

MMH develops an organization for Volunteer Services

By Janet Felderhoff
Muenster Memorial Hospital launched a search for people-friendly volunteers who are willing to donate several hours of their time as a volunteer at the Hospital. The Hospital's goal is to have patients and visitors greeted with a warm reception when they enter the facility.

Volunteers will definitely man a desk in the front lobby to assist with information and directions. As the number of volunteers increases, they may also be asked to do an assortment of other tasks.

On Tuesday, March 22, a core group of enthusiastic potential volunteers met with MMH employees Debbie Neu and Jerry Pickett, CFO. Neu will spearhead the Volunteer Services organization.

The group chose red lab coats as their uniform. They learned that those benefits such as CareFlite membership for $10 per year and FIT Center membership at the employee cost of $10 per month will be available to those who volunteer on a regular basis. That minimum was voted by those present to be three shifts per month. Other benefits include a free lunch for those working over the lunch hour and recognition such as on birthdays, etc.

Although it may change as the program develops, shifts for the present were divided into three per day. The first is from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m., the second from 10:30 to 1:30, and the third from 1:30 to 5 p.m. It is hoped that there will be sufficient volunteers to have at least two per shift. They will serve Mondays through Fridays.

It was stressed that those who want to be a part of the Volunteer Services, but who have other obligations that preclude them from volunteering for the hours required for minimum benefits, are still welcome to serve as a volunteer for the time that they can commit to the organization.

Also welcome are high school volunteers. They might especially wish to volunteer time over the summer. This could count toward their required volunteer service hours.

Bridge donated to City in memory of Tammy Caldwell

Dangelmayr Construction puts the final finish on the concrete floor of a new walking bridge being constructed in the Muenster City Park. Allen and Shirley Reiter donated the bridge in memory of their daughter Tammy Caldwell who died in an automobile accident. The 58 foot long, 6 1/2 foot wide bridge spans the western creek banks connecting the new addition of the Park. Railing on the bridge will match the fence and should be completed by Germanfest. Allen Reiter watches the progress.

Win cash from KMB's Reuse It

Keep Muenster Beautiful (KMB) Board members were so inspired by Sacred Heart's beautiful prom decorations that were made from recycled items and by Kay Broyles' reused photo wallpaper border, that they decided to sponsor a Reuse It Contest for Keep America Beautiful's Great American Cleanup. They also decided to use: "Reuse it" for this year's KMB theme.

The contest will have four categories to enter: School, Business, Nonprofit organization, and Individual/family. The best of each category will receive $100. Here is a fun way for your group or family to earn a little extra cash, and help the environment, the City, and KMB all at the same time.

Contest rules:

1) Items used must be something that is being recycled and that is being used in a new and creative way, but also purposeful.
2) Before and after photos must be submitted with the understanding that KMB may publish them.
3) A short one-page description of your project beginning with the sentences "I/we did not throw it away. I/we reused it by....."

The description must include how many people worked on the project and how many volunteer hours (number of people x number of hours) the project took.

4) Project must be completed between April 1 and May 31, and postmarked no later than June 1 to be eligible.

Mail your entry to Keep Muenster Beautiful, Box 327, Muenster, Texas 76252. Winners will be presented their award money at the KMB annual membership meeting in August.

Muenster Hospital Board reviews new survey results

By Janet Felderhoff
Muenster Memorial Hospital and Family Health Clinic are now making use of patient surveys. According to Diane Neu, MMH Compliance officer, they are sending out letters to all inpatients after they are dismissed from the Hospital. It is not a required survey, but MMH chose to do them. Critical Access Hospitals (CAH) are the only hospitals not mandated to do the survey said Neu.

"We initiated it just to see where we stand," Neu explained. "There are no CAHs in our area that we can compare it to, so we compared it to Gainesville, Nocona, Bowie, and Texas and National."

There are 27 questions on the survey. The surveys were sent out from October through the end of January. Only eight patients returned them. They hope to have better response in the future.

The Board members will receive a list of the questions so they can determine if they want to use those questions or to include others.

Home Health also has a survey similar to the inpatient survey. It is a required survey.

The HCAHPS initiative is designed to provide a standardized survey instrument and data collection methodology for measuring patients' perspectives on hospital care. While many hospitals have collected information on patient satisfaction, prior to HCAHPS there was no national standard for collecting or publicly reporting patients' perspectives of care information that would enable valid comparisons to be made across all hospitals.

Neu showed results from a survey that is being sent out to some of the MMH Family Health Clinic patients. There is nothing similar to compare it to. She said 16 were returned from January and the February ones are coming in now. It is sent to the patients who come to the Clinic every other Monday. This is because all the practitioners are there. All patient comments were shown. The surveys are anonymous, so it is unknown who is commenting.

The Board discussed charts showing the place of residence of Swing Bed patients in MMH from October through February and also from which facility they were transferred, who the transferring physician was, and the patient's diagnosis.

"This will give us an idea of where our patients are going, and this will give us a better idea of where we need to focus our marketing on to try to get more of our Swing Bed patients here," noted Administrator Kent.

There are three Board positions up for election in May. Two of the three, Mary Dangelmayr and Paul Becker, did not file again. Danny Walterscheid filed for another term and Jon Reed filed an application for a Board position. With no opposition,

Bayer granted Life-Saving Award

As a part of its annual Loss Control Conference, the Texas Electric Cooperatives (TEC) bestowed a life-saving award to Cooke County Electric Cooperative employee Ryan Bayer for going out of his way and alerting a man to get out of his home because, unbeknownst to him, it was on fire.

On this particular day, while performing work on service orders in his territory, Ryan noticed flames coming from a nearby house. His volunteer firefighter intuition kicked in and he immediately went to survey the scene. He noticed a car seat on the front porch which further committed his efforts.

General Manager Neil Hesse stated, "This is who Ryan Bayer is. He is totally committed to his job and to mankind. I am very thankful and proud of his efforts."

Ryan, who also is a volunteer fireman in Muenster, called 911 to alert emergency personnel of the situation. Because of Ryan's quick action, no one was injured and the fire was contained before any major damage was done to the home.

CX Debaters medal at State

The Muenster High School UIL Cross-Examination Debate team consisting of Brooke Walterscheid and Hannah Weger took 3rd place in the State CX Debate Tournament in Austin on March 14 and 15. Hannah also brought home a Bronze Gavel, awarded her for her outstanding individual speaker abilities.

The Conference 1A State Tournament included 57 teams from districts all over Texas.

On Monday, the young women debated in four rounds for approximately eight hours of debate, allowing them to break into finals on Tuesday. On Tuesday the Walterscheid and Weger team debated in the Octofinals, Quarterfinals, and Semifinals for approximately another six hours.

These ladies, guided by their coach Lisa Walterscheid, have put in countless hours of research and prepara-

The Board voted unanimously to cancel the May 14 election. They also certified that Walterscheid and Reed were unopposed.

Remodeling of the nurses' station must be done in preparation for the installation of the EHR (Electronic Health Records) equipment. This includes moving a 30" monitor out of radiology to the nurses' station so the doctors can read x-rays there.

Two bids were received on the remodeling project. Bidding were Simmons Construction and C & W Cabinets. The C & W bid did not include removal of the existing wall and removal of old cabinets. This would be done by MMH maintenance staff. C & W's bid of $9,803 was approved. Flooring for the area is estimated at $7,000. The Board approved a budget of $18,000 for the total project.

Discussion took place at the February meeting on how to make the front office more patient friendly. Kent showed a proposed floor plan with a new counter and the new glass wall removed. A hallway would be opened from the ER through the business office for patient check in.

Also, Kent reported that the Hospital Auxiliary had met and was very excited about a proposed volunteer service similar to North Texas Medical Center's Pink Ladies. A desk would be set up in the front lobby to accommodate them.

John Aytes reported on what he'd learned about NTMC's Pink Ladies. He said that they hope to start with at least 10 or 11 people to begin within weeks. It will be headed by a Hospital employee.

No action will be taken until the success of the volunteer group is taken into the equation.

Repairs are necessary to the roof of the MMH Family Health Clinic. Two bids were reviewed, one from Cooke County Roofing for $3,578.76 and one from Jimco Roofing Co. for $7,500. The Board voted to take the Cooke County Roofing bid, but did not want to put in the drains they recommended.

The Hospital's 1998 Olympus scope used for colonoscopies is damaged. It was sent off for repairs. Estimated cost to repair was $9,715. The manufacturer offered a newer model scope that will fit with the current monitors and light source which is a pre-owned demo. With a one year manufacturer's warranty, that scope would cost $10,763.45 including the old one as a trade-in. The Board approved the purchase.

CFO Jerry Pickett introduced Glenda Mendoza. She is performing an independent opinion of the MMH Swing Bed Program. As chief nursing officer at a hospital in Pittsburgh, Texas, she set up a successful Swing Bed Program. They had searched for a PhD physical therapist with familiarity of Swing Bed Programs, but found none.

Mendoza remarked, "This is a great little hospital and has all of the potential in the world. The Swing Bed is very, very important. It's your building foundation." She said the facility that Jerry told them about had gotten them into a brand new facility, a $60 million hospital.

In other business, the MMH Board:
 • Approved Bad Debt write-offs totaling $2,792.83.
 • Approved courtesy privileges as recommended by the medical staff for ER physicians Gene Herzog, D.O. and Sherry Wolf, M.D.

ration to achieve such high honors in this difficult contest of stamina, understanding of today's worldwide political issues, great communication and speaking skills, and effective persuasive skills.

Hannah and Brooke will also be among many other Muenster High School students to compete in more individual and team events at the District UIL Academic Meet on March 30, 31, and April 1.

Heart disease is a lady-killer best to be avoided

Heart disease is the No.1 killer of women in the U.S., claiming nearly twice as many lives as all forms of cancer combined.

"There are many theories as to why women have a higher mortality rate from heart disease," said interventional cardiologist Dr. Elizabeth Holper of UT Southwestern Medical Center. "Research has demonstrated that patients who know the status of their risk factors - including cholesterol levels and blood pressure - and who control these risks - do better in the long term."

Other steps women can take to reduce their risk of heart disease include quitting smoking, lowering the amount of saturated fat in their diets, and exercising at least 30 minutes a day. "Most of all, talk with your doctor about your risk," says Dr. Holper. "It could be a top priority."

Harriet Scoggins, who has volunteered with North Texas Medical Center's Pink Ladies since November 2006, offered her services to MMH's new group. She spoke on Tuesday about what she does and how various things work for the Pink Ladies. She will be helping Debbie organize the MMH volunteers and arranging the work schedules.

Harriet works as a volunteer for the Operating Room area and for the front desk, one on Monday and the other on Friday. Speaking of her experience with the Pink Ladies, Harriet recalled that when she a little girl, she always wanted to be a Pink Lady. They have been in Gainesville since 1944. "It makes me feel good to help others," Harriet remarked. "It makes me feel good from my heart. It gives you a good feeling to know that you are helping somebody. I really just like it." She said she didn't want to feel that she wasn't being useful to someone.

Harriet welcomes calls at anytime (except Monday and Friday mornings when she's volunteering) to ask questions about what to expect.

The group will begin in April as soon as they can complete their HIPPA training and test and orientation sessions. New volunteers will always be welcome.

Applications are available at the Muenster Memorial Hospital front desk. For more information, call Debbie Neu at 759-6193.

Fannie Lee Tuggle 1923 - 2011

Fannie Lee Tuggle died at the age of 87 on Wednesday, March 16, 2011 in Muenster Memorial Hospital. She was born April 18, 1923 in Muenster to Jacint Asberry and Mossie Lee (Walker) Bridges.

Fannie Tuggle

Services for Fannie were held at 10 a.m., Tuesday, March 22 at First Baptist Church of Muenster with Rev. Ralph Gourley officiating. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery. Visitation was held Monday evening at Clement-Keel Funeral Home of Gainesville.

Survivors include her daughter Donna Brown and husband Allen of Santa Rosa, California; son Tommy Tuggle and wife Trish of Sanger; sister Helena (Robinet) Tish of Gainesville; and brother J. Bridges of El Campo, Texas.

She was preceded in death by her husband Aubry (Hoker) Tuggle in 1993 and her parents.

Fannie was a homemaker with a knack for sewing, working as a professional seamstress at the local sewing factory for many years. She loved gardening, and Muenster residents were treated to the sight of her beautiful irises each year. Keep Muenster Beautiful commended Fannie for how hard she worked in her yard, keeping it neat and trim.

She was an independent woman who enjoyed being outdoors, preferring to spend as much time outside as possible. She also loved to read, spending her time inside reading books.

Fannie loved the Muenster community and all the people who were her friends and helpers. She felt that Muenster was her extended family.

New website helps dispel autism-related fears, mysteries

A diagnosis of autism carries a far greater emotional punch than one might expect from a non-fatal condition that often responds well to therapy and adaptive services.

"Fear of the unknown has a lot to do with that," said Alice Antilley of the Texas Department of Aging and Disability Services (DADS). "Autism, because of the broad range of possible outcomes, presents more question marks, more uncertainty about the future."

DADS new Texas Autism Research & Resource Center website (www.tarrc.org) provides answers to many of the questions asked by parents with newly-diagnosed children. It helps families cope with the uncertainties of autism by plugging them into some of the best information and resources available on screening and diagnosis, childhood development, special education, networking, and research.

Another useful feature is the site's description of Texas' statewide service system, including state agencies, school districts, local MR authorities, non-profit groups, and more.

Antilley, the Center coordinator and parent to a 16 year old with autism, said the website not only provides clarity but conveys a sense of urgency that prompt action is crucial. "Research is showing that intensive intervention at a very early age can make a big difference in outcomes. We're talking about significant improvements in IQ and less support needed in school and life."

Antilley, whose own son has progressed well with the help of therapies and assistance in the classroom, recommends that parents use the website's wealth of information as a foundation of knowledge for working with doctors, teachers, and therapists.

According to Antilley, "One of the most troubling things about autism is that it often shows up in a child who's developed pretty normally for one or two years, then begins to regress."

Classic autism symptoms such as lack of eye contact, loner tendencies, tantrums, obsessive behaviors, and language difficulties may not be recognized for what they are in a very young child. "And when regression is involved, some parents have to reach the point of admitting to themselves, 'I no longer recognize my own child' before they seek professional help," Antilley said.

Once a child is diagnosed with autism spectrum disorder, treatments such as applied behavior analysis, speech and occupational therapy, combined with special education services, often lead to positive outcomes.

Individual circumstances and realism are important too, Antilley cautioned. "Unfortunately, even the best therapy and services don't always make a significant difference if the condition is very severe. Many people with autism spectrum disorder are able to live independently, have jobs, get married, and enjoy pretty normal lives as adults. Others will be cared for all their lives and struggle to develop relationships with people."

Despite the uncertainties that still surround autism, Antilley stressed that families affected by the condition owe it to themselves to take advantage of the knowledge and services that do exist. And the Texas Autism Research & Resource Center website is a great place to start.

The depth and credibility of resources on the website are backed by a statewide consortium of experts from more than 30 colleges, universities, medical centers, non profit organizations, and state agencies.

The agency partners include DADS, the Texas Health and Human Services Commission, the Department of State Health Services, the Department of Family and Protective Services, and the Department of Assistive and Rehabilitative Services.

"The empowering resources available through this website are a great first step to understanding autism and dealing with the challenges it creates," Antilley said.

TEXAS TIMES by John Cornyn United States Senator

A Cattle Queen ahead of her time

During the month of March, we celebrate Women's History Month and the many contributions generations of women have made to the fabric and culture of this great country. Texas has been home to scores of influential, intelligent, colorful, and unforgettable females. From Emily West, the Yellow Rose of Texas, to Bessie Coleman, the nation's first African American female aviator, and down the line to political trailblazers like U.S. Representative Barbara Jordan, U.S. Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison, and Texas' 45th Governor, Ann Richards—Texas is no stranger to powerful and strong women.

One of these was Elizabeth "Lizzie" Ellen Johnson, a young woman from Hays County, Texas, who did not let social norms of the day stop her from pursuing her dreams. Born on May 9, 1840, in Cole County, Missouri, Johnson and her family relocated to Hays County in the mid-1840s, where Mr. and Mrs. Johnson established the Johnson Institute, a private secondary school. After attending the Johnson Institute, Lizzie Johnson began teaching there and at several other schools in Central Texas. Though she continued teaching, she also took on bookkeeping duties for several well known cattlemen, such as George W. Littlefield and William H. Day. On top of these responsibilities, she found yet another way to earn extra money—by moonlighting as a freelance writer. Using a pen name, she wrote articles of short fiction for magazines and newspapers, such as Illustrated Weekly. Over time, she earned and saved enough money to invest in something she had observed and determined lucrative—cattle. Johnson first invested in a Chicago cattle company, and after three years, she had made significant profits that she in turn used to buy cattle and land.

Johnson registered her cattle brand on June 1, 1871, under the name of Elizabeth Johnson. She then purchased 10 acres in Austin – paying $3,000 in gold dollars. According to some historical accounts, Johnson was able to grow her herd during the Civil War by overseeing a process called "brushopping." With so many men away at war, and with few fences to keep cattle corralled, the population of unbranded cattle in the brush of South Texas began to flourish. During those times, unbranded cattle were "finders' keepers" for those willing to round them up and transport them. Johnson employed hands to do her "brushopping" for her – or combing the thicket for cattle.

In 1879, Johnson, tall and striking, married preacher and widower Hezekiah "Hez" G. Williams. While it is reported that Johnson cared deeply for Williams, she did not let her heart rule her business decisions and convinced him to sign a prenuptial agreement. During the course of their marriage, Williams would often make poor business decisions, and Johnson would agree to bail him out of his financial binds. But once he earned his money back, she expected him to repay her.

A woman who marched to the beat of her own drum, Johnson is perhaps best remembered for the literal trail she blazed when she became the first woman in Texas to drive her own herd of cattle up the Chisholm Trail. It is said that Williams accompanied her but drove his own, separate herd. It was in this way that they would lead the rest of their married life—together but separate. Successful in business—due mostly to Johnson's acumen—the couple enjoyed traveling and Johnson had a love for fine clothes and the newest fashion trends. When Williams passed away in El Paso in 1914, it is said that Johnson purchased a $600, top-of-the-line coffin for him, and when she signed the bill of payment, she wrote across it, "I loved this old buzzard this much."

In her final years, Johnson became somewhat of a recluse. She often dressed as if she were impoverished and survived on a meager diet of soup and crackers. For these reasons, when Johnson passed away on October 9, 1924, it came as quite a surprise to Austinites to learn she left behind a fortune of nearly $250,000. Family members found thousands of dollars in diamonds locked away in her basement and other colorful items like exotic parrot feathers around her house.

Lizzie Johnson was a successful businesswoman, investor, cattle dealer, and landowner – long before it was considered acceptable for a woman to enter these arenas. Her feisty determination, confidence, and self-respect drove her to excel in a man's world.

CCEC employees hike for wellness

On Saturday, March 19, Cooke County Electric sponsored the 2nd Annual Wellness Hike at the Bartush Land and Cattle Company ranch. The outing was planned as part of an ongoing wellness program that is in place for the employees of Cooke County Electric, along with their spouses and children.

Nineteen eager participants gathered for a healthy snack of nuts, trail mix, and fruit prior to the adventure. John D. Bartush led the three-hour hike, which included spectacular views of the Red River. The trek brought the group by an old "cabin" that was built in 1949 by a group of youth from Muenster. Several of the hikers recalled their own experiences of camping out there in years gone by.

Following the hike, a lunch of grilled hot dogs with all the trimmings and smores was served.

Participating employees and family members included: John and Malony Bartush, Herbie Fette, Bobby and Janet Hermes, Neil and Anne Hesse with Matt, Kaitlyn, and Sam, Brad and Stephanie Schilling, Carl and Diane Sicking with Brandon, Warren and Shelly Sicking, and Danny and Janet Voth.

Zachary celebrates 1st

Zachary Lutkenhaus celebrated his first birthday on Saturday, March 19, his actual birthday. The theme of the party was "One is fun!" The party began with opening and playing with gifts, followed by eating cake and ice cream. The cake was made by his grandmother Annette Bayer.

Guests included Zachary's parents Jason and Michelle Lutkenhaus; brother Bradley and sister Alyssa; grandparents Bobby and Linda Lutkenhaus and Bill and Annette Bayer; aunts and uncles Jeff and Brandi Cook, Will and Crystal Seyler, Nicole Bayer, and Jeremy Lutkenhaus; cousins Nathan and Natalie Cook and Cade Seyler; and special friends John and Ashlee Bayer and Katie Pike.

Wilson's celebrate 50th anniversary

Merlin and Lorene Haverkamp Wilson of Gainesville celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a reception hosted by their children. The reception was held Feb. 19 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Gainesville. Merline and Lorene were married Feb. 18, 1961 in Gainesville. Attendees of the couple were Johnnie and the late Lloyd Salsman.

The event started with the couple renewing their wedding vows assisted by the Rev. Hollis Parsons of Tabernacle Baptist Church. Johnnie Ayles was in attendance for the renewal of vows and Ron Herrell stood in for Lloyd Salsman. Merlin and Lorene danced the traditional first dance after renewing their vows. Rev. Parsons sang "On the Wings of a Dove" as a special request by the couple for one of their favorite songs. Rev. Parsons was accompanied by Dustin Wilson, grandson of the couple, on acoustic guitar and Vic Johnson on base.

Guests were treated to a video of photos during the reception that included the couple from childhood, their families of origin, and photos of their 50 years together.

A meal was catered by Rohmer's Restaurant of Muenster. Cody Wilson provided music. Caly Wilson and Tasha Kuykendall served the three-tier white cake and chocolate groom's cake.

Children hosting the reception include Sharon Forney and husband Dean of Gainesville, Kenny Wilson of Gainesville, Randy Wilson and wife Robin of Valley View, and Donny Wilson and wife Darla of Gainesville. Children not in attendance at the reception include Lacy Shotwell and wife Karen of Whitesboro, Kathy Thomas of Louisiana, and the late Thomas Dean Wilson. The couple has 14 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Merlin and Lorene are long-time members of the community. They owned and operated the Colonial Restaurant and Catering Service from 1968 until they sold the business in 2001. Many "adopted family members" and good friends were acquired during the years they had the Colonial. The couple attends Tabernacle Baptist Church. Many friends and family from Gainesville, Muenster, and the surrounding areas attended the celebration. Special guest, Bobbye Robison of Lompoc, California registered guests. Other out of town guests include Jacob Olvera and Claudia Diaz of San Antonio.

Catholic Daughters' Spring Luncheon promises royal treatment at castle

Women attending the Catholic Daughters' Spring Luncheon are promised to receive "royal treatment" this year! Though no longer a resident of the Muenster community, MaryLee Alford has graciously offered the use of "The Castle" for the group's 5th annual affair.

This year's luncheon is scheduled for Saturday, April 16 at 11 a.m. and will be catered, as in the past, by local caterer Debbie Schoppa. Known for her elegant touch, Debbie has created a meal that will begin with a fancy ladies' beverage and will end with a special strawberry-chocolate dessert. In between, the women will enjoy a chicken entree in puffed pastry and a salad of baby greens.

Also featured at the event will be a spring style show with models chosen from the Muenster area.

Several of the members are making terrariums of various sizes that will serve as centerpieces and will be offered for sale following the luncheon.

The Catholic Daughters are the sister organization to the Knights of Columbus and assist them in many of their projects. Though they are best known for the serving of funeral dinners, they are also active in such endeavors as scholarships, aid to seminarians, morality in media, and pro-life causes. In June of each year they honor the priest at Sacred Heart with an appreciation breakfast.

This year in August, they are sponsoring Rebecca St. James, a recording artist who has appeared on numerous occasions on the Sean Hannity Show. She will present a concert and speak about her life.

The Spring Luncheon is the organization's only fund-raising event and is held in lieu of the former annual garage sale.

The cost is $25. Seating is limited and because of the venue, tickets are anticipated to sell out quickly.

For more information, contact Della Walterscheid at 759-4457.

Scouting for Food is March 26

Due to an ice storm on the first planned date, the Muenster Scouts Scouting For Food drive was re-scheduled for Saturday, March 26.

In the Law of the Pack, a Cub Scout gives good will, by participating in the Scouting for Food event, scouts come a step closer to fulfilling these words.

How to help? The Muenster Cub Scouts will be collecting donated non-perishables and canned goods for the community food banks. The collection will be from 9 to 11 a.m. Saturday March 26. Donations may also be left on your doorstep. Items collected will be divided between The First Baptist Church and Sacred Heart Catholic Church food banks. After meeting at the Sacred Heart Community Center parking lot, the Scouts will be given a section of town, and then they will knock door-to-door asking for donations.

After the collection is complete) the items will then be gathered and brought to the VFW Hall. The collection will be on display there for the following day's ceremonial Blue and Gold. Items can also be dropped off at the VFW from 11 a.m. to noon.

If you have a question, call Christy Bezner at 736-4716.

THANK YOU!

The Friends of Muenster FFA, FCCLA, and 4-H would like to thank the patrons listed below for their generosity and support of our youth at the Cooke County Youth Fair. This year, a total of $29,200.00 was spent on the students of Sacred Heart and Muenster ISD who participated in the Youth Fair. This money is spent completely on premiums for their projects.

We hope you had an opportunity to attend the Youth Fair this year and see the hard work and dedication these students have for their animals and projects. You would know that the money you contributed went to a very great cause - the youth of our community.

Thank you, again, for your contributions. It is people like you who make this a success!

KEEP MUESTER BEAUTIFUL YARD OF THE MONTH for the month of March was awarded to Peggy and Wayne Grewing who live at 451 W. Sixth Street. An especially bright spot in their yard this Spring has been the colorful tulips dancing in the March breezes. Peggy planted tulips and pansies in raised beds that she created around two trees in the backyard. One was put in two years ago and the other last Fall. There are also pots of plants around trees and on the patio. There are purple plumbago, strawflowers, hibiscus, pink geraniums, purple petunias, and Boston ferns. Trees include ash, Bradford pear, and in the front, live oaks. Their shrubs are wax leaf ligustrums and nandinas. Wayne keeps the St. Augustine yard mowed, edged, and trimmed, and cares for the shrubs. Peggy plants and cares for the flowers which she noted are her new hobby. To nominate someone for Yard of the Month, call the Muenster Enterprise at 759-4311, Muenster Chamber of Commerce at 759-2227, or contact any KMB member. Janie Hartman photo

Public invited to hear author Carrell at NCTC writing awards

Author Jennifer Lee Carrell will deliver the featured address at this year's awards ceremony capping the 45th Annual Creative Writing Contests sponsored by North Central Texas College, and the event is open to the public at no charge.

The ceremony will begin at 11 a.m. on April 15 in the Little Theater on the NCTC Gainesville Campus.

"We're always excited to continue our tradition of having a noted author speak to our award winners," said Gabrielle Fletcher, contest director and English professor, "but this year's speaker is a genuine 'triple threat.' She's not only successful as a writer of both popular fiction and historical nonfiction, but is also a recognized Shakespearean scholar."

Carrell's first thriller, Interred with Their Bones, is an international bestseller, translated into 28 languages. She is also the author of The Speckled Monster, a work of historical nonfiction about battling smallpox at the beginning of the 18th century, which USA Today cited as being written "in a compelling, almost novelistic, voice."

A resident of Tucson, the author earned a doctorate in English and American literature from Harvard, as well as other degrees in English Literature from Oxford and Stanford universities.

She won three awards for distinction in undergraduate teaching at Harvard, where she taught in the History and Literature Program and directed Shakespeare for the Hyperion Theatre Company. The author will be available after the awards ceremony to sign copies of her books.

The NCTC writing contests offer aspiring amateur writers of all ages in Texas and Oklahoma the chance to have their work critiqued by professionals, to have it published, and possibly to earn them special recognition and cash prizes.

For more information, contact Fletcher by e-mail at gfletcher@nctc.edu.

5th Number Sense, and 8th overall Top Gun.

Lauren Rohmer - 7th Math, 3rd Calculator, 8th Science, and finished 6th top gun; Brooke Walterscheid - 9th Math, 7th Number Sense, and 13th overall Top Gun.

JUNIOR
Rishi Patel - 8th Number Sense, 4th Math, tied for top Physics, and placed 5th overall in the Top Gun award.

SENIOR
Shane Presnall - 4th Number Sense, 13th Calculator, 9th Math.

Muenster is gearing up for District UIL which will take place on March 31 in Bonham. Muenster's Math and Science teams will be in full swing and ready to compete with a complete full team next week.

Nortex offers rural scholarships

In an effort to encourage higher education in rural America, Nortex Communications is excited to announce two scholarship awards of $1,000 and $500 to be awarded for the 2011-12 school year.

Eligibility and application criteria were mailed to all area high school principals and counselors, or you can find more information at www.nortex.com. Nortex has always maintained that community involvement and the advancement of youth is an important objective in the company. Seniors, take this opportunity to excel towards your future goals.

All applicants must:

- Be a graduating high school senior;
- Receive their local service from Nortex Communications;
- Be enrolled in an accredited two-year or four-year college or university, or vocational-technical school;

- Have at least a "C" grade point average.

The application requests a 300 word essay discussing the applicant's professional and personal goals and objectives, a brief description of the applicant's plans after school, and how the scholarship would be used to attain the goals and objectives. In addition to the essay, applications will only be considered with full completion of the Educator's Recommendation form, submission of a sealed letter of recommendation from a local community leader, a recent transcript with a list of community/school activities, and a photo head shot.

Applications must be received at Nortex Communications, 205 N. Walnut

St., Muenster, Texas 76252 (send to the attention of Carolyn McPherson). An extension has been made, and the scholarship must now be postmarked no later than April 8.

Eliminate impossible, Nortex endorses excellence and opens the door to opportunity.

Educator Spotlight

Carolyn Lutkenhaus Muenster ISD

Carolyn Lutkenhaus is completing her fourth year at Muenster ISD. Prior to her current position as High School Math Teacher, Carolyn taught at Callisburg before spending several years out of the classroom to raise her 5 children. When returning to education, she taught Developmental Math at NCTC for 4 1/2 years and Math at Gainesville JH for 4 years. In addition to her expertise as a Math teacher, she is a coach for UIL and TMSCA calculator applications. Carolyn enjoys looking for contestants who are competitive, responsible, self-motivated, and who like to take their math experience to a higher level by learning new skills with calculators. She enjoys seeing her students succeed and is always eager to assist them through extra help before or after the regular school day. Thank you Carolyn for caring so much about our students at MISD!

Pilot Point and Liberty win Sacred Heart golf tournament

Sacred Heart held their annual Invitational Golf Tournament on Monday at Turtle Hill Golf Course. The Pilot Point Bobcats and the Lady Warriors of Liberty Christian took home top team honors. The Sacred Heart Tigerettes finished in 2nd place.

In the girls division, Liberty finished with 379. Sacred Heart followed with 403. Lindsay tied for 4th at 415.

Shelby Ratliff led the Tigerettes with a 93 score. Elizabeth Turner scored 107, Devan Henry 102, Lindsay Miller 101, and Sarah Miller 108. Individually, Madison Dugger finished with a 107.

The Lady Knights' team score was 415. Anna Hogan finished with a 99. Katelyn Weber scored 108, Kayla Davis 103, and Macy Perry 105. Best individual girl's score was 77.

Pilot Point's boys team scored 342 for the championship. The Lindsay Black team finished in 11th place with a 388 score, with the White Knights following in 12th with 392.

The Black team was led by Madison Parkhill and Austin Hermes who both scored 96. Jordan Lane hit a 97, Cody Thurman 99, and Neely Rose 102.

Dawson Holt's score of 93 was tops for the White team. Chisam Reiter scored 99, Travis Skinner and Chris Klement 100 each, and Drew Cooney 102.

The Sacred Heart Tigers settled for a 15th placing with a 400 score. Austin Miller had 96 strokes, Michael Davis 98, Isaac Barnhill 102, Jordan Henscheid 104, and Cooper Edleman 105. Low score for the boys was 67.

Turtle Hill will be the location for the TAPPS Dist. 1AA North Championship Golf Tournament on Tuesday, March 29. Muenster and Lindsay will compete at the Hill in District on Monday, April 4.

More Lady Hornets honored

Three members of the Muenster Lady Hornet Basketball team were named to the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches (TABC) All-Region Team - Taylor Klement, Demi Koelzer, and Lana Heers. Klement also made the TABC All-State Team. Muenster Coach Jason Atcheson was selected as an assistant coach for the Texas Girls Coaches Association All-State Game in July. TK will be a member of that team.

Let's go Fishing

How to use a fishing rod

Rods are basically made from carbon. Plastic, composite carbon combined with Kevlar, which is a kind of material that is bullet proof, or just high carbon. The carbon's force and strength in connection to its mass is light, making it strong material that can allow thinner fabrication but still is able to keep the span and length. A rod that is lighter evidently handling will be easier, controlling it would be less tiring on one's arms and reduces resistance to air giving one an easier time accurately casting it, particularly on windy days.

Rods come in silicon carbide, hard chrome, or ceramic rings having a function of letting the line pass through. These are precisely used because of their smoothness having the function to minimize friction when passing through the line and keep the maximum strength. Silicon materials are in fact costly, so an alternative is to bring into play ceramic rings like Zircon which when taken into account, are not as tough or as light, but are much more cost effective. Rings made of chrome are better, although every season they require replacement, they do deliver an excellent job of line running. At least 13 rings are needed from the handle all through the tip, lesser near the handle, needing more close to the tip. The line can fasten itself to the rod, if you don't have enough rings.

When determining length of the rod, you want to take into account exactly what kind of fishing you want. If you want far out fishing, in that case choose a larger rod as this will offer you better control when you are playing the fish. If you are planning to go fishing in an area that is enclosed, you will need a shorter rod. Normally, the safe rod size to choose is 13' (3.9m). This is lengthy enough for a waggler but does not cast out too far.

Handles

Handles are made from either cork or foam. Whichever you choose, this is a matter of preference. Just try handling both materials so you can have a good "feel" before buying it.

Action

Action is the term used in describing how the rod will bend when it is placed under the lot of strain and effort of a fighting fish.

There are two types of tips on a rod, the hollow and spliced tips. Hollow tips are good in catching carp, tench, and chub which have a progressive or developing action making it sharp for quick bites, yet proficient enough to manage long distance strikes. Spliced tips are normally spliced to the end with two feet solid carbon. This rod is sharper, so it is a good pick for fast acting fish.

When choosing a rod, these questions will help you pick the right one:

1. How frequently and where do you fish? Are you a beginner, a weekend warrior, or a tournament pro? If you are just starting out, you may need to budget and spend less money on your first rod. Once you learn the techniques and once you have decided that fishing is for you, that is the time to spend on more specific rods.
2. Freshwater or saltwater fish? While there are a few rods that can be used for both fresh and saltwater fish, most rods are made for a specific purpose and application.
3. Spinning or casting? The species that you choose to chase will determine it.
4. Power, sensitivity, and your technique. The rod should match the way you enjoy fishing. If you like to fish with lures, then you should look for a rod that is comfortable enough to cast frequently all day long.

The best lures for fishing

The evolution of fishing gear and accessories along with the development of the bass fishing industry brought about the development of various lures specifically used for different fish species.

There are many types or classes of lures and they all depend on what type of fish works for them. Many only work for specific types, but some cover a wide range of species of fish.

Below are some of the typical lures used for fishing.

Light standard casting lures

For standard casting lures, they are mostly able to attract a wide range of fish varieties from albacore, bluefish, Bonita, oho, and crappies. These lures are also excellent for certain species of bass fish and work best when retrieved from water at low to medium speed. They pass through water with undetectably synthetic material.

Their sizes are excellent for lightweight fish and a host of freshwater species. They range from 1/16 oz. to 3 oz.

The hand-painted eye is enticing enough to allow schooling of fish. This feature allows for more chances of trapping one of the target fish in the water.

Heavy standard casting lures

Heavy standard casting lures are excellent for quite heavy fish specifically, walleye and bass. While the lightweight lures are used in most circumstances, it was shown that heavy counterparts provide more reliable fishing output.

Moreover, the heavy standard lures are able to catch fish than diamond and light standard casting lures.

Long casting/jigging lures

Perhaps the most popular among the fishing lures are the long, tapered jigging lures. They are perhaps the most commonly used fishing lures among the fishermen in Florida, Mississippi, and Louisiana.

Just recently, it was found out that the long casting lures work best for catching trout and pike. They were also found to effectively catch stripers and bluefish. They can catch tuna and walleye in a breeze!

Unlike heavy standard lures, this gear won't produce good fish-catch output up to 180-200 feet under water, but be sure to effectively match your lure color, bait, and related accessories to maximize performance.

Deadly diamond lures

These lures are one of the smallest, with sizes ranging from 1/8 to 1 oz. They can seamlessly attract attention among fish and could form a school of fish in a minute!

The reason is, it lies on its structural surface formation and cut. The top handle is cut like a diamond and causes the reflection of light striking on its surface. The diamond lures are best for catching bass fish varieties, crappie, and stripers, although they work on a small range of fish species.

Lady Knight Softball

Lindsay over Bowie
The Lady Knights played their final pre-district game on March 16 against Bowie and came away with a 4-1 win. Taylor Atkins hit 2 over-the-fence home runs to lead Lindsay to victory.

Offensively the Lady Knights had nine hits. Defensively they committed no errors.

Scoring for Lindsay were Erin Copeland, Kayla Davis, and Atkins.

Atkins on the mound faced 29 batters, allowing 1 run, 7 hits, 1 walk, and 4 strikeouts.

Lady Knights softball

The Lady Knights got a big District win last Friday against the State-ranked Chico Lady Dragons by a score of 14-4. Lindsay pounded out nine hits, with two being over-the-fence home runs by Megan Caillier.

Getting runs were Taylor Atkins, Caillier, Alyx Ethington, Bethani Eberhart, Elizabeth Zwinggi, Kassidy Gum, Erin Copeland, and Renee Morrison.

Lady Knights # 6 in State

A big win over the State-ranked Chico Lady Dragons Softball team last week boosted the Lady Knights to the #6 place in the Texas Girls Coaches Association State Softball Poll. Chico dropped to #7. Malakoff Cross Roads is ranked #1 and Windthorst #5.

Lady Knights over Valley View

The Lady Knights took a 21-0 victory over the Lady Eagles of Valley View Tuesday for their second District win.

Ranee Morrison faced 13 batters, struck out 7, and allowed 1 hit from the mound. Earning runs were: 3 each by Alyx Ethington, Erin Copeland, Morrison, and Taylor Atkins; 2 runs apiece by Bethani Eberhart and Megan Caillier; with Elizabeth Zwinggi, Elizabeth Wallace, and Rachel Fuhrmann each scoring 1.

Knights win three

The Knights defeated Savoy last week Tuesday 21-4. Lindsay scored 19 runs in the first two innings and coasted to victory.

Last Friday, Muenster came to town. The Knights scored 5 runs in the bottom of the 7th to come away with an 8-7 District win.

With a 3-4 score heading into the 7th, Muenster got 3 runs in the top of the inning for a 3-7 score. A lead-off triple by Travis Skinner, followed by a triple from Dylan Hughes made the score 4-7. Two walks loaded the bases.

Madison Parkhill delivered a 2 run single to close the score to 6-7. A single by Tanner Kuhn reloaded the bases for Trevor DeBorde to hit a 2-run single to make the score 8-7.

The Knights improved their baseball season to 10-5, 4-0 in District, after a 17-0 victory over Saint Jo Tuesday.

At the plate, Travis Skinner was 3 of 5, Dylan Hughes 2 of 4, Tyler Hundt 3 of 3, and Todd Bezner 2 of 3 with three big RBIs early in the game.

Wholesale food prices up 1.6%

Wholesale prices jumped last month by the most in nearly two years due to higher energy costs and the steepest rise in food prices in 36 years. Excluding those volatile categories, inflation was tame.

The Labor Department said that the Producer Price Index rose a seasonally adjusted 1.6% in February -- double the 0.8% rise in the previous month. Outside of food and energy costs, the core index ticked up 0.2%, less than January's 0.5% rise.

Food prices soared 3.9% last month, the biggest gain since November 1974. Most of that increase was due to a sharp rise in vegetable costs, which increased nearly 50%. That was the most in almost a year. Meat and dairy products also rose.

Energy prices rose 3.3% last month, led by a 3.7% increase in gasoline costs.

Separately, the Commerce Department said home construction plunged to a seasonally adjusted 479,000 homes last month, down 22.5% from the previous month. It was the lowest level since April 2009, and the second-lowest on records dating back more than a half-century.

The building pace is far below the 1.2 million units a year that economists consider healthy. There was little sign of inflationary pressures outside of food and energy. Core prices have increased 1.8% in the past 12 months.

Still consumers are paying more for the basic necessities.

Gas prices spiked in February and are even higher now. The national average price was $3.56 a gallon, up 43 cents, or 13.7%, from a month earlier, according to the AAA's Daily Fuel Gauge. Rising demand for oil in fast-growing emerging economies such as China and India has pushed up prices in recent months. Turmoil in Libya, Egypt, and other Middle Eastern countries has also sent prices higher.

But economists expect the earthquake in Japan to lower oil prices for the next month or two, which should temper increases in wholesale prices in coming months. Japan is a big oil consumer, and its economy will suffer in the aftermath of the quake. But as the country begins to rebuild later this year, the cost of oil and other raw materials, such as steel and cement, could rise.

Oil prices fell sharply as fears about Japan's nuclear crisis intensified. Oil dropped $4.01, or 4%, to settle at $97.18 per barrel on the New York Mercantile Exchange.

Food costs, meanwhile, are rising. Bad weather in the past year has damaged crops in Australia, Russia, and South America. Demand for corn for ethanol use has also contributed to the increase.

Prices rose 1% for apparel, the most in 21 years. Costs also increased for cars, jewelry, and consumer plastics.

Aflatoxin remedy approved for Texas corn

Aflatoxin is a major concern for Texas corn producers, but a new atoxigenic tool has been approved to protect Texas corn crops from devastating contamination. Effective immediately, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has approved the product AF 36 for use in Texas and Arizona.

AF 36 has been tested in Texas corn fields since 2006 as part of U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) research trials by Peter Cotty, Ph.D. and with support from the Texas Corn Producers Board (TCPB). In field trials, the product reduced aflatoxin to 20 parts per billion, while neighboring untreated fields registered at 300 parts per billion. AF 36 joins AflaGuard® from Syngenta® as another option for fighting aflatoxin.

More information about AF 36 is available on the Texas Corn Producers Board website, www.texascorn.org.

AG TALK

My oh my, I need a chicken fry

I love a good chicken fried steak (CFS). It's a uniquely Texas experience and I must admit, I've never had a good one outside of the Lone Star State. Sadly, I think, the heyday of the good chicken fry is over. I'm itchin' to have a good CFS experience.

I guess I was just spoiled growing up. Mom made chicken fried steak at least once a week and it was one of my favorite meals. I improved on mom's recipe and as far as I'm concerned, I'm a legend in my own mind when it comes to CFS.

But making a good CFS is a messy proposition and to tell you the truth, I don't want to clean it up. So I don't cook it anymore.

Way back longer than I like to remember, a good chicken fry was as common as an old shoe. Walk into any small town café and you knew you were in for a good eating experience.

Unfortunately, today, most CFS taste like an old shoe. I think the decline started with flash frozen hamburger patties masquerading as chicken fried steak back in the '60s or early '70s.

The trend for mouthwatering CFS has decelerated from there.

- Today, you know you're in for a bad CFS experience when:
- The steak comes out swimming in gravy.
  - The enormous cut on your plate turns out to be two-thirds crust and one-third meat.
  - The crust shatters into a million pieces when you put the fork to it.
  - The meat has the consistency of a rubber band.

A good chicken fried steak is made of top round steak. Prepared properly, it is fork tender or close to it. The breading should complement the meat, molding and flexing with the cut, instead of shielding it in a hard case. CFS should not be cooked immersed in oil in a deep fryer. It should be pan fried. It should be served with real cream gravy, made with drippings, on the side.

I experienced an especially memorable CFS during my first newspaper job at Nocona. I was traveling back from Muenster one night with one of my buddies and he suggested we stop at this hole-in-the wall between Saint Jo and Nocona on Highway 82. Can't remember the name of the place, but it was just off the highway, perched on top of a hill. You parked alongside the road and walked up. At the top of the hill was a one-room shanty, maybe two or three tables. You could look into the kitchen as the two elderly women hand-breaded the steak, plopped it in a big cast iron skillet, and fried it to perfection.

Delicious. They don't make places like that anymore. At least I can't find them.

Can you help me achieve CFS nirvana once again? Tell me where I can find a good chicken fried steak!

Court rules against EPA livestock regulations

The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled that federal livestock regulations, set by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in 2003, could not require producers to hold Clean Water Act permits unless their farms actually discharged livestock manure into U.S. waters. American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF), the National Pork Producers Council, and a host of other agriculture organizations applauded the Court's decision.

"For the second time a U.S. Court of Appeals has ruled that EPA's authority is limited by the Clean Water Act to jurisdiction over only actual discharges to navigable waters, not potential discharges," said AFBF President Bob Stallman. "We are pleased that the federal courts have again reined in EPA's unlawful regulation of livestock operations under the Clean Water Act. The Court has affirmed that EPA, like other federal agencies, can only regulate where it has been authorized by Congress to do so."

Under the ruling, concentrated animal feeding operations (CAFOs) that do not release manure into federal waters do not need permit coverage. However, CAFOs without the appropriate permits that do unlawfully discharge should be held liable under the EPA's Clean Water Act.

The Fifth Circuit ruling stated, "The CWA provides a comprehensive liability scheme and the EPA's attempt to supplement this scheme is in excess of its statutory authority."
