Gossett Announces Platform in Race For Representative

Congressman Ed Gossett has authorized the Enterprise to publish the following announcement of his candidacy for reelection.

In these days of labor troubles and super abundance of ballyhoo on the many things that should be done for the working man, we find few statements that express our basic troubles as concisely as that posted by an Indiana firm: "The need of a good job for every man is not as great as the need of a good man for every job."

Current conditions are proving how very true that statement is. For quite a number of years we have proceeded on the assumption that nothing else matters so much as the social and economic welfare of the worker. Volumes of publicity were devoted to promotion of his rights and privileges for every paragraph that was devoted to his responsibility.

As a result, the country generally has a different viewpoint about men and jobs. People are thinking primarily in terms of what they can get out of jobs, not what they can put in.

Short hours, high pay, health insurance, pleasant conditions, are all desirable as the fruits of a man's toil, but in demanding them we have failed to attach due importance to the quality and quantity of work.

There can be little doubt that the entire country, including industrial workers themselves, would be much better off today if less emphasis were placed on "a good job for every man" and more on "a good man for every job". Conscientious workers doing the best they can for a job usually find that their jobs do quite well for them.

Scripture has a word of good advice on the subject. It urges us not to be solicitous about food or drink or clothing but "seek ye first the kingdom of God and its justice and all these things shall be added." In other words abide by Christian concepts of responsibility and trust these other things to take care of themselves.

Good news for lots of ex-soldiers around here is the decision to grant enlisted men a terminal furlough comparable to the terminal leave officers have enjoyed for years. It's been estimated that the new policy will net the average ex-GI $250. Coming unexpectedly as it does, the money will seem very much like a gift — and a very welcome one.

Practically every enlisted man in the army and many officers as well have wondered a long time why the inequality ever existed. It did not seem fair to any one that officers upon discharge should be paid for unused leave time while enlisted men lost their unused furlough time.

Another army pet peeve that stands a fair chance of being eliminated is that on clothing regulations. For a long time GIs have resented the officers' privilege of wearing better quality uniforms. They feel that a private, if willing to make the sacrifice, should have the privilege of dressing as well as a general. Let insignia, not clothes, show the rank, they say.

When the change goes into effect, however, it will bring up new problems on clothing allowances. Will the better grade uniforms be issued or will they be bought out of the soldier's own pay? Or will the army revert to its old system of providing money rather than the clothes and let the soldier do the best he can with his money? In the latter case there will have to be lots of supervision to keep some men from neglecting their appearance. Old soldiers can tell you about men who made a habit of blowing in their money and never came up to the proper dress standard. The custom of issuing clothes rather than money is a result of the condition. Dressing the army is a problem no matter how we tackle it.

One day last week three families here in town found their dogs in convulsions. One was so far gone that he was mercifully put out of his misery. The other two responded to doses of antidote. In view of the fact that the three dogs were afflicted at the same time and showed similar symptoms we can assume that all were victims of the same shot of poison.

The incident has either two explanations. The poison might have been deliberately fed by some vindictive guy with a nasty grudge against stray dogs or their owners. In which case the guilty person is deserving of nothing but contempt. On the other hand, the dogs might have been victims of the bait so often planted by sheep raisers for wolves and outlaw dogs. Around here it's not new for owners to sprinkle strychnine on carcasses of a previous night's raid. In which case the dog that gets a dose deserves to have it.

NINETY ONE NAMES TO APPEAR ON BALLOT OF DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY

Ninety-one names are scheduled to appear on the ballot for the Democratic primary election to be held in Cooke county on Saturday, July 27.

Saturday at midnight was the deadline for filing for places on the ballot, and there were no last-minute filings. A. Morton Smith, county chairman, reported.

Two district candidates for reelection escaped opposition. They are Justice Atwood McDonald of the Second Court Civil Appeals, Fort Worth, and State Senator Charles R. Jones of Bonham.

The only county candidates virtually assured of nomination by reason of no opposition are County Clerk Tom Blount, District Clerk Martin G. Davis, Public Weigher Hugh Morgan and Commissioner C.T. Martin of precinct 1.

There are no more than four candidates for any county or precinct office in Cooke county, the prospective ticket reveals.

IMMUNIZATION SHOTS TO BE AVAILABLE ON CLINIC DAY, JUNE 26

Next Wednesday, June 26, has been designated by Dr. T.S. Myrick as annual clinic day for Muenster and community. On that day diphtheria and typhoid inoculation and small pox vaccination will be given and the Schick diphtheria test will be made.

Dr. Myrick urges all persons to take advantage of this opportunity as the serum for the treatments is made available through cooperation of the County Health Unit for only a small fraction of the usual cost. Those who have had three previous typhoid shots are reminded to take the "booster" shot to continue immunization, and all infants six months old or over who have not been inoculated against diphtheria should be given the treatment, Dr. Myrick said.

Sweet Clover Increases Grain Yield 35 Per Cent

The use of sweet clover as a soil improving crop pays handsome dividends, in the opinion of Frank Bayer, a cooperater of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation district. Judging from the number of oats shocks on a field improved by sweet clover Bayer estimated a yield of 35 to 40 per cent over the yield of other oats which did not have an improving crop turned under.

Another favorable circumstance is that enough clover went to seed last year to provide a good stand again this year.

Set. Billy Jo Miller has completed a course at the school for cooks and bakers at Fort Benning, Ga., and is here for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Miller, until July 6, when he reports to Orlando, Florida, where he was stationed before being sent to Fort Benning.

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Cason and sons, Joe and Sid, were in Whitesboro Sunday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S.B. Cason, who entertained with a luncheon in observance of Father's Day and also to compliment Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Cason in observance of their 28th wedding anniversary.

Father Of Mrs. Ray Evans Dies At Gainesville

William W. Dickerson, 71, father of Mrs. Ray Evans of this city, died at M. & S. Hospital in Gainesville Thursday at 6 p.m. following a six months' illness.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at Madill, Okla., in the chapel of Watts Funeral Home and burial was in Madill cemetery. Brother John Pigg of Farmersville, a life time friend of the deceased, officiated at the services, assisted by Brother Carpenter of Madill, Y.B. Hobb of this city, and Orlen Edelen of Ardmore were among the pallbearers.

Mr. Dickerson was born in Kentucky on Nov. 17, 1874, and as a young man came to Texas, settling in Celina. On April 19 1901 he married Miss Mary Jane Wilkinson of Louisville, Ky. They made their home in Celina until 1918 when they moved to Madill. He engaged in farming. Mrs. Dickerson passed away in 1939.

In addition to Mrs. Evans two children survive, J.W. Dickerson of Benton, Ill., and Miss Evelyn Dickerson, Oklahoma City, and 3 grandchildren, Merlin Jo Evans, Muenster, Joseph Scott and Mary Evelyn Dickerson of Benton, Ill.

When Mr. Evans' health began failing last January he came to Muenster to make his home with his daughter. For the past six weeks he had been confined to the hospital.

Among Muenster friends at the funeral were T.M. Hammer, Charles Rosenberg, Y. B. Hobb and Mrs. Roy Nunley.

Joe Fisher Gets Letter From Greece Thanking For Relief Shipment

Months ago when collections of food and clothing were taken up here for distressed people of Europe J. W. Fisher was one of the several who included a name in his package.

Last month he received a letter from Greece, but since it was written in Greek he had to look for someone to translate it for him. An acquaintance at Gainesville knew a man in Dallas who could translate Greek, so Joe eventually learned what was in the letter. The reply reached here last week.

Praising Americans for the help they gave, the letter states: "You did not stop at words or promises alone as others did, but you began sending food, medicine, clothing, shoes and anything that would aid us. Heavily burdened with 'repairs' of the enemy, we look to our stronger allies for support. Your sacrifices will not be forgotten, for if the need ever arises we will not hesitate to support America to the last."

Similar letters, also from Greece, were previously received here by Miss Mary Faith Bernauer and Rudolph Zipper.

Mr. and Mrs. T.P. Frost came in Monday from Fort au Prince, Haiti, where he had been employed with an oil company for the past two years. He has a three month vacation and they expect to make their home in Gainesville following a visit here with her mother, Mrs. Ben Heuerman.

Yard improvement programs at the Ben Seyler and J.B. Wilds homes consist of adding new soil, which is being taken from John Wheeler's lot south of the highway. At Seyler's the object is to put in a heavy fill to eliminate high water and also provide a terrace around the house.

State and district officers of the organization along with delegates and visitors from the several North Texas units will gather here in pursuit of the organization's interests.

Held on the same day that Father Leo Koesler celebrates his first Solemn High Mass, the meeting will open officially in the afternoon following Benediction given by the new priest.

An informal greeting and welcome address will be extended by J.M. Weinzapfel, organizer for this district, after which the delegates will be in session.

Speakers will include Frank C. Gittinger of San Antonio, president of the State League; Mrs. Jos. A. Kratz, second vice president, and president of the Women's section, of San Antonio; Miss Isabelle Weyland, San Antonio, president of the Youth section; and Herman Jaekle, vice president of the insurance branch, also of San Antonio, and Mrs. Jos. A. Luke, Muenster, state treasurer, in addition to reports submitted by delegates from the district.

The North Texas District includes the Catholic parishes of Cooke, Grayson, Denton, Wise, Montague, Clay, Archer, Wichita, Knox, Baylor, Wilbarger, counties.

SCHMITZ RE-ELECTED AS GRAND KNIGHT OF GAINESVILLE COUNCIL

F. E. Schmitz was reelected grand knight of the Gainesville-Lindsay council Knights of Columbus at a meeting held on June 11 when the annual election of officers was featured.

Other officers, newly elected, include: Ewald Berend, deputy grand knight; Raymond Kupper, chancellor; Lambert Bezner, financial secretary; Gregory Hundt, recorder; Jack Rateliff, warden; William Pulte, treasurer; Ted Neu, trustee; Henry Schumacher, advocate; Charles Berend, inside guard; Joe Bauer, outside guard. Walter Nortman was reappointed lecturer.

A guest speaker at the meeting was John Williams of Wichita Falls representative of the insurance department of the order. Plans were completed for a forthcoming social at Lindsay on June 20.

PASTURE STRIP BEST OUTLET FOR TERRACE

Word from the USDA soil conservation service of Gainesville discloses that terrace systems of cooperators of the upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation district held exceptionally well during the heavy rains of the past weeks.

The most notable factor has been the serious erosion occurring in outlet channels in comparison to no erosion on pasture strips that serve as outlets for terrace water.

To correct this difficulty the Upper Elm-Red district is devoting full time to planning a good terrace outlet prior to the building of a terrace. This policy saves the farmer many dollars of construction and maintenance and makes a much better foundation for a sound conservation program.

Front And Rear License Plates Again Next Year

Front and rear automobile license plates will be issued in 1947 according to J.M. Isbell, district engineer for the state highway department, who this week received samples of the new black plates with white numerals and lettering.

The dual plates will be the first since the beginning of the war. Color of the plates is determined by the Texas Highway Commission in Austin. The plates are made by the inmates of the Texas State Prison at Huntsville, but shipments of actual plates will not be made until November.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thomasson of Cimarron, Colo., announce the birth of a 10-pound son, Joseph Raymond, on June 7. Rev. Leo Koesler Will Have First Mass Tuesday

An outstanding day in the history of Sacred Heart parish, and especially in the Koesler family is next Tuesday, June 26, when the Rev. Leo Koesler, O.S.B., celebrates his first Solemn Mass in Sacred Heart church.

A large assembly of clergy including several church dignitaries along with scores of friends from neighboring communities, and relatives from more distant places, are expected to swell the almost general attendance of people in the Muenster parish.

Preceding the Mass, which begins at 9 o'clock, Father Leo will be honored with a band escort in the procession to the church, and after the services will be honor guest at a community dinner in the parish hall.

The parish choir, band and Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus will participate in the day's program and everybody is invited to attend. The Rt. Rev. Paul M. Nahlen, O.S.B., Abbot of New Subiaco Abbey, will deliver the sermon at the Mass, and in the afternoon at 2:30 Father Leo will officiate at solemn benediction in Sacred Heart church.

The latter event will be followed by a meeting of the North Texas District of the Catholic State League in the hall. Delegates from the district will be in attendance.

Rev. Leo Koesler is 25 years old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfons Koesler of this city. He was born March 24, 1921, in Lindsay and received his early education at St. Peter's school in that community. During his 4 years of high school and one year of college at Subiaco College-Academy he distinguished himself in band music and in filling various positions of responsibility.

In September, 1940, he was received into the novitiate at Subiaco Abbey and since that time pursued the necessary studies for the Benedictine priesthood. From the beginning of his monastic life, he worked in the Abbey print shop and for the past three years served as chief linotypist.

He was ordained on Saturday, June 15, in Saint Andrew's Cathedral, Little Rock, Ark., by the Most Rev. Albert L. Fletcher, D. Ordained at the same time was Rev. David Flusche, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Flusche of Denison. The two priests are cousins.

GILES LEHNERTZ IS NEW PRESIDENT OF PAROCHIAL ALUMNI

The election results: Giles Lehnertz, president; Ray Wilde, vice president; Gladys Wilde, secretary; Herbie Herr, treasurer; Loretta Hartman, reporter.

Plans were made to have a homecoming celebration and banquet once a year, during the early part of September, and Harold Luke was appointed as chairman of memberships. It was pointed out that all ex-students of Sacred Heart High are welcomed as members, including those who attended the school as far back as 1923, when high school was first added to the institution's grades. Membership dues were set at a dollar a year. Attending from out of town were Mrs. Ferd Yosten of Fort Worth and Miss Dolly Lehnertz, a student nurse at St. Joseph's Hospital, Fort Worth. Sister Germaine, High School principal, met with the alumni members.

Recover Flood Losses By Planting Grain Sorghum Dairy Expert Recommends

Cash income can still be obtained this summer from corn and cotton land which has been washed out, by planting grain sorghums to use as dairy cow feeds, Oscar J. Butler, director of milk procurement for the Southwestern Division of the Kraft Foods Company, pointed out today.

The urgent need for more milk and the dairy feed shortage offers cotton and corn farmers an opportunity to recover losses due to the heavy rains, Butler said. There will be a ready cash market for all available dairy feeds, with milk demand running far ahead of production and feed supplies of all types below requirements, he added.

"Dairymen who have cotton acreage washed out by heavy rains can use this acreage as mid-summer pasture by planting Sudan grass," Butler said. "Cotton farmers who do not have cows can provide feed for their neighbors by planting one of several recommended varieties of grain sorghums."

"Best varieties for this section are Redtop cane, Darso or Hegari. At this time of year, it is best to seed the grain sorghums in rows. This will permit cultivation and produce a heavier tonnage per acre."

Miss Eugenia Walter of Fort Worth was home for a weekend visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Walter.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE from Uncle Bob of "Moos of the Moment" which appears regularly in this newspaper

GET A GOOD CASH CROP FROM THOSE WASHED OUT CORN AND COTTON ACRES

Plant Grain Sorghums Now. They Are Needed for Dairy Feed

There's a shortage of feed for cows. Grain sorghums make fine feed. So you can recover your cotton land losses by planting grain sorghums now, for a good cash crop later in the summer.

The dairymen of this region want to produce more milk, because America needs more milk. Demand is running far ahead of supply.

But their big problem this fall and winter will be how to get more feed for their cows, so they can meet their milk goals.

That's where you come in. If you had all or part of your corn or cotton crop washed by heavy rains in recent weeks, you can help provide this vitally needed dairy feed, and get back the cash lost because of the destruction of your cotton or corn at the same time.

Redtop cane, Darso or Hegari grain sorghum varieties planted now can be used in one of several ways for dairy feed. These crops can be headed for grain; they can be cut with a binder and used for silage; they can be fed in the bundle; or ground as a base for dairy concentrate.

Within the next two or three weeks, plant those grain sorghums. Plant 'em in rows so you can cultivate them and thus produce a heavier tonnage per acre. I suggest you talk with your county agent or dairy plant fieldman for advice on planting.

I'm sorry that you had bad luck with your corn and cotton, but here's your chance to turn that bad luck into good luck for yourself and your neighbors who are dairymen. Seed grain sorghum for dairy feed! They'll give you a good profit quick.

Washington Notes

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D.C., June 15—The most notable event of this week in Washington was the President's veto of the Case bill. This was a great disappointment to many of us who have tried for years to secure amendments to existing laws giving the government more control over the labor bosses. We lacked five votes getting the necessary two-thirds majority in the House to override the President's veto of the Case bill.

The Case bill provided in brief the following:

1. It would create a new Federal Mediation Board and authorize it to try - by mediation, conciliation and voluntary arbitration - to secure peaceful settlement of disputes, and prohibit strikes for 60 days while mediation is going on.

2. It would authorize fact-finding procedure for disputes affecting public utilities, with a maximum of 65 days in which strikes and lockouts would be prohibited.

3. It would authorize labor unions and employers to sue each other in Federal courts for breaches of contract, imposing on both the responsibility of living up to signed contracts.

4. It would prohibit secondary boycotts by unions as a weapon in their battles with employers or with other unions. This would give protection to the public and to employers against boycotting of goods produced by innocent employers and employees who have no connection with the controversies.

5. It would subject to Federal Anti-Racketeering Act penalties unions found guilty of obstructing commerce by robbery or extortion. The need for this is in eastern cities, like New York for example, where the Teamster's Union has followed a practice of waylaying innocent farmers with trucks of produce and by violence and threats extorted money from them before allowing them to enter such cities to sell their products.

6. It would require joint union-employer control over the use of health-and-welfare funds contributed by employers through production royalties or payroll levies. John L. Lewis demanded that he have exclusive control over such funds.

7. It would allow foremen to join unions but leave employers free to refuse to recognize unions as bargaining agents for foremen. Foremen are supposed to represent and be responsible to management in the supervising of workers.

During the early years of this century America suffered from industrial oppression. The giant corporations ran roughshod over labor and the public alike. Labor was compelled to organize to secure reasonable wages and reasonable working conditions. The government was compelled to bring anti-trust suits and to enact laws for the control of big industries and public utilities. Now the pendulum has swung to the other extreme and the public has been made to suffer, this time principally from abuses of the labor bosses. Industry is entitled to reasonable profits and labor to reasonable wages. However, when goods or services bring more than honest values the consumer suffers. The small business and agricultural sections of America have long paid tribute to the big industrial centers. The increased prices and wages in the giant industries of the north and east have not only led the inflation parade, but have increased the tribute which our section pays to the industrial sections. No group in America, no section of America, is entitled to take advantage of any other group or section. It is the duty of the government to write the rules of fair play and to enforce those rules. This has not been done largely due to the political power of the big labor bosses. The President's veto of the Case bill was a tragic mistake. Unless this mistake can in some way be removed at an early date the public will continue to suffer.

A Hen Is Only A Boarder If She Lays Less Than Twelve Eggs Per Month

Any hen laying less than a dozen eggs a month is losing money for her owner, considering prevailing prices of feed and eggs. These inefficient hens should be culled from laying flocks, the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service is advising farm families and backyard poultry raisers of the state.

A hen consumes about five pounds of feed per month even though she is not laying, so further reduction of laying flocks is being sought by the government in view of the current feed shortage. For the nation as a whole, the reduction sought is one of every seven hens.

According to Sam Moore, Extension poultry specialist, most Texas flocks could lose one of every seven hens, and with proper culling profits would increase. Until recently, he says, Texas egg production this year has exceeded last year's for the same period, although the state has reduced its poultry population to or below pre-war numbers. This indicates a rise in production per bird.

Power curtailment during the coal strike cost the Chicago area alone $110,000,000 in production and sales and $21,500,000 in wages, the Windy City's Association of Commerce reports.

"Don't forget a man is not paid for having brains, but for using them."

IF YOU SWEAT A LOT
EAT A LOT OF SALT,
SAYS HEALTH OFFICER

Austin, Texas, — If your work is such that it causes excessive perspiration, add a pinch or ordinary table salt to each drink of water you take to help prevent heat cramps. This is advised by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, to prevent a possible increase in the number of heat victims as the Texas thermometer hits 95% and above.

Laborers, mechanics, farmers, and white collar workers whose work causes them to sweat profusely, are in danger of having their salt content become deficient with resulting heat cramps or heat fag. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat; the body may lose as high as 40 to 50 grams of salt during hot days.

In industry, a method of preventing heat cramps is to take a tablet of pure salt or a mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Workmen whose duties require muscular exertion should be especially careful to add more than the usual amount of salt to what they eat and drink.

Salt deficiency may be prevented by taking salt in various ways. Where prepared tablets are not available, table salt may be added to each drink of water. Milk is a source of salt and will help to make up for the deficiency caused by sweating.

Heat cramps is characterized by pains (cramps) in the abdominal region, headache and in severe cases, by nausea and vomiting. The body temperature remains about normal, likewise the pulse rate. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until there is a deficiency; then the abdominal muscles begin to cramp.

OF T P & L COMPANY

John W. Carpenter, president and general manager, and other officers of Texas Power & Light Company were reelected at a meeting of the directors of the company Wednesday following the annual meeting of stockholders at which two new directors were elected to fill vacancies on the board. The other nineteen directors were reelected.

Mr. Carpenter announced the election of Stanton Brown, Sr., of Waco, and of A.G. Hopkins of Sherman, as directors.

Reporting to the stockholders on the company's activities, Mr. Carpenter pointed out that the number of customers served has reached an all-time high of 196,227, having gained 17,711 customers during the past twelve months.

Continuing its long-standing program of rural electrification, the company built more than 825 miles of rural lines last year, which brought electric service to 5,000 additional farm and rural homes, making a total of more than 44,000 farm and rural customers now served by the company," he said.

Mr. Carpenter reported that consumption of electricity had increased since the end of the war because of accelerated business activity, increased number of customers, and because of expansion of existing manufacturing plants and of the establishment of new industries in the area the company serves. Virtually all the war industries served by the company were engaged in civilian production before the war and immediately after the war went back to peacetime production, he said.

Cotton Burr May Prove Valuable To Farm Income

Lubbock, Texas — From step child of the cotton family to fair-haired lad—that will be the story of the cotton burr, if cotton chemist C.G. Rook has his way.

In his laboratories at Texas Technological Institute, Mr. Rook has used the burr as the major ingredient of a durable insulating board. In the manufacturing process, the burr is treated to make the final product both fire and vermin-proof.

The burr is also being used by the chemist as a source of furfural, a chemical important in the manufacture of synthetic rubber. Mr. Rook declares that the cotton burr, now left in the fields at the end of the harvest period, can be converted into a source of 10 to 12 million dollars in added income to the cotton farmer.

Drunk Test

In the Ozarks where whisky looks like water and is drunk accordingly, strange ideas prevail as to just what intoxication really is. In a village one day, a man lay in the middle of the street in the broiling sun. "He's drunk, I'd better lock him up," the sheriff said sympathetically. "No, he ain't drunk," a woman interrupted. "I just seen his finger move."

KRAFT COMPANY SEEKS TO OFFSET SHORTAGE IN MILK PRODUCTION

Working closely with milk producers throughout its territory, the Kraft Foods Company has stepped up its procurement program in an effort to offset in its areas at least, the current milk shortage and the critically light volume anticipated next fall and winter.

Milk production has been running steadily below last year with demand for all dairy products reaching far above available supplies. A recent USDA release stated that fluid milk and cream consumption this year is expected to average 210 quarts per capita, compared with a pre-war level of about 160 quarts. Figures from all classes of manufacturers indicate that in no single dairy field has supply been up to demand at any time since last fall.

Kraft launched its dairy farm service program more than two years ago. The purpose of the program was to assist dairy farmers in raising production to higher and more efficient levels.

Last fall, when milk supplies started dropping below demand, plans were made for broadening and intensifying the work. Today, plant managers, fieldmen and others are following through on a co-ordinated program to effect increased production for the balance of this year and to bring about a long range increase in volume.

Emphasis is laid on use of supplementary pastures to raise milk volume in mid-summer, spring and fall. Increased storage of hay and silage, to offset shortages of grain supplement, is being stressed to dairy farmers through direct contact, by mail and in publications and advertisements.

Much of the material in the Kraftsman, the dairy farm magazine reaching 75,000 producers, is devoted to things farmers can do to raise milk volume in the balance of the year, to long range breeding programs and the need for herd building, to take care of expected heavy future demand.

The farm service advertisement series, appearing in daily and weekly newspapers in the procurement area under the heading of "Moos of the Moment" has stressed the need for greater milk production. This will be the whole theme of the copy in the balance of the year, according to word from the company. In addition, supplementary advertisements of large size are being run again to point out to farmers the need for more milk, now and in the future.

In all the program dairy farmers are told that the need for greater milk supplies is brought about by a combination of highly significant factors. These are the growth of U.S. population to above 140 million, creating a wider market; the rise in per capita demand for all dairy products resulting from nutritional education during the war; the need for shipment of dairy products for famine relief and the sharp advance in national income.

In addition to the literature being distributed through plants, the magazine and the ad series, meetings of dairy farmers have been set up in every section, in cooperation with extension specialists, county agents, vocational agriculture instructors and soil conservation men, to discuss ways and means of building volume.

In the past two years, Kraft has co-operated in a large number of grassroots experiments in many states, underwriting the cost of pasture demonstrations as a means of showing how to produce more milk by better forage. Co-operation with patrons in purchase of pure bred cows and herd sires and assistance in setting up artificial insemination rings is an integral part of the Kraft program in all states.

EXTENSION SERVICE RECOMMENDS USE OF DDT IN POWDER FORM

Texas county agricultural agents have been advised that for the present, the only treatment recommended by the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service for the control of horn flies, lice and mosquitoes on livestock in wettable DDT powder.

DDT for this purpose is now on the market in two very different forms, 1) dry, in wettable powder and 2) liquid, in oil or xylene solutions or emulsions. Both forms may be diluted with water for use as a spray or dip.

The decision to recommend only DDT in wettable powder form for use on livestock was made by a committee of entomologists and animal husband-men who checked all known sources of information. The group will make further recommendations as research on DDT goes on.

The committee pointed out that DDT in wettable powder goes into suspension when diluted with water for use as a spray or dip. There was no evidence that it was harmful to animals even if used at strength somewhat greater than that recommended by the manufacturer.

It was further reported that "DDT in oil solution or emulsion form does not remain in suspension but goes into a true solution. When applied to animals in this form it can be absorbed through the animal's skin. If the solution is used as a spray or dip at less than the manufacturer's recommended strength, it may not give effective or lasting control. If it is used at more than the recommended strength and if the precautions listed by the manufacturer are not exactly followed, it may have toxic results."

It was noted that Dr. E. W. Laake, Chief of the Division of Animal Parasites, USDA Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, Dallas, has used DDT in oil solutions under controlled conditions without apparent injury to animals. The committee added, however, that Dr. Laake "suggests DDT in oil solution or emulsion should, if used, be used very cautiously as it is a toxic poison, and he further states that inasmuch as DDT in wettable powder form mixed with water is the most fool proof method by which to control horn flies and lice, he does not hesitate to recommend the wettable powder form."

Father-Daughter Program At Lindsay Sunday

The Young Ladies Sodality members of Lindsay honored their fathers with a breakfast and program for Fathers Day, Sunday. All members of the society and their fathers attended.

The program began with attendance at Mass and the reception of the Eucharist in a body, followed by breakfast, which was prepared and served by members of the Holy Name Society.

Miss Louise Hermes, sodality president, was toast mistress, and Rev. Vincent Orth, a special guest, was the principal speaker. His talk was on "Fathers Day". An address of appreciation, in the name of the fathers honored, was given by Pete Block, president of St. Peter's Society.

cannot be maintained, much less raised, under excessive regimentation. There is a happy medium between no regulation and complete regulation. Again, we can and must reduce the size, cost, and activities of the federal government. We need less and better administration. The executive has grown too powerful at the expense of the legislative branch. We must restore a decent balance of power between the branches of government, making each serve more effectively as a check and balance against the other.

Constructive Service
"As your Congressman I have been a leader in our long fight for freight rate equality, and have done much effective work on this and other problems of importance to our section. I have been the recognized leader in the House for restricting immigration, and for better enforcement of immigration laws. My work in this field has just begun.

"I have always been a loyal member of the Democratic party, and believe it is superior to all others. However, one serves his party best who serves his country best. Today, more than ever before, statesmanship should be placed above politics. As an experienced fighter in Congressional ranks I believe my reelection important to the maintenance of sound American principles."

Usual Procedure

An undertaker found a donkey lying dead in front of his premises and went to inform the police.

"What am I to do with it?" he asked the officer in charge. The officer had a sense of humor.

"Do with it?" he asked with a grin. "Bury it, of course. You're an undertaker, aren't you?"

"That's true," replied the undertaker with equal humor, "but I thought it only right to come around and inform the relatives first."

Just the Man

Employer—"For this job we want a responsible man."

Applicant—"Then I'm your man. In all my former positions when anything went wrong, I was always held responsible."

PLAY ON WORDS

Wife: "You deceived me. Before our marriage, you said you were well off."
Husband: "I was, but I didn't know it."

Needless Sacrifice

The visiting lecturer on better farming methods had his breakfast at the Peabody's, and Mrs. Peabody, who prided herself on the quality of her cooking was a little disappointed that he ate so little. Sensing the good woman's discomfiture, the guest explained: "I am sorry if I appear to slight your excellent cooking, madam, but the fact is I find it advisable not to eat very heavily before speaking."

Mrs. Peabody couldn't attend the lecture, so when her husband returned from it, she inquired, "Well, John, how was it?"
"Oh," replied John, "he might as well of ate."

"Where I made my mistake," moaned the man at the club, "was in forcing my wife to choose between me and the dog."

Confetti---

The moral: It's best to keep dogs at home. Whether they fall prey to a grouch's spite or pay for their own crimes, the effect is the same.

Under the sponsorship of the American Legion a campaign has just been launched to raise 15 million dollars for the "National Americanism Endowment Fund". This fund is intended to finance a program the purpose of which is "to bring to all Americans an understanding of what their stake is — to teach them an understanding of their rights, privileges, and duties under the Constitution of the United States — to make them active and participating partners in what was designed to be, and must be, a unified enterprise."

From an idealistic point of view the program is wonderful, and if it's put over it will be worth far more than 15 million dollars. But still it smacks of a flavor that we don't like. For one thing why should any organization make a big business of promoting ideals that every influential and thinking person in the country should gladly promote for free.

Another thing is that true Americanism starts at a more tender age than the Legion customarily reaches with its influence. It starts when the toddling youngster gets his first basic concepts of right and wrong and when he first begins to be aware that he should do one and not the other.

When we get down to fundamentals we realize that Americanism after all is nothing but manhood, embracing the standards of Christianity and Democracy. It consists only in faithfulness, under God, to a code of living which recognizes duty and responsibility.

We can waste time from now until doomsday telling people about their rights and duties but we'll never get anywhere unless those people have the moral integrity to respect others' rights and observe their own duties.

Common sense tells us that Americanism offers a happier life than any other existing system. The only trouble is that too many Americans have a way of cheating on the system whenever doing so serves their personal ends. We live to much by expediency and too little by much unless people have the character to live up to them. So if we're going to promote an adequate moral foundation.
