

MUENSTER ENTERPRISE

VOLUME XXII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS

JULY 25, 1958

NUMBER 35

A big event is coming up Saturday. It's the day of decision, when first class citizens of our state will go down the ballot sheet deciding who of the candidates listed thereon are best suited to administer our state and county business for the next term.

We will go to the polls proudly conscious of our sacred right to cast a free ballot and deeply grateful to the ancestors who gave us the opportunity. Let's hope we will be equally conscious of the great responsibility implied in our voting right. As our pioneer patriots warned, eternal vigilance is the price of freedom.

This doesn't necessarily mean that we have to be on guard against scheming tyrants who might take charge and enslave the country. More properly we should be on guard against ideas, many of them sincerely offered as a way to greater comfort and security but resulting ultimately in greater bureaucracy, centralization and taxation. Persons who preach this misguided gospel of welfare deserve to be scratched off the ballot regardless of their good intentions.

In Texas politics nowadays the big issue is between the conservative and liberal elements of the Democratic party. It is an extension of the contest that has been going on in national politics for almost three decades, the conservatives leaning toward the traditional principle that "he governs best who governs least" and liberals leaning to bureaucracy and the welfare state. When casting their votes Saturday Texans have a solemn duty to consider that issue and its implications . . . the line of thinking they wish to have applied in this state's domestic affairs or its representation at Washington.

Another election day event that is becoming especially important is the precinct convention. For many years this detail of local, and state politics was taken for granted. That made little difference as long as party harmony was achieved and true representation was maintained at the state and local levels. But things have changed in recent years. Determined and well organized minority groups have taken charge in hundreds of precinct conventions and named delegates who did not represent the majority view of the precinct.

That maneuver was possible only because the people of the precinct failed to appear in defense of their own views. The net result was widespread disension and ill feeling as local delegations gathered for county and state meetings.

Anxious to eliminate most of that party friction Governor Price Daniel this year appeals to Texans to take their precinct conventions seriously . . . to get an attendance that is likely to send true representation to the county convention.

Here at Muenster, fortunately, we have had no trouble of that kind. At least, no one has complained about the delegates from the local precincts. But luck in the past is no assurance that our luck will last. If we keep napping on our rights we may wake up some day and discover that a handful of fellows have stolen our precious precinct votes.

Accordingly, the two local election judges are calling special attention to the governor's request. They urgently ask for a good attendance when the meetings for their respective voting boxes come to order at 2 o'clock Saturday. Both agree that the chances for political trickery are remote here, but that still does not give us a right to take chances.

For those who are inclined to underestimate the value of their vote, and perhaps not even appear at the polls, this column invites special attention to two timely items on page 4. One of them shows how several big events in history were actually determined by the vote of a single person. The other reminds us what great sacrifices were made by some in winning and preserving our freedom and how little we have to do to exercise it.

If we prefer we can select an example from much closer to home. Cooke county, like all others has had its hot races. One of those was the local option election following the national legalization of beer. It was defeated . . . by people of Muenster.

Four Will Attend SSCA in Oklahoma

Four members of the Sacred Heart parish Catholic Youth Council will attend the Summer School of Catholic Action in Stillwater, Okla., next week. Leaving Sunday to attend the five-day program will be Sarah Fleitman, Virgilla Schilling, Jolene Mollenkopf and JoAnn Hess. The quartet will meet Sister Patricia there. She's coming from Arkansas to attend the school.

Swim Class Fails To Get a Quorum

Plans for an adult swimming class at the Muenster pool folded up at least temporarily last Saturday when too few persons reported for the organizing session. The minimum set for starting the class was 10, but only six were there. However, the opportunity is still here. L. B. Bruns, pool manager, said that the class can still be started if interested persons will recruit four more students.

Bonus Offered by Co-op for Installing New Electric Range

Financial help from an unexpected source awaits members of the Cooke County Electric Cooperative who buy a new electric range within the next six months. Beginning August 1, the co-op will pay $25 to each member installing such a unit. Announcing the offer this week, Acting Manager Jack Crownover admitted that the co-op has a selfish motive . . . to increase its domestic line load. On an average the co-op will get back its $25 in increased service charges in a little over a year and will reap the benefit of its offer from then on. Persons who wish to take up the offer can get particulars from Mr. Crownover. There's no red tape to it, he said. Just present evidence that an electric range has been installed and the co-op will give its check. Joe Moster is representing the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department at the annual school for firemen at Texas A&M College this week. Mrs. Moster, on vacation, accompanied him.

Voters of Precinct Urged to Attend Local Convention

Cooperating with Governor Price Daniel in his effort to get a good attendance at precinct conventions all over the state, Joe Luke and Paul Fisher, election judges of the two local voting boxes, this week urged voters to attend the sessions to be held here.

Starting time at both places is 2 p.m. and the meetings will be held at convenient places near the two voting boxes.

The purpose of the local convention is to elect delegates to represent the precinct at the county Democratic convention. The number of delegates at each box is determined by the number of votes cast there in the previous governor's race . . . at the rate of one delegate for each 50 votes. By that ratio the north box is entitled to 9 delegates and the south box to 3.

The purpose of Governor Daniel's special plea is to prevent control of the precinct conventions by minority groups. In recent years well organized small groups in many areas have taken advantage of the poor attendance at their precinct conventions and named slates of delegates which did not represent the thinking of the precinct.

NEWS OF SICK AND INJURED

Gloria Yosten was out for the first time Sunday since July 5 when she received a painful ankle injury in a motor scooter accident during a visit in Dallas with the Cecil Moore family. Gloria's left ankle is still bandaged and she's on crutches when she's up. She's the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Yosten.

Mrs. M. A. Slaughter entered Majors Clinic at Nocona Tuesday night for surgery Wednesday morning. It's a major operation and she'll be hospitalized about 10 days.

Mrs. L. J. Roberg is a shut-in with a painfully sprained left ankle sustained in a misstep Monday night.

Mrs. Frank Trubenbach has been quite ill during the week on account of mumps.

Casper Haverkamp was dismissed from Gainesville Sanitarium Sunday and is convalescing this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Haverkamp at Gainesville. He had eye surgery to remove a cataract July 10 and still needs eye treatment every day.

Denis Koesler, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Koesler, writes his folks from Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation that he is fine and already "knows everybody" in the Rehabilitation Center where he is receiving treatments. So far, he said, he hasn't been homesick or lonely but he'd like to get cards and letters from his schoolmates. His address is Box 38, Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation, Gonzales, Texas.

Francis Wiese is recovering from illness that kept him in bed for more than a week. While he was a shut-in, his mother Mrs. F. A. Wiese of Gainesville kept his jewelry store open for him. He was back on the job Wednesday.

Mrs. Clem Sandman and Melvin Kuhn of Lindsay were dismissed from Gainesville Sanitarium Tuesday following medical treatment.

Forestburg Invites Attendance at Two Centennial Events

Residents of Forestburg have issued general invitations to everyone to attend their celebrations observing Montague County's centennial.

This Friday night the Centennial Queens' Ball will be held in the high school gym and two queens, Miss 1958 and Mrs. 1858 will be crowned in formal ceremonies. Sue Sirman is today's queen and Mrs. Rile Lanier is the queen of yesterday.

July 30 is Forestburg Day. Program headlines are a parade at 3 o'clock, a rodeo at 7:30 and a street dance following. The centennial museum will also be open for visitors. The queen's ball and rodeo are benefits for the centennial fund.

Strong Vote Expected Here For '58 Democratic Primary

1958's political show in which a few races finally came to life during the closing weeks, is expected to attract a strong vote in Muenster's two boxes at next Saturday's Democratic primary election.

Keen interest in the race for commissioner of precinct 4 and fairly strong interest in the races for county clerk, district clerk and the top state offices is due to bring in a total near the recorded strength of the two boxes. According to records from the county tax office, the two local boxes have a recorded strength of 645 . . . 598 poll taxes and 47 exemptions. Add-

.63 Rain Is Timely But Falls Short of Community's Need

A timely but inadequate rain came to this community early Wednesday, bringing with it a welcome drop in temperature and adding .63 to the community's moisture measure. It raised the month's total to 3.32 inches and the year's total to 24.82.

Coming more than two weeks after a previous fine soaker, the shower fell considerably short of meeting the area's need. Crops get a temporary lift but not enough for sustained growth.

Nevertheless, the situation regarding local crops at this time is still promising, especially if another rain comes soon enough to take over after the benefits of this shower begin to wear off. Alfalfa fields and pastures are better than normal for this season. Corn, in spite of limited acreage and a late start because of delayed planting, has been favored by good moisture and cool weather and appears headed for a nice crop.

Following good grain and hay harvests, the present prospect continues developing toward one of the best farming years ever for this community.

Permanent Camp For Precinct Four Will Locate Here

A permanent road camp for Commissioner's Precinct 4 at the northeast edge of Muenster's city limit was assured this week when Commissioner John B. Klement bought a 2 acre site from Mrs. Gus Reiter. The location is the southeast corner of Reiter's property, across the road from Bruno Fleitman. The new location is preferred over the old one because it is nearer to most of its essential services and supplies and is also conveniently located in relation to the area it serves.

For many years the road maintenance camp was on J. A. Klement's farm, in the Hays community.

The job of moving equipment and setting up the permanent camp will begin as soon as legal technicalities can be finished.

One Cent Increase Across the Board On Postal Rates Applies August 1

It won't be long now until the Post Office Department's new bite on the American public goes into effect. On August 1, just a little more than a week away, there will be a 1 cent increase on practically every kind of mail used by the average person.

The new rates apply to all mail postmarked August 1 and thereafter, according to a statement this week by Postmaster Arthur Endres. That means that mail dropped into the local post office after the final dispatch on July 31 . . . which has to be dispatched the next morning . . . will have to bear the higher priced stamp.

Failure to abide by this regulation will not inconvenience the sender, however. His letter will go on as usual. But the receiver is likely to be definitely unhappy. That's because of another regulation, in effect since July 1, requiring that the receiver make up the deficit and also pay a 5 cent penalty to compensate the post office for its extra handling.

The reason for this regulation, as explained by the postal department, is to avoid the delay that used to result when a sender mistakenly put on insufficient postage. Hereafter the lost time will be eliminated, but it remains to be seen whether this arrangement will encourage some senders to be careless about the amount of postage they put on. If so, receivers can be expected to put up a beef.

The increase in mail rates, which is expected to add a half billion dollars annually to the Post Office Department's revenue, will make little difference to the average person but will run into extra thousands of dollars of expense per month for the country's big firms. Small businesses will feel most of the increase when sending out their monthly bills. The general public will feel the increase mostly when sending out Christmas greetings.

Rate changes which will apply most to people of this area are those on first class mail, air mail and unsealed greeting cards.

In the first class category the

Shirley Hoedebeck Paul Klement Say Vows During Mass

Father Paul Hoedebeck of Subiaco, Ark., officiated Saturday at the double ring ceremony and nuptial mass during which his niece Shirley Ann Hoedebeck, became the bride of Paul Klement in St. Mary's Church at 5 p.m.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hoedebeck and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Klement, all of Gainesville. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoedebeck of Muenster and the groom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Klement, also of Muenster.

For her wedding Shirley wore a floor length, wide-skirted gown of white Chantilly lace over satin and a finger-tip length veil attached to a crown of seed pearls. Her flowers were white gardenias atop a white prayerbook, a gift from the groom. She carried a pearl and sterling rosary, also a gift from the groom. Her single strand of pearls was "something borrowed" from a friend and she wore matching earrings. Bridal tradition was completed with a penny in her shoe. She was given in marriage by her father.

After the service, the newlyweds went to the Blessed Virgin's altar where the bride placed a bouquet of white gladioli.

Ann Gallagher was organist and Charlotte Hoedebeck, sister of the bride, from Denton, and Charles Interwitz were vocalists.

Jane Reiter of Gainesville, cousin of the groom, attended as maid of honor wearing a turquoise taffeta and net bouffant with double overskirts of ruffles and a matching headpiece. She carried blue tinted carnations.

Kenneth Hoedebeck, brother of the bride, was best man and Richard Klement and Melvin Kuhn ushered.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception and buffet supper were held in the Muenster parish hall. Charlotte Hoedebeck and Frances Loerwald registered about 250 guests. Mrs. Joe Lehnertz was in charge of catering.

When the newlyweds return from a honeymoon trip they will make their home in Dallas where he is employed in the office of the Magnolia Petroleum Company. He was graduated from Gainesville High and from business college. Shirley, a former student of Sacred Heart school here, was graduated from Gainesville High and from beauty school in Fort Worth.

Among out of town guests at the wedding in addition to those from Cooke County were Mr. and Mrs. George Hartman and sons of Chicago, Alfred Hoedebeck and children of Dallas, Cletus Hoedebeck and family of Irving, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Roy of Ardmore, Phillip, Patsy and Mary Sue Hoedebeck of Denison, Brother Albert Klement of Little Rock, Ark., the Joe Yostens of Purcell, Okla., and Andy Yosten of Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Yosten and children Bobby and Judy drove to Celina Sunday to be joined by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tischler, on a trip to Garland where they were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Savage. Mrs. Savage is another daughter of the Tischlers. In the afternoon they all witnessed an air show at Garland. On the return Bobby Yosten remained at Celina for an extended visit with his grandparents.

ONE VOTE'S POWER

Back in the 1840's in Dekalb County, Indiana, there lived a grain miller. He had started to grind his grain one election day to grind his grain when he met some friends who persuaded him to go to the polls instead. The records show that the candidate to the state legislature won by one vote — and the miller had voted for him. That legislator cast the deciding vote that sent Edward Allen Hannegan to the U. S. Senate. The question of statehood for Texas came up for a vote while Hannegan was acting as president pro tem. The vote was tied, and Hannegan cast the deciding ballot. Texas was admitted to the union because a grain miller decided to go to the polls instead of to his mill on election day!

IF

If Washington could endure the famine and frostbite of Valley Forge, and —

If Patrick Henry could face the scorn of the Tories, challenging them to do their worst, and —

If Jefferson, Mason, Madison and others could give us the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, the Constitution, and —

If our grandfathers could stagger home after Appomattox, putting together the broken pieces, without benefit of a Marshall Plan, Lend-Lease or other aid, and in spite of carpet bagger and scalawag interference, and —

 If our fathers could breathe the poison gas of Chateau Thierry and Belleau Wood, and —

If our brothers could hit the beaches at Normandy and Anzio or scale the heights of Tarawa, and —

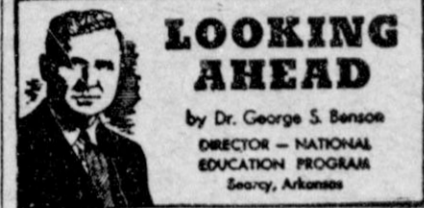

If countless mothers could endure the anguish and heart-break that always comes when men fight and die for the things they hold dear;

For these and thousands more, the price of liberty came high. But for you and for me, in 1958, it is:

Is the price too high?

MASTERS OF DECEIT

In his recently published book, Masters of Deceit, J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, has written some of the clearest explanations available on how the Communists work at mass agitation and infiltration. In agitating projects and issues, he points out, the Communist approach "always has two sides: (1) the deceptive line designed for public consumption and (2) the real Party line designed to advance Communism."

Consider this deceptive line for appealing to American youth:

Increase trade with all countries, including the Communist bloc, to provide "hundreds of thousands of new jobs for young people." Mr. Hoover says the Party line on this "means selling materials that could be used by Communist nations for armaments." They want American youth to get behind such trade, not to make jobs but to aid world Communism.

Two-Faced Technique

Another deceptive line used effectively by the Reds: Repeal all "repressive legislation" and "restore the Bill of Rights." "In Communist language," says Mr. Hoover, "restore the Bill of Rights" means eliminating all legal opposition to Communism, stopping all prosecution of Communists, and granting amnesty to those presently in jail. "For window dressing," writes

Mr. Hoover, "they always support items desired by most of the people: lower taxes, higher wages, better housing, old-age security, higher farm incomes. These are thoroughly legitimate interests. To support these aims, and many others is not to be a Communist. The Party is simply attempting to exploit such interests for its own selfish aims. They become Party 'talking points.'" For instance, he says that "restore academic freedom" means to Communists that we should permit the official teaching of Communist doctrine in all schools and that we should allow Communists to infiltrate teaching staffs. Through infiltration, agitation and propaganda they have been able to amass powerful support and have succeeded in gaining many of their major aims.

Using Union Labor

"Communists have probably worked harder to infiltrate American labor unions than any other group," Mr. Hoover notes. "Since the days of Lenin, labor has been a favorite target." Lenin decreed: "It is necessary to agree to any and every sacrifice, and even — if need be — to resort to all sorts of stratagems, maneuvers and illegal methods, to evasion and subterfuges in order to penetrate the trade unions, to remain in them, and to carry on Communist work in them at all cost."

"At least 90 per cent of all of our efforts," one Party writer asserted, "must be devoted to industrial workers." This is from Mr. Hoover's chapter on Infiltration. "Drawing on years of experience," he says, "the Party is today attacking labor unions with renewed vigor." The scheme is to infiltrate the labor unions and then begin to

by Judge Clifford O'Sullivan, U.S. District Court, Detroit, Michigan

Ever since the Russians launched Sputnik I into its orbit, there has been a great cry that we must concentrate now on science.

WHY THIS BIG rush for science? The principal motive for our present crash program is fear—fear lest we lose our position of power in the world, and fear that we may be defeated if war should come.

But can science rid us of these fears? During the past fifty years we have witnessed more scientific progress than in any other period of history; yet with all this success in scientific developments, we stand trembling today for fear of tomorrow. Why? Because the Free World can no longer claim a monopoly on scientific brains, and as long as Godless men exist capable of wielding destructive weapons, that fear will continue to remain with us.

NO ONE IS suggesting that we ignore science, for we must try to match the inventions of the other great nations of the world. But the greatest need in America today isn't science. The greatest need is religion.

WE ARE A NATION founded on religious principles by men who believed in Almighty God. Now as Christians and Americans, we either believe that God is both the creator of the world and the source of America's strength, or else we are guilty of undermining the foundations upon which our great nation rests.

There is no room for compromise in these beliefs; either those who believe in God are right or the atheistic leaders of Soviet Russia are right. If we believe the future welfare of our nation depends upon Divine Providence, may we not well pause to wonder whether God may become impatient with our misuse of His divine scheme of the universe which He has given to us?

SUCH IMPATIENCE in God, and His wrath, need not necessarily be evidenced by some supernatural visitation upon mankind, but by allowing man to destroy his own civilization.

Our fear, then, should not be for the Russians; they cannot destroy our immortal souls. Our only fear should be whether we are separating ourselves from the God who has created us.

LET US HOPE and pray for spectacular success by our scientists. But let us not forget that the greatest need in education is the education of the minds and hearts of men so that there may come a time when the right thinking people of the world, people who really believe in God, will have gained such pre-eminence and strength as to be able to forbid the misuse of science by immoral and Godless groups.

Only when that victory has been achieved will there be anything like real peace and security in the world.

O'Sullivan

Writing in National Review, Russell Kirk, the distinguished teacher and writer, finds this central fallacy in the federal-aid-to-education plan: "It isn't money that we need for the improvement of instruction in science, or in anything else. For already we spend far more on schools than any nation ever has before in all history — far more, per capita, than the Russians do. Our trouble is that we are not obtaining value for our expenditures." As Dr. Kirk sees it, too much money goes for non-essential frills, and not enough for real education.

TEEN-AGE TYCOONS — It's estimated that the nation's teenagers have about $7 billion a year to spend (and spend it!). Thirty per cent earn their money baby-sitting and in part-time jobs; 45 per cent get allowances, and 22 per cent (the real smart ones) collect from both sources.

Visits to Rome and Eire Last on Trip For Father Patrick

When Father Patrick Hannon was on his recent trip abroad his visit to Rome was, like the pilgrimage to Lourdes, a never-to-be-forgotten experience.

He was very close to the Holy Father when he attended a public audience during which Pope Pius was carried through the crowds of some 5000. The Holy Father in addressing the pilgrims spoke to them fluently in their own languages: Latin, Italian, French, Spanish, German and English. There was a great shouting of "Viva Papa," while the pope was carried through the crowds. He descended from his chair, almost like a young man, certainly not like a man of 82, and bounded up the steps to his throne — with more energy, Father Patrick added, than he himself could have shown. He blessed the pilgrims, all the things they had with them and included all the dear ones they had left at home.

The audience with the Holy Father was the highlight of the Rome visit and also the last event of five adventure packed days.

In the flight from Nice, France, to Rome the group of pilgrims got an air view of Corsica.

In the Eternal City days passed swiftly in sight-seeing and left much still unseen. Tours took the visitors to the Quirinale Palace, Parliament House, Temple of Neptune, the Pantheon, St. Peter's, the Vatican Museum and the Sistine Chapel. Many ruins of the ancient Romans still remain.

The ceiling of St. Peter's, the many beautiful statues by famous artists, and the main altar hold one spellbound, Father Patrick said. Michaelangelo's famous "Pieta" is so lifelike one almost believes it is not a statue but a real body. The ceiling of the Sistine Chapel, painted by Michaelangelo lying on his back when he was 70, and four years in the finishing, is darkening by age but still defies description.

Ireland was the last stop on the trip, and Father Patrick (with Irish blood in his veins) found this one of the most charming and restful places of the entire journey. He visited in Dublin and then was the guest of friends at Cork. He went to the lakes at Killarney and to the Blarney Castle where he joined others in the traditional routine of kissing the Blarney Stone. (According to legend, this brings the gift of eloquence.) Ireland was cool, green, calm and beautiful. Reluctantly farewells were said and the trip abroad was over.

Father Patrick received the trip as a gift from his parishioners, members of St. Mary's parish, in Fort Worth.

A newborn infant was crying lustily in the infant's ward. "What's the matter?" asked the visitor, peering through the glass partition. "Look," said the ward nurse, "if you were only a few hours old — out of a job — and owed the government $2,050, you'd bawl, too."

July 4 in France Like U. S. Holiday Says Muensterite

In France so many United States flags were flown on July 4 it was almost like being at home. That's what Mrs. D. R. Martin and Kathy thought spending the day with her family in Calais. They wrote to friends here telling about it.

On July 14, Bastille Day, all of Mrs. Martin's family was together for a reunion in the home of her parents. There were celebrations all over and the day ended with street dances.

Another day Mrs. Martin participated in a pilgrimage commemorating the Lourdes Centennial. This took place in a town about 8 miles from Calais where her sister lives. The little town built a grotto, a miniature replica of the one at Lourdes. The bishop of the diocese and a large delegation of clergymen headed an immense procession all over town. Decorated floats — wagons pulled by tractors — depicted the Blessed Virgin under many of her titles including Our Lady of Lourdes, Lady of Grace, of the Seven Sorrows, of Fatima, etc., in all, 15 beautiful floats. People gathered from far and wide for the ceremonies and a splendid choir sang.

One Sunday afternoon in another nearby town, school children from 12 towns in the area gave folklore dances and Mrs. Martin met many of her girlhood friends she hadn't seen for 12 and 15 years.

Commenting on fashions, Mrs. Martin reports the sack dress has not been much of a success in France. Only a few were seen in Paris, most of them worn by models. The French men dislike the style intensely.

Audree and Kathy both wish all their Muenster friends could be enjoying the trip with them and they send best regards to everyone they know. They plan to extend their visit a few weeks, staying there just under three months.

There's plenty to see in Texas, wherever you may roam on a holiday jaunt or on a vacation trip. Clockwise from the lower left hand corner, some of the impressive sights to see in Texas are: The Big Bend, some of the most striking scenery in the state; Guadalupe Peak, highest point in Texas at 8,751 feet; the Palo Duro Canyon, camping grounds for Indian tribes in frontier days; East Texas oil fields, biggest of them all; the 570-foot San Jacinto Monument, commemorating decisive battle of Texas history; Gulf Coast Beaches, some of the finest in the world; the Alamo, "Cradle of Texas Liberty," and in the center of the state, Texas Longhorn Cavern, biggest cave in the state and third largest in the world, one of Texas' most spectacular natural wonders. Sightseeing is fun in Texas.

"Our forefathers knew the blessing of planting at seedtime, reaping at harvest time without government restriction, and the joy of deserved repose after hard and satisfying labor. They lived by God's command of 'six days shalt thou labor,' and looked only to God and their own efforts to provide their needs."

The streamlined monorail tramway has been designed by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government to replace the city's numerous street-cars and thereby reduce traffic congestion. The present system will soon be extended to the downtown area of Tokyo and eventually will constitute but one unit of a city-wide monorail network. Meanwhile, residents and sightseers in the Japanese capital are enjoying the thrill of aerial joy-riding in a type of train which travel experts predict will soon be constructed in major cities throughout the world.

Yankee Hot Dogs Stole the Show at World Fair Display

There seems to be some question whether the "Atomium," that monumental enlargement of a tinker-toy model of a molecule (showing the arrangement of the atoms), or the good old American hot dog is more impressive to European visitors to the Brussels World's Fair.

Center of activity in the highly popular US pavilion is the only Simon-pure American-type coffee shop outside of the territorial limits of the U.S. Designed, built and operated by the people who run the Brass Rail restaurants in New York, it seats 600 — and serves an average 10,000 visitors a day. Its typical "Cuisine a l'Americaine," produced before the very eyes of the amazed diners from foods largely flown in from the U.S., on equipment the like of which has never been seen abroad and with a speed that is regarded as incredible, is — sooner or later — on every tongue.

Despite some ill-founded reports of high prices — based perhaps on confusion over foreign exchange — Europeans were quick to discover they could gorge themselves at the pavilion for less than they would pay for a snack at any other restaurant at the Fair. And Americans, to whom the familiar menu of hot dogs and hamburger and barbecued chicken, clam chowder, griddle cakes, a galaxy of sandwiches and ice creams reads like a letter from home, are equally impressed with the modesty of the checks. Most of them marvel that with so much of the food from home, and subject to taxes and duty of about 40 percent, plus the further addition (in accordance with Brussels custom) of 15 percent in lieu of tip, that prices could be so low. A party of four Americans who dropped into the Russian pavilion, ordered caviar, vodka and a bowl of borscht — and paid $60 for these appetizers — was especially impressed with dollar lunches and two dollar dinners at the American pavilion.

Lines of hungry Fair pilgrims form at the Brussels branch of the Brass Rail shortly after 11 a.m., the opening hour, and gather recruits through the day and evening until the midnight closing. Here, five times as many visitors are fed daily as at its nearest competitor. European restaurant men, fascinated by the speedy, efficient "coffee-shop" methods, have already put in their bids for the soda fountains, micro-wave cookers, radar range, electric times — and even the eight-foot-high barbecue unit.

Peter de Maerel, Director of the Belgian Tourist Bureau, who returned recently from Brussels, predicts that as a result of the Fair, Europeans will be going for U.S.-style food in a big way. So, perhaps we have overdone our World's Fair good will job. Maybe in order to get some good French or German or Italian or Swiss or Flemish cooking, we'll have to stay home instead of going to Europe?

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Landowners in the Muenster area cooperating with the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation district are busy building terraces to protect and improve their fields.

Terraces are one of the main items of defense used by man to stave off the ravishes of soil and water losses. Terraces break long slopes into short slopes. They make the water walk — not run — from the field, thus saving soil and water. They take all excess run-off water to a safe grassed outlet area.

Heavy rains last fall and this spring washed a lot of good topsoil from fields. Farmers realize that their crop production depends on their keeping and improving the topsoil, and are taking advantage of liberal cost-share benefits offered by the Agriculture Conservation Program to get the needed terraces staked on their sloping fields. Soil Conservation Service supplies the technical assistance in the layout of terracing systems.

Martin Trubenbach has constructed 15,000 feet of the broad-easy-to-cross channel type terraces on his farm at Hood, Louis Sicking is in the process of building some 16,000 feet of terraces to protect his farm southwest of Muenster. His neighbor, Thomas Sicking, is building 4000 feet of terraces to add to the ones he put in last fall. Charlie Fisher has just completed 3000 feet of terraces on his farm south of Muenster. These terraces complete the terrace system on the Fisher farm.

Tony Walterscheid is building 11,000 feet of channel type terraces on the land he farms for Mrs. Addie Williams. Terraces here outlet onto Bermuda grass waterways which were sodded to provide a safe outlet area. Near Muenster, Bruno Fleitman is finishing up his terrace system with 2200 feet of terraces that empty into a Bermuda grass waterway.

Wilfred Bindel is using farm equipment to build 8500 feet of terraces on the farm he operates for S. D. Meador. J. W. Fleitman is also constructing some 5500 feet of terraces on his farm east of Muenster with farm equipment.

Among men who know how to care for and protect their soil and water resources these bulwarks of defense against erosion are being built. But many fields are still unprotected. If topsoil and water is being lost from fields, the time to build protective terraces is now. water so that better grass management practices may be carried out have recently been completed on the south pasture of the Grant Ranch, on the R. T. Brock farm at Hardy and on the Jack Lee Gordon farm near Tyler Bluff.

If you are an average American motorist, driving your car 10,000 miles a year, your personal transportation bill will come to $1,073 in 1958, an American Automobile Association survey finds. Biggest item — $565 — is depreciation.

Gwen Friske Gets State Fair Award

Gwen Friske of Gainesville is among the 24 outstanding 4-H Club boys and girls who will receive the State Fair Award of Honor for 1958. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Friske, former Muenster residents.

Two winners of the award — a boy and a girl — are selected from each of the 12 districts of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Floyd Lynch, state 4-H leader, said the winners are selected on basis of their achievements in general 4-H Club work.

The winners will be guests of the State Fair at a banquet honoring them, their parents and county extension agents Oct. 4 in the Crystal Ballroom of the Baker Hotel in Dallas.

William Flusche Wins Scholarship From Aggie Club

William Flusche, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Flusche of Lindsay, has been awarded a four-year scholarship to Texas A&M by the Cooke County Texas A&M Club.

Actually the people of Gainesville will send young Flusche to school," Tim McPherson, president of the local Aggie group said. "For it was through their support at our annual barbecues that money is obtained for the scholarship fund."

Flusche, who aspires to be a county agent, received the Gold Star Award in 1957 for his work as a member of the Senior 4-H Club at Sacred Heart in Muenster. During his eight years of 4-H Club work he has carried on demonstrations in swine, dairying, field crops, electricity, tractor maintenance and poultry.

The graduate of Sacred Heart High in Muenster has been an active 4-H leader, having served as president and secretary in his local club and as chairman of the Cooke County 4-H Council.

Flusche was a member of the dairy demonstration team in 1955 and 1956 and a member of the field crops demonstration team in 1957. He has also participated in the grass judging contest, sponsored by the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District.

Bacteria Thieve in Hot Weather; Food Spoils More Easily

Like other living things, bacteria need food, warmth, and moisture to grow in numbers. That's why, in the summer months, certain kinds of bacteria so often team up with heat and lack of refrigeration to spoil food.

That's why food poisoning is so much more common in warm weather — and why you need to be especially careful now about preparing food and storing it.

With proper safeguards of cleanliness and cooling, food poisoning can be avoided. Here are a few suggestions to help you make sure that the food you eat this summer will be safe to eat.

It is well known which foods are most susceptible to bacterial growth, as these are especially dangerous unless they are properly prepared, handled, and stored.

Egg and milk mixtures, including custards and mayonnaise type salad dressings, ham, turkey and chicken, either in salads or sandwiches, and potato salad — one of the popular picnic foods — are often quickly suspected, when food infections occur in summer.

Ham sandwiches used to be considered safe because of the slow, salt laden curing methods employed in the past. But, today, most hams are tenderized and are subject to spoilage without proper refrigeration.

Making ham sandwiches and wrapping them in wax paper, then allowing them to stand at room or outdoor summer temperatures for a few hours, has caused many cases of food poisoning. Ham sandwiches are delicious, but they should be refrigerated until time to eat them.

Potato salad can be another trickster, unless all ingredients are thoroughly chilled before mixing, and the salad stored in shallow containers in the refrigerator. Deep bowls filled with the mixture retain the room temperatures in the center portions. This salad usually contains eggs and milk and mayonnaise mixture that encourage bacterial growth.

So, never take perishable foods on a picnic unless you have a way to keep them ice cold until served. When eating out — be particular about the cleanliness of the eating place, and select foods that are not risky in summer. Remember a food can taste and smell good, even though it is loaded with bacteria. And always wash the hands before handling and preparing foods.

Total tax receipts in fiscal 1958 (federal, state and local) will represent an estimated $658 per capita, according to figures released recently by Tax Foundation, Inc. In fiscal 1957 receipts were at the rate of $640 per capita; in 1956, $608. The $658 is broken down this way: federal, $468; state, $101, and local, $89.

Helpful Hints on Treating a Burn

First aid treatment for burns should not be eliminated, even though many doctors now treat severe burns by leaving them open and un-medicated, the editors of CHANGING TIMES report.

The open treatment is only used in hospitalized, severe cases. Only a doctor should decide what method is indicated.

Before the doctor arrives, here is the recommended procedure for treating a burn:

1. If the wound is dirty, gently pour a solution of warm water and mild soap-suds over it; Rinse with clean, warm water. If clothing is stuck to the burn, do not pull it away. Cut away the cloth around the wound and soak what is left with the soap-and-water solution.

2. Close the wound against air as quickly as possible, particularly if the burn has opened the skin. For very small, light burns a coating of ointment may be sufficient, but for any except the least serious use this method: Spread petroleum jelly or a burn ointment on a sterile bandage — not on the wound itself — and apply to the burn.

Lacking sterile gauze, use a piece of sheet that has been recently washed and ironed. In an emergency you can substitute baby oil, mineral oil or cooking oil for petroleum jelly, but don't use butter. Most butter contains salt, which may irritate the burn, and it is harder to clean off than liquid oils.

3. If possible, tie the bandage snugly against the wound. The pressure and the exclusion of air will ease pain as well as keep out germs. If you are unable to tie the bandage on, wrap the patient in a sheet. But don't load on blankets.

4. Give aspirin for pain relief.

5. Remember that most deaths within the first day or two after a severe and extensive burn are caused by shock, so part of your treatment should counteract this assault to the system. Dissolve one teaspoon of table salt and a half-teaspoon of baking soda in a quart of water and get the patient to drink as much as he can. This will help replace chemicals lost from the body as a result of the burn.

BILL BLAKLEY

Texans like a public official who is independent in his thinking and doesn't have to account for his actions to anyone except the voters themselves.

William A. Blakley is such a man. Of his race for U. S. Senate, the Port Arthur News says: "He entered this race by his own decision. He is beholden to nobody. He doesn't have to promise special interest groups anything and he wants to represent all of Texas, not any political splinter or fragment or faction above the rest..."

A vote for Bill Blakley on July 26 is a vote for returning to Washington a man who will truly represent Texas.

IT'S ALSO A BUSINESS

An editor in Michigan recently received a letter from a small city which had been without a newspaper for the past eight months.

The letter was signed by two service club presidents, the president of the retailer's groups, and the chairman of the City's Council of Churches. These men asked what they could do to bring back the newspaper which had served the town for so many years. It had had to cease publication because of lack of support.

Their plight is that without the newspaper, the community is fast losing its identity. Promotions are only half successful, retail business had fallen, and the clubs and organizations are keenly feeling the lack of the town's "House Organ," as they phrased it.

What they failed to realize when they had a newspaper is that the publisher first needs to make money — just as any business man expects to make a fair profit on the merchandise he sells. Any business house in town would be forced to close its doors, including the newspaper, if no one did any business with it. The newspaper is a business, just the same as other firms. Because it gives so much free service, it is often mistaken for a non-profit organization. When it becomes non-profit, it becomes nonexistent. — From the Farmerville Times.

Big Family

Two Hollywood children were talking as they were walking home from school one day.

"I've got two little brothers and one little sister," boasted one. "How many do you have?" "I don't have any brothers or sisters," answered the second one, "but I have three papas by my first mama and four mamas by my last papa!"

Too Short

A woman stepped off the penny scales and turned to her husband. "Well," he said, "what's the verdict? A little overweight?"

"Oh, no," replied the woman, "but according to that height table, printed on the front, I should be about six inches taller."

A man who has taken your time recognizes no debt; yet it is the one he can never repay.

A motorist stopped at a small garage and complained to the mechanic, "Whenever I hit 80 there's a knocking in the engine."

After a lengthy examination and testing, the mechanic drawled, "I don't see anything wrong mister. It must be the good Lord warning you."

In the election for a new state president Friday, Billy McDowell of Whitewright in Area V, was chosen. Members voted to hold the next convention in Austin.

Mrs. Hellman and son Dwayne accompanied the trio from here to San Antonio and enjoyed visits with her sisters at Our Lady of the Lake Convent.

Hubert Felderhoffs Return from Tour Of Hawaiian Isles

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Felderhoff, members of the 157 Texas farm group on an agricultural study tour of Hawaii, landed in San Francisco Tuesday after 12 days on the island and were back at home Wednesday after flying from California to Dallas. They made the trip going by air and returned by boat on the Lurline. The group designated the Matson liner a "ship of the Texas Navy."

"Splitting up into three groups the Texans, headed by WFAA Farm Editor Murray Cox, flew to the big island of Hawaii, site of the Parker Ranch, and to Maui and Kauai. The tour was the ninth farm study tour under the direction of Cox.

When they arrived in Hawaii the Texans were somewhat of a sensation, distributing mock $100 Texas bills, many of them made into leis (Hawaiian flower garlands).

They also handed out honorary Texas citizenship to prominent Hawaii people. One went to Harwell Carter, manager of the Parker Ranch which is one of the biggest single ranches in the world.

The ranch has Hereford, Short-horn and Santa Gertrudis cattle, totalling 35,000 head, plus 4,000 horses. The ranch consists of 150,000 acres plus leased land for an over-all total of a half million acres.

Also on the "big island" the visiting Texans saw the volcanoes Mauna Loa and Kilauea, and the snow-capped Mauna Kea, highest peak in the Pacific. Also interesting were the huge lava flows of recent and ancient volcanic eruptions.

On Maui, second largest of the Hawaiian islands the group visited Puunene, largest sugar plantation in the territory and also Haleakala Crater, 10,000 feet above the sea and largest dormant volcano in the world.

One social event for the farmers and ranchers and their wives was a lau, the Hawaiian feast featuring roast pig cooked in an oven pit. Another social was a big aloha dinner party.

The group also visited Pearl Harbor for a U. S. Navy tour of the mid-Pacific defense bastion where they saw the sunken battleship Arizona. The Arizona was sunk Dec. 7, 1941, in the Japanese attack and 1102 American sailors are still entombed there.

On Oahu the tourists visited the National Cemetery of the Pacific, famed Diamond Head Mountain, the ocean spouting blow hole, the pineapple and sugar fields and the huge Army Schofield Barracks.

Gussie Felderhoff and his nephew David Spaeth met his parents when they arrived in Dallas.

HENRY WARD BEECHER'S ADVICE

Henry Ward Beecher once received a letter from a student asking his advice in the matter on an easy career in life. To this the eminent theologian replied:

"Young man, you cannot be an editor. Do not try the law. Do not think of the ministry. Let alone all ships and merchandise. Abhor politics, and do not practice medicine. Don't be a farmer, a soldier, or a sailor. Don't study. Don't think. None of these is easy. Oh, my son, you have come into a hard world. I know of only one easy place in it, and that is in the grave."

A touring Texan stopped at a Florida roadside fruit stand and asked, "What's the price of this cantaloupe?"

Glancing at the license plate, the clerk replied witheringly, "Take your finger off that olive!"

TALL ORDER — Jennifer Laden has a job ahead of her if she plans to sip her way through all that milk. Cartons represent the recommended 863-quart annual milk intake for the average family if they heed the nation's dairy industry. Actual annual intake: about 524 quarts.

Postal Increase - - -

"penny postal card," which now costs 2 pennies will go at 3 pennies. The same applies to post cards. Drop letters . . . those received and delivered inside the same post office . . . increase from 2 cents to 3 per ounce. And regular first class letters increase from 3 cents per ounce to 4 cents.

Two varieties of air mail are the air post and postal cards, increased from 4 to 5 cents, and regular air mail increased from 6 to 7 cents per ounce. The regulation also specifies that air mail must not exceed 8 ounces.

Third class mail, which includes unsealed printed greeting cards, is also raised a penny, from 2 to 3 cents for the first two ounces.

Other increases in third class mail, which are not frequently applicable here, refer to books, catalogues, circulars and various small packages up to but not including 16 ounces. The new rate after the first two ounces is 1.5 cents per ounce. It used to be 1.5 cents for each additional 2 ounces.

Fourth class mail rates increase from 8 to 9 cents for the first pound and from 4 to 5 cents for each additional pound. Also the minimum weight requirement is increased from 8 ounces to 1 pound. Packages under 1 pound are subject to third class rates.

Then there's the story about the Texan whose check came back from the bank marked "Insufficient funds, not yours — OURS!"

History could repeat itself. We may have a race that is decided by a single vote. Perhaps your vote or mine will be the deciding one for a favorite candidate. If we don't vote it may be the one that defeated a favorite candidate.
