VOLUME X

MUENSTER TEXAS COOKE COUNTY FRIDAY APRIL 12, 1946

NUMBER 20

It seems as though the magic word in politics nowadays is GI, and from all appearances we're going to get more than our fill of it before this year's political race is ended.

A fair sample is the plank in one candidate's announcement. He proposes an act entitled "GI Memorial Act, to create a State Insurance Corporation to insure the down payment on homes, farms and ranches for veterans of both world wars and all Texans who are financially unable to own a home or the soil from which they toil for a living."

The wording specifies that the provision is intended for everybody, which automatically includes ex-service men, but still the word GI is used in the title and specifically mentioned in the statement — even though GI's constitute a small minority of the people concerned.

Of course, everybody is entitled to his own opinion, but this kind of stuff looks just a little too much like an attempt to cash in on sentiment carried over from the war. To our way of thinking no measure should carry the GI label unless it is intended for the benefit of the GI.

And now as regards the merits of the proposal. It specifies the creation of a state insurance corporation to insure down payments, etc. Does this mean that the candidate expects the state to reimburse the down payment to every individual who fails to live up to the contract of his home or farm purchase? And will the expenditures be supported by the general tax or by insurance fees paid by the persons concerned?

It doesn't require much imagination to see that such a provision would open the doors to one of the swiftest rackets the state has even known. For every person who lost his original investment through misfortune there would be a dozen irresponsible persons who would simply default and let the public pay for their poor judgment, or change of whim, as the case may be.

Or consider the wonderful killing that could be made by crooked realtors and a few stooges. The realtor sells his house receiving the down payment plus regular installments for a few months. Then the purchaser defaults and gets his refund from the state, and the realtor is ready to make another sale.

Taxpayers, once they think over the possibilities, aren't going to like the idea of supporting a plan like that. Neither will they like supporting the administrative forces necessary to keep it going.

But suppose this is a regular insurance company supported by the people using it. The first question is, will it be compulsory? Will every person buying a home or farm be required by law to take a policy on his down payment? If so, the majority of purchasers will object. Confident of the soundness of their own investments they don't want to be burdened with the cost of the responsibility and poor judgment of others.

If this is strictly a voluntary provision, it's not so bad. But even then we don't like the idea of the state poking its nose in business that private enterprise could handle. We've seen enough of it to realize that too often the expense has to be borne by the taxpayer.

Another thought on the subject and perhaps a very pertinent one. Do insurance companies offer policies protecting down payments? If so, why should the state go into competition with them? If not, you can bet your bottom dollar it is not a sound financial venture. Actuaries are on their toes. And if they don't think it's good business for their companies it isn't good business for the state either.

The trouble with so many measures offered in the high sounding name of social security is that they are socialistic instead of social and they provide less security than the means that have been available all along. Give us the good old democratic system where a man is on his own, free to make his own arrangements without compulsion or the encumbrances of bureaucratic red tape.

Some of us perhaps recall the incident last week when a senate committee's discussion got rather hot on the subject of compulsory health insurance. An opponent and a sponsor got to shouting back and forth as to whether the proposed bill is socialistic. As usual the sponsor claimed it strictly democratic.

Well, which is it? For that matter, what is the correct brand of so many proposals coming up these days? Some enthusiasts claim that a certain measure is

Flood Control Need Will Be Discussed Tuesday At Denton

A public hearing at which interested persons of this vicinity will have an opportunity to express their views regarding needed flood control improvements has been set for April 16 at 10 a. m. in the City Hall Auditorium of Denton, according to an announcement by the Engineer Corps of the War Department.

The meeting is one of three concerned with navigation and flood control of the Trinity and its tributaries. Other designated meetings are at Corsicana, April 13, and Liberty, May 2.

Since almost all of Cooke county, and the Muenster area specifically is on the Trinity watershed, it is included in the Trinity flood control projects.

Efforts are underway here among members of the Upper Elm Red soil conservation district to have an adequate representation at the Denton meeting.

Sponsored by the Trinity Improvement Association with headquarters at Fort Worth, principal improvements proposed for this locality are soil conservation practices to serve the purpose of checking both floods and excessive siltation. When retarded at its source rain water has more chance to soak into the soil and be beneficial and conversely it has less chance to rush to streams with tons of precious top soil.

The Trinity Improvement Association, assisted by the War Department, has a threefold object in its program. One is to preserve productivity of land in the Trinity basin, another is to check rapid drainage which often results in disastrous floods, the third is to reduce siltation in the Trinity. Siltation, the association points out, fills the river channel thereby contributing to the flood hazard and preventing navigation.

An eventual objective of the association is to dredge the Trinity channel to permit water transportation from the Gulf as far north as Dallas and Fort Worth.

BLOWOUT CAUSES CAR TO TURN OVER AND BURN HERE SUNDAY

One of four Filipino army officers stationed at Fort Sill, Okla. was injured when the 1942 Pontiac sedan in which they were riding turned over and burned a mile and a half east of Muenster on Highway 82 at 4:30 p. m. Sunday.

Captain Pablo Francisco received emergency treatment here for a shoulder injury after which all four men were taken to the Gainesville Sanitarium for examination.

The cause of the accident, as disclosed by one of the passengers, was a blow out of the right rear tire followed by the driver's attempt to get the swerving car under control by using the brake.

Wilmer Luke and several companions driving east on the highway saw the west bound car as it lurched across the road about 300 yards ahead of them, then turned over and came to a stop about 20 feet south of the highway. He drove the injured man and a companion to the local clinic for treatment.

Fire broke out under the hood as soon as the car came to a stop and the uninjured passengers, assisted by two unidentified persons who stopped to help thought they had the fire under control when it broke out at the rear. Efforts after that were futile.

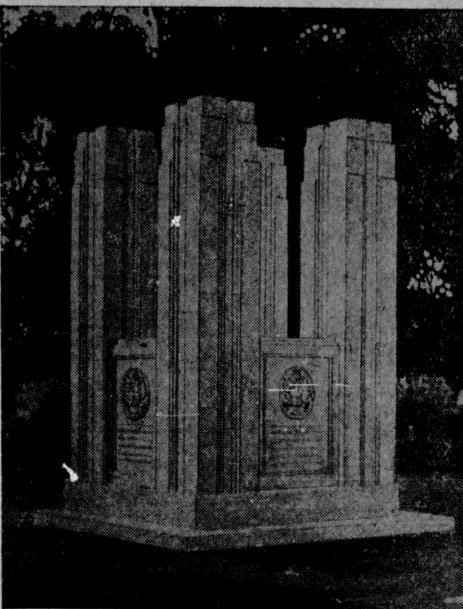

Other occupants of the car besides Capt. Francisco were Lt. Daniel Adea, Lt. Domingo Alcid and Lt. Victor Punzalan. They returned to Fort Sill Sunday night. At the time of the accident they were returning to their station after a weekend visit in Dallas.

Fuhrmann and Rohmer Making Concrete Blocks

A new undertaking that has possibilities of developing into a thriving industry is the manufacture of concrete blocks begun this week by Val Fuhrmann and Albert Rohmer.

They are operating their equipment, consisting of a moulder and mixer, at Fuhrmann's residence, at the Lehnert Estate house. With a great number of building projects in sight in the community and little encouragement of a let up in shortages of other building materials, the partners expect to find a steady demand for their product.

Plans for the erection of a cenotaph on the State Capitol grounds to the late President, representing the four freedoms, is announced by the Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial Foundation of Austin, Texas.

Fall From Hay Truck Puts John Bezner In Gainesville Hospital

John Bezner of Lindsay, well known Cooke county citizen, is confined to M and S hospital in Gainesville as the result of injuries sustained in an accident at his farm home Tuesday morning at 9:30, when he fell from a hay truck.

He was putting a tarpaulin over the hay when he stepped backward and fell in such a manner as to sustain a broken right hip, fractured right wrist, broken nose and body bruises.

Members of his family reported Wednesday that he was resting as well as could be expected and that he would be hospitalized for several weeks. His wife is attending his bedside.

SHRUBS, FLAG POLE TO ADORN SOLDIERS' PLOT IN CEMETERY

A beautification project including shrubbery and a flag pole for the service men's plot of the Muenster cemetery was announced this week by the Garden Club Work will be completed before dedication ceremonies which will be held on Memorial Day, May 30, which this year is also the feast of the Ascension.

Mrs. Nick Miller, chairman of the club's cemetery committee, stated that 7 evergreen shrubs were set out Wednesday morning one each at the side of the monument and five behind it. The flag pole will be donated by the Knights of Columbus. The exact location of the flagpole has not been decided.

INCREASED ACCIDENT RATE CAUSES HIGHER CAR INSURANCE RATE

If you keep the family auto insured, plan to dig into your jeans for $7.50 to $10 more after May 1. Then look in the mirror and see who's responsible.

Take it from the auto insurance men, the increasing number of collisions of motorists is responsible for the State Board of Insurance Commissioners' action on increasing insurance.

Pre-war Rate Added. The increase, effective May 1, is designed to take care of the amount cut during the war and also for the increase in accidents the insurance men saw.

Owner of the average family auto has the comprehensive minimum premium, which will increase from $7.50 to $10. Those who have collision premiums on private passenger autos will be harder hit, for there is an approximate 40 per cent increase on collision premiums because of bad less experience.

Schedule Set For Mission Services During Holy Week

A change in the schedule of services for the mission to be conducted at the Sacred Heart church next week sets back the time for evening services from 7:30 to 8 o'clock. Father Herman Laux, pastor disclosed this week that the change was made to accommodate a large number of farmers who would have trouble getting to church at 7:30. Other changes will be announced during the course of the exercises, if and when they are considered advisable.

The regular schedule as announced Wednesday is as follows: Masses at 6 and 8:30, one to be accompanied by a short sermon. An announcement next Sunday will reveal the time of the sermon. Services and instructions for specific groups will be held daily at 3. Benediction and sermon will be at 8 each evening. Opening exercises will be held at 8 p. m. Monday and closing exercises at 3 p. m. Easter Sunday.

Rev. Bede Mitchell, O.S.B., of Subiaco, Ark., will conduct the mission exercises.

Pointing out that the object of a mission is to offer extraordinary opportunities for hearing the word of God and reflecting on the serious side of life, Father Herman urges all members of the parish to arrange their affairs so they will be able to attend. Non-Catholics are also invited, he said. For them the mission is an excellent opportunity to become better acquainted with Catholic doctrine. For the benefit of non-Catholics seeking further information a special time has been set aside immediately after evening services.

The mission is conducted in accordance with an old parish tradition to conduct a mission every five years. The last was in November 1941.

Mayor Asks Observance of Good Friday

In a proclamation issued this week, Mayor J. M. Weinzaepfel designated Good Friday, April 19 as a day of special reverence and called on all residents of Muenster to observe it fittingly by suspending business and attending church services.

The proclamation requests that all business houses close between the hours of noon and three o'clock.

The Mayor pleads for complete cooperation — that all business houses close their doors that workmen lay down their tools, that activity on the streets be kept down to a minimum.

In the past Muenster business has been very respectful in its observance of Good Friday, and he urges that this record be carried through again this year.

NEW WELL'S OUTPUT TRIPLES SUPPLY OF WATER IN MUENSTER

The City of Muenster tripled its water supply this week when it put its new well into operation. In addition to the 65 gallons per minute supplied by the old well it gets 125 gallons per minute from the new well. Actually the equipment there would provide 200 gallons per minute but it is cut back to the capacity of the four inch line leading to the reservoir.

The increased supply is sufficient to take care of any but the most urgent emergency. Mayor Weinzaepfel said. The booster pump at the reservoir is capable of moving 200 gallons a minute into the water tower. It has been observed that with all fire hoses connected and the booster pump running at capacity the tower's water level remains constant.

So Muenster need not worry about water shortage even in case of prolonged fire fighting. The continuous output of the well can keep up the maximum demands of the fire department.

O'Brien Seeks Re-election A-County Superintendent

Randolph O'Brien, county superintendent of schools, has authorized The Enterprise to announce his candidacy for reelection to that office and stated that his formal announcement of voters would appear at a later date.

ONE HALF INCH RAIN

The community was favored Tuesday with a dandy half inch rain that fell in slightly less than a half hour. Fields, pastures and gardens all got a lift from it.

Hospital Group Buys Land For Building Site

Hope To Begin Soon On Construction At North End Of Main Street

Muenster's cooperative hospital when erected, will be located at the end of North Main outside the city limit and will face squarely down the street. The announcement was made Friday night at a meeting of the hospital association's directors in connection with the report that a five acre tract of land for the building site had been purchased from R. M. Zipper.

The tract has a four hundred foot front, extending 200 feet east and west of a point in line with the center of Main and more than 500 feet to the north.

With that much accomplished the directors favored immediate steps toward getting the construction under way. The first goal is to increase the membership from 153 to 250, which would provide an initial fund of $25,000 to start building.

To that end the president, J. M. Weinzaepfel, is making plans for a general community meeting at which the speakers will be Eugene Butler, Dallas, chairman of the Texas Rural Health Committee, and Frank A. Boutwell, regional health specialist and secretary of the committee for improvement of rural health in Texas, also of Dallas, to explain fully the aims and methods of cooperative hospitals and to show a special film on cooperative hospitals. The date of the meeting will be announced as soon as the men reveal when they can be here.

In the opinion of the directors the building should provide space for about 35 beds and basic construction material will probably be concrete blocks. The directors also agreed that plans should make allowance for convenient annexations and for some phases of the finish work at future dates. Thus if suitable facing materials for the walls is not available at building they would be left unfinished until later. Or if suitable floor coverings cannot be procured the plain concrete floor would be used for a while. Another point agreed upon is to follow modern trends of hospital design in lower ceilings and smaller rooms.

Plans for the building will be secured, if possible, from the state of Texas. Directors feel that since this is a non-profit enterprise it will be entitled to use state plans without cost. In the event such plans are not available an architect will be engaged soon.

With immediate and widespread response the directors feel they will be able to complete the building out of their accumulated fund. Should memberships come in more slowly, however, they hope to borrow the necessary funds locally. None of the directors was in favor of financing through the federal government.

SUNDAY MAY 5 SET AS DATE OF FOURTH ANNUAL HORSE SHOW

Approximately $400 will be given in prizes in eight contests when the Muenster Livestock Association holds its fourth annual horse show here on Sunday, May 5. It was announced this week by R. L. McNeelley, president. In case of bad weather, he added, the show will be postponed until May 19.

In connection with the first contest in Quarterhorse classes sponsored here, the association has engaged Verne Scott, professor of Animal Husbandry and Quarterhorse inspector of the Stephenville State College as judge. Mr. Scott will also judge in the other contests of the show, which include Paints, Palominos, gaited horses, cutting horses, and children's ponies. There will be two Quarterhorse classes.

An added attraction is a best dressed cowgirl contest.

In the cutting horse contest competition will be limited to five entries. The purpose of restriction here is to keep the event from lasting too long. Entrance fees will go into a pot to make the prize purse for the winner. Judging will be on the behavior of the horse rather than the skill of the rider, and the time allotted to each contestant is three minutes.

There are 169 pounds of air in an average size room.

Only one state has been named after a President, Washington.

 Some people never tire of fancying themselves detectives. There is the case of the man who rushed to the FBI office with a notebook he had found. He insisted that a certain line was in code. The local agent couldn't decipher it; neither could the experts in Washington.

Finally a young woman in the decoding office made it clear at first glance. The line read: K1, P2, C08, etc. You've guessed it. It simply meant "Knit one, purl two, cast on eight" and so on.

LIGHT CONDITIONING
 Provides plenty of the right quality of light for easy seeing and at the same time adds beauty and charm to the home. Light Conditioning, with all its benefits, costs so little and adds so much to efficiency in the home and to the enjoyment of better living.

"LIGHT-CONDITIONING"
 ADDS NEW BEAUTY and COMFORT TO MY BEDROOM"

CREATING A RESTFUL ATMOSPHERE for reading, sewing, writing or just relaxing, well-planned lighting in the bedroom adds its contribution to better living.

With soft, diffused light from a ceiling fixture for general illumination, individual lights may be added at a nominal cost for each seeing task.

Dressing-table lamps with light source at face-height, with shades of good diffusing quality, and of material which does not color the light, provide revealing illumination for make-up tasks.

Pin-up or portable wall lamps located about 40 inches above the pillow, equipped with 100-watt lamp bulbs and diffusing bowls, provide excellent illumination for reading in bed.

Larger rooms which include a chaise longue, desk or comfortable reading chair, should have a floor or table lamp at these locations.

Built-in lighting can be very effectively used in coves at the head of beds as well as around full-length mirrors.

Closets may be lighted by a lamp bulb operated from an automatic door switch which turns the light on when the door is opened and turns the light off when the door is closed.

Consult your electrical dealer for specific recommendations for the light-conditioning of your bedroom. He will soon have the lighting equipment you will need to give you proper lighting there and throughout your home.

Washington Notes

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., April 5— Since I have been in Congress I have made many speeches supporting bills and amendments which sought to regulate, control and, in so far as possible, to prevent strikes. The last one of these speeches was made on Monday of this week, and is as follows:

"Mr. Speaker, when the history of this generation is written the most shameful chapter thereof will be the government's absolute failure to deal with management-labor difficulties in our big industries. All authorities agree that our biggest problem and our greatest need is full production. Still we permit powerful labor unions and big industries, one after the other, to stymie and bottleneck such production. The steel strike set us back six months. The coal strike, if continued for more than a week, will set us back another six months. If long continued, such strikes will absolutely destroy all the hope we have for full and peaceful reconversion.

"We force men to fight and die for their country. We even draft them in peacetime and make them serve for 850 a month. But we refuse to interfere with jobs or profits of civilians. The politicians in both parties are afraid to do anything about strikes or

"We ought immediately to act upon the suggestion of Bernard Baruch for a year's moratorium on strikes. However, the President and the politicians apparently would see this nation in Hades before they would pass such a law, without, of course, first clearing it with Hillman, Murray and Lewis.

"We are urged to extend the draft, to extend price controls, to enact compulsory peacetime military training, in order to win the peace and promote the security of this country. None of these things compares in immediate importance with full production. Full production and rapid reconversion is the very foundation upon which our national strength and hence our peace and security must rest. Still the government vacillates, pussyfoots, and evades this biggest and most serious problem.

"The big corporations and all-powerful labor bosses continue to ride recklessly and ruthlessly over the American people. Mr. Speaker, how much longer will we continue to tolerate these abuses?"

Apparently the coal strike is going to be of longer duration than many anticipated. It will result in closing down steel mills and other industries producing critical materials. This in turn will shut down small shops, and will deprive every man of goods he needs to sell or things he needs to buy. It will seriously aggravate inflation.

On Tuesday of this week I served as chairman of a large meeting of Southern Democrats to protest an official editorial in a magazine published by the Women's Division of the National Democratic Committee. In this magazine, in bold black type, appeared the statement that a vote for the Case bill (a bill which seeks to settle management-labor difficulties and facilitate reconversion) was a vote against the American people. 107 Democrats in the House, including most of the so-called leaders, voted for this bill. This attack in an official party organ sounded as if it came directly from the PAC-CIO and most of us felt it should not so unchallenged.

The following day Mr. Robert Hannegan, Chairman of the National Democratic Committee, who was in Arizona, sent me the following wire:

"I regret that my absence from Washington prevents a conference with you at this time. I want you to know, however, that I personally consider most unfortunate the statement which recently appeared in 'The Democratic Digest' in connection with the Case bill. The statement was written by a former employee who is no longer with the Democratic National Committee and it was placed in the publication inadvertently and without approval. I wish to assure you that it does not represent the attitude of the Committee or of any member of its staff, and I shall be grateful to you if you will convey this thought to all of your colleagues in Congress who have expressed an interest in the matter."

Those of us who love and wish to preserve the Democratic party, and who believe it to be the best available vehicle of service to the American people are determined not to let the CIO run or ruin it.

Electric Co-op Has Part in Emergency Food Program

Full cooperation with the Department of Agriculture in the emergency food program in this community was announced this week by Bernard Voth, President of the Cooke County Electric Cooperative. He offered the facilities of the Cooperative to the emergency food manager for Cooke County, for any use that can be made of them in connection with the program.

REA Administrator Claude R. Wickard, in a letter to all REA borrowers received by the local Cooperative this week, expressed the hope that borrowers would participate in the campaign as a contribution to "winning the peace."

The Cooperative is represented by R. L. McNelley on the USDA Council for Cooke County, which will coordinate the emergency food program in this community.

ESTIMATED VOTING STRENGTH OF STATE NEAR TWO MILLION

AUSTIN.— Texas will have an estimated voting strength of 1,838,596 in the 1946 primaries and general election, figures announced by the comptroller indicated.

This would be more than 250,000 in excess of 1944's voting strength.

Comptroller George Sheppard said reports from county tax assessor-collectors showed a total of 1,334,614 poll taxes and 103,982 exemptions claimed.

It has been conservatively estimated that the vote of service men and women, who are exempt from payment of the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting this year, will be approximately 400,000.

This would bring the total to 1,838,596, and possibly more, since exemptions are reported only from cities of 10,000 or more population.

BUBBLE GUM SOARS SKY HIGH IN BLACK MARKET

HARLINGEN.— School kids chewed happily unperturbed by their elders' discovery of the latest black market — in bubble gum.

Reports were that the war-scarce gum was back, but not available at the customary nickel a package. Fifteen cents was the price.

Bubble gum by the stick, in sales between students, was reported to have reached skyscraper prices — as high as a quarter for a penny stick.

"Is this a healthful town?" asked a homeseker of a native.

"Yes, certainly," was the reply. "When I came here I hadn't the strength to utter a word, I had scarcely any hair on my head, I couldn't walk across the room and had to be lifted from my bed."

"You give me hope," cried the homeseker with enthusiasm. "How long have you lived here?"

Take Shots To Guard Against Typhoid Fever Health Officer Advises

Austin, Texas.— If you have not been vaccinated against typhoid fever within the last two or three years, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, advises you to go to your doctor or to the nearest health officer and have him give you the three "shots" that will protect you against the disease.

"The three shots that will protect against typhoid are given at intervals of one week apart," Dr. Cox stated. "As it takes some time for the protective treatment to be established throughout the system, it is wise not to delay in having it done. My advise is, have it done now so that immunization may be complete before summer arrives and vacation trips are taken."

This advise was addressed particularly to persons, whose business or pleasure during the summer will take them to places where there may be doubt as to the purity or safety of the water supply, or as to the care with which food is handled.

The old adage that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is particularly applicable to this disease, which is so dangerous and debilitating when it does occur, and which can be prevented so easily through immunization.

MASH WAS MELLOW, SC WERE THE PIGS

CHILDRESS.— The practice of feeding mash to pigs after being used in a bootlegging still has long been recognized, and knowledge of it almost caused City Veterinarian Raymond Hander to accuse a farmer of illegal brewing.

Hander found the farmer's pigs staggering and falling down in a highly intoxicated state. He was ready to make his accusations when he learned the farmer had been feeding the pigs water-soaked grain.

The grain just soaked too long and got mellow — so did the pigs.

SYMBOLIC NUN GARB WORN BY BERGMAN IN BELLS OF ST. MARY'S

Ingrid Bergman's nun wardrobe for "The Bells of Saint Mary's" was not copied from any one of the many religious orders of the Catholic Church.

Instead, her robes are representative of all orders of sisterhood, made possible through the cooperation of Mrs. A.C. Deming of Redlands, Calif., who possesses the world's largest authentic collection of nun gowns.

From at least twenty of the doll robes, Edith Head, designer of women's wardrobe for "The Bells," selected one feature each and combined them in Sister Benedict's habit, worn in the picture, which plays at the Relax Theatre on April 27, 28 and 29.

conducive to the general welfare, therefore it has to be democratic. Of course it must be remembered that the claim of one person, or even a hundred does not necessarily prove that the certain measure is conducive to general welfare.

But regardless of the merits of any proposal in relation to the public good, its democracy can be measured by just one word—freedom, which is the very essence of democracy. If people are not free to make a choice the proposal is socialistic. Compulsory health insurance is socialistic because the individual has to participate whether he likes it or not. The same is true of social security.

As a matter of comparison—and also to boost a community project—consider the cooperative hospital association. Now there's a plan that is democratic. Participation in it is strictly voluntary. If a person likes the provisions he can join the group and be eligible for its benefits. If not, he doesn't have to join. Socialized medicine does not work that way. A man pays whether he likes the service or not. What's more he probably would not like it as well because doctors would hold their jobs by political appointment rather than service to the public.

Did you know that nearly one and a half million veterans are now drawing unemployment pay? That's the figure released by Washington, and it does not include the vast number now going to school under provision of the GI bill of rights.

Nancy Jo Ericson, at seven and a half years, is a successful model.

She has earned enough in the five years she has worked before the cameras of the finest photographers in the country and in the bright footlights before the most discriminating style show audiences to assure her a college education and her own hope chest.

Nancy Jo is a typical little lady and likes clothes. Her Chicago bedroom closet is full of frilly dresses and nice shoes. The cedar hope chest is filled with sweaters, for Nancy Jo is a 1946 model sweater girl when she is not before the camera.

Also, tucked away in the chest are several dozen grownup hope chest gifts which have been sent her by friends, relatives and some of the advertising executives who have been pleased with her modelling.

Nancy has never studied modelling, but she turns on a brilliant smile when and as requested and assumes at once the positions and attitudes ordered when she works. She knows how to get the most for the camera from her dimples, her warm blue eyes and her long black lashes. At times she wears lipstick, but she does not like it and is glad to wipe it off when a picture is finished.

Her face and trim figure are seen often in national magazines and newspapers and occasionally on billboards advertising soft drinks, foods, clothes, toys and a variety of other products. In each picture she seems to show a different face, a different personality. Once in a while she poses with her mother, Mrs. Evelyn Ericson, who models those modern young mother pictures.

Nancy Jo's future seems one of the few sure things in this troubled world. She takes dancing lessons now. Drama, singing and music lessons are scheduled to start soon. Even if Hollywood never does find out what they are missing in her beauty and poise, she can settle down to a good long life of pleasant modelling work.

So it goes. As in every provision yet inaugurated to furnish public help to those who need it, we have had an equal or greater number of chiselers and loafers living up for their share of the easy money.

News reports a few days ago revealed that American army personnel are putting up a big beef about the treatment Draja Mihailovich is receiving in Yugoslavia. The column takes pleasure in mentioning this because it bears out a comment made here some weeks ago. According to our own soldiers Mihailovich was friendly and cooperative and never failed to give them valuable assistance. That doesn't harmonize so well with the pro-Nazi charges we have been hearing.

We might also note in passing that our soldiers also have stories about the shabby treatment they got from Tito, Mihailovich's political enemy and Stalin's Balkan stooge.
