

It is deplorable that in a democracy a speech such as that made by President Truman on January 3 should ever have to be made. Ours is the country known throughout the world as the foremost exponent of freedom. We have been proud to boast in every land that our system is the only one in which the masses can attain personal freedom and prosperity. The statue of liberty has all but replaced the eagle as our national symbol. And still our president finds it necessary to call upon the public to demand legislation whereby freedom can be further curtailed.

We can rest assured that Truman's drastic action was not prompted by a desire to put additional shackles on the people. He is as anxious as anyone to see every citizen enjoy the greatest possible measure of personal freedom. But he realizes that there must be a limit. No one's freedom must be allowed to infringe on the rights of another. And if the persons concerned do not have the honesty or fairness to respect other people's rights it becomes the duty of some higher authority to see that a fair basis is established.

That condition is responsible for the widespread and shameful labor controversy that has afflicted the welfare of our nation for these several months, and which even threatens our continued existence as a democracy. There are greedy labor bosses who insist on more than an equitable share of industry's earnings. There are greedy capitalists who insist on more than their share. Stubbornness on both sides has led to a deadlock which, apparently can be broken only by the drastic action of someone in authority.

The democratic way of handling the difficulty would be a fair and frank discussion of all conditions followed by a fair settlement agreeable to both sides. Since the persons concerned are not willing to do that, the common good demands a course in which a third party is empowered to lay down the conditions and demand compliance on both sides.

As a curb on labor the president calls for a 30 day investigation period during which fact finding boards will ascertain whether demands are legitimate. As a curb on management he calls for the right of the fact finding board to examine books and get the actual figures in the case. From there on there can be either of two courses. Forcing both sides to abide by a decision or publishing the results of the inquiry and trusting to the pressure of public opinion. Whatever way is chosen, it is a shameful way for supposedly free and reasonable men to settle their differences. It seems to indicate that our profession of faith in lofty ideals is far from sincere.

What we are doing is forcing ourselves into dictatorship. It isn't what we want but it is what we are inviting by abusing the precious heritage for which our forefathers bled at Bunker Hill. It is the last desperate resort of a sincere leader in his struggle to avert anarchy.

Let's hope that the nation will wake up before this mess has gone too far. Things can still be ironed out, and they will be if men of influence will approach their difficulty in the proper spirit.

The first requisite is fairness. On one side capitalists must realize that they have no right to grab fat profits while workers are underpaid. Workers must realize they have no right to the exorbitant wage that deprives investors of a return on their savings. While thinking that over they might also bear in mind that capital nowadays is not always the puffed up big shot wallowing in wealth. More often it is the little man who made sacrifices in order to realize a little extra income in his later years.

Having the proper attitude, the next step is to understand the fundamental law of production. In anything but the most primitive handwork any product requires two essentials in addition to the raw material. Labor and capital. On one side we have personal skill and energy. On the other we have tools, machines, buildings and operating funds. In short the entire investment used by labor to put out its product. Obviously the two are interdependent. Neither can get along without the other. Both are entitled to a share of the product.

From the beginning of the industrial period until a few years ago it was the custom of investors to set up their capital and hire labor at the lowest possible figure. As a result some amas-

VALLEY VIEW'S NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH IS DEDICATED JAN. 3

Impressive ceremonies dedicating Valley View's new Catholic Church were held on January 3 and were attended by a large number of Muenster citizens. The local Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus participated in the rites, in full regalia.

His Excellency Joseph P. Lynch, Bishop of Dallas, officiated at the dedicatory services. Rev. Paul Charcut, pastor at Pilot Point, sang the high mass, and Rev. Charles Smid of Denton delivered the sermon.

St. John's church, completed in December, and debt free, is a beautiful edifice, 50 x 30 feet, located on the four acres of ground facing the Denton Gainesville highway. The new parish has as members fifteen families.

PFC. LINN TELLS OF CHRISTMAS IN JAPAN

Pfc. Jeff Linn, writing from Koyama, Honshu, Japan, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Linn, tells them he really enjoyed Christmas there and that the army had a fine dinner. He said that several Japanese girls and children ate with them and the girls sang and danced for the soldiers.

The Red Cross presented each man with Christmas box containing candy, cigarettes, chewing gum, address book, tobacco pouch and books to read. Pfc. Linn goes on to say, "This Christmas was much better than last year's when I was at Hollandia, Dutch New Guinea."

"It has been real cold here the past few days. It snowed some yesterday. The ground is frozen. We had Christmas dinner in our day room, and it was decorated nicely. We ate out of plates for a change and it made everyone feel as if he were at home."

"Our men with 55 points left for the states. They tell us the 50 points and up will leave in January."

"Tell everyone I said hello. We haven't had any mail during the past four days but expect some soon. This is Christmas Day and I have to go on fire guard tonight. I am fire guard about 4-1-2 hours each night in our platoon. I can sleep all I want to during the day. It is not bad and I don't have battalion guard or any details."

Pfc. Linn's address is: Pfc. J. E. Linn, 39589439, Co. B, 303rd Inf., APO 445, c-o Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

GAINESVILLE KC'S WIN FIRST ROUND OF CURRENT CONTEST

Gainesville Knights of Columbus won the first round of the visiting attendance contest now in progress between the councils of Muenster and Gainesville. The object of the contest is to see which council can have the most members at the meetings of the other council.

At the local group's meeting last Wednesday Gainesville was represented by 74 members, while Muenster sent 70 members to Gainesville's session this week Tuesday.

A special feature at the Gainesville meeting was an address by Congressman Ed Gossett who discussed current problems now before Congress. Refreshments were served at the close.

The contest will continue for three months at the end of which the losers entertain the winners with a luncheon.

John Fette Honored With Dinner And Open House On Birthday

John Fette was honored with a dinner party and open house celebration Sunday in observance of his 73rd birthday. The courtesy was extended by his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Seyler, in their home.

For the dinner served at noon guests included the honoree, his wife and their children and grand children and his brothers and sisters. Four tables were arranged for the affair, each attractively decorated and prettily appointed. Novel place cards marked places for the 40 guests.

The honoree's table was centered with a large decorated cake and places were marked for Mr. and Mrs. John Fette, Mr. and Mrs. G.H. Hellman, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fette, Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Fette, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lehnertz, and the hosts. Children of the honor guest occupied one table, and the grandchildren were seated at the two other tables.

During the afternoon open house was held and some 100 friends called. Ice cream and cake were served.

Mr. Fette has been a resident of Muenster for 40 years. He is a native of St. Paul, Iowa, and was married in that city to Miss Anna Stephensmeier in April, 1899. They lived in Missouri for a short time, then moved to this city. Mr. Fette was a farmer, rancher and cattle raiser, north of town until he retired from active work in 1941 and moved to reside in the city. Both Mr. and Mrs. Fette are hale and hearty, interested in community and church activity, and look forward to celebrating their golden wedding anniversary in 1949.

They are the parents of nine living children: Mrs. Ben Seyler, Edward Fette, Mrs. Herbert Meurer, Steve Fette, Elmer and Herman Fette, all of Muenster; Mrs. C.W. Ratliff of Lubbock, Mrs. Tom Gallery of Scarsdale, N.Y., and Mrs. Jack Quinlan of South Bend, Ind. All the children and their families were present for the celebration with the exception of Mrs. Gallery and Quinlan.

The Fettes have 23 grandchildren. Mr. Fette received a large assortment of gifts in keeping with the occasion.

The average hen will lay 110 eggs a year.

Holy Name Society Marks Feast Day With Special Rites

The feast of the Holy Name was observed here with religious rites and a social program by members of the Holy Name Society Sunday, January 6.

The observance began with group attendance at the 9 o'clock High Mass, during which members received the Eucharist. Immediately following the services breakfast was served in the parish hall. The meal was prepared by members of St. Anne's Society and was served by members of the Young Ladies Sodality.

The long, U-shaped table was attractively decorated and the invocation was led by Rev. John Walbe, spiritual director of the organization. Father John also gave a short address and brief talks were made by President Werner Henscheid, Vice President Norbert Magas, Arthur Felderhoff, SIC, home on leave from the Navy, and Joe Hess, recently returned veteran of the army. Present for the affair were some 10 candidates for reception and they were called upon for a few words of comment.

Formal reception ceremonies will be held next Sunday afternoon during the 3 o'clock church services. Some 15 new members will be received at that time. Initiation will be held next Monday evening during the regular monthly meeting of the society. A full attendance of members is anticipated for the two events next week.

AL WALTERSCHEID SELLS HIS MACHINE SHOP SATURDAY

Al Walterscheid, for the past 20 years owner and operator of the machine shop that bore his name, sold the business Saturday to Louis and Lawrence Roberg and Jerome Pagel.

The new owners have renamed the business Machine Shop and Supply Co. and intend to carry on activities in a similar manner in which the former owner operated. They will feature electric and acetylene welding, blacksmithing and general repair work, and in the near future plan to rebuild the shop and add a complete line of farm machinery repairs and oil field supplies and fittings. At the present time the Roberg brothers are on duty. The other member of the partnership is employed at Shamburser Lumber Co.

In retiring from business, Al stated that he was not "quitting work entirely" and that after a short vacation he plans to go into business again. He did not reveal what line of business he had in mind, but said it would most likely be in Muenster. He extended sincerest thanks to all his friends and customers for their patronage during the past two decades, stating that he had many pleasant dealings with Muenster citizens and those of surrounding territory, and that he formed many lasting friendships.

The new owners invite the patronage of all those whom they can assist and help in any way and said the welcome sign is out to all old friends and customers and to new ones as well. The Roberg Brothers have a wealth of experience in the business, having been associated with Mr. Walterscheid as employees for some ten years. Both were recently discharged from the Navy after active duty overseas.

WAR CHEST DRIVE HERE NETS $213

War Chest contributions in this community totaled $213.50, Chairman J. M. Weinzapfel disclosed this week following the close of the drive and the forwarding of the amount to the county chairman.

Contributions were less than anticipated, due in part to reports from returning veterans who stated they were not pleased with benefits experienced, which reflected on contributions locally.

Some solicitors did very well, the chairman reported, and he thanked all those who assisted in this way, and also those who contributed to the cause.

Muenster's first 1946 baby is seven and one half pound Paula Ann Rosenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosenberg, born at the local clinic on January 7. Mrs. Rosenberg is the former Miss Blanche Hammer and the infant is the first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Hammer.

Navy Lieut. Norman Luke is back at his station at Pensacola, Fla., following completion of a leave here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Luke.

Membership Drive For Local Hospital Making Progress

Memberships in Muenster's proposed Cooperative Hospital Association are coming in steadily, according to a report from the board of directors this week. Seventy-one have been signed up but this represents more than merely 71 memberships because a number have made additional contributions.

The hospital chapel fund received a donation of more than $200 as a result of the benefit dinner given in the parish hall on the day Rev. Thomas Weinzapfel's first mass celebration took place here.

The board of directors is now preparing an inventory of equipment needed and will place the order for it with the Surplus Commodity Corporation.

Memberships, it was stated, include also persons from Lindsay, Gainesville, Forestburg and Hood in addition to those of local citizens.

The local association has received an invitation from the Hale County Cooperative Hospital Association to attend a meeting of Cooperative Hospital groups to be held on January 15, beginning at 10 a.m. at Hale Center, Texas. The meeting is sponsored by the Crosby County and Cap Rock, and the Hale County Cooperative Hospital Associations.

The purpose of the meeting is to provide a convenient exchange of ideas regarding problems facing Cooperative Hospitals being organized or developed. Speakers will include health service specialists and others who are familiar with cooperative hospital associations.

The invitation extends a welcome to attend to board members and officers of the local association and any interested members of the community who would care to attend. The program will be of interest and benefit to all.

Local persons planning to attend are asked to leave their names with J.M. Weinzapfel so that the host association will know how many to expect and can make hotel reservations if desired. This information must be given Mr. Weinzapfel immediately so arrangements can be made.

Furthermore, the Government will pay the school up to $500 on tuition, books, fees, etc. This is an opportunity to receive an education that has never been offered anyone before, Captain Beville stated.

Funeral services were held here at Sacred Heart church Tuesday morning at 9:30 for Leo Moster 56, who died at his home Sunday morning at 6 a.m., following a six-month illness.

Rev. Herman Laux, pastor, officiated at the requiem high mass delivered a consoling address and conducted services at the grave. J. M. WEINZAPFEL, I. A. SCHOECH GET WATER WORKS LICENSE

I. A. Schoech and J. M. Weinzapfel have received word from the Texas State Board of Health that they have qualified as Grade C water works operators and have been issued their certificates. Muenster has two other qualified operators, Ben Seyler and Frank Hoedebeck.

The men qualified for the certificates by the attainment of training and experience and the passing of an examination. Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, in writing to Mr. Weinzapfel and Mr. Schoech said "It is felt that the issuance of these certificates of competency guarantees to the employing city that its water works personnel have qualifications that will help insure delivery of a safe and high quality drinking water to the public. Accept our congratulations."

THREE INCH RAIN BRINGS WELCOME MOISTURE TO AREA

Almost three inches of rain fell here from Friday last week to Tuesday this week. The moisture was welcomed by farmers and cattle raisers.

Not so welcome, however, was the strong gale that accompanied Friday night's 2 inch rainfall. T. M. Hammer's garage was damaged. Ben Knabe's residence was moved off its foundation and a windmill was blown down at F. J. Trubench's farm.

The rain Friday night sent Elm creek water over the bank at the bridge near George Gehrig's south of town and the bridge went out. Persons traveling that way were forced to detour through Myra until a temporary bridge was laid.

Washington Notes

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D.C., Jan. 4, 1946
 One of the big problems which Congress must soon settle is that of compulsory universal peacetime military training. Last October 23 President Harry Truman sent to Congress a message strongly urging the immediate enactment of such military training legislation. Just before the Christmas recess the President again requested such legislation from the Congress. The Gallup Poll shows that American people overwhelmingly in favor of some form of compulsory universal peacetime military training. Both methods of judging sentiment are said to be erroneous. The issue, of course, should not be determined on the basis of sentiment but on the basis of what is best for the American nation.

The majority of Congressmen at this time seemingly oppose the system recommended by the President and the War Department. They are more favorably inclined to the method recommended by the American Legion. The Legion program would give men this training in "broken doses"; that is, it would permit them to take it largely between school periods or during vacations. Several "within school" programs are being discussed. A boy might take certain prescribed courses during four years of schooling and there by satisfy requirements. Other prescribed forms of training could be worked out for boys who didn't go to school.

But getting back to the general argument of compulsory universal peacetime military training, there are pros and cons for every issue. Opponents say that the atomic age and the weapons being developed as the result thereof, have made great masses of military personnel obsolete. Proponents reply that this was said when gunpowder was brought into use, and that gunpowder, poison gas, and other lethal weapons have not lessened the probability of war or the need of masses of trained men. Opponents say such a program would initiate a competitive arms race among nations and create fear and distrust. Proponents reply that fear and not love of one another is what created our present alliances; that we, in fact, have got into all wars because our enemies thought they could bluff us, or that they could whip us; that preparedness creates respect rather than distrust. Opponents say that it is a Prussianistic, Hitler, European philosophy and is antagonistic toward our democratic way of life. Proponents answer that we are not going to set up military "service" but military "training" and that it is the most democratic thing we could do since it treats everybody alike.

Opponents say that we can maintain a strong National Guard, and R.O.T.C., plus volunteers, and get satisfactory results—that the proposed program would make this a militaristic nation. Proponents answer that unless we have such a program we must maintain a large standing army and navy which would in fact be militaristic whereas the program proposed would be largely a civilian program and would be a defense against militarism. Opponents say that our civilian soldier has always been more than a match for the professional soldier. Proponents answer that there must be training for even the civilian soldier in order to make him the equal of the professional.

Whether or not we can agree on a universal military training program, if any, all persons will agree that henceforth and forever American must remain the strongest power on the face of the earth. All persons will agree that this strength should be both moral and physical. The late Theodore Roosevelt may have announced a good policy in saying, "Speak softly and carry a big stick."

The real name of the famous artist Tintoretto was Jacopo Robusti. He was called Tintoretto, meaning little dyer, because of his father's trade.

A "Look at the Books"

OR

"A Finger in the Pie"?

Which is the UAW-CIO really after? Is it seeking facts—or new economic power? Does it want to know things—or run things?

These questions concern you as well as General Motors.

For years the facts about General Motors have been made public.

In spite of this, the UAW-CIO demands a chance to look at our books, with the hint that we could meet Union demands "if the truth were really known."

We have firmly declined to recognize this as a basis for bargaining:

1. The Full Facts are Published

How much General Motors takes in each year—how much it pays employees—how much it pays to stockholders—how much it pays in taxes—how much net profit we make—and many other facts are plainly stated in annual reports and quarterly reports.

These are broadcast to 425,000 stockholders from coast to coast—sent to newspapers and libraries. Additional copies are free for the asking.

2. All Figures are Thoroughly Checked

Every General Motors annual statement is audited by outside auditors. Similar figures are filed with the Securities & Exchange Commission.

Does the UAW-CIO honestly believe that General Motors would or could deceive these experts?

3. Basis of Collective Bargaining is Defined

The Wagner Act lays down the rules for collective bargaining. These cover such areas as rates of pay, hours of work, working conditions.

No mention is made of earnings, prices, sales volume, taxes and the like. These are recognized as the problems of management.

4. Something New has been Added

The obvious fact is that the UAW-CIO has gone beyond its rights under the law—and is reaching not for information but for new power—not for a look at past figures, but for the power to sit in on forecasting and planning the future.

A "look at the books" is a clever catch phrase intended as an opening wedge whereby Unions hope to pry their way into the whole field of management.

It leads surely to the day when Union bosses, under threat of strike, will demand the right to tell what we can make, when we can make it, where we can make it, and how much we must charge you—all with an eye on what labor can take out of the business, rather than on the value that goes into the product.

5. This Threatens All Business

If the Union can do this in the case of General Motors, it can do it to every business in this land of ours.

Is this just imagination? Union spokesmen have said, "The Union has stated time after time that this issue is bigger than just an ordinary wage argument, that it is bigger than the Corporation and bigger than the Union."

For Labor Unions to use the monopolistic power of their vast membership to extend the scope of wage negotiations to include more than wages, hours and working conditions is the first step toward handing the management of business over to the Union bosses.

We therefore reject the idea of a "look at the books" not because we have anything to hide but because the idea itself hides a threat to GM, to all business, and to you, the public.

ALADDIN'S LAMP never could have matched the magic of modern electric service... in comfort and convenience, this modern counterpart of the lamp's magic far surpasses anything Aladdin ever dreamed of.

Throughout your home, light-conditioning is a factor which contributes immeasurably toward the pleasure and comfort of your entire family. The question of how much light is needed for proper seeing is not a matter of guess-work. Scientists have proved that you cannot go below certain definite amounts of light without serious danger of eye-strain and fatigue.

Light-conditioning means lighting of the proper quality and intensity for the various seeing tasks. Check the lighting in your home today to see that you are getting the full benefit of the lighting facilities you have. Light bulbs visible to the eye in overhead fixtures should be shielded to prevent glare, discomfort and eye-strain. Reflector bowls of portable study lamps should be kept free of dust. Inner reflecting surfaces of shades should be white and the shade wide enough at the bottom to allow light to cover the entire "seeing-task" without casting direct light into the eye. Proper size bulb should be used, which, for the average reading lamp, is 100 to 150 watts.

See local dealers for such additional lighting equipment as you may need.

LORETTA ROHMER AND FRANK J. SPAETH WED HERE THURSDAY

Miss Loretta Rohmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rohmer, Muenster became the bride of Frank Joseph Spaeth, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Spaeth of Lindsay, in impressive ceremonies at Sacred Heart church here Thursday morning, Jan. 10, at 8:30 o'clock. Rev. John Walbe officiated at the double ring ceremony and at the nuptial high mass. Anthony Luke, organist presided at the pipe organ and assisted the choir in rendering music for the mass. Serving as bridesmaids were the bride's brother, Maurice Rohmer, and two of her cousins, Herbert and Gilbert Yosten.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a lovely gown of white satin made with sweetheart neckline, long sleeves pointed over the hands, long-waisted sheer bodice and full skirt that fell into a graceful train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place with an orange blossom wreath and he carried a white prayerbook topped with gardenias and from which fell streamers of white satin and white sweetpea buds. A gold cross and chain, gift from the bridegroom, was her only ornament and she also carried a white rosary sent to her from Belgium while the bridegroom was stationed there with the army.

Miss Theresa Mae Spaeth, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore a light blue frock with taffeta bodice and marquisette skirt, a matching headdress of feathers, and a corsage of gardenias.

Emil Rohmer, brother of the bride, was best man.

Mesdames Rohmer and Spaeth, mothers of the couple, wore carnation corsages. Al Kleiss and Henry Sandmann were ushers.

After the services the bridal party had breakfast at the home of the bride's aunt, Miss Theresa Hesse, and during the day a reception was held at the Rohmer home. Dinner was served to immediate members of both families. The bride's table was laid with a white linen cloth and silver which were wedding gifts to the bride's mother 34 years ago. It was centered with a three-tiered decorated cake, flanked with tapers in crystal holders. The maid of honor had a table, carrying out the blue and white theme and it was centered with a decorated cake flanked with tapers.

The day also commemorated the 41st wedding anniversary of the bridegroom's parents, who were married in Lindsay on January 10, 1905.

After the dinner the newlyweds left on a wedding trip after which they will make their home in Lindsay. For traveling Mrs. Spaeth wore a brown wool tailor made suit with brown accessories and a winter white hat.

Mr. Spaeth is a native of Lindsay and attended school there. He volunteered for service in the U.S. Army in June 1941, and served in the ETO for two years, holding the rank of sergeant with an engineer's battalion. Mrs. Spaeth was born and educated in Muenster and prior to her marriage was employed in Fort Worth.

Among out of town guests at the wedding were Misses Ida, Margaret and Dorothy Rohmer, Ft. Worth; Misses Evelyn and Frances Spaeth, Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kneupper, Houston.

WIEDEMANN-MOSTER RITES SET FOR JANUARY 15

Announcement was made Sunday by the reading of the marriage banns of the approaching marriage of Miss Mary Wiedemann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F.J. Yosten, and Steve Moster, son of Mrs. Leo Moster. The rites will take place at Sacred Heart church on the morning of Tuesday, January 15, at 6:30.

Mr. Moster, a veteran of World War II, returned to this city Thursday, following receipt of his discharge from the army at Randolph Field. He was a member of the 619 Engineer Base Equipment company for three years, two of which he spent overseas. He was on duty in New Guinea, Dutch East Indies, the Philippines and Okinawa. The army blouse he discarded for civilian clothes was decked with the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with 3 battle stars, the Philippine Liberation ribbon with one battle star, The American Defense ribbon, good conduct medal, Victory medal, and a unit citation.

Miss Wiedemann, a former teacher in the Muenster Public school, has been employed at Camp Howze for the past two years.

LINDSAY RITES UNITE MARY FUHRMANN AND HENRY STOFFELS, JR.

Miss Mary Fuhrmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fuhrmann, and Henry Stoffels, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. H.P. Stoffels, were married in rites performed Thursday morning, January 3, in Saint Peter's church, Lindsay. Rev. Conrad Herda, pastor, performed the ring ceremony and officiated at the nuptial high mass.

Serving as acolytes were the bride's brother, Bernard Fuhrmann, and four of her cousins, Linus and William Fuhrmann, and Cecil and Cyril Fuhrmann. Music was furnished by the church choir with Mrs. William Fleitman at the organ. She also played the traditional wedding processional and recessional.

The bride wore a white gown with satin bodice and gathered marquisette skirt. It featured a sweetheart neckline and bracelet length sleeves. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a pearl tiara and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations. For "something old" she wore a gold cross and chain belonging to her maternal grandmother and for "something borrowed and blue" wore her sister's bracelet, set with blue stones.

Miss Agnes Fuhrmann attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a frock of blue with fitted taffeta bodice and bouffant marquisette skirt. She wore a shoulder length blue veil and carried a colonial bouquet of pink blossoms.

Peter Stoffels, brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony breakfast was served to the bridal party at the home of the bride's parents. The table was laid with a white linen cloth and was centered with a three-tiered decorated cake. An informal reception followed and dinner was served to 25 guests among whom were Rev. Conrad Herda, Rev. F. D. McCreehy of Ardmore and Mrs. George Anzerer, grandmother of the groom, from Slaton.

In the evening a reception was held in the Lindsay school Auditorium. Present were some 200 relatives and friends of the couple from Lindsay, Muenster, Gainesville and Denison. Plate lunch and wedding cake were served.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Stoffels left on a wedding trip. For traveling Mrs. Stoffels wore a grey wool suit with black accessories. They will make their home on a farm near Hood.

sed millions while their workers struggled in want.

In recent years, thanks to organized labor, the lot of the worker improved. Little by little he secured as his right a greater portion of industry's return. Investors had to give up some of their profits until today we are approaching the point where the return for many is so small that it no longer justifies their risk. At the same time workers have advanced to a sufficient income for a very comfortable living.

Generally speaking the ratio of sharing industry's earnings is very near correct at this time. Labor is adequately paid and investment receives an adequate dividend. Hence the present condition is a very good basis on which to make a compromise. In every industry labor and capital ought to get together and agree on a fair wage rate and a fair interest rate. Let that determine the regular pay guaranteed to workers and the regular dividend guaranteed to investors. Then come to an agreement on how the remaining profits will be divided, how much to labor and how much to capital.

It's the only fair solution. No one can predict what will happen in a year's business. If wages are based in a certain estimate and that volume is not reached investors will lose. If the volume is exceeded labor will lose. So the thing to do is to limit both wage and dividend to an adequate figure and complete the distribution at the end of the year with bonus checks.

It's not only the democratic way but also the most efficient and satisfactory. Labor will be more willing to exert extra effort and capital will be more willing to improve working conditions if both realize a greater return. Mutual benefit is the best inducement for cooperation.

RAIN IS NO DRAWBACK TO CYO GROUP FRIDAY

A large group of CYO members attended the social in the parish hall Friday evening in spite of the very inclement weather. Present also were members from the Gainesville and Lindsay CYO groups.

Musical games, dancing and refreshments highlighted the evening's entertainment. Door prizes were won by Jewel Marie Hoffman and George Schmidkofer of Lindsay.

In charge of the evening's program was Miss Marie Felderhoff Earl Walterscheid and Werner Henseheid, and their assistants.

FAIRBANKS-MORSE Hammer Mills
You can get a Fairbanks-Morse Hammer Mill immediately. Fairbanks-Morse Hammer Mills grind grain or roughage fast, and with low power cost. Because of their large breaker plates and large screen area, most of the grain is ground first time around.
Large-diameter cylinders give the necessary hammer-tip speed at only 2400 r.p.m. This permits using a larger pulley for greater efficiency. One of three models will match your tractor perfectly, and combine lowest fuel consumption with greatest grinding capacity. For low-cost feed grinding, see us...today.
