Party Compliments W. Virginia Family

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Otto was the scene of a buffet supper Tuesday honoring the family of Mrs. Thomas Otto. The honor guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Rupe and sons Larry and Jackie and another son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Rupe, all of Beckley, W. Va. who are visiting their daughter and family in Gainesville.

With the exception of Mrs. John Rupe who visited here four years ago, it was the first time in Texas for the group. While they were in Muenster they were shown around to places of interest and were especially fascinated by drilling oil wells. They hadn't seen an oil rig in operation before.

Other guests for the party in the Otto home were Mrs. Thomas Otto and children Sandra and Gregg — Thomas was called away on business just before the party — and Messrs. and Mmes. J. P. Flusche, Tony Hoenig, Ray Otto and Earle Otto.

The Rupes plan to start back home Friday night.

Patsy Bayer Heads Sherman Deanery CYC as President

Patsy Bayer was elected to head the Sherman deanery Catholic Youth Council when the annual officer election took place Sunday at a meeting in Gainesville. She is also serving her first term as president of the parish CYC.

Muenster placed another member on the executive committee with the election of Virgilla Schilling as secretary. The other two places went to Lindsay. They are Vice President Clem Hermes Jr. and Treasurer Stella Bengfort.

Formal installation of officers followed the election. Father Christopher Paladino, deanery moderator, presided. He also addressed the gathering of 50 young people from Sherman, Denison, Valley View, Lindsay and Muenster.

The second address of the afternoon was given by Father E. J. Gerlich of Gainesville.

It was announced that the monthly hour of adoration for August has been moved forward to July 30. Denison CYC will be hosts. Denison will also be the host parish for the next deanery meeting. It will be held in October.

Refreshments and a social hour followed the business session. Both events were held in the Knights of Columbus hall.

Ten CYC members were present from Muenster: Pat and Marilyn Horn, Lorraine and Betty Sicking, Joanie Herr, Lois Owen, Sarah Fleitman, Patsy Bayer, Virgilla Schilling and Carol Lee Sicking.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Parkinson of Houston left Thursday after a visit here since Sunday with her parents, the J. B. Casons. They took their daughter Jeanie home with them. ## The American Way Soaking the Poor

By this time Mr. and Mrs. Average American should realize to their sorrow that the "rich" are no longer bearing the brunt of taxation. There was a time when most of the taxes did come from the rich; but today, despite the fact that Uncle Sam mulets as high as 91 percent on big incomes, the "rich" supply only a small portion of the amount necessary to run the big show with headquarters on the Potomac.

As a matter of fact, if Federal Government were to take in income tax, 100 percent of all incomes above $100,000, it would only run the government for 18 days. That means that we "poor" folks whose incomes are under $100,000 per year, are paying the cost of maintaining Federal Government in the manner to which it has become accustomed for at least 347 days of the year.

Getting down a bit lower in the income scale, if Federal Government took 100 percent of all individual incomes above $10,000, it would run the government for only two months. So, we "very poor" folks whose incomes are under $10,000 per year, are paying at the very least the cost of Washingtonian wasteful spending for ten months out of the year.

It would seem that the policy of "soak the rich" engineered by our "left-wing, liberal" friends hasn't saved the skins of us "underprivileged" underlings — on the contrary, we are carrying the bulk of the load.

In recent months we've heard a lot about "Modern Republicanism." One wonders if this new platform of the GOP embraces as one of its planks this very "modern" policy of "Soak the Poor."

Month of Infamy

The extent of collaboration or negligence of top-ranking US officials in that "Day of Infamy" at Pearl Harbor in 1941 has never been established.

But the disheartening incidents thusfar in this "Month of Infamy":

On June 3rd, the hamstringing of the FBI by the Supreme Court in the Jencks decision;

On June 4th, the agreement of Secretary of State Dulles and Secretary of Defense Wilson (approved by the President) that GI William S. Girard should be turned over to Japanese courts for trial in the accidental killing of a trespasser while he was on guard duty at a US Army rifle range in Japan;

On June 5th, the President's suggestion to his press conference that we would have "clandestine" trade with Red China if we did not have "authorized" trade;

On June 17th, in a spate of further rulings, the Supreme Court freed five Communists convicted under the Smith Act, ordered a new trial for nine others, curbed the investigative powers of Congress;

On June 20th, the Government relaxed restrictions on exports to Russia by some 200 items; Harold Stassen told the London Disarmament Conference we would cut back our troops to two and a-half million if Russia would do the same;

And on June 20th, Attorney General Brownell threw the legal might of the Government against Soldier Girard, pleading that the Supreme Court reverse the decision of US District Judge McGarraghy that the GI can not be tried by Japan;

... these, all these, are the work and utterances of men who are sworn to defend this nation. Whether there is further mischief or not, it will be many months, or years, before such wounds can heal. At this writing there is just one hope to sustain us, that the Supreme Court will agree with Judge McGarraghy that we must defend our service men as they defend us — anywhere in the world.

Max Kiel airfield at Little America, Antarctica, sits on an ice shelf 800 feet thick.

TALKS AGAIN AT PANMUNJOM . . . this time to ask the Chinese Reds if we can bring in new weapons, too, as they have done in violation of the armistice of nearly four years ago. While we are talking, we might ask the Reds about the 400 American GI prisoners that General Van Fleet has said are still alive. But the State Department, which has banned new weapons of nuclear capability for Korea, might think it impolite.

America's Future at Stake

Big Profits . . . For Racketeers

They need money badly, the shut-ins, disabled veterans, pensioners, housewives, who can't get out to work and even regular job-holders in desperate straits for "a little more," these trusting souls who send $500 million a year to the "homework" swindlers.

They are the suckers, who respond by the millions every year to such ads as: "Wanted: Men and women to work at home, $25-$50 per week. Spare time. Send $1 for information."

Ralph Lee Smith of the National Better Business Bureau reports in the June issue of Reader's Digest how this racket operates — and survives — in spite of the unending efforts of the Post Office, Better Business Bureau, reputable publishers and the Federal Trade Commission to stamp it out. In this article "How to Beat the 'Homework' Racket," condensed from The American Legion Magazine, Mr. Smith tells of a show-card painting scheme that lured responses from 2,500 needy people a day and took half a million dollars out of their slender means before it was stopped, another for decorating and selling Christmas cards that brought the promoters $100,000.

Typical of the whole racket was an ad that offered: "$50 a WEEK — address and mail post-cards for us at home. Spare Time. Pen or typed. Enclose self-addressed stamped envelope." The Better Business Bureau answered this, received a reply asking one dollar for "Complete Information and Instructions" — which, in turn, asked for an additional $5 for a box of 250 unstamped, double postcards advertising nameplates. These cards were to be used in soliciting orders. The sucker would receive $1 commission for each order he got.

Bureau workers tried out the scheme. Their expense for "information," cards and stamps was $16. They got two orders, earned $2, for a net loss of $14. But this particular swindle in dollar bills from a million victims — just for the "instructions" alone!

It is possible, however, for ambitious persons to set up profitable spare-time businesses at home, benefiting both themselves and the community. But, Mr. Smith warns, look out for the "homework" promoter who asks for money before he will tell you his proposition. And, no matter how clean an offer may appear, check first with the Better Business Bureau or the Chamber of Commerce.

The best source of legitimate and workable ideas for a part-time home business is the Small Business Administration of the US Dept. of Commerce, Washington 25, D.C. Ask for Business Service Bulletins No. 95 and No. 98 . . . and save your money!

"A VICTORY FOR PRIVATE ENTERPRISE"

The Houston, Texas, Chronicle, has described the U. S. Supreme Court's decision in the famous Hells Canyon case as "a victory for private enterprise." The case hinged on a license granted by the Federal Power Commission (after extremely extensive hearings) to an Idaho electric utility to construct three power dams on the Snake River. An organization which wanted tax-exempt socialized power development by the federal government took the matter to court. The Supreme Court's decision, in effect, upheld the right of the FPC to grant the license, and thus upheld the validity of the license itself.

The Chronicle added: "A great deal of misinformation and extravagant claims were circulated by the public power groups in their attack on the FPC ruling but the fact remains clear that the people of the Northwest and the taxpayers of the United States will profit from the construction of the Snake River project with private capital."

Actually, in a layman's view, the high court decision was more than a victory for private enterprise. It also was a victory for responsible, dependable government. If major decisions made by any of the administering agencies, such as the FPC, are thrown out either by the courts or by Congress, and the authority of the commissions is thus nullified, we might as well abolish them in toto. For, under those conditions, no one could accept the agency's actions as being legal and valid, and no one could safely proceed under them.

Do You Know Your Better Half?

By Rev. Richard Ginder, associate editor, OUR SUNDAY VISITOR

A GOOD VIOLIN can make beautiful music. But only if it is taken up and played by a musician. The ability to make music is not in the instrument but in the violinist who plays it. Without him, the violin would never make a sound.

Our body is another wonderful instrument, capable of great things. But like the violin, it can do nothing by itself and depends on something else. That something else is our soul.

JUST AS the musician is greater than his instrument, so the soul is far more important than the body. It needs the body only as much as a violinist needs his violin.

Ginder

If someone broke Fritz Kreisler's fiddle, he would not lose his ability to make music. In the same way, the soul lives on long after the body has turned to dust. In fact, it will live forever because it is spiritual.

There are those who say there is no such thing as a spirit. According to them, whatever is material. But if they have ever done anything, they have experienced something spiritual. For every thought or idea is a spirit.

TAKE THE IDEA "hunger" for instance. How much does it weigh? Is it hard or soft? What color is it? You see the questions are silly because our notion of hunger is a spiritual thing and so in a class apart from color, weight, and all other material qualities.

The soul is another instance of a spiritual being. But it is one that we always associate with a material body. And rightly so, since the body and soul unite in us to form one person. A soul without a body would be only half-a-man. But a body without its soul would be a corpse.

SINCE THE SOUL is spiritual like an idea, it has no parts and we cannot expect to see a picture of it. It has no size either, and cannot grow or get smaller. The soul is the same today as it was the day we were born. It can never wear out any more than our idea of hunger can wear out.

We know that our bodies begin to wear out the day we are born. Someday our body will be played-out and run-down. But not the soul. That will stay as fresh as it was on the day God made it. It's like a steel sword in a leather case. The leather starts to rot as soon as it is cut from the cow. One day it will fall off, leaving the sword as hard and shiny as when it was first forged.

Once God has started a soul in life, there doesn't seem to be any way of stopping it. In fact, since it is spiritual, it keeps going on forever. It will spend all eternity somewhere, either in heaven or in hell. By living up to the teachings of Christ, we can be sure that our souls will live forever in heaven.

BIRTHDAY OF A FREE NATION as the Declaration of Independence was presented to Congress in 1776. Contrary to popular belief, this historic document was not signed by Congress on July 4th. Instead, the Act by which the original 13 states broke colonial allegiance to Great Britain was approved by Congress July 2, proclaimed on July 4th, and signed at various times up to Nov. 4.

SYMBOL OF HUMAN RIGHTS and freedom, the Liberty Bell in Independence Hall rang out at every festival and anniversary of Independence until it cracked in 1835.

BIRTHPLACE OF OUR NATION was Independence Hall, Philadelphia, where Continental Congress met, Declaration of Independence adopted and proclaimed, Washington appointed Commander-in-Chief, and U. S. Constitution framed.

OUR NATION'S CAPITOL, moved from Philadelphia to banks of the Potomac in 1800, today is a majestic city, nerve center of a great country, and the hope of freedom-loving people everywhere. The capitol dome, sprawling office buildings, monuments, memorials, and 7,000 acres of public parks including the Mall shown here, are familiar sights to countless Washington visitors.

Evaporation Losses Cut on Farm Ponds

A film just one-millionth of an inch thick spread on the water surface is the latest weapon in the fight against evaporation losses.

Water scientists call it a monomolecular film since it is just one molecule thick. Named hexadecanol, it has been used in face creams and powders for more than 25 years, says an article in the July issue of Successful Farming magazine.

Evaporation losses have been slashed as much as 35-50 percent in controlled experiments with the chemical. This means it may be possible to save a whopping amount of water. A one-acre farm pond tested last summer lost more than 32-inches of water by evaporation during a three-month period. The farm family, using a purification system consumed only 1.6-inches of water from the pond in the same three months.

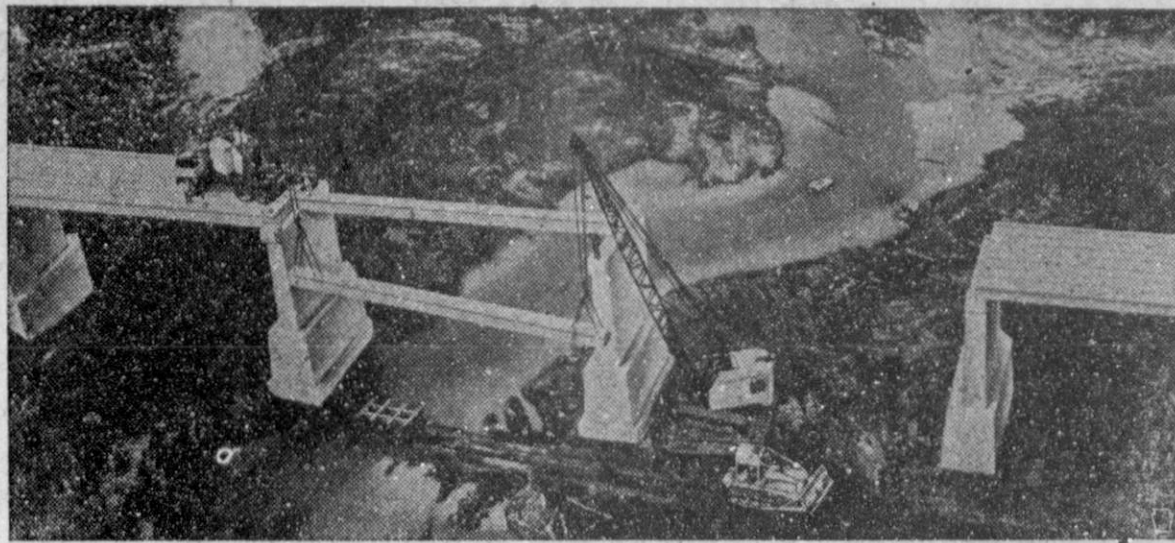

The film is applied to ponds through floats holding flakes or cakes of the material, or in a liquid form still under research. The film is harmless to fish, plant life, insects, and humans. In a two-month Oklahoma study the taste, color, odor, toxicity, and other chemical qualities of the water were the same in an untreated lake and in a lake treated with the film.

Precast concrete spans, reinforced with prestressed steel, are brought from the factory and quickly positioned for a big bridge

Modern wonders in construction will enable the National Highway Building Program to better accomplish its missions of reducing traffic congestion and providing safer travel.

Precast concrete spans—a cost-saving development—will go into many of the 304,600 bridge structures required in the 13-year road program including the 41,000-mile network of super-highways.

On just one highway in one state (Illinois), there was a saving of $20,000 on each of 200 bridges by using precast bridge members. The weather-proof structures require a minimum of maintenance and no painting.

Each of the spans in precast bridge sections is reinforced with steel cables and prestensioned. They function, as the support between piers and as flooring. American-Marietta Company — one of the nation's foremost suppliers of construction materials — produces them in lengths up to 100 feet.

While contractors' crews are building forms and pouring concrete for piers, workers in American-Marietta's plants are precasting the concrete span sections.

They are trucked to the bridge site for placement as soon as upright supports are ready. Cranes swing them onto the piers, and they are interlocked in required widths.

Derricks are moved forward on the newly placed spans. Where a stream bed is shallow, a crane may be operated from there.

Placing of one full span a day is normal, though some installations are finished within hours.

No longer must men risk their lives by extending scaffolds across the depths and then building forms that have to be torn away later.

Contractors save construction time, and motorists avoid detours that often plague drivers for months.

Uniformly made with high-strength concrete, the bridge decks are manufactured under closely controlled factory conditions.

First step in American-Marietta's process is the stringing of high tensile steel cables in a pouring bed, formed to the required dimensions. These cables are the unseen sinews of the bridge.

Tension of the cables after they are released increases the span strength by exerting pressure inward on the finished concrete. A favorite engineering comparison is a row of books. When pressed inward at each end, the row becomes so strong it can be moved, for the books' strength has been multiplied. So it is with steel cable and concrete for a modern bridge.

DON'T BUY ANY CAR BEFORE YOU DRIVE A CHEVY... ITS BEST SHOWROOM IS THE ROAD.

Bleuty in motion—Chevrolet Bel Air Sport Sedan with Body by Fisher.

Here's why Chevy's best showroom is the road!

Because Chevrolet's sleek good looks, its advanced features, are only part of the story. The big bonus is its remarkable roadability, the crisp precision handling that has posted an entirely new standard for cars in every price class. You can't read about that... but you can feel it in one minute on the road!

Good drivers know roadability is the single thing that means more driving satisfaction for more thousands of miles than anything else. More safety, too, for it grants greater stability on curves, greater traction on wet roads, better "bite" under hard braking, more accurate steering. There are reasons for all this, of course: Chevrolet's balanced weight distribution that takes excessive loads off the front wheels, the wide stance of outrigger rear springs, Ball-Race steering, spherical-joint front suspension. Sure, you can admire the sculptured lines in the showroom. But Chevy's a car specifically designed for beautiful motion—you have to travel in this one to know just how terrific it is. Try it, this week!

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Field terraces to protect sloping cropland from soil erosion can again be built for only one cent a foot this year. In a period of rising costs of nearly all farm operations the landowner's cost of building terraces in his fields has actually decreased.

Under the agricultural conservation program the ASC office shares the cost of terrace construction with the farmer. The cost-sharing program pays two cents a foot for the terraces while the landowner has to fork over only the remaining one cent a foot. This makes the added protection for his precious topsoil come inexpensive.

Local Soil Conservation Service personnel estimate that there are 1,928 miles of terraces still needed by cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation district in the Muenster-

Saint Jo area alone. This means that some 57,840 acres of sloping cropland need the added protection that could be had by properly constructed terraces.

Recent rains have pointed up the need for protection on sloping fields. A system of terraces on the fields slows the run-off water, breaks long slopes up into short slopes and allows more time for water to soak into the soil for future use by growing crops.

Nearly 500 miles of terraces have been built in the Muenster area during the past ten years, but that is only about one-fifth of the total that is needed.

Safe outlets for terrace water are necessary before terraces can be built. Pasture grasses offer a safe outlet where available. If no safe outlet is available then a broad grassed waterway must be installed to carry the terrace water safely from the field.

The ASC office will share the cost of terrace construction and the Upper Elm-Red SCS district offers technical assistance in terrace and waterway layout through the help of the Soil Conservation Service, so why not use the help available and build those needed terraces now? It's later than you think.

Disasters in Four Months Set New Records in Texas

AUSTIN — Unprecedented floods, tornadoes and severe weather during the first five months of 1957 have taken a property toll in Texas estimated at $91,106,224. These are the figures submitted in a report to Governor Price Daniel by State Defense and Disaster Relief headquarters this week.

Preliminary estimates place the flood damage at $69,700,000. A new survey of crop damage now being conducted may raise this estimate.

The Weather Bureau estimates damage by tornadoes, hailstorms, the March blizzard and other severe weather from February 16 through May 31 at $16,745,833. This does not include floods and loss of livestock.

State agencies' contribution to disaster operations is now placed at $3,360,391.

In addition, the cost of Red Cross assistance in meeting eligible needs of individuals and families is now estimated at $1,300,000.

A tornado, which struck near Harlingen February 16, touched off a chain of weather violence unequalled in the history of Texas. This was followed by the worst spring blizzard (March 19) ever to hit the Texas Panhandle.

With thousands stranded, the death toll was held to a surprising seven. Then came the dis-trous Dallas tornado of April 2 that claimed nine lives. This was followed by the devastating Lampasas flood on May 12 that destroyed 90% of the business district, smashed 310 homes and killed five persons. Following close on the heels of this disaster, a roaring funnel descended out of black clouds just before midnight May 16 and destroyed Silvertown, killing 19 people.

It was on May 24 that 22 tornadoes churned across a terrified Texas. Scores of other funnels were sighted but did not dip to the ground. Never before in the history of the Weather Bureau had there been such a day of violence, setting a new record which Texans will not point to with pride.

Lindsay News

Julius Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hess, has returned to work at Convair in Fort Worth after a two-week vacation. He spent one week sight-seeing in Colorado and one week at home with his family.

Sixty-four family members attended a reunion honoring Sister Frances of Fort Smith, Ark., while she visited her sisters, Mrs. Sophie Stoffels and Mrs. J. C. Schmidkofer. The two were hostesses for the get-together in the Lindsay hall.

Rev. Sylvester Schad of Corpus Christi and Brother John Schad of Subiaco had vacations at the same time to visit their mother, Mrs. Sophie Schad. The former is still here but Brother John has returned to the abbey. Ed Schad took him back.

MAMA, LOOK AT BOBO—It's hard to tell whether mama hippo "Cleopatra" is bewailing her fate or singing the praises of her new offspring. The youngster, named "Bobo," looks on as his mother states her opinion at the Cheyenne Mountain Zoo in Denver, Colo.

Building And Improvement Notes

Building and improvement activity in the Muenster area continues at a snail's pace, reflecting the scarcity of the year's crops.

Wilfred Bindel's new home on Hickory is the only new structure currently in progress in town. Work on it, delayed about two weeks by harvesting, will get under way again soon. Inside work is almost finished, brick laying is due to start Saturday.

A new home for the VFW post has been OK'd by the membership but is still in the planning stage. It will be on the location occupied by the present building, hence will be preceded by a removal and salvage job. The starting date has not been set.

Current improvements at the Baptist church consist of a paint job on the outside woodwork and a sidewalk around the church. Painting is finished and the sidewalk will likely be finished before the week ends.

The Ray Owen home has just received a one room addition and new siding for the entire house.

Two rooms at the Ed Hess home are getting a new paint job to repair smoke and water damage in a recent fire. Flames were brought under control by the family before they did serious damage.

The Al Horns are building a double garage attached to their house.

The activity on the Variety Store roof this week is a job that was crowded out in the pre-opening rush last fall. The big sign temporarily set up on planks is being installed for keeps.

Confetti - - -

unicellular green algae brought on by an overdose of land fertilizer.

It's a way of saying that farmers have done a splendid job of improving the fertility of their soil. By the use of legumes and commercial fertilizer land is being made better year after year. The sad fact, however, is that so much of the land with its treasure of precious plant food was carried away during the heavy rains.

Relax Shows War Film About a Nun, A Marine and Japs

Rated as one of the top pictures in many a moon on the Relax Theatre schedule is "Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison," which will be shown next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. It is a delightful and touching story of a tough marine and a nun marooned on a Japanese occupied island during World War II . . . their dangers and hardships, their courage and resourcefulness in avoiding discovery and eventually rendering their country a valuable service.

Deborah Kerr and Robert Mitchum are stars of the picture, which is given an A-1 classification.

3 Sisters Teaching Henrietta Children

Two former teachers in Sacred Heart school, Sister Canisia and Sister Gertrude, were here for a short time Saturday after arriving from Jonesboro, Ark., and before going to Henrietta to teach a summer class of religious instructions for children. Sister Agnes, already here for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Barney

Voth, joined them.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Miller met Sister Canisia and Sister Gertrude in Dallas. Parishioners from Henrietta came here for the Sisters.

Local Group Wins Banner at Rally For Baptist Youth

Young people of the First Baptist church, accompanied by their pastor, Rev. Billy Whitt and Mrs. Whitt and J. B. Cason, adult leader, went to a county youth rally at Custer City Saturday night and won the banner for having the largest group present on a percentage basis.

At the meeting, Jimmy Harris was nominated for vice president of the Cooke County Youth Rally. The organization will elect its officers at the next meeting on July 27 at Myra.

Before attending the rally the Muenster group had a picnic at Leonard Park.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kupper has been named Rose Ann. Mrs. Johnnie Sturm of Gainesville and John Kupper of Valley View were godparents at the baptism.
