed.

The session on Learning to Grow gave her new ideas to present to the Club Managers.

This session was presented by Darlene Locke, Horticulturist, to inform Agents of the opportunities in growing a garden as a project for 4-H'ers.

Drs. Chris and Joe Townsend, Texas A&M University Professor and Associate Dean and Director of Student Development, College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, Texas A&M University, respectively, challenged and motivated the conference participants as the opening speakers. They discussed the importance of enhancing Personal and Professional Creativity and Attitudes in order to renew our well-being as youth professionals and individuals.

Carmen Fowler, Associate Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Victoria, Texas, shared her perspectives on the topic of Change. Fowler stated that the winds of change are blowing fiercely in today's society. Fowler encouraged participants to harness the power and use the winds as a tool to move them toward their chartered destination. Conference participants left feeling deeply touched and energized about the importance of being a harbor for today's youth. Today's youth need a harbor to supply safety in a storm. As youth professionals, 4-H Agents are in a unique position of being a harbor for youth in these changing times. We can, and should, encourage youth to find their moorings and safety with us, and at the same time provide them with the tools to make their dreams come true and know that their futures are far outside the limits of the harbor.

4-H and Youth Development Programs are conducted in 254 counties in Texas by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of the Texas A&M University System, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the County Commissioners Courts of Texas cooperating. In addition, all 50 states have 4-H and Youth programs. 4-H and Youth Development focuses on the development of life skills for youth. Programs are offered to all youth regardless of sex, race, color, religion, national origin or disability.

SBDC offers ITV classes for small business owners

North Central Texas College Small Business Development Center will be offering two courses this fall for the interested small business owner.

Cathy Keeler, SBDC director explained that these courses will be offered over Interactive Television (ITV). In partnership with four other educational institutions as a member of the North Texas Educational Network (NTEN), NCTC can offer these courses and several other credit as well as non credit courses over full motion interactive video.

"Full motion interactive video is a state-of-the-art distance learning technology which facilitates interaction between students and the instructor at up to four sites," added Keeler.

Students in Muenster, Era and Forestburg will be able to take courses originating in Gainesville without leaving their home town by going to the interactive TV classroom at their respective high schools.

"Regulations Affecting New Small Businesses will be geared for the small business owner or potential entrepreneur," said

Keeler. "Students will be given an overview of regulations that will apply to most new small businesses."

The class will meet for two Thursdays from 6:30-8:30 p.m. at the NCTC main campus in Gainesville. The class will meet September 14 through the 21st. The cost of the course is $15.

Accounting and Recordkeeping will be offered September 28 through November 2 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The class will meet a total of six times. The cost of the course is $30.

Keeler explained that Accounting and Recordkeeping will cover the fundamentals of dual entry accounting, preparation of balance sheets and income statements and payroll records.

"This course is for persons interested in better understanding and organizing finances," said Keeler.

Interested persons may register at the NCTC Registrar's Office during regular college working hours. For more information call the NCTC Small Business Development Center Office at 817-668-4220.

King Koch dies Aug. 23

King Koch, long-time resident of Muenster died at his home on Wednesday, Aug. 23, about 8 a.m. following a long bout with cancer. Mass of Christian Burial will be held on Friday, Aug. 25 in Sacred Heart Church at 11 a.m. The obituary, liturgy and photo will be printed in next week's Muenster Enterprise. Memorials may be sent to the Sacred Heart Trust Fund or to Muenster Memorial Hospital.

Toll-free service possible

If Muenster Telephone Corporation customers vote for it, they may soon get toll-free long distance service to Gainesville, Valley View and Saint Jo telephone exchanges, Muenster Mayor Henry Weinzapfel reported that he had received several requests from local persons to investigate local area toll free service so he went to Muenster Telephone Corp.

Telephone Corporation Manager Alvin Fuhrman said Wednesday that a bill modified in the last Texas legislative session allowed the toll-free arrangement if a petition is organized to request the vote and the vote is passed by a 70% for margin. The petition is the Muenster service area must have 70 signatures. Then the petition goes to the Public Utility Commission in Austin. The PUC will direct Muenster Telephone Corp. to send a ballot to each customer who votes and returns the ballot to Austin. If 70% of the current Muenster customers vote yes, calls to Gainesville, Valley View and Saint Jo numbers will be toll free for all Muenster callers.

The cost of the service will be assessed across the board to all customers. Residential customers will pay $3.50 extra per month and business phones will pay $7.00 extra per month. So, toll-free is not truly free. But frequent callers should get a good break on long distance charges.

Weinzapfel said that persons who wish to sign the petition should see Jeannene at Muenster State Bank.

County 4-H'ers attend award judging interviews

On August 17, interviews were held for Gold Star, Farm Bureau, and Danforth awards. The 4-H member must be at least 15 years of age as of January 1 of the current year to be eligible for Gold Star, and 14 years of age to be eligible for Danforth and Farm Bureau awards. The 4-H'ers may choose which awards they want to be judged for.

The Gold Star award is the highest award received in Cooke County 4-H. It is awarded to one or two deserving youth each year for outstanding leadership accomplishments, projects and activities, and participation in community services. The applicants this year are Michael Becker, Diana Bouldin, Rachel Cravens, Emily Felderhoff, and Amanda Hitt.

The Farm Bureau award is the second highest honor in the county.

This award has the same requirements for Gold Star except for the age difference. Leadership development is a high area of emphasis on this award. Two 4-H'ers may receive this award. The 4-H'ers applying for this award are Diana Bouldin, Bonnie Brooks, Amanda Hitt, Yvonne Martin, and Randal Paalik.

The Danforth award goes to two deserving 4-H'ers, age 14, each year for outstanding leadership accomplishments, completed projects and participation in activities, and involvement in community services. The applicants this year are Diana Bouldin, Bonnie Brooks, Emily Felderhoff, Yvonne Martin, and Randal Paalik.

The results of the interviews will be announced during the 4-H Achievement Banquet at the Gainesville Civic Center on October 2. These 4-H'ers have accomplished so much through the 4-H program.

On behalf of the Cooke County 4-H program, the following community leaders are to be recognized for judging these awards, Scott BaumBach, Donna Doty, and Vernon Smith. 4-H'ers in our county are doing great things with the continued support of community leaders like these, who are willing to help. We appreciate their time and service to the Cooke County 4-H program.

Rodgers, Pagel marry in Sacred Heart Church

Brenda Le Rodgers of Denton became the bride of Mike Pagel of Carrollton on Aug. 12, 1995 in a double ring ceremony and traditional vows officiated by Rev. Larry Cash in First United Methodist Church of Levelland, Texas at 6:30 p.m. It was the same church in which the bride's parents were married, giving special significance to the place chosen.

The bride is the daughter of Monty and Cheri Rodgers of Whitharral, TX and the groom is the son of John and JoAnn Pagel of Muenster.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a glistening white satin wedding gown designed with a straight slim skirt. Short sleeves were formed by large satin roses. The fitted bodice and skirt were covered with appliques of pearls and sequins. Matching sequins and pearl beading adorned the detachable, mid-length train that was held in place with satin roses matching those on the dress.

She carried a bridal bouquet of fresh red and white roses, baby's breath, greenery and black and white ribbon. Entwined in the bouquet was a white pearl rosary given to the bride by the groom's mother.

ATTENDANTS

Stacey Wright of Lubbock, a friend of the bride was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Dianne Pagel of Muenster, Mandi Mouser of Abernathy and Jean Pagel of Lubbock. Mandi is a friend of the bride and Jean and Dianne are sisters of the groom.

They wore identical gowns designed with black, floor-length skirts, and black and white check fitted tops with short puffed sleeves, a back flair and accent bow, and two pearl buttons at the waist. They carried fresh bouquets similar to the bride's.

Flower girls were Allison Pagel and Maggie Turner. Ring bearer was Taylor Walton, carrying a ring pillow that was a family treasure; the bride's great-grandfather's baby pillow which has been used in weddings for three generations.

Joe Pagel of Muenster was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were J. Shane Wimmer of Lubbock, friend of the groom, Monty Rodgers, Jr. of Whitharral and Brandon Rodgers of Whitharral, both brothers of the bride.

Ushers were Jason Butler of Seattle, Washington, bride's cousin, Kelly Colwell of Denton and Keith Klement of Dubois, Idaho, friends of the groom.

Candlelighters were Carson Penepacker of Denton, friend of the groom and Jason Butler, bride's cousin.

Wedding music was presented by Angela Cowart, vocalist. Selections included "Wedding Song," "Evergreen," and "I'll Be Here."

Scripture Readings were given by Tara Bayer of Muenster and Donna Ivers of Fort Worth, both cousins of the groom.

Mothers of the couple lit two white candles and the bride and groom used these to light their Unity candle.

Church decorations included two tall floor candelabra, with lighted candles, in the altar area. Both were entwined with greenery and black and gold bows. There were also two arrangements of red and white roses with black and gold bows.

RECEPTION

A reception followed in the Church Fellowship Hall. Cindy Newsom presided at the guest book.

The bride's table, covered in white, held the silver punch bowl, silver goblets, red and white roses and greenery.

The three-tiered bride's cake was decorated with matching fresh flowers between each tier, around the base and on the top keepsake layer. The chocolate groom's cake was decorated with a basket weave design, and was covered with chocolate-dipped strawberries.

Reception assistants were Lisa Chavez, Edna Garza and Kendra Polk, friends of the bride.

The rehearsal dinner was a backyard barbecue at the home of friends of the bride's family near Whitharral. About 125 friends and family members attended.

The bride is a graduate of Whitharral High School and the University of North Texas. She is employed by Aetna Health Plans in Human Resource Management.

The groom is a graduate of Muenster High School and the University of North Texas. He is employed by Beckett Publications as Assistant Editor.

Ancient Glass from Roman Times

For thousands of years, artists have used glass to create beautiful works of art.

Today, Alice Bergner, living in present day Caesarea, which lies over the ancient site of historic Caesarea, built 2000 years ago by the Roman builder, Herod, is acutely aware of her forebearers.

Much of the ancient mouthblown glass which Alice incorporates into her designs, is still being found today, in archaeological excavations which go on, on a regular basis, only a short distance from her home. These ruins, which have been turned into a national park, are a constant source of inspiration to her.

Age has been good to these shards of history, which are now a rare and exquisite reminder of a great era, long gone. The underground burial of the glass for two millennia, has resulted in the natural formation of a rich opalescent lustre which has enveloped the glass, called PATINA.

Cooke County Chorale commences season

With references to this past summer's European Concert Tour to sweeten an already-anticipated gathering, the Cooke County Chorale commenced rehearsal of a new work Tuesday, August 15. Rehearsals will be conducted regularly from 7 to 9 p.m. to build a performance of Brahms Requiem in late November. A few weeks after, an 'ole fashioned Christmas concert with some lighter fare will be performed, said Director Mike Linder.

Mention of Germany and Austria concertizing in June brought back pleasant memories for those who went. Furthermore, they served to introduce the next European tour--twelve days in England, Ireland, Wales and Scotland in summer 1997.

For now, though, Tuesday night rehearsals and optional sectional rehearsals on Monday and Thursday nights will focus on the Brahms piece, his "pinnacle" achievement according to Linder.

"I'm excited," he told the 29 gathered. "I've sung it several times, but have never conducted it."

Inspired by the death of his mother and his mentor Schumann, Johannes Brahms wrote the Requiem in an arch structure. Three parts lead up to "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings," which the Chorale included in its concert of Great Choral Masterpieces last Spring. After that pinnacle, there are three more parts.

Written in German, the piece will be performed by the Chorale in English, with the North Texas Symphony accompanying. To that end, any individual or business who would like to donate now would be welcome. Please mail donations to Ned Newman, treasurer, 1000 E. California, Gainesville, Texas 76240. The Cooke County Arts Council is a financial backer.

The Cooke County Chorale is a non-profit organization dedicated to the preservation of classical music. Anyone is welcome to join, no matter the level of musical expertise or experience, and members hail from Cooke, Montague and Grayson counties. There are no dues; however, the music of Brahms Requiem costs $10, and that is for the singer to keep. In addition, $2 rehearsal tapes are on sale.

John Dill, master-degreed musician from Gainesville, accompanies the Chorale. Moreover, Dr. Martin Kralick of Muenster is president; Linda Coursey is historian and serves on the publicity committee with Stephen Bonin.

Emphasizing his reverence for Requiem, Linder said, "I really want this to be a life-changing experience."

THE ENGAGEMENT and approaching marriage of Lisa Russell to Randy Miller have been announced by parents of the bride-elect, Bryan and Glenda Russell of Muenster. Parents of the future-groom are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Luke of Gainesville and the late Charles A. (Mac) Miller. The wedding will be held in Sacred Heart Catholic Church on Sept. 9, 1995 at 5 p.m., officiated by Father Frowin Schoech, OSB. Attendants will be Amanda Russell, sister of the bride-elect, as maid of honor and Joe Pagel as best man. Lisa is a 1993 graduate of Muenster High School and is attending North Central Texas College and the University of North Texas. Miller is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and is employed by Boeing Electronics. They plan to reside in Muenster.

St. Nikolaus Kirche
from the Alpine Village Series by

The church where "Silent Night" was first written
It was at this church on Christmas Eve in 1818 that Joseph Mohr gave his poem, Stille Nacht! Heilige Nacht! to Franz Gruber to be set to music.
Mice had eaten holes in the bellows of the church organ. So, that evening, Mohr's innocent Christmas lullaby was performed for the first time on the guitar.
Sadly, the original church was shaken from its foundation in September 1899 when the Salzach River flooded and, shortly thereafter, the church had to be demolished.
On the site where the original church stood, a small chapel has been built. And, every year on Christmas Eve, Franz Gruber's guitar is taken from its case and this beloved Christmas melody is performed exactly as it first was, in 1818.

Capuchina on 6-month overseas Navy deployment

Navy Airman Juan J. Capuchina, a 1990 graduate of Forestburg High School is currently halfway through a six-month overseas deployment with Strike Fighter Squadron 15 embarked aboard the aircraft carrier USS Theodore Roosevelt, which has included duty in the Adriatic Sea near Bosnia and in the Persian Gulf near Iraq. He joined the Navy in January 1992.

Capuchina is one of 227 squadron members embarked aboard the aircraft carrier who have traveled approximately 20,000 miles since leaving Norfolk, Va., in mid-March. Capuchina's ship is the lead ship of a formidable 11-ship battle group, which includes jet fighters, attack aircraft, helicopters, and ships and submarines armed with Tomahawk cruise missiles.

Capuchina's squadron flies the F/A-18C Hornet, a twin-engine supersonic strike fighter capable of providing protection against enemy aircraft, delivering ordnance on targets ashore and at sea, and providing close air support for troops on the ground.

After passing through the narrow Strait of Hormuz into the Persian Gulf, Capuchina worked supporting the international effort to enforce the no-fly zone over Southern Iraq.

Capuchina then returned to the Mediterranean Sea via the Suez Canal and proceeded to the Adriatic Sea near Bosnia, where the 1,096-foot-long aircraft carrier and its nine aircraft squadrons have been helping enforce the international no-fly zone over Bosnia.

So far during the deployment, the 12 aircraft from Capuchina's squadron have flown nearly 130 combat support missions over Southern Iraq and 150 missions over Bosnia.

NOTICE OF EFFECTIVE TAX RATE

1995 Property Tax Rates in Muenster Hospital District

This notice concerns 1995 property tax rates for Muenster Hospital District. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case, these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (e total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$313,910
Last year's debt taxes	$0
Last year's total taxes	$313,910
Last year's tax base	$111,717,410
Last year's total tax rate (per $100)	0.28099

This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$307,118
/ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$113,528,108
= This year's effective tax rate (per $100)	0.27052

This year's rollback tax rate:
Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function)	$307,119
/ This year's adjusted tax base	$113,528,108
= This year's effective operating rate (per $100)	0.27052
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate (per $100)	0.29216
+ This year's debt rate (per $100)	0.00000
= This year's rollback rate (per $100)	0.29216

* If the rollback rate is lower than 1.03 times the effective rate, the unit must publish the notices and hold the hearing to adopt a tax rate that exceeds the rollback tax rate.

Six ways to meet boys
 Guys are everywhere -- in a class, at ball games, at the mall -- but, how do you meet them? Here are six ideas.

1. Introduce yourself -- nothing ventured, nothing gained. So get up the courage to say, "Hello!"
2. Get other people to introduce you -- your best friends or your brother can introduce you to friends.
3. Go to parties -- Don't forget to smile and talk to the guys.
4. Join a club or extra curricular activity -- meetings provide a terrific and casual way to get to know guys.
5. Open your eyes -- Lots of girls get stuck on a few popular guys in school. Be friendly to nice boys. It's better to find a wonderful guy and develop a relationship than join the crowd already going for the star athlete.
6. Learn a sport -- Remember you get to ride the bus together to neighboring schools for games and meets.

This notice concerns 1995 property tax rates for Muenster ISD. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the school district used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the school district can set before it must hold a rollback election. In each case, these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes and state funds by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Haverkamp plays in national baseball finals in Nebraska

Kody Haverkamp, son of Roger and Monica Haverkamp of Southlake and a grandson of Benny and Mickey Haverkamp and Freck and Jake Schilling of Muenster played in the Baseball National Finals Super Series at Omaha, Neb. on Aug. 4, 5, and 6. A select team member of the Texas Stars, Kody competed in the 11-year-old division.

The Stars won the state championship Pee Wee Reece Division of the AABC to qualify for the Nationals. Kody was the starting pitcher for the Texas Stars in their opening game at Omaha against a team from Missouri. Pitching all seven innings, he struck out 13 players and gave up one hit. The final score was 3-1 in favor of the Stars.

They then went on to win their next three games against teams from Nebraska, Iowa, and Oklahoma. All the boys played outstanding ball. Kody hit a solo home run in one game of the series. He also played outfielder. Due to league rules he was not eligible to pitch again until Sunday when the semi-finals and finals were to be held. He was scheduled to pitch the championship game. Running into another tough team from Texas, the Stars in their semi-final game in spite of a seventh inning rally, were defeated 7-5.

Kody and Chase Medford, another team member. They celebrated birthdays on the 6th and 7th respectively.

Also going to Omaha to cheer the team were Kody's brother Kirk; Benny and Mickey Haverkamp; Glenn and Shawn Hess; and Aaron Hess. Opting not to travel with their 3-week-old son, Monica stayed home, but frequent calls by Roger during the games, kept her updated as to the happenings.

COACH CHARLIE MEURER and the Lindsay Knights continue after school practices in preparation for their scrimmage Friday in Nocona.

Catfish poisoning can be dangerous

The dangers of catfish venom, compared to snakebite, may seem like a bad joke but there have been serious catfish-related poisonings, some even leading to death.

The most troublesome species are also the most common fished for: channel cats, blue catfish and bullheads, but also handle carefully white catfish. All these fish can "sting" by stiffening their sharp dorsal and/or pectoral fin spines, which inject venom. Think of the spines as sharp needles dipped in poison. This toxin can cause pain, swelling, hard-to-stop bleeding and even nerve and tendon damage.

The most serious damage is the possibility of bacterial infection. In cases where tips of the dorsal spine break off and remain in the wound, the chance of infection is even greater.

Most fishermen learn the hard way to handle catfish with care. Avoid an over-the-dorsal reach. Grip from the underside or by slipping your fingers under the gills. Try not to brush against or step on a catfish for it will instantly bristle, thrusting out the toxic spines.

If you are stung, doctors advise cleaning the wound thoroughly and soaking the affected area in hot water for at least 30 minutes. Painkillers will also help. For deep wounds, see a doctor.

Full farm flexibility ... a new farm concept

As Congress prepared to break for its August recess, corn growers from across the country took to Capitol Hill to advocate Full Farm Flexibility, the National Corn Growers Association's (NCGA) proposal for the 1995 farm bill.

Full Farm Flexibility, a concept adopted by NCGA's 24 state-member associations at its 1995 annual meeting in February, calls for substantial change in current federal farm programs. Growers designed the proposal to allow them to make planting decisions relevant to their operations. As outlined in a new 32-page study, Full Farm Flexibility saves the federal government money while maintaining an income safety net for farmers. The plan also benefits the environment through improved tillage practices, the potential for reduced pesticide and fertilizer use and increased use of filter strips for conservation and wildlife habitat.

Four key points of Full Farm Flexibility are:

- Allow producers to plant any crop on their farm and receive income support payments;
- Increase the number of acres ineligible for farm program payments to 25 percent;
- Maintain current levels of target prices and establish the loan rate at current levels or higher;

- Eliminate acreage reduction programs and the 0-85/92 program.

Wallie Hardie, chairman of NCGA's Government Relations Committee said, "Full Farm Flexibility would simplify farmers' lives, improve environmental practices, increase yields and, most importantly, boost profitability."

Hardie disagrees with contentions that his program favors one region over another. "Our study has shown that concerns of wholesale cropping shifts due to unrestricted flexibility are unfounded. Farmers in all regions would benefit. The worst of all worlds would be for Congress to increase the so-called non-paid acres" Hardie continued. "That would decrease farmers' incomes and take away their ability to make the best decisions for their operations."

Full Farm Flexibility represents opportunity, NCGA President Rod Gangwish told a group of Representatives and Senators recently. "Full Farm Flexibility represents the evolution of decision making power away from Washington and back to the individual farmer."

Brucellosis: Where it starts

First in a series

Most animals contract brucellosis by eating the bacteria. Germs also enter the body through the eyes, nose, and skin. A cow becomes a victim by smelling or licking a newborn calf from an infected cow or by eating bacteria contaminated feed or bedding.

After the bacteria enter a cow, they spread throughout the body. They settle in the udder of all cows and in the uterus of pregnant cows. This localization limits when and how the bacteria leave the body. Bacteria in the milk usually don't spread the disease among cattle. The Bang's bacteria don't spread through saliva, urine, or manure.

An infected cow discharges billions of Brucella bacteria at calving or abortion. Cows may shed the bacteria for 2 months after calving or aborting. Isolating cows at calving reduces risks to the rest of the herd.

The Bang's-infected cow that has a normal, live, full-term calf also spreads billions of bacteria. She is as dangerous to the herd as is the cow that aborts.

Bulls can become infected with brucellosis but are not likely to spread the disease to cows. Steers can get the disease but can't shed the bacteria.

Calves under 8 months old usually have resistance to infection. The exception is the heifer calf of an infected cow. Up to 10% of these calves have brucellosis, but they usually test negative until calving or aborting. They don't spread the bacteria until they have, or abort, their first calves.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

COOKE COUNTY BEEF SHORTCOURSE

Cattle producers are facing tough times now. Everything producers have to buy has gone up while cattle prices have gone down. Economists tell us that there were 40% fewer cattle operations making a profit in 1994 as compared to 1993, and indications are times are going to get worse before they get better.

The 1995 Cooke County Beef Shortcourse will focus on "Surviving the Slump." Survivors will be the featured speakers and will focus on their philosophy of making a go in the cattle business.

Delbert Hollis, AZTX Cattle Co. of Hereford, Texas, will present a program on feedlot and packer acceptance of various crosses and his outlook as to where we are and where we are headed.

Tom Woodward, Broseco Ranches, one of the 10 largest commercial cow/calf operations in the U.S. will discuss ways the cow/calf producers can adjust to low prices.

And, John Horn, DVM, and Ron Gill, Extension Livestock Specialist, will present programs on herd health and enhancing calf values through management practices.

The shortcourse will be held at the Gainesville Livestock Market and will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a hamburger supper sponsored by Merck Ag Vet. The program will be held in the livestock market facility on Refinery Road in Gainesville and will start at 7 p.m. If you have questions concerning the shortcourse, give me a call at the County Extension office.

TEXAS SWINE VALIDATION PROGRAM

Beginning with the Fort Worth Stock Show in 1996, there will be a requirement that all market animals be validated. This includes the market barrow show. 4-H and FFA members will be required to notify their Vocational Agriculture Instructor or the County Agent prior to September 10, 1995 if you plan to show, so validation tags can be ordered. An official tagging of swine will be conducted during November, so make your showing decisions as soon as possible. Remember the September 10 deadline. Questions can be answered at the Extension office or your local Vocational Agriculture teacher.

Family land heritage applications due Sept. 8

The Texas Department of Agriculture's Family Land Heritage Program is accepting applications for the next ceremony to be held in early 1996. The program recognizes farms and ranches that have been in continuous production by the same family for at least 100 years.

Announcing the availability of applications, Agricultural Commissioner Rick Perry called these farm and ranch families the bedrock of Texas agriculture.

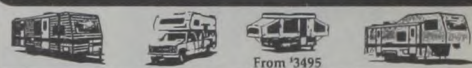

"These individuals along with their parents, grandparents and great-grandparents, laid down a solid foundation that helped build Texas agriculture into what it is today - the state's second largest industry," Perry said. "And these honorees will continue to strengthen Texas agriculture through their commitment to hard work and their love of land."

Program applications are available through county judges and historical societies, as well as from TDA. To qualify, a farm or ranch must have a minimum of 10 acres and take in receipts of at least $250 a year. Deadline for applications to be submitted to TDA is Sept. 8.

Applications may be obtained by writing to Debbie Ellis, the Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711; or by calling Ellis at 512-463-7653.

USDA report shows cattle number at 10-year high

As analysts expected, the USDA biannual cattle inventory report showed the U.S. cattle herd has swelled to a 10-year peak. The report showed the July 1 cattle and calves inventory at 114.3 million head, 102 percent of year-ago levels.

However, the number of beef replacement heifers was 97 percent of last year's level, indicating the expansion phase could be coming to a close.

"On the cattle inventory report, the beef-heifers replacement number at 97 percent reflects the pain producers are going through and that there may be a slowing of the expansion," said Bob Price, Cargill livestock analyst.

"The report in general says we still have plenty of cattle for 1995 and 1996 and that large cow slaughters will be coming at some point," Price said.

The total number of cattle on feed was reported at 11 million, 105 percent of the 1994 number.

Texas cattle feeders reported 2.47 million head of cattle and calves on feed for the slaughter market, up 7 percent from last year. The estimate was down 2 percent from the June 1 level.

According to figures released by the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service, feeders placed 1.5 million head of cattle and calves on feed during the April-June 1995 quarter, 9 percent above the same period a year ago. Placements in June totaled 430,000 head, down 32 percent from the May level.

There was no reaction to the cattle-on-feed and inventory reports in trading activity, reported Knight-Ridder Financial News.

U.S. farm programs try to control supply

A spray vaccine? It's happening!

Just taking a deep breath may one day prevent or cure disease. Kansas State University scientist Alan Brown is developing an inhaler to spray vaccines deep into the lungs of both animals and humans.

Respiratory diseases affect 70 to 90 percent of all animals at least once in their life, Brown said. Preventing respiratory diseases could save the livestock industry thousands of dollars each year. "Any kind of infection will reduce the production potential of animals," Brown said. "They may go off feed due to the illness, as well as devote their energy to fighting off the disease instead of gaining weight."

Sprays may be more effective than shots because the vaccine could directly stimulate the immune system in the lungs. "This hypothesis isn't proven yet," the scientist said. "We need to do a lot more work to prove or disprove it." Developing a device to deliver the vaccine into the lung to test the efficiency of spray vaccines proved to be challenging. "The respiratory system is beautifully designed to keep substances out," Brown said. "Particles must be microscopically small to enter the lungs."

Brown's prototype device produces these extremely small particles in a propellant-driven aerosol spray. The device uses a gas propellant that vaporizes upon release, leaving vaccine proteins suspended in the air. The animal then inhales the protein particles.

Among the remaining unanswered questions is whether the process harms the medicinal substances. Tests indicate they are still functional after being sprayed out.

"The proteins are still happy," Brown said. "We still need to find out how long the proteins remain functional in the propellant."

Another question is how much of the vaccine is actually entering the lung.

"We know that a fraction of the spray particles are small enough to get deep into the lung," Brown said. "It may not be enough, and we are working to increase that fraction."

The goal is to keep the number of sprays for effective treatment to two or three per animal. This will help keep the cost to the producers reasonable. Cost efficiency was a primary concern in developing the inhaler, Brown said. The prototype device only delivers the spray when the animal breathes in, which prevents wasting expensive medicine.

Animals may not be the only ones to benefit from this research. Such propellant-driven aerosols could help treat human diseases, too. "We might be able to deliver antibodies to treat pneumonia or enzymes that could help with emphysema or cystic fibrosis," Brown said.

Ag Brief

As the 103rd Congress winds down, it looks like lawmakers will go home without having passed a major piece of environmental legislation in two years. One Sierra Club lobbyist calls it "the worst environmental Congress in two decades," says the New York Times.

Some U.S. farm program policies have always bewildered city dwellers: "Do you mean they pay farmers not to farm and sell grain?" For example, federal farm bills have long controlled the amount of acreage farmers plant. They've required farmers to idle or "set aside" a certain percentage of their base crop acreage, to qualify for farm program participation. The types of setasides and reasons for instituting them have varied. Traditionally, such programs were to boost farm income by reducing grain supplies and therefore raising market prices. More recently, their purpose was to idle erosion-prone or otherwise environmentally sensitive land.

"Of course, growers have always tended to idle their least productive land. Still, acreage setasides may have had a temporary price-enhancing effect in the past, as long as prices didn't rise so high buyers turned elsewhere," said Bill Tierney, grain marketing economist for Kansas State University's Cooperative Extension Service. "The problem now is, the exports' growing importance to the U.S. wheat market may have made acreage reduction programs counterproductive. There's some evidence that when we've reduced acreage, other countries have simply increased their own production and taken over market shares."

Idling land also has increased farmers' per-acre production costs, reducing efficiency, he said. At the same time, it has provided some farm income "insurance," most usually by entitling farmers to receive deficiency payments if market prices fall below a certain level.

Government loan programs have varied through the years, as well. Typically, these low-interest loans have provided enough cash to pay farmers' production costs. The grain the farmers produce becomes their collateral. That grain remains in storage until the farmers pay off their loan. Because harvest time often brings the year's lowest grain prices, wheat growers can let their production remain in the bin for awhile, thus reducing and/or evening out the supplies that hit the market and providing some grain price support.

"In the past, the government stored that grain in its own bins. Then it switched to having farmers store loan-secured grain in elevators or on-farm bins," Tierney said. "In any case, when farmers defaulted on loans - looked at market prices and decided to keep their loan and let the government have the grain - huge stockpiles could result. After awhile, it began to look as if the United States stored grain, while other countries sold it. In essence, we became the world's emergency supply."

"Capitol Hill was trying to get rid of those stockpiles when it instituted the Export Enhancement Program in the 1980s and used Payment-in-Kind certificates to make it work. PIK certificates entitled buyers to redeem discounted grain held in government storage."

Several factors can make the loan program difficult to understand. For one thing, loan rates can vary widely from county to county. Local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) offices - which are divisions of the U.S. Department of Agriculture - use local market conditions to figure what is called a Posted County Price. And the PCP is the basis for local farmers' government loan rates.

In 1987, USDA substantially revised the method ASCS offices use to calculate loan rates. It was responding to charges PCP's were so widely different as to create unfair conditions in some counties. Now some analysts are asserting USDA should determine PCP's regionally.

Some analysts also believe each of the five major classes of wheat grown in the United States should have a different loan rate.

"Their markets, prices and uses are all different," Tierney explained. "At the same time, however, their having class-by-class loan rates could really distort normal marketing patterns - and prices. It could create a nightmare of paperwork in areas that grow more than one class of wheat. And it probably would have little impact on farmers' production decisions, since other programs treat all wheat classes the same."

CRA News at a Glance

The "Downed Animal Protection Act of 1993" was the subject of a recent hearing before the US House Subcommittee on Livestock. The bill would require any non-ambulatory animal at a market to be killed. Dr. Lowell Wilson, testifying on behalf of a coalition of nearly 40 national livestock and poultry producer groups including NCA, said the legislation would not solve the root cause of the problem and industry efforts make such legislation unnecessary.

Passage of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade implementing legislation will mean a reduction of tariffs and trade barriers that will help cattle producers continue to be a major force in the economy, says the National Cattlemen's Association. Export of US beef accounted for 208,000 jobs and $15.2 billion in total industry output in 1993. Since 1980, US beef and beef product exports have increased 400%. The US House is expected to approve the agreement before the break for elections, but an impasse in the Senate may result in a lame duck session, says the New York Times.

A group of Indian tribes hopes bison can be moved from Yellowstone National Park to tribal lands this winter rather than the animals being shot if they leave the park in search of forage. The bison are known carriers of brucellosis and in the past have been destroyed to contain the disease. The tribes' plan would take bison to quarantine areas in Kansas, Oklahoma or Texas, which is a concern to some cattle producers and animal health officials.

TEXAS DAIRY SHORT COURSES HIGHLIGHT NUTRITION METHODS

A one-day Dairy Short Course focused on the latest nutrition techniques will be offered in five locations around the state in early November. Sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service for dairy producers, the series begins Nov. 7 in Jacksonville and moves on succeeding days to Sulphur Springs, Decatur, and Stephenville, concluding in Brenham on Nov. 11. The session closest to the Cooke County area will be at Decatur on Wed., Nov. 9. The Short Course begins at 9 a.m. at the Posse Grounds in Decatur.

"These sessions address the challenge producers face in providing the best nutrition to dairy cows as they increase milk production," said Dr. Ellen Jordan, Extension Dairy Specialist. Dr. J. Tal Huber plans to discuss new processing methods that improve feedstuffs so that more nutrients are available to the animal.

Dr. James Spain, University of Missouri Dairy Scientist, is set to speak on some effective management tools to improve feed intake which drives milk production, such as timing of feeding, additives to improve palatability, and feed handling methods that reduce dust. According to Dr. Michael Tomaszewski, the afternoon session topics vary from site to site - everything from farm tours in Sulphur Springs to a Vitamin and Mineral Nutrition session in Decatur. Tomaszewski is Short Course Coordinator and Extension Dairy Specialist.

Registration and commercial exhibits begin at 9 a.m. Each one-day program runs from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. A registration fee of $10 includes lunch.

Following lunch at Decatur, two sessions will be held on Vitamin and Mineral Nutrition. The first of the sessions will begin at 1 p.m. and focus on "Vitamin - Health Interactions for Dairy Cows and Calves" presented by Dr. Rob Stuart of Stuart Products, Inc. The next speaker will be Dr. Wayne

Green of Texas A&M University who will cover "Use of Mineral Supplements to Improve Production." The program will conclude at 2:30 p.m.

4-H LIVESTOCK ORIENTATION

An Orientation Meeting for 4-H members who will be raising livestock projects for the County Juniors Livestock Show (and their parents) will be held from 9 to 10 a.m. on Sat., Oct. 29, at the Cooke County Fairgrounds.

Purpose of this meeting is to discuss the various shows and dates, entry deadlines, and show rules.

A session will also cover livestock projects including Swine, Sheep, Goats, Rabbits, and Poultry. At these sessions we will cover the aspects of purchasing animals, equipment and facilities, feeding and other items of production the 4-H members will need to know in order to raise their livestock projects.

We encourage the parents to attend with their 4-H members.

If you have any questions concerning the meeting, call Craig Rosenbaum at the County Extension Office 668-5412.
