Planners of Party As Surprise Event Are Surprised Ones

Family members of John Schmitz who planned a surprise party for him Sunday were the surprised ones when Mr. Schmitz failed to show up and missed out completely on his 71st birthday celebration.

Schmitz, whose home is in Dallas, was fishing at Lake Texoma, and the family member delegated to get word to him to come to Muenster somehow failed to get the message through.

But the party went on with a substitute honoree, young Mike Schmitz of Gainesville, whose birthday occurred this Wednesday. To him went the privilege of cutting his granddaddy's decorated cake.

The gathering was held in the City Park and those present brought covered dishes for the noon meal.

Together for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilde and children Danny, Joan and Janice, Mr. and Mrs. Al Horn, Mrs. Grant Cox visiting here from Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Schmitz and sons Buster and Mike of Gainesville and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Schmitz and son Joey of Thackerville.

Local Group Attends Service at Victory Convent, Fort Worth

Two former Muenster young women and one from Lindsay participated in ceremonies at Our Lady of Victory Convent on August 15 and about 40 relatives and friends of the trio from here attended the services.

Sister Christina, the former Edna Hesse, made her first vows as a member of the Sisters of St. Mary of Namur and Postulants Nelda Bayer and Maria Fuhrmann received the habit and white veil of novices. Nelda, now Sister Damien, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bayer and Maria, now Sister Mary Helen, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Fuhrmann.

In the ceremonies at which Mgr. William F. O'Brien of Dallas, vicar general of the Dallas-Fort Worth diocese, officiated seven postulants received the habit, one pronounced first vows, 13 renewed vows and three made permanent vows.

Attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bayer and family accompanied by Donald Bayer of Crowell, Messrs. and Mmes. George Bayer, J. H. Bayer, A. D. Walterscheid, Leo Hesse and Margie, Alfons Reiter, August Walterscheid and Norbert Koesler, Mrs. Albert Knabe, Mrs. Herbert Fette, Mrs. Angelina Shumaker, Joaline Mollenkopf, Cindy Wimmer, Mrs. Joe Bayer, Mrs. Joe Walterscheid, Tony Hesse, LaVerna Hess, Caroline Hesse, Evelyn Haverkamp, Raymond and Bernard Hesse, and Mrs. Victor Hartman.

Present from Lindsay were Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Fuhrmann and family, Raymond Lutkenhaus, and Mike Fuhrmann accompanied by his daughters Sister Henry Ann of Abilene and Mrs. Albert Klement of Gainesville.

After the morning services, Muensterites visited with other relatives and friends at the convent and the Adolph Walterscheid's were guests of the Ferd Yostens. Mrs. Hartman went to the hospital to see her husband and also visited her daughters Mmes. Keith Tompkins and Teddy Gremminger.

Let's Amend The Court

Thousands of lawyers and judges throughout the nation are fumbling their way through a maze of confusing and contradictory Supreme Court pronouncements based not on Constitution and precedent but on which way the social political winds are blowing. And based on which Justices' hearts are bleeding for what social reforms and which Justices have what chips on their black-robed shoulders.

The historic "Black Monday" segregation decision in 1954 was just the beginning. It has been followed by a series of law-making "liberal" decisions limiting the power of states and Congress.

Turning from Black Mondays the Supreme Court has just turned loose five of 14 convicted California Communists (the other nine will get a new trial but it won't turn loose the sovereign states of the South to run their own affairs as the majority of their citizens want them run. The Court has ruled that government workers, unless they're in "sensitive" jobs, cannot be fired just because they're security risks. Thus "non-sensitive" Communists may rub elbows daily with government employees whose jobs involve our very lives. The Court has virtually denied Congress its historic right to conduct investigations.

In the recent Steve Nelson case, the Supreme Court nullified sedition laws of 42 states and now permits the Federal Government alone to prosecute

Democracy Is Not Religion

By Will Herberg, Author of PROTESTANT, CATHOLIC, JEW

AT ITS deepest level the conflict between the Soviet menace and the free world is a religious conflict. It is not just an economic struggle or a fight for political power. It is literally a struggle for the soul of modern man.

How to win this struggle? We can't simply toss off slogans or clichés. We must re-examine the spiritual foundations of our society—and we must rededicate ourselves to these values.

BASIC TO

American democracy is the ideal of equality. And this basis must be essentially religious. Men are equal in their relationship to God. They are His children; He is their creator. Before Him they stand alike.

Herberg

But apart from a religious basis this ideal of equality is meaningless. Look around you. There is as much apparent equality among men as there are individuals. They are alike only in their root relationship to their maker.

ANOTHER ESSENTIAL element in the American idea of government is the knowledge of man's limitations. Our founding-fathers were not wide-eyed idealists trusting blindly in the goodness of man.

Our democracy has always been essentially realistic with a realism based on religious principles. It requires a strong sense of human dignity and of the inviolable rights of the human person as a being ordained to God. Our form of democracy has always had a notion of the temptations and corruptions of society, stemming directly from that great initial tragedy, original sin.

AMERICAN DEMOCRACY has always realized the limitations of democracy and of government in general. It appreciates the force of Jesus' injunction, "Render unto Caesar that which is Caesar's and unto God that which is God's."

True democracy, based on sound religious principles, refuses to allow itself to be made a religion. Democracy is essentially an instrument. It acknowledges a "higher law" and a higher sovereignty.

DEMOCRACY recognizes that it, and its expression through the wishes of the people, is not above criticism, change or reform. It sees that God alone is absolute and that every human idea or institution stands under His judgment and command.

Democracy then is rooted in faith, and not just a vague indeterminate faith, but in the firm beliefs of our Judeo-Christian tradition that has always seen man and his institutions as God's subjects.

† Paulist Feature Service, Washington 17, D. C.

Communists for plotting the government's violent overthrow. The Court has recently opened FBI files to criminals and Communists.

The Supreme Sociologists have declared in effect that Communism is merely another political party deserving of the same protection as Democrats or Republicans. Thus our Supreme Court suggests that Communism may not be subversive, after all, even though we're spending billions fighting it around the world. These rulings comprise the greatest Communist victory since America mistakenly saved Russia from Hitler. Come to think of it, have the Communists lost any cases before the present Souped-up Court?

The Supreme Court office is granted for life, but only "during good behavior." Thus Congress and the President have the power to curb or oust Supreme Court judges. The Supreme Court members have forfeited their right to life-tenure and should be made directly responsible to Congress and the people. Since the Court is making policies it should be accountable to somebody. The political justices are now accountable to no one but themselves.

We the people have amended the Constitution 22 times. Let's amend the Supreme Court! Instead of Congress having to spend so much time correcting Court decisions, why not correct the Court? Amendments 11, 13, and 15 were adopted to overrule Court decisions. The Court needs curbing. Seems to me the best long range plan to insure getting the best judges, not crusaders, on the Court might be to limit their selection to judges who've served at least 10 years on Circuit Courts of Appeal. Thus we'd get men who've been dealing with legal problems instead of dealing with politicians. Men who're dissociated from politics and the local political scene. And even then, maybe Congress should have to confirm by a 2/3 majority instead of a simple majority. But most important, let's amend the Constitution to limit the term of each judge to, say, nine years, with one new judge replacing, each year, the judge with the longest tenure: first on, first off. —Tom Anderson in Farm and Ranch.

Some of our leading families years but can't tell you where car trace their ancestry back 800 their children were last night.

Gainesville College Opens September 5

Dean J. H. Parker announces the opening of the thirty-fourth annual session of Gainesville College with first classes beginning Thursday, September 5, 1957.

Pre-registration will begin Tuesday, September 3, and continue through Wednesday, September 4, at the college office and library building, 1129 Lindsay Street, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Registration for night classes will begin each day at 6:00 p.m.

With an enlarged staff of all-college teachers and greater opportunity for counseling, the pre-enrollment, according to Dean Parker, will give the student the advantage of choice in subjects and selection of classes to fit his own time.

The day and night class scheduling, now an accepted part of Gainesville College work, is set up with the needs of the following types of students in mind: (a) the student desiring full time, transferrable college courses; (b) the part time, adult student desiring to fit courses which he needs into his work schedule; and (c) the veteran entering upon either day or night, part or full time training.

Among the courses scheduled for the coming semester are the required subjects basic to all courses, pre-professional subjects, business subjects, industrial arts, speech, music, physical education, sciences, both technical and non-technical, mathematics, and education.

The college office will be open from 9 a.m. until 4:00 p.m. each day beginning with August 23 through August 31 so that anyone desirous of securing added information may do so.
