Dispatchers' work endangers lives, charge County deputies

by Janet Felderhoff

Former Cooke County Sheriff's Deputy David Busch was fired by Sheriff Bill Pratt on Nov. 16. No reason was given for the termination of employment. With his job gone, Busch says he no longer has a reason not to speak out on the many disturbing things taking place in the Cooke County sheriff's office.

In an interview last week he revealed some of the things that have officers worried about their lives, the lives of residents, and even if they'll have a job from day to day. Others in local law enforcement, who asked not to be named because they feared retaliation, added their stories which were similar to Busch's.

Sheriff Pratt stated in a telephone interview that he felt Busch was a disgruntled employee. When asked why he fired Busch, Pratt replied, "He's an at-will employee and there doesn't have to be a reason given for firing him. He signed the contract and knew that he could be terminated at any time. All county employees are at-will." That, explained Pratt, means that an employee can quit for no reason or can be terminated for no reason.

"In the old day that meant exactly that, but now it can be for good reason or no reason, not an illegal reason," responded Commissioner Richard Brown. "It has to stand the court test. Things are much different today than 15 years ago. That is a concern I had in appointing him (Pratt) -- things are different now than 15 years ago (when Pratt last held the sheriff position). Now employee, prisoner and residents rights are treated on a more individual basis." Brown was the only commissioner to vote against the appointment of Pratt as sheriff.

Busch started with the local sheriff's department about a year and a half ago. He worked for the LAPD for about 10 years prior to moving to Cooke County for a better lifestyle.

He worked in the jail for a year while waiting to get his Texas certification with TCLOSE. Busch was then assigned to street patrol when an opening came up. "I have no idea what transpired there (sheriff's office) since October 8," noted Joe Nichols former Cooke County sheriff. "I had a good sheriff/deputy relation with David Busch. I had no problems with him, but I have had no contact with the sheriff's department since I resigned and can't say what has happened there since."

"I worked under Joe Nichols until he resigned," said Busch. "Then Bill Pratt comes in office and things have just been real bad down there. Real bad. My main thing was with the dispatching. I ran into a case where I felt my safety was at risk due to the dispatching."

"I went into the dispatchers and made my case to them which didn't go well with management. It probably would have been better for me to seek other channels, but due to the fact that I recovered a firearm out of the car and the circumstances that were involved in this situation, I felt that I needed to let the dispatcher know by saying this is what you need to do next time so we don't have this problem again."

This brought a reprimand from Sheriff Pratt who told Busch that the officers weren't to go to the dispatchers. If there was a problem they were to go to Pratt or Ms. Bacon who is now the dispatcher supervisor.

Two weeks went by with the situation with dispatching getting worse, said Busch. "We're running (checking license numbers and license tag numbers for possible arrest warrants) people, especially with the troopers," Busch continued. "Not only do they use Cooke County to run somebody, but to verify it they also go through Sherman DPS. It's been a case where two of the 'DPS' troopers ran them through Cooke County and came back with no warrants. They run them through DPS Sherman and come back with warrants because they (Cooke County) are checking locals, looking through our files, but they are not going through TCIC or NCIC of the computer looking to see if the person has warrants in either another state or where ever."

At that time Busch felt compelled to write a letter to Ms. Bacon and the sheriff letting them know about the problems being faced by law enforcement officers. The letter was addressed to Ms. Bacon and a copy was sent to his immediate supervisor so it would go through the chain of command. Another copy went to the sheriff and Busch requested that one be put in his personnel package.

The letter was dated November 11. He was terminated on the 16th. "In my package I've never been written up," Busch remarked. "My supervisor was shocked by the fact that I was terminated. Nothing else has ever occurred. I help the other deputies out. I pretty much feel that I'm kind of looked up to because of my prior experience and I feel that it was more of a retaliation or that I was rocking the boat per se. I wasn't a supporter of his ways."

Nichols confirmed that David Busch was hired because of his background training and knowledge. "He had a lot of knowledge we didn't have here," Nichols noted.

Sheriff Pratt denies that the letter had anything to do with Busch's termination. The letter was not submitted through the proper channels so he said that he didn't even consider it. "The letter wasn't signed and dated by his sergeant or forwarded to the chief deputy," revealed Pratt. "If his sergeant agreed with it, then why didn't he sign it and send it through the proper channels? After showing it to his sergeant, Busch put it under my door. He wasn't even man enough to hand it to me. I did what the dispatchers myself after I read the report."

According to Pratt the proper way to submit such complaints are in a written report which should be submitted to the supervisor in charge or to the chief deputy. The supervisor, if he or she approves of the report, should sign it and forward it to the chief deputy who either handles it himself or forwards it to the sheriff.

Busch was under the understanding that he had to make his supervisor aware of the letter before forwarding it, which is what he did.

Asked again why he terminated Busch, Pratt would not give a reason. He did say that he, "Didn't approve of his ways of doing."

Busch said that there are a number of people aware of the problem with dispatch, including some in the city police department and the troopers with the DPS. "It's getting ridiculous," contended Busch. "The fact that I don't have a job any longer is irrelevant to how the department is being run and how it is going to be run for the remainder of his term. I could probably move on, although my real goal was to come out here and work where I lived. I bought a house, I bought land, I bought property in Cooke County. All I wanted to do was pretty much make a living. I took about a $40,000 pay cut to come out here. But I have more initially as far as property than what I had in California. The pay is quite a bit different."

Prior to joining the local department, Busch had learned about some situations that existed in the Cooke County Sheriff's department such as poor equipment, cars that weren't in good condition, lack of respect from other departments in surrounding areas. Busch said he was willing to work under those conditions as long as some professionalism or integrity within the department itself.

"The morale is so bad, including myself even prior to getting terminated, most of the people down there (sheriff's department) live day to day wondering if they are going to have a job," Busch said. "Mr. Pratt will come in at six in the morning and stay out until two or three at night, which is dedicated to the job. But, you're not helping matters if every body is afraid of you and you have everything as messed up as they are down there and he's not focusing on the problem of the sheriff's department."

The major change in the dispatch situation seems to be that about the time Pratt took office, the Dispatch Supervisor resigned and was replaced by Ms. Bacon. There are four dispatchers working who are not certified. Sheriff Pratt said that they are now scheduled to take the classes required for certification at NCTC from Dec. 4-8. He indicated that this was the first time that the certification class was available since they were hired. He also said that dispatchers had one year after

TWD Board approves $500,000 loan to Muenster Water District

The Texas Water Development Board has approved a $500,000 loan to Muenster Water District to finance a portion of the cost of providing municipal water, flood protection, and recreational facilities for the city of Muenster. The loan will be funded through the Water Supply Account of the Water Development Fund.

Bond proceeds will be used to pay a portion of the costs associated with phase II of the construction of a 300-acre reservoir, known as Site 19 in the Elm Fork Creek Watershed. The city currently receives its water from ground water supply wells. Construction is expected to begin in two years.

The city will also use this loan to purchase land for the reservoir along with right-of-way easements for utility, pipeline, and cable relocations. The Natural Resource Conservation Service (formerly the Soil Conservation Service) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture is financing approximately one-half of the total cost of the project estimated in 1980 to be $3,456,174. The Board provided $580,000 in 1983 for the first phase of the project. Phase I proceeds were used to pay for preliminary engineering costs, land purchase, and relocation of utilities being improved by Phase II.

Who's responsible for readying road to county specifications?

by Janet Felderhoff

Precinct #2 Commissioner Richard Brown's fervent appeal on behalf of residents of Quail Run Road in Precinct #2 fell flat at Monday's regular meeting of Commissioners Court. After 12 years of traveling a private road used by about 11 families, the residents are seeking help from the county to accept Quail Run Road as a public county road and maintain it as such.

Two of the land owners, Charles Murphy and Robert Luttmner, offered to donate land at the end of the road to build a cul-de-sac which would allow county equipment to be turned around.

The possibility of making Quail Run Road a county road was discussed at the Nov. 13 meeting of Commissioners Court. It was tabled until the other commissioners could look at the road and better assess the situation. At first the road was maintained by the man who was selling the surrounding land. He still owns the road, but no longer does any maintenance work on it.

"It is my opinion that the public interest would be better served by accepting it as a public road. ... The materials cost wouldn't be all that great. We would use creek gravel. It's just a situation that people have had to endure a practically non-passable road for about 12 years. There's no way that you can safely get a fire truck or an ambulance down the road."

Jerry Lewis, Precinct #3 commissioner, pointed out, "Normally the contractor or developer pays to survey and build the road. I think that this is going to cause a burden on our tax payers."

"You can make that argument, but you can also make the argument that if it had been done at the time the road would be 12 years old which means that it would be deteriorated by this time and would have to be worked on any way," countered Brown. "Plus there would have had to have been 12 years worth of maintenance done on it that wasn't done, so, I think that pretty well off sets."

"This was not a platted subdivision. It was done by metes and bounds back at a time when it could be done that way. It was commonly done that way. Later the county realized that it wasn't good to allow that and passed new rules. You can say that the people should have known better. Then the question is how long should they be punished for not knowing better."

Murrell Harrison asked what would keep the people who lived along the three, four or five roads in his Precinct #1, whose situations were similar, from saying that they had to have their roads accepted by the county.

"I've got the same problem," added Virgil Hess, Precinct #4. "Somewhere you start bending the rules and you're gonna keep bending them."

All commissioners except Brown voiced the opinion that roads should be brought up to the county's standards before being accepted by the county as a public county road.

Brown's points didn't change anyone's mind when he made a motion to accept Quail Run Road as is, there was no second to the motion.

At the request of Cooke County Deputy Tom Ellender, commissioners voted to change restrooms on the second floor. The men's room will be redone and used as the women's and vice versa. This request was made because of long lines in the women's. At the time the courthouse was built there were more men than women using the facilities and the situation has changed causing problems, especially with jurors.

January 8, 1996, was the date set to hear the application for cancellation of Cedar Ridge Subdivision. County Road 493 will be abandoned if the application is canceled.

In other business commissioners: Approved one year renewal of prisoner custody agreement between Cooke County and the Texas Department of Criminal Justice Parole Division.

Renewed bond for Larry Winter of Sheriff's Department.

Tabled consideration of agreement with Liberty Marketing Company for free map distribution to allow time to check with the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce and the City of Gainesville.

No action resulted from an executive session.

Monthly bills and the minutes from the last meeting were approved.

Late monthly reports submitted by the district clerk and justice of the peace of Precinct #4.

4th annual Christkindlmarkt and parade set for Dec. 9

Muenster will roll out the red carpet bedecked with holiday greetings and Christmas decorations on Saturday, Dec. 9, when the fourth annual Christkindlmarkt, Christmas Open House and Parade officially open the holiday season sponsored by Muenster Chamber of Commerce and local merchants. For the three years earlier, the event was scheduled for Thanksgiving weekend, but was re-set for Dec. 9 to avoid conflict with important play-off football games involving both schools, and several other events.

Christkindlmarkt is an Olde World custom brought to Texas in merry fashion, with crafts represented as "gifts" for the "Christ Kind" to carry on Christmas Eve.

Visitors and guests from a wide area are invited to spend the day, Christmas shop on a leisurely stroll down Main Street, searching for that special gift - everything from holiday attire, jewelry, home furnishings, antiques, decorations, unusual surprises, kitchen items, sports equipment, etc., all the while savoring the wonderful aromas of Christmas downtown, the culinary experiences of smoked sausages, cheeses, and Apfelstrudel. Local restaurants will offer authentic German fare and homemade desserts.

Enhancing the event will be the participation of Special Activities Teams from Sheppard Air Force Base. The Parade will be led by the Sheppard Air Force Color Guard followed by other units from Sheppard. These will include the Blue Falcons Choral Group, with a wide array of musical styles; the Blue Knights Weapons Drill with dazzling precise rifle and saber counts and exchanges; the Red Dragons Drum & Bugle Corps with martial and patriotic music; the White Eagles Precision Drill Team and the White Knights Color Guard, providing a patriotic aura as they step off leading the parade.

The schedule for Saturday is as follows: 9 a.m. - Bake Sale sponsored by Muenster Hospital Auxiliary; 10:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m. Lollipop, the Clown, sponsored by Muenster State Bank; 10:30 - 11:30 a.m. - Father Frowin Schoech playing tuba music; 10:30 - 1:00 p.m. Der Weihnachtsman (Olde World Santa); 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Pam and Terry playing flute and classical guitar; 12:30 p.m. Sheppard Air Force Choir; 1:00 p.m. Parade; 1:45 p.m. Visits with Santa Claus, sponsored by Ben Franklin Store and Muenster Jaycees; 2:30 p.m. - Father Frowin Schoech, playing tuba music. Sharon Seaton will be the roving accordionist throughout the day; 5:30 - 8:00 p.m. Third annual tour of homes. Tickets for the tour of homes are $2.50 if purchased by Dec. 8; later purchase $3.00. Tickets are available at Crafty Olde German, Hamric's, Christi's and Chamber of Commerce.

The parade will be dedicated to all Veterans of Foreign Wars with members of Muenster VFW Post #6205 acting as Parade Marshals.

Historical dedications planned for Dec. 8

The Muenster Historical Commission will dedicate the first two of the Historical Plaques to be devoted to honoring buildings significant to the growth of Muenster, and preservation of the memory of those who were influential in Muenster's early history.

On December 8, a plaque will be dedicated at Sacred Heart Elementary School and placed just above the cornerstone, following the 8 a.m. Mass in Sacred Heart Church.

The ceremony will include the welcome by Mayor Henry Weinzapfel; background information by Bertha Hamric; blessing of the plaque by Father David Bellinghausen OSB; presentation of the plaque by Celine Dittfurth to Jack Murdock, principal of Sacred Heart Schools; and acknowledgment by Mr. Murdock.

At 9:30 a.m., on the same day, dedication of a plaque will be held at Fischerhaus Bed and Breakfast on Oak Street, the former old house, which dates from 1890s. A schedule of dedication ceremonies will be held at Sacred Heart School, which Mary Bertha Hamric, Celine Dittfurth, and Jack Murdock will be participating in.

Anne of Gree. High School Auditorium. Monday, Dec. 4; and time is 7 p.m. each nig.

S.H. Parish Thanksgiving Social reports successful annual event

Smiles on the faces of chairmen, assistants and sponsors of the Sacred Heart Parish Thanksgiving Social indicate a very successful benefit event. According to Tom Herr, general chairman "This was the best one we've ever had for Thanksgiving. Final financial totals were up from last year."

More than 1150 meals were served. Number of take-out plates increased. Attendance continued throughout the afternoon. There was always a waiting line for the popular Cake Walk. The Silent Auction was lots of fun and added to the very successful Arts and Crafts Booth. And the Sweet Shoppe and Bake Sale doubled sales from last year's numbers.

The Raffle for an outdoor Crib Scene, which was made by Stacie Miller and her brothers at JAWS was won by Robyn Hermes.

TOM HERR, General Chairman, center, leads his small army of helpers by example to prepare and serve the Sacred Heart Parish Thanksgiving feast. The tasks have become traditions and those who have helped many years say they have a great time doing it. Dave Fette Photo

'Tis the Season to be wary!

This week, Muenster Police Chief Helen Tompkins urges community awareness of an unfortunate part of the holiday season, when "to be merry" is overshadowed by "to be wary." She requested a reminder that "it's not all just sweetness and brightness and goodness and light." She said, "During the holidays, don't be so caught up in the hustle and bustle so that weariness allows carelessness to creep in." She referred to the experience of a local resident who left her car keys in the ignition, her purse on the car seat and went inside the funeral chapel for a few moments to share with a bereaved family. Even in the darkness, someone spotted the "loot" and disappeared. Christmas gifts in the locked trunk were not touched. "Please keep your cars locked, windows shut, packages locked in the trunk. Think ahead - anticipate the meanness of a thief - be aware - and protect your property and yourself. Make sure the holidays are happy for yourself and your family."

being hired to get their certification. Officers concerned with the situation allege that uncertified dispatchers should work with a dispatcher who is certified. They say the current dispatchers had only three or four days of training and work without a certified person. Pratt says that besides Bacon there are two other certified dispatchers, Elizabeth Smith and Lanita Welch. Pratt said he hired Welch. He did admit that at times a certified dispatcher works with a non certified dispatcher. But at times the uncertified employees work without benefit of the trained dispatcher. "When only one person is needed you can't have two there," said the sheriff.

A big concern with the officers is answering 911 Domestic Violence calls. An officer who wished not to be named cited problems with the dispatchers when working the domestic violence calls. "They don't always get good location information," he noted. "They don't ask if alcohol or weapons are involved. They should keep the caller on the line to be sure that she is all right and to keep the deputy updated on the situation and the location of the husband. It is for the woman's safety also. As long as you're talking to her you know she's okay. If something should happen, you at least have it recorded because of the open line. If we know they are armed, we will take a different approach."

Most officers don't want to respond to domestic violence calls without a backup. More officers are killed answering domestic calls than any other 911 call in the United States. Some of the local officers say that when Pratt took over he had one of the two deputies patrolling on the east side of the county and the other on the west side. "We worked one-man cars before, but now you've compromised the safety of the officers because one guy is in Dexter, for example, and the other is on the other side of Muenster -- you know the difference (mileage)," stated Busch.

"It's my belief that you have to work with what you've got and if the commissioners say you've only got so many deputies, I understand that. At least take care of your people so they aren't compromised every time these guys go out. Half the calls given out every night require two deputies to answer, such as domestic violence calls."

Sheriff Pratt said that he allows the officers to have back ups. "I don't use backup when I answer domestic violence calls," explained Pratt. "I know what I'm doing and that I can handle it. Some of the officers are cowards."

An officer told of an incident that put citizens in danger. It occurred when a dispatcher wrote a license tag number incorrectly and ran the check on it that way. The driver was drunk and had pulled over at a roadside park. An officer checked the area, but missed the car because of the inaccurate information.

Later the driver was back on the road and was apprehended after almost sideswiping another car.

"The dispatchers are our eyes and our ears," said one deputy. "We don't know what is going on if they don't keep us informed."

NCTC Singers host Christmas concert

The NCTC Singers will host their annual Christmas Concert Tuesday, December 5 at 7:30 p.m. in Lindsay's St. Peter's Church. The concert will feature music, music, music - in solo, duet, group, with accompaniment and acappella arrangements.

The NCTC Singers, a regionally famous group through school and civic performances, have been concentrating on Christmas music for the better part of this semester.

That and Carnegie Hall. In case you haven't heard, the Singers are fund-raising to sing a contemporary Requiem at the famous concert hall in New York City in 1996. Corey Hardin, long-time member and current president of the group, said a few local residents have pledged $1,000 each. In addition, raffle ticket sales for a Las Vegas Trip for Two are going smoothly, while another trip raffle to a coastal spot is being planned for the spring. In addition, the Singers will get involved in a fund-raising activity to sell billboards.

For the Christmas Concert, no set admission price will be charged; instead, an offering will be asked.

Getting back to the music, the heart of the Singers' organization, Director Dr. Mike Linder has been molding it into a versatile choir singing versatile styles, an evolution from the former "pop singers" image.

The Singers are performing for the first time at St. Peter's Church, Lindsay, where they say the acoustics have caused chills to pop out during rehearsals. In getting adjusted to the opportunity the church afforded, Dr. Linder decided to space the singers two-to-three-feet apart.

Of the arrangement, sophomore Cathy Morris said, "It helps us to hold our own part, to learn the music and to pull our own weight." Much of the music will be performed by memory; some pieces will be read.

A "Dickens' Christmas" in Bowie Dec. 2

Imagine the colorful world of Charles Dickens "Christmas Carol" coming to life in Bowie Dec. 2-3 when "A Dickens Christmas in Historic Bowie" is hosted by the Bowie Downtown Main Street Project. The afternoon of Dec. 2 Young Homemakers Club will be hosting a Santa's Workshop at the First National Bank Community Room from 9 a.m. till 3 p.m.

The Dickens Christmas Celebration will be on Dec. 2 after the third annual Fantasy of Lights Christmas Parade. In commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the end of World War II, the project has extended a special invitation to all WWII veterans to serve as honorary parade marshals.

Also during the Dickens night, there will be an old fashioned bean and cornbread supper. Many of the downtown stores also will have drawings for merchandise and gift certificates. St. Nick will cap off the evening as he gets what is on every good little girl and boy's list.

On Dec. 3, from 7 to 9 a.m. the Bowie Kiwanis Club will serve up a pancake breakfast. That afternoon, the Amity Club will open its annual Holiday Tour of Homes at 1:30 p.m.

Sunday will conclude with a Christmas Concert at 6 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church. It will feature the Rev. Joseph Stabile, vocalist, Darwin Bradam, violinist, and Van Vanpool, organist, sharing the message of the holidays through music.

Those interested in more information or participating in the Christmas Spirit can contact Main Street office, 872-MAIN, Gwen Reed, 872-5011 or Cheryl Jackson, 872-2631.

Fifty years of marriage observed by Andy and Mary Ann Arendt on Nov. 25

More than two hundred and fifty relatives and friends gathered Saturday, Nov. 15, 1995 to help Andy and Mary Ann Arendt observe their golden wedding anniversary.

The celebration began with a Mass of Thanksgiving at 5:00 p.m. at St. Peter's Church of Lindsay.

Joining in the processional were their seven children, their spouses, twenty-two grandchildren, two great-grandchildren and the bridesmaid and best man of fifty years ago, Artie and Helen Arendt. His group gathered in front of the altar to witness the renewal of the Andy and Mary Ann's wedding vows.

After Eugene Luke, pastor, officiated at the ceremony and was celebrant of the Mass that followed. Sara Krahl, a granddaughter gave the First Reading. Another granddaughter, Amy Arendt presented the Second Reading. Granddaughter Susie Arendt read the Prayers of the Faithful.

Jimmy Arendt, a son, presided at the presentation of Offertory gifts. Making part were other grandchildren, including Kirk Hartman carrying a miniature tractor, symbolizing his grandfather's livelihood of farming; Jesse Arendt presented a camera which was used to record many happy occasions his grandparents have enjoyed together; Royce Krahl presented a genealogy book, one of his grandmother's hobbies; Jared Krahl offered a barbed wire collection signifying the many miles of fencing his grandfather helped build; Jennifer Arendt carried a basket of thread, yarn, needles, etc. symbolizing the many hours her grandmother has spent sewing and crocheting; Kris Arendt and Julie Arendt presented two great-grandchildren, Hunter and Katie Arendt who represent the fourth generation. Nicole Arendt and Kristine Hartman presented the Offertory gifts of bread and wine.

Presenting sacred music for the anniversary Mass were Roger Dieter, Betsy Fleitman, Judy Hoberer, Sharon Arendt, Ann Cogburn, Skipper and Barbara Beznar, Kristi Bower and Martha Gepera. Selections were "The Greatest Gift," "Prayer of St. Francis," and "Portrait of Jesus" before Mass. The processional was "Glory and Praise to the Lord." At Offertory they sang "Edelweiss" and at Communion Roger Dieter sang a solo "Wind Beneath My Wings," followed by "One Day At A Time," and "Hail Mary Gentle Woman" sung by the choir. RECEPTION

Following Mass, a reception with catered dinner served by the Hemes Sisters, was held in the Lindsay Centennial Hall. Granddaughters Sara Krahl and Kristine Hartman registered guests.

The honor couple's table was decorated with a white skirt draped with gold brocade. It held crystal and gold candlesticks and three bouquets of white and burgundy flowers. Gold candelabra and small baskets of flowers decorated the grandchildren's tables. Other tables held candles and small gold baskets of flowers. Many of the bouquets and other flowers were made by a granddaughter, Kris Arendt.

Imogene Zimmerer and Kathy Arendt cut the anniversary cakes. The bride's cake held a bridal couple ornament used at the golden wedding celebration of Mary Ann's parents Clem and Frances Reiter in 1972. The groom's cake was a lemon confection holding a miniature tractor and fencing scene. Grandchildren Jessica Hartman, Mindi Arendt, Randi, Kelli and Matthew Reed helped serve cake. Marie Herr presided at the snack table.

Several tables of memorabilia, including some of the wedding gifts received fifty years ago, photographs, and scrapbooks were displayed, with Mary Ann's wedding dress and veil, and the suit worn by Andy.

After dinner guests danced to music by DJ Mike Ous.

Many times during the evening, conversations recalled the day, Tuesday, Nov. 27, 1945, when the weather was as beautiful as in 1995, when Andy Arendt, son of the late Paul and Susie Arendt, was married to Mary Ann Reiter, daughter of the late Clem and Frances Reiter, in an 8:30 a.m. Nuptial Mass celebrated by Father John Walbe OSB in Sacred Heart Church. It was an all-day celebration, beginning with breakfast served to the wedding party in the home of his sister Marie and family. The noon meal was for immediate members of both families. At 6 p.m. a reception included dinner for more than 100 guests in the Sacred Heart Parish Hall.

The Arendts have lived on a farm southwest of Lindsay since their marriage. Andy is a partner with his brothers Paul and John in the agribusiness. Mary Ann recently retired from Wal-Mart. They plan to travel and enjoy retirement.

They are parents of seven children and have 22 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Their family includes Andy and Jean Wensley Arendt, and Nicole, Julie and Hunter, Scott and Mindy.

Janie and Tim Hartman, and Kristine, Kirk and Jessika.

Special thanks are offered to Father David Bellinghausen, OSB, and Father Frowin Schoech, OSB, and all who participated in the Mass. Sincere gratitude is offered to Father John Alphonso at St. Paul's Hospital. Without his kindly help, I could scarcely have managed. I've always called Louis a holy child because he was born on the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, December 8. I know he is now at rest. God bless you all.

From My Side of the Fence

by Ed Cler

Folks who tuned in on "Tales of the Serengeti" for several evenings last week, were treated to some first hand information on how nature controls the numbers of the numerous herd of animals that thrive on the vast African plains.

While Mother Nature's methods may seem cruel, there is really no other way to keep the numbers down to what the country can support.

As always, one species feeds another. The flesh eaters prey on the grass eaters usually seeking out first the young, then the sick or crippled. In this manner only the strong and healthy survive. This method has worked well in a huge unfenced country where all the animals run free, but in a well settled country where most of the land is privately owned and fenced, we are faced with a far different way of controlling the population of wild animals such as deer, bear, buffalo etc.

As we all know, the individual states have laws protecting our animals from uncontrolled hunting, in an effort to preserve the different species, but to keep their numbers from getting too large for the amount of food available to them, some must be harvested at times.

Some people don't like the shooting of deer. I am one of these. I don't mind other people taking deer, within the law, I just don't want to do it, yet I realize the numbers must be controlled.

There are also the "animal rights" people who don't want any animals killed.

We had a good look at what happens when these people prevailed in keeping hunters from thinning the herds of deer.

While driving somewhere on Blue Ridge Parkway, we noticed quite a few deer along the road. At one point we were forced to brake sharply to avoid running into a small herd that crossed the road ahead of us, and seemingly in no hurry, and apparently unafraid of people or vehicles, slowly disappeared into the trees on the other side.

When I mentioned this to someone at one of our stops, we were told that hunting was prohibited in the area, and that the deer had become so numerous they had eaten most of the browse that made up the greater part of their natural diet and were now feeding on the farmers crops.

Needless to say, both the farmers and hunters were unhappy, and the deer were much below par in size and weight.

Overuse weakens antibiotics' arsenal

Antibiotics that for years have cured children's ear infections may no longer work. The antibiotics have been used too often, resulting in the emergence of bacteria that are resistant to penicillin and other drugs.

Once a child takes an antibiotic for an ear infection, the fever and ear pain should ease within 48 hours. Symptoms that persist are a sign that the infection is resistant to that drug and that a different antibiotic should be prescribed.

If the second antibiotic fails, a bacteria sample should be taken from the ear and tested to determine which drug will work.

Baptisms

Walterscheid

Abby Rose Walterscheid, daughter of John and Dana Walterscheid, was baptized Sunday, Nov. 5, 1995 after the 10:30 Mass at Sacred Heart Church by Father rowin Schoch, OSB. Godparents are Ronnie Walterscheid and Amy Dankesreiter.

Abby wore a new satin and lace gown and dress given to her by her godmother. Satin booties were worn by Abby which were also worn by her sisters for their baptisms. Grandmother Rosemary Dankesreiter gifted Abby with a white blanket with pink satin ribbon on the occasion. Her Godfather added to the ensemble with a gold cross necklace to wear.

Tom and Rosemary Dankesreiter and Jerry and Betty Rose Walterscheid; great-grandparents Margaret Kupper and Theresa Hermes from Lindsay; Ralph Hermes, Jennifer, Jason, and Jessica from Gainesville; Leigh and Traci Walterscheid of Grapevine; Larry Dankesreiter of Fort Worth; Karan and Megan Grimes of Arlington; Tom and Lucille Hesse; Dave and Joan Walterscheid; Uncle Tommy Joe Dankesreiter; and from Lubbock, Uncle Eric and Cheramic Dankesreiter.

A reception followed at the Jerry and Betty Rose Walterscheid home for a noon meal of turkey and dressing and all the trimmings. The christening cake was shaped and decorated as a baptismal gown, made by Betty Rose. Gifts were presented and pictures were taken.

Cub Scouts enjoy fun outing with parents

by Gary Fisher

The Muenster Cub Scouts enjoyed a shooting competition Sunday afternoon Nov. 12 at the FW Hall. All the boys took part in shooting event using paper targets and BB guns.

Held under strict safety rules, parents set up, supervised, and scored the targets to determine the winners of each Cub Scout Den. From youngest to oldest rank, the winners were: Brad Endres of the Tiger Cubs, Chad Hess of Den 4, Eric Endres of Den 3, Kirk Hartman of Den 2, and Dan Bartush of Den 1. Each boy received a frozen turkey just in time for the Thanksgiving Holiday.

The next scheduled Cub Scout event is the annual Christmas party held in December. Cub scouts completing all required activities will advance into the next level of Scouting at the annual Blue and Gold Awards Banquet to be held in early February.

Muenster Elementary gives thanks in November

The Muenster Elementary students had a cornucopia of exciting and enriching activities going on this November.

The kindergarten classes have had several field trips this month. First, they went to Mrs. Sturm's home economics class to make pumpkin cookies. Their next field trip was out to Vogel's farm to pick pecans and have a lunch compliments of the Vogels. Ms. Tischler's class invited Sudha Patel to teach them about some of the customs in India. Wearing bracelets and dresses along with watching a video of traditional dances performed in India was a special treat. The kindergarten finished up their Thanksgiving unit by preparing a feast which they planned, prepared and served themselves (with help from those fabulous room moms).

The first grade classes have been working diligently on the three R's. In reading they have learned to make predictions and classify information. They plan to put their writing skills to the test by publishing their own books. Hopefully there will be further details on how to receive an autographed copy. The arithmetic work they have done included graphs and various types of measurement work. The hands-on type of activities that these students receive truly helps them to excel.

Mrs. Scott's third grade students have been studying metamorphosis by hatching brine shrimp and meal worms. This gave them a first hand look at a complete life cycle. Third grade also went on a field trip to the "Pumpkin Patch" in Aubrey. Each student brought back their own pumpkin as a souvenir that was used for classroom assignments in estimating and measuring.

Mrs. Popp's class has had two new additions to her room. Her baby girl, Nicole Leigh, was born this month and Stephanie Tankersley is her substitute during her maternity leave.

The fourth graders in Mrs. Schneider's class have just begun a unit on Texas Rivers. They observed a demonstration of the water cycle that illustrated evaporation, condensation and precipitation. This enabled the students to visualize how water can be used and conserved.

The citizens of Muenster should be thankful that the students in our public school are not only learning fundamentals but also experiencing many of the spices of life which we all sometimes take for granted.

Sacred Heart Drama Club

by Amanda Wimmer

In September, the Sacred Heart Drama Club had the chance to see Phantom of the Opera. This was the original play from Broadway. It was quite a learning experience seeing how a large production was put on.

Recently, the Drama Club finished filming an original act on the history of the theater. It was written, performed, and filmed by the students.

Now, the class is in the process of putting together a small play to be performed for the elementary students. By doing this, we hope skills will be gained for the upcoming, larger play that is given to the community each spring.

Hornets outplay Devils for advancement to Regionals

"We played the best, complete game we've played all year, offensively and defensively. They both clicked," commented Hornet Coach Randy Tankersley on the Muenster - Celeste area football play off game. "We played a mistake free game, no turnovers. When we play mistake free, we're kind of scary."

Muenster and the Blue Devils met in Tom Bean last Friday after both teams had a week off during bi-district competition. The Hornets - district 17-A runner-up, were matched against the district 19-A champions - Celeste.

An overflow crowd spilled into Tomcat Stadium to see Muenster play team football and move into the 3rd round of the playoffs. The Hornets looked primed for this week's showdown with the Overton Mustangs, as they defeated the Devils 45-10.

Celeste scored on the opening drive of the game. Beginning at their own 26, 6 plays moved the ball to Muenster's 19 yard line. A quarterback sack by Jake Luke slowed the drive and the Devils booted a 35 yard field goal for a 3-0 lead with 7:16 on the clock.

Two penalties held Muenster's first offensive attempt and they were forced to punt. Celeste mustered only 5 yards, then kicked a 54 yard punt putting the Hornets deep on their 8 yard line. Quarterback Eric Miller broke free and out-raced his defenders for a 92 yard touchdown run. The extra pass attempt failed and the Hornets took a 6-3 lead with 2:40 remaining in the first period.

Celeste fought back, gaining 30 yards in two runs before a loose ball was covered by Tony Hartman, giving Muenster possession near midfield.

The Hornets took flight for two plays, including Miller passes to Chad Roller and Darrell Charles for 34 and 9 yard gains. Cody Sicking and Roller added 3 runs and Muenster was knocking on Celeste's door, on the 3 yard line. Sicking pushed his way into the end zone for a touchdown. Again the points after failed and Muenster had a 12-3 lead 4 seconds into the 2nd quarter.

Again the Hornets defense held the Devils, with their biggest gain coming from a holding flag, forcing a punt.

From the Celeste 46, three Sicking runs, the last a 2 yarder, put 6 more points on the board. Miller ran in the extra points to extend the Hornet lead to 20-3 with 9:32 on the clock.

It was 3 plays and out for the Devils returning the ball to Muenster on their 46. Three Sicking runs gained 10, with a James Klement completion taking the Hornets to the 2 yard line. Two plays later Klement was in for the score. A pass to Klement added another 2 and the Hornets now had a 28-3 lead.

Celeste's next drive was shortened when Tony Hartman covered a fumbled ball on the Devils 35 yard line.

A quick Muenster drive, a 17 yard run by Roller, a Sicking 8 yarder and an incomplete pass were followed by a 10 yard touchdown run by Sicking. Matt Chisam kicked the point after and Muenster was now ahead 35-3.

The next drive, Celeste got in 4 runs, then punted on 4th and 19, putting the Hornets on their own 23. Steven Reiter got in a 39 yard completion followed by a 30 yard pass gain by Roller to the 8 yard line. Three unsuccessful plays gained no ground, so Matt Chisam booted a 24 yard field goal with 30 seconds remaining in the first half for a 38-3 score.

Celeste came back with a 50 yard return, but the clock ticked to all zeroes as Eric Miller intercepted the Devil's ball. The ensuing tackle put Miller airborne, landing on his head with fears of a possible neck injury. The coaches decided to send him for X-rays as a precaution and Scott Hermes took over for the second half.

Chad Roller returned the opening 3rd quarter kick 34 yards to begin the Hornet final scoring drive, at the Muenster 48 yard line. Roller, Hermes, Sicking and Klement exchanged 10 runs for 46 yards with Sicking scoring on a 6 yard run. Chisam added the kick and the Hornets had a 45-3 lead with 6:45 remaining in the 3rd quarter.

Celeste moved the ball into Muenster territory their first drive, but on 4th and 5, the Hornet defense dropped a Devil for a loss and took over on their 40 yard line.

The Muenster offense struggled, losing yards their next drive, including a quarterback sack for 10 yards. The Devils first play of their drive was a Jeff Flusche interception, returning the ball to Muenster on Celeste's 33 yard line.

James Klement completed a 12 yard pass play with a short run by Roller to reach the 20 as the final quarter began. A personal foul and another quarterback sack forced Muenster to punt on 4th and 23.

The Devils' biggest play of the night came with a completed pass play for 68 yards. From the Hornet 12, three unsuccessful plays followed, with Shane Sparkman stopping any threat when he picked off a Celeste pass.

Muenster's offense continued to struggle as 3 unsuccessful plays were followed by a punt.

Celeste's final drive of the game ended with a 23 yard touchdown pass with 2 minutes remaining in the contest. The PAT made the score 45-10.

The Hornet offense killed out the remaining time.

"It was a great team effort," bragged Tankersley. "Scott (Hermes) stepped in when Eric (Miller) got injured." Tankersley also complimented James Klement for being Muenster's leader and Tony Hartman, who continues to improve.

Muenster's offensive line did a fine job of opening the way for the Hornet runners while the defense held the Devils with the exception of a few plays.

Next Action - Overton

The area champions Muenster Hornets will tangle with the Overton Mustangs of district 22-A in the regional playoff game this weekend. The game is scheduled to be played Saturday, Dec. 2 at 6:00 p.m. at Kaufman High School. The contest was moved to Saturday due to a conflicting band competition that involves Overton Friday night.

The Mustangs are the #4 ranked 1-A team in Texas. "They are big and real physical," stated Coach Tankersley. "They have a strong running team that alternates two really good backs."

Overton lost only 5 lettermen from an 8-3 playoff team last season and go into this contest with only one loss.

"What they do best, we do best," continued Tankersley. "Whatever team plays the most mistake free will be on top. It should be a really great game."

Tigerettes 35 Saint Jo 34
A clutch free throw by junior point guard Dobe Fleitman lifted the Tigerettes to a 35-34 win at Saint Jo Tuesday night. Fleitman snared a missed shot and was fouled on the put back with 3.5 ticks on the clock. Fleitman calmly stepped to the line and nailed the first toss. The second try was unsuccessful as Saint Jo grabbed the rebound and launched a long shot as time ran out.

The Tigerettes were plagued with foul trouble the entire night, but strong bench play by Teresa McCarty, Crystal Klement, Tara Yosten, and Tammie Hennigan kept the Tigerettes undefeated. "We just could not get started tonight," said Coach LeBrasseur. "It was a great learning experience."

Klement led the Tigerettes with 9, Leslie Grewing hit for 8, Dobe Fleitman scored 5, Teresa McCarty hit for 4, Melinda Vickers swished 4 and controlled the boards, Amanda Baldwin hit for 3, and Kelly Rigler scored a deuce.

Tigerettes 64 Lutheran 38
Before the Thanksgiving break the Tigerettes traveled to Dallas and defeated Lutheran High School by a 64-38 count. Kelly Rigler hit for 20 first half points and was all over the floor as she had a career game. Nicole Endres, also playing her best game, hit for 17.

"We were very sharp at times tonight," said LeBrasseur. "Nicole and Kelly were dynamite!" Leslie Grewing controlled the inside with 10 points, Leah Rigler hit for 6, and Amanda Baldwin scored 5 and collected 16 rebounds. Tara Yosten scored 4, and Teresa McCarty hit for a pair.

Muenster 34 Bellevue 39
The Lady Hornets took on Bellevue last Tuesday night and fell a bit short with Bellevue outscoring the Hornets 39-34. Bellevue did a good job of controlling the ball in the second half and they had less turnovers when it counted. "The ladies need to control the ball better under pressure situations and we must hit key shots inside to be successful," commented Coach Jossellet.

Muenster 67 Prairie Valley 17

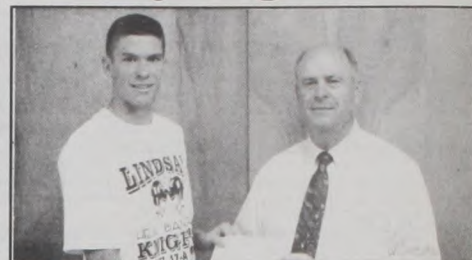

The Lady Hornets took to the court over the holidays at Prairie Valley and came away with a 67-17 victory. The ladies did a good job of execution offensively and forced several turnovers that ended up on lay-ups. Coach Jossellet stated, "We need to keep up our intensity defensively so we can force more turnover for easier buckets." The Ladies hit the road again Tuesday to take on Tom Bean and then open up in the Red River Classic against a good Collinsville club.

Another grandma wins

Has anyone besides Your Commissioner noticed that kids, grandma and convenience store clerks seem to win more than their fair share of the grand prize cash in the Texas Power Points Football Contest? What do they know that others don't? (A lot, obviously.)

This week was no exception. Loraine Coussons, a 70-year-old grandmother of eight, tallied 119 of the possible 136 points to lead the way in Week 13 of the 17-week promotion. As the statewide winner, she receives the weekly grand prize of $1,000 cash.

Coussons, of Nacogdoches, explained her victory as follows: "First, I live with people who love football. All three of my sons played in high school. And, secondly, it was just chance."

Statewide runner-up, who receives his local prize of two Domino's pizzas and two tickets to the Commissioner's Ball, was Ralph Rodriguez of Round Rock with 118 points. (It just isn't the same, is it, Ralph?)

Knights declaw Tigers with shutout

The Lindsay Knights stuffed the Blue Ridge Tigers like a holiday turkey last Friday night to win the Area Championship and advance to the Regional Playoffs. The 34-0 shutout in Lewisville will match the Knights against the Burkeville Mustangs this Friday.

"We dominated the game," stated Lindsay Coach Charlie Meurer. "We had ground control with the defense playing well and no turnovers until late in the game." The Knights rushed for 332 yards while holding the Tigers to a game total of 168 yards. Lindsay's defense also picked off two of the Tigers' passes and covered a fumble. Offensively, Jeff Hale and Garret Hellingner combined their running talents for 269 yards.

The Knights booted the ball to begin action and allowed the Tigers only an 8-yard return. Celeste freely moved the ball for 5 plays before the Knights' defense, led by Zach Bowman, T.J. Goldsmith and Chris Escobedo, forced a punt on 4th and 12.

Beginning on their own 23, Lindsay mixed a ground and air attack for 10 plays. Runs by Shawn Hanks, Garret Hellingner and Jeff Hale gained 34 yards and passes to Bowman and Hale were good for 15 and 18 yards. From the 7-yard line, out of the box offense, Hellingner ran into the end zone to complete the 77-yard drive. Aaron Krebs kicked the PAT and the Knights had a 7-0 lead with 4:32 on the clock.

Blue Ridge jumbled the kick return and gained only 13 yards on the return. It was 3 plays and no gain for the Tigers. The 37-yard punt was returned 37 yards by Bowman before he was stopped on the 28-yard line.

Robert Sharp gained 8 yards on a Hellingner pass, but 3 unsuccessful plays and 2 penalties gave the ball back to the Tigers on their 31-yard line.

Blue Ridge carried the ball into the 2nd quarter, moving to midfield. Robert Sharp picked off a Tiger pass and the Knights regained possession after 7 plays.

From the Blue Ridge 45, 2 Hale runs gained 19 yards. Hanks picked up another 8 and Hellingner 7 to the 11-yard line. With 9:06 remaining in the 1st half, Jeff Hale went up the middle and scored for Lindsay. The PAT failed, for a 13-0 score.

The Tigers got in a few good runs before punting from midfield.

The Knights began their next touchdown drive from their 17. Hale and Hellingner mixed 9 runs to get inside the Blue Ridge 20. Hanks carried the ball to the 10, where out of the box, Hellingner went wide left and found paydirt. Again, the PAT failed and Lindsay had a 19-0 lead with less than 2 minutes on the clock.

The Tigers couldn't move the ball against the Knights' defense. Goldsmith, Sharp, Krebs and Hank Huchton worked together to hold down the yardage. On the 5th play of the drive, Kenny Jones stepped in and picked off a pass at the 14-yard line.

The Knights got in 3 good runs before the clock ticked down for the half-time break.

The Knights took the opening 2nd half kick, beginning the drive at their 27-yard line. Runs and passes for 6 plays gained 17 yards before punting the ball away.

Blue Ridge's first offensive play after the break was fumbled with Hank Huchton covering for the Knights on the 30-yard line. Kenny Jones quickly earned a first down, then Hale and Hellingner exchanged 5 runs with Hellingner scoring on a 4-yard run. A pass to Sharp gave Lindsay a 27-0 lead with 6:32 remaining in the 3rd quarter.

The Knights' defense pounded the Tigers on their 11-play drive, causing 2 fumbled plays. Chris Escobedo, Greg Dulock and Brian Covington led Lindsay's attack that held the Tigers on the 20-yard line.

The teams exchanged punts, with the Knights' pass defense seeing Hanks and Jones stopping the Tigers air attack. With 5 seconds on the clock, the Knights gave away their only turnover.

Blue Ridge moved the ball for 9 plays then ran out of downs, returning the Knights' offense to the field.

Beginning on their 28-yard line, Hanks, Hale and Jones carried the ball 51 yards in 7 plays and a 15-yard penalty put the Knights in a 1st and goal situation on the 5-yard line. Again, Lindsay went to their box offense and let Hellingner go to his wide left into the end zone. Krebs kicked the extra point to cap the 72-yard drive and a 34-0 lead with 5 minutes remaining in the game.

Again, it was 3 plays and out for Blue Ridge. The Knights got in 6 plays before coming up a few yards short with 40 seconds on the clock. The Tigers ran 2 plays and the game ended.

"I'm proud of our players' character after the unsportsmanship of Blue Ridge," Coach Meurer commented. "I'm proud of everybody."

With an Area Championship win last Friday night, the Knights now have a repeat playoff with District 24A Champions, the Burkeville Mustangs.

"We want to play Burkeville," said Meurer. "We want another shot at them."

Burkeville slipped past Lindsay last season 19-7 in the state quarterfinals game. The Mustangs have 8 starters from a 13-1 semifinalist team. They lost that playoff game 43-13 to Thorndale, who went on to win the state championship. Burkeville will be without All-State running back Jeff Spikes leading their offense this Friday. "They are very quick, very fast," Meurer continued. "They have the same defense as last year that held us to only four 1st downs." Burkeville also have their quarterback back.

"This team will be a challenge," Meurer concluded. "We can't risk any turnovers and have to play ball control football."

The Regional Playoff game is scheduled to be played at Whitehouse Friday at 7:30 p.m.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

GREENBUGS IN COUNTY WHEAT

Recently greenbugs have been causing some real problems throughout the county in fall planted small grains. With the lack of moisture this fall, much of our small grain acreage is under stress and producers should watch their fields closely for damage. This past week we saw some fields that had already begun to have dead spots from greenbug feeding.

Producers using dimethoate have been somewhat dissatisfied with their results. Several things might be causing the slow kill in fields that have been treated with dimethoate. First of all, dimethoate acts as a localized systemic insecticide. This means that it will get on the plant and be taken up by the plant as it grows for approximately five days. When we have dry weather conditions, the plant is not moving water as fast in the leaf and not actively growing. Then this insecticide is less active. In addition, when weather conditions are cold, it can take twice as long for an insecticide to work at 45 degrees F. as it does at 70 degrees F. And it can take from three to four days to get a good kill when using dimethoate. There is always the possibility that greenbugs are building some resistance to an insecticide but this is unlikely. It is probably weather related and not resistance related.

On the other hand, parathion has a fumigant type of effect when applied and kills very rapidly.

Greenbug control with chemicals is more effective when temperatures are above 50 degrees F. Use the higher recommended rates on the labels when temperatures are below 65 degrees F.

What about natural enemies of greenbugs? Parasitic wasps are very beneficial and play an important role in controlling greenbugs. We see a lot of benefit from them in the spring when temperatures begin to warm. Temperature plays an important role in the effectiveness of parasites. Parasites develop much more slowly when temperatures are below 65 degrees F. and adults are not active at temperatures below 56 degrees F.

Last week we evaluated the Gaucho Seed Treatment Plots. At one location where there were some 35 plots, all of the wheat treated with Gaucho had zero greenbug infestation. The untreated check was showing from 40 to 170 per foot of drill row. We will continue to monitor these fields and will have this data for producers during the upcoming forage tour on December 14.

Two CEU's toward recertification of Pesticide Applicator Licenses will be offered through this video session. We would like for you to call the County Extension Office at 668-5412 if you plan to attend because space is limited.

Forestburg horse captures national title

Jon and Sherry Rivers of Forestburg are beaming these days. Their Morgan horse, River Riders Romeo, was judged world champion in the Junior Reining Division of the 1995 Grand National and World Championship Morgan Horse Show.

The bay Morgan is three years old. He was bred and raised on the Rivers Riders Ranch which is located near the Hardy Cemetery. "We're especially excited because he was born on the ranch. He's a local horse," said Sherry.

The Rivers have lived at Forestburg for about four years. They breed, raise and show Morgan horses and also stand studs to the public. "We love it! It's the most wonderful place," remarked Sherry. River Riders Romeo was trained and shown by Robert Chown of Gainesville.

The 1995 Grand National and World Championship was attended by 1,060 Morgan horses from 15 states and Canada. It is one of the largest horse shows in the United States and is the most prestigious show for Morgan horses.

Each October the event is held in Oklahoma City. It is open to Morgans which have qualified by placing at designated shows, or qualify in an accomplishment in itself. This show's competitive, yet friendly atmosphere, makes it a memorable event for exhibitors and spectators.

Morgan horses have the distinction of being the first American breed. The breed is descended from a single bay stallion born in Springfield, Massachusetts in 1789 and known as Justin Morgan. Justin Morgan earned a reputation for his intelligence, athletic ability, and stamina. By passing these traits on to his offspring, he founded the Morgan breed.

Corn prices soar to 7-year high

Prices for corn futures soared to a seven-year high late last month after USDA reported strong export sales even as supplies appear to dwindle.

As in the wheat market, where prices are near 15-year highs, corn prices are rising because of the small American crop and rising world demand for basic foods, reported The Associated Press.

U.S. corn reserves will reach a 21-year low of 512 million bushels by Aug. 31, 1996, Smith Barney Inc. estimated.

Corn for December delivery rose 6.25 cents, to $3.32 a bushel, the highest daily settlement got near-term deliveries since July 15, 1988.

USDA estimated that this year's corn crop would be 7.54 billion bushels, 25 percent less than last year's.
