MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1945

NUMBER 49

They say there are Southern streams in which the hyacinths have developed into so much of a nuisance that they are blocking all boat traffic. Which goes to show that almost anything regardless of aesthetic qualities can be a pest under unfavorable circumstances. Morning glories are weeds in a corn field and candy is dirt when smeared on a kid's face.

One of the oddities of modern labor organizations is the wide fluctuation of influence wielded by labor leaders over their members. Let a political campaign get into full swing and those leaders have no hesitation in promising support, and delivering it too, in thousands of votes. But when a wildcat strike breaks out those same leaders insist they are utterly powerless to control the men. It does seem a bit suspicious, doesn't it?

To all those favoring the come back of the lowly toothpick, here's welcome news. Some modern dentists are pleading for its return to the dinner table regardless of Emily Post. They recommend the discard of a well known prejudice in favor of the much wiser custom in some European and South American countries where guests are quite correct in liberating captured food particles with the little sliver.

As you would expect, the other specimen of the elite is fittingly dainty in the use of toothpicks. While holding a napkin before the mouth he gently prods the obstinate bits of celery or meat from his dental interstices.

Actually it would be a good thing if that practice were accepted over here. It would wipe out the stigma of vulgarity that so many now have to endure if they choose not to endure the discomfort of lodged food particles. Even the present compromise measure of waiting until alone to wield the toothpick is not satisfactory. A person can become very exasperated in the meantime trying to coax food away from crevices with the tip of his tongue.

Dentists, however, aren't boosting the toothpick for the sake of comfort. They regard it rather as a means of delaying the purchase of store teeth. If teeth cannot be thoroughly brushed after every meal, they say, the next best is to pick away the bits of cavity causing food.

So, if the dentists have their way, we may eventually find in etiquette manuals a detailed instruction on the use of the toothpick. The day may come when correct people no longer admonish their offspring never to use a toothpick where they would not use a tooth brush. If the Emily Posts will permit that we're satisfied. We could get radical on the subject and demand complete freedom in the use of the toothpicks, but there are a few habits that seem to serve no useful purpose. Such as chewing the toothpick and spitting out the splinters or letting it dangle from the corner of the mouth to indicate that a person has just eaten.

From overseas a veteran of several battles whites home deploring the criticism of people who only a few months ago were our allies. The man goes on to say we should be eternally grateful to the British for such exploits as stopping the Germans at El Alamein and to the Russians for their victory at Stalingrad. Had our allies not achieved these and many other feats, he contends, Germany would have won the war and we'd be Hitler's slaves.

Perhaps there is some truth in what the man says. Few if any of us are qualified to state what would have happened if Germany had extended its power farther. On the other hand we are quite free to guess what might have happened to Britain and Russia, in spite of El Alamein and Stalingrad, if good old Uncle Sam had not come to their assistance with millions of tons of equipment and supplies and a few million fighting men, not to mention quite a few billion dollars worth of lend lease supplies to keep their home fronts from going to pieces.

Americans as a rule are reluctant to concede that the allies contributed any more toward victory than this country did—consequently that we owe them any more than they owe us. In addition many will always wonder whether those same allies were not considerably more instrumental in bringing on the war than our country was.

Regardless of who did what, the fact remains that all allies are deeply indebted to one another. (Continued on Page 4)

PVT. HARRY SICKING ENJOYS ARMY LIFE ON LEYTE ISLAND

Pvt. Harry Sicking, writing from Leyte, Oct. 2, has the following to say: Hello Everybody:

How is everything back home by now? I hope fine as I am. I never felt better in my life. I finally got out of the rough and tough old infantry and assigned to an Anti-Aircraft Search Light battery, located in the southern part of Leyte. The camp isn't but a few hundred yards from the ocean, and my tent is only fifty yards from the water. This is really a life. Such a nice place and hardly anything to do. Don't see why they didn't transfer me to this place before, I never liked anything better in life.

I get up at six thirty, eat chow at seven and at eight we fall out for details, about half the company goes on one day and the other half the next. We do what they call work until chow time and after we eat we're off for the rest of the day. We go swimming, lounge around and have plenty of time to write letters. I'd like for the folks at home to write me, and I'll answer each letter.

We have organized a basketball and softball team to help pass the time. I got on both teams. If I don't exercise I'll get fat and stiff.

Wonder if I'll ever be able to get used to farm life again, after a deal like this. The little I do is sure to make me lazy. But I still want to go back to the farm as soon as they let me out.

The natives do our laundry every day and do a good job. We are close to a native village. They are nice and friendly. Roosters crowing in the morning wake me up just like at home.

The chow hits the spot. We help ourselves and the food is almost as good as that at home. We have an opportunity to take up some studies here and I am going to take mechanics, crop management and soil conservation. Classes every morning, just like school. I could continue with my studies, taking college work, but since I want to go back to farm I am taking what will help me in that line.

It has been almost six weeks since I had mail. Tell everybody hello for me, and to write to me. I have time to answer.

Come over here I was on the ship a full month. I certainly enjoyed the trip. The island is pretty. We eat coconuts and pineapples every day. Just pick them fresh when we get hungry. The natives make pretty souvenirs but ask too much for them. I discovered that a pack of cigarettes, a bar of soap or anything that comes from the states goes further with them than a buck. Cigarettes are 50 cents a carton, or five cents a pack.

I am still with Stoffels and two boys from Gainesville.

There are so many monkeys here, and they are almost as smart as people. I want to catch one for a pet. I am glad that I got in the army, am seeing so many interesting things. I found out why I was shipped around so much, we were supposed to have been in the invasion of Japan to begin Nov. 1, but the Japs gave up sooner than was expected.

Best regards and luck to everybody.

Thanksgiving Turkey Season Opens Nov. 5

To Buy And Ship Live Birds; Does Not Include Dressing And Packing

The annual Thanksgiving turkey shipping season will begin at the FMA plant on November 5, according to a statement released by Rudy Hellman, plant manager Tuesday.

There will be no dressing and packing program, the only activity involved being the buying of birds and their shipment, alive to other dressing and packing plants. This is the same routine that was followed last year.

Roy Callahan, representing Wilson and Co. from Oklahoma City was here to make a canvass last week and concluded that dressing and packing of the birds before shipment is not feasible, several factors being responsible, including the not too large number of turkeys expected and the ever present labor situation.

All available birds will be accepted those coming from members and non-members, it was stated.

FRANCISCAN NUNS, FORMER RESIDENTS, NOTE 50TH JUBILEE

Sister M. Catherine, the former Helena Mueller, and Sister M. Ludgera, the former Angela Meier, both Franciscan nuns, observed their golden jubilee on October 4 at their motherhouse in Saint Louis, Mo.

They entered the convent from Muenster 50 years ago. The former is a sister of Peter Mueller and the late Mrs. Elizabeth Hesse, and the latter is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Meier, who were among the first settlers of the Muenster colony.

Sister Ludgera has spent most of her convent life at the motherhouse and Sister Catherine has been at the Chicago institution of the order for the past 12 years. In spite of her 69 years of age she is still enjoying good health, she has written relatives here.

FATHER BENEDICT NOW SUBPRIOR OF SUBIACO ABBEY

The Very Rev. Benedict Boergerding, O.S.B., who taught in Fort Worth since 1926, has returned to the faculty of Subiaco, Ark. Academy. He is subprior of the abbey, succeeding Very Rev. Bernard Zell, the latter aging and in need of watchful care of his health.

Father Benedict is deeply versed in many subjects, including history and English literature, but has been particularly outstanding in the teaching of mathematics. He is teaching algebra at the abbey this year as a small portion of his many duties, which are chiefly of the abbey. He is the brother-in-law of Frances Binz of Gainesville and uncle of Mrs. Henry Wiesman of this city.

NEW CHEVROLET DUE HERE SOON AT J.B. WILDE MOTOR CO.

J. B. Wilde, local Chevrolet dealer, was in Dallas a few days ago to attend a preview of the new 1946 Chevrolet at the company's zone headquarters.

He was reluctant to discuss the mechanical and style features of the car, but according to present reports expects the new model to be in his show room by Nov. 1, and invites the public to see it.

Mr. Wilde's garage building has been repainted and is ready to receive the new Chevrolet.

A new addition to his staff of personnel is Veteran Johnny Wimmer who served in the U.S. Coast Guard as a motor machinist's mate.

Mr. Wilde stressed car care, with the warning that motorists should not expect the 1946 Chevrolet to be available in great quantities immediately. The supply to dealers will increase as production in the Chevrolet plant permits.

Mr. and Mrs. Amber Estes came in from Coffeyville, Kansas, last week for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Richter. Estes who was a staff sergeant with the army air corps, has received an honorable discharge from the service.

Muenster, Lindsay Friends At First Mass Of Rev. Sacra

Muenster and Lindsay was represented by a number of families at the first solemn mass of Rev. Gerald Sacra in St. Joseph's church at Denison Sunday, and also attended the reception following the rites.

Father Sacra is well known in the county. He is a native of Denison, a son of Mrs. Lillian Sacra of that city. He is the youngest of Subiaco's priests in age and by ordination. He was in the seminary class that was ordained last spring but his ordination was delayed some five months, because, only 22, he had not reached the canonical age for the priesthood. Even at this time a special dispensation for his ordination had to be obtained from the Abbot of the Abbey.

The young priest was ordained in Little Rock, Ark., on October 14. During his seminary days Father Sacra served as abbey organist and now heads the academy music department, teaching piano.

Those present at the first mass included: Rev. Herman Laux, Messrs. and Mmes. Alphonse Koessler, Norbert Koessler, Ed Endres, Tony Fuhrmann and Tony Koessler and Mark Fuhrmann, Muenster.

Messrs. and Mmes. Mike Fuhrmann, Matt Fuhrmann, H. S. Fuhrmann, Joe Fuhrmann, Ray Lewis and son, Fred Mosman, Albert Kubis, and Jake Benzer, Ray Fuhrmann, Mrs. Joe Hundt, Grevor and Miss Clara Hundt, Mrs. Julius Hermes and Mrs. Tony Hermes, all of Lindsay.

Reception, Banquet Feature Activity Of CDA Court Sunday

A program combining the reception of new members, a banquet and a social featured Sunday's activities of the local court Catholic Daughters of America. The affair was held in the parish hall.

Ten members were added to the court's roster of membership in reception ceremonies that began at 3:30. Those received into the organization are Misses Mildred Walterscheid, Geneva Gremminger, Dorothy Mae Yosten, Elizabeth Fleitman and Elsie Mae Fuhrmann and Mmes. Nick Miller, John Streng, J.B. Wilde, L. Bernauer and Henry Streng. Officers of the court were in charge of the rites. Each new member was presented with a small gold Miraculous medal tied with the club's colors of purple and gold, as a gift from the grand regent, Mrs. Al Walterscheid.

At 8:30 a delicious banquet menu was served. For this part of the program husbands and sweethearts of the members were guests. The long tables were prettily decorated with purple and gold dahlias and the invocation was given by Rev. Father John.

Mrs. Al Walterscheid was toast master, spoke briefly and then introduced the speakers. Interesting addresses were given by Father John, Mrs. John Mosman, district deputy; Herbert Mourer, state treasurer of the Knights of Columbus, and Ben Seyler, former city mayor.

Following the meal, series of progressive 42 were enjoyed. High score awards were won by Mrs. Al Schad and R.R. Endres while consolation favors were presented to Mrs. Joe Swirczynski and Paul Fisher. Ben Seyler won the galloping prize.

PROGRAM COMPLETE FOR SUBIACO ALUMNI BENEFIT, SUNDAY

Everything is in order for the annual Subiaco Alumni benefit party to be held in the Muenster parish hall next Sunday, and a "big time" is in store for all attending, according to the committee in charge.

An entertaining program with various bazaar attractions and plenty of lunches and refreshments will be featured.

The party will get underway at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and will continue during the evening hours.

Everybody is invited to attend.

Miss Betty Lue Buckley, a student at OLV Academy in Fort Worth, spent the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Buckley. Mrs. Buckley went for her Thursday evening and they spent the night at Grapevine with relatives.

Details Of Pvt. James Endres' Death Learned

Parents Receive Letter With Information From Son's Commanding Officer

Mr. and Mrs. R.R. Endres are in receipt of a letter from the commanding officer of their son's company, giving details of the manner in which Pvt. James Endres was fatally injured in a vehicle accident on Luzon, Oct. 1.

Because of James' popularity and the number of requests asking for details of the accident, The Enterprise, with the parents' permission, is printing the letter verbatim.

Headquarters 248 Port Company APO 75 3 October, 1945

Dear Mrs. Endres: As company commander of your son, James A. Endres, and with your kind permission, I should like to take this opportunity to express my sincere heartfelt regret of his recent sudden death.

In so far as I have been able to determine, through questioning the witnesses present at the time of the accident, your son died the victim of a truck accident on Pier Five in South Harbor, Manila, P.I. The accident occurred on October 1, at about 3:20 in the afternoon, at which time the vehicle he was occupying was struck by a passing truck. The force of the impact knocked him off his vehicle into the road directly in the path of the truck that hit his vehicle and the truck ran over him. Witnesses said he never regained consciousness and died a few minutes later. However an ambulance was summoned and a few minutes later he was declared dead by an army doctor named Captain Whitley.

An investigation to determine the cause was immediately started, however I haven't as yet received the findings of this investigation.

The funeral took place on October 2 at 1:30 p.m. at which time he received all the rites of the Catholic Church. Burial took place at the Manila Cemetery Number Two where he was tendered the traditional military funeral.

For your information the following statistics as to the location of his grave is listed: United States Armed Forces Cemetery No. 2, Grave No. 2526, Row 20, Block 1, Manila, P.I.

MUENSTER HORNETS TAKE GAME 12 TO FROM SAINT MARY'S

Muenster Sacred Heart High Hornets scored a victory in the first football game of the season Sunday when they played Saint Mary's High School from Gainesville.

The Hornets took charge of the game from the whistle's first blow to the end of the final quarter with a 12-0 score.

Norbert Mages, star player of the local team, made two touchdowns in the first quarter. Later his outstanding tackle prevented the opposing team from scoring, a play which held the large crowd of spectators spellbound.

Both teams battled through a raging wind and all players are to be commented on the fine teamwork displayed throughout the game. The Hornets' excellent coach, Rev. John Walbe, and Ed Schneider served as refs.

The pep squad led by Jewel Marie Hoffman and Mary Seyler backed the boys throughout the game.

This was the first on the newly laid field on the campus.

A return game with St. Mary's is scheduled for Nov. 4.

No admission was charged but a free will offering was taken up for benefit of the boys' new football suits.

RED CROSS WORK
 Students of Sacred Heart High are again proving their loyalty to Uncle Sam through work for the Red Cross in cooperation with the local chapter headed by Mrs. G.H. Hellman. About 35 students have started knitting sweaters for boys in the service.
 Mrs. Hellman assisted by Miss Anna Hellman, meets with the boys and girls every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon to give instructions. Thanks to them both for devoting their time to the student body.

Around the Campus:
 Visitors to the campus were amazed at the football field laid out by the boys last Friday and Saturday. Not one thing was left unfinished to have a perfect field even down to the paint job.
 As English class, the students attended the classic "Thunderhead—Son of Flicka" Monday afternoon. A report was the assignment for all students.
 Who christened Wednesday "Disappointment Day" and why? Joe Weinzapfel sustained a sprained ankle last week; however it did not keep him from attending classes.
 George Swirczynski is limping around the campus — football!!
 Monte Hellman is becoming an efficient organist of recent weeks.
 The Freshmen have proven to be the most active missionaries at S.H.S. They have one pagaw baby to their credit.
 The students enjoyed a free day due to the Diocesan Teachers' Institute at Dallas.

A good student, who must spend long hours studying, needs proper light for adequate seeing and prevention of eye-strain. The "see-ability" resulting from proper lighting is important, too, in making good students out of poor students because it makes studying easier. That's one of the reasons it's important to be sure the lighting in your home is adequate for the "seeing-tasks" that are done there.

Reflector bowls of portable study lamps should be kept free of dust. Inner surfaces of shades should be white and the shade wide enough at bottom to allow light to cover the entire "seeing-task" without casting direct light into the eye. Proper size for the average study lamp is 150 watts.

See local dealers for such additional lighting equipment as you may need.

Keep a good book of light bulbs on hand!

LINDSAY SCHOOL TATLER

Now that School has reopened again and we are happily and earnestly at work, we promise our readers that they will hear from us at regular intervals.

The officers of the SCA Club held a pep meeting in the early part of this week with the purpose of putting their program into action. The regular meeting will be held on schedule, next Friday, October 26. At this meeting plans will be made for the coming Hallow'en party and activities for the month of November.

The underclassmen think that there are just entirely too many hard names to be remembered and identified in their study of early European history. To facilitate this the sophomores are preparing to present a dramatization of the death of Socrates and they are making sure that all the other great Greek personalities are included. These names should then become familiar. We are anxious for the results.

The honor roll is also published in this week's column. We'd like to encourage all the students at Lindsay High to make a definite effort to be on the list. Remember it's now you are training yourself for the future. Two of our last May's graduates are continuing their education. Dorothy Rose Dieter is studying at the Business College in Fort Worth and her report tells us she is making a very high grade in all her subjects. Lucille Bezner, now a student at Our Lady of the Lake College, San Antonio, Texas, has scored very high in the entrance placement tests; in fact, she is among the highest in a group of some 140 freshmen. If they, the former students of Lindsay High, are doing so well, we can also. We are receiving the same type of training. It depends upon us — let's make a bit more effort to score high.

other. All can well afford to recognize that and let the subject rest there.

But post war affairs are new and current problems and fair subjects for any comment. That's why we have a perfect right to blow our tops when England gets huffy over our decision to stop lend lease or when Russia tries to dominate all of Europe and Asia.

Applying the same principle the other way, we wonder how many in Britain or Russia refrain from criticizing us because of our contribution to their victory.

Foreign born brides of American soldiers continue to complain about the delay in their shipment to this country. They can't understand why they should not be given priority transportation. Women over here who have not seen sons, husbands or boy friends for three years can think of a very good reason.
