Troop 86

Girl Scouts of Troop 86 and their leader Mrs. Urban Endres visited Muenster Telephone Co. office Wednesday afternoon as an "extra" of their regular meeting and learned about local and long-distance phone calls and operation of a switchboard.

Before their trip they met at the Endres home for a business session during which they heard a report on their cookie sales and planned a skating party for next Wednesday. They'll meet at the home of their leader at 6:30 and leave from there for Gainesville.

Eileen Endres was hostess for the afternoon and served ice cream bars.

Mollie Williams, 71, Once Cafe Manager Here, Dies Tuesday

Mrs. Mollie Williams, 71, who died at Gainesville Tuesday formerly lived in Muenster and is remembered locally especially for having operated a cafe here in 1927-1928.

She had been in the cafe business in Nocona before coming to Muenster and after leaving here ran a cafe at Myra and later one in Gainesville.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the George J. Carrol and Son chapel with Rev. W. D. Craig of Nocona officiating. Burial was in Fairview cemetery. Bearers were P. J. Rollmann of Muenster, Clyde Stiles, Rudolph Reiter, Jess Clark, Joe Hart and C. L. Faulkner of Gainesville.

Saturday Mrs. Fisher prepared dinner for Johnny, Roger and Mitchell Wolf and Wilbert Vogel in the boys' apartment and after that the Fishers went sight-seeing. It was Rosemary's first visit to the Battle-ship Texas and San Jacinto Monument. Saturday night they were supper guests of the Appel family.

She and the two boys have been living in Pemberton, N.J., and she is teaching at Fort Dix, four miles from Pemberton. Mickey is in the fifth grade and John is a first grader this year. Mike will return to Fort Dix for reassignment but they do not know where his new station will be.

Seventh and eighth graders at the public school recently finished hand made maps of Texas and the United States. Their work was based on the natural geographical divisions of the states with the products of each. Outstanding for its art work is the U. S. map of Jeanette Walterscheid. It is estimated that this project took 25 hours of Jeanette's leisure time. She received a grade of A plus for her efforts.

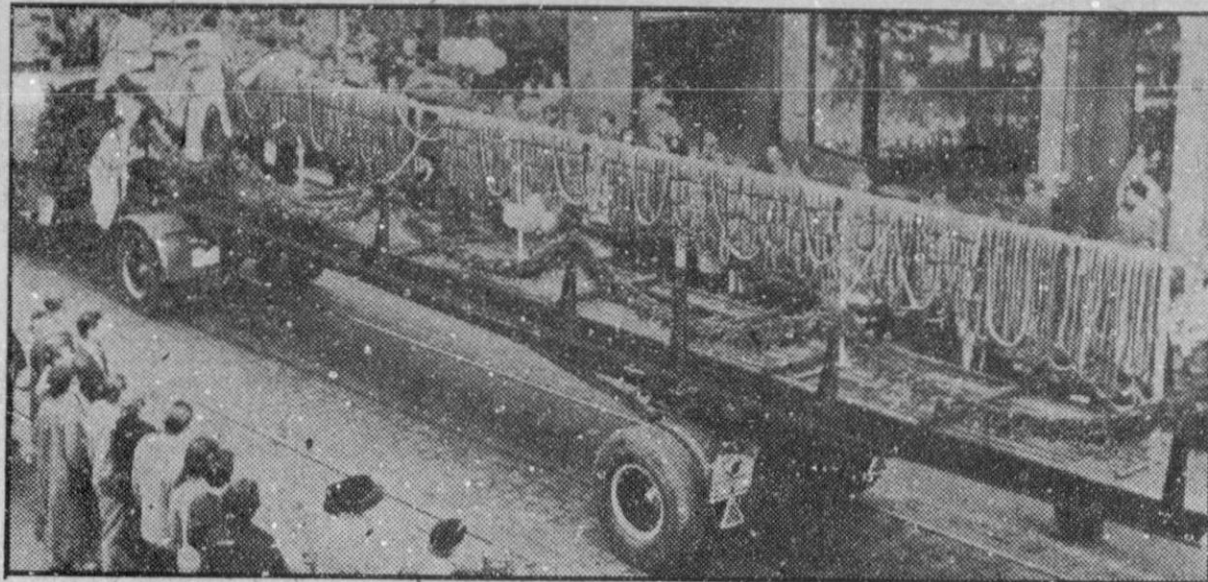

Rehearsals Progress On 'Darkest Hour' For Play Contest

Fred Savage and five of his English students at Muenster High are devoting quite a lot of time these days to rehearsals of the play they will present in the Interscholastic League contest next month.

Entitled "The Darkest Hour" the play is a thrilling mystery. The plot centers around John Madison, played by Larry Kathman, who is sentenced to die for a crime he didn't commit. Will the real murderer confess in time to save him from the electric chair?

Emma Fisher plays the mother, David Klement is the warden, Mary Pick is the condemned man's fiancée and Johnny Fette is the prison attendant.

The play is written by Charles George and copies of it were purchased from Samuei French, Publisher, New York.

BOCKWURST BANDWAGON—You never sausage a sight—a seemingly endless chain of German sausage on the back of this truck. Almost 2,000 feet long, the chain of bockwurst—3,000 links—represents five pigs, three young bulls and three calves. Weighing about 2,500 pounds, the bockwurst bandwagon was driven through Nuremburg, Germany, to commemorate the 80th anniversary of the city's Butcher Guild.

Operetta Chosen for Grade School Play

Grade school faculty members at the public school have selected an operetta, "Why The Gardens Quarreled" to be presented some time before school closes.

A school bus and Mrs. Rudy Hellman's station wagon furnished transportation to the Gainesville rink. Adults accompanying the youngsters were Mrs. Rudy Hellman, Mrs. John Hosea, Mrs. E. I. Dern and Hubert Richey.

After skating, the group went to a drive-in for refreshments.

Claude Lehnertz and Paul Hesse, stationed at the Kingsville Naval Air Base, spent the weekend with their folks, the Joe Lehnertz and Meinrad Hesse families. Paul was recently promoted to chief petty officer, third class.

PREFERENCE FOR NEWSPAPERS

Writing in Editor & Publisher, Philip N. Schuyler says: "A new coast-to-coast check of representative automobile dealers shows a continued preference for newspaper advertising. A vast majority of 344 dealers questioned . . . declared they put this local form of advertising ahead of all other media."

An editorial in the same issue of the same magazine refutes the claim that TV is dominant among young people. It cites a factual survey in which 39 per cent of 18 and 19 year olds questioned said newspapers are "hardest to do without," whereas only 18 per cent said the same thing about television.

Newspapers aren't only here to stay—they're still the leaders of all media.

The American Way

PIGGY-BACK RIDER

The Tennessee Industrial and Agricultural Development Commission has issued a document entitled: "Fourteen Reasons Why Manufacturers Can Profit More in Tennessee." If anything further were needed to hang TVA on the highest tree in the land—THIS IS IT.

One of the fourteen reasons is and we quote from the document: "Low-cost electric power is sold at standard rates throughout the State. Most of Tennessee is supplied with electricity from the vast TVA system of dams and steam plants, the largest integrated power system in the United States. Over the next two years, some 2½ billion KW will be available in the TVA region for industrial development. Generally, TVA power rates are 30 to 45 percent below the national average. . . . A recent study for a small northern manufacturer revealed that his annual power bill of $16,128 could be reduced to approximately $8,000 in Tennessee."

Qualified experts are on record that if TVA subsidies on cost of money and taxes were removed, TVA rates would have to be about doubled. This means that the people of the other 47 States are being taxed so that power can be sold in Tennessee at about half price.

How much longer are the citizens of these other 47 States going to permit this inequitable nonsense to continue? They can stop it, if they have the will to do so, by telling their representatives to get this piggy-back riding TVA off their backs.

BIOGRAPHY IN BLOOD

Armed with nuclear weapons, long-range missiles, a mighty air force and slave armies, the beasts of the Kremlin could conceivably destroy the world. But after Hungary, it is clear they can not conquer it! "For Hungary," writes James A. Michener, in the first book-length report on this fantastic outburst of oppressed humanity, "has laid bare the great Russians lie.

"After what the Russians did, after their destruction of a magnificent city, after their slaughter of fellow Communists, the world can no longer have the slimmest doubt as to what Russia's intentions are. The people in the satellite nations and in the uncommitted countries now know that Soviet Russia is their mortal enemy."

Pulitzer-Prize winning author Michener arrived in Rome on his way home from a round-the-world trip just as the unequal battle of Budapest began. He cancelled his passage to New York and rushed to Vienna and the Hungarian border where he fed and talked to hundreds who had fought in the streets and behind the barricades of Budapest and in the last stand of the patriots in the industrial plants on the island of Csepel. Night after night, at the risk of his life, he crossed "the bridge at Andau" (which gave him the title for his book) to guide refugees, lost in the Hungarian marshes, to the safety of Austria.

"The Bridge at Andau," condensed in the March issue of Reader's Digest, gives us the most comprehensive picture to date of the events of the apparently spontaneous rebellion of October 23rd to 29th, the five "victory" days — in which the freedom fighters believed they had won — and the massive Russian retaliation that began November fourth.

The Hungarian revolt, Mr. Michener points out, is the first "great test" of Communism in the satellite countries. It revealed that the rank and file of young people, indoctrinated in its beliefs, rebelled as did the stolid Marxist workers of Csepel; that young intellectuals who were being groomed and pampered and promised high offices in the system rejected it and stood with their countrymen to face torture and death. The Hungarian satellite army, "trusted soldiers of Communism," whose bellies were filled while civilian "comrades" starved, turned against their Red masters. And even Russian soldiers and officers revolted often enough to worry the Kremlin into importing Mongolian troops for the closing scenes of butchery.

But, while the author indulges in no predictions, it seems clear that what the world has witnessed has been only the first act. It is a drama that can not end with the score of 80,000 Hungarian dead to 8,000 Russians, nor one in which 2,000 tanks, 140,000 troops, massed artillery, jet fighters and even bombers could bring down the final curtain.

The bridge at Andau, too, was finally destroyed, says Mr. Michener. But there will be another—and another.

ARE YOU PRETTY ENOUGH?

Senator Neuberger has introduced a bill in the Senate that sets some sort of a record for irresponsible invasion of public rights. He wants the government to get the rights to great tracts of land — at public expense — to provide "scenic easements" along the roads.

In this way, he hopes to sponsor dainty highways that conform to his personal idea of what commercial roadways should be. He doesn't like the looks of free enterprise highways.

This impersonalized Dainty Highway would mean higher taxes for everyone by increasing costs and reducing revenue from businesses along the roads. Small businessmen everywhere would be squeezed out. Thousands would be unemployed, since highway business provides more than two million jobs.

Is it possible in America to close thousands of businesses because someone doesn't like their looks? We think not. Picture a bureaucrat walking into this community and saying: "Sorry, you're not pretty enough. You'll have to go."

Businesses aren't always works of art. Fertilizer makers, smoky factories, noisy mills, meat packers, curb markets; or newspaper print shops — each sometimes displeases eye and ear. But each also contributes mightily to an all-time-high economy. Each provides jobs, spends money locally, pays taxes. So do all the businesses along our highways.

Knowing this, our legislators will certainly kill any proposal based on an eccentric's misguided sense of highway daintiness.

A total of 250 million quarts of blood are moved during a lifetime of 70 years — almost enough to fill a large football stadium with blood.

George Washington Prayed for Peace

By Richard J. Cushing, Archbishop of Boston

WE HONOR George Washington as one of history's greatest soldier-statesmen. The fact is, he is much more than this.

When he led the colonial troops to battle, Washington had no nuclear weapons or guided missiles to hurl at his enemy. But he did have a secret weapon that helped him defeat the despotism that threatened our national freedom.

THIS GREAT military leader did not rely on arms alone. At Valley Forge, and throughout the American Revolution, he turned to God, seeking in Him a strength and courage he knew he could never discover in himself. He did this with the conviction that, since human rights and dignity come from God, it is to God that we must turn for their restoration.

George Washington was a man of prayer.

IT IS NEARLY 200 years since our nation, under the leadership of Washington, freed itself from the chains of political oppression. But the world today is faced with a problem similar to his. The Communists have already robbed many nations of their freedom and are threatening to extend their Godless regime throughout the whole world.

Americans find it hard to imagine how cruel Communist tyranny is. The smile that at times wrinkles the face of "Big Brother" makes us feel that the Reds are not too bad after all. But the slaughter in Hungary and the experiences of missionaries returned from prison camps behind the Iron Curtain tell a different story. They remind us that behind that warm grin beats a cold and ruthless heart.

Already the free people of the world have joined in efforts to stop this diabolical tyranny. To the extent that freedom loving people have united, it would seem that history is repeating itself. But this is not enough.

ONE THING still remains. Will the people of our time realize, as Washington did, the power of prayer in this struggle? Will we learn that besides the hydrogen bombs and guided missiles there is one more weapon without which victory can never be won? Will we turn to prayer?

Washington's prayers, offered to God in the midst of war, were for the preservation of the rights of the individual, who possesses a unique dignity as the image of God. He prayed for the protection of the oppressed against whatever violates their liberties. Our prayers today must be for these same things — that God's providence may restore them wherever they have been violated.

HISTORY CAN repeat itself. There is no tyranny so awful that it will not crumble beneath the arm of the All-powerful God. Will our fight for freedom be as prayerful as Washington's? It is up to you . . . and your prayers.

Pause For Reflection

with James C. Ingebreten, President, Spiritual Mobilization

A Bolivian tourist threw a stone at Da Vinci's Mona Lisa painting at the Louvre Museum in Paris the other day, shattering the protective glass and chipping the paint on the elbow of the famous lady.

Police sources reportedly said the man who threw the stone was jobless and had no money and that he had no motive in flinging the stone at the priceless painting other than getting jailed through the cold weather.

In connection with this incident, it was revealed that none of the Louvre's masterpieces is insured because, its officials say, "they are irreplaceable — you just cannot put a price ticket on them." The museum's guards and policemen provide the only insurance against depredations.

As I read this, I was reminded that there are some among us who are willing to destroy our priceless heritage of freedom if it will only get them to warm bunk and regular meals provided by the state. Moreover, you and I and other people who value liberty above physical comforts provide freedom's only insurance against depredations. How alert are we to the dangers that threaten it today?

We owe a great deal to our Government. The question is, how are we ever going to get the money to pay it?

Solution?

Then there was the traffic court judge who said, "I wish to commend you two drunks for running into each other instead of some innocent persons. If this sort of thing can be encouraged, we may solve a very serious problem."

TP&L Improves on Plan for Serving In Major Disaster

An enlarged plan to speed the work of restoring and maintaining electric service during a major disaster, including a possible atomic attack, has been worked out and is ready for use by Texas Power & Light Company.

In the event of an attack or a disaster, TP&L employees will be dispatched to seek out and repair or remove broken distribution lines and to repair major transmission lines in order to restore electric service as quickly as possible.

The plan calls for portable engine-operated generators, located at storage depots, to be moved in to supply service to water pumping plants, hospitals and civil buildings should central electric service be interrupted.

In connection with the plan, TP&L and many other electric utility firms in the Southwest are closely coordinating their civil defense activities and have formed a regional group that is coordinating its efforts with the United States Fourth Army, Interior Department and Civil Defense Department.

Hospitals in all communities served by the company are listed in the company's "Major Emergency Guide" together with the power demand of each. Similar data are listed on clinics and blood banks.

When a major emergency arises the TP&L general office dispatcher — always on 24-hour duty — will be notified and he will help to alert crewmen.

To avert traffic delays, company officials will telephone ahead to state highway patrol officers for help in escorting trucks and other vehicles through various towns. Cars and trucks equipped for radio communication also will be dispatched into affected areas.

A company disaster plan, although not on the scale of the one now developed, was used following the 1953 Waco tornado.

Within 15 minutes after the tornado hit Waco, TP&L crews had received orders to proceed to the city. Twenty crews were at work within hours, manning portable generators, repairing broken power lines, replacing wrecked transformer banks and broken poles and restoring electric service.

Plans similar to the one used in Waco have also been put in effect during ice storms in the TP&L area, but the new enlarged plan is designed to have TP&L better prepared to cope with any emergency that may arise.

Sacred Heart Kids Prepare Booklet on Community History

Third graders of Sacred Heart school have just completed an interesting history of Muenster. It's done in writing and pictures. The following poem, composed in class, by the entire student body, will give an idea of the topics studied and discussed in working out the unit. Sister Genevieve is the group's teacher.

MUENSTER

Thank You God, for day and night . . . For sunny skies above us bright . . . Thank You for our founder brave . . . Emil Flusche, now in his grave.

In 1839 he came . . . And there at the end of a narrow lane . . . He spied a telegraph pole so tall . . . "Muenster" he wrote on a paper small.

This he tacked upon the pole . . . Muenster was named by this great soul . . . Pioneers came and the sign they spied . . . They got off the train in great surprise.

They turned to Emil for advice . . . All their needs he realized . . . He called upon our Lord to care . . . For all his friends whose lot he shared.

If he could walk down main street now . . . Where Indians used to hold pow-wow . . . His heart would swell with honest pride . . . And tears of joy he could not hide.

Ben Franklin here — the milk plant there . . . Forgive him, friends, if he does stare . . . It must be quite a shock to see . . . Signs of such prosperity.

"Where is the little old white school . . . Where grandpa sat upon a stool?" . . . "Oh, Emil, that we have outgrown" . . . "Oh yes, of course. I should have known."

But not 'till he could see the plant . . . Of church and schools most elegant . . . Could he most fully comprehend . . . How God has blessed his fellowmen.

National Guard Is Seeking Beauty for Statewide Contest

Company C, 49th Recon. Bn., of the 49th Armored Division, Texas National Guard of Gainesville, is looking for the fairest of the fair to become Miss 49th Division of Texas.

The Cooke county unit is sponsoring a beauty contest on March 8 to select a young lady as its entry in the battalion contest in Fort Worth. The winner there will enter the division contest in Dallas.

The county contest requirements are as follows: the young lady must be single, between the ages of 17 and 24 inclusive, and must be available to go to Fort Hood. She must appear in both a bathing suit and an evening gown.

The company urges a large number of entries. All that's required is the sending of name, age and address to the State Theatre. A rehearsal will be held Saturday, March 2, on the stage at the State at 11 a.m. and girls wishing to enter may sign up at that time.

The contest to select a winner will be held at 8:30 p.m. March 8 in the State Theatre. Impartial judges including one celebrity from either stage, screen or TV will select Miss 49th Division to represent the Gainesville unit. There will also be prizes for county runners-up. Among awards is a new dress from the Charm Shop.

Charles Bernauer, Barbara Proffer Wed in Gainesville

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bernauer are making their home in Gainesville at 528 1/2 North Denton street since returning from their wedding trip to Carlsbad, N.M. He is the son of Mrs. C. D. Mitchell and is formerly of Muenster. His bride is the former Barbara Proffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stoner Proffer of Gainesville.

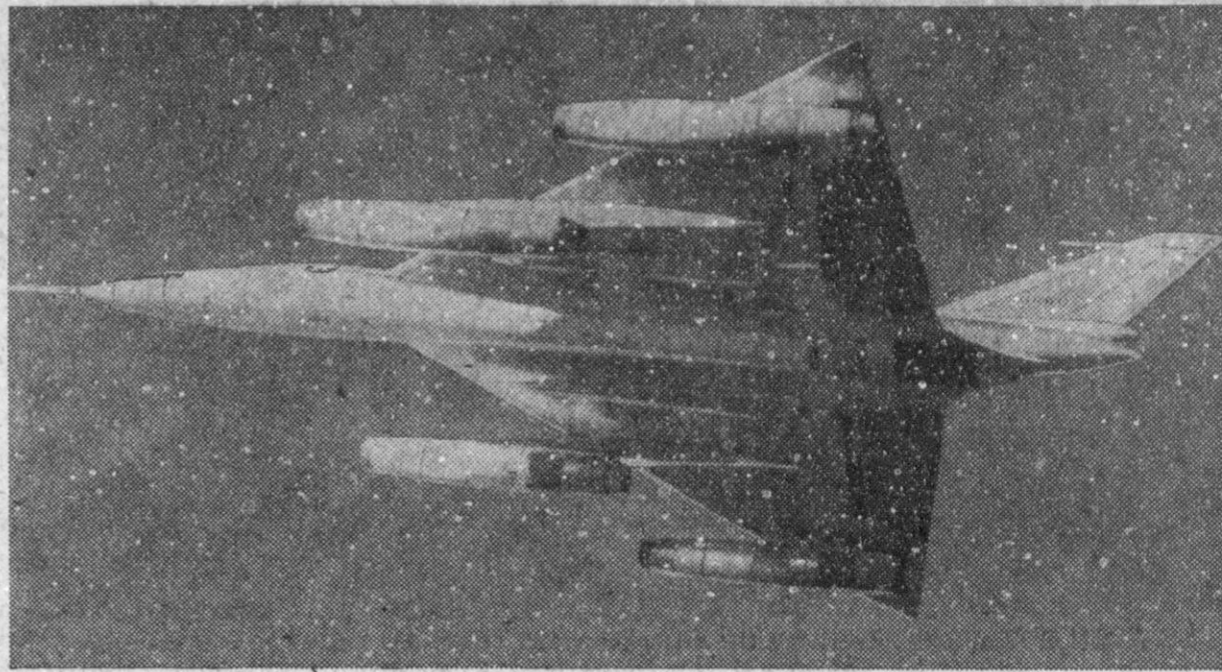

The couple exchanged nuptial vows in a double ring ceremony Friday afternoon in St. Mary's church with the Rev. E. J. Gerlich, pastor, officiating.

Barbara was given in marriage by her father. She wore a cotton and silk navy blue suit with three-quarter sleeves and stand-up collar. Her white off-face hat was covered with sequins and she wore a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bezner were the bridal attendants. She wore a powder blue wool jersey sheath dress with black accessories. Her flowers were pink carnations.

The bride is a senior at Gainesville High school. The groom was graduated from GHS and is employed at National Supply Co.

Happiness is not a station you arrive at, but a manner of traveling.

AMERICA'S FIRST SUPERSONIC BOMBER — Four powerful J-79 turbojet engines are said to propel the delta-wing Convair B-58 "Hustler" faster than sound and to stratospheric heights. Slung beneath the B-58's wings, the G.E.-designed power plants, with afterburners, are among the mightiest yet developed for military aircraft. Intended for Air Force use, the B-58 is in initial production. The plane is about 95 feet long and its wings span a distance of about 55 feet.

CARD OF THANKS

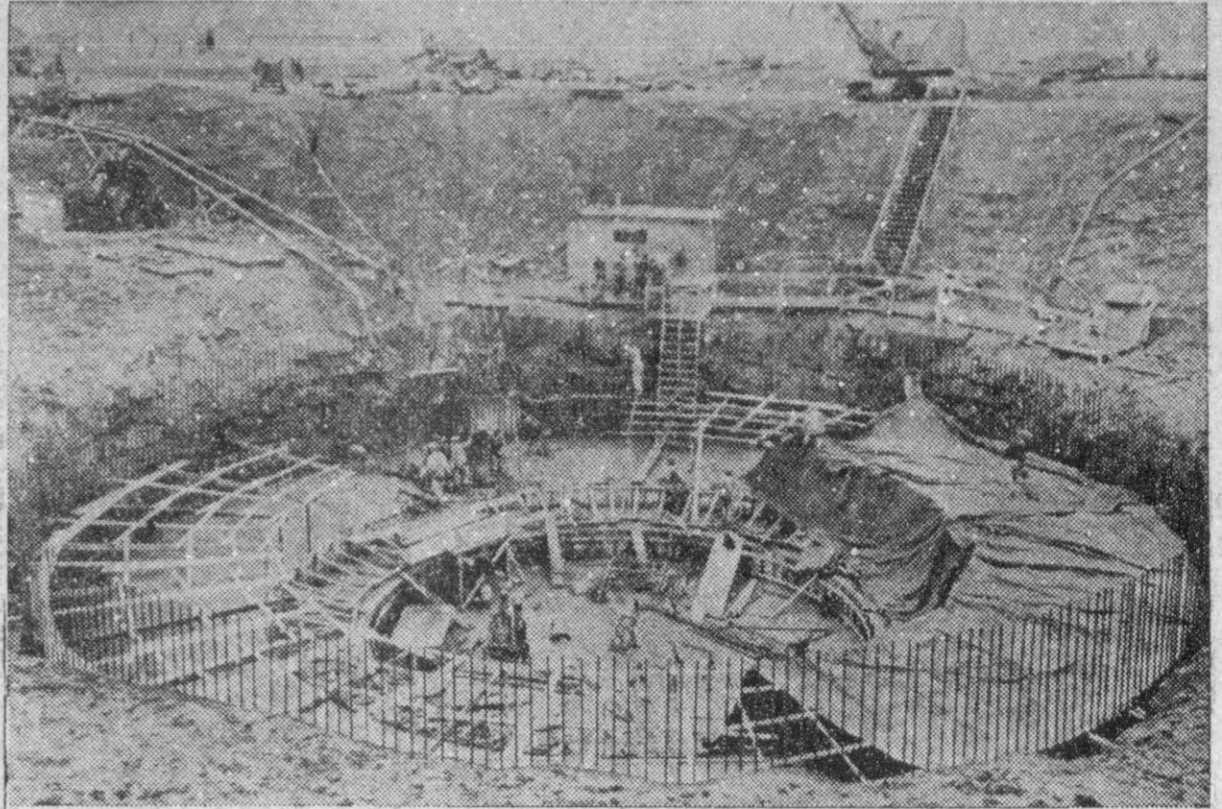

The kindness and sympathy of friends in our sorrow will always remain with us as a precious memory. Words cannot adequately express our deep appreciation for the thoughtfulness and help extended from the time of Frankie's accident, through his long hospitalization and at the time of his death. We are grateful for the prayers and spiritual bouquets, the flowers and every kindness with which so many were so generous.

Deszo Fonagy, a battered Hungarian freedom-fighter and a representative of the underground revolutionary parliament, testified the other day before a Senate Internal Security subcommittee. Unless there is help soon from the UN or from the West, he said, the patriots will strike again. The result will be "the extermination of the Hungarian people or the exit of the Russians from Hungary."

Mr. Fonagy's calm announcement that the Hungarians will "blow everything up so as to put Hungary in such chaos that the Russians will have to leave" may cause the UN to vote an 11th resolution condemning Soviet aggression. Or it might suggest to Secretary Dulles that he postpone that "serious consideration" of economic sanctions against Israel while he decides what our attitude should be when the Red tanks roll again in Hungary. The last act curtain will rise, Mr. Fonagy thinks, in the spring. Might we have a "Hungarian Doctrine" by then?

FIRST IN THE NATION—The first commercial-sized, breeder-reactor atomic power plant is gradually shaping up in Monroe, Mich. Shown is the foundation for the atomic reactor building, the dome-shaped unit which will provide the energy for the Enrico Fermi plant. Located at the bottom of a 56-foot excavation, the foundation itself is 20 feet deep and 87 feet across. The breeding process, scientists say, will extend the supply of atomic fuel to outlast the reserves of fossil fuels more than 50 times.

How to Break A Kicking Horse

Fifty years ago a Teamsters' magazine gave a tip on breaking a horse of the kicking habit. In case you are interested, here's the method that writer recommends.

"The best means is give him a sand bag to exercise upon. Fill a grain sack half full of sand and swing it up to the ceiling with a rope so the sack will hang just where the heels of the horse will have good play upon it.

"Tie the horse in the stall with a good, strong rope and let him kick. At the first kick the bag will swing away and return, giving the horse as good as he sent. For the next few minutes there will be a lively mix-up between the horse and sack, but the sack will hold its own, returning all it receives with interest.

"The horse, in bucking against the real thing, will soon come to a realization of the fact, and will be thoroughly cowed. Leave the sack behind him for a week or so, and then remove it. If he ever shows a tendency to get into his old habit of kicking give him another punch bag to exercise with," he recommended.

Those He Loved

Since little Johnnie's personal horizon had been greatly extended by several months at kindergarten, his mother decided to inquire concerning his current loyalties.

"Dear," said she, "whom do you love the best?"
The youngster pondered the query soberly and then replied: "Well, I love you best, Mommie and Daddy, next best, and my teacher the last. And in between come a lot of dogs."

He: "Can I turn off the hall light?"
She: "Yes, you may."
He: "Can I turn off the ceiling lights?"
She: "Sure, Robert."
He: "Can I turn off the table lamp?"
She: "Why, yes, Bobby."
He: "Now that it's dark in here, can I ask you a question?"
She: "Yes, dear."
He: "Say, do you think this luminous necktie is worth two bucks?"

IMPRESSIONS

Geographical facts, which are quite contrary to established notions, are brought to light by a careful examination of the map. Relative locations of certain points are often found to be quite different from the general impression concerning them. This is pointed out by the Touring Bureau of the California State Automobile Association, which is called upon to answer requests from motorists for all kinds of information. For example:

Reno, Nevada, is 100 miles farther west than Los Angeles, and Jacksonville, Florida, is farther west than Cleveland, Ohio.

The westernmost point of Alaska is farther west of San Francisco than New York is east. From Detroit to Canada the traveler moves southward.

New York lies to the west of some cities on the Pacific Coast of South America.

Santa Barbara, by reason of its location, sees the sun both rise and set in the Pacific.

Through the Panama Canal from the Pacific to the Atlantic the direction traveled is not east, but northwest; from the Atlantic to the Pacific, not west, but southeast.

A man of words and not deeds — is like a garden full of weeds.

A gossip is a person with a keen sense of rumor.

ville Sanitarium, delivered the funeral sermon. Burial was in Sacred Heart cemetery with Nick Miller Funeral Home directing.

Bearers were members of Frankie's senior class as Sacred Heart High school: Kenneth Otto, David Walter, Mike Fuhrmann, Leo Hess, Virgil Henscheid and Claude Walter. Members of the Tiger football squad were honorary bearers.

Among the hundreds attending the funeral were a bus load of Windthorst football players accompanied by their coach and their superintendent.

Five rosary services were held at the funeral home Sunday including one by the Tiger squad and one by the Catholic Youth Council.

Frankie, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fleitman, was born in Muenster on March 27, 1938. He was a senior an outstanding athlete at Sacred Heart High School. In addition to his parents he is survived by three brothers, Alvin, Leon and James, all at home, and a grandfather, Frank Mages Sr. of Lindsay.

HE SAYS IT'LL FLY—Jim West sits in a partially completed flying contraption in his back yard at Hapeville, Ga. Called the "Paraplane," the machine will look like a flying saucer and will be lifted by a six-foot propeller at the top and a pair of helium-filled wings. These will cover the frame like a parachute. West expects it to fly straight up and then go in any direction at 35-40 miles an hour. He says he will commute to work in it.

NOTHING STANDS STILL

"The farmer is truly 'the vanishing American.'" Thus begins an article in The Milwaukee Journal. But its significance is not so dire as it might seem to be on first glance — for the article deals with the fact that the farm population has been going down, and will continue to go down, simply because modern techniques and equipment make it possible for the present-day farmer to produce far more than his predecessor.

The Journal quotes some figures publicized by a member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin. In 1920, it took 226 hours of farm work to supply the food, tobacco, fiber and other agricultural products needed by one person. The modern farmer can do the job in 89 hours. This amazing improvement has been brought about by power farming, modern fertilizers, better seed culture methods, and related developments. The university authority added that farm production could be increased by as much as 50 per cent just by the full use of know-how we now have available.

The Journal's account also points out that great changes are taking place in agriculture, brought about by changes in our national eating and clothing habits, by the soaring birth rate, by increasing longevity and by other factors. There is a definite trend in the direction of specialization in agriculture — and this too is being spurred by mechanization.

Nothing stands still in this country. That's certainly true of farming.

LAST FEBRUARY, Nikita Khrushchev formally reduced Stalin from an immortal to an official bum. At the Kremlin's New Year's Eve party, he hailed the deposed deity as "A great Marxist," saying that, in the fight against imperialism, "we are all Stalinists." He still thinks Stalin made mistakes, but they weren't all his fault. "We should share responsibility for those mistakes because we were associated with him," he said.

It may be only a coincidence that this reversal occurs just a few weeks after tough, old Vyachyslav Molotov took over as Soviet Minister of State Control. Or it may be, as some say, that Krush was drunk. But, after all, you could hardly expect a man to swallow that much crow without plenty of vodka.

THE HONEST DANE

Copenhagen, the capital of Denmark, has the distinctive honor of having a people in whom the virtue of honesty is as inherent as their blonde hair and blue eyes. The thousands of visitors in the city marvel at the many evidences they see of trust the Danes place in one another.

Newsdealers of the city leave their sidewalk stands for hours at a time. A customer will pick up a paper, drop the money into a hat or box, and pass on. Household make it a custom to leave money for the milkmen on the outside, with on fear of someone taking it. No one is ever put off the street cars for lack of funds; the conductor passes the passenger a slip showing car fare is due, and the records show that ninety-nine per cent of these bills are paid within twenty-four hours.

No one ever thinks of stealing an automobile, or bicycle, or anything left standing on the street or in public places. There are no worries about having things stolen when left in the open. There are no locks and keys to the homes, so there are no apprehensions at night of being molested after retiring.

This city, where honesty is a habit, is one of the most prosperous in the world. The same story applies to cities of Norway and Sweden. An American would say, "This cannot be in America," but with generations of heritage and training, such characteristics of truth and virtue have been developed in these Scandinavian peoples.

Simple Enough

Not long ago a Hoboken resident owned a goat. His next door neighbor was the tax assessor, and did not particularly relish the goat within sight of his favorite window, so he taxed the neighbor's goat four dollars.

The owner of the goat took the assessor to task, and demanded to know why his family pet was assessed at that sum.

"That is strictly in accordance with the statutes of the sovereign state of New Jersey," replied the tax assessor.

"I demand the proof," retorted the irate owner.

The assessor thereupon read to his bewildered neighbor the following statute on taxes: "All property abutting and abounding on the public street shall be taxed at the rate of two dollars per front foot."

right. Now the experts ought to start figuring how many demerits there are and how many could be ironed out in developing a four season school system. Maybe we have a way of saving some of those billions that have been taken for granted in school building. Maybe there will be enough teachers to go around after all.

As regards proposed changes in the state's school laws, signs now are that the status quo is not going to be seriously disturbed.

Opposition flared up and covered the state like a prairie fire and lots of legislators have decided that they can't gain much by antagonizing so many people.

There's a principle involved also. According to the American system, parents have the responsibility, and the privilege, of deciding where their children will go to school... and they should not be pushed around by the state. If the residents of a district wish to keep their own school they should have that right.

It's better if changes come slowly and voluntarily. Little by little people realize that they can do better by combining resources. That's the proper time to make a change, but not before. Voluntary progress may be a little slower but it is more in keeping with our ideas on personal rights.
