"Never underestimate the ability of today's young people," the Very Rev. Msgr. Paul Charcut told a convention crowd of about 200 here Sunday. The Dallas pastor, as principal speaker for the district meeting of the Catholic State League, delivered an address designed to instill in his audience more confidence in today's youth who, he declared, are the finest the world has ever known.

It's true, he said, that juvenile delinquency is a current problem. People are alarmingly aware of it. It's publicized. The bad is talked up and the good is talked down. "So look for the good, and bring it to the front," he concluded.

The address was also designed to instill a greater sense of responsibility in young people who soon will be taking over as leaders of the League.

A second address themed on youth was given by Florentine Vogel of Muenster speaking for the League's Youth Section.

Delegates from six of the seven affiliated parishes of the North Texas District were in the audience when Nick Block of Lindsay was returned to the office of president for another year and Ed Schad, also of Lindsay, was re-elected secretary-treasurer by acclamation.

State officers present included Walter Zimmerman of Selma, men's section; Mrs. S. Marturano of Temple, president of the Women's Union; Mrs. Frank Scheffe of Windthorst, state chairman of the general fund drive; and Mrs. Frank Herr of Muenster, secretary. Each spoke briefly and Mrs. Marturano brought the message from her group. Arthur Endres of Muenster gave a report on the Catholic Life Insurance Union.

A special feature of the meeting was the judging of essays on rural life written by students of the district. Windthorst won both first places in the boys' and girls' high school division and the (Continued on Page 10)

Robert E. Ryle, 63, Dies Sunday After Extended Illness

Robert E. (Bob) Ryle, 63, formerly of Muenster, died in a Wichita Falls hospital Sunday at 5:15 p.m. after a prolonged illness. For the past eight years he had lived in Saint Jo.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the Daugherty Funeral Chapel in Saint Jo with Rev. Ray Nobles officiating. Burial was in Riverside cemetery in Wichita Falls. P. J. Rollman, Earl Fisher and Reeve Cooke were three of the pallbearers.

Ryle, a pumper for Shell Oil Company, lived in Wichita Falls before moving to Muenster in 1931. He was born at Whitesboro Aug. 17, 1894.

He was a member of the Baptist church, Quarterback Club and an inactive Mason at Saint Jo.

Survivors are his wife of Saint Jo; a daughter, Helen Ryle, a nurse in Wichita Falls; and a son, Robert Ryle Jr. of Wichita Falls. Other survivors are two sisters and five brothers.

2 More Baseball Games on Schedule

Baseball schedules at both of the Muenster schools have only one more game to go. Sacred Heart will have a tussle with Windthorst and Muenster HI will play Callisburg, dates for both games to be determined by the convenience of the games concerned.

Both teams have a rugged record for the season so far. The Tigers lost both of their 2 out of 3 series with Laneri for the SAL district title. Also a game to Windthorst. The Hornets lost to Valley View, Sanger and Era before upsetting the Saint Jo Panthers.

Little League Deal: City Gives Lights, Kids Repair Stand

Members of the city council and officials of the Muenster Little League made a mutually beneficial deal Monday night at the council meeting. The kids will have free lights for their games and the city will have better seats at the grandstand.

The Little League will give $100 out of its treasury toward the construction of grandstand seats. As far as the city is concerned this is practically a matter of swapping dollars. The cost of lights for the kids' games amounts to about $100 a year.

Value of Detention Reservoirs Shown By Available Data

With several days of clear weather following last week's record rains, the flood control value of the Elm creek detention reservoirs begins to become apparent.

Emmitt Yoder, technician of the Muenster SCS, reported Wednesday that two of four sites inspected that morning are down almost to the permanent pool level and the other two sites still have a long way to go.

Sites that have drained back to the permanent level are Ben Voth's and the Voth Bros. dam near the FM road south of town. The pools are very similar in that each has a detention pool volume of about 270 acre feet. The permanent pool volume of one is 58 acre feet and of the other 69 acre feet. Surface areas in each case are about 21 acres and 8.7 acres.

One of the pools filled to 28.8 feet at peak elevation last Friday and the other filled to 27.2 feet. By noon Wednesday both were almost down to the permanent pool level, one at 20.1 and the other at 20.4. In these pools, as in all of the Elm system, gauges are installed to show 20 feet at the permanent pool level.

Both were several feet short of the spillway at their high water mark, indicating that the dams probably held less than half their detention capacity. Since five days were required to drain off this amount of water, which otherwise would have gushed down the creek in a few hours, it is likely that either dam would need more than ten days to release its entire detention capacity.

A measure of the time needed to drain back from spillway to permanent level is now under way at two other locations, Site 3 on Grant's and Site 4 on Duesmann's.

Grant's was topping the spillway by about 6 inches Friday afternoon. Wednesday it had dropped to 1.5 below the spillway, still 18 1/2 feet above the permanent pool level, and apparently has about three more weeks to drain. Data already available shows that the dam prolongs drainage on its watershed from a few hours to as much as three or four weeks.

The same applies at Duesmann's. The five days since it went over the spillway have reduced the lake level to only 1.2 feet below the spillway. Again, the data so far seems to indicate that runoff for the watershed is extended from several hours to several weeks.

Persons who have been immunized for typhoid are reminded to get their booster shots. For those beginning typhoid shots there will be two more opportunities on succeeding Mondays to finish the series, Dr. Myrick said. However all other shots and tests must be taken next Monday.

Record Attendance Sees Conservation Awards Program

Almost 700 persons gathered at the municipal building in Sherman Tuesday night to honor conservation champions of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District.

It was the largest crowd in the eight years of the awards program sponsored by banks, newspapers and radios of the district.

J. C. Porter of the First National Bank, Wichita Falls, master of ceremonies, congratulated the winners on their achievements and praised all who helped in any way in the program to save and improve the soil. He also noted that each conservation awards program is an inspiration for greater progress in conservation work.

Rush Freeman, chairman of the board of supervisors, expressed the board's gratitude to the farmers who are applying conservation principles, to the conservation service technicians who are assisting in the work and to the banks, newspapers and radios for spreading interest in conservation.

The program featured the story of each champion's achievements in soil conservation. Jerry Talley presented the narrative while colored pictures of conservation scenes on the winners' farms were projected on a large screen.

Quality and Variety of Flowers at Show Runs High in Spite of Beating Rains

Visitors to the Civic League and Garden Club's annual flower show Sunday marveled at the quality and variety of displays which might well have been florists' products instead of blossoms produced in local yards subjected to battering rains for more than a week before the show date.

Theme of the show, "Between Shower," was carried out with a complement of umbrellas. It was held in the Muenster High school library from 4 to 9 p.m. About 125 persons registered in the guest book.

Mrs. R. N. Fette won the sweepstakes. Her entries claimed four firsts, two thirds and an honorable mention.

Sixty-eight entries in the show won ribbons. Judges Mmes. J. C. Donnell and T. S. Meador of Saint Jo tagged winning entries with blue, red, white and green ribbons denoting first, second, third and honorable mention.

Mrs. Joe Luke won an award of merit of rose specimens and Mrs. Arthur Endres was a tricolor winner in the arrangements class.

The show featured roses and irises supplemented with other seasonal flowers. One section was devoted to Madonna arrangements and there was a variety of striking dried arrangements. In the guest division for 4-H and FHA girls, Brownies and Girl Scouts, 14 youngsters won ribbons on their entries.

Rains Taper Off; Muenster Gets .83 During Past Week

A week of relatively dry weather has allowed this community welcome relief from the excessive soakings of the previous week. Following 12.43 inches of moisture in April and a start of 1.13 in May, Muenster's rainfall tapered off to .83 for the past week.

A scant quarter of an inch fell last Friday afternoon while a cloudburst suddenly spilled on the area northwest of Gainesville and more than an inch fell northwest of Muenster. Then came a few days of drying weather, until the rains Wednesday and Wednesday night for a total of .57.

Meanwhile farmers of the area are anxiously looking for more dry weather. Fields that are badly in need of work are too wet to allow tillage. All vegetation is still suffering from a surplus of water and the long scarcity of sunshine. All growth needs a few weeks of sun and dry air.

Prospects for grain are both good and bad. Oats and barley are frequently described as very good, with chances for bumper crops if conditions are good from now on. Wheat appears to be badly hurt by the record rains.

Pastures have a fine start toward recovering from their strain and hay crops are practically ready for a bountiful first cutting.

The moisture total for the month to now stands at 1.96. For the year it is 22.20.

GOC Meeting Gets Small Attendance

A poor attendance, only seven persons, was present Tuesday night for an interesting meeting of the Muenster Ground Observer Corps post.

The few present saw another interesting film on GOC duties and procedure and also had an interesting discussion with Post Supervisor Tompkins of Ringgold on holding joint meetings to break the monotony and swap ideas.

Pat Horn received an award for completing 25 hours in GOC training.

Water Leaks Repaired

Repair of four leaks on the city's water lines during the past week is saving about 20,000 gallons a day, according to estimates of the volume produced at the wells. Pumping time indicates that the volume has dropped from 100,000 to 80,000 daily. Three of the leaks were at Oak and Second and one at Main and Third.

Both of the youngsters had an individual birthday cake and had their pictures taken. Following the fried chicken meal, served at noon, the Sandmanns and the Swirczynskis attended the Catholic State League convention in the parish hall.

The Press Battles for its Freedom

JOHN PETER ZENGER was arrested "for printing and publishing several seditious libels dispersed throughout his journals or newspapers...."

Zenger was a New York printer in the days when Governor Cosby ruled the colony. Governor Cosby ruled in such an autocratic, overbearing manner that several indignant citizens started a newspaper to arouse the public against his tyranny. Zenger undertook to publish the newspaper.

Zenger was thrown into prison, and his bail was fixed at 800 pounds, a large sum for those days and quite beyond his ability to furnish. He stayed in jail for months, and his situation appeared hopeless.

The case finally was called to the attention of Andrew Hamilton, a distinguished Pennsylvania lawyer, who took up Zenger's cause as a public service. Hamilton forced the case to trial, and his speech to the jury, which led to Zenger's acquittal, is a ringing statement of what the press in America must still vigilantly fight for.

All men have the right, Hamilton maintained, "publicly to remonstrate the abuses of power...and to assert with courage the sense they have of the blessing of liberty...and their resolution at all hazards to preserve it."

Today in our country encroachments by governments and private interests alike upon freedom of the press are counter to law. Nevertheless, even today the press must battle constantly to keep that freedom intact.

Accurate Yardstick

Human nature being what it is, we frequently remember "the good old days" with nostalgia. Among our fond memories are the prices things used to cost in long past times.

For the most part, those prices were much lower than the prices we pay today — in terms of dollars and cents. But there are other and better yardsticks of price than money alone.

A tabulation concerning meat prices from 1919 to 1956 is an excellent example. The tabulation lists the average retail price of meat in each of the years, along with the workers' average hourly earnings. From this, the amount of working time that was needed to buy a pound of meat is computed.

In 1919, the typical worker had to put in 44.5 minutes of labor to buy that pound of meat. Thereafter, the figure rose and fell, reaching its prewar low of 21.6 minutes in 1940.

The war years are not included in the tabulation, because the artificial conditions and restrictions then in effect make accurate comparisons impossible. In 1947, 28.3 minutes of work went to buy a pound of meat. Then a steady decline set in. And last year, the average worker could earn his pound of meat for only 17.5 minutes of labor — which was the lowest figure ever recorded.

In other words, meat prices have risen — but wages have risen much more.

A Hitler Tactic

Opponents of right-to-work laws (which simply say that a man can join a union if he wants to and can refrain from joining if that is what he wants, and in either case he can work at his job free from coercion by union official or employer) argue that they are anti-labor, and that those who advocate them are trying to undermine the labor movement.

In this connection, a remark by Senator Goldwater is apt. He recalled that the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was one of the greatest friends of labor ever to occupy the White House, stated his absolute opposition to the requirement that a man must join a union, and characterized it as "a Hitler tactic."

And that is precisely what it is.

Pause For Reflection

... with James C. Ingebreten President, Spiritual Mobilization

Scientists recently unveiled "a secretly developed American invention . . . which they say promises to guide any kind of craft — plane, missile, ship, or submarine — free from enemy interference to any chosen spot on earth," according to an Associated Press dispatch from Cambridge, Mass.

"Heart of the system (developed by Massachusetts Institute of Technology) is a completely free-floating gyroscope sealed in a little four-inch cylinder the size of a tomato can. And this incredibly complicated mechanism always remains aimed in a fixed position in relation to the universe independent of the earth's motion. And it can't be affected by other natural phenomena such as weather, sunspots, and magnetic influences . . . the scientists added."

Well, now, if we human beings all had a similar device inside us that would keep us lined up on an absolute moral standard, the millennium would be here, wouldn't it? Actually, conscience, when rightly adjusted pretty well serves this purpose. The trouble of course, is that too often we "take over" from conscience and steer our lives in ways it does not direct. How can we honestly claim to be scientific until we apply to the guidance of our lives as much intelligence as we do to the guidance of an airplane or submarine?

The Common Law of Business Balance

"It's unwise to pay too much but it's worse to pay too little. When you pay too much you lose a little money — that is all. When you pay too little, you sometimes lose everything, because the thing you bought was incapable of doing the thing it was bought to do. The common law of business balance prohibits paying a little and getting a lot — it can't be done."

"If you deal with the lowest bidder, it is well to add something for the risk you run. And if you do that, you will have enough to pay for something better." John Ruskin.

Answer: Big Enough To Do The Job!

Last Day Of Bondage

It is pointed out that on May 10, the average American will serve a theoretical "last day of bondage," so far as 1957 taxes are concerned. What he has earned up to that time will just about cover his tax bill for the year.

What this means is that taxes in the United States currently take about 36 per cent of all our earned income. Putting it another way, all that we earned during the first 130 calendar days is needed to support our own governments of one kind and another.

So much for 1957. What of the years ahead? Will the "last day of bondage" come earlier in the year — or will it come later?

That depends on whether the people really want cheaper government, with the reduction in government activity that will involve, or just want to talk about it. Every billion dollars cut from the over-all cost of government would permit it to come one day sooner — and, conversely, every billion dollars added to that cost would delay it one day longer.

That brings up a slogan which is 100 per cent relevant. Here it is: "I'll take less from government — if government will take less from me."

I Am the Mother of Seven

By Mary Reed Newland, author of WE AND OUR CHILDREN

MY HUSBAND and I live in Monson, Mass. Bill works for the state highway department and I do some writing. But these are secondary jobs — our big job is to be Christian parents.

We have seven children: Monica, Jamie, John, Peter, Stephen, Philip and Christopher. We want them all to be spiritual-minded Christians conscious of their destiny as children of God and heirs of heaven.

ONE WAY we try to do this is to impress on them that they can find God in everything. For example, they can find God in the outdoors. Nature teaches children profound lessons about God. In nature they discover the signs of His genius and love displayed to serve and delight them.

Newland

I am amazed at the understanding the children show. One day one of them said, picking stones from a brook, "See the stones God washed for me." Country life is rich in such lessons. But lessons are found in the city too — at the park, by the river, in the sky, at the beach, on the window ledge.

AT HOME I find a lot of ways I can teach children about God. For example, blessing the bread before baking completes a work that both feeds and teaches. The children learn what Christ meant when He said, "You are the leaven." As the yeast lifts and makes the dough alive with its own life, so Christians must lift society with their love and service and make it alive with the Christ-life in them.

Teaching the children to pray is my greatest joy. With help, even very little children can learn to include in their prayers all four kinds of prayer: contrition, petition, praise, and thanksgiving. Christopher is three and likes to be helped to be sorry for his naughtiness, to ask for favors for those he loves, and to express his love for the "Holy Trinity living in my soul." His "thank you's" could go on all night. He especially likes to pray for the Communists "so they'll love God."

AND AFTER that comes the bedtime blessing. It is beautiful to see how important such a blessing becomes to a child. Even on evenings when things have not been exactly harmonious, each will come into my study where I write and ask, "Will you please give me your blessing?"

There are various ways of blessing. Mainly it is by saying, "God bless you, my child, in the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost," adding perhaps some wish for them like, "May you have a sweet sleep" or "a happy day tomorrow."

These are some of the things we do to solve the problem of raising children as Christians in a materialistic world. We have found that Christian family living can be fun.

The Ancient Romans built all their roads to lead into Rome. Hence the expression, "All Roads Lead to Rome." So expert were these early engineers, many of their roads are in use today!

Small budgets love big Fords

You don't have to be rich to enjoy fine-car luxury. The new kind of Ford is America's lowest-priced* big car . . . yet it offers the beauty, V-8 GO and luxury ride of cars costing far more!

If you love big-car performance you'll love our '57 Ford.

If you love thrift you'll love our '57 Ford. No car ever before has offered such perfect blending of big-car luxury and small-car price.

Once you take the wheel, you'll discover how the "Inner Ford" gives you the kind of ride you have experienced before only in cars costing far more. You'll find its advanced-design chassis and lower center of gravity let it corner as if it were on rails . . . that its engine is as responsive and nimble as a polo pony. Six or V-8 the going is great!

But even though this Ford handles like an expensive car, it's still priced Ford-low. In fact, model for model right across the board, the 1957 Ford is the lowest priced of the low-price three!

Ford is worth more at trade-in time. And when you go to trade your Ford, you'll find Ford's traditionally high resale value makes it worth more at that time, too.

Why not come in and Action Test this fun-lovin', budget-lovin' Ford? Why not come in and see it today?

What to Do In a Tornado

People in open country can view the approach of a tornado and move at right angles to its path. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine.

In towns or cities, seek shelter inside, preferably in a substantial building. Stay away from windows.

The southwest corner of the basement of a frame house is safer than in a brick or stone house. If there is no basement, lie down on the first floor under a table or bed (preferably in the southwest corner).

Urban schools: Stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on a lower floor.

Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums.

Rural schools of frame construction: Teachers should remove children to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

Local Sale Barn Operation Subject To USDA Standards

The Muenster Livestock Auction Commission Company is now subject to the regulations of the Packers and Stockyards Act.

This was announced here today by W. C. Ball, District Supervisor Packers and Stockyards Branch, Agricultural Marketing Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Ft. Worth.

"Livestock markets with 20,000 square feet of space or more, handling livestock for buyers shipping to other states, are subject to this law," explained Ball.

Congress designed the law to protect the interest of farmers and ranchers selling livestock at markets which operate on a commission basis.

"At the same time, it give protection to the market operator, too," Ball pointed out, "and assures the community of a well established, financially strong market outlet for its livestock plus a reliable source of supply for packers."

When a yard is "posted", it becomes subject to the highest operating standards set out in the law, Mr. Ball explained.

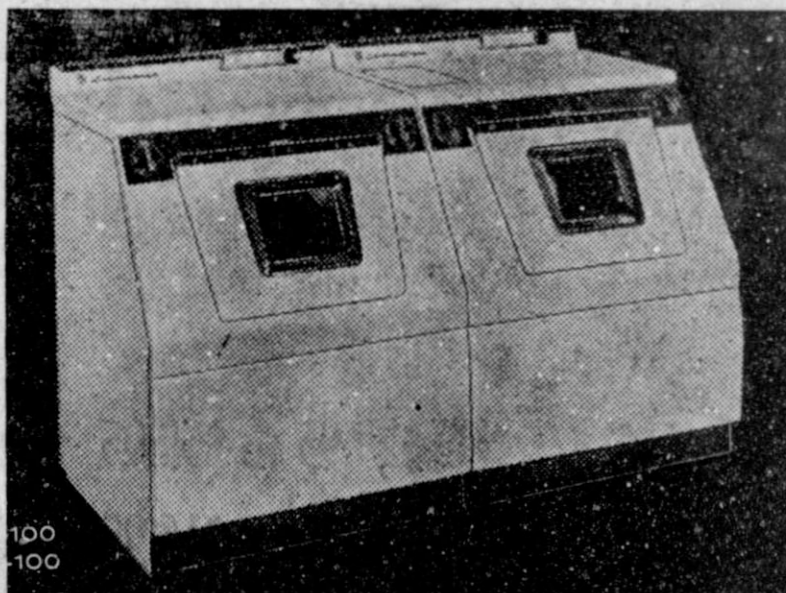

The Packers and Stockyards staff check a posted market regularly to verify the accuracy of its scales, general accounting of funds to farmers, charges for marketing, feed and other services.

Ball said that Texas has more markets operating under the Packers and Stockyards Act now than any time in history — about 100.

The James Flusches Recently Married Make Decatur Home

Mr. and Mrs. James Flusche are making their home in Decatur following their recent marriage. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Flusche of Decatur, former Muenster residents, and his bride, the former Sarah Becker, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Becker of Denton.

The nuptials were read April 24 in the new Immaculate Conception church in Denton with the Rev. Hubert Neu of Dallas, cousin of the groom, officiating at the double ring ceremony and wedding mass.

The bride's waltz-length princess dress was of white lace over satin. Her tulle veil fell from a lace dutch cap and she carried a bouquet of white roses. Her father gave her in marriage.

Louise Becker was maid of honor for her sister and Viola Flusche, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. They wore identical sheaths of lilac lace over matching taffeta and carried nosegays of white carnations.

Arnold Flusche was best man for his cousin and Joe Schmidtkofer of Gainesville was groomsman. Jerry Flusche of Decatur and Paul Machart of Denton were altar boys. George Becker of Denton and Larry Flusche of Decatur ushered.

At a reception held in Virginia Carroll Lodge, Evelyn Flusche registered the guests and Mary Ann Machart served the cake.

The bride was graduated from Denton High school and attended TSCW. The groom is a graduate of Subiaco Academy, Subiaco, Ark.

Among out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Flusche and son David, Ted Henscheid, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fetsch, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Lutkenhaus and Mrs. Wilfred Bindel of Muenster; Mr. and Mrs. John P. Neu, grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Joe J. 125 Young People Present for CYC Hour of Adoration

Twenty-six members of the Muenster CYC and Father Christopher, spiritual director and deanery moderator, attended the monthly hour of adoration in Saint Mary's church at Gainesville last Wednesday night. A total of 125 young people from the Sherman deanery were present. Parishes represented in addition to Muenster and Gainesville were Lindsay, Valley View, Denison and Sherman.

TP&L Drops Charge On Some Services

Several modifications in its present rate schedules, which will result in minor decreases in the cost of electric service to a limited number of customers were filed by Texas Power & Light Company with the City of Muenster.

The modified schedules will become effective on bills rendered on or after May 16th, stated Fred Lynn, TP&L manager.

"Principally, the revisions will affect the manner in which churches with air conditioning installations are billed for power service," Mr. Lynn said. "The revisions will also provide slight reductions for a small number of residential customers, principally those using single phase central air conditioning systems," Mr. Lynn pointed out.

Another revision filed by the Company will increase the amount of credit that large power customers will receive when they provide their own transformers.

"These rate modifications," Mr. Lynn said, "are made in line with the Company's policy of keeping its rates as equitable and as nearly in line with the cost of doing business as possible."

THE "BALLOON SUIT" on the model above is not a Man from Mars, but is one of the exhibits in the Atoms for Peace Show on display at Midwestern University during the Wichita Falls Diamond Jubilee. It is worn by personnel working in areas of radioactive contamination, a precaution necessary in handling nuclear energy materials.

Fire Ant, Bad Actor Of South America, Appears in Texas

College Station — The imported fire ant, the subject of considerable discussion of late in the U. S. Congress, has been reported in Anderson, Tyler, Jasper, Newton, Hardin, Orange, Jefferson, Liberty, Chambers, Harris and Fort Bend counties in Texas. This ant, according to Extension Entomologist F. M. Fuller, is a bad actor and the fire refers to its sting.

The ants are believed to have entered the U. S. cargo stowaways from South America and have spread rapidly from the Mobile, Alabama area to other parts of the South by flying and crawling, by drifting downstream in logs, by traveling aboard cars, trucks, trains and airplanes and by being transported in nursery stock.

Once established, they seriously damage many vegetable crops by feeding on the young plants by softening the tender stems just below the soil and sucking the plant juices. They attack young unprotected animals, such as new born calves and pigs and newly hatched quail and poultry. They are fond of quail and will enter the pipped eggs to get them. The ants often chase brooding hens from their nests and eat the chicks. Too, their mounds interfere with the harvesting of hay, silage or seed.

Imported fire ants distinguish themselves by the mounds they build, says Fuller. The mound of a new colony may be only a few inches high but as the colony grows, so does the mound. The average mound is from 10 to 12 inches high. They prefer open, sunny sites in pastures or uncultivated areas, but may be found just about any place.

Area treatment is the best solution to the fire ant problem. To treat one acre, Fuller says 40 pounds of 10 percent chlordane or 5 percent dieldrin or aldrin or 5 percent heptachlor should be used. At the first sign of infestation, control measures should be started, says the entomologist, and this will mean treating the individual mound or mounds. The mound should be torn down with a rake or hoe, then from one to two cups of the above listed insecticides should be applied as dusts to the mound and a 10-foot area around it. Local county agents can supply additional information on this pest.

Cancer Diagnosis Is Not Necessarily A Death Sentence

AUSTIN — Ever since the first spark of life appeared on this earth, cancer has been one of the most fearsome, most enigmatic diseases mankind has had to contend with. But we know more about it than is generally realized. We know enough, in fact, that a diagnosis of cancer need not be considered a sentence of death.

We know that all types of cancer are different since they affect different tissues of the body. We know cancer has no respect whatever for age, although it does occur more frequently after 40. Conversely, we know it causes more deaths than any other natural cause in children between 9 and 12.

Cancer is not inherited, except in perhaps two rare types. A tendency toward cancer may be passed from one generation to another, but the actual cancer cell is not inherited. This we also know.

We know that cancer is not contagious or communicable from one person to another. We know that certain agents or conditions will cause certain types of cancer or are factors in causing cancer. For example, exposure to sunlight over long periods of time (farmers, seamen) is known to cause certain types of skin cancer. Certain chemicals such as aniline dyes may cause cancer in experimental animals. An injury or prolonged irritation of the mouth or lip area such as sometimes comes with habitual pipe smoking is also a factor in causing cancer. Prolonged exposure to x-ray or radium may also cause cancer of the skin or other parts of the body.

We know that certain malignancies are self-limiting; that is, they have the curious property of curing themselves without treatment. This is an unusual happening, but it does occur for some unknown reason.

Perhaps the most important thing we know about cancer, many cases can be cured by early removal by surgery or by irradiation with x-ray or radium or a combination of these techniques. Rapid strides are now being made in treatment of certain types of cases with chemical compounds.

Since it can be cured, why do more than 10,000 people die in Texas with cancer each year? Because by the time the disease is recognized it is too far advanced for effective treatment. Half of these persons could be saved by early and adequate treatment.

If this one cardinal fact could be drilled into the minds of people until it moved them to action at the appropriate time, cancer deaths would skid downward almost overnight.

Here again are cancer's seven danger signs. It will pay to memorize them: irregular bleeding or discharge from body openings, unexplained change in normal bowel habits, sore that does not heal properly, persistent cough, any lump especially on breast, constant indigestion, unexplained weight loss, and change in moles.

It costs the railroads $20,000-000 annually to keep their tracks clear of snow and ice.
