Capt. Russell Fette flies in formation over Aggies vs. Gators ball game

By Janet Felderhoff
On Saturday, Sept. 8 during the Texas A&M Aggies versus Florida Gators game at Kyle Field, Muenster native Captain Russell Fette took part in a flyover. The flyover consisted of a four aircraft formation of A-10 Thunderbolt IIs, commonly known as Warthogs.

According to Capt. Fette, the formation was led by Lt. Col. Jennifer Short, the commander of the 358th Fighter Squadron based at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base in Tucson, Arizona. Besides Fette, the other pilots were Maj. Daniel Morrissey and Capt. Aaron Cavazos (TAMU '05), and Capt. Russell Fette. An additional pilot, Maj. Neal Sheeran (TAMU '95), provided ground support to precisely time the flyover with the final notes of the National Anthem. Fette noted that after the flyover, they landed at Easterwood and took the short drive to Kyle Field and were able to watch the majority of the game.

"We flew the jets in on the Thursday prior to the game and based them at Easterwood Field," noted Fette. "On Friday, we provided static tours of the aircraft for members of the TAMU Corps of Cadets, and on Sunday, we provided additional tours for the public. We flew back home on Monday."

Among spectators at the game were Capt. Fette's granddad Col (Ret.) Robert Gosney (TAMU '54) and his wife Jean, his parents David (TAMU '74) and Pam (TAMU '76) Fette, as well as other family and friends. Russell's wife Carrie and three children Annabelle, Adeline, and Benjamin were unable to attend and watched from home.

Capt. Fette explained, "I am currently an A-10C Instructor Pilot and Flight Examiner stationed at Davis Monthan AFB. Last year, I contacted Texas A&M and told them we had several grads and family members of graduates at Davis-Monthan who would be more than willing to execute the flyover. Texas A&M formally requested the Air Force send us for the flyover, which is used as a recruiting aid. Timing initially conflicted with real world operations but Texas A&M shifted their schedule and emphasized that members of the Corps of Cadets were passionate about bringing the A-10 back to A&M. Capt. Cavazos picked up the lead on the coordination and I handled the flight planning."

Among the fans at the game who reported seeing Fette's flyover was John Flusche and his wife Jacque.

A family trip to an air show at Alliance Airport kindled Russell's desire to pilot planes. He noted that he was

Giving the gift of life comforts donor's family

By Janet Felderhoff
Conversation between a mother and her young daughter on their way to work and school one morning changed the lives of a number of people years later. A billboard promoting organ and tissue donation sparked the discussion.

Celeste Contreras saw the billboard and said, "Mom, I would do that. I would want to donate my organs if anything happened to me." Later, when Celeste died at the age of 15, her parents Juan and Terri Contreras knew the answer to the question, "Do you want to donate your daughter's organs?"

Terri remarked, "Although her Dad and I were devastated when she died, we knew donation was her wish."

That was 10 years ago.

On Oct. 24, 2002, Laura Taylor, then 16 years old, received Celeste's liver - a gift that saved Laura's life and vitalized her health. Since that time, Laura and her parents Steve and Doreen Taylor of Muenster have sent messages to the donor family about twice a year. About eight years later, the Contreras responded. Until recently, they had not met and did not know each others' names. Donor families and organ recipients remain anonymous. If both parties choose to meet at some point, it is arranged through the hospital's donor program. All correspondence is channeled through the donor program also. The Contreras and Taylor families' correspondence went through LifeGift.

Laura is the only organ recipient whom the Contreras have met. Terri said, "Others have chosen not to meet or LifeGift has lost track of them."

Terri described her daughter, "Celeste was 15 when she passed. She was an artistic and very caring person. She was a Mexican folklorico dancer since the age of eight years old. She enjoyed art, dancing, and acting. She was a huge supporter of animal rescue causes and volunteered at a local animal shelter."

Laura was born without the main bile duct in her liver. "That disease is called biliary atresia," explained Laura. "When you are born without your main bile duct, your bile can't flow through the way it needs to, so they built a fake one. That lasted about 14 years and I started having a whole bunch of issues when I was about 13 or 14. Then I was on the transplant list for a couple of

Laura noted that she has only one kidney. "You can live without both of your kidneys, but there is no way you can live without your liver." She remembers when her liver was failing. She was sleeping her life away. She slept through class at school. "I was always tired and I went to bed immediately when I got home. I hardly ate anything. My parents were ecstatic when they could get me to eat something because I just wouldn't eat. It (the liver) really does control almost your whole body - how you feel, your weight, your hormones. Your liver takes care of your whole body for you. It digests your food and if that's not working right then you just can't function right."

"...putting my hand on Laura's side (where Celeste's liver now lives) took my breath away. I will never forget that moment." Terri Contreras

Laura talked about the difference receiving Celeste's liver made in her life. She said, "Before the transplant, I was very sick. I slept all the time. I never felt good. I was sick, jaundiced, I lost a bunch of weight. I never felt good. And after I had the transplant, it took a couple of months to get over, but ever since then I never have any issues and I feel better than I ever have in my whole life. It changed my life!"

Her mother, who is a nurse, confirmed Laura's declining health. She said, "In the last two years before the transplant, she was always very sick. We were always doing home IV antibiotics and we were always going to the doctor. I wouldn't let her out of a kid, but that event changed his life. He recalls, "I got to ride back to Muenster in a Cessna and from that point I was pretty hooked. It's all I really wanted to do from then, I actually ended up going to the Air Force Academy instead of Texas A&M simply because it was a better chance at getting a pilot slot from the Academy."

Russell commented on his career and service choices, "After about two years of pilot training and Introduction to Fighter Fundamentals, I finally got to fly my first sortie in an A-10 at Davis Monthan Air Force Base in Tucson, Arizona. The A-10 was my number one choice out of pilot training and also one of the most competitive choices due to the work the Warthog was doing in Afghanistan and Iraq."

"My family has a long history of serving in the Army. Both of my grandfathers (R.N. Fette and Bob Gosney), as well as my Dad (David Fette), served in the Army. The A-10 is a close air support fighter. In our community, we commonly train to the mantra, 'The mission is the 18 year old with a rifle.' The A-10, in close air support, is mobile artillery. We are on-call fire support for a bunch of, often very young, enlisted men who have found themselves in a fight bigger than they can handle. It is an exceedingly rewarding, and challenging, mission. It is also a chance to redeem myself for being an Air Force puke in an Army family."

Russell graduated from the Air Force Academy in 2003 and then got his MS in Systems Engineering from The George Washington University in Washington D.C. in 2005.

Russell grew up in Muenster. He attended Sacred Heart School, graduating in 1999.

Capt. Fette shared the following information about the aircraft he flew.

"The A-10 Thunderbolt II has excellent maneuverability at low air speeds and altitude, and is a highly accurate and survivable weapons-delivery platform. The aircraft can loiter near battle areas for extended periods of time and operate in low ceiling and visibility conditions. The wide combat radius and short takeoff and landing capability permit operations in and out of locations near front lines. Using night vision goggles, A-10 pilots can conduct their missions during darkness."

"Thunderbolt IIs have Night Vision Imaging Systems, or NVIS, goggle compatible single-seat cockpits forward of their wings, and a large bubble canopy which provides pilots all-around vision. The pilots are protected by titanium armor that also protects parts of the flight-control system. The redundant primary structural sections allow the aircraft to enjoy better survivability during close air support than did previous aircraft. The aircraft can survive direct hits from armor-piercing and high explosive projectiles up to 23mm. Their self-sealing fuel cells are protected by internal and external foam. Manual systems back up their redundant hydraulic flight-control systems. This permits pilots to fly and land when hydraulic power is lost.

"The Thunderbolt II can be serviced and operated from austere bases with limited facilities near battle areas. Many of the aircraft's parts are interchangeable left and right, including the engines, main landing gear, and vertical stabilizers. Avionics equipment includes multi-band communications; Global Positioning System and inertial navigations systems; infrared and electronic countermeasures against air-to-air and air-to-surface threats. And, it has a heads-up display to display flight and weapons delivery information."

"The Thunderbolt II can employ a wide variety of conventional munitions, including general purpose bombs, cluster bomb units, laser-guided bombs, joint direct attack munitions or JDAM, wind corrected munitions dispenser or WCMD, AGM-65 Maverick and AIM-9 Sidewinder missiles, rockets, illumination flares, and the GAU-8/A 30mm cannon, capable of firing 3,900 rounds per minute to defeat a wide variety of targets including tanks."

"It has a thrust of 9,065 pounds each engine; wingspan of 57 feet, 6 inches (17.42 meters); length of 53 feet, 4 inches (16.16 meters); height of 14 feet, 8 inches (4.42 meters); weight of 29,000 pounds (13,154 kilograms); fuel capacity of 11,000 pounds (7,257 kilograms); and speed of 450 nautical miles per hour (Mach 0.75)."

He said, "The question is, 'Did the comparison of PEIMS data to like information in annual financial report result in an aggregate variance of less than 3% of expenditures per fund type?' That's either you do or you don't. If you are less than 3% you get 5 points. If you are greater than 3% you get a zero."

After explaining the formula to figure that, Richerson said, "Being Chapter 41 with the windmills and oil, as long as that stays the same, we will never meet that standard. That's not necessarily a bad thing."

Paving Walnut Street in front of the new elementary building was discussed. It will cost the District $88,132 to pave. Once it is paved, the city takes responsibility for upkeep of the street. The Board voted to withdraw half of that amount out of designated funds. The remainder will be paid from the Bond money.

Estes to chair Agriculture, Rural Affairs and Homeland Security Committee

State Senator Craig Estes (R - Wichita Falls) was recently named as the chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Rural Affairs and Homeland Security by Lieutenant Governor David Dewhurst for the upcoming 83rd Legislative Session.

Senator Dewhurst said, "This new responsibility will complement Senator Estes' personal priorities and military presence in his District."

The Agriculture, Rural Affairs and Homeland Security Committee will maintain the focus it has had since Senator Estes' original chairmanship appointment in 2009 with an expanded emphasis on immigration and border security.

With this announcement, the Lieutenant Governor has signaled he is committed to continue our efforts in addressing illegal immigration and border security. These issues will be a priority during the upcoming legislative session.

"I am honored by Governor Dewhurst's appointment and the expanded responsibility I will be trusted with during this difficult session," Estes said. "Since the federal government has failed in its responsibility to secure our border and address the illegal immigration crisis, Texas must step in and correct the problem. We cannot have homeland security until we have true border security, and I look forward to working closely with Lieutenant Governor Dewhurst and my fellow Texas Senators to solve this problem."

TxDOT to install more "left lane for passing only" signs

The Texas Department of Transportation is installing additional "Left Lane for Passing Only" signs on all highways with a speed limit of 75 mph or higher. State law requires TxDOT to post these signs on highways where slower traffic is asked to stay in another lane.

"We want to make sure that travelers on our highways have a safe, efficient, and enjoyable trip," said Carol Rawson, TxDOT's Traffic Operations Division director. "Reminding the public that slower moving vehicles should use right lanes and that passing vehicles use left lanes will help improve safety on our highways."

Safety of the traveling public is always TxDOT's No. 1 priority.

my sight. I wouldn't let her go anywhere because I was worried about the esophageal bleeding and a lot of things. After the transplant, there was night and day difference in her health."

All parties concerned report that meeting each other turned out to be a positive experience. Terri described their feelings, "Wonderful. Although we knew Celeste's decision to be a donor was the right one - it was more confirmation to see Laura and how well she has done. Our family was thrilled to meet, and Doreen putting my hand on Laura's side (where Celeste's liver now lives) took my breath away. I will never forget that moment. I always feel Celeste is with us, but I really felt her presence that day, in that room."

"They were amazing," exclaimed Laura of Juan and Terri. "We had seen pictures of them before. We had done some research online. We figured out who they were and we looked up who their daughter was, so we knew a little bit about them. They didn't know anything about us. They were the nicest people in the world. I got to see pictures of Celeste. It was an amazing experience. They treated us like family."

Doreen Taylor agreed, "When we were finished talking with them, it felt like we knew them forever. They were wonderful people. They are so big into volunteering with the transplant awareness out in Lubbock."

When Terri and Laura met, Terri began to cry, Laura said. Terri said, "I thought you were going to look sick." Laura told her she was healthy. Terri said, "But you needed a transplant!" Laura explained that she got the transplant and wasn't sick anymore. "All weekend, she just could not believe how good I looked. She really didn't expect me to act and feel that good. She expected me to still be sick in some ways. I told her, 'Your daughter saved my life.'"

Following their introduction through mediators with LifeGift, the two families broke from the group and had dinner together and spent the remainder of the weekend visiting. On Sunday, they attended church with the Contreras who are also Catholic and attended a reception to meet some of their friends in the parish.

Terri added, "Being a donor family has been such a blessing through such tragedy. Volunteering with LifeGift, promoting organ/tissue donation, meeting other donor families and recipients has given us so much comfort and healing. Meeting Laura and her family has made it more clear that donation was the right choice for our family. We know Celeste and her legacy live on. Now that Juan is on the transplant waiting list, it has come full circle. We pray every day for Juan's ultimate donor and his/her family. We feel donation was the right choice for us and take every chance we get to promote it to anyone that will listen."

Laura advocates organ donation, "A lot of people are skeptical. Organ donation is a wonderful thing." Some concerns she has heard include that the donor's organs would be harvested before they are pronounced dead, which is not true. "I just wish that more people would donate. It's wonderful and I would not be alive today if this young lady hadn't donated her organs."

Doreen said, "Transplantation does work. Everybody should consider being a donor. The (Catholic) Church isn't against it. It saves people's lives. What would they do if they were in that situation? If their loved one, family member, or whoever needs a heart, liver, kidney transplant? The quality of life is so much different after."

In conclusion, Doreen commented, "To be able to donate somebody's organs in a time of your own sorrow, you have to be a very generous person."

Some time after the Contreras lost their daughter, Juan learned that he had liver damage and would eventually need a liver transplant. According to Terri, Juan has been on the transplant list for five years now. She remarked, "He does relatively well, but the fatigue can be overwhelming at times. He does have occasional esophageal bleeding (very common for transplant patients in waiting) that puts him in ICU and gives us quite a scare."

Terri concluded, "As most people, we never even thought of organ/tissue donation until we were faced with Celeste's death. I am so thankful she let her wishes be known to me before we were faced with the decision. It is so important for those who do support organ/tissue donation to let their wishes be known to their loved ones. Now, just a few days from the 10th anniversary of Celeste's passing - I know she is in heaven looking down at all of us with a smile."

ority. Agency leaders think the expanded use of these signs will allow highway users to reach their intended destinations more safely and without undue delay due to slower moving vehicles. This is more important than ever with an increasing number of Texas highways with speeds of 75 mph or higher.

sider highway travel to be the safest when vehicles are traveling at the same speeds," Rawson said. "The use of these signs will help ensure that vehicles traveling at the posted speed limit will not be impeded or forced to make excessive lane changes when encountering a slower vehicle."

TxDOT expects installation of approximately 3,400 new "Left Lane for Passing Only" signs to be completed by summer of 2013. The signs are enforceable and violators can be stopped and ticketed by law enforcement.

Creed, Taylor exchange vows in Sacred Heart Church

Lauren Creed of Muenster became the bride of Adam Taylor of Muenster on Saturday, July 14, at 2 p.m. in Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Muenster. Fr. Ken Robinson officiated for the Nuptial Mass and double ring vows.

The bride is the daughter of Kevin and Kathy Creed of Muenster. Her grandparents are Tommy and Ruth Knabe and the late Kerry and Kathleen Creed. Gertrude Voth is her great-grandmother.

Parents of the groom are Steve and Doreen Taylor of Muenster. His grandparents are Regina Pels and the late Henry Pels, Jr., and Lorena Taylor and the late Charles Taylor.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a blush, strapless, floor-length, satin ballgown with sweetheart neckline. It had a basque waistline and a corset back. The bodice was adorned with seed pearls and rhinestones. She wore a rhinestone and pearl tiara with an ivory, cathedral length veil embellished with scattered rhinestones.

For the traditional something old, the bride carried her grandmother Knabe's blue heart crystal rosary, which was entwined in her bridal bouquet. The rosary was a gift to her grandmother Knabe from her grandpa Knabe before they were married. The bridal bouquet created by Janie Taylor, groom's aunt, was of ivory roses, adorned with various pieces of rhinestone jewelry given to the bride by family and friends. Tucked inside were the senior rings of the couple.

The bride borrowed her mother's pearls. She wore a garter made by Lisa Erlandson, a friend of the bride's family, who made the garter from fabric taken from the bride's mother's and grandmother's wedding dresses.

Music was provided by vocalists Christy Hesse and Jarrod Creed, bride's cousin. They were accompanied by Isaac Davis.

Mass servers were Remington and Sky Creed, and Collin Knabe, cousins of the bride.

ATTENDANTS

Kami Creed of Muenster, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Kara Felderhoff of Muenster, friend of the bride, Laura Taylor of Muenster, sister of the groom, Kalyssa Pollard of Muenster, friend of the bride, Lauren Graham of North Richland Hills, friend, and Leah Knabe of Muenster, cousin of the bride.

The matron of honor was attired in a black taffeta, strapless, A-line dress with pleated bodice and beaded design at the hip. The bridesmaids wore identical black, strapless, iridescent, taffeta gowns with asymmetrical, pleated bodice accented with beading and A-line bustled skirts. The matron of honor and the bridesmaids carried small bouquets of pastel pink roses wrapped with matching ribbon and adorned with rhinestone picks.

Mrs. Adam Taylor
... 'nee Lauren Creed ...

Godchild of the groom Emma Bayer and niece of the bride Karli Creed were flower girls. Ring bearers were Jackson and Kameron Knabe, bride's Godchildren.

Nick Taylor of Denton served as his brother's best man. Groomsmen were friends Tony Koesler, Kyle Endres, and Tony Moster, all of Muenster, and brothers of the bride Mitch Creed of Muenster and Kristopher Creed of Denton.

RECEPTION

A formal reception, dinner, and dance was held in the Sacred Heart Community Center. Music was provided by the "Entertainer," brother of the bride.

Lisa Erlandson and Sarah Galvin attended the guest book. Guests signed quilt squares which will later be made into a quilt, a gift from the parents of the couple.

The bride's tiered strawberry cake had white frosting and light pin satin ribbon wrapped around the base of each tier. Pastel pink roses cascaded from the top to the bottom. Serving the cake were Molly Mangum, Alexandra Mangum, Kami Taylor, Kayla Taylor, and Chyenne Valentine, cousins of the groom.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of Steve and Doreen Taylor.

The bride is a 2008 graduate of Sacred Heart School, and attended North Central Texas College (NCTC) and Texas Woman's University. She is currently in the RN nursing program at NCTC and is employed at York Eye Associates.

The groom is a 2004 Sacred Heart School graduate. He attended NCTC and Texas State Technical College, graduating from there in 2008. He is employed by Cooke County Electric Cooperative.

Following a wedding trip to Jamaica, the couple is at home in Muenster.

His Godparents are family friends Doug and Vickie Fleitman. Attending the celebration were his parents; big brother Daniel; grandparents Jerry and Betty Rose Walterscheid and Pat and Debby Crowder of Collinsville; uncles, aunts, and cousins Doug and Leigh Walterscheid and Traci and Chris of Grapevine, Stephanie Erick and Kinslee of Pilot Point, Cody and Natalie Cross and Macy, Bailee, and Garrett of Crossroads; John Walterscheid and Abby and Lora of Muenster; Ashley Cho, the Walterscheid's exchange student from Korea; Godparents Doug and Vickie Fleitman and daughters Mikayla and Mikenzie. Machinators develop robot arm prototype

The Sacred Heart Machinators started their fourth week of Best Robotics. During this week, they were able to start building the prototype for the arm. With the arm, they will be able reach the balls, the fuel bottles, the solar panels, and the T-Structures. The arm will be capable of extending out, so that it will not have problems reaching further and maneuvering around the playing field.

Most of the components for the Robot are made with the C.A.D machine (Computer Aided Design machine). With the C.A.D machine, the team is able to make gears, brackets, and also parts for the claw. The Machinators plan on finishing the robot and will begin test driving it soon.

Firemen teach fire safety

In observance of Fire Prevention Week, the Primary Montessori and First Grade classes of Sacred Heart Catholic School went on a field trip to the Muenster Fire Station on Oct. 10. In their classes, the students are also learning about fire safety and prevention.

Topics covered by the firefighters in their presentation included what to do if they find matches, fire extinguishers, importance of smoke detectors -- have parents check the battery, call 911, and Get Out, Stay Out ... don't hide from the firemen. The children enjoyed trying on the firemen's protective gear and the opportunity to spray water from the firehose onto the street.

Muenster Volunteer Firemen participating in this educational and enjoyable presentation were: Fire Chief Herbie Knabe, Assistant Fire Chief Bert Walterscheid, Certified Training Instructor Ben Bindel, and volunteer firefighters Ronnie Walterscheid and Michael Gehrig.

Students were accompanied by their teachers and several parents as they enjoyed the short walk to the Fire Station on the nice fall morning.

Hornets start District with 58-0 victory over Electra

The Hornets of Muenster began District play last Friday night, hosting the Tigers of Electra. After dominating the 1st half, the Hornets ended the contest as 58-0 victors.

"Overall, the best game we played all year," noted Muenster Coach Brady Carney. "We scored on all three phases - offense, punt return, and fumble return." Carney also said the offensive line did a good job by making it easy for the running backs.

"Defensively, Andy (Flusche) had a really strong game and our safeties did a good job stopping their run." This was the Hornets first game that they were 100% healthy and Coach noted that it showed. "We still have things we need to get better at, including offensive penalties and a couple of defensive secondary mishaps."

Action began when Mason Binder returned the opening kick 23 yards to the 48 yard line. Trevor Hess gained 11, Binder 10, and Hess another 14 to the 17 yard line. After a flag, Hess scored from 22 yards out. Hunter Klement added the extra point for a 7-0 score with 9:32 on the clock.

The Tigers fumbled their punt return attempt. Andy Flusche covered the ball on the Electra 29. Muenster was unable to take advantage of the turnover, gaining only a yard.

Electra got in two plays, then threw an interception to Cole Walterscheid to the 1 yard line. Next play, Hess scored. Binder ran in the extra points for a 15-0 score with 7:26 remaining in the 1st period.

The Tigers got in a few good runs, but soon ran out of downs near midfield. The next play, Hess scored on a 49 yard run, and with 3:30 on the clock, the Hornets were up 21-0.

Muenster's defense held Electra to 6 yards. After the punt, runs by Steven Flusche and Binder got the ball to the 17 yard line. On 4th and 10 with 9 seconds on the clock, Klement booted a 34 yard field goal to increase Muenster's lead to 24-0.

Electra got in six plays before Hess intercepted a pass to give the Hornets possession on the Electra 45 yard line. Clint Sidwell ran for 39, followed by a 6 yard Binder touchdown run. The point after by Klement gave Muenster a 31-0 lead with 8:55 remaining in the 2nd quarter.

It was three plays, 4 yards lost, and a punt for the Tigers. From the Electra 46, S. Flusche ran for 13 yards, followed by 14 by Hess. A Binder to Hess pass completion found the end zone for 6 more points. Klement's PAT was good for a 38-0 score with 5:51 on the clock.

Electra worked the ball around midfield, unable to get a 1st down. From the Tiger 42, a Binder to Hess pass picked up 21 yards. The next play, Sidwell scored on a 21 yard run. The PAT failed for a 44-0 score with 2:46 remaining in the 1st half.

On their 33 yard line, Electra fumbled the ball. A. Flusche picked up the loose ball and returned it for another Hornet touchdown. Klement's PAT gave Muenster a 51-0 lead with 2:27 still remaining in the 1st half.

Electra took the 3rd quarter kick, gained only 4 yards, and punted. Colton Lang returned the ball 61 yards for a Hornet touchdown. Klement's PAT put the final point on the board, 58-0 with 9:33 remaining in the 3rd period.

It was three plays, no yards, and punt again for the Tigers, with Muenster gaining only a yard and also punting. Electra carried the ball into the 4th quarter. Trevor Muller and Austin Hennigan got in several runs, but the Tiger offense controlled the ball in the last period, running a dozen plays.

Next Action
 The Hornets travel to Perin-Whitt this Friday with hopes of sinking the Pirates for another District win.

"Watching them on film, they are a much improved team over last year," Coach Carney commented. "They have big kids up front on both lines. They have young, talented skill players. Overall a young team, but they don't play that way."

Kickoff is at 7:30 at Perin.

Tigers tackle Eagles, 20-6

The Tigers got another notch under the win column with a 20-6 District victory over the Lubbock Christian Eagles.

"I was very pleased with our defense shutting down Lubbock's running game and holding them to just 4 yards rushing," commented Coach Dale Schilling. "That put them into 3rd and long situations." Schilling praised the defensive line for pressuring the quarterback and the linebackers for playing very disciplined football. He was also pleased in the 2nd half how the Tigers controlled the clock with their running game.

Lubbock took the opening kick, but was unable to get a 1st down. A deflected pass by Hayden Schilling helped force a punt.

Runs by John Paul Hesse and Keith Metzler, and a Kason Reeves pass to Hesse got 27 total yards before the Tiger offense was forced to punt.

The Tiger defense held the Eagles to three plays and punt. On the next play, Sacred Heart saw a quarterback keeper by Reeves score on a 38 yard run. Reeves booted the extra point for a 7-0 lead with 5:47 on the clock.

The teams exchanged punts, then Luke Cochran covered a loose ball on the Lubbock 23 yard line. Hesse gained 8, a Reeves to Isac Walterscheid pass another 8, and Juan Salinas 2 yards before the Tigers ran out of downs.

Lubbock gained only 5 yards and punted. Two plays later, the Eagles picked off a Tiger pass as the 2nd period began. Unable to complete a pass, the Eagles were forced to punt. Metzler returned the ball 31 yards to the Lubbock 40.

Runs by Hesse, and Reeves passes to Walterscheid carried the Tigers to the 8 yard line. Another interception ended the drive.

The Tiger defense continued to hold the Eagles, forcing another punt.

Starting on their own 39, the Tigers fumbled, then held the Eagles on 4th down when Justin Brown sacked the quarterback. The teams again exchanged punts with no scoring the 2nd quarter for a 7-0 halftime score.

Omar Colmenero took the 2nd half kick at the Tiger 40. Three runs by Hesse gained 12 yards, Metzler picked up 12, and Hesse another 9. With 9:37 on the clock, Salinas scored on a 29 yard run. The PAT failed for a 13-0 Tiger lead.

The Eagle offense fought back, taking six plays to score from the 12. The PAT failed and Lubbock was on the board with 7:27 on the clock, 13-6.

It was three plays and punt for the Tigers, followed by nine plays for the Eagles before the Tiger defense got back-to-back quarterback sacks by Dylan Clure and Nick Zimmerer. An interference call kept the Lubbock drive going another four plays to end the quarter.

The Tigers opened the 4th on their own 35. Three runs by Hesse took the Tigers to the 48, with Salinas and Hesse continuing the drive to the Lubbock 40. Reeves ran for 16, followed by two unsuccessful runs. Reeves picked up 2 yards, then found Walterscheid the next play for a 24 yard touchdown pass. With 7:29 on the clock, Reeves' PAT gave the Tigers a 20-6 lead.

Lubbock's next snap ended with Schilling covering a loose ball. The next play, Sacred Heart fumbled it back.

The Eagles got in seven plays into Tiger territory, but soon ran out of downs. It was three plays and punt for Sacred Heart. Lubbock again moved against the Tigers, but the drive ended when Brown intercepted another Eagle pass on the Tiger 24. The game ended the next play with a knee.

TEXAS GAME WARDEN FIELD NOTES

Trespasser attacks game warden

Jan. 21, a Dallas County game warden was patrolling for night hunters in Hunt County when he spotted a subject trespassing at a barn and corral area. When Warden Bosecker approached the subject and told him he was under arrest, the man became belligerent and attacked him. Warden Bosecker arrested the subject and several cases are pending.

Thinking globally, violating the law locally

Trinity County Game Warden Randy Watts received a call from a landowner on Jan. 22 about hog hunters trespassing on his high fenced ranch. The landowner found a dog with a GPS collar and a few minutes later the hog hunters showed up to get the dog. The landowner asked the hunters how they got in the ranch. They stated the gate was open and they would leave it like they found it. After the hunters left, the landowner checked his gate. His lock was missing and a new lock was on the gate. The landowner knew the identity of one of the hunters. Game Warden Watts called the hunter and met with all the individuals on the neighboring property. Citations were issued to five hunters for trespassing.

Warden sinks boat theft plans

Fayette County Game Warden Calvin Harbaugh apprehended an adult and two juveniles in the act of stealing a 14-foot aluminum boat on Jan. 24. The boat had been chained to a tree on the edge of the Colorado River. The defendants had broken the lock, loaded the boat into the bed of a truck, and were about to drive off with it when apprehended.

Spotlighting arrest "illuminates" outstanding warrants

While conducting a nighttime patrol Jan. 22, Game Warden Harry Rakosky observed a vehicle intermittently shining a spotlight into area farm fields. A citation was subsequently issued. The next day, the court called the game warden to report that the subject had outstanding warrants. In response, the game warden went to the offender's residence, arresting him for 3rd degree felony intoxication assault and 1st

NCTC offers free youth baseball clinic

After the game, the Lions players will conduct a youth clinic on Darwin Field, teaching defensive positions and later joining the little-league players for a game where kids can try to hit home runs over the outfield fence.

The clinic and cook-out is open to ages seven to 13 and there is no cost involved.

Contact NCTC Head Coach Scott Harp for more information or to let him know you are coming so they can prepare enough food. He can be reached by email at sharp@nctc.edu.

Changes proposed to Texas cattle Trichomoniasis regulations

The proposed amendments to Chapter 38, "Trichomoniasis" reflected suggestions by an industry working group of cattle producers, veterinarians, and other stakeholders which meets annually to review the program. The Trich program helps protect Texas cattle from a venereal disease caused by protozoa that can cause abortions and infertility, resulting in economic losses for the producer. Diagnosis of the disease is made by laboratory testing of samples collected from bulls by veterinarians. The disease does not affect humans.

Although the rules have not been officially passed yet, the Commission will put in abeyance its existing rules and allow the following changes to take effect immediately. The TAHC will now accept tests run on samples "pooled" at an official lab, for both change of ownership and quarantine release. The veterinarian will still collect samples from individual bulls for submission to the laboratory, and the maximum acceptable pooled ratio will be 5:1. Upon receipt, the lab may combine up to five samples together if requested prior to testing.

"This change in protocol will result in substantial savings for Texas producers testing their bulls for this economically devastating venereal disease," stated Dr. Dee Ellis, Texas state veterinarian. Recent studies have confirmed that pooled sampling is acceptable to make the diagnosis while saving the producer considerable money.

A second significant change was also proposed. Diagnostic samples will now be accepted at the laboratory if submitted up to 120 hours (increased from 96 hours) from collection, if specific guidelines are followed by the submitting veterinarian to ensure the integrity of the sample. This will give veterinarians one more day to submit the samples to the lab, which is helpful to rural veterinarians with long distance shipping concerns.

Proposals were also made to amend Chapter 51 "Entry Requirements." Out-of-state bulls will also now be allowed to enter Texas using the 5:1 lab-pooled sample method described above. Further, the validity of Trich tests on bulls entering the state will be extended to 60 days from 30 days. These changes are intended as cost savings measures, as well as an attempt to help align Texas entry rules with other states requirements.

For more detailed information concerning the proposed Trich rules, visit www.taahc.state.tx.us or call 1-800-550-8242.

Farm kids? They're healthier

Farm kids are 30 to 50% less likely to develop allergies or asthma than their city cousins two European studies show as published in the New England Journal of Medicine.

That doesn't surprise me. Now no study should be taken as gospel, but the farm effect makes sense.

The theory is time spent outdoors - working with animals and farm dust and all the other activities involved in farm life - exposes farm kids to good bacteria and fungi, building up their immune systems and lessening their chances of getting sick. City kids, on the other hand, live fairly antiseptic lives, spending much less time outdoors and not getting the exposure to those good "bugs."

It's kind of like the "three-second rule" I lived by as a child. It was okay if you dropped food on the floor, picked it up and ate it as long as it hadn't been there over three seconds. And inside the house was reserved for bad weather. There seems to be magic in fresh air and good bacteria. And as my dad was fond of saying, "hard work never hurt anyone" either.

That's why country kids are healthier than their city cousins. That's the theory of the studies, anyway, and I'm sticking to it.

No oops about it!

More grain, less cotton next year?

High grain prices as a result of continuous drought in the Midwest could cause a potential shift in some Texas cotton acreage looking ahead to the 2013 crop year, according to Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service economists.

Dr. John Robinson, AgriLife Extension cotton economist in College Station, said you would have to look back six years to when the Lone Star State last saw a significant change in cotton acres.

Cotton prices are predicted to be in a tight range in the near term, although changes in world supply projections could trigger fluctuations. Producers can rely on options contracts to take advantage of price swings in both an up or down market.

"The last time we had a major reduction was over 20% in 2006-07 as a result of higher grain prices," he said. "Even though we don't grow a lot of soybeans, I hear stories of high sorghum prices that will tempt a lot of growers. I wouldn't be surprised to see our acreage drop down 20% to about five million cotton acres."

"There is the possibility, but it is limited," said Dr. Mark Welch, AgriLife Extension economist in College Station. "Grain sorghum in the High Plains is secondary if they have a failed cotton crop. Overall, cotton farmers are cotton farmers." The outcome of the 2013 wheat crop is the biggest question, Welch said, as prices continued an upward trend over the past three months. "If we get a bunch of rain, this could lead to a lot of opportunity," he said.

County Agent's Report

Protect your home from brown recluse spiders
Every year, I try to write at least one article about brown recluse spiders. They are a huge problem here in Cooke County. They are a common invader in our garages, out-buildings, and even in our homes. Control measures should be taken to protect those working and living within these buildings.

It's possible for the non-expert to identify the brown recluse spider. Look for a light brown spider, with slender legs extending over an area about the size of a quarter to a half-dollar. Two characteristics that help distinguish this spider from similar species include the dark violin-shaped marking on the back of the front portion of the body, and the semicircular, paired arrangement of six eyes.

Favorite hiding places for the spider is in storage areas such as closets, basements, and cellars. The spiders take shelter in boxes, stored clothing, shoes, under furniture, folded bedding, and in any other areas of clutter where it is dry and warm.

The mating season for the spider in Texas is from April to July, with spiderlings emerging after 24-36 days of incubation time. Because of this fact, most of the next year's spider crop should be hatched by autumn. That makes right now an opportune time to take action if you have a problem with the brown recluse.

Because of the seriousness of a brown recluse bite, the best solution to a household infestation may be to hire a professional pest control company. However, even though the brown recluse is difficult to control, they can be managed using a four step, integrated approach:

- Sanitation. Unnecessary clutter should be eliminated, spider webs removed from interior and exterior areas, and a thorough vacuuming should be undertaken around, under, and behind furniture.
- Residual sprays. Liquid insecticide sprays should be applied to the exterior foundation, eaves, closets, storage areas, and rugs, if necessary.
- Residual dusts. Insecticidal dusts should be applied in wall voids, attics, and inaccessible crawl spaces.
- ULV or aerosol sprays. An ultra-low volume (ULV) or aerosol treatment with pyrethrins or resmethrin is the final step in a complete spider control program.

One additional control tool is the use of sticky traps (the traps for rodents work ok, even better use the ones that are specifically made for brown recluse spiders). Recommendations are to set out a high number of these traps throughout the building. Place them in dark corners, under beds, and behind furniture along a wall. These traps will catch spiders, minimizing the number in the building, and they will help you to monitor your control methods - When you quit catching the spiders, you have made progress!

USDA changes release time for key statistical reports

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced that the National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS) and World Agricultural Outlook Board (WAOB) will begin issuing several major USDA statistical reports at 12 p.m.

EDT beginning in January 2013. The current USDA release time of 8:30 a.m. EDT will remain in effect until Jan. 1, 2013. USDA statistical reports affected are: World Agricultural Supply and Demand Estimates, Acreage, Crop Production, Grain Stocks, Prospective Plantings, and Small Grains Summary. The time for livestock reports currently released at 3 p.m. will not change.

Between June 8 and July 9, 2012, USDA sought public comment on the release times for several major statistical reports in response to changes in market hours by major commodity exchanges. Stakeholders submitted 147 comments through the NASS online response site and via letter and e-mail. The comments received may be viewed on the NASS website at http://www.nass.usda.gov/Newsroom/2012/Public_Comments_Release_Times.pdf.

USDA Chief Economist Joseph W. Glauber said the shift to a noon release "allows for the greatest liquidity in the markets, provides the greatest access to the reports during working hours in the United States, and continues equal access to data among all parties."
