

Donations roll in for SH Parish Thanksgiving Picnic

Janet Felderhoff
News Editor

As the clock ticks down to the holiday season, everyone knows that the Sacred Heart Parish Thanksgiving Picnic is fast approaching. Traditionally held the Sunday before Thanksgiving, this year that is Sunday, Nov. 22 and it will be held in Heritage Park.

Picnic Chairman Leslie Eddleman remarked, "The donations are coming in! I have witnessed that each year our parishioners are more and more generous with their donations, despite many fundraisers throughout the year. It is not a new 'batch' of people giving to each individual event, it is the same, kindhearted, generous, and most importantly, faithful people who give over and over again, only to be blessed themselves even more!"

To begin the festivities, a delicious meal is served beginning at 10:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. Beverly Fuhrmann, with assistance from Troy Sicking, is in charge of food preparation and cooks. It is hoped that the commercial kitchen at Heritage Park will be finished and ready for use at this year's Picnic.

There will be all-day entertainment for children that includes bounce houses, balloon art, face painting, and more. Iva Walterscheid coordinates this part of the Picnic.

A cake walk, sweet shop, and country store are again part of the Picnic.

Tables of items on the silent auction will be on display for bidding. The silent auction ends at 3 p.m. and the raffle takes place at 4 p.m. According to Leslie, "We have a great raffle ticket again with overnight stays, gift cards, quilts, guns, and more." Immediately following the raffle drawing, Auctioneers Herkey Biffle and Chisam Cain start the live auction.

New item on the live auction is a Chuckwagon Meal and Entertainment for 10 couples donated by Hopp Ranch (Billy Joe Dangelmayr family). The Dangelmayr family explained that during long trail drives, the chuckwagon served not only meals but as the social hub of the drive. Janet Dangelmayr Bowman said, "The cowboys didn't just eat their meals there; it was their social center and recreational spot. A natural gathering place for exchanging 'windies,' or tall tales, listening to music, or just recounting the experiences of the day."

The Hopp Ranch will be the scene of this chuckwagon meal. The highest bidder will be treated to some true Cowboy cooking, wagon rides, and entertainment.

As of press time, 15 hand-sewn quilts had been donated. Leslie noted that this is the most they have had donated in years. There is a variety of hand-made yard decorations, trips, meals, religious art, children's items, and much more.

The evening Picnic meal is again coordinated by Judy Flusche. This is her 11th year to make food available during the auction.

"It seems like the excitement of the Picnic grows each year," reflected Leslie. "Some people contact me as early as July and August prior to the picnic with their well thought out donation or new idea! Especially the crafters with hand-made items. They usually begin designing and building items in the late summer."

All are invited to come to the Thanksgiving Picnic to enjoy good food, fellowship, and possibly purchase Christmas gifts or other items.

New entryway slated for Library

Janet Felderhoff
News Editor

Cooke County Library will soon have a new porch entryway. A company's bid was approved at the Monday, Nov. 9 meeting of Cooke County Commissioners Court.

Three companies' bids were considered at the Oct. 26 meeting, but tabled until proof of insurance could be assured. Maintenance Director Ricky Kerr reported that they have documentation from bidder Joe Shell that he is insured. Bidder Jose Lopez said his insurance expired in October and he did not renew it because the jobs he was doing did not require it. He said if he got the Library bid he would reinstate his insurance, but it would increase his price by 25%. Everest is the other bidder and they are fully insured.

County Judge Jason Brinkley noted that the Everest quote includes handrails which the other two do not. The breakdown on the handrails is about $3,000 and they could be done independent of the concrete project.

Judge Brinkley said that the Everest quote is almost double that of Shell's. He said Shell's insurance paperwork is on his desk and is up to $2 million liability.

Kerr recommended that Shell be awarded the job. Weather permitting, it will take about one week. Kerr said the Library will have to be closed to the public part of the time that the work is being done.

The Court voted to award the Library porch entryway to Joe Shell.

John Warren spoke on behalf of the District Attorney's Office. They asked that newly hired investigator Aaron Carney be paid from Nov. 9 through Dec. 31, 2015 from the District Attorney's Forfeiture Budget. He noted that Investigator Terry Sawyer is leaving his position at the District Attorney's Office. Paying his replacement from the Forfeiture Budget will allow Sawyer to train him before he leaves, said Warren.

The Court approved the request.

Craig Lamkin, vice president of Cooke County VOAD (Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster), said that about 151 people had signed up for assistance as a result of last spring's floods. FEMA and all other agencies have taken care of the clients. Lamkin noted, "It is now up to us Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster. Salvation Army has generously offered to provide us a professional case manager for six months to finish up with our clients. We still have approximately 80 clients."

County Judge Jason Brinkley offered them office space in the Cooke County Annex Building to assist individuals with their flood damage. The Court approved its use for this purpose.

Before approval of the agreements between Cooke County and Lindsay VFD and Era VFD for fire services, Commissioner Al Smith remarked, "We are the season of really appreciating our volunteerism that is making our fire departments workable. I thought it was worthwhile to take the opportunity

Cooke County voters stand with state in voting

Janet Felderhoff
News editor

In Cooke County, only 3,412 or 14.32% of the County's 23,831 registered voters took time to vote in the Nov. 2 election held by Texas for seven proposed amendments to the State Constitution. All seven proposed amendments passed in Cooke County and in Texas. Ballots will not be officially canvassed by Cooke County Commissioners Court until Friday, Nov. 13.

Unofficial totals released by the Cooke County Clerk's Office showed the County's vote on the Propositions as follows:

- Proposition 1 - For 3,224, Against - 168;
- Proposition 2 - For 3,151, Against 197;
- Proposition 3 - For 2,437, Against 856;

- Proposition 4 - For 2,366, Against 939;
- Proposition 5 - For 2,786, Against 524;
- Proposition 6 - For 3,018, Against 314;
- Proposition 7 - For 2,898, Against 428.

Proposition 1 increases homeowners' school property tax homestead exemption from $15,000 to $25,000. The Legislature has budgeted extra funding so schools won't see shortfalls.

Proposition 2 provides a property tax exemption for the surviving spouses of disabled veterans who died before Jan. 1, 2010. The measure is designed to correct an error in a prior constitutional amendment passed in 2011 which only provided for the tax exemption for surviving spouses of disabled veterans who died after the measure's passage.

Proposition 3 repeals the current constitutional requirement that certain state officials elected statewide by voters live in the capital city of Austin.

Proposition 4 authorizes professional sports teams to run charitable raffles through separate foundations that existed prior to 2016. It also provides for how the funds from the raffles can be distributed - 50% or less can be awarded to the winner of the raffle, 40% or less must be donated to charity, and 10% or less can be used by raffle operating expenses.

Proposition 5 allows counties with populations of less than 7,500 people to privatize road construction and maintenance. It raises the current limitation of 5,000 to 7,500.

Open Car Show comes to downtown Muenster

Cars, trucks, and motorcycles of all colors and kinds brightened the streets of Muenster on Saturday, Nov. 7 as Muenster hosted an Open Car Show. The vehicles lined both sides of Main Street to allow interested persons to admire and examine each of them. More than 50 trophies, supplied by Muenster Chamber of Commerce, were awarded. Muenster Brewing Company opened its doors to give out samples of beer and to display tables of items donated by local businesses and purchased by bidders in a silent auction. There was a great turnout for the event.

Horticulture class donates harvest to Meals on Wheels

Students in Ashley Hartman's Horticulture 1401 class at North Central Texas College are putting the things they learn to good use.

The class of 15 students recently donated the harvest from their on-campus garden to Cooke County Meals on Wheels.

Students spent most of their class time on Nov. 4 harvesting things like lettuce, carrots, turnips, garlic, chives, parsley, and much more from their individual gardens located at the Henry Spaeth Agriculture Center on the Gainesville campus.

"One of my students was talking about how she had given her harvest last week to Meals on Wheels and how the patrons were so appreciative because it tasted like real food," Hartman said. "We just got the idea as a class last week to do our service project this semester with Meals on Wheels and give back to them."

Amie Mackey, the manager of Cooke County Meals on Wheels, came to the class to thank them for their generosity. "I think it's wonderful that these students are wanting to give back to their community."

Mackey said that Cooke County Meals on Wheels serves around 200 patrons each day. They send out around 150 meals, with several other patrons eating in dining rooms in Gainesville, Callisburg, Muenster, and Valley View.

Students in Hartman's class started planting their crops at the beginning of September. They amended and planted again in mid-September and within four weeks, they were harvesting.

"This is called intensive gardening," Hartman said. "We try and grow as much food in as little space as possible. So you are looking at a 15-square foot garden, so a very small garden. I teach sustainability and how we can give back to the earth. If we give back to the earth and nourish it, it will nourish us. Healthy plants equal healthy people. That's really what we are trying to teach in this class. I think it's wonderful that these students are wanting to give back to their community."

derful that these students are wanting to give back to their community."

Piper Bowles, an NCTC student from Era, works in her garden plot two to three times a week and was excited that the food she was growing would help people who need it the most. "I think it's really interesting that we are able to grow things and be able to give back to the community," she said. "There are some people that can't do for themselves, so it feels really awesome to be able to spend so much time out here, to watch it grow, to pick it, and then think that this is going to help someone."

Proposition 6 establishes a constitutional right of the people to hunt, fish, and harvest wildlife with certain regulatory requirements. It guarantees the right of Texans to hunt, fish, and harvest wildlife as enumerated rights under the Texas Constitution. It does not change the authority of Texas Parks and Wildlife's ability to regulate hunting and fishing restrictions. There are 18 other states with similar rights in their constitutions.

Proposition 7 states that when sales tax revenue exceeds $28 billion per fiscal year, the next $2.5 billion would go to road construction and maintenance starting in September 2017. In September 2019, if tax revenue from vehicle sales and rentals exceeds $5 billion per fiscal year, 35% of the amount exceeding $5 billion would go to road funding.

Memories of the old Gehrig building on Main Street

By Ray Wilde

A story about the Gehrig building on Main Street - When first built, they allowed Coca Cola to put their ad "Drink Coke" and they kept it up.

The old Gehrig, who was running a shoe repair business in the 1920s, liked youngsters to come in and look around. It was full to the ceiling. This was a very good business as they repaired old (shoes) instead of buying new - especially heels worn off crooked.

He would show us a bone specimen in a bottle of liquid. He said if we guessed it right, he'd give us candy. It was a goat's bone - that is its rear going over the fence last.

He died and his son took over. He got angry at Muenster Mutual Telephone Company and had them to take the phone out. After that, when anyone rang into Central and asked for Gehrig Hardware, they would call our Chevrolet garage just across the street north and tell us Gehrig had a telephone call. They had many calls because they were selling Maytag washers which were very popular. Our building is now Fischer's Market.

Parents of the groom are Hal Evans of Muenster and Lee Gabriel of Hurst. His grandparents are Jeri Evans of Morgan Mill, TX and the late Raeford Evans.

Yellow roses adorned the altar. The pews were marked with white pew bows and yellow roses.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a sleeveless ball gown wedding dress with fitted bodice and waist line that led to a full tulle skirt. The gown, from Bridal Boutique in Lewisville, featured a sweetheart neckline. Her bridal bouquet was of yellow roses entwined with a birthstone rosary made by Kim Felderhoff and given to the bride by her parents along with the dog tag that the groom used to propose. Something old was a piece of the bride's mother's wedding dress that was hemmed underneath the bottom of the bride's gown.

Wedding music was provided by Pat Hennigan, pianist, and Christy Hesse and Jack White, vocalists.

Altar servers were the bride's cousins Danielle Hess, Hunter Hennigan, and Roy Endres, all of Muenster. The First Reading and the Prayers of the Faithful were read by Victoria Endres, cousin of the bride. Matt Hesse, friend of the bride and groom, gave the Second Reading. Godparents of the bride Ryan and Tina Hess carried the Offertory Gifts to the altar. Eucharistic ministers were Tony and Billie Grewing and Gary Endres.

ATTENDANTS

Bridesmaids were Kylie Hess and Kinzie Hess, sisters of the bride, Crystal McCann, bride's aunt, and Michelle Henscheid and Allison Pagel, friends of the bride, and all from Muenster. The bridesmaids were attired in navy gowns and carried yellow roses.

Flower girl was Caitlyn McCann, cousin of the bride. Carter McCann, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

RECEPTION

A formal reception was held at the Muenster VFW for 275 guests. Guest book attendant was Amanda Dangelmayr of Muenster. Lynn and Carly of Vine & Branches were reception assistants.

The bride's five-layer, white wedding cake had buttercream icing and held fresh yellow roses and the bride and groom's initials. The groom's cake was a three layer creation with chocolate covered strawberries. An Irish cream cake, a German chocolate cake, and a strawberry cake were also served. All cakes were made by Betty Rose Walterscheid.

The rehearsal dinner was held at Doc's in Muenster. Following a wedding trip to Riviera Maya, Mexico, the couple is at home in Muenster.

The bride is a 2011 graduate of Sacred Heart Catholic School. She graduated from North Central Texas College in 2014 with an Associate degree in Nursing. She is currently attending the University of Texas at Arlington to earn her Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing with plans to graduate in the summer of 2016. ## DAR meeting brings history lessons Daughters of American Revolution (DAR) of Gainesville, Rebecca Crockett Chapter held its monthly meeting with Regent Edna Slater presiding.

A committee report by Margaret Hoffman (Faith of our Founding Fathers) brought a book published in 1865 that was carried by her ancestors. Margaret read some from the book and gave a background on her family patriot member Charles Brewer born in 1745 in Massachusetts.

Chapter History was given by Nancy Hellman and Charlene King. Their patriot goes back to John Crockett, father, and Rebecca Hawkins Crockett, mother, of Davy Crockett of the Alamo. It was decided to have a float for the Medal of Honor Parade and a decorating committee was formed.

Christmas Stockings for active military personnel overseas will be participated by the Chapter. Items to stuff handmade Christmas stockings will be collected at the next monthly meeting.

The program was presented by Carla Bullard on "Navigating the National Society DAR" and the "Texas DAR" websites. Exploring the DAR website www.dar.org. Muenster High School National Honor Society and Student Council at a leadership conference at the American Airlines Center in Dallas.

Students learn about leadership

On Tuesday, Nov. 3, the Muenster High School National Honor Society and Student Council traveled to a leadership conference at the American Airlines Center in Dallas. They had the opportunity to listen to four speakers who spoke about leadership and the role it played in their lives. Following the conference, the students were able to stay to watch the Mavericks season home opener against the Toronto Raptors.

The first speaker, Brian Filipowski is a Sergeant First Class with the U.S. Army. He spoke about three important parts of leadership: character, confidence, and commitment. He said to truly be a great leader, you must have good character, be confident in everything you do, and stay fully committed to your responsibilities and duties.

Katie Edwards, the director of Community Relations and the Mavericks Foundation, spoke next. She said that a great leader is passionate about what they do and that helps them strive in their position. She also said that relationships are an important part of leadership. Being able to work with others, listen to them, and treat them well will help you earn the respect of others, and therefore make you a great leader.

The third speaker was Greg Nared, Director of Camps and Youth Basketball for the Mavericks. He first explained how important education is because it allows you to do what you truly want in life and be passionate about it. Then he spoke of three transferable skills that are important to have if you want to be a great leader. The first was discipline; he said that disciplined people are motivated and will not let anything stand in their way of being successful. Work ethics are important too, because great leaders work hard at everything they do. Finally, he said that if you exhibit leadership skills early on, it will help you once you graduate in the form of recommendations and referrals from teachers.

The final speaker was Dave Brown, who is the Executive Vice President and General Manager of the American Airlines Center. He said to work hard, get an education, and surround yourself with people who will help you reach your goals. His most important advice was to choose your friends wisely because those are the people who tend to influence one's actions and decisions.

The students had a great time listening to all of the advice from the amazing speakers. They also enjoyed watching the Mavericks play an exciting game against the Raptors.

Leadership is an important characteristic to have and one should always work on growing those skills to improve chances for a successful future.

Muenster ends District as undefeated champions

Tigers ground Eagles

A 20-point victory over the Lake Country Eagles last Friday night gave the Tigers of Sacred Heart a chance to earn a better seed in the first round of the TAPPS State Championship Playoffs. But after the three-way tie coin flip, Sacred Heart had to settle for the 4th place seed.

"I was really pleased with our defense - back to back shutouts," noted Dale Schilling, coach of the Tigers. "We held Lake Country to under 100 yards rushing."

Schilling added that the Tigers knew they had to win by 12 to get in the coin toss. "We stopped them when they threatened, then went and scored in the 4th to seal the victory."

The contest was a close match with 217 to 160 total offense, 10 to 9 on 1st downs, no turnovers, and 10 yards difference in penalties.

The Tigers took the opening kickoff, ran seven plays, and punted. Tackles by Tyler Spruill and Garrett Trubenbach held the Eagles to 6 yards, forcing a punt. From midfield, a Kason Reeves' pass completion to Will Green quickly moved the Tigers to the 4 yard line. With 5:30 on the clock, Spruill ran in the touchdown. Reeves' point after kick gave Sacred Heart a 7-0 lead.

The Tiger defense, led by Thomas Hennigan, Spruill, and Stephen Kessler, kept the Eagles inside their 5 yard line. The punt was returned 14 yards to the Eagle 25 by Hennigan.

A flag and fumbled play delayed the Tiger drive. In the first play of the 2nd quarter, Hennigan scored from 3 yards out. The PAT failed for a 13-0 score.

The teams exchanged punts, with Julian Hesse, Grant Springer, Will Green, Hennigan, and Spruill all getting in tackles. Lake Country then had a five play drive to the Tiger 22. A penalty, tackles by Mark Davis and Green, and pass defense by Zach Flusche placed the Eagles in a 4th and 11 situation. The run was stopped by Sam Hesse at the 15 yard line.

The Tiger offense struggled. A 4th and 15 punt attempt was flagged for roughing the kicker, giving the Tigers a break. Gaining 9 yards, a fumbled play and 15 yard flag backed the Tigers to their 15 yard line. A 3rd and 20 punt put the ball out to midfield.

1st half ended.

The Tiger defense continued their attack into the 3rd quarter. Tackles by J. Hesse and Tyler Walterscheid and a fumbled play forced an Eagle punt. The teams exchanged a few punts with Lake Country carrying the ball into the final quarter and to the Tiger 30 yard line. A 4th and 1 attempt was stopped by Spruill and Davis.

From their 30, the Tigers moved the ball to midfield on runs by Reeves, Spruill, and Hennigan. Hennigan gained another 39 yards. A flag assisted in moving the ball to the 6 yard line. On 4th and 10 with 1:50 remaining in the game, Reeves connected with Green for the touchdown. Reeves' kick gave the Tigers the 20-0 winning score.

Lake Country got in eight plays before time expired.

Trinity has two players signed to play college ball. Their quarterback is going to the University of Illinois and their outside linebacker to Tulsa.

Trinity won their district undefeated. According to MaxPrep, they started the season with three losses - Monte Vista, Oakridge, and Seagraves. Their District wins were over Garland Christian 49-7, Covenant 56-6, Gainesville State School 61-0, Highlands 51-6, McKinney Christian 42-8, Reicher 28-6, and First Baptist 36-24.

A 49-6 win over Era last Friday night ended District competition for the Muenster Hornets, earning them the title of undefeated District 9A, Div. II Champions.

Muenster now advances to the Bi-District round of UIL Class 2A, Div. II Playoffs, taking on Meridian this Friday night.

In the Hornet battle, Red dominated Gold's offense 457 yards to 158 for 20 to 9 1st downs. Muenster's defense held Era to an average of 3.2 yards per play.

"We played one of our better games early. We executed our offense really well, very explosive," commented Coach Brady Carney. The Muenster offense scored on every drive the 1st half until time ran out - six TDs, 42 points. "Defensively, maybe one of our best games - no 1st downs in the 1st quarter. Dalton Hess, Garrett Bindel, and Kagen Dangelmayr did a good job of controlling their line and taking away Era's running game," Coach added.

Era's offense was on the field first, but couldn't get 10 yards, punting on 4th and 8.

Starting at midfield, the Red Hornets scored on their second play, a 40 yard touchdown run by Dalton Bartel. The PAT pass play was no good for a 6-0 score with 9:55 on the clock.

Muenster's defense dropped Era for losses, forcing a 4th and 24 punt that placed the ball on the Era

39. On 4th and 1, Clay Stevens crossed the goal line on a 30 yard run. Blayne Jones ran in the extra points to give Muenster a 14-0 lead with 6:46 still on the clock.

Again, the Red defense gave up no ground. Era's 4th and 10 punt put Muenster on their own 47. Two plays later, Jones scored on a 53 yard run. Bryce Herr booted the extra point and with 4:35 on the clock, it was Red over Gold 21-0.

Era's offense gained 5 yards and punted. From Muenster's 35, the Red Hornets added another TD three plays later when Bartel scored on a 55 yard run. Herr's PAT was good for a 28-0 score with 2 minutes remaining in the 1st quarter.

The Gold Hornets finally got a drive going, moving the ball into the 2nd quarter. But a fumbled ball, covered by Stevens on the Era 47, ended the drive.

A penalty took away 10 yards and another added 15. With 10 minutes on the game clock, Chase Deeken scored on a 25 yard run. Herr kicked the extra point to extend Muenster's lead to 35-0.

No 10 yards and Era again punted. From their 37, two Jones to Parker McGrew passes moved Muenster to the Era 39. McGrew then ran in the next 6 points. Herr added the PAT and Muenster led 42-0 with 7:24 on the clock.

The Gold Hornets ran nine plays before punting. Muenster's offense played out the final 2 minutes of the 1st half.

Era scored the first points of the 2nd half with 5:35 on the clock - 42-6.

Muenster came back, taking seven plays to find the end zone. A Jones to Kagen Dangelmayr 5 yard pass

 There will be a lot of buzzing at Porcupine Stadium in Springtown this Friday night when the Hornets take on the Meridian Yellowjackets.

Meridian started the season strong with non-district wins over Itasca, Riesel, and DeLeon. District play started with a 40-8 win over Wortham followed by an overtime 28-27 loss to Italy and wins over Frost (66-41) and Gateway (51-26). The Yellowjackets then fell to Dawson 40-34, Chilton 33-6, and Hubbard 48-30 for a 6-4 season and 3-4 district record, settling for 4th place.

"Late season injuries affected their losses," Coach Carney said. "They could be back this week, so we have to be prepared."

Action begins at 7:30 p.m.

Around the District
 Besides Muenster advancing to Bi-District, the District 9 Runner-up Lindsay Knights will play District 10 3rd place Chilton, Era faces 2nd place Italy, and Celeste meets District 10 Champion Hubbard.

Just a thought

If you don't enjoy what you have, how could you be happier with more?

To love is to place our happiness in the happiness of another.

Education is growth.

Waterfowl numbers are flying high

For the first time in years, we've got higher water levels in Texas. And that means there's going to be a whole lot of splashing going on as record numbers of waterfowl arrive. In fact, mallards and green-winged teal numbers are at all-time highs. Woo-hoo!

Regular duck season opened October 31 in the South Zone and High Plains Mallard Management Unit, and November 7 in the North Zone. For the drill-down on all the different waterfowl seasons (like Falconry, which opens everywhere February 1) and regulations, pick up the Waterfowl Digest, now available wherever licenses are sold. Don't forget your Migratory Game Bird endorsement, Federal Duck Stamp, and HIP Certification. It's going to be a very good year for duck hunters - don't miss out!

What a year for deer

White-tailed deer season opened Nov. 7, but the hunt for deer is ageless. Deer are so connected with the idea of hunting that the word "venison" came from the Latin "venari," which means "to hunt."

Some years are better than others, and this year is shaping up to be a good one. Spring rains are critical for a good deer season and 2015 has had above-average rainfall. Expect the deer to be well-fed and lively. And don't even think about sitting this season out!

What about that all-important antler growth? It should also be well above average. Add to that a good number of healthy, mature bucks and you've got prime conditions for a superb season. Makes you itchy just thinking about it, right?

FARM & RANCH

Selective harvesting important for wildlife management

One of the most important wildlife management tools for hunters and landowners in Texas is selective harvest.

Selective harvest is used by wildlife managers, hunters, and landowners alike to best manage resources on a specific property.

"I think (selective harvest) is extremely important. We had a small eight-point come out in front of us that would have been a trophy for a lot of folks. My brother was kind of urging me to take that one. I had seen that deer last year with its second set of horns and I knew that he had the potential to be enormous. I want to make sure that I harvest a mature deer so that we can manage that herd and will be able to hunt for years to come," Roger Hall, a bow hunter from Waxahachie, said in an interview with Gary Joiner for the Texas Wildlife Radio Show on the Texas Farm Bureau Radio Network.

Although some bow hunters feel pressure to take a deer before general season begins, Hall reports he wasn't concerned with that on his last hunt in Blanco County.

"I think the animals, once people start moving into the woods a little more, are going to get scared somewhat," Hall said. "I think it's more important to pick the animal that's mature and harvest that one than it is to shoot the first thing that comes in front of you." Archery-only white-tailed deer season is open now through Nov. 6.

The general white-tailed deer season opens Nov. 7.

Dirty kids are healthy kids

By Julie Tomascik

Squeaky clean and always sick. You're armed with an arsenal of hand sanitizer and disinfectant wipes. On a mission to protect your kids from a world full of germs.

But have they had their daily dose of dirt? It just might be what the doctor ordered, according to the latest in the hygiene hypothesis. Where less exposure to germs leads to a greater risk of allergies and asthma.

No one wants that. But there's an easy fix. Visit a farm. Feed the cows. Get your hands dirty. And take a deep breath of fresh air.

It's the farm effect. Working with livestock, stirring up the dust, and drinking from the water hose. It exposes farm kids to good bacteria. Building up their immune systems. And lessening their chances for getting sick.

But one dose won't do the trick. Exposure to germs at a young age, and often, is why this works.

That means the old adage "a little dirt don't hurt" has some science to back it up. And healthy farm kids are the proof.

So swap screen time for farm time. And mingle with the good "bugs."

Fall pasture can cause foundering

When you think of horses foundering, you think of them breaking into the feed room and eating an entire bag or grain or lush pasture in the spring.

Dr. Bob Judd, host of Texas Vet News on the Texas Farm Bureau (TFB) Radio Network, reports that horses can founder in those situations, especially in the spring grass.

Now that we're through the hot dry summer and the grass is turning brown, horse owners may be thinking it is okay to turn the horse that has foundered before, and is already overweight, out on fall pasture. After all, most grass looks dead anyway.

"This dead-appearing grass can store large amounts of carbohydrates, which can still lead to laminitis and founder," Dr. Judd said. "As the grass turns brown, it actually becomes dormant."

Kentucky Equine Research indicates this seasonal change triggers the plants to produce and store carbohydrates.

"Decreasing day length, cool night temperatures, overgrazing, mowing, or several dry days followed by rainfall, can all lead to increased carbohydrate intake for your grazing horse," Dr. Judd said.

When your horse ingests an excessive amount of non-structural carbohydrates, the horse's digestive track is upset, leading to the release of endotoxins that can contribute to laminitis or founder.

In the fall, horses also usually have higher levels of a hormone that causes an increase in cortisol to prepare horses for the coming winter weather.

"In normal horses, this is not a problem; however, in horses that have equine metabolic syndrome, or may just be overweight, this increase in cortisol can contribute to insulin resistance. Increased levels of insulin have been shown to cause laminitis in horses."

If you have an overweight horse, or a horse diagnosed with insulin resistance, Dr. Judd reports it's not a good idea to turn them out on fall pastures regardless of the dead appearance of the grass.

Ag education effort to help 200,000 veterans annually

Men and women transitioning from military life to civilian life will now receive skills that will help them pursue a career in agriculture.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and Department of Defense (DOD) are working together to integrate agriculture into the career training and counseling service members receive as they transition out of the military.

"Our transitioning Service members leave the military with a variety of essential skills—including leadership and discipline—that could be directly applied to a career in agriculture," said Dr. Susan S. Kelly, director of the Department of Defense's Transition to Veterans Program office. "For those members who are considering farming or ranching as a post-service career, I encourage them to learn more about the opportunities, preferences, and incentives offered by the USDA."

The partnership will not only provide additional training for our nation's veterans. It will also ensure returning service members know about programs and incentives offered to veterans through USDA.

The Top 10 indications to dislike your neighbor

10. He has a Watusi-Piedmontese-Murray Grey-Holstein-Scottish Highlander bull with a 60-inch vertical leap and excessive libido.
9. He may call it "wildlife habitat" but that piece of ground just south of you has enough ragweed and johnsongrass to reseed the county.
8. His kids are honor students who never get into trouble.
7. He gets those spotty showers you miss.
6. He trades pickups every year.
5. His dogs have a knack for chasing cows and staying out of range.
4. His father-in-law is a banker and they have their eye on the place across the road.
3. He dotes on his wife—a fact not lost on your wife.
2. He irritated the county commissioner so the maintainer kinda skips your road.
1. He doesn't have a darn thing you need to borrow.

The Top 10 reasons a farmer wouldn't survive city life

10. People stare at your Stetson and ignore the kid with the safety pins through his eyebrow.
9. You stare at people with hair the color of your tractor.
8. You can't help but stop and look up every time a vehicle goes by.
7. Store clerks treat you like you're on the FBI's most wanted list.
6. You need an MIT degree to operate some of those gas pumps.
5. Rush hour driving is like being in line at the elevator, only slower.
4. Non-rush hour driving is like navigating your four-wheeler through a NASCAR race.
3. Habitually leaving the keys in your truck is a real bad idea.
2. You get turned in for animal abuse for speaking unkindly to the neighbor's dog digging in your yard.
1. Turns out, the 'Will Work for Food' guy wants dinner at a 4-star restaurant and no heavy lifting.

'THE TOP 10 WARNINGS ABOUT TRICK OR TREATING AT SOME FARM HOUSES

10. Wake up a grouchy old farmer who's nodded off in the recliner and he may look like Jason without the hockey mask.
9. The underwear isn't part of a costume.
8. Those spider webs on the porch, the creepy coyote howling, the dead possum in the yard — they're real.
7. With current prices, you might get an ear of corn and a handful of soybeans.
6. God help you if you show up dressed like an EPA inspector.
5. That's not a horror movie playing in the background, it's the news.
4. Nobody's going to gnaw your leg off but they might talk your leg off — weather, prices, politics, the neighbors...
3. The hay yard is not a big bale maze — he was just in a hurry.
2. If he has anhydrous tanks around, it might be safer to go on to the next house.
1. Chances are, you're wasting your time — they're still out cutting beans.
