VOLUME X

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY, MAY 24, 1946

NUMBER 26

The American system of public education has entered a new era. Henceforth a young man can attend college as well as high school at public expense. There's a slight difference concerning sponsorship, high school education being financed by the state and college education by the federal government, but as far as the young man is concerned it is a very welcome provision offering opportunities he might not have had.

Higher education is no longer reserved for those whose dads can afford it, or for the fortunate few who can pay their own way with part time jobs. Every young man now has a college education waiting for him as a premium for voluntary service in the peace time army of navy.

The provision serves other useful purposes. It provides a way to maintain an adequate peace time army thereby offering a ray of hope that the draft can be discontinued.

There's a probability also of raising personnel standards above those of the former peace time army. Whereas volunteers used to consist in large part of shiftless men seeking security without responsibility, many of the new volunteers will be ambitious young men with their eyes on the future.

And it may also prove a solution to employment problems. With a few million more youngsters out of circulation opportunities will be better for the people remaining at home. It may not succeed in equalizing the number of jobs and workers but it will at least improve the present situation.

Considered from several angles — educational opportunity, national security and decreased unemployment — the provision is really attractive. In principle it's fine. We're wondering though, whether the method adopted is the best way to put the principle into practice.

For one thing the program seems too long. The average lad gets out of high school at 18. After 3 years in the service and 4 years in college he's 25 before he's really on his own. The average person prefers to be settled down in his chosen work before that time.

To us it seems the army or navy could very well arrange to incorporate junior college work in a man's three year training course. Let the first year be one of intensive military training, which, after all, is more than the average soldier of the past war had before going into action. That would provide the basic training needed to meet emergencies. Then let the second and third years be devoted to a combination of military and scholastic work. Otherwise carry both schedules through all three years whichever system would work better.

The point is that the traditional short day and short week of the regular army can very well be combined with the short scholastic year to make better use of a soldier's time and return him to civilian life at an earlier age.

And let's not overlook the item of expense to the taxpayer. According to the army's figures the GI student receives paid tuition as high as $500 a year plus a monthly allowance of $65 if he is single and $90 if he has dependents. For the 4 years, $5,120 or $6,700, as the case may be.

If a man were to complete his 3 years' service with 2 years of scholastic work to his credit Uncle Sam could save as much as half the college expense. And that ain't hay to taxpayers already struggling under a terrific burden.

Something the column missed last week because it was not on the beam is a comment on "I am an American Day". Con regrets it, too, because the subject is so very appropriate in these times. More than once this space has been devoted to an urgent plea for Americanism — the solid fundamental principles upon which our founding fathers based the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and the Bill of Rights.

Americanism, as they knew it, was synonymous with democracy, an application of Christianity to everyday living. It recognized the dignity of the individual, his rights and corresponding responsibilities, his nature as a free, independent being with a right to work out his own destiny without interference so long as he does not infringe on the rights of others.

To say "I am an American" means more than just "I am a citizen of America." It means respecting another's rights and

Weather Ideal For Maturing Grain But Not For Harvesting

Favored by another week of ideal growing conditions grain crops of the community are maturing slowly and thoroughly. Heads are well filled with heavy grain indicating a fair yield in spite of an exceptionally poor stand.

Pre-harvest guesses by farmers of the community predict about 15 bushels of wheat per acre and about 40 bushels of oats. All grain is of good quality and should bring top prices unless unfavorable weather strikes before the harvest is completed.

Light rain Tuesday night, called a halt to early cutting which was underway on approximately a third of the farms in the community. Farmers were agreed, however, that a few days of delay will cause little harm whereas the extra moisture and cool weather will give more help to the slower grain.

Muenster Knights Attend State Convention And Initiation At Amarillo

A double bill of Knights of Columbus activity took several Muenster persons to Amarillo the early part of this week. They are Mr. and Mrs. John Wiesler, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Endres, Herbert Meurer, J. M. Weinzapfel and J. W. Fisher.

Weinzapfel and Fisher were there Sunday for a fourth degree initiation in which Walter Bezner and Eugene Schmitz, both of Lindsay, were included in a class of 135 candidates. Both entered as members of the Muenster 4th Degree Assembly.

Weinzapfel discloses that three other names recognized locally were on the candidate list. They are Mike Koelzer, Frank Bezner and Lester Wagner of Hereford.

As secretary of the 4th Degree North Texas district, Weinzapfel remained at Amarillo Monday morning for a meeting of the South Texas district representatives. Monday afternoon he attended a committee meeting on the K of C Student Loan Fund. Both meetings were held in connection with the K of C state convention Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Endres and Wiesler were Muenster delegates to the convention and Meurer, state treasurer, attended as a state officer.

BUD'S SERVICE STATION RE-OPENS IN NEW HOME

Bud's Service Station, out of business since the early part of the war because of hardships imposed by merchandise shortages, is back in operation under the same management and at the same location but in a new building.

Charles "Bud" Bernauer recently completed the stuccoed cement tile structure at the road fork west of the overpass.

Cliff C. Gardner Seeks Re-election As Representative

Convinced that the knowledge and experience he has gained by his previous service in the Texas house of representatives will be of continued benefit and advantage to the people of Cooke county, as well as other sections of the state, friends and political supporters of Cliff C. Gardner have prevailed upon him to offer himself as a candidate for reelection as representative from Cooke county.

It is an indisputable fact that, while they cannot vote in Cooke county, a vast number of the members of the house, in which Mr. Gardner has served, are his staunch friends and they have not overlooked the opportunity to so inform Cooke county citizens when the occasion presented itself.

These men, realizing the regularity with which Mr. Gardner has been present when the house is in session, and the commendable wisdom he has manifested in voting upon measures of importance to the people of Texas, have no hesitancy in commending him for his past service and recommending his return to the legislature for the further good service he is capable of rendering.

Mr. Gardner authorizes this formal announcement of his candidacy for reelection, subject to action of the Democratic primary election next July.

Born in Cooke county and having resided here practically all of his life, he has adhered to and espoused the tenets of the Democratic party.

Rearred on a farm, by sturdy pioneer parents whose accumulation of worldly goods was meager, Mr. Gardner knows from years of experience what it means to make a living by sweat of the brow and manipulation of bodily muscles. Never has his station in life reached what is commonly known as "the white collar" class. He understands the trials and tribulations of the wage earner and is ever sympathetic with them. He also has been engaged in business enterprises of modest proportions, which have given him a definite understanding of business problems — of the great problem created by unreasonably high taxes, to which he is opposed and against which he works consistently.

Any person acquainted with the public education system of Texas and the support given it in the legislature, will state without equivocation that Cliff C. Gardner is one of the most consistent friends of the system and that his support and influence is responsible in large manner for the current liberal appropriations given to the rural and city public schools of the state.

Mr. Gardner is held in esteem by the State Board of Control, with which he works closely in an effort to determine that the eleemosynary institutions of Texas have the funds with which to operate efficiently, thus being able to care for the insane, the deaf, the blind, and other unfortunates. In fact, his legislative judgment

Devastating Storm Brushes Lightly Over Muenster Area

The outer fringes of a storm which took several lives and caused heavy property damage in other parts of North Texas roared through Muenster late Saturday night but did little harm. Scattered hailstone and heavy rain fell for a few minutes about 6 o'clock Saturday evening and again at the time of the storm.

Reports from various sectors of the community were that gusts of wind strained buildings and trees but the only damage reported was from the Linn area where one building was moved on its foundation, several had strips of sheet metal torn off and a building on Miss Willie Sowder's farm was demolished. Windmills, likewise, sustained damage. Grain in some fields was blown over but much of it had righted itself the next day.

Hail was very scattered and caused no noticeable damage. Other communities were less fortunate. A tornado Saturday left Stoneburg in Montague county a shambles and high winds south of Gainesville and near Sanger wrecked several buildings.

SEYLER MOVING GARAGE, HAS TEMPORARY BUILDING UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Construction on a temporary garage for Ben Seyler Motor company got a good start early this week with completion of a 35x70 concrete floor.

The new building, situated at the rear of his former home site, will be made of sheet metal and is to be removed as soon as the permanent building at the front of the lots can be completed. The entire floor then will be taken over by the washing and greasing department.

At the present time Seyler is conducting his business from two locations. His parts department has been moved to the front of the FMA warehouse across the highway from the cheese plant. His work shop is still in the building he has occupied for years.

In accordance with a request made several months ago by Mrs. John Furbach, Seyler intends to complete his move from the old location before June 1.

No indication was given as to what use the Furbachs have planned for their building.

Mail Truck Robbed By 3 Bandits

The Morgan Express Company mail truck, which picks up and delivers mail at Muenster every night, was robbed by three armed bandits at 4:30 a.m. Tuesday. The bandits stopped the driver near Myra, forcing him to drive twenty miles to the city limits of Saint Jo, then robbed him of an estimated $40 in cash and an unknown amount of mail.

C. E. Reed of Wichita Falls, returning to Wichita Falls from Gainesville, was driving on the main road from the Myra cut-off when three men armed with sawed-off shotguns and a machine gun, blocked the road and stopped him, he told investigating officers.

One of the men boarded the truck and forced him at gunpoint to drive to Saint Jo, followed by the two other robbers in another car. There, Reed said, the gunmen released him and the truck and told him not to look back.

Cooke County Sheriff Emory Horn, commenting on the incident, said Reed left Wichita Falls at about 12:15 a.m., enroute to Gainesville on his regular route for Morgan Express company which handles mail runs to districts south, east and north of Wichita Falls.

Before reaching Nocona he observed that he was being followed by a car. When he stopped there to leave and pick up mail he notified the night watchman and they searched for the car but could not find it. The same thing occurred at Saint Jo, and he next observed the car near Muenster. It followed him to the city limits of Gainesville and police were notified but a search still failed to locate the car. Reed went on to Myra without being molested but as he returned to the highway he found the road blocked and it was there the hold up occurred.

Bishop Danglmayr Confirms At Montague, Henrietta; Visits Here

The Most Rev. Augustine Danglmayr, Auxiliary Bishop of Dallas, officiated Sunday at confirmation services in Montague and Henrietta. He came to Muenster Saturday evening and spent until Tuesday here visiting members of his family.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hellman, Mrs. Tony Gremminger, Miss Agnes Esker, Frank Felderhoff and eight local Benedictine Sisters assisted as a choir at the confirmation services in Montague.

Bishop Danglmayr's brother and sister, Albert Danglmayr and Mrs. Hubert Felderhoff, accompanied him back to Dallas and spent the day visiting their mother, Mrs. Joseph Danglmayr at Saint Paul's hospital, where she continues as a patient following a major operation.

Paul Nieball, Jr. Can Return Home After Next Skin Graft Operation

Paul Nieball Jr. expects to be home in about three weeks. That was the cheering news brought back by his parents Tuesday evening after visiting with him for two days at the Methodist Hospital in Dallas.

At the present time he is getting along very well and doctors expect to release him after one more skin graft operation, Paul Nieball said. He is on his feet occasionally now and expects to be up most of the time when he returns home.

Paul Jr. has been in the Dallas hospital since March 13 after spending 3 months at a Gainesville hospital with burn injuries sustained here on Dec. 10.

He has had two skin graft operations, both in recent weeks, and a total of 14 blood transfusions.

Little Change Noted In Mrs. Meurer's Condition

Little change is noted in the condition of Mrs. Herbert Meurer during the past week according to reports available here Wednesday. Severe burns sustained on May 1 and toxic complications resulting from them continue to cause intense internal and external pain.

Her friends are encouraged, however, by the fact that she has been able to take nourishment for more than a week and her strength is bearing up under the strain.

The Three Horsemen of Death

Speed, liquor and faulty vision are the three horsemen of death now galloping on America's highways. With automobile fatalities running 50 per cent higher than last year, the Better Vision Institute predicts that if current accident rates continue, 1946 will see 40,000 dead, 1,000,000 maimed, on the public highways. Speed is reported as a major cause in 20 per cent of fatal accidents. One out of every five drivers of death cars noticeably "had been drinking." Faulty vision of drivers or poor seeing conditions because of weather, etc., are found among the underlying causes in a majority of fatal highway accidents.

TP & L ANNOUNCES 5TH MAJOR REDUCTION IN LOCAL ELECTRIC RATE

A reduction of electric service rates in Muenster, effecting a substantial saving for residential commercial and small power users of electric service in the city, was announced by C. B. Stringer, district manager for the Texas Power & Light Company. This will be the fifth major reduction in electric service rates here since 1929. Mr. Stringer pointed out, adding that, based upon the amount of service used by residential customers during the past year, the average rate paid under the new schedule will be about half the average rate paid by Muenster residents in 1929.

This latest rate reduction becomes effective on June 1 in Muenster and will be applied on residential and commercial consumption after the end of this month.

"We are gratified that efficient management and increased use of service by our customers makes this reduction in electric service rates possible, even though practically all other commodities and services are following an upward trend in prices," Mr. Stringer said. "This reduction is a part of a general rate reduction throughout the area served by the company, which, when completed this year, will save the customers of the company more than $1,000,000 annually."

"We are simply following our custom of giving voluntary rate reductions when the company's volume of business, diversification, and other conditions make such reductions possible. It has always been the continuing policy of the Texas Power & Light Company to make electric service available at the lowest possible cost to its customers. This is evidenced by the fact that immediately upon formation of the company and its acquisition of the properties in the thirteen towns originally comprising the territory served, a general reduction was made, and since that time, rate reductions have been made frequently."

CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S WORKSHOP BOUGHT BY EASTER SEAL SALES

Commerce, Texas.— A sheltered workshop, where handicapped young people of Texas can learn crafts and trades that will make them self-sustaining, has been established in Dallas, according to an announcement by Dr. Sam H. Whitley of Commerce, President of the Texas Society for Crippled Children. The workshop was financed through the sale of Easter Seals which the Society annually conducts.

In the sheltered workshop children and young people will weave, make wood carvings, costume jewelry and other handicrafts to which the director, Mrs. Clyde W. Myers, finds them adapted. All profits, beyond cost of materials used in the manufacture of the items, will go to the handicapped makers. In addition, spastic children of pre-school age will be given training in muscular reeducation and speech correction.

State Fair Will Furnish Quarters And Meals For 4-H And FFA Exhibitors

Dallas.— School-age exhibitors entering livestock in the Junior division of the State Fair of Texas Oct. 5-8 will be furnished sleeping quarters, and all meals on the Fair Grounds, R. L. Thornton, president of the State Fair association, announced this week.

Responsibility for the housing and feeding of 4-H, Future Farmers and other school age exhibitors will be assumed by the Junior Farm and Ranch committee, Ray Wilson, chairman, said following the meeting last week. The committee will also provide entertainment for the young Fair visitors on Farm and Ranch Youth Day, he announced. According to Wilson, entertainment plans under discussion include tours of Fair Park exhibits and buildings, sightseeing trips through major Dallas industries, and possibly a big show in the Cotton Bowl with top-flight entertainers being imported for the occasion.

Messing facilities will be established in the Fair Grounds to furnish food for participants and visitors, Wilson said. Exhibitors will be housed in dormitories in the livestock area.

Wilson stated that his committee, composed of prominent Dallas business men, would see that youngsters arriving at the Fair Grounds were provided with a safe, directed program from the time of arrival until departure.

GO ELECTRIC RATES

Announcing Another Rate Reduction...

Rates for residential, commercial and small power users of electric service in Muenster have been cut again... the fifth major reduction since 1929! Yes, right when prices on other commodities and services are going up, and when the total cost of living is zooming up... rates for electric service come DOWN!

This latest cut in rates in Muenster is part of a general reduction throughout the area served by the Company, which, when completed this year, will save TP&L customers more than $1,000,000 (one million dollars) annually. This is in keeping with the Company's policy of lowering rates to its patrons just as often and as much as possible.

This rate reduction is made possible by savings arising from increased volume of business, diversification, and efficient management.

The new, lower rates become effective on meter readings on and after June 1, 1946, and add new buying power to the dollar spent for electric service. While the cost of electric service is down its usefulness in the home and business is way up! The real electrical age is just beginning. Scores of new appliances are coming on the market... others are coming out greatly improved. Living electrically is bringing new comforts and conveniences... new thrills for the home and family. And, the new, lower rates make it possible to enjoy them all at amazingly low cost.

Be On Guard Against Communicable Disease Health Officer Warns

Austin, Texas. If every case of suspected communicable disease could be promptly visited either by the family physician or the local health officer, thousands of susceptible persons would be protected from disabling illnesses, according to the State Health Officer.

To quote Dr. Geo. W. Cox, "The old fashioned theory that it is a good thing for children to have a number of the catching diseases and get them over with, has long since been known to be a serious and sometimes fatal error. The longer a child can keep from having these diseases, the better it is for him. Every child should be completely protected by vaccination or inoculation against these diseases where an immunity can be produced."

Prompt diagnosis, isolation, good medical and nursing care give the patient the best chance for a satisfactory recovery without the serious complications that sometimes accompany even the mild forms of communicable diseases. Dr. Cox emphasized that obeying the public health laws regarding isolation and quarantine of communicable diseases protects not only the patient, but helps prevent others from contracting the illness.

DAIRY EXPERT ADVISES HALF ACRE OF SUDAN GRASS FOR EVERY COW

There is still time to plant Sudan grass for high grade mid-summer pasture in this area and insure against a drop in milk production during the hot summer months, according to Oscar Butler, director of milk procurement for the Kraft Foods Company in the Southwestern Division.

Butler urges that every dairy farmer follow the standard recommendation of one-half acre of Sudan grass per cow, pointing out the vital need for increased milk production this year. Sudan grass can be planted through early June and still make pasture he said.

"In recent weeks, there has been no let-up in the heavy demand for milk products," he said. "With cow numbers down nationally, it is important that every farmer do all he can to raise the total volume of milk produced on his farm during the balance of the year."

"Sudan grass grows rapidly and seeded at this time will produce much more milk than can be obtained from native pastures, which normally decline in hot weather. Tests in various states show gains up to 30 per cent in milk volume resulting from Sudan grass."

Sudan grass should be planted in fertile or well fertilized soil.

he pointed out, to insure maximum grazing and to provide all the food elements the cow needs. Recent tests reported from one state showed that application of 50 pounds of high nitrate fertilizer per acre increased the Sudan grass yield 1,294 lbs. over an unfertilized plot. When 100 lbs of fertilizer was applied per acre, the yield was 1,474 lbs. of grass greater than on the unfertilized plot.

His parents and his brother, R. N. Fette, left Thursday to attend the program and Herbert and his brother, Jerome who finished first year high at the same school this term, will accompany them home. It was on an anniversary when gifts are usually considered in order, but the busy young mother had not even had time to consider whether she would receive one. Nevertheless, the doorbell rang in the morning, and there stood a friend smiling.

Washington Notes

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., May 18.—The House Committee on Immigration has reported out the Gossett bill. The bill has five sections which exclude certain types of undesirable aliens. However, the Committee by a vote of 8 to 10 struck out the section which would have reduced immigration quotas by 50 per cent for a period of ten years. Voting for quota reductions were 5 Democrats and 3 Republicans, while voting against quota reductions were 5 Democrats and 5 Republicans.

This Sunday I have been invited to appear on the National Broadcasting Company's National Hour, formerly called the Army Hour. This program is to be devoted to immigration. I will make the following remarks:

"Those immigrants who first came to our shores came as pioneers to carve an empire out of the wilderness. Those who came later did so in response to a need for workers. Today there is no wilderness, and no need for additional workers. Most aliens who come today are not assets, but liabilities to American life. Those of us who advocate a temporary reduction in immigration quotas are not lacking in sentiment. We have gladly welcomed and facilitated the entry of 100,000 alien brides of our returning soldiers. Students and temporary visitors are free to come. We would permit others to come who have any just claim on our bounty. But along with isolation we also repudiate the policy of appeasement. We can't buy European friendship by opening our doors to her refugees. We do our full duty when we send them food and clothes and money to the limit of our ability and resources. Our task becomes more complicated if we must also open our homes to them.

"If they are worth anything to us they are worth more to their home lands. As the efficient spokesman for the American Legion well said, the right sort of alien is needed to rebuild his own country, not ours. His opportunities for service are there, not here. Comparatively we now have more aliens within our boundaries than any nation on the face of the earth. We should give this melting pot of ours a little more time in which to melt. We should not needlessly complicate the stress and strain of our reconversion problems. Enlightened self-interest dictates present restraints on further immigration. We must make America fit and strong for her role as guardian of the peace."

On Thursday night of this week, at the invitation of Washington radio station WWDC I discussed for 15 minutes changing our electoral college system of electing Presidents. I expect soon to make a 30-minute speech on the floor of the House on this subject. Under our present system a Presidential candidate who gets a few votes majority in a state gets all of the electoral vote of that particular state. The system is made to order for organized, selfish minority pressure groups who are up for sale to the highest bidder.

In the 1944 national conventions both parties wrote the FPCC into their platforms simply and solely as an effort to get the negro vote. The negro vote in New York City, Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago holds the balance of power in those pivotal states. Both parties equivocated and pussy-footed on the strike situation because of the CIO vote in these same areas. The present electoral college system is a political bottleneck which stymies and thwarts the will of a majority of the people of this country.

The Congress this week voted a temporary extension of the draft. The armed services and others keep crying that a year's extension of the draft is essential to win the peace, etc. Other persons, who think our country should remain the strongest nation on earth, feel we are temporizing with the draft, whereas we should immediately enact time programs and should pass immediately upon the question of what kind of a peacetime training program is necessary. In other words permanent policies should now be determined.

Strikes continue to be the serious problem on our domestic front. Ever increasing prices and wages in the big industries has led and is leading the inflation parade. As this letter is written the railroads threaten to strike, notwithstanding the government's taking them over. Apparently the government has lost all prestige and power in dealing with management-labor difficulties. More than four years ago on the House floor I predicted that the President's labor policies would be some the Achilles heel of his administration. The chickens seem to have come home to roost in a big way.

Chinese Proverb

The Chinese have a proverb. In fact a precept, which if carried to fruition would cure the ills of the world. It is:

If there is righteousness in the heart, there will be beauty in the character. If there is beauty in the character, there will be harmony in the home. If there is harmony in the home, there will be order in the nation. If there is order in the nation, there will be peace in the world.

Urges Cooperation In Famine Relief Drive

That extra can of food you have on your pantry shelf may help one of the five hundred million people in danger of starvation. Not even in the dark ages were hunger and misery so widespread as it is today.

We can share to lessen this tragedy by sharing our food. Every person is being given an opportunity to share in this most needed cause through the Famine Relief Drive. The food drive now in progress in Cooke County is a part of the program. You are asked to give surplus canned food. The food must be canned in tin cans.

Take an inventory of your canned food; you might find some you canned last year or maybe two years ago. Replace this with this years supply and give what you have now to the needy.

We have fresh vegetables and poultry that can and should be used at this time instead of canned food.

The food will be packed at the Fair Park Home Demonstration Club Building. Many schools will be collection centers and Home Demonstration Clubs will assist in this collection. If you do not have a center in your community bring your contribution to the Club Building. Cash donations are also accepted and should be left at the Chamber of Commerce Office.

We've been living, since Pearl Harbor, in a period of "Campaigns", "Drives", and slogans. But this is more than a campaign. It is a voluntary program to save lives.

HOW MANY TIMES DID YOU "JAY-WALK" THIS WEEK?

HE WAS "JAY-WALKING," TOO!

Accidents Don't Always Happen to Somebody Else!
Check Up on the Chances You Take Every Day!

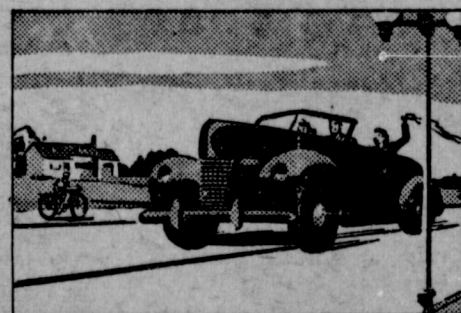

950,000 people were killed or injured in auto accidents last year! And the menace is growing! With the average car over eight years old, accidents involving defective equipment have more than doubled! In the four months after gas rationing ended, total auto deaths jumped 36%!

Certainly, somebody should do something about it. But the only one who can do anything really effective . . . is you! For most accidents come from carelessness . . . from the "little" chances we all take—the little repairs we neglect to make! Yes, it's up to you! You can cut down America's accident rate simply by not letting an accident happen to you. Watch yours!

He'd made a habit of it . . . walking against the light at intersections . . . dashing across in mid-block. Like you, he'd gotten away with it so long he never gave the danger a thought. Yet 7,500 people were killed this way last year. Do you think it can't happen to you?

I "jay-walk" when I'm in a hurry.
 I'm always careful crossing streets.

How many chances do you take every day?

- I exceeded the speed limit today.
- I never go over the speed limit.

Do you try to make up time by speeding? Do you take curves too fast . . . or forget how quickly you lose control on wet, icy pavement? Last year 1 out of 3 auto deaths involved driving at unsafe speeds. Is it worth your life to save 5 minutes?

- I mix drinking and driving.
- I never drive "under the influence."

Do you figure a few drinks don't really affect your reactions? Why fool yourself—records reveal that drinking by pedestrian or driver played a part in 1 out of 4 traffic deaths last year. Play it safe—if you take a drink—don't take the driver's seat!

- I only slow down at stop signs.
- I stop completely at every stop sign.

Do you chisel on stop signs—often sneaking through instead of coming to a full stop? Do you try to beat the light when it's turning red? Half of last year's auto deaths involved just such criminal carelessness. Better be safe than sorry.

The Will Rogers Speech

It is little wonder that Will Rogers was so universally loved, for he always sought ways of pleasing people. He was scheduled to give an address once at a dinner to be held in Eddie Cantor's honor. Long before the affair the cowboy-humorist became very mysterious and very busy. No amount of prying would loosen his tongue. The answer came the night of the dinner, Rogers gave a delightful talk — a half hour talk all in Yiddish. He had been attending Columbia University all those past weeks preparing the speech. Just a little friendly jesture from Rogers to Cantor.

and his personal charm are recognized by every state department, as may be determined by any interested Cooke county citizen who makes inquiry. Such persons will find that the legislative welfare of Cooke county is in splendid hands, when entrusted to Cliff Gardner.

Many more testimonials to his popularity and influence in Austin could truthfully be included in this announcement. Suffice it to say, he has an enviable record for regularity of attendance at legislative sessions; his votes on measures of importance, reflect study and a desire to enact legislation that he believes is for the most good of the greatest number. The fact that he is not a newcomer to the legislative halls, itself carries prestige and influence for his constituents in Cooke county. At this period, when so many subjects of vital importance to Texas are certain to come before the next session of the legislature, it appears the part of wisdom for the voters of Cooke county to return to the legislature, a man who already has established a reputation for soundness in judgment, integrity in his vote, and social popularity with his fellow members and state officials.

Mr. Gardner will endeavor to see as many voters as possible before election day, but he requests them to earnestly consider this announcement for reelection as a solicitation of their vote and their influence. If reelected, he pledges himself to render the best service as a legislator of which he is capable. (Pol. Adv.)

accepting responsibilities while insisting on one's own rights. It means applying a standard of integrity comparable to the dignity one claims. It means a sincere belief in the slogan stamped on every American coin: "In God We Trust."

That's the reason why this country, with a constitution based on respect for God and neighbor and a clear understanding of man's dignity, should forever be a haven of liberty, equality and justice. When we depart from the ideals inherent in the term Americanism we forfeit our right to call ourselves American.

We're having lots of strife and confusion nowadays. The farther we get away from Americanism the more of it we will have. The sooner we revive real Americanism the sooner we will return to a sound footing.

Meanwhile it is well to remember that the country is made up of individuals, each of whom can do his part toward restoring American ideals by living up to the standards of Americanism.

In the quarters of a certain Mohammedan trader, a visitor discovered a handsome copy of the Bible printed in English. Knowing that his host could neither read nor write in that language, the visitor inquired why it was kept there.

"When a new trader with whom I have had no previous dealings comes to me, I put this book in his way", said the owner of the volume. "If he handles it with care and respect I feel that I can trust him. But if he casts it aside with a sneer or a curse I will have nothing to do with him.

"A man applied at a recruiting office to enlist.

Officer: "I suppose you want a commission?"

Recruit: "No, thanks. I'm such a poor shot, I'd rather work on a straight salary."
