TRUSTEES PROPOSE SCHOOL TAX NOT TO EXCEED 50 CENTS

During a debate in the Allied Council for Japan, on proposed labor legislation for that country, the Russian representative had an imposing list of typical red social reforms. George Atcheson, American chairman, in commenting on the Russian proposals offered some ideas that may very well be applied to the labor situation of this country.

"I should like to raise with the Soviet member several questions," Atcheson said. "Are industrial strikes permitted in his country? Is full freedom of labor unions guaranteed? Are reprisals against workers for participating in strikes forbidden by law or practice? Under 5-year plans, have working hours for employees been fixed at 8 hours a day or 48 hours a week? If these practices are not universally observed in his country why does he as a member of the council support them for Japan?"

Substitute just two words and then apply Atcheson's comments to the American labor situation. If such things are not tolerated in Russia why do her henchmen over here insist on such policies for American labor?

There are good reasons for the Communist attitude, reasons so obvious that their success to date constitutes a grave reflection on American judgment. Russia, including her disciples in every other country of the world, is interested primarily in Russian supremacy and eventual communization of the world.

What method could serve her purpose better than the one she has chosen? While driving her own workers to produce greater national strength she pursues a diabolical plot designed to cause dissension, disloyalty, and physical weakness abroad. And legislators of this country, dumfounded by a few hypocritical names and speeches, take the Russian bait, hook, line and sinker.

No one can observe the Soviet foreign policy without discovering an intention to dominate the world. No one can observe its influence in other nations' domestic policies without discovering a plot to cause weakness and strife.

If anyone is in doubt about the communist credo he can derive a comprehensive knowledge in a very few words from excerpts of remarks made by William Z. Foster, chairman of the Communist party of the United States, in a radio debate with Mrs. Clare Booth Luce. "My party considers religion to be an opiate for the people, as Karl Marx has stated. My opinion is that a member of the party of the Soviet Union who would be married in the church wouldn't be of any value to the communist party and he would eventually be put out of the party." And again, "The workers of every other country have only one flag. That's the Red flag — I stated very clearly that the Red flag is the flag of the revolutionary class, and all capitalist flags are flags of the capitalist class and we owe no allegiance to them."

There you have a blunt statement by America's Number 1 Communist — more probably, America's public enemy Number 1 — of the official attitude of the group which is exerting all too much influence on American life. It scoffs at, even seeks to destroy, religion, the free exercise of which is guaranteed by our constitution. It preaches treason to our own country's flag. It advocates openly the violation of our national rights and the overthrow of our government. What more evidence must we have to do something about it?

Communist principles are no more obvious than their methods. Holding key positions in many government jobs and the balance of power in many labor unions they are succeeding quite well in forcing the country to economic chaos. While professing to work for the working man, they investigate class strife and cause a scarcity that harms the whole country, including the very people they pretend to help. The capitalists are the only ones who turn out after which the Reds will say "Democracy has failed. Communism is your only solution."

As much as we hate to admit it, lots of people in this country are already convinced by the Red line. They are naive enough to believe that the communist claim of "equality for all" will guarantee them the life of kings whereas they need only to consider Russia itself to realize that they are bargaining for a life of peasants. When a nation of people all try to get more out of the common grab bag than they put in the inevitable result is that no one will get much — except.

Correcting a report previously published in the Enterprise, Tuesday that the 30 cent tax is adequate to maintain the transportation system and it will not exceed that figure as long as the present schedule of expenses prevails. However, the trustees anticipate other expenses during the next few years as the school expands and wish to have an additional source of revenue if and when the need arises.

The necessity of another tax election results from the recent consolidation with Hays. According to state regulations tax provisions in the districts automatically become void in case of merger and members of the newly formed district establish another tax.

Date for the referendum has not been set to date, but it will probably be held within the next three weeks.

That the Mexican Government will send a big exhibit to the State Fair of Texas this year, for the first time since 1924, was announced by W.H. Hitzelberger, vice president and general manager of the Fair, this week. Hitzelberger stated that he had received word from the Mexican Tourist Department at San Antonio that the exhibit would arrive at Fair Park about September 15.

More than a thousand articles of Mexican silver, pottery, leather and rare fashions will be included in the exhibit, as well as a large collection of colorful Mexican regional costumes. The exhibit will occupy some 1500 square feet in the Foods Building.

GIN BUILDINGS SOLD AS SALVAGE FOR USE IN HOUSES AT LINDSAY

The Muenster Gin company buildings were sold this week to Theo Schmitz of Lindsay who will tear them down and move the material to Lindsay to be used in the erection of new buildings for living quarters.

Erected here in 1916 the gin operated as a partnership owned by the late W.L. Stock and Wm. Walterscheid. Since Mr. Stock's death in Oct., 1944, the gin has not been in operation, an insufficient amount of cotton being raised in the sector to justify continuation of the business.

Machinery belonging to the company was sold in June to McCool Brothers et al. who rebuilt the cotton gin at Era, the gin there having been destroyed by fire in May.

Only part of the gin property still remaining on the site is the office and scales, being used currently by a local feed store. The owners do not plan its immediate sale.

BOYS WIN TWO AND GIRLS LOSE ONE IN SUNDAY SOFTBALL

Muenster came out slightly ahead in its softball triple header Sunday afternoon, the boys winning both their games and the girls losing.

Both of the boys' games were closely contested all the way through and ended in one point victories which, judged by comparative performance of the teams, might just as well have gone to the opponents.

With Lawrence Knabe on the mound, they led off with a 10 to 9 win over Dennis Flats.

The girls' game, second on the program, was an easy 8 to 2 for Saint Jo. Minus several of their regulars the local girls had to call on volunteer boys to fill out their team.

CHEESE FACTORY GETS ELECTRIC PARAFFIN COATING EQUIPMENT

Improved equipment recently received and to be installed soon at the cheese factory is an all electric paraffin coating unit for cheese.

Replacing the old hand operated unit which has been in use since the plant started operation 17 years ago, the new one is expected to reduce labor while increasing the output.

Thermostatically controlled electric heating elements keep the paraffin bath at precisely the correct temperature and a small electric motor lowers and raises the cheese. A tug on one cord and the cheese is dunked, a pull on the other and it comes out with a paraffin coat.

Mr. and Mrs. Urban Endres began moving into their new home this week and expect to be settled by the weekend.

Carpenters began work this week on the new home for Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hartman. It occupies the site formerly occupied by the old Tempel estate building which was razed for usable materials.

John Myrick sustained a fractured right arm Saturday in a tussle with his horse.

KRAFT CO. CONDUCTS SOONER INSPECTION OF CHEESE FACTORY

The Muenster cheese factory was on display Wednesday when a delegation of about 15 business men and farmers from Altus, Okla., were on an inspecting tour sponsored by the Kraft cheese corporation. Hap Strom of the Kraft plant in Denison was host for the day.

Soon to have a Kraft owned and operated cheese factory in their city, the Altus group is interested in every phase of cheese production as well as whey processing. They favored the local plant for their inspection tour because it is one of the largest in the state and has one of the few whey condensers of the nation.

Also interested in dairy herd improvement methods, the visitors investigated the activities of the local artificial breeders association. Jack Biffle, technician, conducted a tour through the association's facilities and gave an account of its success to date in herd improvement.

At noon the visitors were guests of the Kraft company for a chicken dinner at Clara's Cafe.

Plans for the rest of the day included an inspection of the Kraft processing plant at Denison and an evening program at Lake Texoma. Rudy Hellman, J. M. Weinzaepfel and J.B. Klemm joined the delegation on the visit to Denison.

Advanced Erosion Makes Soil Program Difficult

(Editor's note: This is the 7th of a series of nine articles discussing the Trinity watershed flood control program, authorized by congress in the 1944 Flood Control Act for post-war operations in soil conservation districts with federal assistance provided through the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture. The articles were prepared by Louis P. Merrill, regional conservator of the Soil Conservation Service, of Fort Worth.)

The most hazardous part of the Trinity watershed is the critical area of the West Cross Timbers, where advanced erosion and excessive run-off have ruined much land and threatens more. Conditions there have contributed materially to serious flooding, the damage to lower lands and to the sedimentation in Lakes Bridgeport, Eagle Mountain, Worth and Dallas.

Most of these rolling sandy lands have been riddled by gullies and devastated by sheet erosion. The virgin soil was low in fertility, and erosion has now reduced its productivity to the point where in many places the average farm family cannot make a satisfactory living.

Federal purchase of these critical lands is proposed as an essential part of the program for flood control in the Trinity River watershed. Under this program all lands purchased would be bought with the consent of the owner.

No land should be bought that a private individual can afford to own, and when purchased it will not be taken out of use permanently. When an adequate cover of grass or trees has been developed, the land will be made available for grazing or wood production through leasing to local farmers.

It is not feasible for the seriously eroded lands in the West Cross Timbers to remain in private ownership. Under average erosion conditions in the critical area, 8 to 12 years probably will be required to develop an adequate vegetative cover. In the worst eroded and gullied areas, establishment of a good cover of vegetation may require 15 to 25

Notes On Soil Conservation

Information released by the soil conservation office this week indicates five projects either completed or in progress.

H.J. Fuhrmann is constructing terraces on the eastern side of the channel type, which are growing in popularity because of the low construction allowing more convenient crossing with farm machinery.

Work just completed on George Bayer's farm includes channel type terraces and a broad base channel.

A previously constructed tank on Alphonse Luke's farm has been enlarged to accommodate an increased watershed.

A diversion terrace has been constructed on the Tom Hoover farm. Its purpose is to divert drainage water from its natural course over bottom land, leading it to a drainage ditch at the side of the field.

Plans for a complete conservation program, including terraces, channels, sodding and pasture work, are developing on the H.D. Fields' farm.

Possibilities of accelerating conservation work in the future were encouraged by the arrival of another terracing rig in the community. J.H. Cooke has just acquired a bulldozer type tractor and grader.

A convenience to cooperating farmers is the recent installation of a telephone in the conservation office.

Lieutenant Governor — Allan Shivers and Boyce House.

Commissioner of Agriculture — R.E. McDonald & J.E. McDonald.

Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals — Jesse Owens and Tom L. Beauchamp.

County Tax Assessor-Collector — Luther Helm and Tom A. Hayes.

Voting at Muenster will be done in the two usual places, the public school and the small office adjoining the grain elevator south of the railroad. Polls will be open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

WILSON MAN MAKES SURVEY OF TURKEY MARKET PROSPECTS

Whether Muenster will have a turkey dressing and picking program this year depends to a great extent on conditions to be revealed in the community survey just begun by Roy Callahan of Wilson and Company's Oklahoma City plant.

Unless prospects are much better than they were the past two years, Callahan said, the company will again haul the birds away for processing elsewhere. Last year's community turkey crop was only about 15,000 pounds.

That figure contrasts sharply with the peak year of 1939 when thirteen car loads of dressed birds, a total of more than 300,000 pounds were shipped from here.

Henry Yosten and Earl Koelzer are back at home with discharges from the navy, issued at Norman, Okla. They came in Monday evening. Another local boy, still serving on Guam, is Raymond Walterscheid, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Walterscheid.

TRUCKS TO BE SAFER, MORE COMFORTABLE

New truck models for late 1947 will have all the ease and comfort of today's passenger cars, manufacturers say.

Newer powerful engines, improved brakes, 50 per cent more visibility will make for greater safety. Newly designed seat cushions, heated cabs which also will be airtight, rainproof, lighted and ventilated are among other improvements.

Barring strikes and shortages, truck output will hit 700,000 this year, 1,000,000 next year.

People wouldn't brag so much about their ancestors if they'd just remember that the older the seed the poorer the crop.

Allan Shivers Runs For Lt. Governor On Qualifications

Senator Allan Shivers, leading candidate for lieutenant governor, is seeking election to that office solely on the basis of his qualifications of wide training and experience.

In every way, Allan Shivers, the legislator, lawyer, farmer and World War II combat veteran, is exceptionally qualified for the No. 2 state office. As a state senator for a number of years, he established an excellent record of public service. A loyal Democrat and native Texan, he is a man of highest character and splendid personality. The majority of Texans believe he will reflect credit and honor on the State of Texas.

Shivers, a war veteran of two years overseas during which time he earned 5 battle stars, did his best to make this a free country for a free people. He will continue that course as lieutenant governor.

He has conducted a denified campaign, free of mud-slinging and personalities. His platform appeals to every Texan: Better farm-to-market roads, better salaries for school teachers, enlarged public safety facilities, a thorough public health program, redistricting of the state for legislative purposes, greater aid to the aged, real assistance to war veterans, reorganization of the pardon and parole system, a first class university for the colored, and equal responsibility from both labor and management. He is against sales, state income or any other form of new taxes.

Allan Shivers will be lieutenant governor of all the people. In addition to integrity, sincerity and ability, he has a background of training and a record of public service already performed which gives him the right to ask for promotion.

Reception

Immediately after the service the bridal party had breakfast in the parish hall dining room. This courtesy was extended by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mike Kleiss and her aunt, Mrs. Clem Hofbauer. Later in the day the parish hall was the scene of a reception and buffet supper for some 150 guests. At high noon dinner was served to relatives and close friends in the home of the bride's parents. Decorations stressed the white, pink and blue theme and corn flowers and carnations were used in decorating. The dining room held two beautifully appointed tables, one the bride's table, the other the bridesmaid's table. The bride's table carried out the traditional all-white theme. It was laid with a linen cloth and was centered with a three-tier decorated cake, flanked with tapers. The bridesmaid's table carried out the pink and blue color scheme.

The hall was likewise adorned with flowers and decorations carrying out the three-color design.

In the evening a wedding dance was given in the K of C hall to bring the day's festivities to a close.

It was during the latter event that Mr. and Mrs. Lawson slipped away on a wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a blue jersey dress with white accessories and a corsage of carnations. When they return they will make their home here in an apartment at the Anthony Klement home.

Mrs. Lawson is a native of this city and attended Sacred Heart school. She was president of the Young Ladies Sodality, is immediate past vice-president of the society and served as its social life chairman for three years. She has been active in CYO and Sodality activity.

church choir in rendering music for the mass.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was a lovely picture in an exquisite gown of white mousseline de soie, embossed with faint floral sprays. It featured a high, round neckline, a pointed basque bodice and a billowy skirt that extended into a long train. Tiny self-covered buttons ornamented the bodice in the back, and the long, fitted sleeves terminated in petal points over the hands. Her finger-tip length veil of net was edged with lace and was attached to a halo of net embroidered with iridescent beads. She carried a bouquet of red roses, and for "something old" wore a handsome gold cross and chain belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mike Kleiss, who wore it at her wedding, and which was worn also by the bride's mother when she married. For "something borrowed" she wore gold ear rings belonging to her cousin, Miss Virginia Walterscheid, and the traditional good-luck piece, a sixpence, was worn in the bride's shoe. The coin was presented by Mrs. Clarence Wilson.

Bride's Attendants

Attendants for the bride were Miss Celia Walterscheid, maid of honor; Miss Virginia Walterscheid, Miss Mary Evelyn Hofbauer and Miss Mary Jo Walter of Gainesville, cousins of the bride, bridesmaids; Little Miss Berenice Walterscheid, sister of the bride, junior bridesmaid, and Little Miss Della Nell Burchfiel, flower girl.

The three bridesmaids chose identical frocks of crumbly over taffeta, made in simple princess lines with smooth fitted bodices and circular skirts. Miss Hofbauer's was of heavenly blue and the other two of convention pink. All the young ladies wore white lace calots from which fell shoulder-length veils in matching shades of net, sprayed with gold star-shaped sequins. They completed their costumes with white gloves and carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Little Miss Walterscheid wore a blue net frock, with a matching hair bow and carried a bouquet identical to those carried by the other feminine attendants, and Little Miss Burchfiel wore a pink frock of satin and net, and a pink hair bow.

The bridegroom was attended by Leo Voth as best man. Earl and Erwin Walterscheid and Andrew Wimmer were groomsmen and Kenneth Walterscheid of Hereford was junior groomsmen. Engineers Report on Adequate Wiring Tests

When the roaster compromises your reputation by producing a soggy, deflated cake, or the toaster takes forever to brown a piece of bread, don't grind your teeth and pitch invectives at the manufacturer. Chances are your electrical wiring is inadequate for the demands being made upon it. The chances are the wire is too small to give your appliances enough electricity to perform efficiently.

So state electrical engineers and wiring technicians who have sifted the results of thousands of tests and devoted years of study to the development of adequate wiring systems for every electrical need.

Light Output Up 34%

In tests to determine the relative efficiency of appliances and lights when connected to adequate and inadequate wiring systems, the specialists found that electrical efficiency can be stepped up from 20 to 34 per cent.

Their research revealed that a 10 per cent voltage loss, resulting from too-small wire taxed beyond its capacity, will cause a 20 per cent reduction in the heat produced by a heating appliance near the end of a circuit—cause a 34 per cent slump in illumination from a lamp connected near the circuit's end.

Kitchen Sets the Pace

Since voltage losses exceeding 10 per cent are by no means uncommon in many households, the engineers contend that it behooves those who are planning to build new homes, or renovate their present ones, to look into this thing called "adequate wiring."

In making their recommendations, the technicians start with the kitchen, greatest user of electrical service in the home and destined for heavier roles as new peak-efficiency appliances come into more general use.

Her skill and the appliance were adequate—but the wiring wasn't.

The specialists call for installation of one extra-potent 20-ampere circuit to provide power for appliances in this room. Lighting, they point out, should be served by a 15-ampere circuit, which may also extend to other rooms in the house.

Averting Inconvenience

Certain major pieces of equipment—the electric range, home freezer, hot water heater, dishwasher and waste disposer—require individual circuits. Even though some of these pieces may not be added for years, the engineers are emphatic in their recommendation for the installation, today, of spare circuits for tomorrow's needs—a factor which they say will avert heavy expense and no end of inconvenience later on.

Proper capacity circuits will take care of the question of voltage drop and efficient operation of lights and appliances, but enough well-placed convenience outlets, lights and switches also are needed to minimize wear and tear on the housewife's disposition, according to the specialists. They point out that even the most recalcitrant of cooking recruits will find plenty of allure in a kitchen fitted with lots of handy outlets near each work surface for plugging in appliances. Adequate lighting over cooking, food preparation and cleaning centers also is termed indispensable.

Tips on Proper Wiring

For this part of the kitchen wiring installation, the technicians recommend:

1. One ceiling light for general illumination, wall switch controlled.
2. One ceiling or wall light at the sink, wall switch controlled.
3. Lights over the range and food preparation counter.
4. Lights inside cabinets and in closets.

Those Convenience Outlets

5. Duplex convenience outlets at table height behind every four feet of work area—excluding the range and sink.

6. Special outlets for presently owned and contemplated additions, to equipment—these to include a recessed receptacle for a clock special outlets for ventilating fan electric range, and so on.

For sound advice on any phase of wiring for the kitchen or the rest of the house, the engineers urge the householder to get in touch with a qualified electrical contractor or a representative of the power supplier or electric utility in this area.

RECRUITING SERGEANT TO BE AT POST OFFICE EVERY FRIDAY, 10 TO 2

Sgt. W.R. Slagle of the Army Air Force recruiting staff of Denton is in Muenster every Friday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the interest of enlisting men for the air forces, it was announced this week.

In pointing out the opportunities this branch of the service offers to men between the ages of 17 and 35, Sgt. Slagle stated that those enlisting now will receive benefit of the GI Bill of Rights and family allotments for the duration and six months.

Ex-service men who have been honorably discharged since May 12, 1945, and who certain MOS numbers may still re-enlist in grade, providing they held their MOS number for the required length of service, he said. He will give full information to anyone interested. His headquarters are at the Muenster Postoffice.

AIRMAIL STAMPS COST 5 CENTS AFTER OCT. 1

Washington. — President Truman today signed legislation reducing the domestic airmail rate from 8 to 5 cents an ounce, effective October 1.

Simultaneously Postmaster General Hannegan issued an order setting an air mail postage rate of 5 cents an ounce between all U.S. territory and members of the armed forces abroad. The existing rate is 6 cents a half ounce.

DDT MAY HAVE BAD EFFECT WHEN USED ON FOOD OR FEED CROPS

DDT is still a very new story particularly in connection with feed and food crops.

For household and livestock insects, DDT is the best insecticide that has been found, says C.A. King, Jr., entomologist for the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. But in general, entomologists are going slowly on recommendations until they know more about how the insecticide reacts on different plants under different climatic conditions.

For houseflies, mosquitoes, fleas, roaches, bedbugs, and lice, DDT is deadly, say Extension entomologists. When DDT fails to control these insects, such as houseflies, the trouble may be that too low a percentage of the insecticide is being in the spray. A five percent mixture should be used to kill houseflies, and the spray must be applied thoroughly on the walls of the house.

Several precautions must be practiced by DDT users. When spraying vegetable and truck crops, such as cabbage or sugar beets, the crop residue should not be fed to livestock. For stored grain insects, a three percent dust may be used, if the grain is not to be used for food. In spite of extensive investigation, the use of DDT on fruits is not yet recommended. It should never be used on animals in an oil solution.

With DDT, as with any other insecticide, the effect on the insect is only half the story. It can be poisonous and harmful to animals and human beings, and it does kill some useful insects, at the same time allowing other pests, such as the red spider, certain aphids, and mite to increase.

Entomologists don't know yet just exactly where DDT is going to fit into the insect control picture.

Soil Conservation--

Trinity watershed. The 22,900,000 tons of soil eroded annually from this critical area would cover 15,000 acres of land one foot deep.

Control of erosion here is the key to the control of sediment damage in the Trinity watershed, including the protection of Eagle Mountain Lake and Lake Worth which were created at a cost of $5,237,000. Lake Bridgeport and Lake Dallas also would be heavily benefited.

The Soil Conservation Service already has a land utilization project in Wise County, where 20,000 acres of submarginal land have been purchased at an average cost of $6.83 an acre. It is estimated that an additional area of about 236,000 acres of submarginal land should be purchased. Most of this area is in Montague, Wise, and Parker Counties.

The work which has been done in this project area in securing an adequate vegetative cover and thus making grazing lands available for limited use is typical of the treatment and use that would be made of lands purchased as part of the watershed flood control program.

It has been found necessary to defer all grazing from 3 to 5 years on lands which had a limited amount of desirable forage grasses, and also to set aside eroded croplands for seeding to native grasses. Almost all of the 20,000 acres has been put to pasture and managed as "range" land, but it is not grazed until a good cover has been established. This requires 3 to 25 years, depending on the condition of the land.

As adequate vegetative cover is developed on various parts of the land utilization project, these pastures are made available for lease to nearby owners of small farms. These farmers need to supplement their present income and to increase the area of grazing land available for their use, giving them a better balanced farm enterprise.

One-fourth of the gross annual income to the government from ease has been paid to the county in which the land lies, in lieu of taxes which the county might have derived from the land if it had remained in private ownership and productive enough to enable payment of taxes. Approximately 35 percent of the lands at the date of the most recent study were found to be tax delinquent from 1 to 13 years.

The 1944 law authorizing the watershed flood control program in the Trinity provides that 1 percent of the purchase price shall be paid annually to the county in which land is acquired, and that no land shall be acquired by the government under the provisions of this law without the consent of the State Legislature.

By acquiring 236,000 additional acres in the critical area, and by carrying out a comprehensive watershed treatment program on all purchased land, the control of erosion, run-off, and sedimentation can be achieved. Furthermore, county governments will receive financial support from lands which are now tax-delinquent, and farmers living near purchased areas can use the land to supplement their holdings.

(The eighth of this series will discuss the place of soil conservation districts in Agriculture's flood control program.)

ultimate price paid by the consumer, depending on the product.

If there is a renewed wave of wage demands, Mr. Wason asserted, there must be an upward spiral of prices, "whether or not there is an OPA."

LABOR UNIONS RUN A SUPER GOVERNMENT IN UNITED STATES

Labor unions have become "a super-government" in America, Robert R. Wason, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, declared before the annual session of the Chautauqua Institution in Chautauqua, N. Y.

"None of us regrets labor's gains," Mr. Wason said, "but all of us are paying for concessions sold to labor in exchange for votes by a subservient government."

"The costs are yet to be paid for by all Americans, including labor."

All wage increases granted labor unions without equivalent production of goods is inflation, the manufacturers' head said, adding:

"The government's decision to take the OPA ceilings off wages and leave them on the goods into which wages enter is an obvious 'sell-out' to labor unions or votes, at the expense of all the people."

"The manufacturer is at the mercy of wages in determining prices, because they make up from two-thirds to four-fifths of the

Revolutionize Future Air Attack

Official U.S. Army Photograph

Greatly increased accuracy in future bombing attacks is forecast in this remarkable, just-released photo of guided bombs at work. Taken from 10,000 ft. during a test raid on a Jap-held bridge late in the war, it shows three guided bombs, called Azon, bursting squarely on target. To left, standard bombs simultaneously released explode wide of bridge; and scores of craters testify to failure of previous standard bomb attacks. Developed by Gulf Oil research for the Air Forces, Azon bombs are steered by the bombardier through radios in their tails right onto the target. Introduced in final stages of the war, guided bombs have since been improved. The Razon bomb, an advance over Azon, has been developed, adding still further precision to U.S. airpower.

A revival of conscience and common sense is the great need of America today. With these two assets it could lick communism overnight and resume once more its traditional march down the road of happiness and prosperity.

The public needs to realize that not everybody can get something for nothing, that when workers strike or slow down they suffer with the rest of the nation. They need to realize also that a standard of living is not determined by high pay for a few hours of work but by the abundance of commodities each worker can have.

What does it profit a man to return home with a fist full of money after a short week of loafing on the job and then discover that neither he nor his family can buy the things they want — because of scarcity which he himself helped to cause? How much better it would be if he returned with a fist full of money — after producing an adequate supply of commodities so that his money could buy some comfort and security for his family.

Common sense tells us that the only road to prosperity lies in production. Money means nothing if we don't have the goods. But the only way we'll ever have the goods is through a reversal of labor's present policy of "economy of scarcity". We've had a full year now to convince us that the policy isn't getting anywhere. It's high time that thinking workers wise up to their predicament and kick out the Reds who are bringing economic grief on them and the entire nation.

Imagine what would happen if employees all over the country approached their managers with a proposition like this: "We're willing to put out the stuff if you give us enough to buy our fair share of it on pay day. We'll work harder and longer if it nets us extra comfort and security".

That's the way America used to get along. That's how we can get along again if we'll kick out the communists and let fair mindedness have its say in labor negotiations.

Wake up America. It's time to discover that communism is the opiate of the sucker, and that a lot of us have been suckers for communist dope sugar coated with high sounding democratic names.

GOVT. PROPAGANDA MILL COSTS PUBLIC 75 MILLION A YEAR

Washington — The high cost of maintaining the Federal government's vast publicity, promotional and informational network was brought home to Congress when an official compilation estimated such expenditures as nearly $75,000,000 during the last fiscal year.

A total of $2,572,000 had been earmarked for the OPA, which conducted a nationwide campaign demanding Congressional extension of its powers.

The extent to which the government now is "selling" its various programs and policies to the people is demonstrated in these official figures from the Budget Bureau:
