Gainesville KCs To Host Sunday at District Initiation

Members of the Muenster K of C council and four of its candidates will participate next Sunday in an all day program featuring a district initiation hosted by the Gainesville KC council.

According to an announcement this week by Grand Knight Pat Hennigan the program opens with group attendance at the 8 o'clock Mass at St. Mary's church followed by communion breakfast in the St. Mary's school cafeteria promptly afterward.

At 10:30 knights and candidates will gather at the KC hall for the second degree, after which there will be a break for snacks and then the third degree, which is expected to end about 4 o'clock.

Meanwhile wives and girl friends of the knights will be entertained at a style show in St. Mary's School featuring new summer apparel from the Charm Shop of Muenster.

For the rest of the day members will be joined by their ladies . . . first for the dinner at 5 o'clock and later for a party that continues into the night.

To avoid crowding the day first degree ceremonies of the initiation have been advanced to the preceding Thursday night, at a special meeting in Denison.

Candidates of the Muenster council are Henry Felderhoff, Dickie Cain, Herbert Miller and W. J. Miller.

FHA Degree Girls Go to Louisville

Mrs. H. H. Homsley and Carolyn Cain and Jean Wieler will be in Louisville Friday for the homemaker degree finals in which the two Future Homemakers are candidates. Before leaving the local FHA chapter will hold its annual election of officers.

Those re-appointed are Mrs. Nick Miller, tax assessor-collector, Mrs. Steve Mosler, city treasurer; Anthony Luke, city secretary; and Steve Mosler, city superintendent.

Council members are Mayor Urban Endres and Aldermen J. A. Fisher, Rudy Hellman, Herbert Meurer, David Trachta and M. D. Kaderli.

A campaign for the office of Precinct 4 Commissioner was assured last weekend when two more candidates filed as opponents of Joe Hundt, who had been the only applicant since early in the year.

They are Earl Robison, a previous commissioner of the precinct, and Ray Kupper. Both authorized the Enterprise to announce their candidacy and announced that their formal statements to voters will be published at a later date.

18 Trees Planted On Park Driveway

Members of the Garden Club along with City Superintendent Steve Mosler have their fingers crossed lately while they watch the progress of 18 native trees just transplanted into two rows flanking the driveway into the park. The planting, completed last weekend, consists of oaks, elms and hackberries . . . 18 in all . . . taken from the wooded area along Brushy Elm Creek. Now the big concern is how many will continue growing.

Other park improvement consists of two new cement picnic tables which will be ready for use this weekend. Bases and side supports are in place now and the table tops, poured at the same time, will be installed in a few days.

Additional shrubbery at the swimming pool and along the driveway was planted two weeks ago.

Fashion Show Will Entertain Ladies At KC Initiation

Trachta, Klement, Pagel are Winners In School Election

David Trachta, Jerome Pagel and Norbert Klement, with totals of 101, 84 and 71 respectively, were the three winners in last Saturday's trustee election for the Muenster Independent School District. The fourth candidate on the ticket, R. N. Fette, received 61 votes, and R. E. Hamric received 5 write in votes.

With a total of 123 ballots, the election was considerably more active than indicated by the apparent lack of interest before election date. A factor that intensified local interest was an eleventh hour discovery that no candidate had announced for the position of Trustee at Large on the county ticket . . . and the decision by a group of local people to conduct a write-in campaign to elect Charley Hellman on the county board. He received 102 votes here but not enough to overcome the rest of the county's write-ins for the incumbent, Jake Biffle of Myra. Other local votes for the county trustee were cast for Herbert Meurer, J. B. Klement, Norbert Klement, Jake Biffle and Tony Walterscheid.

Membership on the Muenster school board since the election is as follows: B. J. Sicking, J. J. Wimmer, Dr. T. S. Myrick, Norbert Klement, David Trachta and Jerome Pagel. Charley Hellman is the appointed treasurer of the school district.

ZIMMERER ELECTED

One hundred and seventeen Lindsay voters turned out Saturday to cast ballots in the school trustee election which returned Henry Zimmerer to office. He polled 94 votes in defeating Julius Sandmann who received 23 votes.

MYRA ELECTS THREE

Voters of the Myra common school district Saturday voted to elect three trustees. The ballot listed four names, J. G. Biffle received 29 votes, Lee Livingston polled 26 and Bill Hunt got 23. The losing candidate was Ralph Davidson.

Mrs. John Mosman To Go to Houston For Convention

Mrs. John Mosman, grand regent of Court St. Mary Catholic Daughters of America, will leave Friday afternoon by plane from Dallas for Houston where she will attend the state CDA convention which opens Friday night with a reception for new members. Over one hundred candidates are expected for the initiation.

Saturday's program will begin with a Pontifical High Mass with the Most Rev. Wendelin J. Nold, Bishop of Galveston as celebrant. There will be workshops throughout the day until the afternoon when business will adjourn for a tour of St. Mary's Seminary. The day will be climaxed by a western party.

Sunday there will be morning business sessions and a luncheon at noon. A style show during the luncheon will be titled "Progress Through the Years." More business sessions will follow and then the highlight of the day, a civic reception banquet which Bishop Nold and Mayor Lewis Cutrer expect to attend.

Mrs. Mosman will miss the Monday sessions which will include the election of state officers. She will leave Sunday night to be back at her teaching duties here Monday.

The meeting for local members has been postponed from this Friday night to next Friday, April 18, so that Mrs. Mosman can give a convention report at that time.

LOCAL A&M BOYS OBSERVE AG CLASSES AT HENRIETTA

Jerry Klement and Donald Whitt, juniors at Texas A&M College will spend next week, Monday to Saturday, at Henrietta High school to observe operation of the vocational agriculture department in the school.

The week of observation is a part of the training received by the students in preparation for teaching high school vocational agriculture after graduation from A&M.

The boys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Klement and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Whitt. Both are active members of the A&M Collegiate FFA chapter and Jerry participates in activities of the Cooke County Home Town Club and the Newman Club.

New Signs Proclaim State's Approval of Muenster's Water

New signs that are a special source of pride to the city council are the four handsome markers at the four paved approaches to the city stating that Muenster's Water System is approved by the State Health Department.

The signs indicate that the city not only has pure and wholesome water meeting the rigid standards of the health department but also that the equipment and methods of operation come up to the standard.

Water Superintendent Steve Mosler said the city's current rating is 98 out of a possible 100 points. The two points penalty is due to the failure to complete a fence around No. 4 water well. It is enclosed on three sides but open on the street side.

Muenster GOC Unit Seeks New Members

Boys and girls of both local high schools are invited to report to the MHS auditorium next Tuesday between 2:30 and 3:30 for a special program showing the weather watch and sky watch activity of the Ground Observer Corps. It will be a recruiting program intended to bring additional membership to the local GOC unit.

According to Steve Mosler, local GOC commander, principal emphasis nowadays is directed on the tornado alert activity of the GOC. At Tuesday's meeting a film will show the organization's participation in an extensive storm warning system and also its emergency activity during and after a storm hits.

Adults as well as students are urged to see the program.

Soil Bank Sign-up Deadline is Tuesday

Farmers who wish to participate in the conservation reserve portion of the Soil Bank program have only a few more days to sign up. The deadline is next Tuesday, April 15, according to an announcement this week by H. B. Newberry, head of the ASC office at Gainesville.

If anyone has doubts as to whether he can qualify for benefits under the program he is urged to inquire at the ASC office. But hurry, Newberry says, the signatures have to be there Tuesday or before.

Campaign Opened To Raise Over Half Of S.H. Parish Debt

A fund raising campaign to write off at least half of its debt was launched this week by Sacred Heart Parish.

Father Christopher Paladino disclosed Wednesday that organizational and educational work is now in progress to pave the way for a climaxing fund drive during the first two weeks of May. Hubert Felderhoff is serving as chairman of the campaign.

The real work, including training of local personnel, preparation of a campaign brochure and setting up campaign records, is under the direction of John Monk of Dallas. He is assisted by his wife and he has set up his headquarters in the homemaking department of Sacred Heart High School.

Basing his opinion on the success of such campaigns in other communities, Father Christopher has great hopes for the coming drive. Its goal is a total of $200,000 in cash and pledges, the pledges to be paid off during the next 30 months.

All this is to be accomplished, he said, simply by conducting the parish business in a business like manner. "The first step is to educate ourselves to the fact that an obligation exists and that it will have to be met by members of the parish. Next there's the matter of applying modern business methods in making small payments regularly rather than expecting . . . and frequently failing . . . to make big payments occasionally. Concerning persons who might have been lax in their church support, the campaign is intended to inspire a more responsible attitude."

Still another part of the campaign is establishing a system whereby the parish can follow its pledges, sending out reminders in case of delinquency and crediting remittances to the proper persons.

"As regards the financial welfare of our parish, this campaign is probably the best thing that has happened to it to date," Father Christopher said. Like millions of business firms the church should be able to increase its volume by encouraging small installment payments, and it should gain some more by a change in personal attitudes toward church obligations. What's more, those factors should remain, improving the outlook for the future as well as for the drive.

Muenster FFA Team In Judging Contest

Future Farmers of the Muenster High chapter and their coach Glenn Hellman have been spending all their spare time practicing for participation in the annual land judging contest to be sponsored by the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District in Gainesville Saturday.

About 20 teams from the district are expected to line up for the contest. Muenster's team is composed of Jimmy Sicking, Billy Otto, Walter Fette and Gilbert Knabe.

Calling in Stamps For Next Shipment

Everyone is again reminded to turn in all cancelled stamps and picture post cards to Sister Theresina and sophomores of Sacred Heart High as soon as possible. The last shipment in the current stamp contest will leave here April 25.

Stamps are always solicited, year in and year out, but for this particular contest the deadline for remitting stamps is April 25. Business houses and others who have been saving letters and post cards may telephone the school for someone to pick up their bundles.

SCHEDULE OF COMING EVENTS

SUNDAY, April 13, KC Initiation, Gainesville KC hall.
MONDAY, April 14, VFW Auxiliary meeting, installation of officers, 8 p.m.
MONDAY, April 14, Civic League and Garden Club meeting in the home of Mrs. Anthony Luke, 8 p.m.
TUESDAY, April 15, Lions meeting.
TUESDAY, April 15, Special meeting on pecan and fruit trees, City Hall, 1:30 p.m.

It's going to be interesting during the next 15 days to notice how much opposition will build up against the proposed tax supported county bonds and the federal grant to build and operate a county hospital.

The commissioners' order for a bond election was hardly cold before one group of citizens was plugging for a Hospital Authority to build on revenue bearing bonds. Then came a statement from owners of Gainesville Sanitarium that they are launching a big building and improvement program regardless of what any others might do.

All of which is fine. Despite a feeling of sympathy toward those who went to the trouble of promoting the bond election, yours truly sincerely hopes that their proposal will be rejected by county voters. The first and foremost reason, is that the plan is socialistic. Besides it imposes an unnecessary tax burden and subjects the county to federal domination. Finally it presents a difficult and expensive method of providing what can be attained much more quickly, easily and conveniently.

The more sensible course, it seems to us, is to make the best possible use of facilities now available. Expansion and improvement at the Sanitarium, plus reopening of M&S Hospital can solve the hospital problem in Cooke County . . . at a mere fraction of the cost of the bond issue plan.

Ask an American why he considers his country the best in the world and the chances are he'll reply with some kind of reference to personal rights under our system of government. He points with pride to our country's Constitution and Bill of Rights.

Then ask him to name some of his rights and the chances are he will respond with a blank stare. Honestly, it is amazing how few of us are familiar with this all important document.

This fact was brought to the attention of yours truly a few days ago by an item about a reporter who interviewed 100 people in Denver, offering a dollar to anyone who could name any part of the first ten amendments to the Constitution, known as the Bill of Rights. Only four of the persons interviewed were able to collect the buck . . . that is to mention any part of the Bill of Rights.

Most of the people, believe it or not, said they "have no idea of what you're talking about." Others remembered that there was such a document, that they had read it while in school but can't recall anything from it now. The best record of familiarity with the Rights was scored by students. Their memory on the subject had not quite faded out.

Is this hard for you to believe? Well, think it over and figure how much you could collect on that little quiz the reporter conducted in Denver. If you're like me you'll be ashamed of yourself.

Under those circumstances it is obvious that every one of us ought to refresh his memory on the subject. So, as a service to readers who would like to do that, the column here quotes the Bill of Rights . . . with a suggestion that it really should be read two or three times.

Note on Economics
"Well, now," observed Old Jake as he adjusted himself to a new position on his cracker barrel. "You say the gov'ment oughta put price floors under everything. Jist supposin' now, they'da put a floor under horse-collars — what do you suppose we'd adone with all them horse-collars?"

An English teacher, having read some of Milton's poetry to her young class one day, mentioned to them that the great poet was blind. One question asked on the exam the next day was:
"What was Milton's great affliction?"

On one paper was scribbled, simply — "He was a poet."

Two men were talking. The first man said, "These shoes are so tight, they're killing me." The second man said, "Well, if they're so tight, why don't you take them off?" "Listen," answered the first man, "when I get home tonight, supper won't be ready; and if it is, it won't be fit to eat. It isn't bad enough I gotta look at my mother-in-law, but I've got to listen to her, too. My daughter married a man I can't stand, and they've got four of the meanest kids that ever walked. The only pleasure I have when I get home is taking off these tight shoes."

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson
 DIRECTOR - NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
 Searcy, Arkansas

A FARM EDITOR SPEAKS

Tom Anderson, editor and publisher of Farm and Ranch magazine and a number of other agricultural publications, is recognized throughout the nation for two personal qualities: (1) an unusually good knowledge of all phases of the farm problem; and (2) a courageous frankness in talking about it in his publications which are read by millions of farmers. He has just written an article for American Mercury magazine. With his usual grass-roots frankness he states some facts and personal conclusions on one of the most important problems facing the American people.

"There is no painless way to solve the farm problem," he writes, "In corrective change, somebody always gets hurt. But the cure for the farm problem is much less painful than the disease. The farm problem is curable. All we need is an honest approach — a non-political, long-range deregimented plan with teeth enough to make it work and sufficient fairness to farmers and consumers alike . . . a plan which will dispose of surpluses without dumping or drowning (it's been seriously suggested that they be consigned to the bottom of the ocean) . . . a plan which recognizes supply and demand . . . a plan which treats the farm problem not just as an economic problem, but also as a sociological problem.

A Gradual Process

"How do we get back to a free, de-controlled, supply-and-demand agriculture without hurting too many people? It can't be done suddenly. But we should make a beginning, now . . . No subsidies or free services for the lawyer-farmers, doctor-farmers, and parttime cowboys. Let them produce all they want and sell to anybody they can — except the government — free enterprise style. And good luck to them.

"What to do for the small 'inefficient' farmer? Those, who have neither the land, know-how nor desire, ought to move into industry. Or to put it in another way, if they insist on staying on the farm they should not stay on a permanent dole . . . If people choose to stay in rocky, eroded isolated areas unfit for farming or industry, they should stay on their own, not at the expense of the rest of us."

Specific Suggestions

Getting into the specifics of a remedial program, Mr. Anderson suggests: "1. Dispose of surpluses. 2. Institute a five-year plan of sliding price supports, working toward no supports, except in drastic emergencies. (Government would make no

DEMOCRACY DEMANDS FAITH

BY Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, Ph.D.
 President, University of Notre Dame

OUR WORLD today is split into two camps. We are defending the democratic charter against totalitarianism. We are allying with free peoples everywhere to form a strong armed defense against Communism.

The heart of the conflict, however, goes beyond nuclear weapons and jet airplanes. It is a battle for the souls of men. Underneath the diplomatic moves of East and West lies the clash of ideas and beliefs. The basic issue is not democracy versus Communism in the political order. Rather the underlying struggle is on the battlefield of faiths.

Hesburgh

IF WE are to defeat Communism we must meet it on the level of faith. This means we must rediscover and reactivate the faith that gave birth to our democracy. In other words, democracy demands faith.

The faith which democracy demands is not a faith in the democratic way of life. This is civic or secular faith. Faith in democratic principles is a good thing, but it is not enough. Secular faith itself is an empty shell without the religious faith which inspires it and gives it depth.

A LIVING democracy needs religious faith, as the principle upon which it is built. Religious faith is belief in the truths revealed to us by God. So closely is religious faith linked to the life of democracy that Communism tries to destroy both of them together.

How does religious faith strengthen democracy? It tells us first that there is one, supreme, Personal God. God is not a cosmic force, but a spiritual Creator upon whom all reality depends. This belief is the foundation of our world view and our most important difference from Atheistic Communism.

RELIGIOUS FAITH tells us that man has dignity and immortality because God created him after His own image. Man has a spiritual soul with godlike powers of knowing and loving. It is because of this God-given dignity that man has rights of life and liberty, as stated in the Declaration of Independence.

Religious faith tells us that there is an objective moral order of good and evil. It is this unchanging moral code that establishes the broad basis of justice and charity which is fundamental to the working of democracy. It is religious faith that tells us that government is for the people, not the people for the government.

EVEN WITHOUT the diabolic efforts of Communism, democracy will wither from within if our faith weakens. Our task is to strengthen our faith in God and all the truths which He has revealed. Then not only will we conquer in the present world crisis, but will prepare the way for a better world tomorrow.

more 'delayed sale' loans but conservative loans like a bank would make, with the collateral fully covering — this would force out of farming many medium and large operators who've been producing for government instead of for the market.) With no acreage controls and marketing quotas, no surpluses, and fewer producers, prices might even go higher than now.

"3. Make ineligible for any government subsidies or services (including county agent services) every farmer whose non-farm income (based on last three years' income tax report) exceeded, say $5,000. 4. Make farm losses non-deductible from non-farm income, so every farming operation would have to stand on its own feet taxwise. 5. Subsidize the subsistence farmer not to stay in farming where he hasn't a chance to earn a decent living, but to get a good job in town. 6. Subsidize industry to move to rural areas."

Free Market Goal

Tom Anderson makes it clear that suggestions five and six should be temporary measures to tide over the relocation of subsistence farmers in better paying occupations. That's what he means by classifying the farm problem as sociological as well as economic. His recommendations are very much like those of the Committee for Economic Development.

"Any farm plan which doesn't lead toward a free, decontrolled, de-subsidized supply-and-demand agriculture," Mr. Anderson concludes, "is wrong and doomed to failure. The only farm plan which is good for farmers and good for the American people is a free market. Let's get back to it."

What can the ordinary citizen do to bring this about? Farmers and non-farmers can write their Congressmen, the President, and the Secretary of Agriculture giving their viewpoint and declaring their viewpoint and declaring their wishes. This is a responsibility of citizenship. And active citizenship is the safeguard of our freedom.

"More people might live to a ripe old age if they weren't too busy providing for it!"

Metropolitan Life Started Business Ninety Years Ago

When the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company received its charter on March 24, 1868, the population of the United States was 37 million. There were no transcontinental railroads, no telephones, no electric power or light, and business records were still being written in long hand.

The new company started business in two small rooms on the second floor of No. 243 Broadway in New York City. It had a staff of five men, and by the end of the year had issued 1,447 policies for $4,340,000. This amount was considered excellent at the time, and placed the new company 29th among the 56 American companies doing business in the city.

Today, 90 years later, Metropolitan's employees are spread from the head office in New York, the head offices in San Francisco and Ottawa, to the more than 1,000 local offices from coast to coast. The company's business in force approximates $80 billions. One person in five in the United States and Canada owns Metropolitan insurance.

The company's responsibilities, however, go far beyond its 41 million policyholders, for to their number must be added beneficiaries and dependents — a tremendous segment of the population whose welfare must be safeguarded far into the unforeseeable future. Metropolitan today is closely interwoven with the social and economic life of the two countries within whose borders it has served, and its growth has been a reflection of the prosperity that has come in such great measure to the peoples of North America.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Jones had as their guest for the weekend, his mother Mrs. C. F. Jones of Borger.
