Muenster Public Library welcomes new director Stephanie Wright

By Janet Felderhoff
On Tuesday evening,
Muenster Library Director
Jody Thomas officially presented the key for the Bettie
M. Luke Muenster Public Library to her replacement Stephanie Wright. Jody has been mentoring Stephanie to take over the position since last October. Stephanie's first official day as library director was Wednesday, Feb. 13.
Jody will remain a part of the Library staff as a volunteer, just as former director Kay Broyles does. She said she has been looking for a replacement for some time and finally found the right person with Wright. Jody plans to spend more time with her family, including her mother who lives in Grayson County.
She also plans to find time to read!

During her span as library director that began in September 2002, Jody oversaw an impressive list of positive changes at the Library. All of the computers were replaced except two children's computers. The Library software was completely changed so that now patrons can search catalogues electronically with either a computer at the Library or with their own home computer. A website was added.

Also, items on the shelves of the Library increased from 17,000 to 21,000. She expanded the hours from 20 to 25 hours a week and added Saturday to the days they were open. The number of items being checked out increased from 11,000 a year to 18,000. The gate number of visits doubled from 5,000 to 10,000 during that five-year span.

Before becoming director, Jody served as a volunteer at the Muenster Library. When Kay Broyles resigned to go into her own businesses, she recruited Jody for the director.

Ed Cler, Enterprise columnist, dies at 93

Ed Cler, a columnist for many years in the Muenster Enterprise, died last week. His colorful stories will be missed by many.

Ed had his first column published in the Muenster Enterprise on Feb. 7, 1992. He was invited by then publisher David Fette to submit articles on items of interest and news and views pertinent to the local agriculture and rural area.

In that first My Views from the Farm column besides farm news, Ed wrote about looking out his patio door watching the farm tenant going to feed cattle. "I can't help but notice the difference in the manner in which this is accomplished now, compared to when I was a boy, and through my growing up time," he wrote. Thus Ed began sharing his many stories.

Ed captured the interest of readers who enjoyed recalling the old days and those who liked hearing about how it once was. Soon Ed's column delivered less farm news and more human interest stories.

It was renamed From My Side of the Fence and eventually moved from the Farm page to the Inside news page.

The last columns Ed wrote came in early 2004. During recent years, the Enterprise has reprinted many of his columns as The Best of Ed Cler.

County Judge appoints committees to prepare for Courthouse renovation

By Janet Felderhoff
With the awarding of $4,085,904 by the Texas Historical Commission (THO) to complete the restoration of the Cooke County Court is scrambling to prepare for the restoration. In the past, restoration took place outside the Courthouse and did not require the moving of offices and people for any great length of time. Restoration work on the inside will prove to be a different matter. "We will have to vacate this structure." said County Judge Bill Freeman at the Monday, Feb. 11 meeting of Cooke County Commissioners Court.

According to Precinct #3 Commissioners Al Smith, there are portions of the Courthouse, such as the offices of District Attorney on the third floor built above the second floor courtroom went all the way from the second floor to the third floor Steel beams will have to be removed to achieve this. The goal of the THC is to return the Courthouse to its original appearance.

Smith said he anticipates the work to begin this year, but there is nothing definite at this time.

Ed married Aileen Hoehn on Nov. 1, 1940 in Saint Mary's Church in Gainesville. After marriage, they lived briefly on the Stacy Lease. In August 1941, he took a sheet metal fabrication course at what is now the University of Texas at Arlington. This led to his becoming a sheet metal worker and soon a leadman for Southern Aircraft. He was quickly promoted to senior leadman, then foreman and then, in 1945, worked with the experimental department, spending much of his time teaching others to do the work.

Ed and Aileen returned to

Ed and Aileen returned to Muenster in 1947 to work the farm his dad owned. After 11 years, they began the dairy business, building a grade A operation and selling their first grade A milk in 1958. They bought the Lehnertz farm in 1966, later expanding by buying more acreage. Ed and Aileen were the parents of five sons and four daughters.

Ed enjoyed fishing, reading, and traveling with Aileen to visit the children and to just see the sights. They retired in 1981 and really began enjoying life. He was a lifetime member of Sacred Heart Church. He served on the Muenster Public School Board for 21 years, serving as vice president at one time, and on the County A.S.C.S. committee for 13 years. The list of election judges submitted by Lawson was approved by the Court with the exception of one who is serving as an elected official on the NCTC Board of Directors, making him ineligible.

A public hearing was conducted on allowing County sanctioned volunteer fire departments to be a principal permitted use within the Agricultural District (Section 3.01) within the Lake Ray Roberts Zoning Jurisdiction.

Laura Blanton explained, "This originally stems from the North Shore Volunteer Fire Department that is located off of CR 203 wanting to erect a volunteer fire department. Our ordinance does not a have a place for volunteer fire departments or any such." On Feb. 5, the Lake Ray Roberts Zoning Commission recommended allowing volunteer fire departments in that Lake Ray Roberts Zone. Nobody appeared to protest the ordinance. Precinct #2 Commissioner Steve Key said there is no opposition in his precinct that he is aware of. "The fact that the department was there was absolutely a God send to the community," added Key.

Judge Freeman said, "It'd be hard to oppose a volunteer fire department."

After the hearing closed, Commissioners voted to implement the ordinance.

Muenster is such a unique place in the world, and coming from the big city to here and from my experiences from my career before, it was such a pleasant relief to see day in and day out good people. #### Seminar on gas & oil pipelines to be held at Saint Jo ISD

With the massive number of gas wells being drilled in the Barnett Shale, many landowners will soon be approached by a pipeline company to construct a line on their land. Proven Concepts Inc., an oil and gas consulting firm that provides a wide spectrum of services specifically designed for land and mineral owners, is presenting seminars to address issues and concerns with pipelines.

The seminars will be conducted by Keith Milberger, president of Proven Concepts Inc. (PCI) explaining what every landowner should know regarding pipelines. The event will consist of an educational seminar addressing topics related to landowner's rights, followed by a question and answer session with Milberger.

The next seminar will be in Saint Jo, Thursday, Feb. 21, from 6-9 p.m. at Saint Jo ISD Auditorium, and is free to the public.

Dear Friends and Neighbors

It is Youth Fair time again and the Friends of Muenster are making their annual appeal to you, the citizens of our community, to help our youth as they prepare their projects for the Cooke County Youth Fair. This year the Youth Fair will be held in Muenster at the Circle A Arena, just north of town on Highway 373. The Home Economics division will be in the KC Hall in Muenster.

The Muenster Friends is a volunteer organization that helps collect money to be paid to the students as premiums on their projects. One hundred percent of what is donated goes directly to pay for premiums to the students who participate in the Youth Fair from our community. Last year a total of $21,525.00 was paid as premiums to the students of the Muenster community, $12,075.00 of which was paid by the Muenster Friends organization. This year the sale will be limited. We would like to compensate every youngster, even those who do not make the sale. This makes your donation even more important than ever.

The youth of our community put forth a great amount of effort and expense and also a great deal of pride in their projects. Please help them out with a donation of $1000, $500, $250, or an amount of your choice. Your support does not go unnoticed.

Please take the time to visit the Cooke County Youth Fair in Muenster this year. You will truly appreciate where your money has gone in support of our youth. The Youth Fair will be held on February 27th through March 1st.

Thank you, in advance, for taking this into cons forward to seeing you at the Youth Fair this ye Respectfully:

This unconditional pro-life responsibility was upheld by hundreds of thousands of people from all walks of life during the 35th Annual March For Life held in Washington D.C. on Jan. 22.

On Monday, Jan. 21, the group continued their fun and faith filled experience by visiting the John Paul II Cultural Center. Here, the group viewed personal items from the Pope's life, including his set of skis, personal rosary, childhood photos, and much more. There was also an interactive center including games and trivia. Also present at the Cultural Center was a wall of paper for visitors to write messages that Pope Benedict the XVI will read when he visits the United States this spring.

Some members of the group had a "celebrity citing" while at the John Paul II Cultural Center, where Raymond Arroya, newscaster for EWTN (Eternal Word Television Network), was having lunch with his producer. Arroya was pleasantly open for photos and autographs.

After the exciting trip to the Cultural Center, the group headed back to the Basilica, where they continued to tour the near 200,000 square foot shrine. That evening, the group parrived at St. Jude Parish in Washington D.C. where they participated in Mass and Reconciliation services.

Following Mass was a dinner and social hang out with 1,000 other youth from nearby states such as Ohio and Pennsylvania. There, the group enjoyed a contemporary Christian rock concert from Bob Rice, a nationally known music artist and teacher at Stuebenville University in Ohio. Closing the night, adoration was held and a special prayer was said for the marchers by local priests. On Tuesday, Jan. 22, the fired-up group headed to the Verizon Center in downtown Washington D.C. for an upiliting Mass and Youth Rally with 25,000 other Catholics! Attending the Mass were 431 bishops, priests, and seminarians, including a message sent from Pope Benedict XVI. Bishop Kevin Vann, along with Father Kyle Walterscheid, attended the Mass and the group was very estatic when Bishop Vann's name was announced during the procession of Bishops prior to the Mass.

Following the Mass was the moment the group had been waiting for, the March! With sleet in the forecast and near freezing temperatures, thousands and thousands of marchers still came out to speak for the unborn. The 53 Texans marched together surrounded by four Texas flags and other enthusiastic marchers. The group marched near the Capitol building, passing in front of the pro-life-marcher-filled steps of the Supreme Court building while workers watched from their office windows. The group, along with hundreds of others, chanted, "Pro-choice, that's a lie! Babies never choose to die!" and "Hey, Hey! Ho, Ho! Roe V. Wade has got to go! "as they marched the streets as a voice for the unborn.

After the exhausting but powerful march, the group gathered back together on the bus and headed back home to Texas, arriving on Wednesday, Jan. 23, watching movies, praying, exchanging emial addresses, sleeping, taking on stop about their trip of a lifetime to the March for Life in Washington, D.C. and their unconditional love for life!

Sorghum yields break national records

Sorghum farmers harvested record grain sorghum crops last year, breaking all previous bushel per acre records. "Sorghum yields shattered all records this year," said Dale Murden, president of the National Sorghum Producers Board of Directors. "I have never seen yields this good."

According to USDA's 2007 Crop Production Summary, sorghum yielded an average of 74.2 bushels per acre stear's average yield was 56.2 bushels per acre.

In addition to record yields, Sorghum acreaga also increased dramatically. Sorghum excealed from the March contracts for spring wheat closed at $14.63 a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade on Feb. 5, while the March contract for spring wheat closed at $14.63 a bushel on the Smaller Mineapolis Grain Exchange.

USA Today reports trading was a banner year for sorghum, and could have been even better if the Gulf Coast of Texas hadn't experienced so much damage," said Murden, who grows 5,000 acres of grain sorghum in South Texas. "The Gulf Coast, which typi-"

Watch for first hollow stem to terminate wheat grazing

To avoid grain yield loss, producers of dual purpose wheat should stop grazing at first hollow stem or 'jointing.' This is the growth stage when hollow stem can be first identified above the roots and below the developing head. Jointing occurs when the developing seed head is still below the soil surface!

To scout for jointing, dig up one of the larger plants and cut it off just above the roots. Then cut the stem vertically, upwards to the newest leaves. If you see the developing seed head with 1/4 to 3/4 inches of hollow stem between this point and the roots, grazing should be terminated.

The date that first hollow stem occurs varies greatly. Factors such as cultivar, planting date, and weather make this date a moving target. The greatest factor is the weather in January and February. Above-normal temperatures encourage earlier jointing, while below-normal temperatures may delay jointing.

Research shows terminating grazing two weeks prior to jointing has no economic benefits to producers, but terminating grazing one week after jointing can cause significant grain yield losses.

With higher than average wheat prices expected this year, producers are encouraged to watch the maturity of make sound management decisions about grazing.

In general, net returns are less negatively impacted by removing cattle early and given beef gain than by continuing to graze a few days after jointing.

TDA announces exemption to use Prowl in Bermuda pastures

The Texas Department of Agriculture recently has been granted approval by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to issue a Section 18 crisis exemption allowing the use of pendimethalin (Prowl H20) to control sand burs in Bermuda grass pastures and hay fields in Texas.

Prowl H20, manufactured by BASF Corp., may be applied following all directions, restrictions, and precautions on the product exemption label. The exemption will remain in effect as long as is necessary for control of the sand burs in the current crop or until EPA makes a decision on the emergency specific exemption TDA has submitted.

This exemption allows only certified applicators, increased applicators, or persons under the direct supervision of licensed applicators to apply the pesticide for this specific use.

For more information, contact your county Texas Cooperative Extension office or TDA at (512) 463-7544. A copy of the approval notice is located on the TDA Web site at www.tda.state.tx.us.
