VOLUME X

MUENSTER, TEXAS, COOKE COUNTY, FRIDAY MAY 31, 1946

NUMBER 27

For a long time we wondered how far labor leaders could carry their outrages before encountering some really stern official opposition. Now we know. They can go on until they have the nation completely paralyzed.

We're not in a position to know the motive in permitting things to go as far as they did. It might have been a hope that the labor bosses would experience a revival of conscience and give up their drastic action without official coercion. It might have been a deliberate plan on the part of government officials to let the radicals show the extent to which they would press their unscrupulous methods.

Whatever the motive, the American public has just learned a valuable lesson. There can't be any doubt now about the caliber of men running our unions. Now we know that those people will stop at nothing to gain their end. And we believe that an overwhelming majority of the public is now in favor of seeing congress put the clamps on the offenders.

Saturday's announcement by President Truman that the rail strike had ended may prove to be the climax in the nation's labor troubles. We hope so at least. We hope that this country never again will see the time when a comparatively small percentage of its people can cause discomfort, privation, financial loss and even threaten the health of the entire population.

This isn't saying that we wish to see labor lose a single one of the rights it has gained during the past couple of decades. Labor should have the right to organize. It should enjoy decent working conditions and decent wages.

Under normal circumstances it should also have a right to strike. But last week especially, and for several weeks prior, we saw that the right of a few thousand men to strike violated the right of millions of men to a normal standard of living.

Yes, by all means labor's rights should be preserved and it is just as urgent that privileges be curtailed. Labor should be forced to abide by contracts. It should be held financially responsible for losses it causes. It should be held accountable before the law for engaging in force, violence and intimidation. It should be prevented from calling any strike which might cause general distress to the public. Flouting with management is one thing, but falling down on the responsibility of serving others is altogether different.

The country at large cheered enthusiastically as congress when President Truman asked for the power to draft for military service every man who strikes against the government. We don't know how widely he intends the measure to apply, but we can see in the proposal the basis of a provision to make major strikes most unpopular in the future.

Federal boards of arbitration, or fact finding boards or whatever name they assume, can be empowered to make official decrees in settling labor disputes, and disregard of such decrees could be interpreted as striking against the government.

To labor bosses, who have been accustomed to making all the decrees this may sound like a high method. It isn't, however. It's a fair method, the only reasonable way of assuring a square deal to both sides in a dispute. So long as either labor or management is in a position to dictate the other will emerge at the small end of the bargain.

What's more, arbitration such as this is more than just an expedient solution in a dilemma. It is a proper function of government, a means of guarding the rights and interests of one citizen or group of citizens against encroachment by another.

By applying that function to the fullest extent government can eliminate all future strikes. It can hand down an ultimatum to the effect that every labor problem not settled by representatives of management and labor will be referred to an arbitration board and both sides will abide by its decision, or else. And while the problem is under consideration work goes on as usual.

OPA's grant of a higher ceiling price on automobiles helps to prove the futility of striking for exorbitant wages. Shortly after the General Motors strike was ended, economists estimated that, with the higher rate of pay, workers would need five years to overcome the financial loss during their strike.

If the same economists figured the situation again they would estimate a much longer time. (Continued on Page 8)

16 Students Graduate At Parochial Hi

Impressive commencement exercises held at Sacred Heart church Sunday evening, May 26, at 8 o'clock honored sixteen graduates of Sacred Heart High School.

Pastor Rev. Herman Laux delivered the commencement address, using as his text, "The hope of the wicked is as dust which is blown away with the wind, but the just shall live forever", taken from the Book of Wisdom.

The services began with the entry of the graduates, accompanied by their tiny pages and their occupation of places of honor in the front pews. Rosary and sacramental benediction were a part of the service and the final ceremony was the presentation of diplomas.

The graduates wore caps and gowns and the little girl pages wore floor length white frocks. Both groups of pages carried red carnation nosegays. A large assemblage of relatives and friends of the graduates attended the exercises.

The high school seniors are Marjorie Endres, La Rue Felderhoff, Thomas Felderhoff, Alvin Hartman, Florence Haverkamp, Jewel Marie Hoffman, Norbert Mages, Theresa Mae Pels, Mary Seyler, George Swirczynski, Dorothy Vogel, Helen Waterscheid, Laura Lee Wilde, Lillian Wimmer, Herbert Yosten, and Margaret Zipper.

Si A. McCollum Is Candidate For Tax Assessor-Collector

Si A. McCollum has authorized The Enterprise to announce his candidacy for county tax assessor-collector in the Democratic primary election to be held in July, and he solicits the support and votes of the citizens of Cooke county.

Mr. McCollum is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. McCollum. He has been a resident of Gainesville and Cooke county for 35 years, and was educated in the Gainesville public schools and college. He is married and has one child.

He bases his claim for consideration upon his knowledge and experience in bookkeeping and accounting. He was serving in the cost accounting department on the Post Engineers at Camp Howze when he voluntarily entered the Navy Seabees in November, 1943. He was a disbursing storekeeper until the date of his discharge from the Navy in February, 1946.

Mr. McCollum has never been a candidate for a public office before, and has always supported the Democratic party. He is submitting his candidacy strictly on his own merits and the belief that he can be of service to the people. If elected to the office he intends to give the service and courtesy on a standard that the people will never regret their choice.

His friends recommend him to the voters of the county as being well qualified in the office of tax assessor-collector. (Pol. Adv.)

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cier and children, Lt. Jane Hoehn and Jack Hoehn, all of Garland, spent Saturday night and Sunday here visiting relatives. Lt. Hoehn, an army nurse stationed in California, is on sick leave. She underwent a major operation several weeks ago.

Mack Taylor States Platform In Race For U. S. Representative

Issuing a formal statement of his political beliefs and projected policy, Mack Taylor, candidate in the Democratic primary July 27 as congressional representative from the 13th District, declared that if elected, "I will support the Democratic party in every effort to forward the plans and policies of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Taylor's application for candidacy in opposition to Ed Gossard, incumbent, was filed Thursday. The 13th Congressional District comprises Archer, Wichita, Baylor, Clay Cooke, Denton, Board, Hardeman, Jack Knox, Montague, Throckmorton, Wilbarger, Wise and Young counties.

"Considering in detail major and minor legislative problems now confronting congress, I follow General MacArthur in the recent assertion that all nations must renounce war as an instrument of national policy. That is the first and biggest of public issues. And it must be settled as a foundation of all other constructive national or international action."

"The national destiny of this country is a matter to be determined by the congress and the people. I hold that a reactionary (Continued on Page 4)

GRAIN BUYERS WILL AVOID SPOILAGE BY REFUSING WET GRAIN

Damp grain, always a problem to millers, and often a cause of heavy losses, is discouraged more than ever this year because of the urgency of saving every possible bushel for famine relief abroad.

Ed Rohmer, representing Morrison Milling Company, disclosed this week that he has instructions not to accept any wheat that seems too wet for safe storage.

Dick Cain, representing Kimbrell Milling Company, has even more drastic reports concerning spoilage. According to his version, federal authorities will check grain buyers and prosecute any who accept wheat subject to spoilage.

Each of them urges farmers to be especially careful about the condition of grain they bring in. If the grain is not acceptable it will have to be rejected and the worry about preventing spoilage will fall back on the farmers themselves.

Architect Begins Work On Plans For Muenster Hospital

The first step toward actual construction of Muenster's hospital was taken here Wednesday afternoon when Walter Coker, Waco architect, met with hospital directors to discuss their general requirements and take notes to serve as a guide in drawing his original plan.

The plan he will draw is to be submitted to state health authorities and experienced hospital operators for suggested changes or additions before the final working plan is drawn. In that way the directors hope to arrive at a design that will incorporate recent developments in efficiency as well as economy of construction.

Starting now the directors are confident they will have plans completed and be ready to build by the time materials become available.

General specifications for the building include a central unit and one wing. The central unit is to consist of reception room adjoining offices for two doctors and a dentist, operating rooms, administrative, kitchen and boiler room besides laboratory rooms, closets and toilets. The wing will consist of ten rooms with generous space for one bed each and enough to serve for two beds in emergencies.

A plain modern style of architecture will be featured. The modern trend toward low ceilings will also be followed.

Convenience of future additions is another basic consideration. The plan will be so arranged that wings can be annexed at minimum cost and without disturbing the symmetry of the building.

Basic construction material will be determined at a later date.

Joe Trubenbach Delivers First Load of '46 Wheat

Muenster's first load of 1946 wheat was sold here Monday, May 27, by Joe Trubenbach, according to a report from Ed Rohmer, manager of the Morrison elevator. The test was 61.

All wheat received to date has a good test, Rohmer said. Of 9 loads the lowest test was 57, and that was lowered by weed and grass seeds rather than the quality of the grain.

The first wheat of the 1945 crop was brought in last year by Alois Trubenbach on May 31.

DISTRICT MEETING OF STATE LEAGUE TO BE HELD HERE JUNE 25

In the meeting Monday members of the St. Joseph's Society of the Muenster parish extended an invitation to delegates of the N. Texas District of the Catholic State League to hold their annual meeting here on Tuesday, June 25. Customarily the district meeting is held a short time prior to the organization's state convention, which will be held in Fredericksburg this year on July 8-11.

June 25 was selected as the meeting date because many of the district officers and delegates will be here to attend the first solemn high mass of Father Leo Koelsier.

M. Sgt. Walter Huchtions, temporarily stationed at Enid, Okla., with the army air corps, was here to spend the weekend with his mother Mrs. Catherine Huchtions and family. He is based at Perrin Field.

Almost Six Inches Of Rain Falls In One Hour

Disaster in the form of a devastating cloudburst struck the community late Wednesday afternoon and caused thousands of dollars worth of damage to grain crops. In less than an hour, between 6 and 7 o'clock, more than 5.5 inches of rain fell and lighter rain after that brought the total to 6 inches.

It was by far the heaviest rain Muenster has had this year and raised the month's total rainfall to more than 12 inches.

The Big Elm, swollen by a similar downpour west of town, left its banks, flooding hundreds of acres of bottom land in the community. Grain fields hit by the flood waters are a total loss, however, a great deal of corn survived the torrents.

Even on uplands heavy losses were sustained. Grain was knocked down by the driving deluge and heads were partially or completely buried in the mud. That is true especially of fields that were ready for cutting, in which heads were supported by ripe, brittle stems. A large percentage of other grain, though not pounded into the ground cannot possibly be picked up with harvesters. More losses were caused to grain already in windrows and bundles.

No accurate estimate of the damage can be made at this time but it is certain that the yield of the community was reduced by a large percentage and the net cash loss to farmers will run into many thousands of dollars.

Beginning about 6 o'clock, the rain fell in torrents until 7. At times it was so heavy as to cut down visibility to less than a block.

The Main street of Muenster became a gushing curb to curb stream, that washed away gravel and a few spots of sizable asphalt topping.

The deluge came as a climax to the 90 inch rain that fell Tuesday night. Wednesday continued cloudy but a favorable breeze encouraged a belief that fields would again be ready for harvesters on Thursday. Now it is unlikely that cutting will be resumed before the beginning of next week.

Until the interruption, cutting progress was generally satisfactory, keeping pace with maturing crops.

Scattered reports also bore out pre-harvest predictions as to yield. Grain had an exceptionally good quality and the heavy yield of single heads compensated to a large extent for the thinness of the stand.

The estimated community yield was 12 to 15 bushels of wheat per acre and 40 bushels of oats. At this writing no estimates have been made as to the remaining crop.

OPA PERMITS BOOST IN NEW CAR PRICES

New automobiles will cost from $33 to $167 more than former ceiling prices. The OPA boosted prices another 4 to 8 percent on May 22, in granting the third price increase this year.

OPA promised consumers however, that there will be no further price advance "until actual operating experience at normal volume is available."

The new ceiling prices apply to all new passenger automobiles made by Chrysler, Ford, General Motors, Hudson, Nash-Kelvinator, Packard or Studebaker.

The higher prices reflect increased costs to manufacturers for materials. Previous increases were granted for higher labor costs and changes in design. The new increases range from $33 on a Chevrolet to $167 for a Lincoln.

The increase went into effect on all automobiles sold by the manufacturers after May 22.

200,000 Cars Less

Two hundred thousand prospective buyers will have to continue to wait for their new autos because of steel production lost in the first month of the coal strike alone, Pittsburgh plants report.

The same amount of steel production lost also would have produced 3,000,000 refrigerators.

Mack Taylor---

Churchill or any other representative of a foreign power who comes to our shores to deliver an inflammatory, imperialistic plea should be ignored.

"I believe that the present Selective Service Act measure should be allowed to expire, but that voluntary enlistment should be encouraged by the establishment of a higher minimum pay bracket for enlisted men.

"Since we have the biggest and best navy in the world, the largest and best air force and the atomic bomb, I believe that all military personnel requirement should be met on a voluntary basis, doing away with the drafting of men, if the minimum enlisted man's pay was set at $75 per month.

"I am in favor of abolishing the army caste system and all present uniform differences, in favor of distinction by insignia only. I also believe that a more favorable system of privileges should be worked out for the enlisted man.

"I believe in the establishment of positive U.S. civilian control over atomic research, the atomic bomb and other secret U. S. developed weapons. We want to take these things from the control of Washington brass hats.

"I will support to the fullest extent all legislative action to establish a wage and hour law in support of a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour for a 40 hour work week, with time and a half for all time in excess of 40 hours. This is but a subsistence wage in relation to present living costs. Consider the case of a laborer, the head of a family of five, who earns this minimum basic pay. At the end of a standard 40 hour week he would gross $30. Present withholding taxes average about 20 per cent of wages. Thus the laborer would earn a take home pay of approximately $24 a week. I, for one wouldn't like to see the result of a man with a family trying to live on anything less than this amount.

"I will also give my fullest support to all legislation limiting certain presently opportunistic labor practices of utilities and corporations.

"I have been told by employees of certain Texas utilities that these companies do not pay overtime in excess of 40 hours.

"In regard to present federal rent and price controls, I express conviction that rent controls should be maintained until the present acute housing shortage is eliminated. This can be done by a positive government building program in cooperation with local private contractors. Once such a program is achieved, I believe that all rent controls should be abolished.

"Regarding OPA food subsidies and controls, I believe the federal government should put a floor under farm prices that will be satisfactory to the farmer and should remove farm ceilings. I am convinced that this should be a basic policy, applicable as well to the oil production industry. I advocate the establishment of a per barrel floor of $1.50 and removal of all present OPA ceilings prices on independently produced crude.

"Taking a stand for reduction of federal tax machinery, the present plan requiring taxpayers to file estimates on future earnings should be abolished. I am also for the exemption from income tax payment of all married persons with annual incomes of less than $5,000."

"If elected, I will especially be concerned with the expansion of rural electrification projects, as well as a program to supply directly to all rural consumers. The surplus power now being generated at the $55,000,000 Denison dam and the $12,000,000 Mineral Wells dam is now being purchased for distribution by private power utilities at a price they are ashamed to make public. I propose to halt this practice which is a matter of dollars and cents interest to every farmer and rancher in Texas.

"Expansion of this program means that every farmer and rancher would have available a low cost power source for refrigeration, lighting and machine operation. To the farmer, I say 'Let's cut out the wood cutting and get a power saw.'

"In conclusion, I believe the interests of the farm, ranch and independent business in the 13th District could be better served in congress by the election of a successful, independent businessman who from direct experience knows and can correctly evaluate such problems, than by the election of a lawyer.

"In regard to a recent Jackson Day speech made by Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace who deplored the harm done the Democratic party by those who have joined in a coalition against progress, I say that Congressman Ed Gossett has clearly indicted by his record that he is a mugwump of the worst sort."

"I also pledge myself not to wear a Texas Reglar necktie in Texas, and in Washington, out of sight of my constituents, a Hoover cravat.

"I believe in poll tax exemption. I also believe that boys and girls 18 years old should be allowed to vote. It is my belief that men and women 60 years and older should be allowed to vote without going to the court house and securing exemption certificates each year. Another thing you may be sure of is that I will never be found fence-straddling on any issue. I am a strong believer in religion and a steward in the First Methodist church of Wichita Falls, Texas. I was brought up at the feet of some good religious leaders. I fear nothing on earth or in heaven except to do wrong".

Washington Notes

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D.C. May 24 - Again, we write about strikes. All honest Americans want our workers to have good wages and high standards of living. But it cannot be done by killing the goose that lay the golden eggs. Most of the strikers are now drawing the highest wages in all history. In 1945 the average weekly earnings of passenger engineers were $95, that of local and freight engineers $105.67 and $83.95 respectively. This is an average income of about $5,000 per year. Many of these engineers earn their weekly salaries with 24 hours or less actual working time. In 1944 the average income of the General Motors workers was approximately 3,000. In the same period the average income of U. S. Steel employees was $2919. Since 1939 the average weekly income of iron and steel workers has risen 57 per cent, textile workers 101 per cent, and bituminous coal miners 139 per cent. So in the mines, in the railroads, in the steel industry, in the automobile industry, all of which have struck or are on strike, their average incomes before striking were reasonably good. This far exceeds the income of the average farmer or clerk or school-teacher. Even some unions of federal employees are now insisting they have a right to strike. In June, 1943 members of the United Federal Workers of America-CIO, in the City of Washington mailed circulars which stated in part, "Are you fighting for democracy on the home front. Write your Congressman to protest the Smith-Connally bill." At that time on the House floor I condemned his circular, and predicted that "if this sort of thing continues we may one day have federal employees themselves striking against the government that employs them." I believe I was the first Member of Congress to condemn this practice, and predict sinister developments. Today on the floor I made the following speech:

"Mr. Speaker, democracy is on trial. Our government is in danger. Six months before Pearl Harbor I stood in the floor of this House and predicted that our failure to establish a firm, consistent labor policy would get us into serious trouble. Now we have the miners and the railroads on strike against the government. Recently a union of federal employees have insisted they have a similar right. "The very least we can now do is to write immediately into law two things: (1) that to strike against the government at any time, under any circumstances, is a crime; (2) that industrial disputes in which the public health, safety, or welfare is seriously involved shall be submitted to compulsory arbitration. To say that such laws cannot be enforced is a stupid admission of futility. A government that can draft men to die for the safety of its people can force men to work for the same reasons. "The American people have a right to be alarmed. They are asking: 'Will the big labor bosses continue to vie with each other in seeing who can squeeze the most out of a defenseless public? Can big industries and big unions defy with impunity the government of the United States?' To answer these questions affirmatively is to insult the character and the intelligence of the American people. "Mr. Speaker, I can imagine Hitler and Mussolini looking up from their beds in hell and laughing at our puny efforts to save ourselves from economic and political destruction. Or perhaps in anguish and remorse they simply cry, 'Oh, if we had only waited.'"

STRIP PAINTED ON CENTER OF ROAD IS LIFE AND DEATH LINE

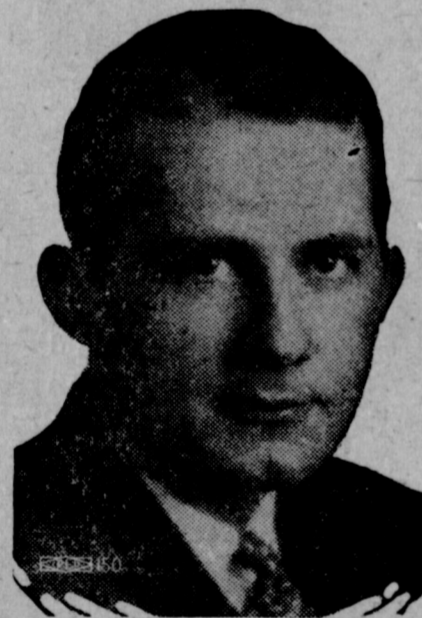

Out on the highway there is a painted line. It is the line that separates life from death; happiness from despair; safe driving from dangerous driving. It is the line that goes down the center of the highway.

Stay on your side and live. Thousands annually cross over that line and meet death or serious injury. Statistics show that passing another automobile out on the highway is one of the most dangerous things a person does.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer makes a timely plea when he calls for strict observance of highway markings and signs. Traffic volume is already well above pre-war peaks in Texas, tire and car shortages notwithstanding. It will soar further upward as new cars get on the road. Authorities predict the nation's 1946 death toll from motor accidents will pass 38,000 unless motorists can be persuaded to assume more cautious driving habits. At the predicted 1946 death rate, only seven years will be required for motor vehicles to kill as many Americans as were killed in World War II from Pearl Harbor through V-J Day.

It will be as impossible to remove defective cars from our highways, overnight as it will be to rebuild all highways overnight to conform to the most advanced safety standards. It is up

For Lieutenant Governor

ALLAN SHIVERS of Jefferson County

The father of two children, he left the Senate to volunteer in World War II, served overseas and now asks promotion to the office of Lieutenant Governor, for which he is qualified, based on service and experience. Address Allan Shivers, Port Arthur, Texas.

to the driver in 1946 to overcome the defect in his car and in the highway, in addition to reducing the number of accidents attributable to the driver himself.

While enjoying the beautiful Texas landscapes adjacent to our highways, may each driver keep alert for those yellow signs which warn him of danger. May he stay on the right side of the center stripe and never attempt to pass another vehicle when the dashed line is on his side.

Safety is one of the battles of peace. It will be fought by every person who gets under a steering wheel. His weapons are caution and never-ending practice of a few simple safe driving rules. Now well he uses these weapons will determine which is the more fatal: the battles of war or the battles of peace.

BEN SEYLER'S "TWO LOCATION" GARAGE TO BE OPEN THIS WEEK

Unless delayed by unexpected problems Ben Seyler will be operating his garage in its two new locations by June 1. His parts and service station across the highway from the cheese factory has been open since Monday and his shop and equipment is to be moved Thursday and Friday to the temporary building now being completed at his former residence lot.

Though his business is divided between two locations Seyler is pleased with the arrangement because it gives more space for each department than he formerly had.

For parts and merchandise, at the service station he has twice as much floor space as before. The condition has enabled him to add several new bins and relieve most of the congestion in his old location.

The 35 by 70 temporary building will be used exclusively for a shop and lubricating department.

When building conditions improve permitting the erection of a modern structure at the front of the lot the temporary building will be removed and the floor used for wash and grease racks.

Ben is making the move without an interruption in his operating schedule. Equipment is being transferred to the new location by other personnel while mechanics carry on with their usual work.

HOW MANY TIMES DID YOU "BEAT" THE LIGHT THIS WEEK?

THEY WERE BEATING IT, TOO!

*Accidents Don't Always Happen to Somebody Else!
Check Up on the Chances You Take Every Day!*

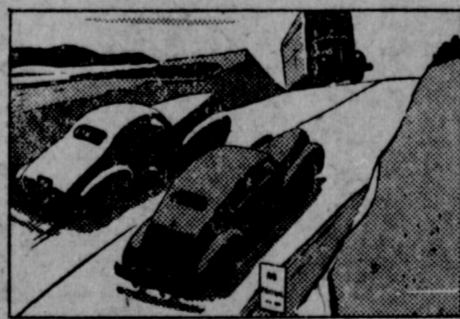

950,000 people were killed or injured in auto accidents last year! And the menace is growing! With the average car over eight years old, accidents involving defective equipment have more than doubled! In the four months after gas rationing ended, total auto deaths jumped 36%!

Certainly, somebody should do something about it. But the only one who can do anything really effective... is you! For most accidents come from carelessness... from the "little" chances we all take—the little repairs we neglect to make! Yes, it's up to you! You can cut down America's accident rate simply by not letting an accident happen to you. Watch yourself!

They didn't think they were taking much of a chance—stepping on it when the light was changing. Like you, they'd gotten away with it dozens of times. Yet the 950,000 people injured or killed in auto accidents last year thought they were only taking a little chance. How about you?

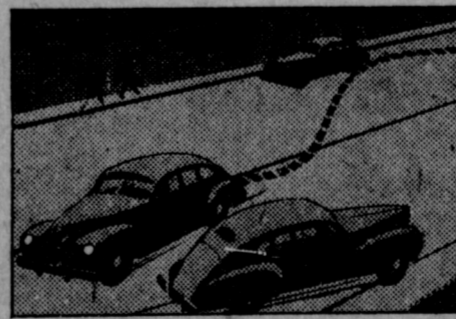

- I beat the light occasionally.
- I never take a chance at a light.

How many chances do you take every day?

- I passed on a hill this week.
- I never pass on a hill.

Do you "chance it"... risk frightful head-on collision by passing on a hill? Do you straddle center on curves? Last year half of all fatal traffic accidents involved improper driving habits like these. Next time you pass on a hill—may be the last time!

- I mix drinking and driving.
- I never drive "under the influence."

Do you figure a few drinks don't really affect your reactions? Why fool yourself—records reveal that drinking by pedestrian or driver played a part in 1 out of 4 traffic deaths last year. Play it safe—if you take a drink—don't take the driver's seat!

- I exceeded the speed limit this week.
- I never go over the speed limit.

Do you "step it up" when the coast is clear? Do you fail to allow for defective brakes... worn tires these days? If so, you may be on the auto death list this year—for unsafe speed played a part in 1 out of every 3 accidents that occurred last year.

MOOS OF THE MOMENT By Uncle Bob of the Kraft Dairy Farm Service

Use Quality Yardstick When You Put Up Hay This Summer

Most of us figure to put up hay by the ton, but Minnesota's extension department suggests hay should be put up by a "yardstick." However, they don't mean for you to measure the inches in a stack. The yardstick Minnesota is talking about is a measure of feed value in the hay.

It is important any year to get the best quality hay put away, but it has never been quite so important as it is in 1946. There's a job ahead of producing more milk than ever before, and it cannot be done unless every cow gets the best quality and quantity of hay and other feed.

3 Points Make Quality

Minnesota lists three cardinal points for insuring that your hay is chock full of actual food value. These points are (1) cut hay early; (2) put it up quickly; and (3) save the leaves.

Rich protein and high palatability are the milk-making factors found in high quality hay. The protein content of hay drops rapidly soon after the bloom forms. It may increase in ton-nage, but that gain is offset by the drop in feeding value.

Your most important job, therefore, is to cut your hay at as nearly the right time as possible to provide a good yield and yet before protein begins to decline. This means cutting at the proper bloom stage.

Alfalfa should be cut at one-tenth to one-quarter bloom stage; red clover at one-half bloom stage; sweet clover when the buds first show or earlier. Cut soybeans when the pods are well filled but before the lower leaves turn yellow, and grasses as soon as headed.

Cut your hay at these stages and you'll make sure that your cows are getting the maximum amount of nutri-ent. They'll produce more milk and maintain a better physical condition.

Minnesota cautions that after the hay is cut, it should be moved into the barn, stack or bale as soon as it is dry enough to put up. Otherwise it will lose its milk-producing ability, won't taste as good and leaf shatter will increase.

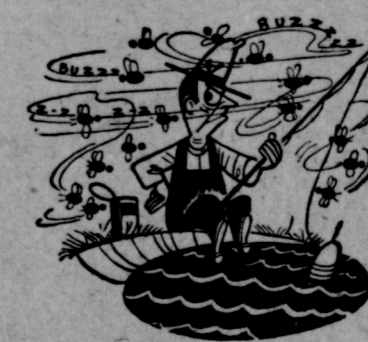

There is twice as much nourish-ment in the leafy part of hay as there is in the stems, pound for pound. Good legume hay should be 50% leaves, by weight.

To prevent leaf loss, avoid over drying and handle the hay as little as possible. Minnesota says small wind-rows will dry just as well without turning, thus not only saving leaves but time and labor as well.

There are some other excellent sug-gestions in the little Minnesota leaflet and I'm sure you'll get a great deal of value out of it. It is Extension Pam-phlet 136, Extension Service, Univer-sity Farm, St. Paul, Minn. Send a nickel when you order a copy if you don't live in Minnesota. Your county agent may have a similar bulletin from your extension service.

DDT Will Help Control Flies—Use Carefully

Nothing burns me up more than to finally get time to sneak out for a little fishing and then have all the flies and mosquitoes in that end of the state gather around with the idea of hold-ing a picnic on the back of my neck.

Flies are an even bigger pain in the neck in a dairy barn. They increase sanitation problems and worry cows and may cause a drop in production.

DDT is proving to be a most impor-tant factor in insect control on dairy farms, but the right form must be used. Sprayed on the walls, ceilings and around doors and windows inside and out, DDT has shown it can sharply reduce the number of flies.

DDT should be used carefully and in accordance with directions on the package. The correct form to use around a dairy barn is 50% DDT wettable powder.

If you'll drop Uncle Bob a card at 500 Peshigo Court, Chicago 90, Ill., and ask for DDT information, I'll send you without charge a sheet containing DDT information.

COOPERATION URGED IN FOOD COLLECTION FOR FAMINE RELIEF

Cooperating in the nation wide emergency food collection for famine stricken countries, Miss Mildred Chapman, Cooke County Home Demonstration agent, this week offers the following suggestions for the benefit of the many people who have been asking, "How can I help?"
1. Any canned food will be accepted, if canned in tin cans.
2. Label cans and pack in cartons. (If there is more than one kind of food in the box, give con-tenis.)

3. Bring the food to the Home Dem. Club Building at the Fair Park in Gainesville.
4. Cash donations are acceptable. This money will be turned in at the Chamber of Commerce in Gainesville.

TEXAS LEADS NATION IN REA ALLOTMENTS

College Station — Texas leads the nation in allotment for REA loans for the year ending June 30, 1946, the USDA has announced. Loans are being made for construction of lines to serve new consumers. Allotment for Texas for the fiscal year is $12,151,589.

Confetti---

They might even decide that the increased cost of living has already offset the wage gains, and that strikers are no better off than before.

All of which serves to substantiate a claim made by this column time and again. The basic trouble in our labor dispute is not the inadequate rate of pay but the inadequate working schedule. Forty hours a week simply isn't enough. The man earning a dollar an hour does not solve his problem by demanding a $1.25 because the raise in his wage necessitates a raise in prices and his living cost goes up proportionately. But if he works 50 hours instead at the dollar rate he had made a gain.

Living and getting ahead on a 40 hour work week simply isn't in the cards. Only a few minutes reflection on other types of work will convince us of this. Take the independent business man, the farmer, the professional man, the teacher. Not one of them can get along on 40 hours. And when we consider people who attained any reasonable degree of financial success we also find that their average work week was much nearer to 80 hours.

It's the same old story and it always will be. A man prospers by the sweat of his brow. The law of economics like the law of nature does not give something for nothing.

Nevertheless the strike situation is more encouraging now. Perhaps it isn't too much to hope that the last Saturday's climax was the beginning of a back to work movement which will soon put the nation back on the road to prosperity and harmony.

It's certainly high time that we're getting back. With the European war over for more than a year and the Pacific war over for almost a year, our puny progress toward a return to normal living is nothing short of a national disgrace.

In times like these, when prices on practically all kinds of service and commodities are rising, it is news when an organization sticks with its old prices.

But it is big news, sensational news when a company reduces its rates in defiance of rising price trends.

As our readers observed in an advertisement carried by The Enterprise last week, such a reduction has been made by the Texas Power & Light Co. It's not just a small reduction, either. Amounting to a million dollars annually over the entire TP&L system, it will save each consumer almost 10 per cent of his former electric current expense. Roughly speaking, it's a donation of 1 month of service out of the year.

Here is an answer more eloquent than mere words to the charges so frequently directed against private utilities. They have never had a better opportunity to accept a fat profit and keep mum. But TP&L is sticking
