High Rainfall Amounts Cause Erosion Problems

Erosion control and moisture conservation are two big advantages of having a terrace or a terrace system installed on your land.

High rainfall amounts in a short time period have caused some major erosion problems in part of the county. In most cases, the only way to correct this erosion problem is to construct a terrace or a system of terraces.

By building terraces, the land is using the water that normally runs off in the form of silt. This water is stored in the soil profile for crop use. Terraces can be planted to grass or wheat and used as windstrips.

Parallel terraces of today are not as big as the old contour, broad base terraces built years ago.

Today's terraces have steeper slopes, usually 6:1 side slopes and 7 row base width. These terraces are widely spaced in row multiples that fit today's equipment.

Diversion terraces work well on steeper slopes where outside water is a problem. Erosion occurring on a part of a field can be corrected with a diversion terrace in most cases.

A basin terrace is larger than a diversion terrace and is constructed where a parallel system is not feasible.

Cost share is available through the Great Plains Conservation Program and Agriculture Conservation Program.

Producers with major water erosion problems on cropland need to have it corrected 1993. The 1993, deadline is the last year producers will remain eligible for all USDA benefits as directed by the 1985, Farm Bill. Producers interested in Erosion control, moisture conservation and wanting further information on terrace should contact Marren Givens, Technician for the Soil Conservation Service located at 105 East Ave. D. in Muleshoe.

Commissioners Discuss High Speed Rail System

A discussion was held concerning TGV High Speed Rail System, during Commissioners Court Monday morning. Judge Cox had a letter from Tony L. Hoelscher, County Commissioner-Falls Co. and read in part:

The Texas TGV High Speed Rail System is proposed to go through the state of Texas. According to the many studies and the recent study by the Department of Transportation, this bullet train will end up costing taxpayers billions of dollars in subsidies. The only benefit to this High Speed Rail System will be to four cities, Houston, Dallas, Austin and San Antonio.

Through the eminent domain act, landowners in the State of Texas will be forced to release their land to this High Speed Rail Facility of which 42.5 percent will be owned by Ahmed Mannai, a wealthy Arab investor.

We urge you to consider the facts that we have forwarded to you and we are asking your county to pass a resolution opposing this High Speed Rail system in the State of Texas, under the present proposal.

The following was taken from the Thursday, November 14, 1991 issue of Temple Daily Telegram, Temple, Texas.

Such high-speed systems will require billions of dollars in government subsidies, said a panel of experts reporting the results of a Transportation Department financed study.

"The country should travel in this new direction with its eyes open, but the time has come to start thinking seriously about making the journey," said Lawrence Dahms, who directed the study under the auspices of the National Research Council, an arm of the National Academy of Sciences.

The following resolutions were passed at the Texas Farm Bureau State Convention in Lubbock on December 3, 1991.

"We should assist Texas landowners and farmers in resisting the wasteful use of land for Texas High Speed Transit or bullet train. We should propose alternate plans such as along present interstate highways or better utilization of the present Amtrak system.

"We recommend that all property owned by high speed rail companies be taxed the same as all utilities, privately held co-ops, and other transportation companies. Damages should be assessed on property as a whole, when divided by rail route. Agriculture access to divided property shall be provided on same property.

The commissioners voted to oppose the High Speed Transit Train.

The commissioners met in a special session Monday morning with a lengthy agenda. Minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read and county

4.7 Earthquake Shakes Area

A small earthquake, measuring 4.7 on the Richter scale rumbled through the High Plains area and parts of New Mexico at 5:46 a.m. Thursday, December 2.

Inez Flores, Muleshoe resident, reports feeling her bed shake. Several other individuals heard a booming noise in connection with the quake.

After being shaken awake, High Plains citizens affected by the small quake began to peg geologists who located the quake's epicenter at 35 miles southeast of Hobbs, N.M. and 50 miles north of Odessa. This was according to the U. S. Geological Survey National Earthquake Information Center.

There were no damage reports, but pictures were reported to have been thrown off the wall near Hobbs.

KAMC-TV did report cracks in a ceiling or two near Odessa. The "light earthquake" was felt from the Lubbock area northward to the Panhandle and west to Roswell.

The Lubbock Avalanche-Journal reported that the cause of the earthquake is unknown, but that it is possible that some West Texas earthquakes stem from oil recovery. The AJ also noted that Melinda Simpson, who lives in Kermit, said her mobile home was shaken. "It felt like someone was outside just rocking the trailer back and forth," she said. "Everything was rattling. It woke me up, and lasted probably about 30 seconds."

The only reported damage, according to the AJ, was in Eunice, N.M., where police received a call about cracks in walls and another about broken glass.

John Weadock, news director for KENW-TV in Portales, New Mexico reports that although Portales was not seriously affected by an earthquake that occurred at 5:45 a.m. Thursday, January 2, it was measured at 4.7 on the Richter scale. Police in Roswell, Hobbs, Lovington and Carlsbad report that "hundreds of people called to report feeling the quake, but that no damage was reported in those areas."

State police dispatcher in Roswell said the ground "shook there for 15 seconds. The epicenter of the quake was reported to be 35 miles southeast of Hobbs and 50 miles north of Odessa.

Both AP and ABC's "Good Morning America" made reports on the quake.

Preheat oven to 350°. Remove waxed paper from ground beef mixture. If desired, season spinach with additional salt and pepper. Spread spinach over ground beef mixture leaving 1-inch border. Spread rice evenly over spinach. Roll, starting at long end and using foil as a guide, jelly-roll style, removing foil while rolling; seal edges tightly. In 13 x 9-inch baking pan, place meat loaf seam-side down. Bake 1 hour or until done. Let stand 15 minutes before serving. Cut into 1-inch slices. Makes about 8 servings.

Venison Treat

With deer-hunting season in full swing, and Christmas just around the corner, venison will no doubt be the main course on many a Texas table.

"Properly prepared it's hard to beat," said Dr. Dale Rollins, wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in San Angelo. "But woe be unto the hunter serving poorly handled venison on Christmas. It can turn the most open-minded consumer away forever."

This unhappy outcome can easily be avoided with a few simple precautions, Rollins said. Aside from the dire social and gastrointestinal consequences stemming from consuming spoiled meat, it's state law that game taken be maintained in an edible condition.

"A lot of us learned the hard way that it's best to take a little extra time immediately after the harvest to ensure a topnotch product on the table."

Rollins offers these tips to hunters striving to serve the finest fare to their holiday guests:

"Field dress your deer immediately if possible. If you want to age the meat or otherwise leave the carcass intact, leave the hide on to prevent drying of the meat's outer surface.

"To increase the tenderness and flavor of the meat, age the carcass in cold storage a little above freezing for four to six days. If you're going to process the animal in the field, remove the hide soon after field dressing. If the weather is warm, remove the backstraps and quarter the carcass and place in an ice chest.

Extension Service county offices have pamphlets available on processing and preparing venison and other game, Rollins said.

"A little care in processing and preparing will leave a good taste in everybody's mouth."

One of the most severe cold spells of the season hit this section last Saturday night and Sunday. Starting with a north wind Saturday morning, the temperature began to drop, till by night an old time Plains norther was howling and snow in light flurries was falling. The storm continued throughout Sunday and Monday morning was one of the coldest this winter with a temperature reading at the government station of 10 degrees above zero. Spells like this one have driven Mexican and Negro cotton pickers to the sunny climates of the Rio Grande and deep East Texas. There are hundreds of bales of cotton in fields over the county, and some farmers say that spring will see gins running while ground is being prepared for another crop.

Chamber of Commerce members this week received a bulletin containing the results of a consumer survey report recently conducted by the Retail Committee of the Muleshoe Chamber. The report shows mixed feelings on the part of respondents to the survey, but shows that Muleshoe ranks high in the area as a place to live, work and shop. Of the three areas mentioned above, the shopping facet of the city was ranked lowest by those answering the survey. When asked if they thought Muleshoe a good place to live, 95 percent answered yes. Questioned about their opinion of Muleshoe as a good place to work, 89 percent answered yes. Shopping was rated good in Muleshoe by 79

As with many Jaycee projects, the Outstanding Young Farmer Award originated when a local chapter thought it would be a good idea to select and honor their area's outstanding young farmer. The project aroused interest in the neighboring chapters and it became a state project.

In 1954, OYF was proposed to the U.S. Jaycees Board of Directors as a national project. The board immediately recognized the great potential of the program and made it the number one agricultural program of the U.S. Jaycees.

A national co-sponsor withdrew and the program operated for six years. The project enjoyed participation figures among the highest of any Jaycee program.

Chamber Comments

By Carolyn Johnson

Being married to a former fighter pilot, the movie "The Right Stuff" is almost as familiar to me as "The Wizard of Oz". I've seen it many times. A familiar sight in this movie is the latest model jet plane being tested in the sky, leaving behind a long white vapor trail.

As people, we're a lot that way. We are constantly being tested and we all leave our own trails that can help or harass, infect or inspire. Think about it...

...Nelda Merritt leaves a trail of enthusiasm. Hours after talking with her, you still feel great!

...Robert Montgomery leaves a trail of leadership. A conversation with him helps steer you in the right direction.

...Hector Leal leaves a trail of generosity. His unselfishness and concern is gratifying.

...Harvey Bass leaves a trail of optimism. Just being around him, you feel better.

...Judy Logsdon leaves a trail of kindness. Her cheerful smile is her trademark.

...James Shepard leaves a trail of hope and progressive ideas. He inspires you!

...Robert Hooten leaves a trail of wisdom and experience. Muleshoe is fortunate to have him as a Chamber Director.

...Paul Poyner leaves a trail of happiness and humor. A visit with him makes your day.

...Judy Watson leaves a trail of admirable spunk and grit.

...I could go on...and on... What kinds of trails will you leave in 1992?

Think about it! The "in" thing right now at Earlham College in Richmond, Indiana is driving on campus with a Muleshoe, Texas bumper sticker on your vehicle. At least, that's what the students at the college there tell us.

It all started when Jennie Lou Paschall, a grandmother to one of the students called the Chamber Office. Her grandson, Jeff Sims, was cast in a play "Wild Oats"--a western comedy supposedly written about Muleshoe, Texas and being performed in the Wilkinson Theatre on the Earlham Campus. Muleshoe is mentioned numerous times in the program and throughout the play. In fact, the opening scene of Wild Oats is a barroom brawl that takes place in the biggest saloon in Muleshoe!

Anyway, Mrs. Paschall called because grandson Jeff and all the cast members of Wild Oats wanted to know if there really was a Muleshoe, Texas. Rather than just answering "yes" and telling Mrs. Paschall about our town, we put together packets of information all about Muleshoe and sent them to cast members of the Theatre.

Our office is still receiving letters and calls from Indiana. Some are thank you's. Others are requests for bumper stickers or mule pins. It seems Wild Oats was a huge success on campus and Muleshoe is more popular there now than a frat party.

One call was from a group of students that are putting together plans to visit Muleshoe this summer. It's a long way from Richmond, Indiana to Muleshoe, Texas. I'm sure they will come into town tired, hungry, and thirsty. No doubt, their first quest here will be to find that huge saloon portrayed in the play. Think they'll settle for a cup of coffee and a spudnut?

We have a new slogan for the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. The old slogan, "Doing Things That Most People Think Just Happen" has been replaced with "Where The Strength Of The Community Is In The People". We feel this more accurately depicts the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture!

Our bouquet of the week goes to three deserving individuals--our Directors who are leaving our board after serving three year terms. They are Robert Montgomery, Inez Bobo, and Lonnie Adrian. A bouquet to each of them for three years of a job well done.

On behalf of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, we wish you all a very happy and prosperous new year.

Kiwanis News

By R.A. Bradley

Eight Kiwanians, two honorary Kiwanians and two guests met Friday morning at the Dairy Queen for breakfast. The Kiwanis Club would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to everyone for your help in 1991, and we wish each and everyone a happy and wonderful 1992.

Just think--only 356 days until Christmas. That means you have 356 days to get for this Christmas and pay everything ready for next. All kidding aside, we hope everyone had a wonderful Holiday Season and are ready to make 1992, the best ever, 1992, depends on you and I, so let us make it the best we can.

Our honorary Kiwanians present Friday morning were: Bekki Bowan and Rob Clapp. Our guests were Ryan Clapp and Kevin Morris. It was good to have each of you young people with us. So many of our Kiwanians may have forgot and thought this was Tuesday instead of Friday. When school starts back, maybe everyone will get back in the groove. No Sweetheart this morning, Tiffany was either still celebrating Christmas, New Years or the short vacation from school--or maybe all three. Tiffany we are sure that all was good to you and for you. See you next Friday.

President Larry Parker called the meeting to order. Herb Langfitt had the pledge and R.A. Bradley gave the invocation. Don Clapp, who had been looking for a friend for two weeks, did not have to much of a choice this morning so he gave the Friendship coin to Brad. Our program was a discussion of some of the things the Kiwanis Club could do this year. There are many options.

Programs were lined up for a while. Tom Bowen was picked for next Friday. That is if someone doesn't take their fist and close his other eye. It seems that Tom got a piece of gravel in his eye--So he says. Tom take care of that eye.

SECRETARY--Billie Downing is the new secretary for the Bailey County Extension Agents office. The office moved to their new location just before Christmas. (Journal Photo)

Among people generally corrupt liberty cannot long exist.

-Edmund Burke.

Free people, remember this maxim: We may acquire liberty, but it is never recovered if it is once lost.

-J.J. Rousseau.

METRONOME... Pulsebeat for Music.

CHURCH... Pulsebeat for your New Year's Resolutions.

Beginners in music study have to have help in timing their practice.

The Metronome is a reminder to stay on the right beat.

The Church is the means through which God pronounces his word. God's word sets up the highest ideals for man to live by. Therefore there is no better ground to base your New Year Resolutions on, than those set up by our Lord.

"Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
I am not a jealous person and I have great trust in my husband but I have been worried
these past few weeks
about something.
It is this: he has been having lunch with his secretary every day.
He hasn't tried to hide
it and I don't think anything is wrong with this,
but I think others may get the wrong impression. What's your advice?
Puzzled--N.J.

Answer:
Why not casually suggest to him that he not make a regular habit of lunching with his secretary. Tell him some gossips might try to make something of it.
We hear people say they do not care what other people think as long as they are behaving themselves. However, life can be much more pleasant if we are not gossiped about.

Answer:
I agree with a part of
what your son has said
and that is college is not
what it used to be.
However, if you look carefully, and your
daughter has been taught
what is right and wrong,
she should be able to cope with situations
which occur.
I think your best bet
would be a school, not too large and probably one sponsored by your church.
Good luck.

Dear Louisa,
I married when I was very young and soon got tired of being a married woman and divorced my husband.
I had two babies in the first three years.
We tried our best to live
a happy life but we had no fun and no money. I divorced him and he got custody of the children.
I married a second time
and divorced again.
I see my children but they couldn't care less about me.
If I thought my husband would take me back I would do almost anything, but I don't know how to tell him
how I feel.
Do you have any suggestions?
N.P.--Tenn.

Answer:
I agree with a part of
what your son has said
and that is college is not
what it used to be.
However, if you look
carefully, and your
daughter has been taught
what is right and wrong,
she should be able to

Answer:
It is a pity many of us never consider the long range results of our actions and take the easy way out of difficult situations.
Sometimes it takes a long while to do this but the person who thinks a bit more about duty rather than pleasure will find more happiness in the long run than the quitter who gives in when the going gets a bit rough.

Dear Louisa,
We have one daughter and one son. The son has finished college and has a good job. Our daughter will be ready to enter college this next year.
Now our problem is this. Our daughter is eager to start her college career and to get a good education but our son says that college is not like it used to be and he is afraid for her to go there.
He is afraid she will not be able to cope with all the temptations.
What do you think about this?
