MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS

APRIL 25, 1958

Campaign Message Presented at Two Parish Programs

The issue which has been kicked around this county for the past few weeks will be settled Saturday. Voters will go to the polls then to decide for or against the proposal for a half million dollar tax supported bond issue to finance a county hospital.

Groups of individuals supporting both sides of this issue have purchased advertising space in the Enterprise this week. Readers are urged to give careful attention to each of these ads, then by all means to go to the polls Saturday and cast their votes.

As usual in important questions of this nature this column also likes to throw in a few ideas of its own. It feels obliged to point out that despite the fond hopes we might entertain about a beautiful new plant with modern facilities, we should not lose sight of the good old American free enterprise axiom calling for private capital rather than public funds to finance business ventures. Public financing should be the last resort to acquire the things which are needed but cannot be provided otherwise.

Well, Cooke County has another way to get the proposed beautiful and modern hospital facilities. That's through the creation of a hospital authority which would build and operate as a corporation. The possibilities of such an organization here should be thoroughly exploited before we turn to a publicly supported hospital system. Unfortunately circumstances tripped us up and we got the situation reversed. The county bond issue proposal came first, so now we're stuck with deciding on it before we have time to really investigate the other method.

In effect this calls on us to vote down the proposal Saturday even though it is possible that the other method may never develop. Still it is a reasonable precaution. It's better to halt the socialistic way until we know what we can do about the private financing way. The loss of time and money in this election is a trifle compared with the principle involved here.

And, of course, other issues are also tied in with this election. One is the well known fact that the federal government has strings attached to its grant. If Uncle Sam provides half of proposed $900,000 he will demand to alter plans to his liking, supervise construction and installation of equipment and will also lay down the standards which must be observed in later operation of the hospital. People who know of the red tape and expense involved in such interference are hoping that we will have none of it.

Another point too seldom mentioned is the actual cost of the proposed venture. We hear plenty about the $500,000, but not much about the half to three fourths of that amount that would be paid out in interest . . . depending on the rate and the number of years. Then there's the probable expense resulting from Uncle Sam's special demands, and eventually some supplementary operating expense if the hospital happens to operate at a loss.

We could even accuse ourselves of pork barrel politics in connection with this venture. We make lots of remarks about people who go after the government projects, usually emphasizing that the gimme people are responsible for a sizeable portion of the tax burden. Well, Saturday's vote will tell how many gimme people we have.

Aside from those considerations there is still more food for thought. We're thinking of spending considerably over a million . . . the sum of bond issue, interest and federal grant . . . to get beautiful new facilities when we could have other facilities, less snazzy but adequate, for a few hundred thousand. It will cost much less and save years besides, to make the best use of Gainesville's two existing hospital buildings.

As regards us locally, there is still another consideration. Eventually we hope to have our own community hospital. In connection with that we don't relish helping pay for one somewhere else.

A report released by Congressman Frank Icard a few weeks ago emphasizes the ever growing spread between prices paid for farm products and the cost of food. For instance, in 1948 a bushel of wheat sold for

The story of the Sacred Heart fund raising campaign is now in the process of being conveyed to the parish at large. Two weeks of organizational work were climaxed last Monday night in the parish hall with a kick-off dinner for the advance gifts division.

A similar kick-off dinner for the special gifts division is on schedule for Thursday night. The special guest and principal speaker for it will be Msgr. William O'Brien of the Sacred Heart Cathedral in Dallas.

The purpose of both events is to explain the purpose and method of the campaign along with an appeal for "sacrificial gifts" so that the parish can not only clear its indebtedness but also be better able to take on other parish projects if and when they become necessary. Still another inducement is eliminating a large portion of the enormous interest payments being made now.

The goal in this campaign is $200,000, over half of the parish indebtedness, in cash and pledges, the latter to extend over a period of thirty months.

Keynote of the Monday meeting was the parish's leading native son, Bishop Dangelmayr of Dallas. He talked about the success of a similar drive in his parish in Dallas, explaining that the performance there resulted from the willingness of people to accept and budget their responsibility. Most people nowadays prefer to pay their church support on the installment plan, he said, and parishes that expect to get along financially must make their plans accordingly.

In urging a generous response, Col. Charles Taylor stressed the merits of giving sacrificially. "The important point is not what we do for the parish by such giving, but what we do for ourselves," he said.

Richard Grewing drew on his overseas experience during the war in comparing Muenster's blessings with the misfortunes of so many people in the Orient. He said that a good response would be a proper expression of

In the Sherman deanery to which Muenster and Lindsay belong winners include Bobby Pels and Alvin Hacker of Sacred Heart grade school, Henry Sandmann and Dorothy Bengfort of St. Peter's High school at Lindsay and Karen Endres of Sacred Heart High.

Topics for the 1958 competition were "The Priesthood — A Boy's Greatest Gift" and "The Sister — God's Favorite."

Essays are now being judged for diocesan winners who will be announced when Bishop Thomas K. Gorman presents awards at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 11, at St. Patrick's Co-cathedral in Fort Worth.

Cooperation Urged In City Sponsored Rubbish Collection

This is Clean-Up Week in Muenster.

In announcing the clean-up, City Manager Steve Moster said the city will have a free tin can and trash haul Friday afternoon — the weather permitting.

The city asks for full co-operation in the spring clean-up campaign. Citizens are asked to have all cans and other rubbish in sacks or boxes at their front curbs for easy loading and quick pick-up. Residents are reminded to use front curbs not alleys, because some city alleys are not through alleys.

North Texas Producers Association will furnish a truck and driver for the pick-up and city employees will do the loading at each stop. If everyone cooperates the hauling job can be completed Friday afternoon and will not tie up an NTPA truck for an unnecessary length of time.

Another request: city residents are asked not to include anything they can burn. Newspapers and other burnable trash will not be picked up by the workers. And no containers will be returned.

The city is especially interested in clearing out all tins, bottles, broken dishes and anything else that might hold water. This is the first step in a mosquito control program. Regular sprayings will follow the trash haul.

Pick-up time is Friday afternoon beginning at one o'clock unless rain or mud makes pick-up and hauling impossible.

Lindsay Is Host For District Meet Of Catholic League

Members of the North Texas District of the Catholic State League meeting Sunday with St. Peter's parish of Lindsay as host for the spring session heard Rev. Robert Wilson of Dallas as the principal speaker. He chose as his subject "The Lay Apostolate."

Rev. Christopher Paladino of Muenster, one of the featured speakers themed his talk on the 60th anniversary of the League being observed this year. He outlined the purpose of the organization, the fundamental ideals of the organizers who started the League as a men's society, then added the women's union in 1914 and the youth organization in 1939, making it a society for the whole family, for improvement not only in the spiritual life but also the civic and social life of its members.

Other speakers included Jimmy Zimmerer of Lindsay who spoke for the youth section, Robert Wolf of Windthorst, rural life chairman, whose address concluded with announcement of winners in the essay contest; and Mrs. Andy Roewe of Windthorst, who addressed the women's union, presenting a message from Mrs. Henrietta Galle, president of the Women's Union.

In addition to Father Wilson and Father Christopher other clergy present were Father Conrad of Lindsay and Fathers Cyril and Ignatius of Windthorst.

Arthur Endres of Muenster and H. N. Fuhrmann of Lindsay gave Catholic Life Insurance reports and secretaries of parish societies presented their reports.

District President Nick Block of Lindsay presided. Delegates and visitors were present from Lindsay, Muenster, Windthorst, Scotland and Pilot Point.

Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament concluded the meeting and a social with refreshments followed. A dance was held at night.

The shipments were hauled free of charge to their destination through courtesy of Central Freight Lines.

FFA Judging Team Qualifies to Enter State Event at A&M

One out of four judging teams which represented the Muenster FFA chapter in competition at East Texas State College last Saturday qualified to advance to the coming state contest at College Station.

It was the livestock judging team composed of Kenny Klement, Doug Hellman and Jerry Sicking. The trio was ninth in an event which qualified ten teams for the state contest.

A better record was that of the land judging team which came out sixth but missed the trip to College Station because only the three top teams qualified. Muenster nevertheless got individual recognition in this event when Billy Otto was listed as third high individual scorer. His team mates were Gilbert Knabe, Jimmy Sicking and Walter Fette.

In two other contests Muenster boys were informed only that they missed the top 10, however in each case Chapter Adviser Glenn Hellman was told that they came close. One was the poultry judging team consisting of Truman Wolf, Clarence Huds-peth Jr. and Tim Fette. The other was the dairy judging team consisting of Ferd Haverkamp, Charles Wimmer and Roger Fleitman.

About 60 teams from North and East Texas were entered in each of the four contests.

New Texas Highway Map Now Available

Texas' official 1958 highway map is now available for the asking, the State Highway Department has announced, and the map contains more information than ever before.

Copies of the map may be obtained by writing the Texas Highway Department, Austin 14, or from the department's district offices and travel information bureaus. County tax offices have postcards available for making map requests.

The new map reflects the steady growth of Texas during the past 10 years, according to Highway Department officials.

It shows 1,812 cities and towns, compared with 567 on the 1948 map. It shows a total of 43,292 miles of highways, including an increase of 2,026 miles of state and U. S. highways since 1948.

Farm-to-market roads have increased from 620 miles in 1948 to 17,126 miles now, the department said.

The map also shows, 1,026 roadside parks. It reveals, 1,007 miles of divided highways — compared with only 110 miles on the 1948 map.

Voters Will Decide Saturday on Issue For New Hospital

A county wide bond issue election next Saturday will decide whether or not Cooke County will get its proposed $900,000 new hospital. Voters will have the opportunity to approve or reject a tax supported bond issue to raise $500,000 for the county's share of the project.

The proposal is to build and equip the hospital with the help of federal funds. $450,000 of county money is to be matched by an equal amount of federal money to build the hospital and the remaining $50,000 in the bond issue is intended to begin operations.

Principal opponents of the proposal are people who dislike both the local tax and federal funds as methods of financing. In general those people favor organizing a local hospital authority to finance and operate the hospital on revenue bearing bonds.

Additional opposition derives from proposals to solve county hospital problems at a much lower cost by making the best use of facilities that are already available.

Voting boxes in Muenster will be open at the usual time and the usual places. The North Box will be in the public school with Joe Luke as judge, the South Box will be in the elevator scale house below the Katy tracks with Paul Fisher as judge. Hours are 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

SHH Science Class Makes Field Trip

An all-day educational tour Wednesday occupied Sister Barbara and her freshman science students and Father Bruno Fuhrmann, who drove the Tiger bus. Thirty-one boys and girls made the trip.

The group's first stop was at Gainesville for a conducted tour of the Bell Telephone Company with Manager P. V. Brazier as guide. Switchboard operation, automatic dial system, radio channels and long distance calls were among interesting subjects explained.

At Denison where the bus stopped next the group visited President Eisenhower's birthplace. At noon they spread a picnic lunch at Lake Texoma and in the afternoon made a conducted tour of the power house with engineers of the army corps as guides.

On the way back the party stopped at Denison for a brief visit with Sister Christina Hesse, a former student of Sacred Heart.

The dinner in Wichita Falls was one of 36 being held this month throughout the nation. The events are held each April since 1938 because it was in that month in 1902 that the Texas Company received its charter.

Industrial Potential Of Texas Is Bright, TP&L Head Predicts

Texas in the years ahead will realize its full industrial potential that will bring thousands of new jobs in such industries as chemical, automobile, aluminum, and housing, W. W. Lynch, president of Texas Power & Light Company told the Conference on Texas at Austin.

The Conference was held to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the University of Texas and featured talks on the future of natural, human and cultural resources of Texas.

Mr. Lynch said the time has come when much industry falls into the hands of those who reach for it and industrial development will be open to the competition of those who want it and make long-range plans to induce it to their area.

"Because of the great volume of raw materials produced in Texas, there will doubtless continue to be a large export of raw and semi-processed materials, but there will, nevertheless, be a steady increase in the volume of processing done in Texas," Mr. Lynch said. He added this is an important factor contributing to the potential industrial development of the state.

The speaker said one of the most encouraging signs of future industrial development is in the fact that Texas capital, in a larger degree than ever before, is going into Texas' industrial development.

Mr. Lynch said some of the things the planners are predicting for the future are: a large potential labor supply; a Texas personal income of $25 billion dollars by 1975; a Texas population of 12 million by 1975, a bright chemical industry picture with Texas accounting for 11 per cent of the nation's total production in 1975, compared to 8 per cent in 1955.

Planners also predict, he said, that Texas will have nearly 21 per cent of the nation's total aluminum production in the near future; that 22,000 people will produce 500,000 motor vehicles annually by 1975, compared to the 200,000 produced annually now; that 90,000 non-farm homes will be constructed in Texas annually by 1975, compared to 63,000 today; and that electric power capacity in Texas will triple by 1975.

Mr. Lynch warned, however, to accomplish these things Texans must conserve their water supply.

"There falls on the surface of Texas, in an average year, enough water to support a far greater population and a far greater volume of industry than exist at present," he noted. "Not less than forty million acre-feet of water go unused into the Gulf annually. But the rainfall is irregular, and thereby arises a problem. We must conserve the supply from the wet years for use during the dry years and hold as much water upstream as practicable."

He added that this is necessary because authorities predict an increase in demand for water of 70 per cent to 80 per cent by 1975.

Two Couples Feted In Observance of Joint Anniversaries

Mr. and Mrs. John Herr and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Vance visiting here from Hereford, shared honors at three events in observance of their wedding anniversaries in the Herr home.

Mr. and Mrs. Herr were married 30 years on April 18 and Mr. and Mrs. Vance were married five years on the same date.

The first in the series of social events was a Saturday evening party for which the ladies' cousins, the Koelzers, Hoenigs and Flusches from Muenster and Lindsay were present. Visiting, table games and refreshments occupied the group.

Sunday throughout the morning a come and go coffee was held with relatives of both the Herr and the Koelzer families stopping in.

At noon there was a family dinner party. A decorated cake brought by Mrs. Leonard Bengfort was the centerpiece for the table and the honorees received anniversary gifts.

Present from out of town were the Herrs' children Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shepherd and two sons of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bengfort and family of Lindsay. Another daughter and her family, the Q. D. Pettigrews of Kaufman who couldn't attend, enjoyed a telephone visit with her parents and the party group.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance visited here Friday night through Sunday and the Shepherds were here Saturday and Sunday.

The Perennial Howl About Teachers' Pay

This is the "I see the teachers want another raise" time of year. From the most comfortable poolroom stools to dignified club meetings, citizens will talk about teachers and their salaries. And in most of these discussions teachers won't fare well. There is something about paying teachers, especially more than they've been getting, that seems to arouse the battle instinct.

Why is this? Are teachers paid too much, so much more than John Q., that natural envy is awakened?

Without seeking to pass on the rightness of teachers' pay, a few questions may be in order. Can anyone remember when there was not griping about what teachers earned? Have you often heard anyone attempt to evaluate the contribution or worth to society of the teacher's job and weigh that against what he earned?

Isn't it more likely such talk as you've heard revolves around some statement that "they" only work 9½ months, or "they" have only been out of college a few years and so on? It is doubtful if you hear comment on the fact that teachers are expected to go to summer college, teach in summer classes or do something else which will constantly make them more valuable to their school. Nor do you often hear anything about the hours and weekends spent grading tests, making assignments, studying, chaperoning dances, or at-

Motion Pictures, Morals And Reality

By Cecil B. DeMille, Producer of THE TEN COMMANDMENTS

The Prime Ministers of four countries have told me of the influence our pictures had on them when they were growing up. When leaders of nations tell us that as boys they derived their conception of the world, their ideas of right and wrong, from American motion pictures, they bring home to us our awe-inspiring responsibility.

DeMille

IT IS a sobering thought that the decisions we make in Hollywood may intimately affect the lives of human beings throughout the world. We have a duty to our art and a duty to the audience for whom we make our pictures.

But we betray our responsibility as molders of thought if money-making is the only goal we seek in the making of our pictures. Perhaps we think that vice sells at a higher price than virtue. Unfortunately it often does in this world.

PERHAPS it is easier to draw a crowd by pandering to their lowest tastes than by inspiring their highest ideals. It is easier and cheaper; cheaper in every way. But we are simply stupid if we have not learned that dirt is not necessarily pay dirt. It is treason to the human spirit, and treason to the art we serve.

Yet it is not the primary business of motion pictures to preach sermons, or to distort the truth by showing a picture of the world which is false because it leaves out the fact that life has a seamy side. You cannot show the brightness of good unless you show it in contrast to the darkness of evil. Drama means conflict. Life is a warfare between good and evil.

OUR responsibility as artists and as molders of thought makes great demands upon us. I have never said or thought that being molders of the world's thought was an easy job, but that is one reason why, after 44 years, I still find it the most exciting, the most challenging, the greatest job on earth. Every foot of it in film and every minute of it in time has been an adventure which I would not exchange for anything else in the world.

Who else, except the missionaries of God, has had our opportunity to make the brotherhood of man not a phrase, but a reality; a brotherhood sharing the same laughter and the same tears, dreaming the same dreams, encouraged by the same faith in man and in God, which we paint for them, night after night, on the screens of the world?

WE HOLD great power. We must make it a power for good, for truth, for beauty, and for freedom.

† Paulist Feature Service, Washington 25, D. C.

tending PTA Meetings.

There is something of the "dog in the manger" attitude, which compels a dislike for giving teachers money, any money at all. There may be a lot of complaining because some group of privately employed persons get a raise — as steel workers or truckers or plumbers. But there isn't much anyone can do about that.

When it comes to teachers a different attitude prevails. They are paid from public funds, and because they are, there is a disposition on the part of some of us to be "mad" about paying them, no matter how justified their requests may be, nor how low their salaries may be in comparison to the steel workers, truckers or plumbers.

This is not to say that any particular salary scale is right for teachers. It is to say that we ought to be honest with ourselves when we talk about what we pay teachers. We ought to decide how important teaching is, whether we truly get what we pay for, and how we would consider the matter if the financial shoe were on the other foot.

—Waukegan (Ill.) News-Sun

The Starving Tiger

In the middle of the most severe slump suffered by the Canadian economy in nearly 20 years, living costs were at a peak. Goods were not in short supply, but rather there was over-production — a condition that in classic economic terms should result in falling prices. But prices generally have not fallen; in many instances, they have gone up.

Why this seeming paradox? The answer lies in the fixed costs of production. If a manufacturer cannot lower his cost per unit, obviously he cannot lower his prices, without endangering the financial health of his business. He can improve his productive methods, but this generally means a greater investment in tools, machinery, buildings, research, and so on; he cannot undertake such improvement if he cannot earn the necessary profit, and he cannot benefit from it and pass along the benefit to the consumer if his saving is absorbed by some other factor in the cost formula.

The single most important cost factor in the production of most manufactured goods is labor. As long as labor costs keep increasing faster than the worker's productivity, prices must inevitably stay high or climb higher. But many powerful labor leaders would have us believe that the slump can be ended by "increasing purchasing power" — that is, by pushing labor costs still higher. This, of course, is a recipe for more unemployment. Push up wages and you push up prices and cut down sales. Fewer sales, fewer jobs — it's as simple as that.

The labor leaders are intelligent men. They understand these simple facts of economic life. But they owe their power to their ability to get something more for their members each year; they have lacked the courage to tell their followers what that something more means in terms of costs, prices and jobs. They are riding a tiger, and seem determined to stay on its back even though it starves to death.

140 Attend Surprise Birthday Observance For Mrs. Bob Yosten

Sunday was a joy-packed day for Mrs. Bob Yosten and for about 140 of her relatives who helped her celebrate her birthday. The observance, coming a day early, was a complete surprise for Mrs. Yosten who was a young 75 Monday.

The get-together, with a covered dish dinner at noon, was held in the parish hall with Mrs. Joe Lehnertz assisting with party plans. There was a handsome decorated cake baked by Mrs. Buddy Yosten and there was a shower of gifts for the honoree who also received a white carnation corsage from Mrs. Nick Miller.

Pictures were taken of the honoree along with family pictures, group photos and shots of the party scene.

All of Mrs. Yosten's children and most of her grandchildren and their families were present, as were her sister and brother and nearly all her nieces and nephews and their families.

In addition to the group from Gainesville, out of town guests included Mrs. Curtis Holland of Cleburne, Messrs. and Mmes Stan and Paul Yosten and the Ferd Yostens and their families all of Fort Worth, the John Durbins and their children of Lawton, Okla., the Virgil Dotys of Mesquite and Andy Yosten of Fort Worth.

Another surprise for Mrs. Yosten came Sunday night when her nephews Francis and Ed Swirczynski phoned from Omaha, Neb. The men and their wives joined in a singing birthday greeting, then took turns talking, exchanging information on relatives here and there.

Willie Walterscheid is spending this week in Dallas attending a special course in service station management being sponsored by Magnolia Petroleum Co.

Housewarming Party Comes as Surprise For Urban Endreses

A surprise housewarming greeted Mr. and Mrs. Urban Endres at their new home Thursday night when about 40 relatives and friends arrived in a body, loaded with eats and drinks for refreshments and gifts for the home.

The group had a special escort from the gathering place at the public school. From there the party was headed by Deputy Buck Wilson sounding his police siren. The Endreses wondered what was happening . . . but not for long . . . by that time they were surrounded by guests and it was a gay party for everyone.

Another house party was an event of Sunday morning when Mrs. Endres entertained with an 8 o'clock coffee for a group of ladies from Gainesville who came over with her mother Mrs. A. P. Miller.

Mrs. Miller had earlier in the week told her daughter that some of her friends wanted to see the new home and so Jane made a party of their visit.

Coming with Mrs. Miller were Mmes. John Demory, Paul Scholtz, Claude Grammer, George Levis, Mamie Lawrence, Charles Gandillion and G. W. Weber.

Birthday Observance Honors Stan Wylie

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Wylie and children George, Jimmy and Jeanette of Grand Prairie spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kathman and Sunday Stan was the honoree at a noon dinner in observance of his birthday. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sicking and family and Mrs. George Lutkenhaus.

The Kathmans' other daughter Mrs. W. E. Insel and her family from Gainesville had to miss the reunion because the Insel children had the measles.

Sharing honors of the day with her daddy was Jeanette Wylie who was one year old on April 15. Both received gifts and had a decorated cake.

Saturday afternoon Stan Wylie and son George went from here to Wichita Falls to visit his folks. His sister Beth Wylie was ill in a Wichita Falls hospital.

Picnic Observes Fourth Birthday

Chuckie Fisher, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fisher, was the honoree Sunday at a picnic and outing that observed his birthday.

Family members from here drove to Altus, Okla., to join Sgt. and Mrs. Joe Galloway and daughter Johann of Altus AFB at the city park for a picnic dinner and afterwards enjoyed sight-seeing.

In the party from here were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fisher and children Chuckie, Dickie and Nancie, Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher and Rosemary, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fisher and daughters Theresa and Joann.

Facts? . . . or Vague Ideas?

In the hospital bond election Saturday, the following points are vitally important and deserving of your most serious consideration.

No plans for a hospital have been shown to the public and without plans no estimate of costs can be made.

No location for the county hospital has been given to the public. A number of locations seem to have been discussed, but no one seems to know where the location is to be.

This group seems to hope for Federal Aid; but no one has yet explained to the public all of the requirements that must be met. Certainly no proof has been given the public that Federal Aid will be forthcoming.

Several different sizes (bed capacity) have been mentioned but again no one seems to know for sure. Is it to be a 22 bed hospital or a 60 bed hospital?

Is this group asking the public for what will eventually amount to almost a million dollars without any real facts to present?

The only fact that anyone seems sure of is that this group wants a county hospital; and this certainly brings up the possibilities of political control later.

Think over these things and then decide, are you voting on facts or vague ideas?

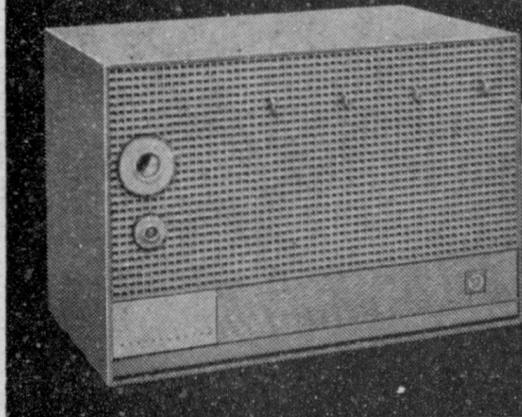

Do you favor giving a
$500,000 BLANK CHECK
without knowing what you will get?

Have you figured how much this blank check will cost the taxpayers in interest?

. . . and, are you convinced that these are the last payments to be made by the taxpayers?

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Like the vanguard missile, operation waterway-sodding finally got off the ground in the Muenster-Saint Jo area.

Landowners cooperating with Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation district to save and improve their land took advantage of the drying weather to get Bermuda grass planted in some of the natural drainageway through their fields. These grass stripes will provide safe places to outlet field terraces once they are covered with grass. In many cases the grass stripes must be put in so that a terrace system to protect sloping fields from soil and water losses can be put on the land.

Emmett Sicking has just finished sodding a five acre waterway on his farm south of Myra. Mrs. Will Sicking has planted another waterway on her farm at Myra to Bermuda grass. C. O. Taylor is putting Bermuda on the sides of the natural drainage-way that runs through his farm. He is also planting Coastal Bermuda on a part of his field area that is to be converted into improved pasture.

South of Forestburg, Ben Calhoun has sodded an eight acre waterway to Bermuda. This waterway will serve as a safe disposal area for terrace water from the adjoining field. Jim Christian at Rosston has just put in a five acre waterway through one of his fields to handle excess run-off.

Gus Lutkenhaus has planted seven acres of Midland Bermuda for improved pasture. This Midland is a hybrid Bermuda grass developed by Oklahoma A&M College for its winter hardiness. W. H. Webb has planted 16 acres of common Bermuda on some bottomland fields on his farm south of Saint Jo. The plantings will be developed into an improved pasture.

Landowners cooperating with the local district to save the soil and water are again reminded that now is the time to seed or sow waterways, seed or sod adapted grasses on land where soil saving grasses are needed, make plans to rent a native grass pasture, fertilize fish ponds and sod new farm pond dams to grass to prevent erosion.

It was gratifying to note the interest shown in the recent land judging contest — the second annual such event sponsored by the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District. Eleven FFA chapters of the district and 4-H clubs from Lindsay, Era and Montague county participated.

The contest, termed by the sponsors as a land appreciation and land judging contest, is held to give groups a better understanding of basic soil differences, to learn how soil properties affect crop growth, to understand why soils respond differently to management practices and to determine proper land use and treatment.

Slight Gain Shown In TP&L Revenues
During Past Year

To meet increasing demands for electric service in North, Central and East Texas, Texas Power & Light Company's construction expenditures in 1957 totaled $25,238,584 according to the Company's Annual Report released last week.

Record-breaking rains and below normal temperatures affected TP&L's revenues in 1957, but in spite of these conditions revenues were up 2 per cent over 1956.

The Report also shows, however, that cost of operations increased $739,000, or 2 per cent over 1956.

A new generating station at Stryker Creek in East Texas was three-fourths complete at year's end and construction began on a new generating unit at the Lake Creek station.

The Report points to the fact that TP&L joined with ten other electric power companies in forming the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation to engage in nuclear research as it may apply to the generation of electricity.

The Report cites that the Company at the end of 1957 served 337,895 customers compared to 329,857 customers at the end of 1956. Also it is shown that the Company estimates that its construction program for the years 1958 and 1959 will result in expenditures of approximately $29,592,000 and $19,785,000, respectively.

TP&L in October, purchased the municipally-owned electric light and power system of Terrell. This followed an election held on September 19, 1957, at which the citizens of Terrell voted to accept the Company's offer of $1,400,000 for the City's electric power plant and distribution facilities.

The report notes that TP&L won an Edison Electric Institute award in recognition of employees having worked more than a million consecutive man-hours without a disabling injury.

During the past year, 33 firms established new plants in the TP&L service area. These plants created 1,852 new jobs and increased the annual pay roll by approximately $5,000,000.

Voth Reunion Held Honoring Visitor

Honoring Lt. Rita Voth while she was here on a 10-day leave from Jacksonville, Fla., a family gathering with a barbecue supper was held last Thursday at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kubis at Lindsay.

Rita's mother Mrs. Barney Voth and all the Voth children and grandchildren from Muenster, Lindsay and Gainesville attended the party.

Lt. Voth left Wednesday of this week to return to Jacksonville where she is on duty as a navy nurse.

4-H Clubber Works With Electricity

Elaine Friske, 4-H clubber, works with electricity as a hobby and specialized in electrical demonstration in her 4-H club work. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Friske of Gainesville, formerly of Muenster.

Elaine is pictured in the May issue of the Progressive Farmer magazine with a window cooler she made for their dairy barn. Her uncle gave her a used motor and she made the cooler with parts she found around the farm. The cooler reduces temperatures in the milking room 15 to 20 degrees and makes it a more comfortable place to work.

In her 4-H electrical demonstration Elaine also made an electric brooder for chickens, repaired electrical equipment around home, and helped make lamps and extension cords. She has also learned to care for electricial appliances to get the fullest use from them.

Mrs. Albert Hoelker is recovering from surgery performed at Gainesville Sanitarium.

Pete Hellinger Jr. of Lindsay is recovering from surgery performed at Gainesville Sanitarium.

Mrs. Milton Gossett and her three-month-old son Doug have recovered from illness that sent them to Gainesville Sanitarium for treatment. The baby received medical care for pneumonia and whooping cough for ten days and his mother was hospitalized for three days.

A three-way move and the building of a new house puts four families in different homes and brings one new family to Lindsay. The series of changes started when Charles Neu bought the Ed Moster farm and moved there to make it his home. The house the Neus vacated was bought by the Ed Sandmanns who are occupying it and the house they vacated has become the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bomar Woods who moved here from Gainesville. Mrs. Ed Moster is getting the new house. It is located south of the Kuhn place.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Friske and son Jere met Mr. and Mrs. Barney Sandmann of Fort Worth at Lake Grapevine Sunday for fishing and picnicking. Jere returned to classes at Dallas University from there.

Mrs. George Rohleder and Mrs. Bob Laughridge, both of Fort Worth, visited their mother Mrs. Otto Schmitt here and their sister Mrs. Charles Tate at Gainesville Thursday.

Charles Stoffels has been dismissed from Gainesville Sanitarium following treatment for an eye injury.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bezner and three children of Hereford stopped here to visit relatives Sunday. They were enroute home after a trip to Dallas.

Willard J. Kuhn Susie Kassen Wed in St. Peter's Church

St. Peter's church at Lindsay was the scene Saturday afternoon of the wedding of Emma Jane (Susie) Kassen and Willard Joseph Kuhn with Rev. Conrad Herda officiating at 4 o'clock. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kassen of Conroe, formerly of Gainesville, and Mr. and Mrs. Jake Kuhn of Lindsay.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white brocaded satin floor length gown with fitted petal point sleeves and standing collar. The V-shaped moulded bodice was ornamented with self-covered buttons down the front to the waist line where the wide skirt started billowing out in graceful folds and ended in a chapel length train. The bride's veil was fingertip length attached to a scalloped lace half hat and her flowers were white roses arranged on top of a white prayer book, a gift from the groom.

Alta Louise Kuhn, sister of the groom, was maid of honor wearing an orchid lace bouffant over taffeta and Leola Weber of Wichita Falls, bridesmaid, wore yellow lace over taffeta. Both attendants wore matching picture hats and mitts and carried bouquets of daisies.

Terry Bridges of Fort Worth, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Kathy Rohmer of Muenster and Richard Kassen of Wichita, Kansas, niece and nephew of the couple, carried the wedding bands for the double ring ceremony.

Terry and Kathy wore floor length white taffeta dresses with wide skirts over hoops, and white flower head-pieces.

Bill Kassen of Austin and Alfred Kuhn of Lubbock, brothers of the couple were the groom's attendants. John Kassen and Clarence Zimmerer ushered.

White snapdragons decorated the altar. St. Cecilia's choir and Mrs. W. J. Schmitz, organist, furnished the nuptial music.

A reception and buffet supper, with Mrs. Joe Lehnertz catering, was held in the Lindsay hall. About 175 guests were registered by Mrs. Alfred Kuhn of Lubbock and Mrs. Jack Bridges of Fort Worth. The hall was artistically adorned with lavender stock and yellow and white snapdragons. The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake flanked by candles in clusters of flowers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kassen wore a navy blue outfit with matching accessories. Mrs. Kuhn, mother of the groom, wore a power blue dress with white accessories. Both had corsages of pink carnations.

When the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to South Texas the bride was wearing an apricot and white spring suit. When

Lindsay PT Club Elects and Lists Year End Events

The annual election of officers was the principal business at the April meeting of the Lindsay Parent-Teacher Club Tuesday night.

Ed Schad is the new president and Mrs. Albert Hoelker is the new secretary. Vice President Mrs. Bruno Zimmerer and Treasurer Gregory Hundt were returned to office for another year.

Retiring President Joe Bezner conducted the business session during which committee chairmen gave reports and end-of-the-year school activity was discussed.

Highlighting the school calendar is formal graduation for elementary and high school students on May 19. Commencement is combined with the formal dedication of the new school building and Bishop Gorman will officiate at both events of the joint program. Classes will continue during the week following graduation exercises.

The school calendar begins by listing the junior-senior prom on April 24 and ends with the high school banquet on May 22.

This was the last meeting for the current school term. The meeting adjourned to re-open in September. A social hour with refreshments of coffee and cake concluded the evening.

community gratitude. The "brief remarks" requested of Father Christopher were not originally a part of the program but developed into another inspiring pep talk. He said this campaign has possibilities of re-making the parish . . . through a widespread up-lift of parish spirit and pride and an attitude of greater charity and greater generosity to God.

Arthur Endres, as master of ceremonies, introduced the speakers and also presented all who had a part in the campaign or the evening's program.

Also mentioned was the special campaign brochure completed Monday. The 16 page booklet features personal appeals by Bishop Gorman, Father Christopher and Chairman Hubert Felderhoff and urges a generous return to Almighty God, the original source of all parish blessings.

Following Monday's program the advance gifts drive got under way promptly. Workers, who had spent the previous two weeks in helping organize the Confetti - - -

$2.81 and a loaf of bread for 13.8 cents. Several years later the respective prices were $2.14 and 17.5 cents.

The same widening spread applies to lots of other crops and products. A 22 cent box of corn flakes has 3 cents worth of corn. A $4 shirt has 30 cents worth of cotton. A 5c peanut bar has less than a half cent's worth of peanuts.

The farmer does better on his share of the consumer's meat dollar, however. Out of the average family's $263 per year on meat he receives $164.

The big spread, of course, represents all those many factors between the farmer and the grocer's shelf. There is transportation to the processing plant, to the wholesalers and the retailers, the cost of handling, processing, packaging, storage and refrigeration, the taxes paid by everyone who had anything to do with the product. And finally there are the extra touches such as preparing dishes or whole meals that just need to be popped into an oven. There have to be charges for all the services which enable the American housewife to set the world's best table with the least effort.

A person does not have to think far into the subject to understand the big spread between the consumer's cost and the farmer's share. That difference represents a lot of service. What's more, new services are being added and the wages for those services are still increasing. The next time somebody tallies the figures we'll be told that the spread between farmer and consumer prices is higher than ever.

Victor Hartman joined his son Willard and a college friend from Denton on a drive to Wichita Falls Sunday to visit the Teddy Gremminger family.
