Oct. 13 Good Neighbor Award honors Joey Anderson

by Elfreda Fette
Continuing a long-established tradition of holding their Good Neighbor Award Ceremony in observance of Columbus Day, Muenster Council #1459 Knights of Columbus announced the honoree and made the presentation immediately following the 8:00 a.m. Mass in Sacred Heart Church on October 13, when Grand Knight Gary Endres said to those present, "The Knights of Columbus salute the 2002 winner of the Good Neighbor Award, Joey Anderson..." explaining further, "Every year, we honor someone of another faith in the ecumenical spirit of encouraging greater harmony among creeds. The award is presented to someone whose pursuit of excellence is exemplified by love of God, and love of fellowmen; whose generous contributions and extensive services to the community are performed in a gentle, quiet manner, shunning all publicity. In this spirit the Knights of Columbus salute the 2002 winner of the Good Neighbor Award, Joey Anderson!"

All attending responded with appreciative applause. A large attendance of parishioners witnessed the event.

Statewide study shows NCTC impact on region's economy

Nearly 2,000 jobs. More than $54 million in additional wages and salaries. Up to $135 million in increased business productivity and sales. Savings of some $2.5 million in avoided costs due to smaller welfare rolls, less crowded jails, fewer welfare and unemployment claims and a generally healthier population.

For example, the study shows that 81 percent of NCTC students stay in Cooke, Denton and Montague counties and contribute to their local economies after they leave college.

"That is an astonishing statistic," Dr. Glasscock said, "and it illustrates one of the most significant and fundamental differences that those who earn a two-year degree will, on average, earn $339,876 or 112 percent more — over the course of their working lives than a student with just a high school diploma or GED. Average annual earnings of students with a one-year certificate will be higher by 16 percent.

All this translates to a staggering $134.9 million in higher business productivity and increased annual sales of goods and services in the region.

"We've always promoted NCTC as the 'best educational bargain' around," Dr. Glasscock said, "and this study substantiates that claim very strongly, going beyond just the obvious benefits of low tuition and fee rates and presenting it in terms of return on investment."

The study shows that NCTC students, on average, will receive an annual 21.3 percent rate of return on $192.2 million — is what North Central Texas means every year for the economy of its three-county service area.

All that — adding up to a cumulative total of $192.2 million — is what North Central Texas College means every year for the economy of its three-county service area, according to a recently released statewide study.

"We've always held the strong belief that our college exerts a tremendously positive economic impact on our service area," said Dr. Ronnie Glasscock, NCTC president. "And it's very gratifying that this study has confirmed it. In fact, the figures are even more impressive than we had previously thought."

He added, however, that some of the most startling numbers revealed in the study, titled "The Socioeconomic Benefits Generated by 50 Community Colleges in Texas," are not preceded by between public community colleges like NCTC and universities — that we are a local college serving local residents who remain in the local workforce after they leave us.

"Moreover, the data shows that these local students will remain in the local workforce an average of 40.3 years. The education they receive at NCTC will their investment. This is based on a ratio of increased future earnings to the cost of education, including actual out-of-pocket costs and wages foregone while attending college.

And there's more. The study also shows that NCTC

Morris challenges Harris for Court at Law Judge

By Janet Felderhoff
Bill Harris has served as County Court At Law Judge for Cooke County since Dec. 1, 2001. That is when the Legislature, at the request of Commissioners Court, ordered that this component be added to county government. They appointed Harris as the judge of that court until the next election, which is this November. Harris was the elected County Judge at the time. Before Dec. 1, the County Judge covered both judicial duties and official such as head of Commissioners Court, serving on various committees, etc. Bill Freeman was appointed to serve as County Judge until the November election.

Bill Harris

December he gave up his private practice to give his full attention to the job. Harris was a graduate of the University of Texas. He also earned his degree in law from the University of Texas Law School in 1962. After graduation he moved to Gainesville and began practicing law. During the past 40 years Harris has handled all types of cases. These include civil, criminal, probate, land title, mental, oil and gas, and juvenile cases.

Although Harris isn't Board Certified, he takes at least 50 hours each year in CLE (Continuing Law Education). "When they started the Board Certification I'd been practicing 25 years," Judge Harris remarked. "John (Morris) may be certified in criminal law, but I do it all. I could probably get certification on several of those areas, but I never have gone to the trouble. About all that amounts to is taking a test and then taking Continuing Legal Education (CLE). I get about 50 hours a year.

That's at least as much as certification people get. I don't do it just in one area, I do it in all."

County Court At Law handles all the judicial functions including trial court, mental cases, juvenile cases, and probate, said Harris. "Probate — that's probably the one that's most critical to everybody," he noted. "I probate all wills, estates, which probate includes guardianships." He estimated that the County Court At Law handles three times as many cases as the volume of cases in the county altogether as does the District Court. He ventured that the volume will eventually increase due to the civil cases.

Harris said it is fortunate that it hasn't increased yet. This has given him a chance to reduce the criminal docket. "It's just about to get manageable," he stated. Criminal cases tried in County court are all Class A and Class B cases and Class Cs that are appealed from municipal or JP courts. Soon after he started his full-time duties as Court At Law Judge, Harris said he began setting three jury trials a month. "In 1999 while I was County Judge I tried five jury cases and I think the youngest one was about seven years old. I hesitate to say how old the oldest one was."

In 1995 when Paul Hesse was County Judge, Harris said he helped him do a study on the feasibility of having a county judge and a court at law judge in Cooke County. It was deemed not feasible at that time. In 2000 he said it was studied again and this time a unanimous vote of Commissioners Court brought it about. "For two reasons," explained Judge Harris. "Primarily the criminal docket got just out of hand. There were about 2,200 or 2,300 cases on it. Of course half of those nearly or more were people who hadn't been arrested so they weren't active cases. What was left was enough to clog it up to where we couldn't handle it because they were so old. The County Judge's office as administrator got to where it could be a full time job. The present County Judge will vouch for that because it's full-time for him."

With more time to spend on trying cases the County has gone from trying cases that are seven or more years old, it is unusual for a cases to be more than two years old, said Judge Harris. The fines and court cost collections have doubled since 2000-2001, said Harris. Eighty percent of the amount collected is divided evenly among the road and bridge funds of the four precincts and the other 20% goes to the clerk. In 1999-2000 that 80% resulted in $23,672.20 to each precinct. In 2000-2001 it increased to $31,074.80 and in 2001-02 it increased to $43,737.82 each.

"Experience," is what Judge Harris says makes

Pat Payne runs unopposed for district clerk position

By Janet Felderhoff
Pat Payne of Gainesville has served as District Clerk of Cooke County since Jan. 1, 1994 and drew no opposition as she seeks a third term. "In holding an office like this, the advantage I have is that I was born in Cooke County, I grew up in Cooke County, I never left Cooke County and I feel that has been a total advantage for me. I love the interaction with the people of the County. Statewide it has been a fantastic learning experience, especially with the other 254 (district) clerks of the State."

numbers, and voter registration) and sending summons notices. "One of the biggest things that we have in this office is child support," she added. "That entails as much time and effort as the record keeping of civil and felonies. Child support comes under family law which is civil." Another duty of the District Clerk is to take care of the registry funds for minors. She explained, "It is money that has been ordered by the court to be entrusted to the registry fund of which the District Clerk takes care of." When the minor reaches age 18 or whatever age the court has ordered, he or she can then collect that money. During the time the District Clerk has charge of the money it is invested for the minor.

Since she took office the District Clerk's office has networked with computers to the court coordinator and the district judge. During her time in office the case management load there has doubled there with no additional staff, she said. "I probably have one of the most capable staffs in the State," praised Payne. "They work constantly. They're never idle. They work hard and we still have

Details of woman's death remain untold, investigation continues

By Janet Felderhoff
Cooke County Sheriff Mike Compton reported Wednesday that they are still investigating the death of Stacey Diane Musflow of Frisco. Her body was found Sept. 16 along FM 2739 northeast of Muenster. "We're working on the case," he noted. "The knowledge that the police department has can't always be made public because it might hamper the investigation."

The who, what, why, when, and where will have to remain a mystery until investigators reach a point in the case that releasing information won't jeopardize making a case against the person or persons who committed the murder.

name to the homicide victim found near Muenster.

According to Sheriff Compton, Stacey Musflow was last seen on Sunday, Sept. 15. He said they had made a number of trips to the Metroplex in regard to the case. There is a lot of forensic work that has been done and is being done, he said. "A case like this takes time and a lot of legwork," he noted.

Residents of the area where the body was found remain wary and say they will be worried and cautious until more is known about the murder.

NCTC ECONOMIC IMPACT

students will receive higher future earnings of $20 for each cost-of-education dollar spent — considerably higher than the statewide average of $9.05 — and will recover their entire investment in 7.2 years.

NCTC is also a big bargain for taxpayers at both the state and local level, according to study data which shows that for every dollar of state and local taxes paid in support of the college annually, student earnings will increase by an average of $1.57 per year every year through the end of their working lives.

Based on fiscal 2000 revenues, that translates to total increased earnings in the region of $12.9 million per year.

Likewise, for every dollar of state and local tax income spent by NCTC each year, $1.43 is generated in wages and salaries in the North Central Texas area. In total dollars, based on fiscal 2000 revenues, that amounts to an annual total of almost $14.3 million.

Dr. Rey Garcia, executive director of the Austin-based Texas Association of Community Colleges (TACC), which commissioned the statewide economic impact study, said it is the most comprehensive such study ever conducted.

The study was conducted by CCBenefits Inc., a respected Idaho-based firm that was given free rein to let the facts and figures speak for themselves.

"In other words, it was made very clear up front," stressed CCBenefits economists Kjell Christophersen and Henry Robison who led the study, "that this was not to be just another 'advocacy analysis' that inflated benefits, underestimated costs and, as a result, discredited the whole process.

"The bottom line is that our conclusions are based on proven, widely accepted economic analysis techniques using very real numbers — all solid data carefully gathered and verified from all the 50 public community college districts in Texas."

Aside from the direct impact of increased earnings, the study also documented the large impact on community colleges in terms of "social savings" — that is, the amount of money from taxes that do not have to be spent on welfare, incarceration and health services, all deriving from a higher level of education.

NCTC spent $13.4 million (78 percent of its $17.2 million operating budget) on salaries and supply purchases in its service area.

"These factors are very real," said Dr. Garcia, "but are seldom associated with the presence of a community college — reduced health-related absenteeism, fewer smokers and alcohol abusers, reduced crime, less crowded jails, shorter welfare rolls, even fewer unemployment insurance claims."

For every dollar of state appropriations drawn each year by NCTC, the study shows, communities in its service area will realize social savings of 27 cents — accounting for some $2.5 million in avoided costs due, among other things, to the fact that people with higher levels of education tend to be better informed about health issues and live healthier lifestyles.

Among other findings of the economic impact study were that:

- Skills learned by former NCTC students who are currently employed in the service area workforce increase the output of industries in the area by $67 million. Associated multiplier (or indirect) effects in other industries increase sales by $57.5 million.

- In fiscal 2000, NCTC skills from current and former students increased wages and salaries in the three-county service area by $21.8 million directly and by another $20 million indirectly.

- During the 2000-01 academic year, NCTC spent $13.4 million (78 percent) of its $17.2 million operating budget on salaries and supply purchases in its service area.

"Again, we're very glad that this study proves what we have believed all along," said Dr. Glasscock, "but all the numbers and statistics in the world can't express the real value of what this institution means to our community in terms of how it impacts in a positive way the lives of so many people."

"Every day, North Central Texas College is changing our community, our region, our nation for the better — one student at a time."

time for laughter and fun. We get along really, really well."

Besides her eight years as District Clerk, Pat Payne has experience in city government. "It gave me some insight to local government workings even though they are two completely different entities," noted Payne.

Cooke County is able through TAC (Texas Association of Counties) to request information from all of the district clerks in Texas over the Internet and get responses. All of the County's court records are kept on computer through OCA Court Records Management, said Payne.

A goal of Payne's is to work with a team to network the District Clerk's office with the Sheriff's office, Probation, District Attorney, and other offices as time and finances allow. "We need to be able to all get on the same page. That way we're not duplicating all of this paperwork like with Probation and the Sheriff. There's so much duplication now," she explained.

Payne is the mother of three sons and has one grandson.

Sister Mary Irma Endres 1916 - 2002

Muenster native, Sister Mary Irma Endres SSMN died at age 86 Monday, Oct. 14, 2002 in Fort Worth. Mass of Christian Burial was held Wednesday, Oct. 16 at Our Lady of Victory Center, with Father Larry Breedlove officiating. A Vigil was held the preceding evening, Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. at Our Lady of Victory Center. Burial was in Mount Olivet Cemetery of Fort Worth, directed by Thompson's Harveson & Cole Funeral Home.

Sister Mary Irma Endres

Sister Mary Irma Endres SSMN was born Oct. 7, 1916 in Muenster to Meinrad (M.J.) Endres and Katherine Fisch Endres. She attended Sacred Heart School, and on Aug. 27, 1934 entered the Sisters of St. Mary of Namur. She made final profession on Aug. 15, 1943, and served in the community as an educator. From 1937 to 1975, she served as teacher, principal, and superior in St. Mary schools in these Texas cities: Fort Worth, Beaumont, Dallas, Sherman, Wichita Falls, and Houston.

Interrupting her work in Catholic schools, she took time to become involved in Religious Education, adult education, and teacher formation. She was the first coordinator of religious education in St. John the Apostle Parish, working with Father Robert Wilson, whom she had taught at St. Mary of the Assumption in Fort Worth.

After Sister Irma left St. John's, she moved to Resurrection Parish in Houston where she was Director of Religious Education for seven years. Always a missionary at heart, she became part of the East Texas Project for the Diocese of Galveston-Houston, living in Huntsville, and traveling throughout the diocese to update religious educators in the rural areas.

After that, it was back to Resurrection in Houston as Director of Adult Education and teacher formation. She was then called to Lake Jackson in Brazoria County to serve that area as she had in East Texas for two years, after which she was invited to remain on the parish staff for another four years. Her particular love was initiating Bible study groups, some of which are still meeting.

As she approached retirement, Sister Irma was invited to St. Rose of Lima School in Schulenberg, where she served in the school library. Unwilling even then to retire, she continued her ministry from Our Lady of Victory Center, serving as the director of RCIA at St. Mary of the Assumption until recently.

Sister Mary Irma Endres was an inspiration to those who worked with her, especially to those who were blessed to know her on a more personal basis. She was teacher, mother, friend. Her room was filled with decorative butterflies, symbolizing her spirit of hope. One of her favorite thoughts was this: "I know nothing of tomorrow, but I have seen yesterday and I love today!"

Preceding her in death were her parents, a brother Lt. M.J. Endres, Jr. who died during W.W.II, a brother Leonard Endres, a sister Sr. M. Agnes Endres also of SSMN.

Memorials may be sent to Our Lady of Victory Center, 909 W. Shaw St., Fort Worth, Texas 76110.

Cooke County ready to establish emergency management program

By Janet Felderhoff
Newly appointed Emergency Management Coordinator Dee Blanton can now officially begin working on an Emergency Management Plan for Cooke County. At the Monday, Oct. 14 regular meeting of Cooke County Commissioners Court, it was voted to establish an Emergency Management Plan for the County.

Blanton said that he is now in the process of enlisting members for the Local Emergency Planning Committee. This is one of the first actions that must be taken to establish an Emergency Management Plan. Regulations require that the Committee consists of the following type of individuals: elected officials, law enforcement, fire fighters (volunteer in Cooke County), Emergency Medical Service, Health Industry, Hospital Industry, local environmental people, broadcast and print media people, community groups ranging from Red Cross to ham radio clubs, and facility owners or operators (from plants that potentially store or use chemicals).

It will be the job of this committee of Cooke County residents to formulate Cooke County's plan for use in a time of an emergency. Blanton anticipates it taking anywhere from six months to a year to complete. This is according to information from others with experience emergency management plans.

Without such a plan in place, the county would not be eligible for certain federal grants or assistance in a disaster, said Blanton. Cooke County 4-H

Council President Adam Zimmerer invited members of Commissioners Court to enjoy cake and punch after the meeting in observance of 4-H Week.

In other business Commissioners Court:

- Appointed Amy Sue Patrick to the MHMR Service of Texoma Board of Trustees.

- Appointed Mary J. Hunter to the Cooke County Child Welfare Board

- Approved transfer of line item funds from conference to travel for Constable Precinct #1

- Approved County Judge's bond

- Approved County Fire Marshall's bond

- Approved bonds for Mary Chandler, Charles Owens, David Wisian, and Shirley Miller of the Sheriff's department.

From My Side of the Fence

Folks, just about everyone has a big smile on their face since the good rains of last week, and the cool weather that is still with us.

The summer has been nice. We have not had any 100° or hotter temps, and we were blessed with some fine rains. No big downpours, but rains that measured up to 1 1/4". Most were less, but very beneficial for the grass and many other growing things.

Many farmers were waiting for a heavier rain to soak up the ground and bring up trash and volunteer grain, so they could kill it out, and begin sowing their crops for next year.

Well, last week's rains should do the trick. Our rain gauge had 3.35", but as Aileen and I were driving east, I told her it just didn't look like it had rained 3" or more there. We were on our way to Gainesville, and while there, we ran into a couple from north of Lindsay, and they said they had a little more than 2" and were very happy with it.

Tony has a shop in Denton, and he said the Era area had very heavy rainfall, so I suppose the rainfall varied considerably. At any rate, it made a lot of people happy.

The cool weather is also very welcome. As we met people at church Sunday, we took note of all the sweaters and coats that came out of the closets and were being worn. I was wearing a light jacket, as was Aileen, and it felt comfortable.

Some of our pecans are opening and we were forced to gather some of them to keep a step ahead of the bluejays and grackles.

The pecan trees are pretty well loaded, and a good frost would solve what is quite a problem - keeping ahead of the birds and squirrels.

One more thing about the good rain - we are so blessed to receive such nice rains with no storms that so often accompany rains in the fall.

Chairman Williams speaks on bonding rules

by Michael L. Williams
Railroad Commission
Chairman

"I am disappointed with this initial decision; however, we will continue doing our job of protecting the state's water and reducing Texas pollution."

"Implementing our bonding rules is vital to ensuring that responsible oil and gas operators aren't stuck with an even larger environmental bill. The current tab to plug the 17,000 wells already left to the state by unbonded operators surpasses $75 million.

"The state's bonding program is working. In just the first six months of implementation of our new rules, 4,340 operators have become bonded, representing 64% of all operators, over 85% of the state's wells, and over 95% of Texas' oil and gas production. "Our efforts to encourage Texas oil and gas production and to protect Texas surface and groundwater will continue. To do anything less would be contrary to what Texans deserve and what real environmental protection demands."

COURT AT LAW

him the most qualified candidate for the job. He said that his opponent remarked at Callisburg that 90% of the cases are criminal. Harris countered, "Right now that's true, but that will probably change when they start figuring out that they can file these big civil cases in there just like in District Court. Time-wise I don't know that that takes up any more time than half the court's time. Having the experience and knowledge of these other areas of law is absolutely necessary. You just can't go in there with knowledge of one area of the law and expect to do much. It's not a training ground." Even with knowledge and experience it takes effort to keep up since the law is always changing, he said.

If elected Harris said he will continue with his goal, "To see that everybody gets a taste of justice that's not bitter ... I know that when a defendant's found guilty it's very distasteful. I don't want it to be the way the case was handled by the judge. In a civil somebody's got to win and somebody's got to lose and I want that to have the same flavor that they get a fair trial. If they get a fair trial they can't complain."

Judge Harris definitely feels that the new Court At Law has had a positive impact on the county. "Justice delayed is sometimes justice lost," he remarked. "Probably the most positive impact is it's making them some money. But that's not the goal to make lots of money. To some extent, and it will more so eventually, in the civil area, take some of the burden off the District Court. I don't think that court needs any burden lifted off of it, but it will probably, at least in the civil cases." There was a caseload of about 2,300 when he began in December 2001. Now Harris said that has been reduced to 1,600 to 1,700, most are from 2000 and 2001. He said two weeks he tries old cases and the third week he tries new cases.

Asked why he hopes to be elected to serve as Court At Law Judge, Harris said, "For personal reasons. I enjoy it. It's challenging and I believe that if I'm elected I can continue to accomplish the purpose that the Commissioners had in mind when they created it. I hope that I can continue the progress that we've made in that court. By the same token I think that we'll eventually clear the expense of that court. If someone's not willing to spend a lot of time taking care of that court's business then they shouldn't have that job and I'm not saying John wouldn't. If you won't take the time to run the court then you're going to drop back to where it was before. I thoroughly, thoroughly enjoy being the judge. Not because I like to win a political race. I just enjoy being a judge. It's not just challenging, it's enjoyable to try to take care of the docket as well as hear interesting cases whether it's criminal or civil. That's one thing that I was fortunate to have a feeling all the time I practiced law and never had a case I didn't enjoy because the law always intrigued me and challenged me."

Harris urges all Cooke County citizens to get out and vote in the November election. "The most critical thing in an election is people getting out to vote," he stated. "There's probably no legitimate excuse for not voting. If people get out and vote, then the person who wins an office as a result of that vote deserves it."

Bill and Rosy have four grown children, Debbie, Rhonda, Libbie, and Linc, and five grandchildren.

John H. Morris is the Republican candidate for County Court At Law Judge. He is a private attorney and practices in Gainesville and surrounding counties.

Morris graduated from Pittsburg High School. He graduated from East Texas State University and from the Texas Tech School of law in 1972. In 1973 he was licensed to practice law in Texas. From 1973-1979 he was a prosecuting attorney in Fannin County. Of those seven years he served one four-year elected term. Morris began private law practice in 1979 at a Sherman firm. In 1981 he moved to Gainesville and began his private practice with a general practice specializing in criminal law. He has been Board Certified by the State Bar of Texas as a criminal law specialist since 1983.

Asked about the County Court At Law Morris said, "It is a court of criminal and civil jurisdiction, but hears many more criminal cases than it does civil cases. It is a new court having begun operation Dec. 1, 2001. It replaced our old county court. The new court is a full-time court requiring a full-time judge without a private law practice. The judge of this court must be a resident of Cooke County, over the age of 25 years, and licensed to practice law in the State of Texas."

One reason Morris feels he is the more qualified candidate for the position of judge for the County Court At Law is that it is primarily a criminal court. "I am more qualified for several reasons," remarked Morris. "One is I am the only candidate in the race who is Board Certified in criminal law. I am the only candidate who has practiced criminal and juvenile law on the docket of the old county court for the last 21 years and I am the only candidate who has experience as a prosecuting attorney. I am the only candidate who has accepted court appointments in criminal cases in both the district and county courts for the last 21 years. Plus I've also practiced civil law in the old county court for the 21 years."

If elected Morris outlined the following as his goals, "First to provide fair and impartial justice for Cooke County citizens without being indebted to any individual or group. My goal is to work to reduce the backlog of cases, which caused this court to be created and for the benefit of Cooke County citizens and its youth. I think that youthful offenders should be held responsible and accountable for their actions."

It is without a doubt that the new County Court At Law is having a positive impact on Cooke County, said Morris. "We've needed it for number of years. The old County Court suited the County for a number of years because there were not so many cases being filed and the County Court was able to keep up with the number of cases being filed. When this Court was created it had reached a backlog of about 2,300 cases and the citizens weren't being served by a part-time court. Cases stayed on the docket for years without being tried."

Morris hopes to be elected to serve as the County Court At Law Judge because he feels he is the most qualified for the job. "I have served the County and Gainesville on numerous committees and boards before. This is not my first time to want to serve the public or the citizens of Cooke County. I'm not restrained by any obligations or ties that would keep me from being fair and impartial to everyone who comes before the Court."

Morris urges all citizens to get out and vote in the November election. "This is the first election for judge of this court. It's an important new position for the citizens of this county and their need to express their opinion by voting," noted Morris.

John Morris and his wife, Galene, have been married 31 years and have two daughters, Julie and Lauren. They have lived in Gainesville since 1981 and are members of the Faith Lutheran Church of Gainesville. He is the president of the congregation.

SMALL BUSINESS FOCUS

BY JACK FARIS

Small Business Prepares to Say "Thank You" on Nov. 5

A few weeks from now, Americans will have an opportunity to exercise that most sacred of all rights and responsibilities: voting. Casting our ballots on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November is about as American as it gets.

Although history tells us that voter participation often wanes when there is no presidential contest to spark interest, you can bet that those entrepreneurs whose small businesses line Main Street America are just itching to get behind the curtains and mark their ballots.

They're preparing to say "thank you" to those courageous lawmakers who had the guts to stand with them through some very difficult and politically dangerous debates during their congressional careers.

They're already doing their research. For many, their source is the bi-annual report, "How Congress Voted," compiled by the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB). That publication serves as a report card for who's been naughty or nice during key policy votes on Capitol Hill.

In late September, NFIB presented its coveted Guardian of Small Business Awards to senators and representatives who supported the small-business community at least 70 percent of the time on key votes in this Congress. Those who walked away with their trophies were eager to get back home and tell their constituents they stood solidly with the small-business sector, which today is comprised of 99 percent of the nation's employers, providing jobs and livelihoods for more than half of the private workforce.

Earning a Guardian Award is no cakewalk. Those who withstood the pressure from tax-and-spend, anti-business forces should be commended for their courage and honored at the ballot box.

They fought for tax relief, particularly reducing marginal income tax rates and eliminating the death tax. They beat back the Clinton administration's burdensome and potentially costly ergonomics regulations, knowing that if implemented, the rules would have buried small firms in government paperwork and exposed them to frivolous lawsuits.

These gutsy lawmakers never wavered in the face of efforts to limit legal liability for the little guy. Key votes on such onerous issues as Superfund liability and medical malpractice, plus vital decisions to shield small firms from liability for actions of health insurance companies that cover their employees, were made with courage during the most difficult of legislative battles.

Friends of small business in the House and Senate cast key votes, attempting to give firms on Main Street access to the same health insurance cost breaks that labor unions and big businesses already have. Those Guardians of Small Business also supported legislation allowing small businesses to increase the amount of equipment purchases that they can expense under IRS regulations.

They stood squarely by the side of small business against unfair competition by a partially government-owned corporation, Federal Prison Industries, which enjoys preferential access to government contracts.

Small-business owners have marked November 5 on their company calendars. It's a great day to say "thank you" at the ballot box to those who took their legislative responsibilities seriously and voted to protect America's greatest economic resource—and it's a day to say "no" to lawmakers who did not.

Jack Faris is president of NFIB (the National Federation of Independent Business), the nation's largest small-business advocacy group. A non-profit, non-partisan organization founded in 1943, NFIB represents the consensus views of its 600,000 members in Washington, D.C., and all 50 state capitals. ## Hawaii in WWII featured at Morton Museum

The third session in the Morton Museum of Cooke County's Fall Series will take place at the museum in Gainesville at noon on Monday, Oct. 21. It is entitled "Paradise In The Eye of the Storm: Hawaii in WWII."

GOOD NEIGHBOR

Richly deserved, and earned by much good done to benefit this community, Anderson and his family - wife, Crystal, and their two daughters, Shelby and Jessy, were the honored guests at the breakfast held in the KC Hall immediately following the 8:00 a.m. Mass.

Also attending were some of their close friends, including Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hoening, local friends and co-workers, and members and officers of Muenster Council #1459 Knights of Columbus.

Master of Ceremonies for the event was Gary Endres, Grand Knight. Invocation was given by Father John Ohner, OSA, chaplain of the council and pastor of Sacred Heart Church. Pledge of Allegiance was led by Bob Bauer. He also welcomed guests.

Father John Ohner OSA presented the Good Neighbor Award.

The tribute to the honoree stated that "Joey grew up in the small town of Santa Anna, Texas, where his family has lived for several generations. Active in everything in school from football, basketball, and track to Student Council and Drama, he was much like the kids in Muenster. Graduating from Santa Anna High School in a class of 12, he headed for Texas A&M University where he literally knew no one, and with very little cash. He stuck it out anyway, working cleaning carpets at night, and going to school. He married his high school sweetheart in 1988; went on to get his Bachelor's degree in Political Science in 1992; continued on to get his Master's degree in Urban and Regional Planning in 1994.

"He went to work for Scott and White Hospital in Temple and later was offered a job at St. Thomas Hospital in Nashville, Tennessee. He and his family re-located and lived there three and a half years. In Nashville, Joey Anderson began a basketball ministry for youth through his church in the inner-city. He became a friend, confidant, and big brother to many of the young men there. He was nominated President of the Advocates of St. Thomas Hospital, a 500 member volunteer organization. Through this he was able to combine his work and his faith."

"Wanting to raise his family in a smaller town, Joey contacted Alvin and Gracie Fuhrman, whom his mother has known for many years in the telephone business. They had an opening and offered Joey a position. Because he felt it was better for his family, he made the hard decision to leave Nashville, friends, work, church, and neighborhood. He also wanted to get back to Texas and see the Big Sky again.

"He knew he wanted to be a part of this community here in Muenster, and has done that through Kiwanis and the Chamber of Commerce. He was honored when asked to be a part of the City Council. What makes him really feel a part of the community are the relationships he has made with the people here.

"He began working for Nortex Communications in June, 1998, starting at 'Marketing Manager,' and later added 'Director of Competitive Services' to his duties. He serves on the Muenster City Council, is an active Jaycee member, serves on the Texas Telephone Association Educational Committee, and is active in his church. He also likes to read and exercise.

"He is a member of New Life Bible Church in Gainesville; serves as an Elder; and leads a men's Bible study about being a good Christian husband and father each Saturday morning at the Golden Corral. He also teaches an adult class about being a Disciple of Christ on Sunday morning, and a scripture memory class on Wednesday for kids. People of his church see him as a good and faithful man with a kind heart, a person willing to help them, or just to talk and pray with them; someone who lives his faith every day, not just a Sunday morning faith; lives it every day at home, in his job, and in the community."

The honored Good Neighbor Award winner responded to the tribute most graciously, expressing the joys they have known living in this community and emphasizing his gratitude to the Knights of Columbus, to neighbors, friends, and co-workers. He said he was deeply touched by the ecumenical spirit developed between churches here.

Following this, Grand Knight Gary Endres recognized and introduced 2001-2002 officers in addition to Father John and Danny Cochran, Deputy Grand Knight; and Darrell Herr, recorder; Harold Knabe, chancellor; Butch Fisher, treasurer; Ben Fleitman, warden; Arthur Felderhoff, financial secretary; Gerald Walterscheid, advocate; Ken Hesse and George Bayer, guards; Wade Walterscheid, David Rohmer, and Tom Felderhoff, Jr., trustees; and Bob Bauer, lecturer.

Membership pins were presented by Bob Bauer. Receiving 65 year pins were Paul Endres, Earl Fisher, and Paul Fisher; 60 year pin to Dick Trachta; 55 year pins to Arthur Felderhoff, Gussie Felderhoff, Alois Rohmer, and Dave Trachta, a 50 year pin to Henry Weinzapfel; a 20 year pin to George Bayer; 15 year pins to Randy Noble, Lynn Noblie, Bob Storey, Bob Sutherland, Jr., and Bob Sutherland; and 5 year pins to Bill Bayer, Paul Becker, David Rohmer, and Gary Endres.

A national organization, the Knights of Columbus is a Catholic, family, fraternal and service organization. The Muenster Council #1459 of 45 charter members was formed on Jan. 16, 1910.

The keepsake program provided at the breakfast listed 23 projects sponsored and supported by the Knights of Columbus.

Catering the bountiful breakfast served buffet style Sunday morning were Barbara Felderhoff and Tommy Felderhoff, Jr.

The menu included blueberry pancakes, regular pancakes, German sausage, fruit salad, and coffee and fruit juice.

Assisting with serving were members of the Honor Society of Sacred Heart High School. The door prize, a beautiful floral arrangement was won by Sister Jeanette Bayer, daughter of George and Anna Bayer.

Happenings from the MMH kitchen

The Muenster Memorial Hospital was a very festive place to be last week. In observance of National Healthcare Foodservice Week, October 6-12, the kitchen staff prepared lots of treats and goodies for staff and guests of the hospital district. A drawing was held on Friday for the employees of the hospital, clinic, and nursing home.

To show her employees her appreciation of their hard work and dedication, Peggy Neal, Dietary Supervisor at Muenster Memorial Hospital, first approached the community and asked for their help. Local businesses responded to her request in a really "blessed way," making it possible to not only give to the kitchen employees, but to also hold a drawing that included all the employees, thus making it possible to celebrate the past week in many different ways.

Some of the businesses donated gifts and gift certificates, while others donated items to be prepared by the staff and served as treats in the kitchen throughout the week. Every day there was an abundance of cookies, cinnamon rolls, danishes.

Aging's inevitable, so have fun, be healthy at Sam's

To help area residents prepare for the challenges of an older society, and to make them more aware of resources available to them, Sam's Club is teaming up with the Texoma Area Agency on Aging for "Aging Texas Well in Texoma," a fun and informative health fair Wednesday Oct. 23 from 8-11:30 a.m. at the Sam's Club in Sherman.

"Texas is a young state, but that's about to change fast," said Area Agency on Aging Director Janis Thompson. "In the next 30 years we'll see our 60-plus population grow to more than 25 percent of our population due to longer lifespans, the aging of the Baby Boomers, and a steady stream of retirees moving in. Government alone won't be able to deal with the resulting demand for service. That's why we're reaching out to socially aware companies like Sam's Club to help people prepare for the changes ahead."

The Oct. 23 health fair is part of the Texas Department on Aging's Aging Texas Well campaign, which is designed to raise awareness of resources to help Texans achieve the best possible quality of life in their later years.

Some of the major events at Aging Texas Well in Texoma will include:

- Prescription Medication Resources - Tools and information to help people cope with the high cost of prescriptions, identify possible problems of medication interaction, and access local sources of assistance.

- Caregiving Resources - Information, resources and assistive products for the one in four people who'll be involved in unpaid caregiving roles this coming year.

- Wellness Resources - Health screenings and demonstrations to help people develop successful personal conditioning programs. Also included will be "Exercise Tips" drawn from the Texas Department on Aging's statewide health and fitness-promotion campaign, Texercise.

Aging Texas Well in Texoma will begin at 8 a.m. with a Texercise Walk inside Sam's Club. The Walk will be followed by a breakfast and bingo, a Texercise demonstration by members of Senior Passport, health screenings/discussions, and a free Caregiver Kit with samples, valuable information and a Texercise t-shirt.

For more information contact the Texoma Area Agency on Aging at (903) 813-3502.

The boys returned home with a greater appreciation of fossils and their own collection from the day.

Attending the event were Cub Scouts Ashton Barrett, Jacob Bayer, Chad Henscheid, Ryan Henscheid, Tyler Pangel Christopher Valliere, and Steven Valliere; Valerie Henscheid, Brad Barrett, Rich Sweeney, and Den Leader Rita Bayer.

Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Help for Today ... Hope for Tomorrow

Get the facts about breast cancer today.

Because the causes of breast cancer are not yet fully known, many people have misconceptions about the disease. Here is what we know for sure:

- FACT: While the risk of breast cancer increases with age, all women are at some risk for getting breast cancer.
- FACT: A majority of women who get breast cancer have no family history of the disease. However, a woman whose mother, sister, daughter, or grandmother had breast cancer is at increased risk.
- FACT: A majority of women diagnosed with breast cancer have no known risk factors. All women are at risk.
- FACT: Because the cause of breast cancer is not yet fully known, there is no way to absolutely prevent it, although the antiestrogen drug tamoxifen can help reduce the risk in higher risk women. Early detection and treatment are the keys to surviving.
- FACT: Breastfeeding may decrease a woman's risk of getting premenopausal breast cancer, but does not lower a woman's risk of postmenopausal breast cancer.

In observance of Breast Cancer Awareness Month, we have extended our hours for mammography screenings. Call 612-8170 to schedule an appointment.

Remember, early detection is the best protection.

GMH program keeps patients with diabetes right on track

Data from the Third National Health and Nutrition Examination Survey (NHANES III) show that more than half of people with Type 2 diabetes in the United States have unacceptably high blood sugar levels, putting them at increased risk for serious diabetes-related complications.

To address this critical health problem, Gainesville Memorial Hospital has developed a program to assist individuals with diabetes in controlling their disease. "How Sweet Are You?" is a check-up for persons diagnosed with diabetes. For $10, beginning Monday, Oct. 21, and continuing through Friday, Oct. 25, individuals with diabetes can participate in the check-up and receive a Hemoglobin A1c test, widely considered the best test for measuring blood sugar control.

The Hemoglobin A1c is a simple lab test that measures a person's average blood sugar level over the past one to three months. As blood glucose levels vary widely from day to day, standard blood glucose testing only tells you how you are doing today. The glycated hemoglobin (hemoglobin A1c) is a long-term indicator of glucose level. This makes it a much better test to evaluate how a patient's blood sugar has been over time.

The Hemoglobin A1c test should not be considered a substitute for daily monitoring of glucose levels, but is an excellent tool for the patient with diabetes and their physician to use in designing an effective treatment program.

Individuals with diabetes interested in receiving this service should check in at the GMH Business Office between the hours of 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, Oct. 21-25. Participants will be asked to complete a simple information sheet and pay their $10 fee.

Blood will be drawn in the laboratory following check-in. No appointment is necessary and there is no need to avoid food or drink prior to the test.

Results will be given on Wednesday, October 30, from 3 to 6 p.m., in the Gerald Culwell Conference Center at GMH.

Other services available on October 30 include free spot glucose testing, blood pressure checks and foot screening.

Registered Dietitians Lucy Krahl and Kathie Robinson and Certified Diabetes Educator Joan Walterscheid will be on hand to discuss the results of the A1c testing and answer questions. Information will also be provided on all of GMH's Diabetes Education Services.

Refreshments will be available.

The October 30 date will also serve as a diabetes screening for the general public. Those interested in this free service are asked to avoid eating for two hours prior to the screening.

Symptoms of diabetes include increased thirst and urination, constant hunger, weight loss, blurred vision, frequent infections, slow-healing wounds and sores and extreme fatigue.

For more information on the Diabetes Check-Up (for persons with diabetes) or the Diabetes Screening (for the general public), call 940-612-8340 or 940-759-2395.

Sacred Heart kindergarten class has busy October

Besides the routine reading, writing, arithmetic, and religion, students in Annette Bayer's Kindergarten class are finding October very busy. The class is learning everything from pumpkins to fire safety to pumpkins. The students studied how apples are grown and harvested, the most common colors of apples and the state where most apples are grown. As an extension, the class designed mosaic apples to hang in their classroom.

During Fire Prevention Week the students discussed rules of fire safety, "stop, drop and roll," made a fire safety book, and created a fire safety mobile. To end the week the class, along with Sacred Heart Preschool, visited the Muenster Fire Station where they listened to fire safety tips and had an opportunity to try on fire hats and coats and spray the water hoses. Making the presentation were Fire Chief Herbie Knabe, and volunteer firemen Ben Bindel, Douglas Fleitman, Joe Pagel, and Mark Pollard.

October will continue with a trip to the "pumpkin patch." Each student will pick a paper pumpkin and fashion the pumpkin using their fingers, orange, yellow and green construction paper, and glue. The pumpkins will be added to the fall scene outside their classroom. Mrs. Laneta Martin assists Mrs. Bayer in the classroom, along with Mrs. Ruth Felderhoff teaching music and Sister Lillian Marie Reiter, OSB, teaching Religion.

Tigers start district with crucial victory over TSC

The Tigers started district play last Friday night, hosting a tough Tyler Street Christian team from Dallas. After a scoreless first half, a Sacred Heart fumble gave Tyler Street the first touchdown in the 3rd quarter. The Tigers then tied the game, took the lead, then watched as a PAT kick went wide, to give Sacred Heart a hard-fought 14-13 victory.

"They (Tyler Street) obviously have a lot more big play ability than any team on our schedule, but I'm not sure we knew how athletic and fast they were going to be, at so many different positions," noted Coach Kris Hogan.

The Crusaders took the opening kick on the 16, but a quick flag gave them 10 more yards. After gaining only a yard, Tyler Street punted.

Chris Hoedebeck made a 29 yard gain on the Tigers' first offensive play. A run each by Johnny Krahl and Hoedebeck picked up another 16 yards to the 9 yard line. Two runs gained no ground, then an intercepted ball gave the Crusaders the ball on their 7 yard line.

TSC got out to the 45, but a holding flag and incomplete pass forced a punt. The Tigers began their next drive on their 37 yard line. Runs by Krahl, Hoedebeck, and Thomas Whitecotton took the Tigers into Crusader territory and the second quarter before punting.

Two tackles by Whitecotton and an incomplete pass forced a punt on 4th and 10. A holding flag kept the Tigers from a first down, punting the ball back to Tyler Street. The Crusaders got back to midfield, then returned the punt.

Sacred Heart controlled the majority of the remaining time before the half-time break, getting in 13 plays. Runs by Hoedebeck, Krahl, and Michael Voth took the Tigers to the 25 yard line before running out of downs. The Crusaders got in two runs as time ticked off the clock.

The Tigers took the opening kick, but punted after three plays. Tackles by Paul Bartush and Andy Davis held TSC to 4 yards. A fake punt attempt failed when Matt Donohue caught the runner for no gain. Two plays later, the Tigers threw an interception putting SC 30 yards from pay dirt. Two plays later a pass play put Tyler Street on the board. The PAT kick was good for a 7-0 score with 6:37 on the clock.

The teams exchanged punts, then the Tigers took the ball into the final period of play, with Krahl scoring on a 6 yard run with 9:50 on the clock. Jeff Reiter's kick cleared the uprights to tie the score 7-7.

The Tigers held TSC to 4 yards and took the ball on their 23 yard line after the punt. Johnny Krahl broke away for a 74 yard run to the 3 yard line. Hoedebeck then scored. Reiter's extra kick gave the Tigers a 14-7 lead with 7:27 still on the clock.

A Tyler Street pass quickly moved the Crusaders to the 6 yard line, where Michael Voth saved a TD. Defensive plays by Whitecotton, Clint Fuhrmann, and Adam Krahl held TSC on the 4 yard line.

The Tigers couldn't get the needed 10 yards. A short punt took a Tiger roll to the 43 yard line. Two offside flags assisted the Crusaders drive. With 1:11 remaining in the game, Tyler Street scored on a 23 yard pass play. The tying extra point kick failed and the Tigers had a 14-13 lead. Whitecotton covered an onside kick and the Tigers killed the remaining time for the victory.

"Two things really hurt us defensively," stated Coach Hogan. "Our defensive line was completely ineffective, and we had four or five breakdowns in coverage. That's about as bad of a combination as you can put together. I feel very fortunate holding Tyler Street to 13 points." Hogan continued, "Offensively, I was shocked at how poor we blocked. We took bad angles, used pitiful technique, and lacked aggression. Our football team has a lot of room for improvement."

"The Highlands is a team that's going to throw the ball at least 50% of the time," noted Coach Hogan. "They spread the defense out and really expect their quarterback to make plays throwing and running. Hopefully we can execute better this week."

The Blazers are 4-2 (1-8 last year) for the season after losing their district opener to Denton Calvary last Saturday 48-7. This is their first full varsity

Lindsay edges out Hornets

The traditional rivalry between the Muenster Hornets and the Lindsay Knights was peaked physically and emotionally last Friday night. Action was intense and supporters of both sides had reason to be proud of their teams. Both teams deserved to win. The outcome could have gone either way and it was not decided until the last seconds of the contest.

Lindsay scored first, but Muenster tied the game 7-7. After a scoreless 3rd quarter, the Knights took the lead early in the fourth. The Hornets' final drive found pay dirt with 23 seconds on the clock, but the tying extra run fell inches short, to give Lindsay a 15-13 victory.

"It was a great game for the fans to watch," Muenster Coach Monte Endres said of the game. "Lindsay played their best game against us. We played hard - played well. I'm proud of our effort, we didn't quit. A few too many turnovers lost us the game."

"Our boys played really hard," Lindsay Coach John Erwin commented. "Muenster has a great defense. We couldn't move the ball on them. We feel fortunate to come away with a win." Erwin also noted that the Knights' special teams were the difference in the game, both in extra points and punting.

Action began when Mitch Felderhoff booted the opening kick to Bradley Anderle, who returned the ball 25 yards to the 39 yard line. The Hornet defense forced the Knights to punt away their first possession, then Lindsay held Muenster for three plays and the Hornets booted the ball.

Sam Hellingner got the Knights' first down on two runs, but two plays later, Cody Cory picked off a Lindsay pass giving Muenster the ball on their 41 yard line.

Runs by Cory, Dustin Walterscheid and Justin Wolf moved the ball to the Knight 33 yard line. Tackles by Mark Schreiber, Ryan Kasperek, and Mitch Creed set Muenster back 9 yards. An incomplete pass on 4th and 13 returned the ball back to the Knights.

Tackles by Tyler Walterscheid and Justin Hess assisted in forcing Lindsay to punt as the second quarter began.

The Hornets gained 9 yards, but a fumbled snap on 4th down gave the ball to the Knights at midfield. On 2nd down, a Hellingner to Trinity Otto pass was good for a 51 yard touchdown play. With 9:34 on the clock, Kasperek's PAT kick gave the Knights a 7-0 lead.

Muenster fought back, beginning on their 44 yard line after Cory returned the kick 24 yards. A Walterscheid to Walterscheid pass gained 23 yards, then Cory got the ball to the Knight 20 yard line. Wolf ran twice for 9 yards, then Cody Cory put the icing on the cake with an 11 yard touchdown run. Dustin Walterscheid booted the extra point to tie the game 7-7 with 6:47 remaining in the first half.

The Knights struggled, with Sean Fuhrmann sacking the quarterback, to force another punt. The Hornets' next drive ended quickly when Adam Schreiber covered a fumbled ball in the backfield. The teams exchanged a couple of punts before taking a half-time break.

Turnovers and a block ended most of the drives in the 3rd quarter. The Hornets moved from their 35 yard line to the Knight 28 with runs by Cory and Wolf, and a D. Walterscheid pass to Cory. But the drive ended when another fumbled ball in the backfield was covered by Ryan Kasperek. The Knight drive consisted of four runs for a minus 10 yards, a 25 yard pass play from Hellingner to Keith Dieter, ending with Dustin Hiser intercepting the ball and placing Muenster at midfield.

The Hornets, unable to get the needed 10 yards, attempted a punt, but it was blocked by Chris Horner and the Knight offense took to the field. Four plays later, Lindsay punted, with the Hornets starting the final quarter on their 5 yard line.

Getting no gain, Jared Ledbetter got the punt out of the end zone to the 36 yard line. The next play Keith Dieter broke away for a Lindsay touchdown. A B. Anderle pass to Dieter extended the Knight lead to 15-7 with 11 minutes remaining in the game.

The teams booted the ball back and forth, with the Hornets beginning their last drive of the game on their 48 yard line. Hiser picked up a quick 25 yards, then Cory got another 9 to the 18 yard line. Runs by Wolf, Cory, Wolf got Muenster to the 10. A gang tackle by Joey Arendt, Ryan Dickerson, Kasperek, and Creed dropped Muenster for a 3 yard loss. A flag gained back 5 yards, and on 4th and 1, Wolf picked up 3 to the 3 yard line.

Wolf got the ball to the 1, but two consecutive plays stopped by Sam Hellingner, Garrett Jones, Arendt, Creed, and Mark Schreiber put Muenster in a 4th and goal situation on the 2 yard line. With 23.2 seconds on the clock, Dustin Walterscheid found pay dirt to close the score to 15-13. Muenster's attempt to tie the game fell short with an unsuccessful PAT run.

An on-side kick rolled short. The Knights continued their celebration as their offense killed the clock for a Lindsay 15-13 victory.

Coach Endres noted to the players after the game how the Hornets played together as a team. "Be proud as you walk off this field. It hurts, but you played hard from start to finish," Endres told the players. "Feel the hurt the rest of the night. Tomorrow we'll start over."

Coach Kenny Mann added, "We are far from being finished. You have the class and character to pull it (a playoff spot) off."

The Hornets will host the Hornets of Era this Friday night in their quest to stay district competitive. "We've got to forget about Lindsay and focus on Era, so we don't get a 2nd defeat," Coach Endres stated. "We're still alive in the district race, but will need some help if we hope to stay in the playoffs."

Era this season has defeated Gainsville State School (15-7) and Notre Dame (22-0), and lost to Sacred Heart (40-7), Chico (24-0), and Alford (35-7) in pre-district. Last week Era fell to state-ranked Petrolia 48-14 to begin district play. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

LINDSAY
 The Knights travel to Collinsville looking for district win #2. "Collinsville has big strong backs. If our defense plays good, we can keep them from scoring too much," Coach Erwin noted. "Our offense has to get it in gear to win this game."

The Pirates were 4-1 in pre-district, losing their opening conference game 24-13 to Saint Jo last Friday night. Collinsville's other loss came from Celeste (33-18). The season started with four straight victories - Paris Chisum (34-28), Valley View (16-13), Callisburg (21-0), and Alford (34-12). Game time is 7:30 p.m. at the new Pirate stadium complex, located 1/4 mile east of the old field.

Hole in One earns Gill prize

Randy Gill of Pottsboro, Texas, playing golf at Turtle Hill Golf Course on Saturday, Oct. 12, lined up for his shot on the fourth hole at the blue tee box - a picturesque 162 yard, par 3, with a 100 foot elevation drop from tee to green, with a kidney-shaped green guarded by water on the right and out-of-bounds on the left.

Using a seven iron, Randy swung the club, striking the ball solidly. The rest became history as his shot landed on the green, slightly to the left and in front of the pin, then backing up into the hole for his first ever hole-in-one.

Randy was playing in the First Annual Benefit Golf Tournament of Turtle Hill Ministries as part of the team from Dr. Pepper Bottling Company of Texas with Tim Bowling who also resides in Pottsboro. With his hole-in-one, Randy won a new Nike Titanium Driver courtesy of Brown Motor Company who sponsored various prizes for anyone who aced a hole on any of the four par three holes.

Lindsay JV defeats Muenster 28-8

The Lindsay Junior Varsity came to Muenster last week and after four periods of play, took home a 28-8 victory.

The game began when Keaton Haverkamp booted the opening kick to the 20 yard line. Derek Murray returned the ball to the 36 before Matthew Yosten made the stop. Tackles by Haverkamp, Jordan Walterscheid, and Noah Barnhill forced Lindsay to punt.

Two short runs by Derek Endres and Nathan Privett were followed by a Walterscheid to Endres pass for 11 yards. A flag and tackles by Malcom Martin, Murray, Gary Anderle, and a sack by Martin and Anderle put the Hornets in a 4th and 21 punting situation. Haverkamp's boot started Lindsay on their 41 yard line.

A sack by Ryan Hennigan and Haverkamp, a quarterback rush by Hennigan, and another tackle by Haverkamp forced a Lindsay punt on 4th and 13. The short kick settled on the Hornet 39 yard line. Two plays later, a fumbled hand-off in the backfield was covered by the Knights, who in turn fumbled back to Muenster when Endres picked up the loose ball.

From their 34, a completed pass to Keith Walterscheid moved Muenster to midfield. J. Walterscheid then connected with Derek Felderhoff to start the 2nd quarter on the Knight 37.

Tackles by Anderle, Chris Fleitman, Brandon Huckaby, Kris Creed, and Dustin Hughes was followed by Creed intercepting the ball on the 27 yard line.

Alan Trammell then scored two plays later on a 72 yard run. The PAT kick was a grounder, so Lindsay led 6-0 with 7:03 on the clock.

Keith Walterscheid returned the Knight kick to the Hornet 43 yard line, but Muenster couldn't muster 10 yards and punted. The Hornets held the Knights for two plays, with Patrick Lutkenhaus and J. Walterscheid getting tackles. But on 3rd down, Adam Kasperek scored on a 71 yard touchdown run. The extra point pass from Kasperek to Brandon Huckaby was good, even though a flag set the ball back 5 yards, and Muenster deflected the pass. With 4:36 on the clock, the Knights had a 14-0 lead.

Derek Endres returned Lindsay's kick 20 yards before Brian Howard, Trammell, and Clint Williams made the stop. Privett gained 13 yards, then a fumbled snap, and a quarterback sack by Tanner Henry set Muenster back 7 yards. On 3rd down, Endres broke free and raced down field. Trammell brought him down at the one yard line after a 56 yard gain. The next play, Endres finished the drive with a touchdown.

A boundary-line pass from J. Walterscheid to K. Walterscheid was good for 2 points and a 14-8 score with 2:30 remaining on the clock.

Josey Kyle brought the Hornets kick to Muenster's side of midfield. Two plays later, Trammell went around the left side and scored on a 41 yard touchdown. Adam Kasperek added the extra point for a 21-8 score and 1:39 still on the 2nd quarter clock.

Huckaby's kick rolled into the end zone, setting Muenster on the 20 yard line. Three runs gained 12 yards, and an intercepted pass was called null with an interference call. Muenster's attempt to find the end zone didn't happen as time ran out.

Muenster struggled the opening 3rd quarter drive with tackles by Henry, Anderle, and Huckaby forcing a punt. The Knights got in eight runs, moving from the Lindsay 31 to the Hornet side of the field before coming up short on 4th down.

Muenster gained 21 yards on a run by Haverkamp, and passes to Daniel McGrew and Endres into Knight territory. Runs by Privett, J. Walterscheid, and Haverkamp moved the Hornets into the final quarter to the Knight 20 yard line. The drive ended there when a fumble in the backfield was covered by Alan Trammell on the 35 yard line.

Trammell and Murray exchanged nine runs to get to the 11 yard line. Kasperek made a first down to the 10, then Murray scored with a right side run. Kasperek booted the extra point for a 28-8 score with 3:25 still on the game clock.

Lindsay's kick rolled to the 5 yard line and was returned to the 16. Privett picked up 2 yards, then Endres 18. The Hornets got near midfield, but a last play pass fell incomplete to end the game.

Booster Club Meeting

Muenster Athletic Booster Club will meet on Monday, Oct. 21 at 7 p.m. in the Locker room.

Squires sting Muenster in junior high battle

The Muenster Junior High Stingers hosted the Lindsay Squires last week Thursday and were handed a 28-6 loss.

Travis Endres opened the game with a kick to the 23 yard line. Zack Swirczynski returned the ball to the 34 yard line for Muenster. A run each by Bill Haverkamp and Swirczynski gained 11

Haverkamp and Swirczynski gained 4 each with a flag assisting to get to the Lindsay 31. Tackles by Neu, L. Hermes, Jonathan Zimmerer, and K. Hermes put Muenster in a 4th and 9. An incomplete pass gave Lindsay the ball on downs.

yards, but tackles by Squires Justin Caillier, Endres, Keith Hermes, Dustin Neu, Chris Dieter, Preston Mendez, and Levi Hermes forced Muenster to punt, placing Lindsay on their 30 yard line. From their first play of scrimmage, Dustin Neu broke tackles up the middle and scored on a 70 yard run for the Squires. A L. Hermes to Endres pass put Lindsay in the lead 8-0 with 4:39 remaining in the first period.

Lindsay's kick rolled to the 5 yard line, but Swirczynski returned it to the 23. Swirczynski then picked up a quick 45 yards and Haverkamp another 13 to move the Stingers to the 15 yard line.

Muenster pounded the Lindsay defense with Swirczynski, Brad Endres, and Haverkamp slowly moving to the one yard line. Tackles by Josh Jones, L. Hermes, and Endres, and a motion flag prevented any gain. On 3rd and goal, a fumbled pitch was covered by Levi Hermes as the first period of play ended.

From their 5 yard line, Neu gained a quick 18 yards. A L. Hermes to Mendez pass found the end zone, but a flag brought the ball back out to midfield. A tackle by Evan Koessler and Chad Endres slowed the drive, but the Squires, with two runs by Neu and a Hermes to Mendez pass, took Lindsay out to the 26 yard line. A fumbled snap covered by Chad Endres gave Muenster possession on their 33 yard line.

Swirczynski picked up a quick 20 yards, then

Walterscheid, Haverkamp, and Garrett Hennigan, held the Squires for several plays, but a 21 yard run by Neu took Lindsay to midfield. The next play, a Hermes to Endres pass was good for 6 points. Another Hermes to Endres pass gave Lindsay a 16-0 lead with 12.5 seconds remaining in the first half.

Muenster booted an on-side kick to start the 3rd quarter. Collin Walterscheid covered for Muenster near midfield. The Stingers moved into Lindsay's side of the field with runs by Haverkamp and Swirczynski, but a flag, fumbled snap, incomplete pass, and a tackle by Zimmerer, Caillier, and L. Hermes, forced a Muenster punt by Haverkamp that rolled to the 11 yard line.

Lindsay's offense controlled the remaining 3rd quarter, getting in 10 plays. Dustin Neu and Josh Jones moved the ball to the Muenster 33 with tackles by the Stingers - Haverkamp, Cole Harrison, C. Endres, Lee Walterscheid, Swirczynski, and Nicholas Flusche trying to slow their pace. Levi Hermes picked up another 6 yards. An Evan Koessler tackle stopped Lindsay for no gain, but a motion flag put the Squires on the 20 yard line as the final period began.

Koessler, Harrison, and C. Endres stopped one run, but the next saw Josh Jones score on a 20 yard run. The PAT pass failed, for a 22-0 score with 6:56 on the clock.

Chad Endres returned the kick 15 yards to the 45 yard line. Two plays later Preston Mendez picked off a pass at midfield and returned it to the Muenster 18 yard line.

The Squires' attempt to get into the end zone failed when a fumbled snap was covered by Brad Endres on the 5 yard line. Zack Swirczynski scored two plays later on an 85 yard touchdown run. A reverse extra points play by Chad Endres found the end zone, but a flag pushed the ball back 5 yards. The 2nd attempt failed and with 3:58 on the game clock, the score read 22-6.

Muenster kicked an on-side kick, but Levi Hermes covered for the Squires. Lindsay couldn't get the needed 10 yards and punted a short boot that took a Hornet bounce. With 1:12 remaining in the game, from their own 42 yard line, Muenster made a last attempt to find the end zone. Zack Swirczynski ran for 12 and 5 yards. An incomplete pass was followed by a 20 yard gain catch from Swirczynski to Colin Walterscheid. Muenster got inside the 20 yard line, but Micah Grissom got in the final tackle to end the game.

The Sacred Heart Tigerettes placed 2nd at the Era Invitational this past Saturday. They were defeated by 2nd ranked 2A Krum. (Ratings obtained from the Cross Country Assoc. of Texas website.)

"Krum is somewhat out of our league, said Coach John D. Bartush, perhaps we can compete better against them next year!" "I was very proud of our girls, they were able to beat some 1A ranked teams; Muenster ISD (4) and Era ISD (7)," said Bartush. The Tigerettes have come a long way this year, and have learned to run very well as a team. Each week their confidence and performances improve.

On the boy's side, Travis Hess and Mark Gehrig were the lone Tiger runners. Travis and Mark were able to place one and two in the JV division. "Those two have been improving all year, and I look forward to what their potential talent can bring in the next few years," said Bartush.

This week they teams will be traveling to Waco for the state meet. Results for the Tigerettes at Era are as follows:

I'm chapped with PETA's brand stance

I was really chapped when I looked at the front page of the Sept. 9 Dallas Morning News and read, once again, that PETA (People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals) is attacking animal agriculture.

Now the animal activist organization is an expert on cattle branding. Says PETA's Bruce Friedrich: "Hot iron branding constitutes animal abuse." He predicted the practice will be gone in probably five years.

That makes me madder than a 10 year-old South Texas mama cow going to town for the first (and last) time.

The obvious question for anyone to ask, and especially a reporter, is where is PETA's credibility? These are the same people that incurred the wrath of Mothers Against Drunk Driving for advocating that college students drink beer instead of milk. This is an organization that tells you and I that Jesus was a vegetarian. If it was up to PETA, there would be no hunting and fishing and everyone would happily sit down every meal to no meat and a plate full of veggies.

PETA is very well an expert in gaining media attention through its publicity stunts and -campaigns. But, then, consider the obvious: What does it say about the credibility of those in the news business who use PETA as a source? Why aren't PETA's motives questioned?

The trouble with our mass media culture is people read newspapers like the Dallas Morning News, and tend to believe what they read. And those that produce the news know controversy is much better read than common sense.

PETA is an expert at taking an industry-wide practice like branding and using it to turn public opinion, which in turn drives restaurant managers, grocery executives and even veterinarians to advocate changes in businesses they know little about.

Burger King, for example, last year sent a letter to suppliers urging them to find pain-free branding alternatives. Applebees did the same, going so far as to urge vendors to not accept products from suppliers that practice branding.

It's no surprise to Texas cattle producers that these groups and businesses continue social engineering efforts by meddling in their business. It's happened before and there's probably no end in sight.

The trouble is, branding is not done for the fun of it. Branding's conducted for a very simple, economic reason: bad guys steal. And the guys in black hats rustled livestock and equipment last year to the tune of $5 million alone in Texas and Oklahoma, according to the Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

Today's cattlemen are struggling to survive, and livestock identification to prove ownership is a necessary part of doing business. Get rid of the bad guys, and cattlemen will stop branding.

They're not doing it for the fun of it. It's time consuming, hard work, and most don't want to inflict any pain on their animal, even the temporary pain caused by a hot iron brand. And even though there are some hot iron alternatives, experts say they don't work in the long run.

For example, ear tags can be used to identify animals, but can be torn off easily. Microchips have been touted for cattle identification, but it's all too easy for a thief to cut them out. Freeze branding has been promoted, but a freeze brand is easily altered and besides, they don't work well on light-colored hides.

If the motive for PETA is to relieve animal pain, let them invest money they use to attack animal agriculture to instead fund research alternatives that are acceptable to them and economical for cattlemen.

A new way to brand that costs less, causes no stress to the animal and works, will, I guarantee, be readily adopted.

That solution, I guess, would be too practical for an organization who's ultimate goal is not animal welfare, but to turn you, me and the whole world into vegetarians.

And so, the battle continues...

An opinion by Mike Barnett, Editor of Texas Agriculture, publication of Texas Farm Bureau

Japan presents WTO ag plan

On Sept. 24, Senior Japanese trade official Hidenori Murakami outlined his country's proposal for trade reform in the World Trade Organization talks on agriculture, while criticizing proposals from the U.S. and Cairns Group.

Murakami said Japan was willing to negotiate reductions in domestic support subsidies for farmers and would push for WTO disciplines on export credits and increased disciplines on food aid. He said Japan was also proposing to reduce, but not eliminate, export subsidies and strengthen discipline on deficiency payments.

Murakami called the U.S. and Cairns Group proposals "detrimental" to the prospects for a successful round of negotiations. U.S. and Cairns Group negotiators had criticized Japanese trade officials for speaking out against those proposals that had been presented while not presenting one of their own.

Seed Quality

The Seed Quality Branch of the Texas Department of Agriculture, enforces genetic standards on certified seed production. This is done so anyone from a backyard gardener to a multi-acre farmer receives the highest quality seed available. To ensure quality seed, any person producing certified seed must be a Texas certified seed grower. As further assurance, three seed laboratories strategically located across the state in Lubbock, Stephenville, and Giddings conduct purity and germination tests on samples of seed. This includes samples sent in by producers, our inspectors, or anyone wishing to obtain a quality test. Our inspector's samples and some certified hybrid production samples are further tested through grow-outs in Texas, Puerto Rico and Mexico where variety purity is monitored.

Seed Services

Seed Services, a regulator branch of the Texas Department of Agriculture, is the program in the Seed Quality Branch which monitors seed labeling. The labeling of seed packages is designed to ensure that consumers receive the quality and type of seed they pay for, that the seed will germinate or sprout as stated on the label, and will produce the kind of plants represented. Seed Quality also checks to ensure the seeds are not contaminated with noxious weed seed.

US trade to Cuba on the rise

A Cuban government report released this week shows that the U.S. is about to become the island nation's 10th largest trading partner in 2002. The move comes less than one year after food sales to Cuba from the United States were allowed on a cash basis.

Cuba's statistical abstract, combined with 2002 trade information from diplomats, shows the U.S. will replace Brazil for the number 10 spot.

U.S. food exports including grain, cereal and meat are estimated at $160 million this year, according to Alimport, Havana's main food importer. According to the Commerce Department, estimates through August were $97 million.

Michelle Pagel participates in AQHA riding program

Michelle Lynn Pagel of Muenster recently earned an award for logging 2,000.0 hours in the American Quarter Horse Association Horseback Riding Program. The program recognizes and rewards AQHA members for time spent with their American Quarter Horses in activities such as trail rides, working cattle, pleasure driving, and simply riding.

A unique aspect of the program is its simplicity. Current AQHA members complete a program application and pay a one-time $25 enrollment fee. Each enrollee receives an official AQHA log sheet to record their hours driving or riding an American Quarter Horse. Participants need not own their own horse, but all official hours must be accrued with a registered American Quarter Horse.

The first award, a program recognition patch, is given after only 50 hours have been logged and verified. Patches and nine subsequent awards are presented at 100 to 5,000 hour levels and range from merchandise gift certificates to a Montana Silversmith trophy belt buckle at the highest level. Other awards are provided by AQHA corporate sponsors.

Agriculture Briefs

Kaufman DA wants to close horse processing plant. Kaufman County District Attorney Bill Conrad is investigating the Dallas Crown horse processing plant with the aim of closing it under a rarely used 1949 law. On Aug. 7, Texas Attorney General John Cornyn issued an opinion that the law forbids the sale, possession, transport, and export of horse meat for human consumption. The Kaufman plant and Fort Worth-based Beltex Corp. are the only remaining plants in the United States which process horse meat for human consumption. Most of the meat is transported to Europe and Asia. The two plants processed 38,000 horses in 2001.

Animal antibiotic use poses an extremely small risk to humans, according to an evaluation by an independent group of microbiologists, risk assessors, veterinarians and animal health experts. Evaluating available facts persuaded the group that while the use of antibiotics in humans and animals undoubtedly leads to resistance, and while some resistant organisms reach humans via the food chain, little additional harm results from resistance, even when infection occurs, said Ian Phillips, M.D., chairman of the group. Phillips is an emeritus professor of medical microbiology at the medical school of Guy's and St. Thomas Hospitals, University of London. The group of experts concluded that banning any antibiotic usage in animals, in the absence of a full risk assessment, is not useful and could even be harmful to both human and animal health. "Rather than banning the use of antibiotics in animals, we believe that efforts should focus on reducing the transmission of all food-borne pathogens regardless of their antibiotic susceptibility," Dr. Phillips asserted.

Antibiotic use in animals is declining, according to a new survey of animal health companies. The volume of antibiotics used in animals in the United States has steadily declined over the past three years. In 2001, 21.8 million pounds of antibiotics were sold, dropping from 23.7 million pounds in 2000 and 24 million in 1999. The data were collected from a survey of members of the Animal Health Institute, consisting of companies that make medicines for pets and farm animals. The survey data include antibiotics used for both farm and companion animals. AHI President and CEO Alexander S. Mathews emphasized the decline in meat-producing animals. "While meat production between 1999 and 2001 rose 1.1 million pounds, use of antibiotics is not rising. Therefore, the amount of antibiotics used per pound of meat produced is going down."

Farm & Ranch

Grasshoppers hit Central Texas

A dry, mild winter has encouraged a large hatch of grasshoppers in Central Texas, with heavy infestations already being seen in some East Texas counties.

"We don't have numbers yet, but we're hearing reports of Central Texas farmers finding the ground under their feet squirming with grasshopper nymphs," said Dr. James Robinson, entomologist with Texas Cooperative Extension.

Robinson said reports of large grasshopper populations are ranging from Dallas to McGregor and College Station. He has also received reports of infestations in the Athens and Canton areas.

Farmers are justifiably concerned about the infestations because with soil moisture already below normal in many parts of the state, hay and forage could be at a premium during the months ahead, he said.

Though the grasshoppers are small, many farmers are electing to treat early. It's an expense, but one that is probably wise, considering the past effects of adult grasshoppers on pastures. In the spring of 2000, when there was also a dry mild winter, Texas A&M entomologists estimated pasture losses alone at $190 million. In 1998, a drought year, the impact of grasshoppers on improved pastures was also catastrophic.

Grasshopper hatches are normally held in check by a fungus that attacks their over-wintering eggs in the soil. During a dry winter, the fungus does not flourish and more grasshopper eggs hatch to become nymphs.

Producers are usually advised that it becomes economical to treat when they can count 25 grasshoppers per square yard. Twenty-five grasshoppers may not sound like a big number, but over an acre, this count could equal 120,000 grasshoppers. At this concentration, the grasshoppers can eat as much forage as a mature cow.

Chemical controls for grasshoppers in improved pastures are relatively cheap when products are used at their lowest rates. Sevin XLR and Malathion 57 EC have proven effective on grasshoppers nymphs in bermudagrass pastures at their lowest rates. Cost of these products ranges from $1.40 to $4.35 per acre.

Which insecticide used depends upon more factors than cost, however. Malathion has no grazing or harvest restrictions. Sevin has a 14-day grazing restriction.

The highly toxic insecticide methyl parathion is also labeled for grasshopper control. Because of its toxicity level, Robinson recommended that it be applied either aerially or by a commercial applicator using an enclosed cab machine.

"I do not recommend that methyl parathion be applied by farmers with an open air tractor cab and spray rig. It's just too dangerous," Robinson said.

Methyl parathion has a 15-day waiting period for hay harvesting and grazing.

Dimilin can be used for control of grasshopper nymphs in rangeland. There will not be a special permit allowing the use of this product on pastureland.

Home gardeners shouldn't worry about grasshoppers damaging lawns. Vegetable gardens and ornamental landscape plants can be a target, however. For safe control in vegetable gardens, use Sevin or malathion.

Insecticides containing a pyrethroid can be used on ornamentals but should not be used on vegetable crops.

Robinson has put together a fact sheet on the various grasshopper control products and their formulations and distributed it to countyagents throughout East Texas. Producers needing more specific information are advised to contact the Extension offices in their counties.

Farm Service reports on LDP and eligibility requirements

The following information from Farm Service Agency pertains to all our grain crops; all our grain crops harvested for hay, silage or ensilage and grazed out small grains. (Due to the new farm programs we do not have all the details on graze out. We anticipate it will be the same as last year.)

Crop mixtures if more than 10% are not eligible for payments (example wheat and rye grass, wheat and oats). Grain crops overseeded in pastureland and harvested for hay, silage or ensilage are not eligible for LDP payments.

Since the new farm bill will change the crop loan rates we will not be able to tell you at this time what the payments will be. However, if you have to sell or feed the crop immediately we can lock in a date anytime after harvest. We can figure the payment after the loan rates are finalized. The good news is this new rate will be an increase. The main thing to remember is do not sell your commodity or sign a contract that causes you to lose beneficial interest prior to filing the required paperwork in this office. If you lose beneficial interest in the crop it is not eligible for payment.

We have been hearing that a few elevators may not store your grain. Please check with the elevator you are going to do business with. If this is the case there is a form that can be filled out at our office before the grain is delivered to an elevator which will qualify the grain for payment at the rate in effect the date of delivery. The only problem here is you are locked in and will not be able to use the daily method and watch the market for the best possible payment.

Some eligibility requirements and things you need to give serious thought to are:

1. The crop must have been produced on a farm that is enrolled in the 7 year Freedom to Farm program. (We still have not heard the word on non-participating farms).

2. The crop must have been reported (certified in our office before the commodity is harvested. May 1 for wheat, oats, and barley. July 15 for corn, grain sorghum and soybeans).

3. Production records - We had an audit on this subject last year, so please pay attention to what we need.

It will be up to you, your elevator, or the CO-OP to furnish these records. They will not release these records to us without your permission. Load summary sheets should show producer name, farm number or farm name, crop year, date of delivery, state the fact that it is stored, commodity name, class - hard or soft in the case of wheat, test weight, gross and net weight or bushels (deductions need to be subtracted).

4. On hay, silage, or ensilage crops keep an accurate count of your bales, pounds or tonnage.

5. Landowners signatures - unless you have power of attorney for your landowners they will have to sign the paperwork for their payments.

6. Farm stored commodities - Measurement service fees must be charged on all farm stored commodities. Bin measurements are $40.00 for the first bin, plus $15.00 for each bin over one. Scale weight tickets by farm are very helpful, but cannot be used solely. This is a small amount to pay to get the maximum payment and if the small grain crop is anything like last years the test weight premium alone will pay for this service.

AQHA event to be held July 13

The special cutting with AQHA and NCHA, an American Quarter Horse Association-approved special event will be held July 13 at the Austin Arena in Muenster.

American Quarter Horse Shows test horses' abilities in dozens of different classes. This special event is just for cutting enthusiasts.

People who exhibit at an American Quarter Horse Show earn points that turn into awards or cash at the end of the year.

"We welcome all American Quarter Horse owners as well as anyone who has a passion for horses," said Bill Brewer, AQHA executive vice president. "AQHA Shows are fun, and anybody who has ever wanted to get involved with horses or compete at an AQHA Show is encouraged to attend."

Each year, AQHA approves more than 2,700 shows and special events across the globe. For more information about the special cutting with AQHA & NCHA, please contact Gail A. Dittmeier, 214-351-6031.

Texas crop and weather report

Livestock producers may face difficult times this summer because of continuing drought throughout the state, Texas Cooperative Extension reports.

Currently, Texas rainfall is varying dramatically, with some areas of the state having abundant moisture, while others are suffering severe deficiencies.

Range conditions continue to decline in the Panhandle from the lack of adequate moisture. During the past week, isolated thunderstorms have showered between one-half and three-quarters an inch of rain in this North Texas region.

This is not enough, as significant amounts of rainfall are needed throughout the area to help alleviate the heavy irrigation demand, said Dr. Bob Robinson, district Extension director.

According to District Director Charles Neeb, up to 80 percent of the cattle have already been sold off in Culberson County in Far West Texas as a result of the drought.

Also, dry weather conditions in the West Central Texas region are deteriorating the range and pasture conditions, said District Extension Director Scott Durham.

Forage quantity and quality are becoming extremely poor, and livestock numbers continue to decline.

In South Texas, a small number of counties received rain this past week, but not enough to solve drought problems. Soil moisture problems are worsening, non-irrigated crops are suffering and pastures continue declining, said Terry Lockamy, district director.

However, there are certain areas, such as the Stephenville vicinity in North Central Texas, that are not being affected. Rainfall has been adequate or even above average in this area, according to Dr. Steve Hammack, professor and Extension beef cattle specialist.

"Pasture conditions vary from poor to good, depending mostly on how producers have stocked and managed during the last several years," Hammack said. "Poor managers always seem to be short of grass, or close to it."

Good managers stock at lower levels to allow adequate forage reserves for all but the most extreme droughts. Nature is not the only thing that determines pasture conditions.

"When there is a drought, especially when it relates to mature beef cattle, the producer is generally reluctant to think about supplemental feeding," said Dr. Larry Boleman of College Station, professor and Extension beef specialist. "Most producers think about drought during the winter when food shortages are expected. This leads to summer

Ag Briefs

Administration officials say they have little confidence they would win the lawsuits. They cite a decision by the US Court of Appeals last year which invalidated nearly 600 miles of protected streams and river beds for the willow flycatcher because the government did not fully consider how businesses and landowners would be affected, as the law requires.

Administration officials say they have little confidence they would win the lawsuits. They cite a decision by the US Court of Appeals last year which invalidated nearly 600 miles of protected streams and river beds for the willow flycatcher because the government did not fully consider how businesses and landowners would be affected, as the law requires.

When ranchers do recognize there is limited forage, they either have to reduce their cow herd or begin some sort of feeding and/or supplementation program, Boleman said.

"In the worst-case scenario, they may have to begin a full feeding program, which would constitute forage, and if this forage is available, supplemental protein would be required," Boleman said.

"The thing about feeding beef cattle is they are so big that when you do get around to feeding them all their needed requirements, it just becomes so expensive and prohibitive to most producers." If ranchers do not plan ahead, they may wait until it is too late to buy in bulk supplies, he said.

"When it is on top of you, you are unable to take care of the routine things that would save you money. You have to react, and you don't have time to plan for it," Boleman said. Also, if cows have not had enough to eat, they may not breed back. This will give a lower calf crop percent for next year.

Some ranchers in West Texas are saying the drought conditions in their area are worse than during the depression of the 1950s.

Help available for beaver woes

Cooke County ponds, lakes, and flood water retarding structures are experiencing an increase in beaver activity. Land users battling problems with beavers will have help available from the Texas Wildlife Damage Service during the first week in June. For assistance, call the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) in Gainesville at 668-7794 ext. 3. Land users must sign an agreement form so the wildlife specialists can work on private property. Forms are available at the NRCS office.

Farm Service Agency news reported ...

CROP ACREAGE REPORTS

July 15 is the final date to report corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, and peanut acreage. Please contact FSA as soon as possible to schedule an appointment.

NEW FARM BILL

Details of the new farm bill have not been finalized, so there is not much we can tell you at this time. We do know that wheat harvest is fixing to start and LDP time is near. Things are going to be hectic for all of us, so please bear with us.

FARM PROGRAM REMINDERS

Farm owners and operators with seven-year Production Flexibility contract under the farm program are reminded of the maintenance provisions of their contracts. Weeds must be controlled. Contract acreage must be in a condition that it could be tilled. Native or improved grasses are OK. Brush cannot be present on contract acreage. Failure to comply with these requirements will result in contract payment reductions or in total loss of benefits.

CROP INSURANCE COMPLIANCE

In June of 2000 Congress passed legislation enacting the Agriculture Risk Protection Act (ARPA). This act requires FSA and Crop Insurance to partner in an effort to improve program compliance with the integrity of the Federal Crop Insurance Program. FSA is charged to identify, document, and report suspected crop insurance fraud and abuse. We will perform spot-checks throughout the year during our normal duties. Also, concerned producers may call in suspected cases of by calling us at 940-665-4397. You may remain anonymous.

This office will be closed May 27, in observance of Memorial Day.
