Friendship—Three Thousand Miles Apart

Ever play chess? It's a great game! One of the strongest friendships I know of started with a game of chess—between Dad Hoskins, in our town, and a man named Dalton Barnes, in England.

They've never seen each other, never met. But for the past eight years they've been playing chess by mail together—Dad puzzling over Dalton's latest letter, while he sends a chart of his next move to England.

Dad always thinks these with a mellow glass of beer beside his chessboard. And the Englishman writes him that he does the same. "You know, it's almost as if we shared a glass of beer together, too!" says Dad contentedly.

From where I sit, you can talk about diplomacy and foreign policy, but it's often those little things—like a game of chess or a glass of beer—that can make for tolerance and understanding ... between people of all nations ... between neighbors here at home!

presented her flowers while the choir sang a special wedding version of "Mother, at your feet we're kneeling."

The bride given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white matalase crepe, designed with a fitted scalloped bodice buttoned down the back with tiny satin covered buttons, high round neckline with a deep scalloped sweetheart yoke of Chantilly lace edged with satin in covered buttons. Tiny satin bows on the center front of the dress extended from the yoke to the hem of the skirt. The long sleeves were fitted, buttoned at the wrists and extended into petal points over the bride's hands. The full gathered skirt swept into a long train. Her finger-tip length veil, tiered and edged with Chantilly lace, was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of white mums and wore as her only ornaments a gold cross and chain.

Miss Gertrude Bengfort, sister of the bride, was maid of honor wearing blue marquisette over taffeta. Her gown was designed with long-waisted bodice featuring a shirred center panel, sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves. The full gathered skirt was ornamented with ruffles which formed scallops. Her headdress was a short blue veil held in place with flowers of the same color and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Little Misses Stella Bengfort and Lucy Stoffels, sisters of the bride and groom, were flower girls. The former wore a bouffant dress of white net and taffeta and a white flower headdress and carried a miniature colonial arrangement of pink carnations. Little Miss Stoffels wore a similarly designed frock of pink rippled crepe, a headdress of pink flowers and carried a miniature colonial bouquet of white carnations.

Charles Stoffels, brother of the groom, was best man. Leonard Bengfort and Erwin Fuhrmann were ushers. Men in the wedding party wore white carnation boutonnières.

The bride's mother wore a melon and blue ensemble with black accessories and the groom's mother was attired in a gray and gold costume with black accessories. Both wore shoulder corsages of white gardenias.

Following the ceremony breakfast was served to the bridal party in the Bengfort home. At noon, dinner was served to immediate members of both families. The bride's table was beautifully appointed, laid with white linen and centered with a large decorated cake, flanked with pink tapers in crystal candelabra. Asters and chrysanthemums decorated the home.

In the afternoon at 5 o'clock a reception was held in the school auditorium and supper was served to some 250 guests. Mrs. Norbert Zimmerer and Miss Mary Hermes, sister and cousin of the bride, presided at the bride's book. A dance in the Lindsay hall concluded the day's festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoffels left on a wedding trip during the late evening, the bride wearing a green dressmaker suit with black blouse and gray and black accessories. They will make their home north of Lindsay.

Mrs. Stoffels is a native of Lindsay and a graduate of Lindsay High school. She has been an active member of the Young Ladies Sodality serving as treasurer for the past several years.

Mr. Stoffels is a native of Muenster and attended school there and at Hays. He moved to Lindsay with his parents about 4 years ago. During the war he served in the army for three and a half years, receiving his discharge in Sept. 1945. He is engaged in the carpentry business.

It could even be that this candidate has never shown any communistic tendencies, but you can bet your bottom dollar that the "commies" feel certain they can control him — otherwise they would not be backing him — they see something in him not visible to the naked eyes of Mr. and Mrs. Average Voter.
 Support the candidate who believes in Americanism, who has no communistic taint on him. If the communists are fighting him tooth and nail, that is his greatest recommendation. It automatically makes him the candidate who merits your support.

Fooling Barnum
 P.T. Barnum, the great showman, was once fooled at his own game. A stranger from Vermont wrote him that he had an outstanding attraction for the famous Barnum Museum — a cherry-colored cat. The Vermonter informed him that the price of this odd cat was $200, payable in advance. But he guaranteed that the feline was cherry-colored, as described in the letter.
 The idea sounded good to Barnum and he immediately sent $200 to the Vermont owner. In a few days he received by express a large black cat. Examining Tabby, Barnum found a note attached to its neck which said: "I forgot to tell you that all cherries up here in Vermont are black!"

Staff Sgt. John Durbin spent the weekend here with his wife and sons, who are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F.J. Yosten. The sergeant is in San Antonio for several days on official business. Mrs. Durbin and children will leave this weekend by plane for their home in Metairie, La.

DO YOU HAVE A NUMBER?

Do you have a number? If not, you should have. If you have ever raised your voice against, or have contributed to the efforts of any organization that has raised its voice against communistic activities in this country — YOU HAVE A NUMBER. And shame on you, if you have been silent and do not have a number!

Part of the communist technique is very carefully to catalogue and index the names of all those who are known to oppose them, against the day when they shall have succeeded in destroying America. In order that what they consider is the proper punishment, can be inflicted on those who had the courage and exercised the bad judgment (bad in the communists' estimation) openly to resist their subversive and destructive activities.

The individual who has shouted the loudest, whose voice has been heard by the most people, is listed as the NUMBER ONE candidate for political, yes, even physical extinction, if and when (God forbid) the communists take over. The individual who has made the second loudest clamor is NUMBER TWO, and so on down the list. You had better start figuring out what your number is, if you have ever so much as whispered that you love the American way of life, that you believe the Constitution is a pretty fair document and that you want no part of communism.

And after you have determined approximately what your number is on the Communist Extinction List, it behooves you to do something about it.
 Well, what can you do? The answer to that is simple. Scrutinize your Congressional candidates seeking election on November 5th. Find out who is endorsing them. If your investigation reveals that one of the candidates is enthusiastically endorsed by one or other of the numerous communist-controlled organizations, DON'T VOTE FOR THAT CANDIDATE.

PROGRAM TO DOUBLE MILK PRODUCTION EXPLAINED BY KRAFT

Columbus, Ohio. — A special program by which American dairy farmers can double milk production in the next 15 years and help solve the American and worldwide food supply problem was outlined by John H. Kraft, president of the Kraft Foods company, to junior dairymen of the All-American Jersey show at their exposition banquet here.

Mr. Kraft listed five basic suggestions by which the young dairy men could help meet national and world milk needs: "Raise the national average of 180 pounds of butterfat per cow per year, strive for more even production throughout the year, take care of the land you farm, make use of all agencies that can help you, use better tools for the job."

"I think it is enough to point out that the average return over feed cost of a cow producing 300 pounds of fat is roughly three times that of a cow producing 150 pounds of fat. Or to put it another way, the feed cost per hundred pounds of milk goes down rapidly as production per cow goes up.

"If all the cows in the United States were as good as those in the Dairy Herd Improvement Associations we would today be producing approximately twice the milk we are now, as the average production of DHIA cows is just about twice that of the national average."

Writter milk production, he pointed out, is about 40 per cent below production during spring flush. "Dairymen who have achieved a better balance through more even production the year around not only produce about 700 or 800 more pounds of milk per cow per year but show a greater profit and have a better utilization of labor throughout the year."

"Certainly the productive level of our herds is directly correlated with the productive level of our land," Mr. Kraft said. "The grass and hay produced on eroded, worn out land just naturally do not have the feeding value of forage grown on well-fertilized land."

Advising the young Jersey men to make full use of government and business agencies in doing their job, Mr. Kraft said: "The facts and knowledge are there to guide us in doing a better job. Our national and state experiment stations are a gold mine of information. Our colleges or agriculture and extension services are the means of bringing that information to you and me on the farm."

"And do not forget that industry is equally interested with government in development of a sound agriculture. That we may both carry on together, Kraft, like other major organizations in the milk business, has set up a trained field service that knows dairying from practical experience. That field service is there to help you."

Mrs. Fred Hoedbeck and son, Eugene, were Denison visitors Wednesday.

During his lean days Humorist Eugene Field once stayed at a cheap boarding house, run by a slovenly housekeeper who rarely swept the floors. One rainy day, as Field was entering, she spied mud clinging to his shoes.

"How dare you come in with mud on your shoes?" she snapped.

"Don't you read signs?" She pointed above his head at a sign, which read:

"Please wipe your feet."
"But, my dear woman," gently protested the humorist, "I always do — when I go out!"

Reflections

A backwoods mountaineer one day found a mirror which a tourist had lost. "Well, if it ain't my old dad," he said as he looked into the mirror. "I never knew he had his picture took." He took the mirror home and put it in the attic, but his actions did not escape his suspicious wife. That night while he slept she slipped up to the attic and found the mirror. "Mm-m," she said, looking into it. "So that's the old hag he's been chasin'!"

Co-operation

A young Cleveland matron stalled her car at a traffic light one winter day. She stamped on the starter, tried again, choked her engine, while behind her, an impatient citizen honked his horn steadily. Finally she got out and walked back.

"I'm awfully sorry, but I don't seem to be able to start my car," she told the driver of the other car pleasantly. "If you'll go up there and start it for me, I'll stay here and lean on your horn."

Looking Ahead

Three former servicemen were making fun of a fourth because he was working for what they got for loafing. He smiled and answered, "I figure your $20 a week will have to stop some day and then you'll have to go to work. Of course some day, someone will have to have brains enough to boss you. That's what I'm working for now."

He Knows His Way About

Jane — "Oh you'd say so, even if you didn't think so."
Jim — "Well, you'd think so, even if I didn't say so, so we're even."

Bum Food

Angrily the tramp walked away from the farmer's wife. He shouted: "Work for a meal? Listen, lady, I'm just hungry — not desperate."

Mr. and Mrs. Bob McBride and son, Robert, of County Line, Okla., spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Williams. Other guests for the day at the Williams home were Mr. and Mrs. John Huchtsons and son and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Aytes and children.

MRS. JOHN KLEMENT HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

The birthday of Mrs. John Klement was the occasion of a happy family reunion party Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Klement.

Children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Klement presented birthday gifts and brought covered dishes for a luncheon. Informal diversion and games were enjoyed.

The children are Norbert, J.A., Edgar, Ray, Walter, Martin, Roman, and Mrs. Buddy Reiter, all of Muenster and Albert Klement of Gainesville. There are 21 grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. K.M. Montgomery stopped here Tuesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Ford Noland, enroute to their home in Tulsa after a wedding trip to Monterey, Mexico.

TEACHER ASSOCIATION ASKS MINIMUM PAY OF $2,400 ANNUALLY

To improve the morale of teachers, elevate their economic standing, insure professional stability, and place before the public facts and viewpoints that will lead to an intelligent appreciation of the teachers' contribution to the general welfare is the goal set by the Texas Teachers Welfare Association, which has made application for charter under the laws of Texas, as a non-profit general welfare corporation, and has launched statewide membership and educational campaigns.

Immediate aim of this militant organization of teachers is to enlist the support of every teacher in the public schools of Texas, the 254 County Superintendents, and the thousands of school trustees, to bring about an increase in the annual pay of teachers. Minimum pay of $2,400 a year for teachers with college degrees is to be sought.

To inform parents and school patrons of the sad plight into which the public school system of Texas has fallen as thousands of highly trained and experienced teachers desert the classroom for better paying and more attractive jobs, the Teachers Welfare Association is conducting a statewide campaign for members among the more than 44,000 public school teachers and County Superintendents. Its educational campaign to inform the public of the facts about the public schools and the poorly paid teachers is being carried out at the same time.

The alarming condition now faced by the rural schools, with more than 17 per cent of teaching jobs in county schools unfilled and more than 12 per cent of all teaching jobs in the State vacant, is due entirely to the inadequate pay for teachers. The pay of the average teacher in Texas is less than $100 a month. The untrained day laborer earns more. Even lawn mowing is more profitable than teaching.

CROSS-BREEDING BEEF AND DAIRY CATTLE IS SHORT SIGHTED POLICY

A lot of Texas dairymen are killing the goose that lays the golden eggs by cross-breeding their dairy cows with beef sires. The dairyman who makes a steady practice of cross-breeding will end up with no replacements for his herd, and just like the man who killed the gold-producing goose, he will kill the chances for more profit from a better dairy herd in the future, explains G. G. Gibson, dairy husbandman of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

Dairymen cross-breed their stock because a cross-bred calf is worth more for beef than a straight-breed calf at the same age, says Gibson. But, he warns, the deal isn't as good as it sounds on the surface. It takes plenty of feed to make a cross-bred calf weigh 400 or 500 pounds at six months of age, and whole milk makes up a good share of that feed that the calf gets. Suppose it gets a gallon of milk a day, for five months says Gibson — (and a lot of them get twice that much). At present milk prices, that amount of milk is worth about $45. If the calf gets two gallons, the cost of course is $90, which doesn't leave much profit from the selling price of the calf.

But the real loss, emphasizes Gibson, is to the future dairy herd. Continuous cross-breeding cuts out herd replacements. The dairyman goes out to buy replacements, but can't find them. He ends up milking a herd of scrub cows — the result of breeding a good milk cow to a good beef bull.

have achieved such positions of influence could possibly lack the understanding. They must be deliberately sabotaging our economic system. Can there be any other explanation?

Pardon a repetition of the same old subject, but it is quite fitting to mention here that conditions as we have them harmonize perfectly with the communist plan to overthrow Democracy in this country. Add to this the known facts that communists are actively dominating some unions and influencing the policies of many more. Why right thinking labor leaders, who are in the majority, don't have the grit and foresight to correct the condition is a baffling mystery. They should know that once the Reds reach their goal labor rights like all other rights will vanish completely. Under dictatorship all freedom vanishes.

Equally baffling, and disappointing, is the administration's attitude on the problem. Surely our national leaders can see what's going on. They must realize what will happen if organized labor is permitted to pursue its career of crime. Yes, crime. What other word is there to describe such wholesale dishonesty, such flagrant disregard of obligations? Let people say what they will, it is plain fraud to hire out for a day's pay and do only a half day's work. It's identically the same as accepting $2.00 and delivering only a dollar's worth of goods. Our administration permits Labor to get away with it, but that doesn't make it right.

Labor leaders themselves have the first obligation to eliminate this crime wave. It's their organization and they should run it according to proper standards. If they fail the responsibility falls on the government, which is pledged to protect the rights of its citizens. Our national leaders can and will do it if they'll decide to be guided by principle. But if they continue to follow a policy of coddling Reds and seeking votes, God help us.
