

MUENSTER ENTERPRISE

VOLUME XXII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS,

JANUARY 3, 1958

NUMBER 6

It's hard to estimate the real value of the annual invitation basketball tournament which was held last weekend in the Muenster High gym. In addition to cash receipts at the affair there are such intangible factors as the good will resulting from a well conducted athletic event, the favorable impressions created by the town's appearance, and doubtless a few extra dollars of business from visitors who chose to have a look at our downtown area.

The most valuable benefit in the long run is the lasting and favorable impression given to hundreds of youngsters and oldsters of North Texas. For years they will remember our town as hospitable, good looking and friendly.

Credit for this goes primarily, of course, to Prof. Homsley and the teachers who, like himself, gave up three holidays to work at the tourney, also to a few other adults and the dozens of students who helped. And not to be overlooked are the business people and residents who did their part to make the town more beautiful. By their efforts in personal and civic pride they have created the impressions which will remain long as community assets.

After four years of the tournament we can be certain that we have made friends and influenced people. From here on, if we so decide, we can add a little more every year to the town's prestige. All it takes is continued effort on the tournament and the town's appearance.

Concerning all this there are two factors which are important to the community, the impressions created in the minds of visitors and the improving civic spirit of persons who seek to create good impressions. And it's worth while to notice that we've already established a good system . . . an event to bring in hundreds of visitors and special efforts to impress them favorably.

Until we know more of the details concerning the President's proposed scholarships to science students we'll just have to content ourselves with the opinion that its objective is fine. Further appraisal will have to await further disclosures on methods of administration and identity of persons who will be exerting influence.

In this connection we take notice of comments that were made promptly by some big shots of the National Education Association. They did not think the proposal was quite adequate. Well let's hope that this program will not be shaped by them.

As many of us recall, these are the fellows who got the American education system into its trouble in the first place. They are the progressive education champions whose crackpot theories have permitted and even encouraged students to take the easy courses. They claimed that each personality must have the privilege to assert itself with the end result that students have been sadly lacking in either mental or moral discipline.

We hope the administration will have the good judgment to by-pass those fellows when it goes looking for opinions. It will do the country a far greater service if it will consult instead with members of the old school who are more interested in scholastic excellence than in pampering the students.

But that isn't the only important concern. Suppose this thing is set up in accordance with good sound principles, what assurance have we that the program will not be sabotaged by crackpot or left wing teachers? Often during the past several years we've heard alarming stories of communists who are permitted to spread their poisoned doctrine without restraint in large universities. They claim a right to academic freedom and the professional educationists, with their twisted or subversive

Stephen Endres, 7, Is Victim of Tragic Back Yard Accident

Shocking tragedy struck at the home of Mayor and Mrs. Urban Endres two days before Christmas when little Stephen, just under 8 years old, died following an accident at the swing in his back yard.

The child's lifeless body, discovered by his father about 7 o'clock in the evening, was hanging in the loop of a light cotton rope, both ends of which were tied to a brace on the swing's frame. His overturned wagon lay nearby, pointing to a probability that the boy fell into the loop as his wagon turned over.

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock Tuesday in Sacred Heart Church with Father Louis Deuster officiating at the Mass of Requiem. In the sermon Father Louis stressed that, according to the dictates of faith, the sadness of the untimely death is offset by the fact that a soul has reached its eternal reward, that the child enjoys a greater happiness than it could ever have hoped to attain on earth.

Burial in Sacred Heart Cemetery was under the direction of Nick Miller with Father Louis again officiating at the grave side services. Pallbearers were two cousins, Sammy Endres of Muenster and Bobby Breeding of Gainesville, and four classmates of Sacred Heart School, Glenn Trachta, Robert Miller, Lawrence Bruns Jr. and Tommy Joe Trachta.

Prior to the funeral two rosary services, at 2 and 3 o'clock, were conducted for the deceased child in the Nick Miller Funeral Home.

Stephen Endres was born on January 11, 1950, the second child of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Endres. He was a pupil in the second grade of Sacred Heart School.

Survivors besides his parents are a sister, Eileen, two brothers, Carl and Danny Joe, the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Endres, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Miller of Gainesville.

Moisture Measure For '57 is 51.80 in.

Muenster's rain measure for 1957, which had long ago topped all previous records of the community, was increased by another .85 inch on Christmas Eve, bringing the year's total to the astounding figure of 51.80 inches.

Previous rains for December measured .13 and .34 on the 6th and 7th making a total of 1.32 for the month.

Not only does the rain measure reach far over the previous record of 43.53 in 1950 and the ten year average of 39.93, but it also set a few monthly records while it was in the making. Measures of 12.43 in April, 9.68 in May and 7.60 in November were the wettest for their respective months in the past ten years. The April measure also topped every other month of the 10 year period, the next highest being 10.47 in 1950. Another record of some sort was set when the previous year's rainfall, 19.06 inches, was passed before the end of April.

The local moisture record for the past eleven years is as follows.

John Surratt Dies Of Heart Attack

John E. Surratt, well known over most of North Texas for his assistance to small communities in their civic developments, died of a heart attack last Friday at his home in Dallas. Funeral services were held at 11 o'clock Monday in the First Baptist Church of Dallas.

Mr. Surratt is remembered as the man who sparked a surge of community development here and pointed to Muenster for years as a town that is going places.

He came here first in 1938 on the invitation of J. M. Weinzapfel as a representative of the Kessler Plan Association of Dallas. On the theory that Dallas prospers on the prosperity of the smaller towns in its trade area, the association offered to assist small North Texas towns in their community building problems.

Surratt emphasized the urgent need of such improvements as civic beautification, pave-

Savings Accounts At Bank Increase Over 40 Per Cent

Officers of the Muenster State Bank this week point with pride to the remarkable growth made by their savings department during the past year. From last year's $400,000 the account has grown to the present $570,000, an increase of more than 40 per cent.

Almost as remarkable is the account's growth to its present figure in a comparatively few years. It was established in 1951.

According to J. M. Weinzapfel, president, the figure is made up of more than 500 separate accounts and interest earnings, at the rate of 2½ per cent compounded semi-annually, amount to more than $11,000 for the year.

Besides earning money for their depositors these savings accounts perform a very definite community service, Weinzapfel pointed out. From their nature as long term deposits they are available for loans of longer duration and a large percentage of the money is being used for investments here, the investments which help develop the community.

Henscheid Opens Bookkeeping and Notary Service

A new business service becomes available in Muenster with the opening of the new year. It is a bookkeeping and notary service offered by Leo Henscheid in connection with his insurance agency.

On Monday and Tuesday Henscheid was busy setting up his office in the location just north of the post office. He officially opened the office on Thursday.

To begin the new venture Henscheid ended his association of more than 30 years with Waples Painter Company. He joined the company in June 1927, became local manager a few years later and served in that job until the store was closed in March 1953. Since then he has worked at the Gainesville store. He had been conducting his insurance agency on a part time schedule.

Muenster Gains 12 Business Firms in Past Seven Years

The number of business firms in Muenster have increased by 21.42 per cent during the past seven years, according to a statistical report just released by George A. Giese, regional vice president of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. in Dallas.

The article states that an actual count of firms listed in the Dun and Bradstreet reference book shows 56 in November 1950 and 68 in November 1957. It also states that the list includes only manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. It does not include service and professional businesses such as barber and beauty shops and stock or real estate offices.

Also shown on the report is an increase of 4.61 per cent in the business firms of Gainesville. The count there was 390 in November 1950 and 408 seven years later.

By coincidence Cooke County is shown as making no change for the period. Each count was shown as 507 but it does not indicate what towns were losing business firms while Muenster and Gainesville made their gain of 30.

Anselma Kathman is Bride of Airman in Rites December 26

Anselma Kathman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kathman, became the bride of Airman John F. Caughey of Puerto Rico during a nuptial high mass at 4 p.m. in Sacred Heart church Thursday, Dec. 26. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Caughey of Peoria, Ill.

Father Louis Deuster officiated at the mass and directed the exchange of the vows in a double ring ceremony. Mr. Kathman gave his daughter in marriage.

For her wedding, Anselma wore a floor length bouffant dress of white Chantilly lace over satin with fitted bodice and tiered skirt over layers of net. A crown of seed pearls and rhinestones held her finger-tip veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

The bride's attendants were close friends from Dallas, Rose Paluch as maid of honor and Ann Loftin as bridesmaid. They wore identical dresses of egg shell brocade faille with bateau necklines, short sleeves and wide gathered skirts with matching cummerbunds. Their headpieces were of white velvet with tiny veils and they wore white gloves. Their flowers were red carnations in colonial bouquets.

Raymond Walterscheid was best man and Bernard Haverkamp groomsmen. Both are cousins of the bride.

The altar was decorated with poinsettias and cedar and the men's choir sang the mass with Anthony Luke at the organ. After mass the newlyweds went to the Blessed Virgin's shrine where the bride placed a bouquet of white carnations on the altar while Mrs. Norbert Walterscheid sang "Mother at Your Feet."

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kathman wore a navy faille dress with a matching velvet hat and other accessories in black. The groom's mother also wore a navy blue costume. Both had corsages of white carnations.

A reception and buffet supper for about 250 guests honored the couple in the parish hall where cedar and red berries predominated in decorations. Afterwards a dance was held in the VFW hall. Clara Mae Haverkamp of Lindsay presided at the bride's book.

When Mr. and Mrs. Caughey left on a wedding trip of unrevealed destination she was wearing a two-piece blue knit suit with black accessories. They will live in Puerto Rico where he is stationed at Ramey Air Force Base.

Anselma was graduated from Sacred Heart High and St. Paul's School of Nursing in Dallas. Since October she had been nursing in Puerto Rico. She met Airman John Caughey while he was at Sheppard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls and she was nursing in Dallas. The couple came here by plane arriving Dec. 23. He attended the University of Illinois after finishing high school in Peoria.

Sacred Heart church was the scene Saturday, Dec. 28, of the wedding of Joan Klement and Richard Schleicher. Rev. Louis Deuster read the double ring ceremony at 5 p.m. and officiated at the nuptial high mass.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John A. Klement of Muenster and Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Schleicher of Dallas.

Joan, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz length gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. The moulded bodice had a brief stand-up collar and petal point sleeves, and the bouffant skirt billowed out over underskirts of net and satin. Her veil was shoulder length attached to a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a white orchid on top of a white prayer book. She also carried a crystal rosary belonging to her mother.

Betty Jean Klement was her sister's maid of honor and Dale Long of Dallas was bridesmaid. They wore identical waltz length dresses of nylon chiffon in tones of turquoise and aqua.

Their matching head pieces were crowns of velvet leaves with tiny veils. They carried colonial bouquets of red roses.

Jerry Klement, the bride's brother, was best man and David Klement, another brother, was groomsmen. Allen Long of Dallas and Willard Hartman ushered.

The church choir and Anthony Luke, organist, furnished music for the mass. Mrs. Rody Klement presented vocal solos.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Klement wore a beige wool sheath dress with brown and beige accessories. The groom's mother wore mink colored peude soie with brown accessories. Both had yellow rose bud corsages.

A reception and dinner in the parish hall honored the couple. About 250 guests attended. A dance followed in the VFW hall.

When Mr. and Mrs. Schleicher left on their wedding trip of unrevealed destination she was wearing a light blue flannel suit with black and white accessories. They will make their home at 3200 Washington in Greenville where she is assistant home demonstration agent. He graduates in January from North Texas State College in Denton and will be a salesman for a Dallas paper company.

Among out of town relatives and friends at the wedding were a chartered bus load from Dallas, the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schleicher of Cleveland, Ohio, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin of Eustis, Florida.

For the rehearsal dinner on Dec. 26 the groom's parents were hosts at the Curtwood in Gainesville. There were 14 guests.

A Communist Sees The Light

For many years one of the best known American communist artists was the novelist Howard Fast. Though he did not formally join the party until 1943, he had long been a dedicated and a passionate Marxist, and he had come to the belief that communism was "... an edifice dedicated singularly and irrevocably to the ending of all war, injustice, hunger, and human suffering — and to the goal of the brotherhood of man." His novels — which sold in tremendous quantities throughout the world — faithfully reflected this view in one way or another.

Then came the fateful day — June 5, 1956 when the New York Times published the long full text of the "secret" Krushchev speech which told in lurid details of the terrors and brutalities perpetuated under Stalin. This, for Mr. Fast and a number of other American Communist Party members, meant the parting of the ways. Now he tells his story in a book, "The Naked God," just published by Frederick A. Praeger, Inc. A section of it has been printed in the November 16 issue of The Saturday Review, under the title "On Leaving the Communist Party."

It is a somber, compelling and sometimes horrifying tale. Poverty, hunger and despair brought this highly gifted writer to the left-wing movement. He accepted, apparently in full willingness, the harsh disciplines of communism. These disciplines are backed by the threat of expulsion from the party — and to a sincere and devoted communist, Mr. Fast explains, "... expulsion was almost as bad as death — and sometimes worse."

He writes of party leaders under the Stalinist structure. A leader, Mr. Fast says, is a man (and his name is legion) "who dirties the page of history and blackens all the colors of man's dreams. He parrots the going party line ad nauseum. He "... eschews original opinions as the devil himself." He is contemptuous and threatening to those below him in the hierarchy, and a boot-licker of those above. Mr. Fast writes: "Not even the warden of the Federal prison where I served a sentence as a political prisoner years later ever treated me or anyone else with such inhuman disdain and contempt; indeed, the warden I refer to was a man of heart and compassion; and only in the Communist Party from Communist leadership have I experienced myself and

NEW YEAR - NEW OUTLOOK

By Cecelia Desmond, free-lance writer

JANUARY 1, 1958. Today we begin a new life. The slate is wiped clean and we look forward to a happy, productive year. But unfortunately, some of us will aim in the wrong direction and so miss the mark.

Take Joe for instance. To him, New Year's day means time off from work to recover from the revelry of New Year's Eve. He moans and groans about his terrific hang-over, resenting the price demanded for a night of drunkenness.

HE'S LOOKING forward to '58. This will be a great year for him. He plans to earn more money, pull some quick, slick deals (hidden from his conscience under the guise of smart business), increase his prestige and better his security.

But Joe, earthly possessions do not bring real security! If you pursued heavenly treasures with the same zeal and ambition you employ in the pursuit of money, you would be a very rich man some day and enjoy your wealth forever. As it is now, you run the risk of being permanently "hung-over" when the time comes to begin that New Life that never ends.

POOR SAM doesn't give a darn about the holiday. What's a new year to him? Just another year of work and worry. Everything is a year older, including himself. His future stretches forth, a monotonous continuation of a very drab past. He grimly marches on, wondering, "What's the use? What's there to look forward to?"

Come now, Sam, cheer up! Things aren't so bad. Look at the saints. They set their sights on heaven and regard time as a glorious opportunity to serve God. Like them, you could learn to bear your burden with joy and blessed hope. Carry your cross with the Saviour and one day Christ Himself will lift the heavy load from your shoulders and escort you into a land of eternal rest, joy and peace.

UNLIKE Sam, Bill woke up bright and cheerful this morning. He has decided to change his ways and become a better man in '58. Smiling at his long list of resolutions, he starts to put every one into effect immediately.

Many of us, like Bill, have also written out a nice long list of resolutions. We're all fired up and determined to do better. But being creatures of habit, we soon slip back into the same old rut.

WHY? Perhaps it's because we make and try to keep too many resolutions. Let's be different and practical this year. Instead of making and breaking a thousand resolutions, why not sum them into one and adopt it as our code of life. To put it in words, we might paraphrase an epistle of Saint Paul.

"I will deny ungodliness and worldly desires, I will live soberly, and justly, and godly in this world."

The Great Saint Paul directs us to the right road. If we follow it, this New Year will be a happy one, one that will be profitable both for time and eternity.

Making Second-Class Citizens

EGGS — A more profitable year is in prospect for Texas egg producers. Prices should be higher, feed costs lower, and sales are expected to be only slightly under the record volumes of 1956 and 1957. Production is expected to be off at the start of the year but cheaper feed and fair prices will likely encourage many farmers to re-stock their henhouses. An added boon is anticipated for Texas producers in the form of the new Texas Egg Law, which should raise prices and standards at the same time. Also in the offing is a Texas egg market report which the Texas Department of Agriculture hopes to get underway before spring. The proposed report would include egg prices in Houston, San Antonio and Dallas markets.

COTTON — Surpluses are down due to the weather foul-up of the 1957 crop. Although it is too early to tell, prospects right now are encouraging for 1958 cotton. Cottonseed oil prices are way up and in good demand. Exports of American cotton indicate stocks may be way down at Harvest time this fall.

Wife Athlete?

Frank — "Is your wife athletic?"
 George — "Hardy. Her only form of exercise is running up bills."

Farm Trends and Forecasts for '58

by John C. White
 Commissioner of Agriculture

Each new year brings new expectations and speculations on things to come — both good and bad. These are some of the present prospects for Texas agriculture:

LIVESTOCK — Prices are good now on livestock, and producers are making good profits. Bumper feed crops have decreased costs while prices are way up from a year ago. However, this windfall may not last too many months. Eager hog raisers could klut markets later this year, depressing prices. Range cattle prices are up sharply, cutting profit prospects for grain feeding.

SEED — The Texas Department of Agriculture Seed Division reports good germination potential on Texas cottonseed and hybrid sorghum seed tested so far. However, germination difficulties have been reported in many neighboring states, notably to the east of Texas on cottonseed and to the north of Texas on hybrid sorghums. Several states have lowered germination standards. There is plenty of good seed left and available in Texas. Best advice is to check seed tags carefully for germination ratio.

seen directed toward so many others such an attitude toward people."

Even a mild criticism of communist policy, on the part of a writer, could and would bring down denunciation of a sort that "... a civilized person would reserve for pathological criminals." Any kind of lying and deception was used if it would serve party ends. Mr. Fast cites a famous Soviet writer who, during a visit to New York, was asked what had happened to a number of other Soviet writers of whom nothing had been heard for a long time. He assured his audience that all were alive, well and working, and actually described in detail the works each was supposed to be engaged upon. This was a pure and deliberate fabrication. All the writers had been executed or were in prison.

Mr. Fast's defection from the party is all the more significant because, for so long, he made great personal sacrifices, financial and otherwise, to keep the communist faith. Even when he could no longer find a commercial publisher, he kept on writing and published his own books — an enterprise which is almost invariably a failure for an author. Yet, he says, he was luckier than his counterpart in the Soviet Union itself. For he was allowed to live and write even while he fought the policies of his own government. The Soviet writer who did that, by contrast, "... was cruelly tortured and put to death."

And now, Howard Fast tells us, he has found freedom. There is, to him, many an imperfection in the United States — but "... it is a land where the individual, in his work and in his rights, is recognized and defended." Then he says: "Whatever the Communist Party once was, today it is a prison for man's best and boldest dreams. Tomorrow belongs to those who break down the prison walls that enclose the minds of men, not to those who support such walls."

The Wall Street Journal reports that some South Dakota farmers living near Watertown felt they were being ticketed too relentlessly for parking meter violations when they drove into town. So when pleasant season opened they posted this sign on their farms: "No Watertown hunters allowed — you keep your meters — we'll keep our wildlife."

Litterbugs Impose $50 Million a Year Bill on Taxpayers

AUSTIN, TEXAS — Highway business is picking up. Any member of a highway maintenance crew can tell you — but this time it's bad news. Picking up litter thrown on the highways of the nation costs more than $50,000,000 a year in tax dollars used to clear trash from the highways and rights of way. In an effort to combat the trash-throwing litterbug in Texas, the Texas Highway Department recently conducted a survey to see if the distribution of litterbags to motorists, as recommended by the national Keep America Beautiful, Inc. and other organizations, would reduce the litter problem along Texas highways. A litterbag is a paper sack for stowing away the normal debris which collects in a car or truck during a trip. During a four-month test period (June, July, August, and September), the Texas Highway Department through its seven Highway Travel Information Bureaus at various entry points on the Texas border distributed 50,000 litterbags to motorists. The litterbags were furnished by the Texas Motel Association.

At the completion of the test period, a poll of 200 highway maintenance foremen throughout the state was taken to get their opinions of the litterbag. The fact that very few of the bags were found discarded along the roadsides indicated that the bags were being used, emptied, and re-used by the traveling public. Approximately 70 per cent of the foremen were in favor of the litterbag idea for reducing highway cleanups.

The survey clearly indicated that the worst litterbugs were local people, not the out-of-state visitors nor motorist from another area of the state, but local residents who discarded trash, bottles, and cans from automobiles and trucks. As one foreman put it, "People will do things at home they wouldn't dare do away from home."

Crewmen who clean the highways and rights of way stated that a wide distribution of the litterbags to both local and out-of-state motorists through the facilities of filling stations, restaurants, motels, hotels, and allied tourist services might do

Marysville News
By Mrs. B. G. Lyons

MARYSVILLE — Raymond Davidson went to Fort Worth to spend the 25th with his family and they all came back here a great deal toward making Texans conscious of the litterbug problem.

All personnel polled suggested that a widespread educational program be initiated to boost the use of the litterbag. Motorists don't realize that the habit of tossing litter on Texas highways is not only costly and dangerous, but is also against the law. Violators can be fined up to $200.00 and costs.

One foreman commented, "There are two relatively new innovations in automobiles which will help hold litter to a minimum — air conditioning and the built-in rubbish compartments. People are reluctant to roll a window down in an air-cooled automobile and get a blast of hot air just to throw something out the window. In some 1958 models, the manufacturers have installed a simple litter compartment which will keep a lot of rubbish off the roads. Perhaps the service station attendants could empty them as a free service. However, at present, the best solution seems to be the litterbag."

Though progress has been slow, indications are that one day Texas highways and roadside parks may be free of unsightly litter — and the litterbug vanquished by the litterbag plus a genuine desire among motorists to keep the roadsides clean.

Imogene Flusche, Albert Zimmerer Marry at Lindsay

Imogene Flusche and Albert Zimmerer were married Saturday during nuptial high mass in St. Peter's church at Lindsay at 9 a.m. Father Conrad Herda was the officiating minister.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. William R. Flusche and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Zimmerer, all of Lindsay.

Imogene was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace over slipper satin. The fitted bodice had a Queen Ann collar and petal point sleeves. The wide skirt of hand-clipped Chantilly lace and tulle ruffles was sprinkled with sequins. A tiara of seed pearls and sequins held her finger-tip length veil. She carried a white orchid and stephanotis on top of a white prayerbook, a gift from the groom. Adding a bit of sentiment she wore a lavalier and chain which belonged to her maternal great-grandmother.

The bride's four attendants were the groom's three sisters Cecilia, Beatrice and Dorothy Mae Zimmer, and her young sister Mary Katherine Flusche who was junior bridesmaid. They were dressed alike in turquoise blue taffeta and lace bouffants with matching half hats and mitts and carried pink carnations in heart shaped bouquets.

Attending the groom were William Flusche Jr., best man, Ernest Wolf and Melvin Voth. Jimmy Flusche was the junior attendant in his sister's wedding. Breakfast for the bridal party in the Flusche home, dinner for immediate family members in the Zimmerer home and a reception and buffet supper for about 300 guests in the Lindsay hall were on the day's program and festivities concluded with a dance at night.

Alice Voth of Gainesville and Barbara Luttmer of Grand Saline, cousins of the bride, registered the guests.

When Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerer left on their honeymoon she was wearing a two-piece teal blue suit with black accessories. They will make their home on the Hood Road. He is employed by Enderby Butane of Gainesville.

TV Series on Rome Will Begin Sunday

The first of four half-hour films telling the story of ancient, medieval and modern Rome will be shown next Sunday, January 5, at 12:30 p.m. on WBAP-TV, Channel 5.

The series, entitled "Rome Eternal," will be televised on Channel 5 on the four Sundays of January. It was produced jointly by the National Council of Catholic Men and the National Broadcasting Company and the showing is sponsored by the Dallas-Fort Worth Diocesan Council of Catholic Men.

The first film features fascinating scenes of ancient Rome including films from the current excavations of the Tomb of St. Peter. It also stresses the influence of the ancient city on the civilization, culture, art, architecture and government of later Europe, and marks the change over from pagan to Christian civilization.

Script for the series was written by Pulitzer Prize Winner Paul Horgan, a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters. Music was composed by Jacques Belasco and singing is by the Sistine Chapel Choir.

ment, good farm to market roads, rural electrification, better schools, recreational facilities, and systematic planning on water and sewer service to the city.

Within weeks the Ladies Civic League and Garden Club organized adopting community beautification in general and cemetery beautification in particular as its prime objective. Also within weeks Muenster formed the nucleus of the organization which developed a local rural electrification project and grew into the present Cooke County Electric Co-op. Another project which followed soon was the city sewer, installed in 1940.

Through the years since then Muenster has more than doubled its population and has established many of the improvements which were originally recommended. School facilities were vastly improved, a magnificent new church was built, many miles of city streets and rural roads were paved, new business firms were established and new business homes were constructed, water and sewer facilities were extended, the city park was improved, the swimming pool was built, and more than a hundred new homes were built.

Surratt used to point with pride to those signs of progress, as well as to details on local farm prosperity, as examples of what a community can do through wise planning and diligent effort.

Korean Youth Here For Yule Holidays

Andre Kim, a young native of Korea whose plan is to spend eight years absorbing as much as possible of the American way of life then return to serve his home country, has just completed a holiday visit with the Andy Hofbauers.

A sophomore at St. Mary's University, San Antonio, he was a frequent companion of Larry Hofbauer before Larry's graduation in June.

Kim intends to remain in the states until he receives a Ph.D. degree, meanwhile spending summers and holidays learning as much as possible about American customs and methods. When he returns he intends to follow the footsteps of his father in government service, and hopes to apply his American acquired knowledge and know how to improve the living conditions of his people.

thinking, sustain the claim to such a right. So it is that students are taught to ridicule the principles on which Americanism and Christianity are based. Those crackpots, or traitors, whichever they happen to be, can do equal damage to the President's program for promoting advances in science.

To be really effective, the attractive inducements should be accompanied by an intensive and extensive effort to get reds off our high school and college faculties. Furthermore, the job of booting out the undesirable and questionable characters should be left to the FBI rather than the professional educationists.
