Commissioners agreed to lease the plus or minus eight acres of pastureland in the Clark P Survey Abstract 0232 located on the north side of Rice Avenue in Gainesville to Jess Cason for 10 years. He was the sole bidder. In exchange Cason agreed to build, paint, and maintain a fence around the County's EMS building there as specified. There are several other bid specifics included, such as insurance and keeping the grass mowed according to the City's requirements.

I have personally toured the Corinth and Bowie campuses where I found excellent facilities. However, the growing student population in both areas is putting pressure on us to build additional facilities. Our local campus is badly in need of reliable technology for delivery of education as well as building improvements. CCRW to feature Bobby Eberle

The Cooke County Republican Women will hold their next meeting on Thursday, May 4, 7 p.m. at the First Christian Church, 401 N. Dixon, Gainesville. Speakers at the event will be Bobby Eberle, candidate for vice chairman, Republican Party of Texas, and local Republican candidates running for North Central Texas College, North Texas Medical Center, and Gainesville City Council.

Bobby Eberle is president and CEO of GOPUSA, a conservative news, information, and commentary company which reaches 500,000 subscribers nationwide. He has stood strong for conservative social and fiscal ideals.

Come to meet the local Republican candidates, as well. A social time will follow the meeting and refreshments will be served. Men and women of Cooke County are welcome to attend.

he following is the agenda for the regular meeting of the fuenster City Council to be held at 7:30 pm in the City Hal eeting room on Monday, May 1, 2006.

Water, water everywhere?

By U.S. Sen. John Cornyn
American author Henry
David Thoreau once said,
"Water is a pioneer which the settler follows, taking advantage of its improvements." In Thoreau's time, Americans could choose their homestead wherever they found natural resources, especially water.
Today, America and Texas are settled. The land has been claimed, and we can no longer follow water. We must instead capture and transport it – to our homes, our public buildings, our crops, and our power plants. And as population grows and droughts seem to last longer, we find ourselves increasingly at the mercy of the heavens to drop rain.
Though we remain largely at the mercy of the heavens to drop rain.
Though we remain largely at the mercy of the heavens to drop rain.
Though we remain largely at the mercy of the weather, there are ways we can work together to ensure Texas families, farmers, and industries have the water they need to survive the blistering summer heat.
In March, I sat down in Washington with water stakeholders from Texas whose work is the steward-ship of this precious resource.
The meeting was part of Texas Water Day, an annual for the regular meeting of the leid at 7:30 pm in the City Hall

The trend is not good.

Our reservoir levels around the state are currently in decent shape. But preliminary predictions are for a hot, dry summer. Every year, we seem to have less margin for adverse weather conditions.

The state's 16 water-planning groups have prepared regional blueprints that have been folded into a statewide Water for Texas' plan. This comprehensive document addresses future water needs for human health and welfare, economic development, and environmental sustainability.

And while the plan certainly must pass muster as it is implemented locally, the federal government can help Texas now in this move.

Reliable data is critical to accurate water planning for the state. State and local governments have two excellent resources: the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, which provides technical support used to dump trash and old tires. His County crews have to spend time cleaning it up. Several property owners in the area signed an affidavit supporting the road's closure. Numbered among them was Glenna Leckinger. Her property is encircled on the south and west by CR 289.

Leckinger said that every time it rains, someone in a red 4x4 truck shows up at 1 or 2 a.m. to go "mudding". It is noisy and disturbing, she said, "The road goes nowhere. It is an unnecessary cost for the taxpayers to maintain it," said Leckinger. It is not used by anyone as the main entry to property.

Berry explained that closing was actually closing off the road for use and to do so would open the County up to possible legal complications.

Commissioner Cox suggested gating the road, which seemed to suit all but one person present. He didn't want to have to open another gate when checking his cattle.

Commissioner Hollowell remarked that he didn't like the idea of closing the road to solve the criminal element.

"That's like giving in to the criminal element," he said.

Berry said that the noted posting stated that this was television in extreme weather conditions

Nortex Communications is always interested in the safety and well being of their customers. And one way they help the local community is by providing local weather information on their cable system. For day-to-day local weather, they provide a real time weather radar channel — Nortex Weather Watch on channel 55. On channel 55, you will find maps with local, regional, and United States weather, as well as current temperatures, regional satellite with cloud formations, and Doppler radar information. Updated every five minutes, the local Doppler radar will keep Nortex Cable TV customers informed on current local weather conditions.

During an emergency situation, Nortex cable system is tied into the National Weather Service and with local area weather watchers. In the event of weather warnings that may affect Muenster, the National Weather Service can activate Nortex's Emergency Alert System. When activated, a message is displayed on every channel that alerts viewers to the specific weather condition, such as a tornado warning. Also, local officials can provide an audio message that gives specific information about dangerous weather. This warning will be heard on every channel across the system.

Locally originated audio warnings are initiated by either the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department or Cooke County's Emergency Management Service. These two groups work in conjunction to monitor local conditions through volunteer spotters and specialized radar services. When necessary, these groups can notify local citizens through the cable system and the neighborhood sirens.

After this type of alert, you can then turn to a local channel such as ABC, CBS, or NBC to get weather updates or turn to channel 55 to hear from the National Weather Service.

"It's that time of year," said Alvin Fuhrman, president and CEO of Nortex Communications, "Time for tornados and thunderstorms to form and some could be in our area. We encourage everyone to turn on their television and tune to channel 55 to see the local weather conditions."

On Monday evening, April 17, the Network Evangelization Team came to Sacred Heart Parish and presented a retreat to the SHY members entitled "WHY FAITH?". Attending were 60 students, grades 9 through 12, from both Muenster ISD and Sacred Heart School.

According to Dana Dittlinger, Sacred Heart youth minister, those who attended had a really good

Alexander celebrates 8th birthday with party

Alexander Nicolas Nervo was honored on his eighth birthday with a party on Sunday, Feb. 19, hosted by his parents Donna And Nicolas Nervo of Arlington.

A medieval knight theme was emphasized in all the party décor. The white sheet cake, baked by Alexander's mother, served as the main table's centerpiece. The vanilla-iced cake was adorned with miniature knights, horses, shields, and swords. A silver knight helmet and castle were on the table, next to each side of the cake. Balloons in shades of red, blue, yellow, and silver accented the party area.

Alexander was excited to receive all of his gifts, including a basketball and a karaoke machine, which are some of his favorite hobbies.

Everyone enjoyed a lunch of sausage and cheese ravioli pasta with vodka pink sauce.

Turn around, don t drown

Last year in Texas, 13 lose control in six inches of people lost their lives as they tried to drive or walk into flooded areas.
Flash flooding is the number one storm related killer in the United States and Texas. Why? Most people fail to realize the power of water, and they think they can make it through the flooding.

Of these drownings, many are preventable simply by not driving or walking onto flooded roads. Most vehicles

Addiction risk of underage drinking

The latest National Survey on Drug Use and Health reported that nearly 4.5 million teens between the ages of 12 and 17 are current alcohol users. In an effort to combat this statistic, the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) held approximately 1,200 town hall meetings across the country as part of a campaign to prevent underage drinking.

Research has found that adults who first used alcohol before age 15 are five times more likely to report dependence on or abuse of alcohol than adults who first used at age 21 or older, according to SAMHSA. In addition to its negative impact on health, alcohol use among youth is strongly correlated with violence, risky sexual behavior, poor academic performance, alcohol-related driving incidents, and other harmful behaviors. In fact, alcohol is responsible for six times the number of youth deaths than can be attributed to all other drugs combined.

SAMHSA Administrator Charles Curie said, "For too long, underage drinking has been accepted as a rite of passage in this country. It's time to change attitudes toward teen drinking from acceptance to abstinence. It's time to get real, get focused, and push back. It's time for parents and teachers, clergy and See alcohol below

Summer program offers students opportunity to broaden understanding of agriculture to broaden

Students interested in agriculture-industry jobs have an array of options, ranging from traditional choices such as farming or ranching to careers in agricultural research. During AgVenture 2006 — a unique, intense, hands-on agricultural experience sponsored annually by the Noble Foundation — high school students can learn about the variety of agricultural job fields by interacting with working agricultural professionals.

This year's free program is set for June 13-16 at the Noble Foundation's Ardmore campus. Students will be housed at the Noble Foundation's Conference Center and all meals and transportation will be provided.

During the program, Noble grazing management;

commercial fish farming,
deer management;
use of good livestock management techniques;
intensive vegetable production;
fencing materials and methods;
pecan propagation;
livestock marketing and farm management;
ag career paths and opportunities;
soil conservation.

"Perhaps one of the biggest benefits to participants is getting 'out of their shells' and meeting new people with different backgrounds and experiences," Ingram added.

I am a candidate for Regent, position two, of the North Central Texas Board of Regents. I have decided to offer myself for this public service because of my respect for the college and its mission to this community, and out of a sense of loyalty and appreciation for all that this community has done for my family and me over the 52 years that we have been fortunate enough to live in Cooke County. As a family physician in Cooke County for 26 years, I have served in numerous leadership positions in the medical community, including the Chief of various services at GMH, President of both the hospital medical staff and the Cooke County Medical Society, GMH Board of Directors for 10 years, Cooke County Advisory Board for Special Education, and currently serve as one of two Medical Directors for the Cooke County Home Hospice.

I am active in the First United Methodist Church and have been a member of the NCTC Cooke County Chorale for many years.

I feel that I will be an effective and fair Regent. I do not enter this cause with any agenda other than keeping this institution a tremendous asset for the students of Cooke County.

I hope that I can earn your vote.

Sacred Heart Basketball Camp announced

Coach Jon LeBrasseur has announced that June 19 - 22 will be dates for the 2006 Sacred Heart Basketball Camp. The camp is a fundamentals camp with a special emphasis on shooting. "Our primary purpose is to provide boys and girls the opportunity to improve their knowledge and enthusiasm for basketball," said Coach LeBrasseur.

Assisting Coach Jon will be Coach Ted Heers. "Ted has worked many summer camps including the TABC camps and college camps at North Carolina, Kansas, and SMU," said Coach Jon. "We are very fortunate to have Coach Heers working with us, as he has great knowledge and passion for the game."

The camp is open to all boys and girls who are entering grades 3-9 for the 2006 school year. The camp is 940 and enrollment will be limited and will be based on a first pay basis.

For more information on the camp, contact Coach Jon LeBrasseur at 940-759-4538 or 940-759-2511 x26.

TPWD GAME WARDEN FIELD NOTES

The following are excerpts from recent Texas Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement reports.

Game wardens continue border lake cleanup ... Wardens participating in the third wave of Operation Pescador seized 13,400 feet of illegal gill net on Falcon Lake. Wardens apprehended four violators and seized four boats and motors. Wardens have seized a total of 68,450 feet of gill net, 12 boats and motors, and have arrested 18 violators since the beginning of this operation.

Young waterfowlers jump the gun... The Abilene office received a call about some young people hunting ducks illegally at Fort Phantom Lake March 15. A Taylor County game warden responded and located the suspects. One of them was almost 14 years old, and the other two were 11 and 12. The game warden educated the young men about places you can't hunt, open and closed seasons, hunting migratory birds with a peller rifle, and hunting license requirements. The grandmother of one of the young fellows offered to handle the situation, and the rishing felons ... A Harris County game warden checked three subjects fishing at Sheldon Reservoir March 12. Two of the subjects were found to be in possession of marijuana and a loaded .38-caliber pistol. A criminal history check on the two subjects came back that both had prior felony convictions. The third subject, who was driving, admitted he had more marijuana in his vehicle and gave consent to search.

Warden Spitzer's search revealed a bag of marijuana along with 5 grams of cocaine, speed pills, a loaded .25-caliber pistol, and an ASP baton. Felony cases are pending in county court.

If they'd been better shots, they would have gotten bigger fines ... On March 11 at approximately 10 a.m., a Pecos County game warden received a call from the sheriff's office in reference to a suspicious vehicle with blood running out of the bed of the truck.

The game warden located the vehicle and made contact with the driver. Suspects first told the game warden that the blood was from a coyote. Further investigation revealed the driver and passenger had killed one white-tailed doe and one mule deer doe from the public road at approximately 2 a.m. The suspects, one juvenile and one 17-year-old, admitted to shooting at approximately six deer during their excursion but had managed to kill only two. Several charges were filed as well as civil restitution.

Landowners reminded licenses needed to operate hunting leases

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department would like to remind landowners that a hunting lease licenses is required for certain hunting operations, and that such lease licenses must be renewed each year. The owner of a hunting lease or the landowner's agent may not receive pay or anything of value from hunters unless the owner or agent has acquired a hunting lease icense from the Department. This law applies to all hunting leases.

There are three types of lease licenses: (1) hunting lease licenses: (2) hunting cooperative; and (3) wildlife management association. The license is required to be displayed on the hunting lease property.

"A person who violates any provision of the hunting lease license requirements or who fails to comply with any provision of the hunting lease license requirements or who fails to comply with any provision of the hunting lease license requirements or who fails to comply with any provision of the hunting lease license and Glass C Parks and Wildlife Code misdemeanor, which carries a fine of between $25-$500," said David Sinclair, chief of Wildlife Enforcement at TPWD.

For more information, call (512) 389-4854.

"A person who violates any provision of the hunting lease license requirements or who fails to comply with any provision of the hunting lease license requirements commits an offense that is a Class C Parks and Wildlife Code misdemeanor, which carries a fine of between $25-$500," said David Sinclair, chief of Wildlife Enforcement at TPWD.

everything but the kitchen sink at these bass. I'd be lying if I said it wasn't any fun, but sometimes a change of pace can do a lot of good.

Fishing is supposed to be fun, and crappie fishing in April can be one of the most fun fishing trips of the year. Crappie fishing is a great opportunity to take the spouse and the kids along, since there's a better chance of catching more fish than your typical day on the lake in pursuit of bass. Even if there isn't room enough for everyone on the boat, you and the family can have just as much fun fishing from the bank or a dock.

For those who will be fishing from the bank or a dock.

For those who will be fishing from the bank or a dock.

For those who will be fishing from the bank reaching these fish is easier than you think. Crappie can be found in one to eight feet of water once the water temperatures rise above 55 degrees. Like bass, crappie will hold tight to structure, so concentrate your efforts around standing timber, brush piles, ripraps, docks, and bridge pilings. Texas Crops, Weather

Much-needed rain fell across portions of the state recently, offsetting record-breaking high temperatures and improving the outlook for crop and forage production, Texas Cooperative Extension reports.

In the Rolling Plains, up to 3.5 inches of rain was recorded.

In the North, producers were fertilizing fields in anticipation of more moisture. Some much-needed rain fell late in the week, Rainfall amounts varied from an including the week. Rainfall amounts varied from 6 inches to over 2 inches. However, in the Southwest, records for dry conditions continue to be set.

ID regulations on hold

Premises ID regulations have been put on hold and will not be considered by the Texas Animal Health Commission until the winter or spring of 2007. Dr. Bob Hillman, TAHC executive director, said the TAHC will continue to promote voluntary, free registrations of sites (premises) where livestock and fowl are held, handled or managed. As of April 4, more than 10,000 premises had been registered in Texas, more than 213,000 had been registered nationally.

COUNTY AGENT'S REPORT

Watch oxygen depletion in ponds

With the recept weather conditions (extremely hot and then heavy overcast/rain), a rash of oxygen depletions have occurred since last weekend, Keys to look for include a water color change from light green or normal to brown or coffee colored and multiple species dying. Short term solutions include pumping water from near the surface and shooting it back over the pond to facilitate water circulation or using a bat motor (with boat in a fixed position) to circulate water. Some of these pondowners were already "living on the edge" with 1000 pounds of fish per surface are or more—others had much lower densities present but had fish kills anyway.

Armadillo Control
The armadillo (Dasypus novemcinctus) is a rather interesting and unusual animal that has a protective armor of "horny" material on its head, body, and tail. This bony armor has nine movable rings between the shoulder and hip shield. The head is small with a long, narrow, piglike snout. Canine and incisor teeth are absent. The primarily from twilight through early morning hours in the summer. In winter it may be active only during the day. The armadillo usually digs a burrow 7 or 8 inches in diameter and up to 15 feet in length for shelter and raising young. Burrows are located in rock piles, around stumps, brush piles, or terraces around brush or dense woodlands. Armadillos often have several dens in an area to use for escape.

The young are born in an nest within the burrow. The female produces only one litter each year in March or April after a 150-day gestation period. The litter always consists of quadruplets of the same sex. The young are identical since they are derived from a single egg.

The armadillo has poor they are derived from a single egg.

The armadillo has poor eyesight, but a keen sense of smell. In spite of its cumbersome appearance, the agile armadillo can run well when in danger. It is a good swimmer and is also able to walk across the bottom of small streams.

Most armadillo damage occurs as a result of their rooting. Characteristic signs of armadillo activity are shallow holes, 1 to 3 inches deep and 3 to 5 inches wide, which are dug in search of food. They also uproot flowers and other ornamental plants. Some damage has been caused by their burrowing under foundations, driveways, and other structures.

There is evidence that armadillos may be responsible for the loss of domestic poultry eggs. This loss can be prevented through proper housing or fencing of nesting birds.

Armadillos have the ability to climb and burrow. Fencing or barriers, however, may exclude armadillos under certain conditions. A fence slanted outward, 40° angle, with a portion buried, can be effective. The cost of exclusion should be compared to other forms of control and the value of the resources being protected.

Armadillos prefer to have their burrows in areas that have cover, so the removal of brush or other such cover will discourage them from becoming established.

Armadillos can be captured in 10 x 12 x 32-inch live or box traps. The best locations to set traps are along pathways to armadillo burrows and along fences or other barriers where the animals may travel.

The best trap is the type that can be opened at both ends. Its effectiveness can beenhanced by using "wings" of 1 x 4-inch or 1 x 6-inch boards about 6 feet long to finnel the target animal into the trap. This set does not need baiting. If bait is, desired, use overripe or spoiled fruit. Other suggested baits are fetid meats or mealworms.

Shooting is an effective and selective method. The best trap is the type that can be opened at both ends. Its effectiveness can been and as of the suggested baits are fetid meats or mealworms.

Shooting is an effective and selective method. The best trap is the safe to shoot. Check local laws and ordinances before using shooting as a control method. Since most of the damage armadillos cause is a result of their rooting for insects and other invertebrates in the soil, soil insecticides may be used to remove this food source and make areas less attractive to Remember.
