

Three seats up for election on Muenster Hospital Board

By Janet Felderhoff

Three seats on Muenster Hospital's nine-member Board of Directors come up for re-election this May. Paul Becker, Mary Dangelmayr, and Danny Walterscheid currently hold those positions. The first day to file as a candidate is Feb. 12 and the last day is March 14 at 5 p.m. If more than three people seek election to the MMH Board, an election will be held on Saturday, May 14. The three candidates receiving the most votes would serve on the Board.

Following an executive session at the Tuesday, Jan. 18 meeting of the MMH Board of Directors, the Board officially voted to confirm Michael Kent as interim CEO/administrator. The vote was six in favor with Danny Walterscheid abstaining since he was not present for the executive session discussion.

Following an executive session after the regular meeting, for due diligence for the public, the Board voted to begin the process of interviewing other applicants for the position of MMH District CEO/administrator.

New dietary equipment gained the Board's approval for purchase. Administrator Kent explained that during the Medicare inspection, it was highly suggested by the inspectors that the Hospital update its heat dispenser and meal cart. He showed the aluminum plates currently being used. They are placed on the stove, heated, and picked up with a pair of tongs. They also recommended a meal tray cart with doors.

Bids from two companies were reviewed for a heated plate dispenser, base heater, heated base, and meal tray cart with doors. Kitchen staff preferred the unit that held 20 trays, which was the least expensive. The cost of the new equipment was $6,996.75.

Three bids were received for construction of hand rails for the front sidewalk. Anderle Commercial/Residential Welding & Fence Building bid $4,480, Dangelmayr Construction, Inc. bid $9,600, and Flusche Enterprises, Inc. bid $15,390. Enhanced powder coating will be done at a cost of $1,111.50 for 342 feet of handrail. The low bid by Anderle was approved and the Board chose unity gray for the color.

No responses were received to the local invitations to bid on renovations to the Health Clinic.

Renovations to the nurses' station are in the planning stages. This is in preparation for the electronic health records (EHR) soon to be required in all hospitals. It will open up more cabinet and counter space, and be ADA compliant.

C&W Cabinets and Simmons Construction & Remodeling submitted bids with options. No action was taken by the Board.

CFO Jerry Pickett gave the financial report. He reported that tax collections this year are better than in December 2009. He reported enough cash in the bank to cover about four months expenditures.

Paid Time Off (PTO) for employees was again discussed. CFO Pickett estimated it would be an additional bottom line cost of about $3,300 to adopt the PTO plan. The change is being considered to bring MMH up to the level of its competitors.

Reasons presented for changing from the current policy include that it is not competitive, maximum accrual is 26 days compared to 37.5 for TORCH policy bank model, little flexibility for employees, new employees have no time off for 12 months, and according to National Business Research Institute, cost to replace employee is about 150% of their salary.

According to CFO Pickett many of the newer employees are not comfortable having to wait 12 months before they can take a paid day off with the exception of holidays.

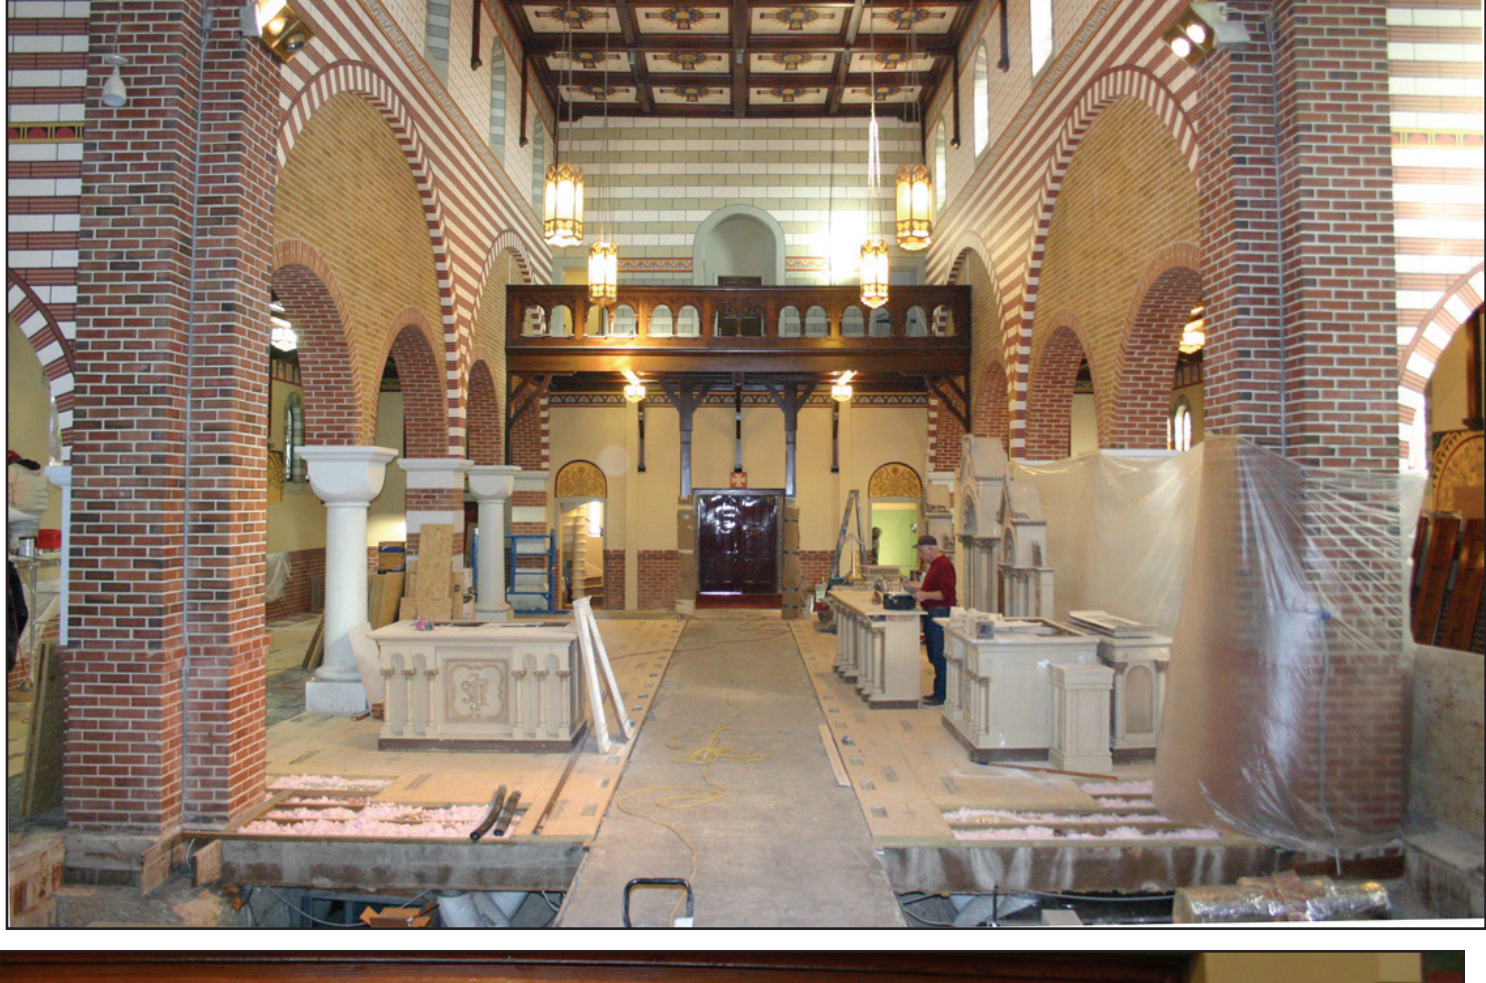

After much discussion, the Board voted to give access to accrued vacation after 90 days of employment. The Board will look at the pro-

Work continues in Saint Peter's

Members of St. Peter's Parish in Lindsay continue to wait on the completion of the restoration of their Church. Work began oh so long ago with the repairing of cracks in the plaster. In the process, more damaged areas were discovered, then more, and even more. The project grew from a paint job to include roof and other outside repairs, to fixing the floor base, to refinishing interior woodwork and paintings, and to a major cleanup. It is unknown when the work will be completed and services resumed in the Church.

TxDPS to offer Amnesty Program

Texans whose driver licenses have been suspended for failing to pay state-mandated surcharges are urged to take advantage of a one-time payment amnesty from Jan. 17 to April 17, 2011.

The Texas Department of Public Safety will offer lower payments to individuals who have been suspended and are in default on their surcharges. The goal of the amnesty period is to bring drivers into compliance with the surcharge law, and allow them to become licensed and insured drivers. The amnesty reduction does not apply to any other fees that you may owe the Department.

Those eligible for the Amnesty Program are anyone who had a surcharge assessed between Sept. 30, 2004 and Dec. 31, 2008, and were delinquent on those payments. The surcharges meeting the above criteria must be in default before the amnesty period.

Those who qualify for the Amnesty Program will pay See DPS, pg. 2

Road Mapping debate dominates Commissioners meeting

By Janet Felderhoff

At the Monday, Jan. 24 meeting of Cooke County Commissioners Court, debate on the County adopting a County Road Map popped up again. Several residents came to question the Court's intent.

Jimmy Mosman of F.M. 1201 asked Commissioners Court, "By adopting a County Road Map, are you putting a prescriptive easement on our properties?" County Judge John Roane answered, "I think the way the Legislation reads is that we claim the opportunity to use an easement on your road to do the maintenance of that road. It does not claim that we are taking any of your land, the title to your land, or anything else. All we are wanting is to maintain that road as is on the map. No where in there have I seen anything about any distances or sizes or anything else."

Judge Roane noted that road mapping was something that the Texas Legislature passed the ability for counties to do. It was not initiated by the counties. The reason for it is simply to prevent future $100,000 lawsuits, he said. Montague County has had several of these lawsuits and they get very expensive, he added.

Commissioner Leon Klement commented that when he consulted attorneys and legislators on the topic, he was told that the road mapping would not allow a county to make the roads any wider than they are now. It only meant that the county was adopting the road as it exists today, no more, no less. It will not enable a commissioner to arbitrarily move fences and make roads wider. It only gives the right to maintain what is there now.

Barbara Mosman expressed concern that there was more to the road mapping than met the eye. She also felt that the 9-1-1 map had been used for years and was good enough. She was told that the 9-1-1 map has all roads, even private roads shown. The County Road Map would not show private roads.

Commissioner Al Smith remarked, "Having gone through the small Saudi Arabia activity that we have going on in my precinct, I think that this is a very good approach that the Legislature has given us in terms of protecting land owners and surface area rights from oil companies and so on from coming in and saying, 'I've got an old map here. This is a county road. Instead of building access across this property, we're going to use this old road.'"

No action was taken.

Charles Draper of Gainesville and Rod Tyler CR 2130 spoke during public comments. Their topic was the Boys and Girls Club of Cooke County. As Ray Nichols had done previously at earlier meetings, they requested support and assistance from the County in tearing down the old Gainesville ISD Junior High building. That land was donated to the Boys and Girls Club for the purpose of a new Club building.

Stephen Harlow of Gainesville spoke against tearing down the three-story building. He felt it is still a usable building and should not be just thrown away. He suggested that the Boys and Girls Club be moved into another facility more suited to their purposes if they didn't want to use the old school building.

Cooke County Library Director Jennifer Johnson Spence explained that the County Library was among those libraries in its regional system chosen to receive a grant pay for designing an application that would allow patrons to use Smart Phone to integrate with the Library's IOS system for the purpose of searching their collection of books on-line and renewing books on-line. There would be a yearly fee of $300 to be paid by the County Library. The project cost is not known at this time. Commissioners approved the Letter of Commitment allowing the Mobilize My Library project to be taken on by the County Library.

Appointed to the Cooke County Historical Commission were Ron Melugin, Kit Chase, Norman Newton, Shanna and John Powell, Bill Cox, Barbara Pybas, Sandy Idom, Ona B. Reed, Frank Ward, Nona Stanley, Reagan Vestall, Mary McCain, Robert McDaniel, and Doug Robinson.

Advertising for RFQ (request for qualifications) for architect for the central EMS station gained the Court's approval.

Commissioners approved appointing Carroll Johnson, Gary Yost, Alan Kassen, Jeff Isbell, and Josh Brinkley to the Lake Ray Roberts Planning and Zoning Commission. See MAPPING, pg. 2

the amount to 10% of total surcharges owed, not to exceed $250; and will rescind suspension for those who receive indigency while payments are being made. Anyone assessed a surcharge since Sept. 30, 2004 will be eligible for the Indigency program.

United Way considers 2012 agency allocations

New agencies wishing to be considered for the 2012 program may make their request by letter which must be received by Cooke County United Way office no later than Feb. 7, 2011. Agencies who are approved through the 2012 Campaign Allocation process will be the partner agencies for the upcoming 2012 Campaign which begins this August.

Allocation application packets will be mailed out to all qualified new and current member agencies no later than Feb. 10. Those agencies wishing to be considered for 2012 Campaign Allocations must return the application packets by March 10. Request for information may be sent to P.O. Box 208, Gainesville, Texas 76241 and/or by calling the Cooke County United Way office 940-665-1793.

A qualified agency must be established as tax-exempt organization under the IRS Code Section 501(c)3 and provide services/programs in the health and human services. The allocation packet requests agency information in the areas of constitution and bylaws, management, financial reports, statement of cooperation, and statement of nondiscrimination. The agency must additionally meet the funding criteria, financial accountability, community needs, program priorities, and program effectiveness.

The Cooke County United Way and its member agencies share two common goals in the allocation process relative to the overall mission: 1) To fund real community needs as fully as possible; and 2) To allocate available funds for optimum effect among these needs. Whereas, each agency views community needs from its own specific viewpoint, the United Way must look at agencies and needs from the view of the total community.

Local volunteers serving on the Citizens Review Panel and the volunteer members of the Cooke County United Way Board of Directors determine where the funds will be invested.

Local officials to serve up Justice for CASA

Important members of Cooke County's Justice System are gearing up to serve a great dinner at CASA's 2011 "Justice is Served" dinner benefitting abused and neglected children served by CASA. The event is scheduled for 6 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 4 at the Gainesville Civic Center.

This is the sixth year that CASA will be serving fine food with the help of very important people in the community known as CASA's "celebrity servers." These include District Judge Janelle Haverkamp, First Assistant District Attorney Ron Poole, Justice of the Peace Dorothy Lewis, and many other elected officials and law enforcement officials who care enough about what happens for abused and neglected children to roll up their sleeves to keep the work for CASA's "little ones" going.

This year's theme is "Drafted Back to the 40s" and will take those who attend back to the era of 1940s USO War efforts. "We're having fun putting this one together," remarked Vicki Robertson, CASA's executive director. "We're looking forward to an evening with a great meal served by our celebrity servers, music from the NCTC jazz band who always make an evening special, and some guest appearances that will make the evening even more enjoyable. We ask that any who attend who have been, at any time, a member of the military to bring their hat (or 'lid' for Marines and Navy) to wear that evening to lend authenticity and to allow us to honor their service."

CASA is also raffling off a "His & Hers" weekend at the Four Seasons Resort in Los Colinas that includes a guided tour of Cowboy Stadium, and two nights at the resort including dinner and breakfast at one of the resort's many restaurants. Golf at the resort and spa services are also available. The winning raffle ticket will be drawn at the dinner.

CASA, which stand for Court Appointed Special Advocates, is a non-profit that recruits volunteers to represent the best interests of children who have been removed from their homes because of abuse and neglect.

Tickets for the dinner are $50 each. Tickets for both the dinner and the raffle are available at NASCOGA Federal Credit Union and at the CASA office.

Harold Wright, VSC Chairman, states, "This is the community's chance to recycle all types of products and equipment. Your donations help ensure proper recycling of e-waste and save valuable landfill space. The VSC is working with Bubb Fundraising. Bubb Fundraising conducts this type of event throughout the metroplex and then safely recycles the items. For your peace of mind, delete personal information from your computers and cell phones. This event is not a garage sale. Please do not bring clothing or decorative items. Anyone wishing to donate a vehicle must go to www.bubbfundraising.com and register the vehicle. Please do not bring a car, boat, RV, etc. without registering it on-line.

"The last two years, the events have been huge successes due to general public and businesses donating literally truck loads of items. We hope it will be even more successful this time. Businesses and school districts that have a large amount of items can call the number listed above and arrange a special pick-up. Individuals and small businesses will need to bring their items the day of the event. We will not pick up items nor can we store them. Do not deliver items to the MHMRST building before the event. Microwaves, ovens, refrigerators, television sets, paint, or hazardous materials absolutely will not be accepted," said Wright.

"We have a huge volume of calls each year about the location of McLain Street. McLain Street is located just north of the intersection of Lambreth and Travis. Go north on Travis, pass Eddie Mac's Hamburgers, and the next street to the left is McLain. MHMRST sets on the right hand side of the street. It is easy to find with these simple directions," ends Wright.

MHMR Services of Texoma has provided services in Cooke, Fannin, and Grayson counties to individuals with mental retardation since 1974. The mission of the center is to provide services that improve quality of life and support self-determination for persons with mental, intellectual, and developmental challenges.

Student entries sought for Texas State-Fish Art Contest

Student artists across Texas take notice: It's time to start preparing your entries for the 2011 Wildlife Forever State-Fish Art Contest.

The contest is open to all students in public, private, or home schools and requires submission of a one-page essay and a drawing of an officially recognized state fish. Entry deadline is March 31 each year.

Contest rules, guidelines, and entry information can be found at www.tpwd.state.tx.us/fishart.

Support for the Texas division of the contest is provided by the Toyota Texas Bass Classic, which makes it possible for the top three Texas entries in each grade level to win cash prizes. First place in grades 10-12 wins $1,000; second place $750; third place $500. Prizes in the 4-6 and 7-9 grade levels are $100 for first; $75 for second; $50 for third.

Additional support for the contest is provided by Strike King Lures, the William E. Armentrout Foundation, and Friends of the Texas Freshwater Fisheries Center.

One outstanding piece of artwork each year is selected for the Art of Conservation Award, and a commemorative stamp featuring the artwork is produced for sale. Proceeds from sales of the stamp are used to fund conservation projects. In 2010, a drawing of a steelhead trout by Liberty High School senior Anh Thu Do was selected as the Art of Conservation winner. The 2011 winner will be unveiled at the national expo to be held at the Texas Freshwater Fisheries Center June 25.

Educators who wish to have their students enter the contest can download the free "State-Fish Art Contest Lesson Plan" at www.statefishart.com. The interdisciplinary curriculum includes lessons and activities, a species identification section profiling each state fish, a glossary, and student worksheets.

Site helps students preparing for SAT or ACT

Students preparing to take SATs and ACTs now can take advantage of new social learning and tech tools available such as Grockit (www.grockit.com). Grockit uses games and social features to make studying fun. Students learn from and teach each other online. Grockit's group study option is available for free.

Grockit founder (and former Princeton Review National Teacher of the Year and academic director for Kaplan), Farb Nivi, would love to share study tips such as:

1. Study a little bit every day rather than binge studying a few days a week.

Remember to take a day of rest.

2. Students should wake two hours before test time so their brain has a full two hours to be fully awake and alert.

3. Warm up on test day before their exam. Answer different types of questions the morning of the test without checking answers.

4. Don't study the day before the test. Students are not going to learn anything the last day and are more likely to stress themselves out.

5. Don't take the SAT and SAT II on the same weekend and make sure these tests are taken in different administrations.

A great teacher never strives to explain his vision. He simply invites you to stand beside him and see for yourself. - R. Inman

Muenster Business Review

When comfort and quality of life are the primary considerations, it's time to think about hospice care.

Hospice services are an option when curative measures are no longer available or desired. When that time comes, we help patients and their families find comfort and peace. Just because days are limited, quality of life shouldn't be.

Our patients are in control of many decisions affecting how they wish to live and develop a plan of care that may include resolution of issues, pain management, a task to be completed. Working with patients, families and physicians, our interdisciplinary team offers services and programs for physical, emotional and spiritual needs.

- Access to an on-call registered nurse 24/7
- Social workers to help access resources and provide support
- Option of pastoral care from our chaplain
- Trained, dedicated volunteers
- Special programs such as Bear Hugs, Whispers from Home, Leaving a Legacy
- Assistance for family, now and in the future

Many of Home Hospice services are paid by Medicare, Medicaid and private insurance. Home Hospice's mission is to provide care for the terminally ill patient, his or her family, and all in our community who grieve, regardless of ability to pay.

Profiles and Perspectives continues with Noble landscaping program

The Noble Foundation will continue its 2010-11 season with a presentation for landscapers preparing for spring.

Gardening expert Neil Sperry will present Designs On a Great Landscape at 7 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 17, at the Ardmore Convention Center located at 2401 N. Rockford Road. The 2010-11 Profiles and Perspectives series is open to the public and offered at no cost, courtesy of the Noble Foundation.

During his presentation, Sperry will discuss the fundamentals of effective landscape design, including: bed layout; plant selection and placement; effective use of color; and the hardscaping elements of a fine garden.

"Neil Sperry is an icon in the world of gardening and landscape design throughout Texas and the Southern Great Plains," said Mary Kate Wilson, Noble Foundation director of granting and chair of the Profiles and Perspectives Committee. "He is a passionate, detailed, and skilled professional. His tips and insight come from more than three decades of experience. Audience members are sure to be entertained and learn something to improve their garden design."

Sperry has been a radio host for more than 30 years and is a member of the Texas Radio Hall of Fame. He has been selected as the American Garden Communicator of the Year by the American Association of Nurserymen and the Man of the Year in Texas Agriculture by the Texas AgriLife Extension. Sperry's book, A Complete Guide to Texas Gardening, is the fourth best-selling gardening hardback in American history.

The 2010-11 Profiles and Perspectives season will conclude on Tuesday, April 19, with Greg Marshall's Crittercam: A Wild Point of View. Marshall, a biologist and filmmaker, developed the Crittercam, a small, lightweight camera that is attached to various animals, providing breathtaking glimpses of the world from their view.

During his talk, Marshall will take audiences through the development of several of his award-winning Crittercam films for National Geographic, detailing how his team uses innovation, creativity, engineering, and wild and woolly expeditions to lead the field of animal-borne imaging.

Additional information on Profiles and Perspectives can be obtained by calling the Noble Foundation at 580.224.6246 or visiting www.noble.org/profiles.

TDA market recap

For the week ending Jan. 22, feeder cattle auction prices were mostly $3 to $10 higher per hundredweight, with a few as much as $20 higher and some to $2 lower. Tight supplies and strong demand for available cattle continued to support the market. Fed cattle prices were lower.

The winter wheat crop was rated in mostly fair to poor condition with 95% of the acreage emerged. On the Plains, dryland wheat continued to suffer from very dry conditions. Field preparations for spring planting are underway in many locations. Livestock required supplemental feed statewide as hay supplies and forage conditions continued to decline.

Manage pasture for the amount of rainfall you receive

It is a proven fact that managing pastures with too high of a grazing intensity (number of livestock x the duration of grazing) will result in overgrazing. This will alter the amount of forage a pasture, can produce, the species of plants in the pasture and the survivability of desired forage plants. Dr. Baron Rector, Extension range specialist, recently mentioned to me that one of the first effects of overgrazing is a shift of productivity in a pasture. The shift of pasture productivity will be towards that of a dryer region.

Using Cooke County as an example, if native pasture is being used, a manager that is slightly overgrazing may see a shift in the plant community from the tall grasses (Indiangrass, Big Bluestem, Little Bluestem, and Switchgrass) to mid-grasses, or even a shift to predominantly short grasses. Of course, having some mid-grasses and short-grasses are healthy mixes in native pasture, but a thriving population of Silver Bluestem or other grass only classified as fair for grazing indicates a shift in productivity. Improved pastures, like those with bermudagrass, will also experience a shift in plant population, possibly moving toward patches of three-awn or "wire grass." In both pasture scenarios you may also notice an increase in weed pressure or even bare ground.

If "normal" rainfall patterns persist, a pasture manager can go for quite a while without noticing severe problems. Keeping the grass grazed so that a very small portion of it ever reaches maturity will, in fact, keep the grass in a more nutritious state. The problem is that over time, the land's productivity is decreased. Root systems are stressed, soil organic matter is decreased, and the potential for biomass production and water retention from a rainfall event is minimized. Long term, what has happened is that the lands potential for production has shifted from that of land in a 30-35 inch/per year climate to that of a land in a 25-30 inch/per year climate; or even worse.

The good news is that the land is resilient. Even native pasture managed in a way to allow the tall grasses to prosper will eventually return to past productivity levels. Dr. Rector encounters overgrazing problems during the course of his job all over the state of Texas. He joked that people need to stop praying for more rain that would alter the climate and change the type of plants we have in our area to those of a wetter region. Instead, we should manage for the amount of rainfall that we receive!

Gardening tips for January/February

The following tips and much more can be accessed at: http://aggie-horticulture.tamu.edu/newsletters/horupdate/2011/jan_feb/

Don't fertilize newly set out trees or shrubs until after they have started to grow, and then only very lightly the year.

When buying plants, the biggest is not always the best, especially when dealing with bare-root plants. The medium to small sizes (4 to 6 feet) are usually faster to become established and more effective in the landscape than the large sizes.

Hold off on pruning bush roses and grapes at this time until mid-February or until early March in northern parts of the State.

Herbaceous perennials and hardy ornamental grasses may be cut back at this time. It may be difficult to assess the extent of freeze damage on citrus and semi-tropical plants until warm weather arrives. When new growth begins, damaged material can be removed.

Check junipers and other narrow-leaf evergreens for bagworm pouches. The insect eggs over-winter in the pouch, and start the cycle again by emerging in the spring to begin feeding on the foliage. Hand removal and burning of the pouches reduce future damage.

AG TALK

By Gene Hall

Taming regulation

I was pleasantly surprised to read of President Obama's executive order to review and possibly eliminate federal regulations that might do more harm than good. If the administration really wants to go after pointless, economy chocking, job killing, and foolish regulations, there is an obvious target—EPA.

Of course, the cynic in me suspects this is not much more than window dressing—part of the president's desire to appear more centrist. I hope he's genuinely trying to get to the middle, because that's where the country is, impatiently waiting on its leaders.

If the administration is not blowing smoke, the Environmental Protection Agency is a great place to start. EPA has abandoned any pretense of considering cost versus benefit in their regulatory zeal. Unable to pass Cap and Trade (Cap and Tax) legislation in a Senate that was reluctant to cripple the economy, EPA is now pushing the idea via an army of unelected regulators. This, folks, is the largest tax increase in the history of the planet and if you don't think it will hurt the economy, you're kidding yourself. Since energy is a component cost of everything we buy, there is no way to dodge the impact. The fact that no one expects to affect climate change even a little bit seems to be irrelevant to the regulators. That's because other nations will gladly burn fossil fuels to claim the economic benefit the U.S. will lose.

EPA intends to regulate dust on farms. This is as futile as anything in the sad history of enthusiastic regulation. July on the farms and ranches of Texas is a dusty time. You'll raise a small cloud just walking to the barn. There is no doubt that even farmers and ranchers with excellent dust control plans will be hounded and fined.

This is an agency that would like regulatory authority over every mud hole in America, every dust cloud billowing behind a cotton stripper, and all of the fossil fuels that we still need to grow crops and produce other goods. The agency leaps over scientific facts that don't fit political goals. The new EPA is an overzealous regulatory juggernaut that, unfettered, will do a lot of harm to the economy.

I hope the Obama Administration is serious. If they don't look at EPA, they are not. Just in case, Congress should keep a very close eye on EPA, and if necessary, cut the budget when it steps beyond its congressionally mandated authority.

The United States is the only country deliberately founded on a good idea.
