Charge it - County to accept credit cards

By Janet Felderhoff
Cooke County Commissioners Court voted Monday, April 13 to begin accepting payments for fines, fees, and court costs by credit card.
Precinct 3 Commissioner Al Smith observed, "It appears that by accepting the credit cards, we could potentially reduce the amount of delinquent past dues that are owed to the County if we could get it on a credit card."
"I think it's a great idea," said County Auditor Shelley Saunders. She added that it would be good for tickets written on I-35 to people who aren't local and who aren't paying their fines. Saunders explained that there are several ways to handle the credit card situation.
Billie Jean Knight, tax as-essor-collector, liked the idea as long as payments could be divided into accounts as needed. Also, vehicle registration taken over the phone or via the Internet will require her office to call and verify that the person calling has insurance coverage as required.

Accepting payment by credit card was approved. A special meeting will be called later to decide which method will be used for the credit cards.

County Agent Wayne Becker updated the Court on progress of the Groundwater Steering Committee of which he is a member. He said they've had four fact-finding meetings. He said of particular interest is where they

KMB needs Spring Cleanup volunteers for this Saturday

Volunteers are needed on Saturday to spring into action as Keep Muenster Beautiful (KMB) sponsors its Annual Spring Cleanup Campaign on City streets and roads around Muenster. The event is held each spring in conjunction with its affiliate, Keep Texas Beautiful's (KTB) statewide campaign Don't Mess With Texas Trash-off. The shared goal is to assist in litter cleanup and to call attention to people's bad habit of littering.

Participants are asked to meet at the Muenster City Park at 9 a.m. There will be prizes, food, and drinks provided for participants.

Although several organizations will have members volunteering their time, all individuals are encouraged to come out and help to Keep Muenster Beautiful this Saturday.

Last year there were 128 volunteers who picked up more than 251 bags of litter.

TxDOT notes county-wide participation

The 21st Annual Don't Mess with Texas Trash-off will take place all over Cooke County on Saturday. Adopt-A-Highway groups from the County have RSVPed their participation in the clean-up. Civic organizations, churches, families, and businesses will be picking up trash along their adopted sections of highway. Most groups

Children have a special area filled with entertainment just for them. The Side Street Circus will perform on the Children's Stage both Saturday and Sunday. Also, sponsors promise that there will be lots of new things for kids to do. Balloonytik Betty will again be entertaining with her balloon sculptures. ## Texoma Hazardous Household Waste collection event is set

All residents of Cooke County are welcomed!

The event will be held on Saturday, May 5, 9 a.m. - 1 p.m. in Gainesville at the Criminal Justice Center, 300 County Road 451.

Hazardous Household Wastes (HHW) are materials that are harmful to human health or the environment if used, stored, or disposed of improperly.

These wastes are leftovers of common household products that are no longer usable or wanted. To protect our environment - do not dispose of hazardous household products in the trash, down the sewer, or on the ground. Many can cause serious injury to employees who pick up your garbage. Bring them to the Hazardous Household Waste collection event on May 5!

To determine if a product is hazardous, look for signal words on the product label, such as: CAUTION, WARNING, DANGER, or POISON.

Whenever possible, avoid purchasing such items because of the disposal liabilities and costs. If you must purchase these products, buy in quantities for immediate use. Please explore alternative products that are environmentally friendly and safer.

The Texoma HHW Collection Events will accept HOUSEHOLD quantities of: Auto/boat/motorcycle batteries, bug spray, aerosols, concrete cleaner, automobile tires, lighter fluid, button batteries, driveway sealer, antifreeze, weed killer, drain cleaner, solvents, gasoline, fluorescent lights, oil/solvent based and latex paint, used degreasers, pesticides, oven cleaner, oil/filters, pool chemicals, paint thinner, and similar household chemicals, also ink and toner cartridges, and electronics (computer hardware, audio/video equipment, televisions, etc.), properly rinsed plastic crop protection product containers. Also accepting for recycling will be triple rinsed, empty agricultural pesticide/herbicide containers.

Items NOT accepted: radioactive materials, infectious/biologically active materials, ammunition, explosive materials, compressed gas cylinders, TSCA regulated PCBs, regulated dioxins.

LIMITED ITEMS: paint, oil, other liquids - 10 gallons or less. NO drums containing product! Tires - 8 or less - automobile tires only... NO truck or tractor tires... NO rims!

ALL limits will be strictly enforced.

Wastes from businesses or contractors will not be accepted! Please take care when transporting materials to the event. Be sure lids are on all containers. If a container is leaking, put it into another container to prevent spills. Identify materials without labels.

You will be asked to participate in a short, information gathering survey prior to entering the drop off area - your cooperation with the survey takers will be greatly appreciated. Please stay in your vehicle at all times - you will be guided through the drop off area. Trained, professional hazardous material handlers will unload your hazardous household waste for you.

If you have questions, need more information, or if you would like to volunteer for this event, please contact James Burnett at (903) 813-3550.

This event's sponsors include Texoma Council of Governments with a grant from Texas Commission on Environmental Quality, Keep Muenster Beautiful, Cooke County Commissioners, Cities of Gainesville and Muenster, and IESI.

Here are some helpful hints for proper storage and use of chemicals that are commonly found in the home as required by the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality (TECQ).

Keep products in their original containers.

Always store containers upright, not on their side.

Make sure labels are securely fixed to containers and are readable.

Keep chemicals in a cool, dry place, out of reach of children and pets.

Never mix products together. The results could be dangerous-even deadly.

Buy only what you need and use it all up.

Share extras (such as leftover paint) with friends and neighbors.

For more information, go to 1-800-CLEANUP

Muenster Museum gets new exhibit

A recent donation to the Ben and Aggie Seyler Muenster Museum sparked interest in a new exhibit, one honoring Sister M. Leonarda Foehn, O.S.B., longtime music instructor at Sacred Heart. Linda Lutmer found an accordion that her mother LuLu Hess purchased from Sister Leonarda so Linda could take lessons while in elementary school. When word got out about the musical loan, Sister Mary John Seyler offered a desk that came out of the music room. Aggie Seyler acquired the desk from the old sister house. Other items will be added to the exhibit - Sister Leonarda's autobiography, photos, and a statuette, a gift given to a student.

think that the water table in Cooke County is, what the population projections are, what the gas well production in the Barnett Shale will be, and what the overall municipal water projection of Cooke County will be.

"After considerable time digging into things, we will be making comment to support the fact that we need to become part of the PGMA process," Becker noted. "We feel like there will be a groundwater critical issue in Cooke County within the next 25 years."

Becker said that the committee is still organizing its thoughts and comments and would still like to comment on the formation of a groundwater district. "We have thoughts and concerns about the groundwater conservation district size and makeup, and how it is going to be funded, and while we're here we'd like to make comment to that," Becker said.

An educational event was planned for this Thursday in Sherman that the Committee planned to attend. Becker said that they should have recommendations ready soon.

Another action taken by Commissioners Court was to approve a resolution supporting the passage of HJR61 in the 80th Session of the Texas Legislature. This seeks an end to unfunded mandates through a constitutional amendment that would expressly prohibit the imposition of many mandatory governmental programs on Texas counties, whether by an act of the Texas Legislature or a state agency or by executive order, unless the state of Texas appropriates the necessary funds to enable Texas counties to operate said governmental program.

April is Child Abuse Awareness Month. Commissioners Court passed a resolution supporting Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) of North Texas. CASA members speak for the best interest of abused and neglected children who are involved in juvenile courts. There are more than 108 children in Cooke County who suffered from some form of abuse or neglect each year. With the resolution, Commissioners Court joined in the national effort to give these children a chance for a safe and positive future and to prevent child abuse and neglect. Most of the CASA volunteers were present at the meeting for the reading of the proclamation.

Vickie Robertson, executive director of CASA, remarked, "There are children alive today because of these volunteers."

National Public Safety Telecommunications Week is April 8-14. Commissioners Court passed a proclamation honoring 9-1-1 dispatchers for their dedicated service. Sheriff Mike Compton recognized Wendy Goser, Linda Jones, and Pam Rogers, three of Cooke County's dispatchers who attended the meeting.

"Any endeavor, be it law enforcement, emergency medical service, or fire service, it all begins with communications, and that includes a natural disaster," said the Sheriff. "One of the first things that occurs after a natural disaster is the ability to communicate in order to bring organization out of chaos. This is accomplished on a regular basis by our telecommunications, both the Sheriff's department, the police department, and throughout the United States.

"It's a job that not everyone can do. Only certain types of people that have the ability to do the multi tasking required of a dispatcher and to be able to set in front of a microphone and commit themselves emotionally, physically, and mentally into a situation that they can control only with their voice. It's a very difficult task that is performed admirably by our dispatchers."

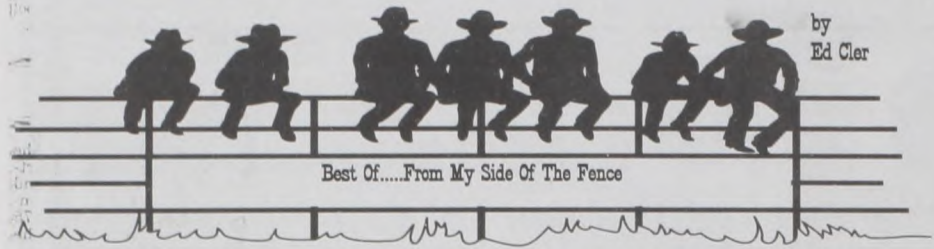

Sheriff Compton asked for and got the approval of Commissioners Court to enter into a subscription agreement with LETN for jailer training purposes. All 34 jailers on staff are required yearly to take a cultural diversity class. With the frequent turnover of the jail staff, this would offer an opportunity to keep jailers up to par on training in various procedures. This prevents liability to the County, allows a smoother operation of the jail. The course is an on-line course.

"We do need to train our jail staff or they will sit there and go stagnant with no fresh ideas. A young jailer fresh out of school has a lot to learn about the operation of the jail," said Sheriff Compton.

In other business, Commissioners Court:

- Accepted a check in the amount of $453 from the Texas Commission on the Arts for the Cooke County Library.
- Approved Fiscal Year 2007-08 budget calendar. Requisition forms were delivered to department heads on April 12 to begin the process.
- Approved contracting with Kotwitz and Associates, Inc. to prepare a spill prevention plan for Precinct #1.
- Approved advertising for bids for sale of concrete bridge located on Spring Creek Road approximately two miles west of I-35 in Precinct #2.
- Approved property tax relief for the Gainesville Masonic Lodge, a charitable organization (Property Tax Code, Chapter 11.15).
- Accepted completion certificate for the Open Meetings and Open Records Act Training for Stephen Key, Precinct #2 commissioner.
- Amended order appointing election judges for the May 12 election.

While I was driving home about a week ago, a jackrabbit ran across the road in front of my car, and since seeing one of these animals is almost a rarity lately, it gave cause to wonder what had become of the jacks that had always been so numerous in years past. Usually, there were so many, they were considered a pest, but in the last few years, very few were around.

Most of the people who lived through the Great Depression that began in 1929 and lingered on through most of the '30s, can remember the many jacks and cottontails, that were killed on the road almost every night. The farmers especially can recall the hordes of jacks that overrun the grain fields during the fall and winter when the grain was small.

Sometimes when the fields were dry enough, we would hunt them down by chasing them with a Model A Ford, one of us driving while another would ride on the front fender with a leg hooked around a headlight, and do the shooting. During those times, money was so scarce we could never afford to buy more than one 65 cent box of 12 gauge shells at a time, so the hunt usually didn't last too long.

But while we farm boys shot the jacks partly to thin them out, but more for our own entertainment, there were others who hunted them for far more serious reasons during these trying times.

Some people, hard-pressed to buy meat for their table, used them for food. There were a couple of black men, who were fortunate enough to own a pair of greyhounds, who would come out to the farms and ask permission to run rabbits - they called them "Hoover hogs." I don't know of anyone who refused them, and most would go along to watch and enjoy the chase.

These two men preferred to hunt in the larger pastures that had little brush and few trees to obstruct the dog's vision, because while the greyhound is considered the fastest dog, he does not follow a scent, so he must keep his quarry in sight. Their dogs were well trained. One was the lead dog and after a jack was flushed out and a signal was given, these long-legged, powerfully-muscled hounds would run full tilt after the jack; the second dog following about 25 or 30 yards behind the lead, so that when the jack discovered he was not playing with an ordinary farm dog he could easily outrun, and had to resort to all of his wiles to try and escape, either way he turned the second dog was there and the chase was over.

While I don't care to see the jacks come back in the numbers they used to be, I would like to see them stay around because I think they belong here. They are a part of our country, and range from Canada to Nebraska to Mexico, so they will likely be with us for a long, long time.

Plant sale announced by NCTC Horticulture class

"Buy a plant from us, and help grow our horticulture program!" That's the message issued this week by sponsors of the first annual NCTC Spring Plant Sale set for Saturday, April 28.

Proceeds from the sale, to take place at NCTC's Elnora Smith Greenhouse on Bonner Road just west of the campus proper, will help fund the purchase of a rainwater collection system for the greenhouse facility.

The sale will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and will feature new and unique plants ranging from bedding plants and hanging baskets to houseplants and container gardens and much more. Both annuals and perennials will be available.

"This is a student project," said horticulture program instructor Ashley Hartman. "They've been working hard all semester propagating, growing, and tending the plants to be sold. I'm very proud of the work they've done, and it's a great learning experience."

Brad Mitchell, an NCTC student enrolled in the greenhouse management course taught by Hartman, is chairman of the project. He and his fellow students organized the sale and have managed the marketing and promotion campaign.

The students will conduct the sale and be on hand to assist purchasers, provide plant care tips, and answer questions.

"This sale will not only help enhance the greenhouse facility," Mitchell said, "but also provide some great hands-on experience, allowing us to put into actual practice some of what we're learning in class."

"Personally, I also hope it will promote interest in the college's horticulture program, a really outstanding program led by a fine instructor. It has something to offer not only those who are planning a career in the field, but also to those who just want to learn the finer points of landscaping and plant care to apply in their own yards and gardens."

Other students involved in the plant sale project are Caleb Austin, Laurie Emde, Jack Murphy, Dale Nofzinger, Andrea Offner, Ramona Tyler, Sean Weidner, Ann Butler, Grayson Davies, Tyler Garrison, Randi Reed, and Greg Reeves.

Persons wishing to learn more about the sale may contact chairman Brad Mitchell at 940-736-8985.

For more information about the horticulture program at NCTC, contact Ashley Hartman at 940-668-7731 or email ahartman@nctc.edu

At times, the connection between the two areas has not always been peaceful, but it has always been interesting. Learn about upcoming events being planned in Oklahoma in honor of its centennial. ## April deemed Sexual Assault Awareness, Prevention Month

Sexual assault, or rape, is a violent crime, not a sexual act. The myth that men who rape women are sexually deprived or pathological is being dispelled and replaced with the understanding that rape is more of an act of power and control than lust. According to the National Crime Victims Research and Treatment Center, more than 320,000 rapes occur each year in Texas.

The occurrence of forcible rape in our country appears to be on the rise. The Senate Judiciary Committee in its Majority Staff Report entitled Violence Against Women: The Increase of Rape in America determined that more women were raped in 1990 than in any other year in American history.

The rate of rape will continue to increase without appropriate prevention and response. In 1993, the Senate Judiciary Committee concluded that only 2% of rapists are imprisoned. Attitudes about women who are raped and rapists continue to present barriers to justice. Because we doubt the validity of victims' experiences, rape remains the silent crime, reported at least less than 15% of the time it occurs.

More than 226,000 children and 104,000 adults are raped every year in Texas. In one survey, 42% of rape victims reported that they had told no one about the assault. Only 5% reported to the police.

In a survey of college men, 35% anonymously admitted they would commit rape if they knew they could get away with it.

One of every five college women reported being forced to have sexual intercourse.

Who Is Impacted

What is most concerning about these trends, and the lack of attention to this crime, is that most rape victims are younger than 18. The typical victim is a teenage girl who has been raped in a home by someone she already knew.

Boys and girls of any age can be victims of sexual abuse. It is estimated that one in three girls and one in six boys are sexually abused. The myth that men and boys cannot be victims of sexual assault is untrue.

In Dallas, police received 46 reports of male rape in 1989, 20 times higher than they did in 1984. Rapists who rape men are thought to be homosexual, but this is a myth; most rapists are heterosexual.

Approximately 683,000 women are forcibly raped each year.

It is estimated that 92,700 males are forcibly raped each year.

The most common victims of rape are females under 18 years of age.

Thirty-nine percent of girls report being sexually harassed at school on a daily basis.

Effects of sexual assault

The experience of sexual assault has different meanings for each person. No one knows precisely how an individual will react; however, crisis counselors have found that most people experience sexual assault as a severe emotional and physical violation, usually referred to as Rape Trauma Syndrome. Rape Trauma Syndrome is considered a form of Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD). For sexual assault victims, the emotional and spiritual trauma can be the most difficult to overcome.

Trauma can produce pronounced feelings of helplessness and powerlessness, as well as physical symptoms such as breathing problems, vomiting, extreme trembling, outbursts of anger, nightmares, and the inability to remember events. Phobic anxiety may set in, causing a person to want to avoid any situation that may trigger memories. Victims are also likely to experience depression.

Eventually, the victim may become despondent, demoralized, and preoccupied with pain or disability. He or she could feel that no one understands. If the victim is not validated, as is often the case with rape victims, this may feed into his/her sense of worthlessness and shame.

Note: Research indicates that repeated trauma, including sexual molestation, experienced by children younger than three years old may cause malformation of the brain.

Eighty-two percent of victims reported that the rape permanently changed them. The chances that a woman will develop PTSD after being raped are between 50 and 95%.

Half of rape victims describe being fearful of serious injury or death during the event.

Thirteen percent of rape victims attempt suicide. Thirty percent contemplated suicide.

For more information or support please contact Cooke County Friends of the Family, Inc. at (940) 665-2873.

SH 5th grade explores museums

On Tuesday, April 3, the Sacred Heart Catholic School 5th Grade went on an all-day field trip to the Fort Worth Museum of Science & History. First, they explored the museum exhibits. Their favorite was an interactive exhibit called "Notion of Motion" on loan from San Francisco's Exploratorium. There they experimented with gravity, magnets, pendulums, and zootropes (just to name a few). Next, the students ventured up the winding ramp to the Noble Planetarium, where they observed the star-show called "Sun-Earth-Moon Connections." This show directly complemented their current studies of the solar system and the universe. After a picnic lunch and a visit to the gift shop, the students enjoyed a film at the giant Omni Theater. There they watched Jane Goodall's Wild Chimpanzees. Everyone enjoyed their trip to the museum, and they learned many interesting new things.

FARM & RANCH

USDA to gather data on farm labor

How many workers are employed on agricultural operations? What is the average number of hours worked by employees? What wage rates are paid to workers? These are the key questions the Texas Field Office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) will be asking producers statewide as part of the April Agricultural Labor Survey.

"The Agricultural Labor Survey is one of the most critical surveys conducted by NASS," explained David Abbe, director of the NASS Texas Field Office. "Labor expenses account for a significant portion of farmers' production costs. This survey provides the vital information needed to ensure employment regulations affecting farmers and their bottom lines are administered fairly."

Data from the Agricultural Labor Survey are used to establish minimum wage rates for domestic and foreign agricultural workers, administer farm labor recruitment and placement service programs, and assist legislators in determining labor policies.

"Participation in this survey is greatly encouraged—accurate information collected directly from farmers and ranchers will provide the foundation for reliable agricultural labor estimates," added Abbe.

During the last weeks of April, NASS will contact selected Texas producers by mail, telephone, and in person and ask them to provide information on their total number of hired workers, hours worked, and wage rates paid. The information will be compiled and published in the USDA quarterly Farm Labor report, scheduled to be released on May 18. Additional Agricultural Labor Surveys will follow in July, October, and January. As with all NASS surveys, information provided by respondents is confidential by law.

"NASS safeguards the confidentiality of all responses and publishes only state, regional, and national level data, ensuring that no individual operation or producer can be identified," stated Abbe.

All reports are available on the NASS Web site: www.nass.usda.gov. For more information on NASS surveys and reports, call the NASS Texas Field Office at (800) 626-3142.

FB supports Endangered Species Recovery Act

The Endangered Species Recovery Act of 2007 is a "win-win" for private landowners, as well as endangered and threatened species, the American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF) said recently during a press conference announcing the introduction of the legislation.

AFBF President Bob Stallman said it is imperative to include farmers and ranchers in efforts to preserve and enhance habitat for endangered and threatened species.

"We commend the introduction of the Endangered Species Recovery Act of 2007," said Stallman. "We strongly support this bill."

With private lands housing 80% of listed species, Stallman said AFBF is absolutely convinced that cooperation with private landowners is essential if the Endangered Species Act (ESA) is to achieve its goal of recovering species. He said farmers and ranchers are known as some of the best stewards of the land, thus the vast majority of landowners want to enjoy listed species on their property, but have been stymied by restrictions on the use of their land by ESA regulations.

Essentially, the measure would amend the Internal Revenue Code to provide incentives for farmers and ranchers to proactively preserve and enhance habitat for endangered and threatened species through tax credits.

More specifically, private landowners could voluntarily enroll lands in the proposed Endangered Species Reserve Program through easements or management agreements.

Such agreements would require the landowners to take or refrain from certain activities to enhance the recovery of listed or candidate species. If accepted, they become eligible for tax credits depending on their level of participation.

"Encouraging landowners to proactively improve habitat because they want to, instead of passively acknowledging habitat through land use restrictions, will greatly enhance the recovery of listed species," said Stallman. "The tax credits and deductions provided in the bill offer that encouragement."

reaching bud break. The larvae grow to about one inch long and are quite slender with light green stripes along their sides. When not walking, the caterpillar's drab color blends in well with the twigs on which they rest.

Larvae typically feed for three to four weeks before dropping to the ground to pupate. Fortunately, there is only one generation a year, so this does not mean gardeners will be battling caterpillars all season long. The spring and fall caterpillars, our two most common pest species, feed only on broad-leaf trees and should not pose a threat to other garden plants.

Most trees need no special protection from caterpillars. Large, healthy trees can usually withstand total defoliation without significant damage. Trees that lose their leaves to caterpillars early in the season will re-leaf and show no signs of damage later in the season.

For trees that are of concern, the safest control measure is Bacillus thuringiensis, or Bt. Bt sprays should be applied early, before the caterpillars reach their full size. If you can't treat early, it's best not to treat at all. Other insecticides, such as carbaryl, permethrin, cyfluthrin, and other residual sprays will also kill small caterpillars.

For more information about these and other insect pests, visit the Entomology Department homepage at insects.tamu.edu, or check the growing list of Extension publications at agpublications.tamu.edu.

House Democrats push conditions for progress on trade

House Ways and Means Committee Chair Charles Rangel (D-N.Y.) recently announced conditions that must be met by the Bush administration before progress can be made on trade issues in Congress. Rangel said agreement by the Administration on a range of issues — everything from safeguarding worker's rights and the environment in trade agreements to port security — could lead to Congress approving free trade agreements with countries including Colombia, Peru, and Panama.

Agreement by the Administration to the conditions could also pave the way for congressional extension of Trade Promotion Authority (TPA) for the President, which expires on July 1. Without approval of TPA by Congress, the viability of future trade deals, including the Doha Round of the World Trade Organization, remains imperiled.
