Tornadoes strike south of Muenster

Cooke County residents took shelter Sunday night when numerous tornadoes were spotted in the area. The heaviest damage was south of Muenster, where thousands of trees were damaged and destroyed. Several homes received roof damage, with a number of small outer buildings lost. To the southeast, the Cooke County Electric Cooperative's main circuit feeder lines serving south and west of Muenster were taken out. Linemen replaced 25 poles, working around the clock to restore power. Damaged items also included anything the storm could pick up and throw around, including feeders, tanks, hay bales and fences (see page 14 for more damage information). The force was so strong that a 1,500-pound pumpjack (pictured below) was pushed over. There is a good side to this event — no one was injured.

Mike Compton reviews first months as county's sheriff

by Janet Felderhoff

Cooke County Sheriff Mike Compton looks forward to getting up every morning. Since being sworn into office January 1, he says he has thoroughly enjoyed every minute of his job. "I didn't know quite what to expect when I took office," admitted Sheriff Compton. "The one thing that I wasn't prepared for was how much I was going to enjoy it. I think the reason I've enjoyed it so much is that it involves dealing with people. It's been a true pleasure. There are frustrations, but to me the frustrations don't come close to outweighing the joy of the job."

Changes that have occurred in the department under Compton's leadership include less restriction on the individual officers that would prevent them from doing their jobs. "We expect them to evaluate the situations that exist and take the corrective measures that they need to take," Compton explained. "I hold them responsible individually for their actions and I expect them to be able to make decisions based on what the law requires, what good case investigation requires, and common sense." To help investigators with their cases, the department has built small crime scene investigative kits. They now have cameras and tape recorders for the officers so that they can get information to assist investigators.

Compton is making an effort to make the department as computerized as possible. He bought two computers with his own money, one for his office and one for the deputies' office. They have gotten a records computer up and going, have borrowed computers and monitors from other offices in the courthouse that weren't being used. Also Commissioners Court bought a new computer for the jail. One of the investigators is now using the computer that had been used in the jail.

TCLOSE (Texas Commission On Law Enforcement Standards and Ethics) requires 40 hours of training every two years for officers. Compton said that it has been a long time since the deputies for the county have received the required training. Deputy Tom Ellender, bailiff at the county courthouse and member of the courthouse security committee, has set up a school starting this week that will teach a variety of TCLOSE accepted courses. That includes some that by law every officer in this state of Texas must take.

"We're utilizing that resource to get our officers trained as much as we can so that we can get caught up on this," stated Compton. "If you don't train your officers, you don't have good officers. They have to have training. Training builds knowledge. It builds ability, it builds morale."

Good News!

We do not lose heart, because our inner being is renewed each day even though our body is being destroyed at the same time. The present burden of our trial is light enough, and earns for us an eternal weight of glory beyond all comparison. We do not fix our gaze on what is seen but on what is unseen. What is seen is transitory; what is unseen lasts forever.

Fisher families gather for grand opening

Surrounded by hundreds of friends and well-wishers, the children of Joe and Gertie Fisher and John and Margaret Fisher attended the Grand Opening of Fischer's impressive expansion and remodeling throughout the week and especially the weekend of May 24. The weekend celebration honored the vision and business insight of the brothers Joe R. and John A. Fisher who founded Fischer's Meat Market and Grocery 70 years ago, with trust in the community and faith in its future.

The sons and daughters of Joe and John Fisher who participated in the ribbon cutting ceremony Saturday morning at 10 a.m. are John's sons Clyde, John and Butch, all of Muenster, and daughters Ruth Rumelhart of New Braunfels, Jeanette Galloway of Wichita Falls, Rosemary Lardner of Lititz, Pennsylvania, was unable to attend. All of Joe's children were here, including JoAnn Pagel and Theresa Walterscheid of Muenster, Jim Fisher of Arvada, Colorado, and Neil Fisher of Fredericksburg. Coming from out-of-town and accompanying them were spouses and family members, Max Rumelhart, Joe Galloway, Ina Fisher and Gaelyn Fisher.

It was a requirement in the Joe and John Fisher homes that as soon as a child was able, they were expected to work at the store. All of them have memories of those times. When the two families gathered at Theresa and James Walterscheid's home Saturday evening for dinner, visiting and reminiscing brought out wonderful memories to share.

Butch and Eileen, John and Louise have expressed pleasure and appreciation for attendance, greetings, floral tributes, cards and memories.

by Stephen Broyles
When people receive their water and sewer bills next week, they will notice increase in both. In an effort to raise capital funds for building the elevated water storage tank and repairing the failing main water line on Main Street and Division Street, the City Council approved increasing the base water rate by $1.00 per month and the base sewer rate by $3.00 per month, plus increasing the sewer fee from $0.50 per thousand gallons to $0.60 per thousand gallons. Thus, all water and sewer consumers will see an increase of more than $4.00 per month in their bill. These additional funds will be set aside for use when design and construction of these projects starts.

In addition, the annual sewer fee adjustment goes into effect with this billing. The annual sewer fees are based on the average sewer use during the October through March period. Thus, if a person uses more water during this period this winter than last winter the monthly sewer fee will be slightly higher than last year's. Similarly, if a person uses less water, the monthly sewer fee will be lower. Remember though, that this year's annual sewer fee adjustment includes the increased sewer rates.

COMPTON

The officers have had one fire arms training course since Compton took office. He promises that they will be training with firearms on a regular basis.

"One of the biggest law enforcement problems that we've got is that our county sits at the junction of two major highways," Compton said. "The narcotics trafficking is ongoing and bound to be increasing. I worry about the influence of the narcotics on our young people. Narcotics is a spin off thing. It creates every kind of crime you can imagine."

"I don't know that our problem is any worse than anyone else's in the world, but our problem is our problem. It doesn't really matter if Denton or Dallas has a drug problem, what matters is whether Cooke County has a drug problem. That's what matters to us. We are no longer immune to the problems that plague the rest of the county."

County deputies are now training to become better prepared to narcotics investigations. They are taking training anywhere that they can, said Compton. Those who are very interested in narcotics enforcement have gone to Dallas PD and Denton PD and to interdiction schools in Texarkana for training. Training will continue promised Sheriff Compton. "The only way you catch druggies is to get out there and look for them and in order to look for them you've got to know how to look," he said. "Once again this is training, training, training. If you don't train in law enforcement you aren't successful. You're training can never stop. You ask any athlete and the way that he wins is with conditioning and training. Law enforcement is exactly the same. The only way you win is with conditioning and training. If you don't train, you don't learn and you become complacent and you're not effective."

Students bid farewell to Sr. Genevieve after long service to Sacred Heart

by Janet Felderhoff
Sister Genevieve McConnell has served Sacred Heart Parish and the community of Muenster for 38 of the 62 years she has spent teaching. Her years at Sacred Heart School have spanned three generations. She enjoys watching a child's eye's light up when she tells them that she taught their mother, dad, grandma, or grandpa. Now Sister Genevieve is retiring from teaching and will soon return to Holy Angels Convent in Jonesboro, Arkansas.

On Friday, May 23 Sister Genevieve was honored at the 8 a.m. Mass in Sacred Heart Church. There were 38 participants in an entry procession, a representative from every year that she taught at Sacred Heart. Each class representative carried a pink carnation which he or she presented to Sister before Mass. A corsage of pink carnations was presented by a preschool student.

Following Mass a reception was held in the Community Center in Sister Genevieve's honor. Cookies and punch were served to all of the Sacred Heart School students and parents, grandparents, friends, and former students who attended.

Gifts presented to Sister included three framed photos of all the present students at Sacred Heart School. These were taken by Bob Sepanski. A Precious Moments statue, "You Have Touched So Many Hearts" was inscribed; "From the children, faculty, alumni, parents, and grandparents. Dear Sister Genevieve, you have touched so many hearts. Thank-you for 38 years of sharing, caring, and giving to us all. From your Sacred Heart School Family."

Principal Jack Murdock presented Sister with an appreciation plaque. He said that she has been a powerful testimony for Jesus during her years at Sacred Heart and that she has touched the lives of many, many children for eternity through her teaching.

It was in 1942 that Sister Genevieve first came to Muenster as the first grade teacher. There were 43 students in that class. She has mostly taught first, second, and third grade, but has taught a subject in all grades from kindergarten through eighth.

Eighteen years ago when the school board decided that

Sr. Genevieve McConnell

Sacred Heart needed a kindergarten, it was Sister Genevieve who was called on to start the program. After starting the program, she taught the kindergarten class for two years.

A green notebook has followed Sister Genevieve from teaching position to teaching position. In it are the names of all the children that she has taught. It holds the names of nearly two thousand children. "Everyone in that book is prayed for every night," said Sister. "One of the last things I do before I go to sleep is to pray for all of them, living and dead." Sister Genevieve promised that she would continue to pray for all of her former students and would until the day she died.

In 1990 Sister Genevieve was selected as Teacher of the Year at Sacred Heart by her colleagues. Principal Jack

Murdock noted that she was selected, "Because of her contagious enthusiasm, boundless energy, and love for children that radiates from her every action. She has earned the respect, appreciation, admiration, and love from three generations of parents, students, teachers, administrators, and community members."

Besides instilling knowledge and the love of God in the youth of the community, Sister has contributed to the community in other ways. Many of her hand-crafted items have been sold at parish picnics and fund raisers. Many people recall the skits with students that Sister directed.

On July 11, 1993, Sister Genevieve celebrated the Diamond Jubilee of her profession made on August 11, 1933.

Veterans honor deceased comrades at Sacred Heart Memorial Day services

Amid flag adorned graves, Muenster Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6205 and its Ladies Auxiliary honored war heroes with Memorial Services on Sunday, May 25.

Observances began with a Mass in Sacred Heart Church with Father Frowin Schoech as celebrant. VFW members, Melvin Luke, Don Hess, and Johnny Rohmer, in military uniform, presented gifts at the altar.

The Post color guard and rifle squad led the congregation to the cemetery following Mass. Department color bearer Frances Bayer placed a floral wreath and led prayers in memory of all the faithful departed.

Dorothy Hesse, auxiliary president, and Josephine Schilling, auxiliary senior vice-president, placed a buddy poppy wreath and floral wreath at the Veteran's plot in memory of the men and women who made the supreme sacrifice for their country and fellow man.

First Communicants placed red carnations on each grave in the servicemen's plot. Father Frowin led the group in a verse of "God Bless America".

Commander Paul Hesse gave a Memorial Day address in which he asked those present to "Take a moment to look back at the history of our major wars and military operations. It has been 79 years since the end of World War I, It has been 52 years since the end of World War II, It has been 42 years since the end of the Korean conflict, It has been 22 years since the end of Vietnam, and it has been six years since the end of Operation Desert Storm. Let us not forget; let us always remember those who gave the ultimate sacrifice that we may enjoy our freedom." He noted that 13 servicemen from our community are listed as Killed in Action.

After those gathered sang a verse of "Holy God We Praise Thy Name", the Post Rifle Squad fired the traditional 21 gun salute in honor of the fallen Veterans. Ronnie and Tina Weinzaepfel concluded the event with the playing of "Taps" as a final tribute to the Veterans.

Members of the Post Color Guard were Don Hess, James Hess, Pat Knabe, and Don Hellman. The Rifle Squad consisted of Don Eckart, Johnny Rohmer, Gilbert Hess, Willie Fisher, Virgil Henscheid, Bernard Hesse, and Melvin Luke, with Arthur Bayer as Sergeant at Arms.

Auxiliary officers participating were Julia Cunningham as flag bearer, Lucille Hesse as auxiliary banner bearer. Auxiliary color squad were Janet Barnhill, Armella Cler, Juanita Knabe, and Bonnie Hess, with Linda Knabe conducting.

In attendance were Frank and Romana Bayer, Muenster's only surviving Gold Star parents.

First Communicants forming an honor guard were children and grandchildren of Post and Auxiliary members. They were Bret Walterscheid, Mark Fleitman, Roman Vogel, Micah Flusche, Evan Koessler, Jessica Walterscheid, Jessica Bartel, Chad Tempel, Charlotte Bartush, Zachary Swirczynski, Collin Walterscheid, Meredith Hennigan, and Kristen Miller.

The Post concluded its Memorial Day services with a steak dinner in the Post home. The bountiful meal was prepared by Tim and Vicky Hess, Gilbert and Shirley Hess, Hank Bayer, and Don Hess.

Halfway mark nears in Cooke County 2nd annual Relay For Life fundraiser

Cooke County's Relay For Life event, which will be held at the Hornet Stadium on June 6 and 7, is one step closer. The first Bank Night was held on May 22 at Muenster Memorial Hospital. Twenty-one teams were represented by their team captains. The Bank Night brought in over $9,600.00. To date, over $22,000.00 has been raised. This amount is almost one-half of the anticipated goal.

At present, 44 teams have been registered to walk. The goal is to register at least 50 teams to walk for a cure for cancer. Registration packets are still available by calling 759-2271, ext. 36. It is not too late to form a team.

A second Bank Night is scheduled for June 2 from 5-7 p.m. at Muenster Memorial Hospital.

The Luminaria Committee chairperson, Carolyn Bayer, is reminding everyone the luminarias are available at the Chamber of Commerce office or by calling 759-2227. She is urging everyone interested in purchasing a luminaria, to do so early. Each sack is being offered for a $3.00 donation.

Luminarias are personalized sacks with candles that will be lit at the 10 p.m. luminaria ceremony Friday evening, June 6. Each sack represents a glowing tribute to a special friend or family member who has, or had cancer. You can decorate the luminaria yourself, or the committee will do it for you!

Opinion/Editorial

Putting the squeeze on rural America; utility deregulation

by Wes Sims, president, Texas Farmers Union

The fact that the number of family owned and operated farms is declining in Texas and the rest of the country's map is no secret. In 1935, there were 6.8 million farmers - nearly half of the total U.S. population.

By 1987, that number had dropped to a little over two million. Since then, we have lost 200,000 more, meaning American farmers now make up less than one percent of the population.

Statistically, farmers are getting older too, with the average age of the farm operator now at 57 compared to national average age of the American worker of 25 years younger. Life in rural America is definitely not getting any easier.

Headlines in major magazines across the country have announced that "Americans are working harder for less." This is certainly the case for family farmers. In 1993, the family farmers net yearly income was $4,400 while the average net yearly income for the rest of the U.S. workforce was $35,000.

And yet few professions in this country contribute as productively and efficiently to America's prosperity and to the nutritional health of this country as the American farming industry.

Still, assaults on rural America in the name of efficiency and competition continue. In 1996, Congress passed a seven-year farm bill that will systematically eliminate any safety net for family farmers and will set up a new system, in the name of competition, that is certain to cause a continued downturn in the number of farmers in the United States.

Next on the crisis list for many rural Americans: federal deregulation of the electric utility industry. The fact is, there are many rural families who are one step away from foreclosure. For these Americans, an increase in their utility cost could be the final straw. That is exactly what could occur with rapid, forced deregulation of the electric utility industry.

As is often the case, this effort to mandate federal deregulation pits the Fortune 500 companies against everybody else. In terms of electricity policy, it is a case of the haves and have-nots. The giants of industry want Congress to deregulate electricity because it will lower their rates - electric suppliers will then compete for that business because manufacturing uses so much electricity.

But homes, small businesses and farmers in rural areas are all much less desirable customers. Power providers are not expected to rush out to rural Texas in order to solicit customers where there are an average of only six electric users per mile. So electricity rates will go up for rural customers, placing yet one more burden on farmers in this state.

Another factor that could contribute to higher rates for small customers is something called "stranded investment." These are the costs regular customers will have to pay when manufacturing or other industrial customers switch to a different electric supplier to find cheaper electricity - and activity known as retail dereg.

The original power supplier will still have to pay for plants, transmission lines and other facilities it built for large customers and is going to have to collect that money from somewhere. Unless protection is provided at the local level, that somewhere will be its remaining customers. Us.

Compounding the problem is the very real possibility that the utility companies now serving family farmers and rural communities may find it no longer economically viable to do so under deregulation. Their departure from less profitable rural areas could severely limit our ability to receive the reliable and accessible electricity we need to keep our farms productive and our families warm.

Worse, deregulation could do further harm by forcing rural Americans to buy power from fly-by-night power companies that enter local rural markets, offer lower rates, and then disappear, leaving us literally in the dark.

We believe that federally mandated electric utility deregulation represents an attempt by Congress to fashion a one-size-fits-all policy whose outcome unfortunately will be detrimental to some regions, and beneficial to others.

Our average residential rates are currently lower than many states. Industrial customers already pay an average three cents less than that per kilowatt hour. We don't want to pay the higher rates that people pay in California or the Northeast, and Congress should not mandate that we do so.

Our goal is to make sure that rural citizens, like our urban counterparts, are able to enjoy the same quality living standards that we have enjoyed for generations. Our goal is to insure that farming continues to play an integral role in the future economic prosperity of this nation. We believe rushing electric deregulation seriously threatens those goals. And that is why we oppose federal deregulation of the electric utility industry.

From My Side of the Fence

by Ed Cler

Well folks, you who read the cartoons in some publication, may recall the funny little beagle, "Snoopy," in Peanuts. Quite often he is depicted at his typewriter, beginning a story with, "It was a dark and stormy night."

Well, Sunday evening was such a time, for real, and two of our sons and myself were watching the clouds for a tornado that we had been warned of by another son.

Sure enough, looking west toward Saint Jo, we soon spotted a swirling funnel cloud reaching to the earth, and while we watched, it rose again but still retained its ominous shape.

Minutes later several more took shape but never developed fully. Contrary to the usual trend of moving from southwest to northeast, these were all moving southward.

Fortunately, all we had was a hard rain and a pretty big wind, but no damage.

Around 9:15 p.m., our electricity was cut off and we were set back some 57 or 58 years. One only realizes how dependent we are on electric power, when it is interrupted, and we must depend on the things that we were used to in days gone by.

Suddenly we were in a dark house with no fan, no light, TV, or radio, not even running water, our water system being totally operated by electricity.

After playing cards by candle and kerosene hurricane lamp until about 11:00 p.m., we retired for the night.

At 7:20 in the morning the busy co-op linemen had the juice in our neighborhood back in service, and we are duly grateful to all of them.

Not all of the surrounding area was so fortunate. After driving round about, we found considerable damage to the electric lines, some buildings and many trees, especially to our south.

THANK GOD NO ONE WAS HURT!!

Heitman, Morris exchange vows in Sacred Heart

Rebecca Rae (Becky) Fleitman of Muenster and Sergeant David Wayne Morris of Twenty Nine Palms, California were united in marriage on Friday, May 23, 1997. Father David Bellinghausen OSB officiated the Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony held at 5 p.m. in Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Muenster.

The bride is the daughter of Ray and Dorothy Fleitman of Muenster. The groom's parents are Ernest and Stella Morris of Forestburg. Grandparents are Agnes Knabe of Gainesville, Bertie Morris of Denton, and Genevieve Rearick of Butler, Pennsylvania.

The church was decorated with baskets of flowers on the altar and topiaries at the Communion rail. They contained white roses with pink striations, burgundy and white baby's breath, and ivy leaves. Iridescent bows marked the family pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a Moonlight design gown of white tulle with appliques of re-embroidered French lace with sequins and seed pearls. It had a Sabrina neckline, a Basque waist with a large bow in back below the V-neck, and the full skirt swept back into a semi-cathedral train. Her illusion veil was sprinkled with tiny seed pearls and was attached to a wreath of white roses with sprays of seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of pale pink roses and buds, tiny white rosebuds, white and burgundy baby's breath, and white lilies of the valley with seed pearls and iridescent ribbon. An aquamarine rosary, a First Communion gift from the bride's grandmother, was entwined in the cascade. The bride presented a pink rose to her mother while entering church and one to her mother-in-law while exiting the church.

Maid of honor was Laura Vogel of Muenster, a friend of the bride. She wore a hunter green, floor-length gown of stretch illusion and matte satin. It was designed with long sleeves, a princess bodice, and Basque waist above a full skirt. She carried a single burgundy rose and rosebud with baby's breath tied with an iridescent bow and streamers. Flower girl was Beverly Bayer of Lindsay, cousin of the bride. She was dressed in a pink illusion and brocade satin dress with short, French-cut sleeves. She carried a nosegay of tiny white rosebuds with burgundy and white baby's breath and iridescent ribbon.

Best man was Corporal Sergio Gonzales of Gridley,

California, a friend of the groom. Joshua Yosten, bride's cousin was ring bearer. Ushers were Barry, Brian, and Justin Fleitman of Muenster, all brothers of the bride. Mass servers were Jeremy Yosten and Paul Fleitman, both of Muenster. The First Reading and the Responsorial Psalm were given by Michael Grewing, a friend, and the Second Reading was by Cheryl Bayer, bride's cousin.

Music was provided by James and Laura Neusch of Lindsay, cousins of the bride. Selections before the ceremony included "The Rose," "Let It Be Me," "The Wind Beneath My Wings," and "The Twelfth of Never." While the mothers were escorted to their pews, they performed "Sunrise, Sunset." The attendants' processional was "Canon in D" by Pachelbel and the bride's processional was "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin. Other selections included "Treasures" while lighting the unity candle, "Hail Mary, Gentle Woman" at Mary's altar, and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" as the recessional.

A reception and catered dinner were hosted by the bride's parents in the Muenster KC Hall following the ceremony. Julie Walterscheid of Addison, a friend of the bride, registered the guests.

Other reception assistants included Betty Rose Walterscheid, A.J. and Brianna Fleitman and Karen Cler of Muenster, Cheryl Bayer of Lindsay, and Jackie Knabe of Gainesville. The hall was decorated in the chosen colors of pink, burgundy, and hunter green. Wedding flowers and hall decorations were made by the bride's mother and an aunt, Linda Yosten, with special help from another aunt, Susie Fleitman.

The three-tiered wedding cake, made by Betty Rose Walterscheid was decorated with tiny pink and burgundy rosebuds, and stood over a hunter green fountain. The chocolate groom's cake was decorated with a Marine insignia on top. Rohmer's Restaurant catered the dinner. A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's mother at Rohmer's Restaurant on Thursday evening after the rehearsal.

The bride was a 1995 graduate of Muenster High School and is attending TWU. She is a sales associate for Carter's Childrens Wear in the Gainesville Factory Shops. The groom graduated from Forestburg High School and is a Sergeant in the U.S. Marine Corps. After a honeymoon trip to California, the couple will reside in Waco, Texas.

Lindsay High School Honor Society inducts new members

Nineteen new members were inducted into the Lindsay High School National Honor Society May 13 following their selection by the National Honor Society Committee.

Also taking the oath of office were new student council officers. They were Asad Rahman, president; Bryan Covington, vice president; Keith Fuhrmann, secretary; and Carrie Hundt, treasurer.

The induction ceremony included the lighting of candles asking for wisdom, leadership, character and service. NHS President Richard Haayen spoke of the importance of these qualities, and the importance of always leading lives according to the high standards set by the honor society.

Juniors Richard McFratridge, Jamie Zwinggi and Asad Rahman were inducted along with Sophomores Amy Arendt, Elizabeth Luttmir, Emmy Schad, Jennifer Otto, Emily Zimmerer, Nick Price, Abril Aberasturi, Erica Fuhrmann, Anna Bayer, Amy Sandmann, Gayle Walterscheid, Clint Gallagher, Joseph Wilson, Annie Kwan, Rachel Laster and Richard Alfrey.

These students will join current members Jennifer

Hoberer, Richard Haayen, Amanda Schad, Steven Tepera, Keith Fuhrmann and Carrie Hundt.

With their selection, the size of the organization will almost triple in size. "We just had an outstanding group of candidates this year, all of whom are very fine students as well as leaders in their school, churches and communities," said Tom Fluker, NHS advisor.

In order to be considered to the National Honor Society a student must be either a sophomore or junior and have a 3.0 average maintained since the freshman year. After the grades have been confirmed, the students fill out a questionnaire listing student activities, leadership, and service to the school and community.

A committee of five faculty members, not including superintendent, principal, and student advisor, read through the grades and questionnaire and then vote on whether the student should be in the National Honor Society. The student must receive at least three votes. This year's committee includes teachers Jodie Stringer, Craig Hertel, Carrie Spruiell, Mary Holland, and Elaine Schad.

Junior Class scopes out Sheppard Air Force Base

The Junior Class of Muenster High School recently went on a Career Day trip to Sheppard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls. They were accompanied by Bob Chisam, principal; Emily Klement, counselor; and Randy Tankersley, athletic director and football coach.

The tour was designed and led by Sgt. Randy Smith from the Sherman area Air Force recruiting office. The group toured the Armament Training Center, NATO Pilot Training Center and the Health Sciences Instructional Center. They were able to have hands on experiences with the instructional materials, including sitting in the fighter jets and being able to wear some of the gear worn for pilot training. SAFB is one of the most technically advanced training centers in the nation and is home to eleven NATO nations for flight training. Several pilots, training instructors and officers led the various tours throughout the day.

Sgt. Smith and the other tour leaders explained the opportunities that can be obtained through the Air Force, including educational and training through ROTC or enlistment programs. The MHS group was very impressed with SAFB because of the advanced technical programs, and buildings and training centers that have recently been built. The Air Force welcomes visitors, but requires that a tour be planned for the visit. For more information, Sgt. Smith's telephone number is 903-893-2241.

MISD freshmen tour Midwestern State Univ.

The Freshman Force 2000 of Muenster High School recently attended a College/Career Day at Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls. They were accompanied by their sponsor, Emily Klement, counselor; Kim Walterscheid, teacher; and Horace Pruitt.

major. Also assisting the group was Kristen Klement Ware, 1991 MHS graduate, who is a master's student in the English department. She has recently been notified of her teaching assistantship at MSU.

The Freshman Force group earned their trip by giving hours of service to the school, community, or church throughout their freshman year. They have worked as student assistants in various classrooms, peer tutors, PALS, nursing home assistants, and volunteering for civic or church groups. The focus was on helping, but also they hoped to learn something about themselves, others, and the world of careers.

The group was treated to lunch by Midwestern at Clark Center, where they met several Muenster students who attend the university. Also attending the lunch was Barbara Ramos Merkle, Director of Student Relations.

MSU gave the group a grand tour of their university, including the Fain Fine Arts Center, classrooms and administration building. They were given a program on admissions, financial aid and the advantages of a college education by the Student Relations assistant director, Susan Ward and MSU students. Included in the student group giving the program was Misty Klement, 1996 MHS graduate, who spoke about the advantages of going to Midwestern. She will serve as MSU Student Ambassador this fall and is currently a medical technology

St. Peter's has 33 Communicants

First Holy Communion was celebrated at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Lindsay on Sunday, April 20, at the 10 a.m. Mass by the Rev. Eugene Luke and 33 members of the second grade CCD class.

The theme of "Jesus gives Himself - the True Bread of Life" was displayed on a banner with a picture of a gold chalice, large host, wheat and grapes.

The altars were decorated in white flowers and lighted votive candles - along with a lamb for each child.

As the communicants entered the Church, the choir sang "Children of the Lord". The entrance procession gifts were announced by Royce Krahl. Gifts presented at the altar were: Bread and grapes by Joe Otto, plants by Heather O'Dell and Meredith Bezner

The Rev. Eugene Luke read the Gospel and gave the Homily, remembering the children on their special day. After the Homily, each child was recognized and the class recited the Apostle's Creed and renewed their baptismal vows.

Prayers of the Faithful were offered by Dustin Neu, Julie Hanson, Brian Sandmann, Levi Hermes, Laura Zimmerer and Rachel Zimmerer. Offertory gifts were presented by Joshua Jones, Jordan Alexander, Travis Endres, Ben Wyrick, Amanda Hess and Mindi Martin as the choir sang "A Gift from Your Children."

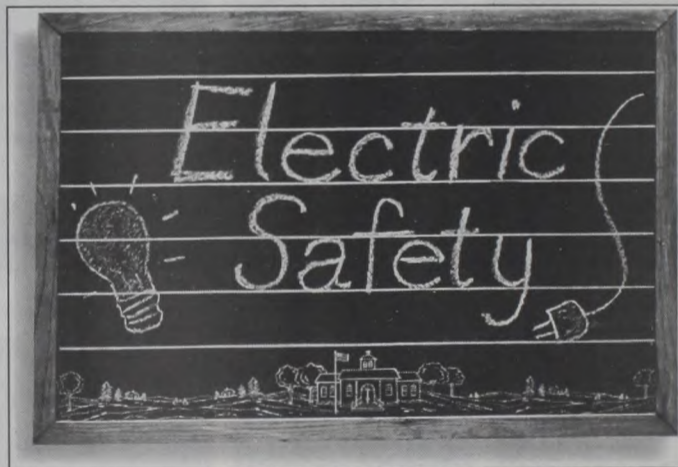

As a symbol of love and forgiveness, Elizabeth Neu, Kaileigh Hess, Jeffrey Hess,

LESSONS IN

In recognition of NATIONAL SAFE KID'S MONTH

Here are a few lessons in electric safety to help keep our children safe:

Some lessons should be practiced during the school year and the summer — lessons on electric safety. Electricity does a lot of great things for all of us. Yet it must be treated properly to ensure our safety and well being. Here are a few lessons in electric safety that will help to keep you safe:

1. Always respect electricity and ask your friends and relatives to respect it too. Unfortunately, electricity is very, very unforgiving when unleashed and one little mistake can be deadly.
2. Electricity and water do not mix. Always keep blow dryers, radios and other electric appliances well clear of sinks, bath tubs and swimming pools. Also, never plug in or operate an electrical device when you are wet or standing in water.
3. Always stay far away from electric wires and lines that have fallen down. Primary power lines are not insulated and any contact with them can cause serious injury or death. Remember, stay away and call Cooke County Electric Cooperative for help immediately.
4. Climbing trees is always great fun for children, but climbing a tree near an electric power line can be very dangerous. Always make sure there are no power lines running through or near a tree that your young one is about to climb.
5. Always look up. If you are installing a new television antenna or if you are positioning a ladder next to your home or business, make sure you are clear of any overhead power lines. Aluminum ladders and antennas are great conductors of electricity!

So remember, parents, when it comes to electricity, take all the necessary precautions to ensure your safety and the safety and well being of your children. It may be one of the best lessons in life that your children ever learn.

New kid's courses offered

Whether it's looking at life under a microscope or working on a smashing "ace" on the tennis courts, there is something for everyone in the Summer Youth Programs offered at North Central Texas College.

The courses, which meet early in June for the most part, offer a wide variety of events designed for kids as well as young adults.

New courses like "Old Shoes Science" give 4th and 5th grade kids a chance to explore the world around them and study animals, plants and other forms of life, often under the enhanced vision of a microscope. The course will highlight uses of fungi, a visit from a reptile keeper (and his reptiles) and a day at Moss Lake collecting fossils. This workshop meets from 8 a.m. to noon on June 2-6.

Another new workshop added to this summer's curriculum is aimed at collegiate teens. "Surfing the Net" is a hands-on course for 7th through 10th graders with little or no experience cruising the cool sites of the World Wide Web. Students will not only learn the key "buzz words" that follow the Internet like "homepage," "URL," and "Java," but they will also learn to use a browser to check out sites of personal interest as well as learn important Web history. This course meets from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., June 2-5.

A returning favorite at NCTC for the athletic student age 7-to-18 is tennis camp. Designed for the beginning, intermediate or advanced tennis player, this sports camp is divided into two divisions to match all skill levels. Balls are furnished but the student must provide their own racquet. Level One of this camp meets from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. and Level Two from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. on June 2-6.

Students interested in signing up should contact the Continuing Education division of NCTC at 940-658-4272.

REMINDER: All 1997-98 Sacred Heart School enrollment forms are due June 1. Please turn them in to the Sacred Heart Church business office.

Library ready for summer reading program June 3

by Daryl Ferber

The children's summer reading program at the Muenster Public Library begins June 3. Colorful forms are ready for everyone to sign in and keep track of the books they choose to read. Many new books have been added to the library this past month.

The kindergarten classes of Mrs. Ledbetter and Miss

Tischler visited the library recently for a story hour with Mrs. Broyles. They heard stories about rabbits and mice and were given favors pertaining to the stories. These children also applied for cards and are now able to check out books for their enjoyment.

Dairy Inn is again offering free cones to all who read at least twenty books.

America is horse country

The nationally touring consumer educational exhibit called America is Horse Country is bringing its interactive, multi-media technologies to Mesquite, June 6-7; Grand Prairie, June 12-14; and Fort Worth, July 4-13, to educate the public about the increasingly popular and important horse industry.

To learn more about the exhibit and its travel schedule, call 1-888-4-OMOLENE (1-888-4-666-5363).

SH SENIORS

It was an Inspiration Award. Flusche received a standing ovation.

Seniors spent time reminiscing over photos grouped on posters and displayed throughout the restaurant. Each senior had a poster of photos and there were also posters of group events. Paulette Swirczynski arranged the groupings. A video prepared by Michaela Ann Rigler and Tony and Kim Desmuke was a special treat for the evening. There were photos from each senior's childhood and school years special events, and a special farewell and from parents.

Mr. Murdock conveyed word of wisdom on life and the future to the seniors. They were the same as those shared by his wife with their children when they left home. Father David Bellinghausen closed the evening with a benediction.

Texas opens June 11

The 32nd season of the "Texas" Musical Drama will open June 11 with a tribute to the late author Paul Green, just before a professional cast of 80 singers, dancers and actors brings his work to life on stage in the Palo Duro Canyon, near Amarillo.

A bronze sculpture of Green is displayed on the patio of the Pioneer Amphitheater. In addition to writing the script for "Texas," Green included lighting and sound technology never before seen in an American amphitheater prior to the 1966 inaugural "Texas" season.

Tickets to "Texas" are $7 to $14 on weekdays, and $8 to $16 on Friday and Saturday for adults. Reservations are encouraged. For more information, call 806-655-2181 or write "Texas," Box 268 Canyon, Texas 79015.

Bryan Miller places at state meet

Bryan Miller, freshman member of the Muenster Hornet track team, finished in 6th place in the 800m run at the State UIL Class A Track and Field Meet. The race was held May 10 at the University of Texas at Austin before thousands of spectators.

Miller, after finishing second place at regional, was the lone Hornet to advance to state competition. At Austin, he defeated his regional opponent and ran the final race against six seniors and a junior. His finishing time of 2:02 set a personal record by two seconds, and was two seconds faster than the fastest prelim time. The winning finish was 1:57.

"We're proud of Bryan's effort and work ethic all season and are looking forward to his future in track," commented Coach Randy Tankersley.

Many Texans are concerned about wildlife and will do what they can to protect them. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD) annually is inundated with calls from concerned citizens who want game wardens or biologists to come get a fawn or baby bird they've found, then get upset when they're told the young animal more than likely is okay and should be left alone.

"You wouldn't walk over to a child sitting at a table in a restaurant, pick it up, take it home and call the police. The kid's mother is probably at the salad bar," offered Jerry Cooke with TPWD. "But, that's just what some people are doing when they pick up a fawn deer. It's rare that young deer are abandoned. They're usually left in an area while the doe is feeding nearby."

A fawn should be left where it is found. The doe returns from feeding occasionally check on the fawn and allow to nurse. Because of the fawn's natural instinct to lie still, this early age, people are able to walk right up to the fawns.

Note, that it is a violation of the law to handle wildlife species. It is also illegal to possess wildlife unless it legally taken during a legal open season. Anyone violating this law could be charged with a Class C Parks and Wildlife Code misdemeanor and would be subject to a fine up to $500.

Cooke said all wildlife should be left in their natural environment. Trying to treat them as pets inevitably results in unfavorable consequences for the animal.

"It is illegal to keep wild animals in confinement, except under special permitting procedures," he said. "It is best for all concerned to leave them in the wild."

Texas Game Wardens share unusual experiences

Little League begins June 2

The Muenster Jaycees will begin the Little League Baseball program with the first games on Monday, June 2. Opening ceremonies will begin at 6:00 p.m. This year the league consists of eight teams. There are five teams representing Muenster, two teams from Saint Jo, and one team from Forestburg. The league will play a total of 28 games with each team playing seven games. All games will be played on the Muenster field on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. On each of these days, the first game will start at 6:30 p.m. with the second scheduled for 8:15 p.m.

Ruben Robarte Jr., 28, one of the men accused of opening fire on Texas Game Wardens last October, was found guilty of attempted capital murder and aggravated assault and was sentenced to five years in prison. A shootout with wardens during a routine stop led to a 40-hour manhunt in which two Amarillo men eluded law enforcement by weaving their way through the rugged Palo Duro Canyons in the Texas Panhandle.

The incident occurred when the wardens attempted to confront the suspected poachers for shooting mule deer out of season.

Keep That Cat In A Cage...
Montgomery County warden responded to a disturbance call and found a 300-pound cougar, which killed the family dog and mauled a man who tried to intercede in the dog and cat fight. Once the cougar's owner got the cat back into its cage, the warden discovered that the man who was mauled was the cat owner's estranged husband who, for some reason, had come to the house and let the cat out of its cage. The cat's owner was cited for not having a permit for the dangerous animal, and for having a substandard cage.

Bucky-Locks And The Three Bears

Gatesville Police notified the game warden that a deer had broken through a window at a residence two blocks from the courthouse. When the warden arrived at the scene, he found a 6-point buck in the house. The glass cut deer had made what appeared to be several laps through the house, including steps in every bed during the two-hour rampage. After causing extensive damage to the contents of the house, the buck was tranquilized and transported to nearby Fort Hood for release.

Spotlighting For Snakes?

While on routine patrol in Brazos County, the game warden observed two men in a boat on the Navasota River shining a spotlight and holding a .22 rifle. The pair claimed they were shooting at snakes while fishing. Later that evening, the warden responded to a tip that two men were skinning a deer in their backyard and it was the two "fishermen." They confessed and took the warden to where the deer head and hide were hidden.

Swap It To Me

A Cooke County man contacted a local radio station during a swap shop show and wanted to sell some deer meat. Game wardens got into their deer buying clothes and contacted the subject. He gave directions to his home and stated that he had 20 pounds of meat left that he would sell for $60 since deer season was over. He also stated that if they were interested in more than 20 pounds he could come up with more. The wardens were greeted at the door and the deal was made. The suspect was arrested for offering to sell white-tailed deer meat.

Proud But Late

The Cooke County Game Warden received a call from a rancher who was following a truck that had a buck deer in the bed of the truck. With the police help, the subject was stopped, and explained that he had killed the deer on his father's place that morning. He was very proud of the nice 10-point, 17" spread buck. The deer was properly tagged and had the correct date of kill cut out. Warden Jim Lundberg explained that all was fine except for one thing, the deer season closed the day before.

Photographic Evidence

Montage County Game

Warden Ronnie Brooks received information from a local homeowner on an individual who had killed a 10-point buck from a public roadway. After locating the vehicle, the warden had a tough time getting the suspect to confess, so he took out his camera and began photographing the tire tread on each tire on the vehicle, explaining the use of comparison overlay. The suspected violator then confessed.

Farm Bureau sets up relief fund for flood victims

The American Farm Bureau Federation has established a relief fund to aid rural victims of the Red River flood in North Dakota and Minnesota. According to Cooke County Farm Bureau Directors, the fund will be used to provide relief in farming and rural areas affected by the devastating flood.

Tax-deductible donations to the flood fund are being coordinated through the American Farm Bureau

Foundation for Agriculture (AFBFA). Flood relief donations may be sent to: AFBFA Disaster Relief Fund, 225 Touhy Ave., Park Ridge, Illinois, 60068.

The directors said Texans, particularly those in rural areas, always come together in critical times of need.

The Cooke County Farm Bureau Directors said cash donations are the quickest way to get necessities in the hands of those that need them.

Wheat straw round hay bales were scattered in pastures, fields and especially fence rows southeast of Muenster after being carried from places unknown. This fence avoided a direct hit, unlike many in the area, but will still need to be cleaned up and repaired.

Thornberry blasts administration's decision to cut back on acreage

U.S. Rep. Mac Thornberry (TX-13) today called the Clinton Administration's decision to slash Texas acreage in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) the "final slap in the face" to area producers who have been forced to wait for the rules to be rewritten.

"Ever since the USDA announced last fall that it planned to make drastic changes to CRP," Thornberry said, "Producers have had to put off planting decisions and put their lives on hold waiting for new rules to be developed. The announcement today is more or less the final slap in the face to those who held out any hope that the Administration would come up with a reasonable plan."

"If the purpose of this program is to conserve erodible land, then why are they taking out from enrollment some of the most highly erodible land in the country? What's even more confusing is the fact that Congress has given the Administration authority to enroll 36 million acres in CRP, yet the Administration is now enrolling only 16 million acres."

County Agent's Report

APHIDS ON SORGHUM

With the wet soils, some of our sorghum plantings are very young in the county. Recently we were in some sorghum fields and noticed a large number of yellow sugarcane aphids. This aphid is the most damaging to sorghum. They are bright yellow and appear on the underside of infested plant leaves. Yellow sugarcane aphids damage sorghum by injecting a toxin as they feed. A purpled discoloration to the leaf is the first symptom of sugarcane aphid injury. Sorghum plants that are young with two to five true leaves are easily killed by this pest. If plants are not killed, they are usually stunted and will have delayed maturity. Producers should be watching for aphids in their fields.

Greenbugs are another aphid pest that also causes injury to young sorghum plants. Greenbugs can also spread virus in both small grain and grain sorghum. Maize dwarf mosaic virus in sorghum and barley yellow dwarf virus in small grain are two diseases transmitted by greenbugs. Greenbug infestations are easily detected by the yellow plant leaves or speckling on the leaf.

We do have a good number of beneficial insects in the fields now so producers need to weigh any insecticidal treatments in relation to the number of beneficial insects present.

One last aphid that will surely be present as usual in sorghum fields is the corn leaf aphid. This aphid causes very little damage to sorghum. The reason for so little damage is that it does not inject a toxin during feeding. It also serves as a host insect for beneficials like lady beetles and parasitic wasps. These aphids are dark bluish green with black legs.

Generally we see a large number of these aphids as sorghum begins to mature and we can usually find them in the whorl of the plant. This aphid seldom causes injury and should require little control unless plans are very young.

High winds from a twister stripped the kernels from the wheat as it moved through the area.

Helping Farmers Save

U.S. Re. Kenny Hulshof is circulating a discussion draft of legislation in Washington, D.C. to create Farm and Ranch Risk Management (FARRM) accounts. The legislation allows farmers and ranchers to contribute 10 percent of their net income tax free to FARRM accounts.

Money could remain in FARRM accounts for up to five years and would be taxed upon distribution.

As far as the eye can see, wheat straw lines a fence south of Myra on FM 1198. Tornadoic winds did not damage this fence last Sunday night, but did leave its calling card.
