

We all felt like doing this...

It was a tail wagging happy event for more than just dogs this weekend as between three and five plus inches of rain fell on parched areas of Muenster. Temperatures also dropped from 100+ highs, bringing a hint of the changing season. Janet Felderhoff photo

Burn Ban extended despite the much welcomed rains

By Janet Felderhoff
Cooke County Commissioners Court acted unanimously in its decision to extend the County wide ban on outdoor burning in unincorporated areas of the County. Action was taken at the Monday, Aug. 28 meeting. The ban would have expired before the next regular Court meeting on Sept. 10. Cooke County Emergency Management Coordinator Ray Fletcher recommended extending the Burn Ban. "Most of the County got more than an inch of rain in the last couple of days and we are predicted to get some more rain today," he said. "The highest areas got three inches or better." He said that the northern part of the County received more than the southern part. The KBDI before the rain was 750 said Fletcher. He said that he didn't think that the rain would knock it down below 600. "I suggest we not bet the farm on this rain," Fletcher commented. "If this is all we get, it is not nearly enough. It is not a drought breaker. It is certainly welcome and hopefully it is the beginning of that." He asked that the Burn Ban be reinstated for another 90 days. According to a report from the National Weather Service in Fort Worth, the rainfall event which began on Sunday and wound down Tuesday, was the first widespread rainfall over north Texas in nearly eight weeks. Some of the higher rainfall totals include Morgan Mill (Erath County) with 4.57 inches, Collinsville (Grayson County) at 3.78, southeast Dallas with 3.35, Forestburg (Montague County) with 2.83, Venus (Ellis County) with 2.83, and DeLeon (Comanche County) with 2.73. Radar precipitation estimates show a general area of one to three inch rainfall from Montague County eastward to northern Lamar County. Local amounts in excess of five inches occurred in northwestern Lamar County. A second swath of general one to three inch totals extended from Comanche and Mills counties northeastward to Hopkins County.

In areas where significant rainfall did occur, flooding effects were apparently quite minor. "Several times on Sunday and Monday, we estimated the rain was falling at two to three inches per hour. Under normal circumstances, that's enough

County approves $20,500,362 budget; September 1 tax rate hearing is set

By Janet Felderhoff
Monday, Aug. 28 Cooke County Commissioners Court held public hearings on proposed 2006-07 budget in the amount of $20,500,362 and the proposed tax rate. Nobody spoke on the proposed budget. Included in the proposed budget was a 5% salary increase for County employees. A vote was taken to also give elected officials a 5% salary increase and increased car allowance for the two justices of the peace and the county judge. That passed unanimously 5-0. "As your County Judge, I will move to set the proposed tax rate at $0.4868," said Judge Freeman. The roll call vote showed all in favor of the proposed rate. That rate is 1.6 cents lower than it was last year. Wayne Dodson remarked that the Cooke County Appraisal District has the property appraisals up to the 95-105% market value. He said he attended their August meeting and the Chief Appraiser and CCAD Board were open and ready to answer any questions that the public had. A hearing on the proposed tax increase was set for Friday, Sept. 1 at 10 a.m. in the Commissioners Court Room 309 in the County Courthouse. The vote on the tax rate will take place at the Sept. 11 regular meeting. Prior to the public hearing, a few changes were made to the proposed budget. Commissioners Al Smith, Virgil Hess, and Gary Hollowell added contingency line items to their Road & Bridge budgets. Smith added one in the amount of $150,000. Hess added $146,393. He had an unusual number because he has an employee leaving next month. Rather than having the salary in employee salaries line, he would include it in the contingency line and draw on it if he needs help during the summer. Hollowell had $50,000 in his contingency line. Smith said, "I understand that this is the proper way for us to set some money aside in case of an emergency as opposed to just relying solely on fund balance. We still have fund balance options, but like we saw with the Sheriff's budget, we would have to have some huge emergency in order to take care of the problem. Since Road & Bridges are a stand alone kind of entity, I'm putting a huge number in there. Not in anticipation, not in hopefulness, not in any way expecting that it is going to happen - some kind of an emergency - ice storm, snow storm, flood, tornado, you name it, but if we do then with the passage of the motion, I'll be able to have the resources to address the issue of a bridge out or something." Judge Freeman said that the North Texas Regional Drug Task Force notified him that they likely will not make their forfeiture budget again. They are notifying all entities that they may be responsible for $9,000 this year, he said. Freeman added, "I would like to add an additional $100,000 and include this $9,000 to our contingency line item." Because this would make the second consecutive year that the Drug Task Force hasn't met its budget and they haven't been active in Cooke County, Commissioners Court will be looking at possibly not renewing the contract next spring. Commissioner Hollowell said that perhaps he had been too conservative on the $50,000 he'd put in as a contingency line item. He asked that it be upped to $100,000. It was noted that the contingency line item in no way caused an increase in taxes. All of the requested contingency line items were approved unanimously.

Preparing for the unexpected

Disaster doesn't wait for you to get prepared! Being in a rural location does not eliminate your chances of disaster occurring. Rural areas represent the sites of most of the country's farms and numerous power facilities. Disasters can strike in a variety of ways: natural, accidental, or terrorism. The need for well-prepared emergency response plans is even more evident than after September 11 and this past hurricane season. Join Texas Cooperative Extension on Sept. 14, at 7 p.m. at the North Central Texas College Little Theater to learn what you can do to be prepared. At that time, Cooke County Extension Agents will be addressing issues relevant to the safety of the citizens in this area. The program will begin with a general session presented by Cooke County Emergency Management Coordinator Ray Fletcher. He will discuss how individuals can best plan, prepare, mitigate, and respond to the types of hazards that could most affect our County. Emphasis will be on possible natural hazards. Following a short break, participants will choose between three break-out sessions. They are as follows: Section 1: "Family Preparedness" presented by Angel Neu, Family and Consumer Science agent. She will discuss making a family emergency plan, creating a disaster supply kit, sheltering in place, discussing disasters with children, and food safety during an emergency. Section 2: "Preparedness and recognition of foreign and emerging animal diseases" presented by Wayne Becker, Agriculture and Natural Resource agent. (Good for 1 CEU for TDA pesticide licenses) Section 3: "Make a Plan, Take a Stand, this session will be for the children who attend the program. It will include several fun, educational hands-on activities, and will be presented by Phyllis Griffin, 4-H and Youth Development agent and County 4-H Council members. This program will play a key role

Myra VFD working for new truck with annual barbecue

By Janet Felderhoff
With a menu of barbecue beef, Susie Qs, beans, trimmings, tea, Kool-Aid, pies, and cakes, the Myra Volunteer Fire Department sited its 28th annual Bar-B-Que Cookout for Saturday, Sept. 9 in the Myra City Park. Should it rain, the event will move into the old school building. The meal is served from 5 to 9 p.m. Cost is $6 for adults and children 12 and under $3. An auction begins at 7 p.m. Raffle tickets are offered for $2 each or 11 for $20. The top items are a Mossberg 500 12 gauge shotgun, a Brinkman gas grill, and a $200 savings fire. "We have the same goal - to get the fire out with the least damage." Myra's VFD is raising funds for the purpose of purchasing a new brush truck. At a later date, they also hope to add on to the fire station, as they are quickly outgrowing the building. They receive the same funding from the County as other volunteer departments in Cooke County. Since Myra is not an incorporated city, there are no funds from the town. That leaves fund raising and donations to purchase needed equipment, and pay bills such as fuel and electricity. With the large number of fires and the high fuel costs over the past year, the Department is in need of generous assistance from its supporters. According to Felderhoff's statistics, since Sept. 1, 2005, Myra has logged 740.12 man hours on fire calls. That is an average of 7.42 volunteers per call. The firefighters have made 64 calls since Jan. 1 or a total of 85 since Sept. 1 until Aug. 29. He noted that on some of these, they are called back before arriving on the scene. When the first fire department arrives on a scene, they may notify the others not to come when the fire is small. In Myra this year, the Department was called to 13 medical calls, one CareFlite; three structure fires; 14 grass fires; one illegal burn; five vehicle accidents; and they cleaned up Reed Cemetery after the April storm. Assists: Muenster - Structures two, grass fires 18, vehicle two; Lindsay - Structure three, grass fires six; Era - Structure one, grass fire three; Moss Lake - structure one, grass fire four; Gainesville - structure three, grass fire one; Callisburg - grass fire one;

Rosston - structure two. County calls - one standby for Ringold and one straight line winds. A total of 171.5 training hours were acquired at the Cooke County Fire Academy by Myra firefighters Billy Felderhoff, Scot Vogel, Sam Hess, Daniel Proffer, Robert Proffer, Randy Proffer, James Whit, Jenna Felderhoff, and Ruby Stewart. Members of the Myra VFD are: Billy Felderhoff, chief; Leon Fuhrmann, assistant chief; Ronnie Bayer, secretary/treasurer; Chad Bayer, training officer - fire;

to get us concerned about flooding," said Gary Woodall, Warning Coordination Meteorologist for the National Weather Service Forecast Office in Fort Worth. "The only flooding reports we received, though, were some urban events - ponding of water in intersections. The ground did a great job soaking up all of the rain, which shows just how dry things are."

The rain also brought relief to the fire danger across north Texas, but only for a short time. "The rainfall helped the soil moisture a little bit. However, the dead grasses and vegetation which serve as fuel for fires will dry out quickly, probably within a couple of days. Then, we'll of Public Safety troopers will be on the lookout for speeders, seat belt violators, and drunk drivers from Friday, Sept. 1 through Monday, Sept. 4.

"It's against the law to drive when your blood alcohol content is 0.08 or above, and you should know that Texas Highway Patrol troopers will be looking for you," said Col. Thomas A. Davis Jr., director of the DPS. "In addition to the criminal penalties, it's important to remember that there is a $1,000 per year surcharge for three years that is assessed on drivers who are convicted of driving while intoxicated."

DPS supports the "Over the Limit. Under Arrest" campaign, a nationwide anti-DWI effort aimed at reducing alcohol-related deaths and injuries during the Labor Day holiday period. DPS also is a participant in Operation CARE-Combined Accident Reduction Effort-a nationwide effort by police agencies to reduce fatalities on major interstate highways during holiday weekends.

The punishment for a DWI conviction: First offense: a fine not to exceed $2,000 and/or a jail term of 72 hours to 180 days; participation in an alcohol education and treatment program even if probation is granted; license suspension from three months to one year;

Second Offense: Fine up to $4,000 and/or jail term of 30 days to one year; mandatory 72 hours in jail even if probation is granted; license suspension from six months to two years. Third Offense: Fine not to exceed $10,000; prison term of two years to 10 years; mandatory jail term of 10 days even if probation is granted; license suspension from six months to two years.

Intoxication manslaughter: fine of up to $10,000, prison term of two to 20 years, license suspension of six months to two years. Last year, DPS troopers arrested 751 people for driving while intoxicated during the Labor Day weekend.

Muenster VFD tours local Nortex facility

There was no fire or even smoke at Nortex Communications Walnut Street office on Thursday, Aug. 24. The Muenster Volunteer Fire Department was greeted by Nortex staff and given a tour of the building and was then treated to a delicious meal catered by Ed and Ginny Schneider.

The tour began with a brief welcome from Alvin Fuhrman, CEO of Nortex Communications, and was then separated into several groups to be led throughout the building.

The groups were escorted into rooms that house equipment which cannot be sprayed with water but require Halon to douse any kind of fire. Other rooms have fire suppression systems installed that will automatically suppress oxygen inside the room.

The firemen were given a floor plan with fire escape routes to study as they made their way along the tour. They were shown each department including the Internet equipment room, the computer room, the general office, accounting area, and staff offices. Electric breaker locations were identified as well as the battery room, air conditioning room, dispatch, and engineering.

After meeting back in the conference room, Fuhrman discussed the security alarms, the electric power cutoff, and access to the telephone office, business hours, and personnel contacts. The volunteer firemen had various questions relating to the fire suppressant rooms and the rooms requiring Halon.

Fuhrman expressed the company's thanks for the good job they had been doing and said he hoped he never needed them, but did mention that they were quick to respond during one of a local school tour when a child fainted.

Fire Chief Herbie Knabe expressed his appreciation and said the tour was a good idea to help identify critical areas in case the need ever arose to make a call at Nortex.

Nortex Communications provides various services to the areas of Muenster, Lindsay, Valley View, Lake Kiowa, Collinsville, Rosston, Myra, Forestburg, and Saint Jo.

Fetsch graduates from UNT

Kelly Marie Fetsch, a 2002 graduate of Sacred Heart High School, graduated from the University of North Texas at Denton on Aug. 12. She received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree in the professional fields of Insurance and in Finance.

Kelly was joined by friends and family for the ceremony held at the Coliseum on UNT Campus, followed by a Presidential Reception at the Ballroom in the UNT Gateway Center for all graduates and their guests. A dinner party was held that evening at her home in Muenster hosted by her family.

In her four years at UNT, Kelly enjoyed a wide array of achievements and membership in numerous organizations.

As a freshman in August of '02, Kelly was elected secretary/treasurer of the Freshman Interns, a sub-committee of the UNT Student Government Association (SGA). Her responsibilities included organizing their principal fund-raiser at the American Airlines Center in the winter of '03. Selected as Intern of the Month for January '03, she maintained a 4.0 and was recognized on the President's List.

From June 2003 through May of 2004, Kelly was employed as chief of staff for SGA. She organized meetings and events, maintained legislative records, managed the SGA business/student office, and worked with University administration on issues of student life. She served as UNT student rep on a committee working with the Chamber of Commerce in Denton. Kelly received the "Officer of the Year" award, selected by the UNT Student Senate of SGA, during their annual banquet in Spring of 2004. She was also on the Dean's List.

In June 2004, Kelly was hired to work for the UNT Senior Vice President for Administration, as a student assistant. Her work in the Administration office included website development and maintenance, general office duties, including organizing the Fort Worth regional science fair. It was held at the UNT Coliseum in March '05 and hosted 500 students in grades 6-12 from schools in the North Central Texas area. During that time, she also worked as a student assistant at the UNT Office of the President.

In the Fall of 2004, she met requirements to become active in the UNT Professional Leadership Program (PLP), a program that provides professional training in leadership, public speaking, inter-personal communication, and corporate ethics for juniors and seniors. She joined the UNT Student Investment Group (SIG), whose goals were to enhance the value of an investment portfolio for scholarship funding. As a new member of the Insurance Club that year, she participated in many fund-raising events and industry-student mixers. She represented the Insurance Club as a candidate to the Homecoming Court in October 2004.

Kelly served in the SGA Student Senate for the UNT College of Business, during the 2004/05 school year. As a senator, she served on the SGA Internal Affairs committee and the UNT Academic Affairs Committee, a Faculty Senate sub-committee. She campaigned for the office of SGA President in Spring of 2005. In May 2005, she began her internship, and then part-time employment, at Centex Corporate offices in the Risk Management department at Dallas.

Through her Senior year, which began in August 2005, she continued at Centex, served as SIG Secretary, PLP Executive Officer, and continued as an active member of the Insurance Club.

Those celebrating the graduation day included

Kelly's parents Garry and Susan Fetsch of Muenster; sisters Janet Fetsch of Denton and Christine Fetsch of Norman, Oklahoma. Also grandparents Edward Sandmann of Lindsay, and Paul Fetsch of Muenster; Godparents Bob and Monica Noyes of Dallas; uncle and aunt, Ken and Evelyn Melvin with Paul Melvin of Allen, Texas; and Emily Dang of Dallas. Additional guests included Virginia Noggler of Lindsay, and cousins, Dr. Chris and Lisa Noyes with Kathryn, Allison, Anthony, and Emily of Frisco, and Joe and Kristy Becker of Muenster.

Family members unable to attend, but sending congratulations included aunts and uncles, Brenda and Paul Becker of Muenster, Carol and Curtis Conway and family of Lindsay, Jacque and Chris Hamilton of Katy, Texas, and Diane Becker of Dallas.

Kelly has accepted employment as a Design Analyst with Clark Consulting in Dallas. They provide integrated compensation to U.S. corporations, banks, and health care organizations. Clark Consulting is the largest public company (NYSE: CLK) of its kind.

On Wednesday, Aug. 23 residents enjoyed their weekly popcorn and watched the movie "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." On Friday, Aug. 25, residents had their regular wine-tasting and cheese party for the month. It featured various crackers, summer sausage, a variety of cheese, and grape juice.

Lucille Hess and Millie Voth brought bananas and homemade sugar cookies to visit with residents and staff Tuesday afternoon.

Because residents are keenly interested in the daily news, they meet regularly to discuss highlights on Monday at 10 a.m. This week some topics discussed were: the tropical storm Ernesto, expected to strengthen to a hurricane; the Mideast tour by U.N. Secretary General Annan to strengthen the cease-fire in Lebanon; NASA postponed launch of Atlantis due to impending hurricane; oldest woman in the world died at age 116; Dallas Cowboys' victory over San Francisco.

Future events include: Sept. 1, Rosary from 10:30-11 a.m. led by Janie Thurman and Alma Wolf; Sept. 4, monthly birthday party and Labor Day Social at 2:30 p.m.; Sept. 7, "History of Teddy Bears" at 2 p.m. followed by a "Teddy Bear Picnic" with the Red Hat Ladies of Home Hospice Cooke County; Sept. 8, cookie social; Sept. 9, BINGO at 10 a.m.

Kolby celebrates 6th

Kolby Anthony Klement, son of Kevin and Terri Klement, celebrated his sixth birthday on Friday, July 28 at Chuck E. Cheese in Sherman. Those attending were his parents, siblings Kyle and Whitley, and grandfather Jim Whitley. Kolby enjoyed playing games and opening presents. Kolby shared his birthday cake that he won from KKAG radio with his dad, whose birthday was July 27.

On Saturday, Kolby was honored with a party at his home. Hot dogs, chili, and chips and dips were served. Batman was the theme. Presents were opened and pictures taken. The Batman cake, made by Stephanie Heady, was served with vanilla and chocolate ice cream. Everyone enjoyed playing on the Banzau water slide.

Those attending were his parents and siblings; grandparents Tony and Sis Klement, and Helen Fisher; Godparent Peachie Huchton and Sydney Huchton, aunt Carol Klement and Kimberly Charles; uncle Robert Klement; aunt Joyce Bayer and Cheryl Bayer; cousins Bubba, Brianna, and Zachary Klement, Connie, Emily, Sadie, and Andrew Stoffels, Nolan Bayer; friends Parker McGrew, and Glenn, Tracey, Caleb, and Cameron Skrivaneck.

SCHOOL

School year may bring more than books

Will your child have the correct data?

School has begun. Young people are bouncing, bubbly, and chattering with excitement. School brings old friends, new friends, old routines, new adventures, and learning experiences. Most of those learning experiences are good ones; but it's what a child learns that parents don't know about that can be life threatening.

As the new school year starts, a student will be reviewing old information previously studied while learning new terms, and some of the terms that you may hear during this school year from children of all ages are: addiction, AIDS, dependence, drugs, trafficking, narcotics, prevention, treatment, and tolerance, to list only a few. Although you may be surprised, students of any age need to know these terms and have a full understanding of exactly what they mean and their affects.

Another subject that will certainly make an appearance in schools this year is prescription and/or over the counter drugs. Children often mistake the safety in abusing these drugs because they are legal. According to the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, a relatively high rate of prescription painkiller abuse is occurring among 8th, 10th, and 12th graders.

Accessibility of pharmaceutical drugs and the abuse of these are at incredibly high levels throughout most of the country. Much of this availability is due to the ever increasing amount of rogue internet pharmacies and neighborhood pill mills. At either location a person can obtain prescription drugs with little or no resistance.

Simple honest communication of the facts to children who will most certainly encounter drugs at some point in their life is the most effective prevention measure a parent can take. These measures must start at an earlier age and must start at home. Parents who rely solely on drug education in schools are doing their children a disservice. A parent who imparts to their children at an early age understandable information regarding the dangers of drugs and alcohol will reap the rewards later in life when their children choose to abstain from use because they are fully informed. Scare tactics can do more harm than good and can cause a child to become curious rather than aware.

Mind-altering, painkilling and amphetamine prescription drugs, to illicit street drugs are swallowing up a society that was once considered safe. According to data obtained from the National Survey on Drug Use and Health in a 2004 study, non-medical use of psychotherapeutics by individuals aged 12 and older were 6.1% and second only to those for marijuana (10.6%) and much higher for cocaine (2.4%), methamphetamine (0.6%), or heroin (0.2%). Non-medical use of prescription painkillers is relatively high among teenagers and includes a considerable increase in the abuse of OxyContin among 12th graders, which has been the cause of many deaths of young people.

Returning to school can be adventurous for kids and is also a time when many kids become exposed to drugs for the first time. Take the time to speak to your kids about drug and alcohol abuse and let's make a better society for all.

For more information or help, visit www.stopaddiction.com. Free downloadable drug information is also available at www.narconon-drug-education.com.

Two locals attend the Cowboy Cheerleader dress rehearsal

Natalie Endres, captain of Sacred Heart School Red N Motion Dance Team, was the guest of Leslie Eddleman, alumnist of the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders (D.C.C.) 1988-89, 1990-91, attending the Dallas Cowboys Cheerleaders annual dress rehearsal before the first game day on Aug. 25 at Texas Stadium. Each year, the family and friends of the new squad and the alumni are invited to attend the rehearsal.

The rehearsal, guests were allowed onto the field to meet the cheerleaders and have their picture taken with them.

Sacred Heart School Dance Team is making plans to attend the D.C.C. Dance Camp in the spring. Leslie Eddleman is the Dance Team coach and choreographer.

Wind energy not worth the cost!

The Texas Public Policy Foundation in Austin, founded in 1989 by a group of concerned citizens, reports that the recent increase by the Texas legislature in the required use of "renewable" wind energy will be expensive. Texas consumers will pay an additional $536 million annually, more than half a billion dollars, for the increase to 5,880 megawatts.

According to policy briefing papers and reports prepared by Bill Peacock, a Foundation Director, proponents of wind power claim it is less expensive than traditional

1. Because wind energy is variable and unreliable, expensive coal or gas plants must be built and operated to provide backup energy when the wind isn't blowing, or rolling blackouts would occur. The lights would go out whenever the wind died down.
2. Renewable energy credits, to subsidize wind power, cost consumers millions of dollars every year - wind power is not cheap and would not be built without massive subsidies. At the state and federal level, renewable energy is heavily subsidized, including $2.7 billion in federal production tax credits, and the expenditure of $4,700 in federal research and promotion per thousand kilowatt-hours of wind energy produced vs. only 5 cents for nuclear and coal.
3. Wind is most abundant in West Texas, but electricity is most needed along the Dallas to San Antonio corridor and in the Houston area. Building the transmission capacity to reach these markets is going to cost some $2.2 billion, which will be paid for by every consumer in Texas, and will take at least two years. While waiting, wind developers are moving into Cooke and Montague Counties, where there is existing transmission capacity to exploit, but less wind and massive destruction to scenic property and the quality of life.

But costs aren't the only concern when it comes to wind energy, according to the Foundation. Reliability is a primary factor. The wind isn't always blowing when we need electricity. Wind power is inherently unpredictable and uncontrollable and often has a negative impact on the reliable operation of the electric grid.

The main electricity supply challenges we face are at times of peak demand. Peak demand occurs generally in the hot days of July and August, precisely when wind energy is least available. Our grid operator, ERCOT, states that wind turbines in Texas only produce at 16.8 % of rated capacity during times of peak demand. They add that this is an average, many were producing nothing. They feel only 2% can be counted as capacity.

There are efficient, sustainable, and environmentally friendly alternatives to wind energy. We can clean-up our existing coal plants with new scrubbers and filters to remove pollution and greenhouse gases. The U.S. has 750 years of coal reserves and is developing the technology to scrub out pollution. We can also build clean nuclear power plants, using new and safer technology. Nuclear plants supply 85% of the power in France, are currently targeted for 40% in Japan, operate at 90% of capacity (vs. the 16% mentioned above for wind), and, like coal, have a lower cost per kilowatt-hour. Wind energy provides no real answers to our electrical generation problems.

Please help, before it's too late. We know you love this area as much as we do.

Brittany Anderle had 11 kills and Chelsea Hermes 10. Kaleigh Hess and Madisen Burrows each had seven assists.

The Junior Varsity Lady Knights lost two to Nocona, 12-25, 20-25. "We started out well in the second game, but fell apart," commented Coach Robin Hess, who noted the team improved on concentrating, getting three hits.

Information you need to know about the proposed Wolf Ridge Wind Energy Center

On August 17, the Wolf Ridge Wind Energy Center development team hosted an Open House in Muenster to discuss the proposed wind project. We appreciate all who came out to share their views on the project with us. We were pleased to meet you and share factual information about the project to so many. During the evening, we did hear a lot of misinformation about wind energy and the Wolf Ridge project, and we would like to correct some of those misimpressions here. For more information, call FPL Energy at (866) 284-7080.

PROPERTY TAXES

Under recently legislated Texas property tax law, the Wolf Ridge Wind Energy Center will generate between $35 - $45 million in property/school taxes for Montague and Cooke counties during the first 20 years of operation. That's an average of between $1.75 million to $2.25 million in property/school taxes paid each year by the project.

LANDOWNER CONTRACTS

Contracts with landowners contain competitive information that we view as confidential. In competitive businesses such as ours it is not unusual to protect contractual details. Wolf Ridge landowners hire experienced attorneys of their choosing who represent the landowner's best interests.

EQUIPMENT REMOVAL

Contracts with landowners address removal of the equipment at the end of the project's life and the return of the property to the condition in which it was found. This is done at the project's expense. There is no cost to the landowner.

LAND USE

A wind turbine and its access road will take about $\frac{1}{4}$ acre out of its current use. During construction, our crews will drive on more land than the operating project uses, and crops or other vegetation damaged during construction are replanted at the project's expense or the landowner is compensated. Land use continues as it has previously, for grazing, crops, hunting, timber, or oil and gas.

SALE OF PROPERTY

The project leases property from landowners for the wind turbines. Nothing prevents landowners from selling their land any time they wish, to whomever they wish. Wolf Ridge does not own the land and has no control over its sale. Regardless of whether the original landowner sells his or her land or the project is sold, the contract remains with the land and in force.
